25 Then listen to them from the heaven, and forgive the sin of your people Israel, and bring them back to the land that you gave to them and to their fathers.

26 When the sky is closed and there is no rain because they have sinned against you, if they pray in this place and give glory to your name by turning themselves away from their sins because you have afflicted them.

27 Then hear them in the heaven, and forgive the sins of your servants and of your people Israel. Teach them the right way in which they must walk, and send rain on the land that you have given to your people for an inheritance.

28 If there is famine in the land because of insects like grashopper or caterpillar. If there is pestilence or any kind of diseases when the enemy besieged them in the cities of their land.

29 If one of these things happens, and any man of the people of Israel makes prayers and supplications and stretches out his hands toward this house because of the wound of his heart.

30 Then listen to them from your dwelling place in the heaven and be merciful, and repay everyone according to all his ways and your knowledge of his heart. For you are the only one who knows the heart of each of the children of men.

31 And thus they will fear you, to walk in your ways as long as they will live in the land that you have given to our fathers.

32 And when the stranger who is not of your people Israel will come here from a distant country because of your great name, and of your mighty hand, and of your outstretched arm. When they will come to pray in this house.

33 Then listen to them from your dwelling place in the heaven and do according to all that the stranger will ask to you. And thus all the peoples of the earth will know your name and will fear you like your people Israel fears you, and they will know that this house which I have built is called by your name.

34 When your people go out to battle against their enemies after behaving in the way that you have commanded them, if they pray to you by looking toward this city that you have chosen and toward the house that I have built for your name.

35 Then hear in the heaven their prayer and their supplication, and judge their cause.

36 When they sin against you, because there is no one who does not sin, and you deliver them into the hands of their enemies because you are angry with them, and they are carried away captive either in a land far from their own land or nearby.

37 If they change the ways of their hearts and return to the right path when they are in the land where they have been taken captive, if they return to you with prayers and supplications in the land of their captivity. If they say: We have sinned because we have transgressed and have acted wickedly.

38 If they return to you with all their hearts and all their souls in the land of their captivity, where they have been carried away captive. And if they pray to you while looking toward their own land which you have given to their fathers, toward the city that you have chosen and the house that I have built for your name.

39 Then hear their prayers and their supplications at your dwelling place in the heaven, and judge their cause, and forgive your people who have sinned against you.

40 And now, my God, I beseech to let your eyes be open and your ears be attentive to this prayer that I made in this place.

41 Now therefore, O Yahweh God, arise and come to your place of rest, you and the ark of your majesty. Let your priests be clothed with salvation and let your saints rejoice in goodness, O Yahweh God.

42 Do not reject your anointed, O Yahweh God. Remember the mercies that you promised to David your servant.

2 Chronicles 7

1 When Solomon had finished this prayer, a fire descended from the sky and consumed the burnt offering and the sacrifices, and the glory of Yahweh was filling the house.

2 And the priests could not enter the house of Yahweh, because the glory of Yahweh had filled the house of Yahweh.

3 And all the children of Israel saw that the fire had come from heaven and that the glory of Yahweh had filled the house. Therefore they bowed themselves with their faces against the ground on the pavement, and worshiped and praised Yahweh by saying: For he is good, because his mercy endures forever.

4 Then the king and all the people offered sacrifices before Yahweh.

5 And the sacrifice [of peace offerings] that Solomon offered to Yahweh was twenty two thousand bullocks, and one hundred and twenty thousand sheep. Thus the king and all the people dedicated the house of God.

6 And the priests stood according to their functions, and also the singers of the Levites with instruments of music of Yahweh. King David had made those instruments to praise Yahweh because his mercy endures forever, when David praised God by them. So there was a group of priests who were sounding trumpets before the singers of the Levites, and all Israel were standing there.

7 Moreover Solomon hallowed the middle of the part of the courtyard that was in front of the house of Yahweh. For there he prepared burnt offerings and the fat of peace offerings, because the altar of brass which Solomon had made was not able to contain the burnt offerings, and the meal offerings, and the fat.

8 And Solomon made a feast at that time during seven days, and all Israel with him, a very great assembly from the entrance of Hamath to the river of Egypt.

9 And on the eighth day they had a solemn assembly [according to the law of the feast of tabernacles]. For they had made the dedication of the altar [more precisely of the house of Yahweh] for seven days, and after that they had made the feast [of the tabernacles] for seven days.

10 And on the twenty third day of the seventh month, Solomon sent the people away to their tents [their own places]. And they were joyful with happy hearts because of the goodness that Yahweh had done for David, and for Solomon, and for Israel his people.

11 So Solomon finished the house of Yahweh, and the king's house, and all that came into the heart of Solomon to make in the house of Yahweh. And Solomon prospered in his own house.

12 And Yahweh appeared to Solomon during a night and said to him: I have heard your prayer, and have chosen this place for myself to be a house of sacrifices.

13 If I close the heavens so that there is no rain, or I if I command the locusts to devour the land, or if I send pestilence among my people.

14 If my people among whom my name is invoked humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn away from their wicked ways, then I will hear in the heaven and forgive their sin, and I will heal their land.

15 For my eyes will be open and my ears will be attentive to the prayers made in this place.

16 For I have chosen and sanctified this house, so that my name may be there forever. So I will always have my eyes and my heart there.

17 And if you walk in my presence as David your father had walked, by doing according to all that I have commanded you. And if you keep my statutes and my judgments.

18 Then I will establish the throne of your kingdom according to the covenant that I made with David your father when I said: You will never lack a successor to be ruler in Israel [your own inheritance will always be useful for my people Israel].

19 But if you [you and your people] turn away and forsake my statutes and my commandments that I have set before you, and if you go to serve other gods and worship them.

20 Then I will pluck them out of my land which I have given them, and I will reject far from me this house that I have sanctified for my name, and I will make it a proverb and a subject of mockery among all peoples.

21 And despite the fact that this house will have been exalted, whoever will come there at that time will be astonished and will say: Why has Yahweh done thus to this land and to this house.

22 And they will answer: Because they have forsaken Yahweh the God of their fathers, the one who brought them out of the land of Egypt. For they have gone to other gods to worship them and serve them, this is why he has brought all these evil on them.

2 Chronicles 8

1 At the end of twenty years [after the start of the construction], Solomon had built the house of Yahweh and the house of the king.

2 Then Solomon built the cities that Huram had given him back, and caused the children of Israel to dwell there.

3 And Solomon went to Hamath of Zobah, and defeated it.

4 And he built Tadmor in the wilderness, and all the store cities in Hamath.

5 And he built Beth-horon the upper and Beth-horon the nether, which were fortified cities with walls and gates and bars.

6 And Baalath, and all the store cities that Solomon had, and the cities for his chariots, and the cities for his horsemen, and all that Solomon desired to build for his pleasure in Jerusalem, and in Lebanon, and in all the land of his dominion.

7 Now there has always been peoples in the land who were of the Amorites, and of the Hittites, and of the Perizzites, and of the Hivites, and of the Jebusites. These peoples were not of the children of Israel.

8 And the children of Israel had not destroy their descendants who had remained after them in the land. It is from them that Solomon raised up a legion of servants for the hard work, and they have served in this manner to this day.

9 And Solomon did not use the children of Israel for hard physical work. For they were the men of war, and his chief princes, and the captains of his chariots, and his horsemen.

10 And the chief officers whom Solomon had [those among them who were of the children of Israel] were two hundred and fifty. They ruled the people who performed the work.

11 Then Solomon brought up the daughter of Pharaoh out of the city of David to the house that he had built for her. For he said: My wife [who has not submitted to the practices of my people] will not dwell in the house of David king of Israel, because the places where the ark of Yahweh has come are holy.

12 And Solomon used to offer [to cause to offer] burnt offerings to Yahweh on the altar of Yahweh which he had built before the portico of the house.

13 The offerings were made there according to the commandment of Moses as it is required for each day, and for the sabbaths, and for the new moons, and for the appointed feasts three times in the year, namely in the feast of unleavened bread, and in the feast of the weeks, and in the feast of tabernacles.

14 And Solomon established the groups of priests in their functions according to the ordinance of David his father, and the Levites in their offices, to praise Yahweh and also to minister before the priests every day, and the gatekeepers according to their divisions at each gate. For thus had commanded David the man of God.

15 And they did not depart from the commandment of the king to the priests and to the Levites, concerning all their matter and concerning the treasures.

16 Thus had been finished all the construction works of Salomon, from the day of the foundation of the house of Yahweh until the day that these works were finished. So the house of Yahweh was perfected.

17 Then Solomon went to Ezion-geber which is beside Eloth, on the seashore in the land of Edom.

18 And Huram sent ships and also servants who had knowledge of the sea to Solomon, and those ships were under the hand of the servants of Huram. And they went with the servants of Solomon to Ophir, and they took from there four hundred and fifty talents of gold, and they brought [the main part of] it to king Solomon.

2 Chronicles 9

1 And the queen of Sheba heard of the fame of Solomon, and she came to test Solomon with hard questions at Jerusalem. She arrived with a very numerous entourage, and with camels carrying spices, and with gold in large quantities, and with precious stones. And when she came to Solomon, she communed with him of all that was in her heart.

2 And Solomon answered all her questions, and there was nothing that Solomon could not explain to her.

3 Then the queen of Sheba saw all the wisdom of Solomon, and the house that he had built.

4 And the food of his table, and the dwelling of his servants, and the functions of those who served him, and their apparel, and his cupbearers and their apparel, and the burnt offerings that he offered in the house of Yahweh. Therefore she was greatly astonished.

5 And she said to the king: It was a true report that I have heard in my own land about your great works and your wisdom.

6 I had not believe their report but now I have come and have seen it with my eyes. And behold, I had not been told the half of your great wisdom. For you exceed the fame that I had heard.

7 Your people are fortunate, and your servants who continually stand before you are fortunate because they can hear your wisdom.

8 Blessed be Yahweh your God who has loved you to set you on his throne as king in the stead of Yahweh your God. It is because your God loves Israel and desires to establish them forever, therefore he has made you king over them to practice justice by judging his people with fairness.

9 Then she gave the king one hundred and twenty talents of gold, and a very large quantity of spices, and precious stones. No one has no longer brought spices of such quality in Israel, like those that the queen of Sheba gave to king Solomon.

10 And the servants of Huram who had gone with the servants of Solomon to bring gold from Ophir, they brought also Almug trees and precious stones.

11 And the king used the Almug trees to make staircases for the house of Yahweh and for the king's house, and also harps and psalteries for the singers. Such Almug trees had never been seen before in the land of Judah.

12 And king Solomon gave to the queen of Sheba every pleasant thing that she asked, and he also gave her gifts so that there would be reciprocity concerning the gifts that she had brought to the king. Then she departed and went to her own country, both she and her servants.

13 The weight of gold that came to Solomon on that year was six hundred and sixty six talents of gold.

14 And this was in addition to what he collected as a tax from the traders and merchants. And also all the kings of Arabia and the governors of his country brought gold and silver to Solomon.

15 And king Solomon made two hundred large shields of beaten gold, and he used six hundred shekels of beaten gold for each of them.

16 And also three hundred [smaller] shields of beaten gold, with three hundred shekels of gold per shield. And the king put them in the house of the forest of Lebanon.

17 Then the king made a great throne of ivory, and he overlaid it with pure gold.

18 And the throne had six steps to get there, with a footstool of gold fastened to the throne, and there were armrests on each side on the place of the seat, and two lions standing near the armrests.

19 And twelve lions stood there on the six steps on each side. There was nothing similar in any other kingdom.

20 And all the drinking utensils of king Solomon were of gold, and all the utensils of the house of the forest of Lebanon were of pure gold. For the availability of gold had diminished the value of silver during the days of Solomon.

21 For the king had ships that went to Tarshish with the servants of Huram. And the navy of Tarshish came every three years bringing gold, and silver, and ivory, and apes, and peacocks.

22 So king Solomon was greater than all the kings of the earth in riches and in wisdom.

23 And all the kings of the earth sought to see Solomon to hear his wisdom which God had put in his heart.

24 And each of them brought his gift, and among these gifts were utensils of silver, and utensils of gold, and clothing, and armor, and spices, and horses, and mules. It was like this every year.

25 And Solomon had four thousand stalls of horses, and chariots, and twelve thousand horsemen, and he placed them in the chariots cities and also with the king [himself] in Jerusalem.

26 And Solomon ruled over all the kings from the river Euphrates to the land of the Philistines, and to the border of Egypt.

27 And the king made Jerusalem so rich that silver was as common as stones, and cedars as numerous as the wild fig trees that grow abundantly in the plain.

28 And they brought horses for Solomon out of Egypt, and out of all lands.

29 Concerning the remaining of the acts of Solomon, the first and the last, are they not written in the book of Nathan the prophet, and in the prophecy of Ahijah the Shilonite, and in the visions of Iddo the seer concerning Jeroboam the son of Nebat.

30 And the time that Solomon reigned in Jerusalem over all Israel was forty years.

1 Then Rehoboam went to Shechem, because all Israel had come to Shechem to make him king.

2 And when Jeroboam the son of Nebat heard of it, he was still in Egypt where he had fled from king Solomon in order to dwell there. Therefore Jeroboam returned from Egypt.

3 And they sent and called him, and Jeroboam and all Israel came to Rehoboam and spoke to him with the following words.

4 Your father made our yoke grievous. Now therefore lighten this harsh servitude of your father, and the heavy yoke that he did put on us, and we will serve you.

5 And he said to them, Go now and come again to me in three days [to get an answer]. And the people departed.

6 And king Rehoboam consulted the elders who had stood before his father Solomon when he was alive, and he said: What advice do you give me so that I may answer to this people.

7 And they spoke to him with the following words: If you act kindly towards this people, if you please them and speak to them with love, then they will be your servants forever.

8 But Rehoboam did not want to follow the advice that the elders had given to him, therefore he consulted the young men who had grown up with him and who stood before him.

9 And he said to them: What do you advise me to answer to this people who has spoken to me by saying, 'Lighten the yoke that your father did put on us'.

10 And the young men who had grown up with him spoke to him with the following words: You will answer thus to this people who has spoken to you by saying, 'Your father made our yoke heavy but we want you to lighten it for us'. You will answer them thus: My little finger is bigger than my father's kidneys.

11 And where now my father had placed a grievous yoke on you, I will make it heavier for you. For my father chastised you with whips, but I will chastise you with scorpions.

12 Then Jeroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam on the third day, as the king had ordered by saying: Come again to me in three days.

13 And the king responded harshly to the people, and he did not want to follow the advice that the elders had given to him.

14 And he spoke to them according to the counsel of the young men. And he said: My father made your yoke grievous, and I will make it more grievous. My father chastised you with whips, but I will chastise you with scorpions.

15 So the king did not listen to the people. For it was a thing directed by God in order to fulfill the word that he had spoken by Ahijah the Shilonite to Jeroboam the son of Nebat.

16 And when all Israel saw that the king did not want to listen to them, then the people answered the king by saying, 'What portion do we have in David. We have no inheritance in the son of Jesse. Let every man go to his tent, O Israel. And worry about your own house from now on, David'. So all Israel went to their tents.

17 And the children of Israel who lived in the cities of Judah were the only ones over whom Rehoboam reigned.

18 For king Rehoboam sent Hadoram [in the territory of those who have said that they no longer wanted him as king]. He sent Hadoram there to talk about taxes because Adoram was a tax collector, but all Israel stoned Hadoram to death with stones. Then king Rehoboam hastened to get into a chariot and to flee to Jerusalem.

19 This is how Israel had separated itself from the house of David to this day.

2 Chronicles 11

1 And when Rehoboam came to Jerusalem, then he gathered all the house of Judah and Benjamin to fight against Israel in order to bring it into the kingdom of Rehoboam. And there were one hundred and eighty thousand chosen men fit for war.

2 But the word of Yahweh came to Shemaiah the man of God with the following words.

3 Speak with the following words to Rehoboam who is the son of Solomon and the king of Judah, and to all the children of Israel who are in Judah and Benjamin.

4 Thus says Yahweh, 'Do not go up nor fight against your brothers, but let each of you return to his house because this thing is done by me'. Therefore they obeyed the word of Yahweh, and they returned from going against Jeroboam.

5 And Rehoboam dwelt in Jerusalem and built fortified cities in Judah.

6 He built Bethlehem, and Etam, and Tekoa.

7 And Beth-zur, and Soco, and Adullam.

8 And Gath, and Mareshah, and Ziph.

9 And Adoraim, and Lachish, and Azekah.

10 And Zorah, and Aijalon, and Hebron, which were in Judah and Benjamin, and all were fortified cities.

11 And when he had fortified those cities, then he did put captains in them, and also storehouses of food, and of oil, and of wine.

12 And Rehoboam did put shields and spears in each city and made the cities very strong. So Judah and Benjamin belonged to him.

13 And the priests and the Levites who were in all Israel departed from all their borders and came to Rehoboam [the king of Judah]

14 For the Levites left their suburbs and their possessions, and came to Judah and to Jerusalem, because Jeroboam [the king of Israel] and his sons prevented them from fulfilling their duties as priests of Yahweh.

15 And Jeroboam chose his own priests from among his people to serve in the high places which he created, where he set up the strangers gods namely the calves that he had made [he had caused to make them].

16 And the Levites came in the land of Judah with those of all the tribes of Israel whose hearts were eager to seek Yahweh the God of Israel. They came there to be able make sacrifices at Jerusalem and thus serve Yahweh the God of their fathers [by complying with the commandments of Moses which give a function to the hereditary tribe of Levi and to a house like the one that Solomon built in Jerusalem for the name of Yahweh].

17 So they strengthened the kingdom of Judah, and made Rehoboam the son of Solomon strong for three years. For they walked during three years in the way of David and Solomon [when Solomon's heart was perfect toward his God].

18 And Rehoboam [the son of Solomon the son of David] took Mahalath to wife. She was the daughter of Jerimoth the son of David, and of Abihail the daughter of Eliab the son of Jesse [and Jesse was the father of David].

19 And she bore him sons: Jeush, and Shemariah, and Zaham.

20 And after her, Rehoboam took Maacah the daughter [granddaughter] of Absalom [the son of David]. And she bore him Abijah, and Attai, and Ziza, and Shelomith.

21 And Rehoboam loved Maacah the daughter [granddaughter] of Absalom more than all his wives and his concubines. For he took eighteen wives and sixty concubines, and he begot twenty eight sons and sixty daughters.

22 And Rehoboam made Abijah the son of Maacah the chief among his brothers, because he intended to make him king.

23 And Rehoboam acted wisely [according to his own point of view] and dispersed all his sons throughout all the land of Judah and Benjamin, in all the fortified cities. And Rehoboam provided them with food in abundance, and sought many wives for them.

1 And when Rehoboam had established the kingdom and made it strong, then he forsook the law of Yahweh, he and all Israel.

2 Therefore in the fifth year of the reign of king Rehoboam, Shishak king of Egypt came up against Jerusalem. It happened because they had transgressed against Yahweh.

3 Shishak came with one thousand and two hundred chariots, and sixty thousand horsemen. And there was also with him a multitude of people who had come from Egypt, namely the Lubims, and the Sukkiims, and the Ethiopians.

4 And he took the fortified cities that belonged to Judah, and then he came to Jerusalem.

5 Then Shemaiah the prophet came to Rehoboam and to the princes of Judah who had gathered together in Jerusalem because of Shishak, and he said to them: Thus says Yahweh, You have forsaken me, and therefore I also have given you into the hand of Shishak.

6 Then the princes of Israel and the king humbled themselves and said: Yahweh is fair.

7 And when Yahweh saw that they humbled themselves, the word of Yahweh came to Shemaiah by saying: They have humbled themselves, therefore I will not destroy them. And I will not delay to help them, for my wrath will not be poured out on Jerusalem by Shishak.

8 Nevertheless they will be his servants, and thus they will know the difference between being in my service and being in the service of the kingdoms of other lands.

9 Then Shishak king of Egypt came up against Jerusalem, and took the treasures of the house of Yahweh and the treasures of the king's house. He took everything. He also took the shields of gold that Solomon had made.

10 And king Rehoboam made in their stead shields of brass, and he handed them over to the care of the chief of the guard who guarded the entrance to the king's house.

11 And whenever the king went into the house of Yahweh, the guards took these shields and went with him, and brought them back when they returned to the guard room.

12 And because Rehoboam humbled himself, therefore Yahweh turned away his anger from him and did not utterly destroy him. And things prospered in Judah also.

13 So king Rehoboam strengthened himself [again] in Jerusalem and reigned. For Rehoboam was forty one years old when he began to reign, and he reigned seventeen years in Jerusalem which is the city that Yahweh had chosen out of all the tribes of Israel to put his name there. And his mother's name was Naamah, and she was an Ammonite.

14 And he had done what is evil because he did not decide in his heart to seek Yahweh.

15 Now the acts of Rehoboam, the first and the last, are they not written in the book of Shemaiah the prophet, and of Iddo the seer concerning genealogies. And there was war between Rehoboam and Jeroboam continually.

2 Chronicles 13

1 In the eighteenth year of king Jeroboam [the son of Nebat], Abijah began to reign over Judah.

2 And Abijah reigned three years in Jerusalem. His mother was Maacah the daughter of Uriel of Gibeah [and of Tamar the daughter of Absalom]. And there was war between Abijah and Jeroboam.

3 And Abijah set the battle in array with an army of valiant men of war, four hundred thousand chosen men. And Jeroboam also set the battle in array against him with eight hundred thousand chosen men, all being strong and valiant.

4 And Abijah stood up on the mount Zemaraim which is a part of the hill country of Ephraim, and said: Listen to me, O Jeroboam and all Israel.

5 Should you not know that Yahweh the God of Israel has given David a royal position forever in Israel, to David and to his sons by a covenant of salt.

6 And Jeroboam the son of Nebat, the servant of Solomon the son of David, rose up and rebelled against his lord.

7 And he was joined by worthless and wicked men, and they prevailed against Rehoboam the son of Solomon. For Rehoboam was young and had a tender heart, and he could not resist them. [This is obviously the personal point of view of Abijah, because it is not exactly what happened.]

8 And now you think that you will triumph over the kingdom of Yahweh which is in the hand of the sons of David. And you are a great multitude, and you have with you [in your land] the golden calves that Jeroboam made so that they may be your gods.

9 Have you not driven out the priests of Yahweh, namely the sons of Aaron and the Levites. And you have created among yourselves new priests [to be intermediaries between God and men], as is done by the peoples of other countries. Everyone who came with a young bullock and seven rams to be consecrated, the same could become a priest of that which are not gods.

10 But as for us, Yahweh is our God and we have not forsaken him [this is obviously the personal point of view of Abijah]. For the priests who minister to Yahweh are the sons of Aaron, and the Levites fulfill their duties.

11 We offer burnt offerings to Yahweh every morning and every evening, and also and sweet incense. We set the showbreads in order on the pure table, and we light the candlestick of gold with its lamps every evening, and thus we maintain the service of Yahweh our God. But you have forsaken him.

12 And behold, this God is with us as a captain, and his priests also are there with the loud trumpets to sound them against you. O you the children of Israel, do not fight against Yahweh the God of your fathers, because you will not prosper.

13 But Jeroboam had set an ambush on them from behind. So a part of the troops of Jeroboam were in front of those of Judah, and another part was in ambush on the back of Judah.

14 Then the men of Judah looked and behold, the battle was set before and behind them. And they cried to Yahweh, and the priests sounded the trumpets.

15 And the men of Judah shouted. And when the men of Judah shouted, then God smote Jeroboam and also his army of Israel before Abijah and Judah. [Now Abijah and the people of Judah did indeed practice some aspects of the law given by Moses, but they did not behave in a way that was pleasing to the spirit of Yahweh. And God acted in this way in order to maintain the personal inheritance of David among the children of Jacob.]

16 And the children of Israel fled before Judah, and God delivered them into the hand of Judah.

17 And Abijah and his people killed them with a great massacre, and five hundred thousand chosen men of Israel fell down dead.

18 So the children of Israel were defeated at that time, and the children of Judah prevailed because they wanted to rely on Yahweh the God of their fathers.

19 And Abijah pursued Jeroboam, and took cities from him: Bethel and its towns, and Jeshanah and its towns, and Ephron and its towns.

20 And Jeroboam did not recover strength in the days of Abijah, and until Yahweh smote him and he died.

21 So Abijah became strong [since his enemy was weak]. Abijah had fourteen wives throughout his life, and begot twenty two sons and sixteen daughters. [Abijah trusted in the promises that God made to David, but he was not loved by the spirit of Yahweh. And Abijah reigned only for three years and did not establish a useful inheritance of his own, because he and his people did what was evil in the eyes of Yahweh. They had not abandoned the tribe of Levi which has a special function in the law of Moses, but had maintained the sanctification of multiple places of worship under all the green trees throughout their territories when there was no need since Solomon had built a house for the name of Yahweh. And there were Sodomites in the territory of the kingdom of Judah.]

22 And the remaining of the acts of Abijah, and his ways and what he said, they are written in the commentary of the prophet Iddo.

2 Chronicles 14

1 So Abijah slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the city of David. And Asa his son reigned in his place. And the land was quiet for ten years in the days of Asa.

2 And Asa did what was good and right in the eyes of Yahweh his God.

3 For Asa removed the strange altars and the high places, and broke the idols and cut down the groves.

4 And Asa commanded Judah to seek Yahweh the God of their fathers, and to do [all] the law and the commandments.

5 And he removed the high places and the images from all the cities of Judah. Therefore the kingdom was quiet before him.

6 And Asa built strong cities in Judah because the land was at rest and there was no war against him in those years. For Yahweh had given him rest.

7 Therefore Asa said to [the people of] Judah, 'Let us build these cities and surround them with walls. Let us make towers, and gates, and bars in the gates, since there is still space available in our land. For we have sought Yahweh our God, and he has given us rest on every side because we have sought him'. So they built, and they prospered.

8 And Asa had an army of three hundred thousand men of Judah who bore shield and spear, and two hundred and eighty thousand men of Benjamin who bore shield and drew bow. All these soldiers were valiant men.

9 Then Zerah of Ethiopia went out against Judah with an army of one million men and three hundred chariots, and he came to Mareshah.

10 And Asa went out to fight against Zerah, and they set the battle in array in the valley of Zephathah near Mareshah.

11 And Asa cried to Yahweh his God and said: Yahweh, you alone can help the weak and the strong. Help us, O Yahweh our God. For we rely on you, and it is in your name that we have come against this multitude. O Yahweh, let not man prevail against you, because you are our God.

12 So Yahweh smote the Ethiopians before Asa and before Judah, and the Ethiopians fled.

13 And Asa and the people who were with him pursued them as far as Gerar, and they killed so many Ethiopians that they could not regroup to form an army again. For they were destroyed before Yahweh and before his army. And Asa and his people took a very great spoil.

14 And they smote all the cities around Gerar, for the fear of Yahweh had fallen on the people who lived there. And they plundered all the cities, and the spoil was great.

15 And they also smote the camps of the shepherds, and carried away an abundance of sheep and camels. Then they returned to Jerusalem.

2 Chronicles 15

1 Then the spirit of God came on Azariah the son of Obed.

2 And Azariah went out to meet Asa, and said to him: O Asa, and all Judah, and Benjamin, listen to me. Yahweh is with you while you are with him. If you seek him then you will find him. But if you forsake him then he will forsake you.

3 For a long time (in the days of the judges), Israel was without the true God and without a teaching priest and without the law.

4 But whenever the Israelites were in distress and turned to Yahweh the God of Israel, and sought him, then they found him.

5 In those days [whenever they forsook their God], there was no peace for those who went in and out. For all the inhabitants of the land were in great distress.

6 Foreign nations were against the nation of the children of Israel, but also one city was against another among the children of Israel. For God was vexing them with all kinds of adversity.

7 Therefore be strong and do not let your hands grow weak, because your work will be rewarded.

8 And when Asa heard these words prophesied by Obed the prophet, he took courage and removed the abominations from all the land of Judah and Benjamin, and from the cities that he had taken in the hill country of Ephraim. And he renewed the altar of Yahweh that was before the portico of the house of Yahweh.

9 And Asa gathered all Judah and Benjamin, and those who had come to live with them and who were mostly from Ephraim, and Manasseh, and Simeon. For a great number of the people of Israel joined him when they saw that Yahweh his God was with him.

10 So they assembled at Jerusalem in the third month of the fifteenth year of the reign of Asa.

11 And at that time they made offerings from the spoil that they had taken in the war [against Zerah of Ethiopia]. They offered seven hundred bullocks and seven thousand sheep [peace offerings].

12 And they made a covenant to seek Yahweh the God of their fathers with all their hearts and with all their souls.

13 And they agreed that whoever would not seek Yahweh the God of Israel was to be put to death, whether small or great, man or woman.

14 And they swore to Yahweh with a loud voice, and with shouting, and with trumpets, and with cornets.

15 And all Judah rejoiced at the oath. For they had sworn to Yahweh with all their hearts, and they had sought him with their whole desire. So they found him, and Yahweh gave them rest on every side.

16 And king Asa also removed the prerogative of his mother Maacah [his grandmother who took care of him], because she had made an idol in a grove. And Asa destroyed her idol, and crushed it into powder, and burned it in the valley of Kidron.

17 But the high places did not disappear in Israel, although the heart of Asa was perfect [with Yahweh] during all his days.

18 And Asa also brought in the house of God the things that his father had dedicated, and the things that he had dedicated himself, namely silver and gold and vessels.

19 And there was no war until the thirty fifth year of the reign of Asa.

1 In the thirty sixth year of the reign of Asa, Baasha king of Israel came up against Judah. And Baasha built the city of Ramah to prevent the men of Asa king of Judah from going out and entering.

2 Then Asa took the silver and the gold from the treasures of the house of Yahweh and of the king's house, and sent it with the following words to Ben-hadad the king of Syria who lived in Damascus.

3 Let there be a covenant between me and you, as there was between my father and your father. Behold I am sending you silver and gold. Now therefore, go and break your covenant with Baasha the king of Israel so that he may depart from me.

4 And Ben-Hadad listened to king Asa, and he sent the captains of his army against the cities of Israel, and they smote Ijon, and Dan, and Abel-maim, and all the store cities of Naphtali.

5 And when Baasha heard of it, then he stopped building Ramah and let his work cease.

6 Then king Asa assembled all Judah, and carried away the stones and the timber with which Baasha was building the city of Ramah, and Asa used them to build Geba and Mizpah.

7 And Hanani the seer came to Asa king of Judah at that time and said to him: Because you have relied on the king of Syria, and have not relied on Yahweh your God, therefore the army of the king of Syria has escaped out of your hand. [Now Yahweh is known in Israel at that time only by his multiple commandments which include the Levites and the priests who are descendants of Aaron. And Syria is a potential enemy of Israel to whom Moses commanded not to make alliances with peoples who serve other gods]

8 Were not the Ethiopians and the Lubims a great army with a multitude of chariots and of horsemen. And yet Yahweh delivered them into your hand because you relied on him.

9 For the eyes of Yahweh continuously watch the whole earth in order to provide an adequate assistance to each of those whose heart is perfect toward him. You have acted foolishly in this matter, therefore from now on you will have wars.

10 Then Asa was angry with the seer because of what he said. And this thing displeased king Asa so much that he put the seer into a prison. And Asa also oppressed some of the people at that time. [All this happened during the last five years of Asa's reign]

11 And behold, the first and the last acts of Asa, lo, they are written in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel.

12 And Asa was diseased in his feet in the thirty ninth year of his reign, and his disease was extreme. And Asa did not seek Yahweh even in this disease, but he only sought the physicians [at that time when Yahweh is known in Israel only by his multiple commandments which include the Levites and the priests who are descendants of Aaron].

13 So Asa died in the forty first year of his reign, and he slept with his fathers.

14 And they buried him in one of his sepulchers, which he had made for himself in the city of David. They laid him on a bed that was filled with sweet odors and divers kinds of spices prepared by the art of the perfumer, and they burned a very large quantity of sweet odors to honor him.

1 And Jehoshaphat his son reigned in his stead, and Jehoshaphat prevailed against Israel.

2 And he put troops in all the fortified cities of Judah, and set garrisons in the land of Judah and in the cities of Ephraim that Asa his father had taken.

3 And Yahweh was with Jehoshaphat because he walked in the first ways of David his father, and did not seek Baalim [the false gods].

4 For Jehoshaphat sought Yahweh the God of his father, and walked in his commandments, and did not imitate the doings of the kingdom of Israel.

5 Therefore Yahweh established the kingdom in the hand of Jehoshaphat. And all Judah brought gifts to Jehoshaphat, so that he had riches and honor in abundance.

6 And the heart of Jehoshaphat grew in the ways of Yahweh, and Jehoshaphat removed the high places and the groves from Judah.

7 And in the third year of his reign, Jehoshaphat sent his leaders to teach in the cities of Judah. These leaders were Ben-hail, and Obadiah, and Zechariah, and Nethanel, and Micaiah.

8 And Jehoshaphat sent with them the Levites. There were Shemaiah, and Nethaniah, and Zebadiah, and Asahel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehonathan, and Adonijah, and Tobijah, and Tob-adonijah, the Levites. And also Elishama and Jehoram the priests.

9 And they taught in Judah, having the book of the law of Yahweh with them. And they went throughout all the cities of Judah, and taught among the people.

10 And the fear of Yahweh fell on all the kingdoms of the lands that were around Judah, and they made no war against Jehoshaphat.

11 And some of the Philistines brought gifts to Jehoshaphat, and silver for tribute. And the Arabians brought him livestock, seven thousand and seven hundred rams, and seven thousand and seven hundred male goats.

12 So Jehoshaphat prospered and was very great. And he built castles and cities for storehouses in Judah.

13 And Jehoshaphat did many work in the cities of Judah, and his valiant men of war were in Jerusalem.

14 And this was their numbering according to their fathers' houses. Of Judah, the captains of thousands: Adnah the captain, and three hundred thousand valiant men with him.

15 And next to him was Jehohanan a captain, and two hundred and eighty thousand men with him.

16 And next to him was Amaziah the son of Zichri, who had willingly dedicated himself to Yahweh, and who had two hundred thousand valiant men.

17 And of Benjamin: Eliada a valiant man, who had two hundred thousand men armed with bow and shield.

18 And next to him was Jehozabad, who had one hundred and eighty thousand men armed for war.

19 These were the king's servants, besides those whom the king had placed in all the fortified cities of Judah.

1 And Jehoshaphat had riches and honor in abundance, but he became friends with Ahab. [A son of Jehoshaphat had taken a wife from the daughters of the house of Ahab king of Israel]

2 And in the seventeenth year of the reign of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, he went down to Ahab in Samaria. And Ahab killed sheep and oxen in abundance for Jehoshaphat and for the people who were with him, and Ahab enticed Jehoshaphat to go up to Ramoth-gilead.

3 And Ahab king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat king of Judah, 'Do you want to go with me to Ramoth-gilead [to the battle]'. And Jehoshaphat answered him: I am like you are, and my people is like your people, and we will join you in the war.

4 And Jehoshaphat said to the king of Israel: Consult now the word of Yahweh, I pray you.

5 Therefore the king of Israel assembled four hundred men of the prophets and said to them, 'Can I go to fight against Ramoth-gilead or should I refrain'. And they replied, 'Go, because God will deliver it into the hand of the king'.

6 But Jehoshaphat said: Is there not another prophet of Yahweh here [who is not part of this company of men having the same habits], so that we may also inquire of him.

7 And Ahab king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat king of Judah, 'There remains one man by whom we can consult Yahweh. But I hate him, because he does not prophesy good to me but evil. It is Micaiah the son of Imlah'. And Jehoshaphat said: Let the king not speak thus.

8 Then Ahab king of Israel called an eunuch and said: Bring Micaiah the son of Imlah here quickly.

9 And Ahab the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat the king of Judah were each sitting on his throne and clothed with his apparel. They sat in the threshing floor at the entrance of the gate of Samaria. And all the prophets were prophesying before them.

10 And Zedekiah the son of Chenaanah made iron horns and said: Thus speaks Yahweh. With these horns you will smite the Syrians until you have destroyed them.

11 And all the prophets prophesied the same by saying: Go to Ramoth-gilead and you will succeed, for Yahweh will deliver it into the hand of the king.

12 And the messenger who had gone to call Micaiah spoke to him by saying: Behold now, the words of the prophets declare good to the king as with one mouth. Therefore let your word be like the word of one of them, I pray you. Say good things.

13 And Micaiah replied: As Yahweh is alive, I will announce what Yahweh will tell me.

14 So Micaiah came to the king, and the king said to him, 'Micaiah, can we go to fight against Ramoth-gilead or should we forbear'. And Micaiah replied, 'Go and you will succeed, for they will be delivered into your hand'.

15 And the king said to Micaiah: How many times will I urge you to tell me only the real words of Yahweh.

16 Then Micaiah said: I have seen all Israel scattered on the mountains like sheep that had no shepherd. And Yahweh has said, 'These people have no master, let every man return to his house in peace'.

17 And the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat: Have I not told you that he prophesies not good things for me, but evil.

18 And Micaiah said: Listen therefore to the word of Yahweh. I have seen Yahweh sitting on his throne, and the whole army of the heavens standing on his right hand and on his left.

19 And Yahweh said, 'Who will persuade Ahab king of Israel so that he may go and perish at Ramoth-gilead'. And one answered in one manner, and another answered in another manner.

20 Then a spirit came forth and stood before Yahweh, and said, 'I will entice him'. And Yahweh said, 'How will you do'.

21 And he answered, 'I will go out and I will be a spirit of lie in the mouth of all his prophets'. And Yahweh said: You will persuade him and you will also prevail. Go now and do so.

22 Now therefore behold, Yahweh has put a spirit of lie in the mouth of all these prophets who have come to you. And Yahweh has pronounced the evil against you.

23 Then Zedekiah the son of Chenaanah came near and smote Micaiah on the cheek, and said: By what way did the spirit of Yahweh come out of me to speak by you.

24 And Micaiah said: Behold you will see [the real plans of Yahweh] on that day when you will go from room to room to hide yourself.

25 And the king of Israel said: Take Micaiah, and carry him to Amon the governor of the city and to Joash the son of the king.

26 And you will say: Thus speaks the king. Put this man in the prison house, and feed him with bread of affliction, and with water of affliction, until I come back in peace.

27 And Micaiah said, 'If you come back in peace then Yahweh has not spoken by me'. And Micaiah said again 'You all the people here, hear'.

28 So the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat the king of Judah went up to Ramoth-gilead.

29 And the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, 'I will disguise myself to go into the battle, but you will put on your apparel'. And the king of Israel disguised himself and went into the battle.

30 Now the king of Syria had commanded the captains who were over his chariots by saying: You will not attack the small or the great, but you will only attack the king of Israel.

31 And when the captains of the chariots saw Jehoshaphat, they said, 'It is the king of Israel'. Therefore they turned aside to attack him. And Jehoshaphat cried out, and Yahweh helped him. God caused his pursuers to turn away from him.

32 For when the captains of the chariots saw that he was not the king of Israel, then they ceased to pursue him and turned back.

33 Then a soldier mightily shot an arrow at random, and it happened that the arrow smote the king of Israel between the joints of his brigandine [his armor]. Therefore the king said to the driver of his chariot: Turn your hand and carry me out of the battlefield, because I am wounded.

34 And the battle became fierce on that day, and the king stayed in his chariot opposite the Syrians until the evening, and he died at sunset.

2 Chronicles 19

1 And Jehoshaphat the king of Judah returned safe to his house in Jerusalem.

2 And Jehu the son of Hanani the seer went out to meet him, and said to king Jehoshaphat: Should you help the wicked and love those who hate Yahweh. Therefore Yahweh is angry with you because of this thing.

3 Nevertheless there are good things found in you, because you have removed the groves from the land, and have set your heart to seek God.

4 And after that Jehoshaphat dwelt at Jerusalem. And Jehoshaphat went again among the people, from Beersheba to the hill country of Ephraim, and brought them back to Yahweh the God of their fathers [that is to say, he persuaded them to behave in the way that pleased Yahweh].

5 And Jehoshaphat appointed judges in all the fortified cities throughout the land of Judah, in every city.

6 And he said to the judges: Consider what you do. For your judgments should not be designed to please men but Yahweh, and he will assist you in the judgment.

7 Now therefore let the fear of Yahweh be on you, and be careful with what you have to do. For there is no iniquity with Yahweh our God. There is neither respect for the face of a person, nor acceptance of gifts.

8 And Jehoshaphat returned to Jerusalem and appointed persons there for the judgments of Yahweh [concerning his complex commandments] and for controversies. Jehoshaphat chose them from the Levites, and from the priests, and from the chiefs of the families of Israel.

9 And Jehoshaphat commanded them by saying: This is what you will do in the fear of Yahweh, faithfully and with a sincere heart.

10 In every controversy that comes to you from your brothers who dwelt in their cities, concerning a murder, or a law, or a precept, or a statute, or a judgment, you will enlighten them and warn them so that they may not transgress against Yahweh. And thus the wrath of Yahweh will not be kindled against you and against your brothers. This is what each of you will do so as not to be guilty towards his God. [For Yahweh said to Moses: It is he who sins against me whom I will erase from my book.]

11 And behold, Amariah the high priest is over you in all the matters of Yahweh [concerning his complex commandments]. And Zebadiah the son of Ishmael is the leader in matters concerning the tribe of Judah in particular, and he will be over all matters concerning the responsibility of the people towards the king. And the Levites are before you as officers. Be brave and do your duty, and Yahweh will be with those among you who will act honestly.

1 After this the children of Moab came to battle against Jehoshaphat. They came with the children of Ammon, and also some others beside the Ammonites.

2 And it was reported to Jehoshaphat by saying: A great multitude is coming against you from beyond the sea, from Syria. And behold they are at Hazazon-tamar which is En-gedi.

3 And Jehoshaphat was afraid, and set himself to seek Yahweh, and proclaimed a fasting throughout all Judah.

4 And Judah gathered together to call on Yahweh, and they came from all the cities of Judah to seek Yahweh.

5 And Jehoshaphat stood before those who had assembled from Judah and Jerusalem, in the new courtyard of the house of Yahweh. And Jehoshaphat spoke with the following words.

6 O Yahweh the God of our fathers, are you not God in the heaven. And are you not the ruler over all the kingdoms of the nations. For power and strength are in your hand, and no one can resist you.

7 You our God have driven out the inhabitants of this land before your people Israel, and have given it to the seed of your friend Abraham forever.

8 And they have dwelt there, and have built you a sanctuary there for your name.

9 And they said: If evil come on us, whether the sword of judgment, or pestilence, or famine. Then we will stand before this house and in your presence, for your name is in this house, and we will cry out to you in our distress, and you will hear us and succor us.

10 And now behold, the children of Ammon and Moab, and those of the mount Seir, these peoples whom you did not allow Israel to attack when they came out of the land of Egypt. For Israel turned away from them and did not destroy them.

11 And behold, I say, they are rewarding us by coming to drive us out of your inheritance which you have given us to possess it.

12 O our God, will you not judge them. For we are powerless against this great multitude who have come against us. We do not know what to do, but our eyes are on you.

14 Then the spirit of Yahweh came on Jahaziel the son of Zechariah, the son of Benaiah, the son of Jeiel, the son of Mattaniah, a Levite of the sons of Asaph. Jahaziel was in the midst of the assembly.

15 And Jahaziel said: Hear, you all Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem [who have come from several places], and you king Jehoshaphat. Thus says Yahweh to you. Do not fear and do not be discouraged by this great multitude, because the battle will not be yours but God's.

16 Tomorrow you will go down against them. Behold they come up by the ascent Ziz, and you will find them at the end of the valley before the wilderness of Jeruel.

17 You will not need to fight in this battle. Stand still and do not move, and see how Yahweh saves you. O Judah and Jerusalem, do not fear and do not be discouraged. And tomorrow you will go out against them, and Yahweh will be with you.

18 Then Jehoshaphat bowed down with his face to the ground, and all Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem fell down before Yahweh to worship him.

19 And the Levites from the children of the Kohathites and from the children of the Korahites stood up to praise Yahweh the God of Israel. They sang very loudly.

20 And when they arose early in the morning, they went forth to the wilderness of Tekoa. And as they went forth, Jehoshaphat stood and said: Listen to me, O Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem. Trust in Yahweh your God and you will be strengthened, trust in the testimony of his prophets and you will prosper.

21 And he consulted the people, and appointed the singers of Yahweh [they had been established in the time of David] to march before the army and to praise him who dwells in the beautiful sanctuary. And they sang by saying: Praise Yahweh, for his mercy endures forever.

22 And when they began to sing and to praise, Yahweh set ambushes against the children of Ammon and of Moab and of mount Seir, namely those who were coming against Judah. And the enemy was defeated.

23 For the children of Ammon and of Moab rose against the inhabitants of mount Seir to kill them and to utterly destroy. And when they had destroyed the inhabitants of Seir, then they helped one another to destroy one another.

24 And when Judah came toward the watch tower in the wilderness, they looked at the multitude and behold, they were dead bodies fallen to the ground, and no one had escaped.

25 And Jehoshaphat and his people came to take the spoil, and they found an abundance of valuable things. There were the supplies of the enemy, and also precious jewelry on the corpses. And they took it for themselves, and there was more than what they could carry at once. And it took them three days to take and carry all the spoil, because there was a great quantity of it.

26 And on the fourth day they assembled themselves in the valley of Beracah. For they blessed Yahweh there. Therefore they called that place the valley of Beracah, and it is its name to this day.

27 Then all those people of Judah and Jerusalem joyfully returned with Jehoshaphat in their forefront. For Yahweh had filled them with joy in saving them from their enemies.

28 And they came to Jerusalem to the house of Yahweh with psalteries and harps and trumpets.

29 And the fear of God fell on all the kingdoms of the earth when they heard that Yahweh had fought against the enemies of Israel.

30 So the kingdom of Jehoshaphat was quiet, and his God gave him rest on every side.

31 And Jehoshaphat reigned over Judah. He was thirty five years old when he began to reign, and he reigned twenty five years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Azubah the daughter of Shilhi.

32 And Jehoshaphat walked in the way of Asa his father, and did not depart from it, doing what was right in the sight of Yahweh.

33 However the high places were not taken away, because the hearts of the inhabitants of the land were not yet fixed on the God of their fathers.

34 Concerning the remaining of the acts of Jehoshaphat, the first and the last, they are written in the book of Jehu the son of Hanani which is included in the book of the kings of Israel.

35 And after those things Jehoshaphat king of Judah joined Ahaziah king of Israel who was doing evil.

36 Jehoshaphat joined him to build ships in order to go to Tarshish. And they made the ships in Ezion-geber. [A son of Jehoshaphat had taken a wife from the daughters of the house of Ahab the father of Ahaziah]

37 Then Eliezer the son of Dodavahu of Mareshah prophesied against Jehoshaphat and said: Because you have joined Ahaziah, therefore Yahweh has destroyed your work [the part of your work that is the result of your collaboration with the wicked man]. And the ships were broken, so that Jehoshaphat and Ahaziah were not able to send them to Tarshish.

2 And Jehoram had brothers who were the sons of Jehoshaphat. Azariah, and Jehiel, and Zechariah, and Azariah, and Michael, and Shephatiah, all these were the sons of Jehoshaphat king of Israel.

3 And Jehoshaphat their father had given them fortified cities in Judah, and also great gifts of silver and of gold, and of precious things. But Jehoshaphat had given the kingdom to Jehoram because Jehoram was the firstborn.

4 And when Jehoram had taken possession of the kingdom of his father and had made himself strong, then he killed with the sword all his brothers and some of the leaders of Israel.

5 Jehoram was thirty two years old when he began to reign, and he reigned eight years in Jerusalem.

6 And Jehoram walked in the way of the kings of Israel, as the house of Ahab had done. For he had taken a daughter of Ahab to wife, and he did what was evil in the sight of Yahweh [partly by letting himself be influenced by this woman].

7 However Yahweh would not destroy the house of David, because of the covenant that he had made with David, and because Yahweh had promised to give a lamp to David and to his sons forever. [That is to say the spiritual sons of David, those who imitate his behavior. For what Yahweh had said to David was that he will give the kingdom of Israel to the sons of David only if they were careful to practice his commandments. And Yahweh had also said that he will establish forever the legacy of the kingship of David and of the kingship of his immediate successor who was Solomon. But since there is no ordinary man who does not sin, the transgression of Solomon resulted in the separation of the children of Jacob into two distinct kingdoms.]

8 In his days Edom rebelled from under the rule of Judah and established a king over themselves.

9 And Jehoram went there with his captains and all his chariots. And they rose up by night and defeated the enemy after the Edomite army had surrounded him and his captains of the chariots.

10 And the rebellion of Edom against the hand of Judah has continued to this day. Then Libnah rebelled against the authority of Judah at that same time, because Jehoram had forsaken Yahweh the God of his fathers.

11 Moreover Jehoram made high places in the mountains of Judah, and he caused the inhabitants of Jerusalem to prostitute their souls, and thus led Judah astray.

12 And a writing came to Jehoram from the prophet Elisha with the following words: Thus says Yahweh the God of David your father. Because you have not walked in the ways of Jehoshaphat your father, nor in the ways of Asa king of Judah.

13 But you have walked in the way of the kings of Israel, and have caused Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem to prostitute their souls as the house of Ahab did in the kingdom of Israel. And you have killed your brothers of the house of your father because they were better than you.

14 Therefore behold, Yahweh will smite your people with a great calamity. And your sons, and your wives, and all that you have.

15 And you will have a severe disease, a disease of the bowels, and it will increase day by day until your bowels come out by force of the disease.

16 And Yahweh stirred up against Jehoram the spirit of the Philistines and of the Arabians who are near the Ethiopians.

17 And they came up against Judah and invaded it, and plundered all the wealth that was found in the king's house. And they also carried away his sons and his wives, so that Jehoram had no son left except Jehoahaz the youngest of his sons.

19 And his disease increased day by day, and the bowels of Jehoram came out by the force of his disease at the end of two year. So he died in great pain, and his people did not burn incense to honor him as they had done for his fathers.

20 Jehoram was thirty two years old when he began to reign [alone], and he reigned [alone] eight years in Jerusalem. No one was sad at the time when his death was announced. And they buried him in the city of David, but not in the sepulchers of the kings.

1 And the inhabitants of Jerusalem made Ahaziah his youngest son king in his stead. For the army that had come with the Arabians to the camp had killed all the other sons of Jehoram. Therefore Ahaziah the son of Jehoram king of Judah reigned.

2 Ahaziah was twenty two years old when he began to reign, and he reigned one year in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Athaliah the daughter of Omri.

3 And Ahaziah walked in the ways of the house of Ahab, for his mother incited him to act wickedly.

4 So Ahaziah did what was evil in the sight of Yahweh by walking in the ways of the house of Ahab, because they were his counsellors after the death of his father. And it caused his destruction.

5 So he followed their advice, and went with Jehoram the son of Ahab king of Israel to fight against Hazael king of Syria at Ramoth-gilead. And the Syrians wounded Joram [Jehoram].

6 And Joram returned to be healed in Jezreel of the wounds which the Syrians had given him at Ramah, when he fought against Hazael king of Syria. And Azariah [Ahaziah] the son of Jehoram king of Judah went down to see Jehoram [Joram] the son of Ahab at Jezreel, because Joram was sick.

7 And it was by the will of God that Ahaziah went for his own destruction in order to see Joram. For when he arrived, he went out with Jehoram [Joram] to meet Jehu the son of Nimshi whom Yahweh had anointed to destroy the house of Ahab.

8 And when Jehu was executing judgment on the house of Ahab, he found the princes [leaders] of Judah and the sons of the brothers of Ahaziah who were going to meet Ahaziah, and he killed them.

9 And Jehu sought Ahaziah, and they caught him in Samaria where he had hidden himself. And they brought him to Jehu and killed him. And they buried him [they allowed him to be buried] because they said, He is the son [grandson] of Jehoshaphat who sought Yahweh with all his heart. And the house of Ahaziah had no more power to keep the kingship.

10 Therefore when Athaliah the mother of Ahaziah saw that her son was dead, then she arose and destroyed all the royal seed of the house of Judah.

11 But Jehoshabeath the daughter of the previous king took away Joash the son of Ahaziah from among the king's sons who were to be killed. She took both him and his nurse, and put them in a bedroom. So Jehoshabeath the daughter of king Jehoram, who was the sister of Ahaziah [through another mother] and the wife of Jehoiada the priest, hid Joash from Athaliah to save his life.

12 And Joash was with them hidden in the house of God for six years [In this house built by Solomon, there are multiple rooms in addition to the holy place and the most holy place], while Athaliah was reigning in the land of Judah.

1 And in the seventh year, Jehoiada strengthened himself and made a covenant with the captains of hundreds, namely Azariah the son of Jeroham, and Ishmael the son of Jehohanan, and Azariah the son of Obed, and Maaseiah the son of Adaiah, and Elishaphat the son of Zichri.

2 And they went throughout the land of Judah in order to gather the Levites out of all the cities of Judah, and the chiefs of the father's houses of Israel who were found there, and they came to Jerusalem.

3 And the whole assembly made a covenant with the king in the house of God, and Jehoiada said to them: Behold the son of the king will reign, as Yahweh has spoken concerning the sons of David.

4 This is what you will do. A third part of those of the Levites and the priests among you who usually come to serve on the day of the sabbath will keep the doors.

5 And another third part will be toward the king's house, and another third part at the gate of the foundation. And all the people will be in the courtyards of the house of Yahweh.

6 But let no one enter the house of Yahweh, except the priests and the Levites because Yahweh has chosen them from among the children of Israel to serve in his house. They will enter because they are holy, for each of the people must do according to his duties toward Yahweh.

7 And the Levites will surround the king all around, every man with his weapons in his hand, and whoever else enters the house will be put to death. And you will stay with the king wherever he goes.

8 So the Levites and all Judah did according to all that Jehoiada the priest had commanded. Each captain took his men, those who had to serve on the sabbath day and those who did not have to serve on the sabbath day. For the priest Jehoiada had not exempted any of the divisions.

9 And Jehoiada the priest gave to the captains of hundreds the spears and shields, large and small, that had belonged to king David and which were in the house of God.

10 And Jehoiada caused all the people [the Levites and the priests serving as guards] to stand from the right side of the house of Yahweh to the left side, near the altar and near the house, all around the king. And each had his weapon in his hand.

11 Then Jehoiada brought out the king's son, and did put the crown on him, and gave him the testimony. And they made him king, for Jehoiada and his sons anointed him and they said: God save the king.

12 And when Athaliah heard the noise of the people running and praising the king, she came to the people at the house of Yahweh.

13 And she looked and behold, the king was standing near his pillar at the entrance of the house, and the captains and the trumpeters was near the king, and all the people of the land were rejoicing, and they were sounding trumpets, and the singers were leading the songs of praise with the musical instruments. Then Athaliah tore her clothes and shouted: Treason, treason.

14 Then Jehoiada the priest brought out the captains of the hundreds who were over the assembly, and said to them, 'Take Athaliah outside this zone, and kill with the sword whoever follows her'. For the priest said: Do not kill her in the house of Yahweh.

15 Then they did put hands on her, and she went by the way of the entrance of the horses of the king's house, and they killed her there.

16 And Jehoiada made a covenant between himself and all the people and the king, to declare that they should be the people of Yahweh.

17 Then all the people of the land went into the house of Baal, and they demolished it, and they destroyed its altars and its images, and they killed Mattan the priest of Baal in front of the place of the altars.

18 And Jehoiada appointed guards over the house of Yahweh. They were under the hand of the priest and the Levites whom David had divided into categories for the service of the house of Yahweh, in order to offer burnt offerings to Yahweh as it is written in the law of Moses, with rejoicing and with singing according to the ordinances of David.

19 And he placed the gatekeepers at the gates of the house of Yahweh, so that no one who was unclean in any way could enter.

20 And Jehoiada took the captains of hundreds, and the noble men, and the governors of the people, and all the people of the land, and he caused the king to come down from the house of Yahweh. And they went through the upper gate of the king's house, and set the king on the throne of the kingdom.

21 Then all the people of the land rejoiced, and the city was quiet, after they had killed Athaliah with the swordAnd in the seventh year, Jehoiada strengthened himself and made a covenant with the captains of hundreds, namely Azariah the son of Jeroham, and Ishmael the son of Jehohanan, and Azariah the son of Obed, and Maaseiah the son of Adaiah, and Elishaphat the son of Zichri.

2 And they went throughout the land of Judah in order to gather the Levites out of all the cities of Judah, and the chiefs of the father's houses of Israel who were found there, and they came to Jerusalem.

3 And the whole assembly made a covenant with the king in the house of God, and Jehoiada said to them: Behold the son of the king will reign, as Yahweh has spoken concerning the sons of David.

4 This is what you will do. A third part of those of the Levites and the priests among you who usually come to serve on the day of the sabbath will keep the doors.

21 Then all the people of the land rejoiced, and the city was quiet, after they had killed Athaliah with the sword.

2 Chronicles 24

1 Joash was seven years old when he began to reign, and he reigned forty years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Zibiah of Beersheba.

2 And Joash did what was right in the sight of Yahweh during all the days of Jehoiada the priest.

3 And Jehoiada took two wives for Joash, and Joash begot sons and daughters.

4 And afterward it came into the mind of Joash to restore the house of Yahweh.

5 And Joash assembled the priests and the Levites, and said to them, 'Go through the cities of Judah and collect money from all Israel every year to repair the house of your God, and be hasty about this matter'. But the Levites did not hurry.

6 Therefore the king called Jehoiada the high priest and said to him, 'Why have you not required of the Levites to bring from Judah and Jerusalem the tax that Moses the servant of Yahweh had commanded'. For it was taken from the congregation of Israel in those days for the tabernacle of testimony.

7 For the wicked Athaliah and her children have devastated the house of God, and they have caused all the dedicated things of the house of Yahweh to be used for the Baalim.

8 Therefore the king commanded, and they made a box and set it outside at the gate of the house of Yahweh.

9 And they made a proclamation throughout Judah and Jerusalem, to bring for Yahweh the tax that Moses the servant of God had laid on Israel in the wilderness.

10 And all the princes [leaders] and all the people rejoiced, and they brought and put their money into the box until it was full.

11 And the Levites brought the box to the king's officers whenever they saw that there was much money in it, and the secretary of the king came up with an officer appointed by the high priest to empty the box, and they took it and carried it back to its place. And they did so daily, for they gathered money in abundance.

12 And the king and Jehoiada gave it to those who were responsible for the work in the house of Yahweh. And they hired masons and carpenters to restore the house of Yahweh, and they gave it also to workers of iron and brass to repair the house of Yahweh.

13 So the workers worked, and the work of repair was successful in their hands. And they restored the house of God to its state, and strengthened it.

14 And when the work to be done was finished, they brought the remaining of the money before the king and Jehoiada, and he used it to make utensils for the house of Yahweh. They made utensils for ministering and for offerings, incense cups and forks, and other utensils of gold and of silver. And they offered burnt offerings in the house of Yahweh continually during all the days of Jehoiada.

15 But Jehoiada died when he was old and full of days. He was one hundred and thirty years old when he died.

16 And they buried him in the city of David with the kings, because he had done good for the people of Israel, and also for God and for the house of God.

17 And after the death of Jehoiada, the princes [leaders] of Judah came and made obeisance to the king. Then the king listened to them.

18 And they forsook the house of Yahweh the God of their fathers, and served the groves and the idols. And the wrath of Yahweh came on Judah and Jerusalem, because of their transgressions.

19 And God sent prophets among the people to bring them back to Yahweh. And the prophets warned them, but they refused to listen.

20 And the spirit of God came on Zechariah the son of Jehoiada the priest, and he stood before the people and said to them: Thus says God. Why do you transgress the commandments of Yahweh. Surely you will not prosper, for you have forsaken Yahweh and he also has forsaken you.

22 Thus king Joash did not remember the kindness that Jehoiada the father of Zechariah had done for him, but Joash kill his son. And Zechariah said when he was dying: May Yahweh look at it, and require it.

23 And at the end of the year, the army of the Syrians came up against Joash. They came to Judah and Jerusalem, and killed all the princes [leaders] of the people from among the people, and sent all the spoil of those victims to the king of Damascus.

24 The army of the Syrians had come with a small number of men, and yet Yahweh delivered a very great army into the hands of those Syrians because they had forsaken Yahweh the God of their fathers. Thus the Syrians executed judgment on Joash.

25 And when they had departed from Joash, after he had been badly wounded, his own servants conspired against him because of the blood of the children of Jehoiada the priest [It is because of this blood that God made this happen]. And they killed him on his bed, and he died. And they buried him in the city of David, but they did not bury him in the sepulchers of the kings.

26 And these are those who conspired against him: Zabad the son of Shimeath the Ammonitess, and Jehozabad the son of Shimrith the Moabitess.

27 Concerning his sons, and the great prophecies against him, and the rebuilding of the house of God, behold they are written in the commentary of the book of the kings. And Amaziah his son reigned in his stead.

2 Chronicles 25

1 Amaziah was twenty five years old when he began to reign, and he reigned twenty nine years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jehoaddan of Jerusalem.

2 And Amaziah did what was right in the eyes of Yahweh, but not with a perfect heart.

3 And when the kingdom was established in his hand, he killed those of his servants who had killed the king his father.

4 But he did not kill their children, for he did according to what is written in the law in the book of Moses, where Yahweh commanded by saying: The fathers will not die for the children, and the children will not die for the fathers, but each man will die for his own sin.

5 And Amaziah assembled Judah and grouped them according to their fathers' houses, under captains of thousands and captains of hundreds, throughout all Judah and Benjamin. And he numbered them from twenty years old and upward, and found among them three hundred thousand chosen men able to go forth to war and to handle spear and shield.

6 And Amaziah also hired one hundred thousand valiant men from the kingdom of Israel which was their neighbor, for one hundred talents of silver.

7 But a man of God came to Amaziah and said: O king, let not the army of Israel go with you. For Yahweh is not with Israel, especially with all the house of Ephraim [from which you have hired soldiers].

8 For if you go with them then God will make you fall before the enemy although you may act valiantly in battle. For God has the power to help and to cast down. [Because right now Yahweh is angry with the house of Ephraim to the point that he does not want to give them a special inheritance by a victory in this battle.]

9 And Amaziah said to the man of God, 'What will we do for the hundred talents that I have given to this company of the soldiers of Israel'. And the man of God answered: Yahweh is able to give you much more than that.

10 Then Amaziah separated the company that had come to him from Ephraim, and sent them to their homes. Therefore their anger was greatly kindled against Judah, and they returned to their places in fierce anger.

11 And Amaziah took courage and led his people, and went to the valley of salt, and killed ten thousand men of the children of Seir.

12 And the children of Judah also took ten thousand men alive among the enemies in the war, and brought them to the top of a rock, and cast them down from the top of the rock, and thus they all did burst into pieces.

13 But the company of the men of the kingdom of Israel [from the house of Ephraim] whom Amaziah had sent away to prevent them from going with him to battle, those same men invaded the cities of Judah from Samaria to Beth-horon, and they killed three thousand people and took much spoil.

14 Now when Amaziah had returned from the slaughter of the Edomites, he had brought the gods of the children of Seir and set them up to be his gods, and worshiped them, and burned incense to them. [Now Amaziah had received the news about the actions of the men of war of Ephraim whom Yahweh had asked him to send away to their homes. And Amaziah became like a madman, because he did not understand why Yahweh has allowed those men to go and ravage the land of Judah which is bordering with Samaria. For Amaziah did not understand that Yahweh uses the ones to punish the others in order to give a particular inheritance to each person, and Amaziah thought that he had been punished by the gods of the people to whom he made war.]

15 Therefore the anger of Yahweh was kindled against Amaziah, and he sent a prophet who came and said to Amaziah: Why have you sought the gods of this people. Have theses gods saved their own people out of your hand.

16 And as he was speaking, Amaziah said to him, 'Have we made you an advisor to the king. Go away, for why should you want us to smite you'. And the prophet forbear, but he said: I know that God has determined to destroy you, because you have done this thing and have not listened to my advice.

17 Then Amaziah king of Judah took advice, and sent messengers to Joash [Jehoash] the son of Jehoahaz the son of Jehu king of Israel by saying: Come, and we will look one another in the face and fight.

18 But Joash the king of Israel sent messengers to Amaziah king of Judah by saying: The thistle that is in Lebanon sent to the cedar that is in Lebanon by saying, 'Give your daughter to my son to wife'. And the wild beasts that was in Lebanon went and trampled the thistle.

19 You are thinking, 'Lo, I have smitten Edom'. Therefore your heart has become proud. Now stay at home [and enjoy your glory]. Why should you undertake a provocation that will bring ruin to Judah and to you. [Now this is the personal point of view of Joash, because it is not exactly what is happening in the mind of Amaziah. For Amaziah wants to compare the power of his new gods with the power of the God of the children of Jacob.]

20 But Amaziah did not want to listen to Joash. For it was a thing directed by God in order bring evil on the people of Judah by delivering them into the hand of Joash king of Israel, because Judah were seeking refuge under the imaginary power of the gods of Edom and they had not wanted to listen to the warnings of the prophet whom Yahweh had sent to warn them.

21 So Joash king of Israel went up, and he and Amaziah saw one another in the face and fought at Beth-shemesh which belongs to Judah.

22 And Judah suffered the worst in fighting against Israel, and the men of Judah fled every one to his tent.

23 And when they were at Beth-shemesh, Joash king of Israel captured Amaziah king of Judah and son of Joash the son of Ahaziah, and Joash brought Amaziah to Jerusalem, and Joash destroyed a length of four hundred cubits of the wall of Jerusalem from the gate of Ephraim to the corner gate.

24 And he took all the gold and silver and all the utensils that were found [at that time] in the house of God and which had been placed under the responsibility of a man called Obed-edom, and also those in the treasures of the king's house, and the children who were held hostage there, and he returned to Samaria.

25 And Amaziah the son of Joash king of Judah lived fifteen years after the death of Joash the son of Jehoahaz king of Israel.

26 Concerning the remaining of the acts of Amaziah, the first and the last, are they not written in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel.

27 Now after the time that Amaziah had turned away from Yahweh, they made a conspiracy against him in Jerusalem and he fled to Lachish. But they sent men to pursue him to Lachish, and they killed him there.

28 And they carried the corpse of Amaziah on horses, and he was buried in Jerusalem with his fathers in the city of David.

1 Then all the people of Judah took Uzziah [also called Azariah] who was sixteen years old, and made him king in the stead of his father Amaziah.

2 And when king Amaziah had slept with his fathers, Uzziah his son rebuilt Eloth and restored it to Judah.

3 Uzziah was sixteen years old when he began to reign, and he reigned fifty two years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jecoliah and she was from Jerusalem.

4 And Uzziah did what was right in the sight of Yahweh, according to all that his father Amaziah had done.

5 And he sought God in the days of Zechariah who understood the visions of God. And God caused him to prosper during all the time when he sought Yahweh.

6 For he went out to war against the Philistines, and broke down the wall of Gath, and the wall of Jabneh, and the wall of Ashdod. And he built cities in the territory of Ashdod, and among the Philistines.

7 And God helped him against the Philistines, and against the Arabians who dwelt in Gur-baal, and against the Meunim.

8 And the Ammonites paid tribute to Uzziah. And his name spread to the entrance of Egypt, for he became very powerful.

9 Moreover Uzziah built towers in Jerusalem at the corner gate, and at the valley gate, and at the turning of the wall, and he fortified them.

10 And he built towers in the wilderness, and dug many cisterns. For he had many cattle both in the valleys and in the plain, and plowmen and vinedressers in the mountains and in Carmel, for he loved agriculture.

11 And Uzziah had also an army of soldiers who went to war by companies, according to their divisions established by Jeiel the scribe and Maaseiah the officer, and under the command of Hananiah who was one of the captains of the king.

12 The total number of the chiefs of the families of the valiant men was two thousand and six hundred.

13 And the army for war was under their hand and was made of three hundred and seven thousand and five hundred valiant soldiers who were ready to support the king against the enemy.

14 And Uzziah provided each man of the army with shields, and spears, and helmets, and brigandines [armor], and bows, and stones for slingshots.

15 And he made engines in Jerusalem, invented by skilful men and intended to be placed on the towers and on the corners, to shoot arrows and great stones. And his name spread far and wide, for God did helped him marvellously until he became powerful.

16 But when he was strong, his heart was lifted up to his his destruction. For he transgressed against Yahweh his God by going into the temple of Yahweh to burn incense on the altar of incense.

17 And Azariah the priest followed Uzziah there, and there were with him eighty priests of Yahweh who were valiant men.

18 And they resisted Uzziah the king, and said to him: It is not lawful for you, Uzziah, to burn incense to Yahweh. For it is the exclusive responsibility of the priests, the sons of Aaron who are consecrated to burn incense. Get out of the sanctuary, for you have transgressed and this thing will not be for your honor in the sight of Yahweh God.

19 Then Uzziah was angry, and he had a censer in his hand to burn incense. And as he was angry with the priests, a leprosy rose on his forehead. This happened before the priests, in the house of Yahweh, near the altar of incense.

20 And Azariah the high priest and all the other priests looked at him and behold, he was leprous in his forehead. And they caused him to depart hastily from there, and he himself hastened to go out because Yahweh had smitten him.

21 And Uzziah the king was a leper until the day of his death, and he dwelt in a separate house because he was a leper. So he could no longer come near the courtyards of the house of Yahweh. And Jotham his son was ruling over the king's house and was judging the people of the land.

22 Concerning the remaining of the acts of Uzziah, the first and the last, Isaiah the prophet the son of Amoz have written it.

23 And Uzziah slept with his fathers. And they buried him near his fathers, but in the field of the burial places of the kings. For they said, 'He is a leper'. And Jotham his son reigned in his stead.

2 Chronicles 27

1 Jotham was twenty five years old when he began to reign, and he reigned [alone] sixteen years in Jerusalem. His mother was called Jerushah the daughter of Zadok.

2 And he did what was right in the sight of Yahweh according to all that Uzziah his father had done, but he did not enter the holy place of the house of Yahweh [as his father had done]. And the people were continuing to corrupt their ways.

3 Jotham built the upper gate of the house of Yahweh, and he made a lot of constructions on the walls of Ophel.

4 Moreover Jotham built cities in the mountains of Judah, and in the forests he built castles and towers.

5 And Jotham fought with the king of the children of Ammon, and prevailed against them. And the children of Ammon gave him one hundred talents of silver the same year, and ten thousand measures of wheat, and ten thousand of barley. And the children of Ammon gave him the same things in the second year, and also in the third.

6 So Jotham became powerful, because he directed his ways toward Yahweh his God.

7 Concerning the remaining of the acts of Jotham, and all his wars, and his ways, lo, they are written in the book of the kings of Israel and Judah.

8 Jotham was twenty five when he became king, and he reigned sixteen in Jerusalem.

9 And Jotham slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the city of David. And Ahaz his son reigned in his stead.

2 Chronicles 28

1 Ahaz was twenty years old when he became king, and he reigned sixteen in Jerusalem. He did not do what was right in the sight of Yahweh as David his father had done.

2 And he walked in the ways of the kings of Israel, and he made molten images for Baalim.

3 Moreover he burned incense in the valley of Ben-hinnom, and he burned his sons with fire [as a sacrifice to false gods] according to the abominations of the nations whom Yahweh had cast out before the children of Israel.

4 And he offered sacrifices and burned incense in the high places, and on the hills, and under every green tree.

5 Therefore Yahweh his God delivered him into the hand of the king of Syria. And the Syrians smote him and took a large number of captives whom they brought in Damascus. And Ahaz was also delivered into the hand of the king of Israel who made him experience great defeat.

6 For Pekah the son of Remaliah killed in one day in Judah one hundred and twenty thousand men, all valiant men, because they had forsaken Yahweh the God of their fathers.

7 And Zichri a mighty man of Ephraim killed Maaseiah the son of the king, and Azrikam the ruler of the royal house, and Elkanah the second after the king.

8 And the children of Israel [of the kingdom of Israel] made among their brothers [of the kingdom of Judah] two hundred thousand captives, the women and the sons and the daughters. And they took also a great spoil from the victims, and brought all to Samaria.

9 But there was a prophet of Yahweh named Oded, and he went out to meet the army that was returning to Samaria, and he said to them: If Yahweh the God of your fathers has delivered the inhabitants of Judah into your hands, it is because their particular behavior has kindled his anger. And you have killed them with a fury that has gone up to the heaven.

10 And now you have taken captives among the children of Judah and Jerusalem, and you intend to make them your servants and your handmaids. But do you not think that you are guilty before Yahweh your God by doing these things.

11 Now therefore listen to me, and send away these captives that you have taken among your brothers. For the fierce anger of Yahweh is on you.

12 Then some of the leaders of the children of Ephraim stood up against those who were returning from the war. There were Azariah the son of Johanan, and Berechiah the son of Meshillemoth, and Jehizkiah the son of Shallum, and Amasa the son of Hadlai.

13 And they said to the army: You will not bring these captives here, because by doing this thing you will add a new sin to all our other transgressions against Yahweh. For our other transgressions are already great, and the fierce anger of God is already over Israel [and is waiting for the right time to fall on us].

14 So the army laid the captives and the spoil before the princes [leaders] and all the assembly.

15 And the men whose names have been mentioned rose up and took the captives, and used the spoil to clothe those who were naked among the captives and to give them shoes. And they gave them to eat and to drink, and anointed them, and carried on donkeys all those who were tired, and brought the captives to their brothers at Jericho the city of palm trees. And then those men returned to Samaria.

17 For the Edomites also had come and smitten Judah, and carried away captives.

18 And the Philistines also had invaded the cities of the plain and of the south of Judah, and they took Beth-shemesh, and Aijalon, and Gederoth, and Soco with its towns, and Timnah with its towns, and Gimzo with its towns, and they dwelt there.

19 For Yahweh had humiliated Judah because of Ahaz king of Judah. For Ahaz had created a disorder in Judah, and this had encouraged all the people to seriously transgress the commandments of Yahweh.

20 And Tiglath-pileser king of Assyria came to Ahaz and troubled him, and did not strengthened him.

21 For Ahaz took some valuable things from the house of Yahweh, and from the house of the king, and from the houses of the princes [leaders], and gave it to the king of Assyria. But it did not help Ahaz [that is to say, it is not because of this action that a part of Judah has been saved].

22 And he transgressed more and more against Yahweh when he was in distress, this same king Ahaz.

23 For he sacrificed to the gods of Damascus whose people had smote him, and he said: Because the gods of the kings of Syria have helped them, therefore I will sacrifice to them so that they may help me. But this caused his ruin and the ruin of his people in the land of Judah.

24 And at a certan time Ahaz gathered the utensils of the house of God, and broke into pieces the utensils of the house of God, and shut up the doors of the house of Yahweh, and made for himself altars in every corner of Jerusalem.

25 And he set up high places in every city of Judah to burn incense to other gods, and thus he provoked to anger Yahweh the God of his fathers.

26 Concerning the remaining of the acts of Ahaz, and all his ways, the first and the last, they are written in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel.

27 And Ahaz slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the city of Jerusalem but they did not brought him in the sepulchers of the kings of Judah. And Hezekiah his son reigned in his stead.

2 Chronicles 29

1 Hezekiah began to reign when he was twenty five years old, and he reigned twenty nine years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Abijah the daughter of Zechariah.

2 And Hezekiah did what was right in the sight of Yahweh, according to all that David his father had done.

3 Hezekiah opened the doors of the house of Yahweh in the first month of the first year of his reign, and repaired them.

4 And he brought in the priests and the Levites, and assembled them into the east street.

5 And Hezekiah said to them: Listen to me, you the Levites. Sanctify yourselves now and sanctify the house of Yahweh the God of your fathers, and carry the unclean thing outside the sanctuary.

6 For our fathers have transgressed and done what is evil in the eyes of Yahweh our God, and have forsaken him, and have turned their faces away from the tabernacle of Yahweh [the place that bears his name], and have turned their backs on him.

7 And they have also shut the doors of the portico, and have extinguished the lamps, and have not burned incense nor offered burnt offerings to the God of Israel in the sanctuary.

8 Therefore the wrath of Yahweh has been kindled against Judah and Jerusalem, and he has delivered them to trouble, and to desolation, and to whistles, as you see with your eyes.

9 For behold, our fathers have fallen by the sword, and our sons and our daughters and our wives are in captivity for the same reason.

10 Therefore I have purposed to make a covenant with Yahweh the God of Israel, so that his fierce anger may turn away from us.

11 Now, my sons, do not be negligent. For you have been chosen by Yahweh to stand before him, and to be his servants, and to burn incense to him.

12 Then the Levites arose. Of the sons of the Kohathites, Mahath the son of Amasai and Joel the son of Azariah. And of the sons of Merari, Kish the son of Abdi and Azariah the son of Jehallelel. And of the Gershonites, Joah the son of Zimmah and Eden the son of Joah.

13 And of the sons of Elizaphan, Shimri and Jeuel. And of the sons of Asaph, Zechariah and Mattaniah.

14 And of the sons of Heman, Jehuel and Shimei. And of the sons of Jeduthun, Shemaiah and Uzziel.

15 And they gathered their brothers together, and sanctified themselves, and came to cleanse the house of Yahweh according to the word of the king and according to the commandments of Yahweh.

16 And the priests went into the inside part of the house of Yahweh to cleanse it, and they brought out all the unclean things that they found in the temple of Yahweh, and put it into the courtyard of the house of Yahweh. And the Levites took it and carried it out of the sanctuary to the valley Kidron.

17 And they began to cleanse on the first day of the first month, and on the eighth day of the month they had cleansed the whole area up to the portico of [the house of] Yahweh. And they sanctified the house of Yahweh during eight days, and thus they had finished on the sixteenth day of the first month.

18 Then they went to king Hezekiah and said: We have cleansed the whole house of Yahweh, and the altar of burnt offering and all its utensils, and the table of showbreads and all its utensils.

19 And we have prepared and sanctified all the utensils that king Ahaz had defiled and cast away when he reigned. And behold, they are before the altar of Yahweh.

20 And king Hezekiah arose early in the next morning, and assembled the princes [leaders] of the city, and went up to the house of Yahweh.

21 And they brought seven bullocks, and seven rams, and seven lambs, and seven male goats for a sin offering concerning the kingdom and the sanctuary and the people of Judah. And Hezekiah commanded the priests the sons of Aaron to offer it on the altar of Yahweh.

22 So they killed the bullocks, and the priests received the blood and sprinkled it on the altar. And they also killed the rams and sprinkled the blood on the altar, and they killed the lambs and sprinkled the blood on the altar.

23 Then they brought the male goats for the sin offering before the king and before the assembly, and they laid their hands on them.

24 And the priests killed them, and they cleansed the altar with the blood of these victims to reconcile all Israel. For the king had commanded that the burnt offerings and the sin offerings should be made for all Israel.

25 And Hezekiah restored the Levites in the house of Yahweh with cymbals and psalteries and harps, according to the commandment of David, and of Gad the king's seer, and of Nathan the prophet. For this commandment had come by the hand of Yahweh and by the hand of his prophets.

26 And the Levites stood with the instruments of music of David, and the priests with the trumpets.

27 And Hezekiah commanded to offer the burnt offering on the altar. And when the burnt offering began, then they began to sing the songs to praise Yahweh with the sound of trumpets and with the instruments of David king of Israel.

28 And the whole assembly worshiped, and the singers sang, and the trumpeters sounded. All this continued until the burnt offering was finished.

29 And when they had finished offering the burnt offering, the king and all those who were present with him bowed themselves and worshiped.

30 Then king Hezekiah and the princes [leaders] commanded the Levites to use the words of David and of Asaph the seer in their songs to praise Yahweh. So they praised with great joy, and they bowed themselves and worshiped.

31 Then Hezekiah spoke and said: Now you have consecrated yourselves to Yahweh. Therefore come near and bring sacrifices and thank offerings into to the house of Yahweh. And the congregation brought sacrifices and thank offerings, and all those whose hearts were willing brought burnt offerings.

32 And the numbers of the burnt offerings that the congregation brought were seventy bullocks, and one hundred rams, and two hundred lambs. All these were for a burnt offering to Yahweh.

33 And they consecrated six hundred bullocks and three thousand sheep.

34 But the priests were too few, and were not able to flay all the burnt offerings. Therefore their brothers the Levites helped them until the work was finished, and until the other priests had sanctified themselves. For among all those who had had in their heart the desire to sanctify themselves, the Levites were more numerous than the priests. [Now a priest is also a Levite, but a priest is a Levite who is a descendant of Aaron.]

35 And there were many offerings, namely the burnt offerings, and the fat of the peace offerings, and the drink offerings of the burnt offerings [and their meal offerings]. So the service of the house of Yahweh was restored.

36 Then Hezekiah and all the people rejoiced because God had made the people ready. For the thing had been done suddenly.

2 Chronicles 30

1 And [after a few years] Hezekiah sent messengers to all Israel and Judah, and he also wrote letters to Ephraim and Manasseh, so that they should come to the house of Yahweh at Jerusalem to celebrate the passover to honor Yahweh the God of Israel.

2 For the king and his princes [leaders] and the whole congregation of Jerusalem had taken counsel [with the priests] in order to celebrate the passover in the second month.

3 For they could not celebrate it in its time [in the first month as it is prescribed by the law], because the priests had not been many to sanctify themselves and the people had not had the opportunity to gather together in Jerusalem.

4 And the agreement had pleased the king and the whole assembly.

5 And they had decided to make a proclamation throughout all Israel, from Beersheba to Dan, in order to come to Jerusalem and celebrate the passover for Yahweh the God of Israel, because this event had no longer been celebrated by the multitude as it is prescribed by the written law [Jeroboam the son of Nebat, the first king of the partial kingdom of Israel made of ten tribes, had created in his kingdom alternatives to the house of Yahweh which was in the kingdom of Judah].

6 So the king and his princes [leaders] sent messengers throughout all Israel and Judah with letters written according to the commandment of the king. And these letters contained the following message: You the children of Israel, turn again to Yahweh the God of Abraham and of Isaac and of Israel [Jacob]. And thus he will return to you, you the remnant who have escaped from the hands of the kings of Assyria [Now a large part of the population of the kingdom of Israel had been taken into captivity by the kings of Assyria. A king had taken those who were on the other side of the Jordan, the two tribes and the half tribe, and another king had taken those were on this side of the Jordan].

7 Do not be like your fathers and like your brothers who have transgressed against Yahweh the God of their fathers, and whom he has delivered to the desolation as you see it.

8 Do not stiffen your neck like your fathers, but give your hand to Yahweh and come to his sanctuary that he has sanctified forever. Serve Yahweh your god, and his fierce anger will turn away from you.

9 For if you return to Yahweh then your brothers and children will find mercy before those who have taken them captive, and they will return to this land. For Yahweh your God is compassionate and merciful, therefore he will not turn away his face from you if you return to him.

10 So the messengers went from city to city throughout the land of Ephraim and Manasseh, and all the way to Zebulun. But they made fun of the messengers, and laughed at the message.

11 Nevertheless there were people of Asher and Manasseh and Zebulun [and also from other places] who humbled themselves and came to Jerusalem.

12 And the hand of God was in Judah to give them one heart so that they may do the commandment of the king and of the princes concerning the word of Yahweh.

13 And a numerous people assembled at Jerusalem to celebrate the feast of unleavened bread in the second month. It was a very great assembly.

14 And they arose and removed the altars for sacrifices that were in Jerusalem, and they removed all the altars for incense, and they cast those things into the valley of Kidron.

15 Afterward they killed [the sacrifices of] the passover on the fourteenth day of the second month. And the other priests and Levites were ashamed [namely those who did not want to actively participate in this seven-day celebration which was for all the assembly which was delayed by one month compared to the law], and they sanctified themselves and brought the burnt offerings into the house of Yahweh.

16 And they stood in their ordinary place in accordance with the law of Moses the man of God, and the priests sprinkled the blood which they received from the hand of the Levites.

17 For there were many in the assembly who had not sanctified themselves. Therefore it was the Levites who were killing the victims of the passover for every one who was not clean, in order to sanctify it before Yahweh.

18 For a multitude of the people, many of Ephraim, and of Manasseh, and of Issachar, and of Zebulun, had not cleansed themselves. And yet they ate the passover and therefore did not act according to the written law. But Hezekiah prayed for them with the following words.

19 May the good Yahweh forgive the one who has prepared his whole heart to seek God Yahweh, the God of his fathers, and who did not remember or who did not have time to purify himself in the manner required by the law.

20 And Yahweh heard Hezekiah, and forgive the people.

21 And the children of Israel who were present at Jerusalem celebrated the feast of unleavened bread for seven days with a great joy. And every day the Levites and the priests praised Yahweh by singing with loud instruments of music to Yahweh.

22 And Hezekiah spoke comfortably to all the Levites who were accustomed to teach the good knowledge of Yahweh, so that they think about continuing during another period [after the end of the seven days of celebration ordered by law] to eat, and to offer peace offerings, and to praise Yahweh the God of their fathers.

23 And the whole assembly agreed to continue to rejoice together for another seven days [after having complied with the law concerning the duration and method of the feast of unleavened bread, a feast that had been instituted to celebrate the liberation of the children of Israel from the land of Egypt]. So they happily made a feast for seven more days.

24 For Hezekiah king of Judah had given one thousand bullocks and seven thousand sheep to the assembly, and the princes [leaders] had given one thousand bullocks and ten thousand sheep to the assembly. And a great number of priests had sanctified themselves [to be able to offer sacrifices in the temple of Yahweh].

25 And all the assembly of Judah rejoiced with the priests and the Levites, and with all the people who had come from [the land of the ten tribes of] Israel, and with all the strangers who dwelt either in Judah or in the land of [the ten tribes of] Israel.

26 So there was a great joy in Jerusalem. For there had not been such a thing in Jerusalem since the time of Solomon the son of David king of Israel [partly because the people had split into two kingdoms after that time].

27 Then the priests and the Levites stood up and blessed the people, and their voice was heard, and their prayer went up to the heaven and as far as to his holy habitation [in the heaven].

1 And when all these things were finished, all Israel who were present went out to the cities of Judah and broke the images, and cut down the groves, and destroyed the high places and the altars throughout all the land of Judah and Benjamin, and also in Ephraim and in Manasseh, until they had destroyed all those things. Then all the children of Israel returned to their own cities, every man to his possession.

2 And Hezekiah reestablished the divisions of the priests and the Levites by their periods of service, every man according to his office, both the priests and the Levites, for burnt offerings and peace offerings, and for other services, and to give thanks and to praise in the gates of the camp of Yahweh.

3 And the king gave a portion of his goods for some burnt offerings, namely the burnt offerings of the morning and of the evening, and the burnt offerings of the sabbaths, and of the new moons, and of the appointed feasts, according to what is written in the law of Yahweh [regarding the required quantities].

4 And he commanded the people who dwelt in Jerusalem to give a part of their goods to the priests and to the Levites, so that they might be encouraged to use all their time for the implementation of the law of Yahweh.

5 And when this commandment was spread, the children of Israel gave abundantly the firstfruits of grain, and of wine, and of oil, and of honey, and of all the produce of the field. And they also brought abundantly the tithes of all things.

6 And the children of Israel and Judah who dwelt in the cities of Judah, they also brought the tithes of the herd and of the flock, and the tithes of the holy things which were consecrated to Yahweh their God, and laid those things by many heaps.

7 They began to lay the foundation of the heaps in the third month, and they finished the heaps in the seventh month.

8 Then Hezekiah and the princes [leaders] came and saw the heaps, and they blessed Yahweh and his people Israel.

9 Then Hezekiah questioned the priests and the Levites concerning the heaps.

10 And Azariah the high priest of the house [descendants] of Zadok answered him: Since they began to bring the offerings into the house of Yahweh, we eat continually and we are satisfied, and there is plenty left. For Yahweh has blessed his people, this is why there is plenty left.

11 And Hezekiah commanded to prepare storerooms in the temple of Yahweh, and they prepared them.

12 And they brought in the offerings, and the tithes, and the dedicated things. Conaniah the Levite was responsible for the storerooms, and Shimei his brother was second.

13 And here are the men appointed to serve them: Jehiel, and Azaziah, and Nahath, and Asahel, and Jerimoth, and Jozabad, and Eliel, and Ismachiah, and Mahath, and Benaiah. They were overseers under the hand of Conaniah and of his brother Shimei, according to the commandment of king Hezekiah and of Azariah the chief of the house of God.

14 And Kore the son of Imnah the Levite, the gatekeeper of the gate of the east, was over the freewill offerings given to God in oder to distribute the freewill offerings and the holy things that were consecrated.

15 And he had under his hand Eden, and Miniamin, and Jeshua, and Shemaiah, and Amariah, and Shecaniah. They were in the cities of the priests [and of the Levites] and they had to distribute faithfully to their brothers according to their divisions, both to the great and to the small.

16 The males were reckoned by their genealogy, from twenty years old and upward, all those able to enter the house of Yahweh to serve in their offices according to their divisions.

17 Both the generation of the priests by their fathers' houses, and of the Levites, from twenty years old and upward, according to their duties by their divisions.

18 And the distributions were made according to all their families, namely their wives and their sons and their daughters, for they were partakers of the holy things by their faithfulness.

19 And the distributions were also made to the sons of Aaron the priests who dwelt in the fields surrounding their cities. So there were men designated by name in every city in order to distribute portions to all the males of the priests and to all the Levites who were registered.

20 This is what Hezekiah did throughout all Judah. He did what was good and right and true before Yahweh his God.

21 And in every work that he undertook for the service of the house of God, and for the law, and for the commandments, in order to seek his God, he did it with all his heart and he prospered.

2 Chronicles 32

1 After these things, these acts of faithfulness, Sennacherib king of Assyria entered Judah and besieged the fortified cities, thinking that he would take them.

2 And Hezekiah saw that Sennacherib were coming and that he was determined to fight against Jerusalem.

3 Then he took counsel with his princes and his valiant men to stop the waters of the fountains that were outside the city, and they agreed with him.

4 So many people gathered together, and they stopped all the fountains and the stream flowing through the country. For they said: Why should the kings of Assyria come and find plenty of water.

5 And Hezekiah took courage, and rebuilt the broken wall, and raised it up to the towers, and built another wall outside, and strengthened Millo in the city of David, and prepared a great number of darts and shields.

6 And Hezekiah appointed captains of war over the people, and assembled them to him in the broad place at the gate of the city, and Hezekiah spoke to them calmly with the following words.

7 Be strong and have courage. Do not fear and do not be discouraged before the king of Assyria, or before all the multitude that is with him. For there is more with us than with him.

8 For he has with him an arm of flesh, but we have with us Yahweh our God who will help us and who will fight our battles. Then the people comforted themselves in the words of Hezekiah king of Judah.

9 After this, Sennacherib king of Assyria sent his servants to Jerusalem while he was besieging Lachish with all his army. He sent them to Hezekiah king of Judah and to all Judah who were in Jerusalem with the following words [for him and his servants].

10 Thus says Sennacherib king of Assyria: What is this confidence on which you rely in order to stay in Jerusalem and endure a siege there.

11 Have not Hezekiah deceived you to deliver you to death through famine and thirst by saying: Yahweh our God will save us out of the hand of the king of Assyria.

12 But is it not Hezekiah who has removed the high places and the altars of Yahweh. And Hezekiah has commanded to Judah and Jerusalem by saying: You will worship only before one altar and you will burn incense on it. [Now Sennacherib did not know all the details of the Jewish law and he thought that Hezekiah has offended his God by acting in this way.]

13 Do you not know what I and my fathers have done to all the peoples of other lands. Have the gods of the nations of those lands been able to save their lands out of my hand.

14 Who among all the gods of those nations that my fathers have destroyed was able to save his people out of our hand. Therefore why do you think that your God should be able to save you out of my hand.

15 Now therefore let not Hezekiah deceive you or persuade you in this way, do not trust in him. For none of the gods of any other nation or kingdom has been able to save his people out of my hand and out of the hand of my fathers. It is therefore unlikely that your God will save you out of my hand.

16 And the servants of Sennacherib spoke even more against Yahweh God and against his servant Hezekiah.

17 And Sennacherib sent letters to insult Yahweh the God of Israel. For they spoke against him with the following words. As the gods of the nations of other lands have not been able to save their people out of my hand, so the God of Hezekiah will not save his people out of my hand.

18 And the servants of Sennacherib cried out with a loud voice in the Jewish language to the people of Jerusalem who were on the wall, in order to frighten them and to disturb them, and thus take the city.

19 So they spoke of the God of Jerusalem as of the gods of the peoples of the earth who are the works of the hands of men.

20 Then Hezekiah the king and Isaiah the prophet the son of Amoz prayed about this thing and cried to heaven.

21 And Yahweh sent an angel who destroyed all the mighty men in the camp of the king of Assyria, and the princes [leaders] and the captains. So the king of Assyria returned with shame to his own land. And while he was worshiping in house of his god, those who came out of his own bowels [his sons] killed him there with the sword.

22 Thus Yahweh saved Hezekiah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem from the hand of Sennacherib king of Assyria, and from the hand of all others. He protected them on every side.

23 And many people brought gifts to Jerusalem for Yahweh, and also gifts for Hezekiah king of Judah. And Hezekiah was exalted in the sight of all nations from that time on.

24 In those days Hezekiah became sick and was nearly dead. And Hezekiah prayed to Yahweh, and Yahweh spoke to him [through Isaiah the prophet] and gave him a sign.

25 But Hezekiah did not behave wisely in reaction to the good works that God had done for him, for his heart had raised. Therefore the anger of Yahweh came on him, and on Judah, and on Jerusalem.

26 Then Hezekiah humbled himself for the pride of his heart, both he and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and the anger of Yahweh did not come on them during the days of Hezekiah.

27 And Hezekiah had great riches and honor, and he made for himself treasuries of silver, and of gold, and of precious stones, and of spices, and of shields, and of all pleasant vessels.

28 And storehouses for the produce of grain, and of wine, and of oil. And stalls for all kinds of beasts, and cotes for flocks.

29 And Hezekiah built many cities, and he had flocks and herds in abundance, for God had given him great wealth.

30 This same Hezekiah also stopped the upper watercourse of Gihon, and made the waters flow straight down on the west side of the city of David. And Hezekiah prospered in all his works.

31 However when the princes of Babylon sent messengers to Hezekiah to inquire of the wonder that had been done in the land, God left him in order to test him and to know all that was in his heart.

32 Concerning the remaining of the acts of Hezekiah, and his goodness, behold they are written in the vision of Isaiah the prophet the son of Amoz, in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel.

33 And Hezekiah slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the highest of the sepulchers of the sons of David, and all Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem honored him at his death. And Manasseh his son reigned in his stead.

1 Manasseh was twelve years old when he began to reign, and he reigned fifty five years in Jerusalem.

2 And he did what was evil in the sight of Yahweh, according to the abominations of the nations whom Yahweh had cast out before the children of Israel.

3 For he turned back [in the matter of bringing the people near to Yahweh] and rebuilt the high places that Hezekiah his father had destroyed, and he did set up altars for Baalim and made groves, and he worshiped all the armies of the heaven and served them.

4 He also built altars to honor false gods in the house of Yahweh, although this temple was the place of which Yahweh had said: I will put my name in Jerusalem forever.

5 And he built altars for all the armies of the heaven in the two courtyards of the house of Yahweh.

6 And he burned his sons for an offering to his false gods in the valley of the son of Hinnom, and utilized divination and bewitchment and sorcery, and appointed the soothsayers and those who communicate with the dead. He did more and more evil in the sight of Yahweh to anger him.

7 And he made a graven image of a grove that he had made, and did put it in the temple of which Yahweh had said to David and to his son Solomon: I will put my name forever in this house of Jerusalem which is the city that I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel.

8 And I will no more cause the feet of Israel to wander out of the land that I gave to their fathers, if only they take care to do all that I have commanded them according to all the law and the statutes and the judgments given to them by the hand of Moses.

9 But Manasseh caused Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem to go astray, and to do more wickedly than the nations whom Yahweh had destroyed before the children of Israel.

10 And Yahweh spoke to Manasseh and to his people [by prophets], but they did not want to pay attention.

11 Therefore Yahweh brought against them the captains of the army of the king of Assyria, and they took Manasseh in chains and bonded him with fetters, and carried him to Babylon [or rather to Nineveh].

12 And when Manasseh was in distress, he besought Yahweh his God, and humbled himself greatly before the God of his fathers.

13 And Manasseh prayed to him, and Yahweh was moved because of this. And Yahweh heard the supplications of Manasseh, and caused him to return at Jerusalem into his kingdom. And then Manasseh understood that Yahweh he was God.

14 And after these events Manasseh built an outer wall for the city of David, on the west side of Gihon in the valley, to the entrance at the fish gate and around Ophel. And he raised the wall very high, and put captains of war in all the fortified cities of Judah.

15 And Manasseh removed [most of] the strange gods and the image from the house of Yahweh, and all the altars that he had built on the mountain of the house of Yahweh [namely on the elevated place where this house was located] and in Jerusalem, and he threw them out of the city.

16 And Manasseh repaired the altar of Yahweh, and offered peace offerings and thanks offerings on it, and commanded Judah to serve Yahweh the God of Israel.

17 Nevertheless the people continued to offer sacrifices in the high places, but only to Yahweh their God [that is to say by respecting the method and especially the different categories of the offerings indicated in the law].

18 Concerning the remaining of the acts of Manasseh, and his prayer to his God, and the words of the seers [prophets] who spoke to him in the name of Yahweh the God of Israel, they are written in the book of the kings of Israel.

19 And his prayer, and how he besought God, and all his sins and his transgressions, and the places where he built the high places and set up groves and graven images, those things that he had done before he humbled himself, they are written in the book of the seers.

20 So Manasseh slept with his fathers, and they buried him in his own house. And Amon his son reigned in his stead.

21 Amon was twenty two years old when he began to reign, and he reigned two years in Jerusalem.

22 And he did what was evil in the sight of Yahweh, as Manasseh his father had done. And Amon sacrificed to all the remaining images that Manasseh his father had made [he had caused to make them before he humbled himself], and served them.

23 And he humbled not himself before Yahweh, as Manasseh his father had humbled himself, but this Amon transgressed more and more.

24 And his servants conspired against him, and killed him in his own house.

25 But the people of the land killed all those who had conspired against king Amon, and the people of the land made Josiah his son king in his stead.

2 Chronicles 34

1 Josiah was eight years old when he began to reign, and he reigned thirty one years in Jerusalem.

2 And he did what was right in the eyes of Yahweh, and he walked in the ways of David his father, and did not turn aside to the right hand or to the left.

3 And in the eighth year of his reign, while he was still young, he began to seek the God of David his father [the special law of Moses]. And in the twelfth year he began to cleanse Judah and Jerusalem from the high places, and from the groves, and from the graven images, and from the molten images.

4 And they broke down the altars of Baalim in the presence of Josiah, and he cause to cut down the images that were on high above them. And they also destroyed the groves, and the graven images, and the molten images, and they crushed them to powder, and strewed this dust on the graves of the people who had sacrificed to those idols.

5 And he burned [he caused to burn] the bones of the priests on their altars. Thus he cleansed Judah and Jerusalem.

6 And Josiah did the same in the cities of [the tribes of] Manasseh, and Ephraim, and Simeon, and all the way to Naphtali, in their surrounding ruins.

7 And when he had destroyed the altars and the groves, and had broken and crushed to powder the images, and cut down all the idols throughout all the land of Israel, then he returned to Jerusalem.

8 Now in the eighteenth year of his reign, when he had cleansed the land and the temple [of Yahweh], Josiah sent Shaphan the son of Azaliah, and Maaseiah the governor of the city, and Joah the son of Joahaz the recorder. He sent them to repair the house of Yahweh his God.

9 And when they came to Hilkiah the high priest, they gave him the money that had been brought into the house of God. The doorkeepers who are of the Levites had collected this money from the people of Manasseh and of Ephraim, and from all the remnant of Israel [the kingdom of the ten tribes which had been destroyed in the days of Hezekiah], and from all Judah and Benjamin, and from the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

10 And then the money was given into the hands of those who supervised the work in the house of Yahweh, and then it was given to the workmen who repaired the house of Yahweh.

11 Namely to the carpenters, and to the masons, and to purchase hewn stone and timber for couplings, and to floor the houses which the kings of Judah had destroyed.

12 And the men did the work faithfully. And they were under the supervision of Jahath and Obadiah the Levites of the sons of Merari, and Zechariah and Meshullam of the sons of the Kohathites, to advance the work. And also other Levites, all those who were skilful with instruments of music.

13 And they were over all the workers who were engaged in the various works. And other Levites were scribes, and officers, and doorkeepers.

14 And when they brought out the money that had been brought into the house of Yahweh, Hilkiah the priest found the book of the law of Yahweh given by Moses.

15 And Hilkiah spoke and said to Shaphan the scribe, 'I have found the book of the law in the house of Yahweh'. And Hilkiah gave the book to Shaphan.

16 And Shaphan carried the book to the king, and he reported to the king with the following words: Your servants have done all that was commanded them.

17 For they have gathered the money that was found in the house of Yahweh, and have given it into the hands of the supervisors, and into the hands of the workmen.

18 Then Shaphan the scribe said to the king, 'Hilkiah the priest has given me a book'. And Shaphan read it before the king.

19 And when the king had heard the words of the law, he tore his clothes.

20 And the king commanded with the following words to Hilkiah, and to Ahikam the son of Shaphan, and to Abdon the son of Micah, and to Shaphan the scribe, and to Asaiah the king's servant.

21 Go and inquire of Yahweh for me, and for the remnant of Israel and Judah, concerning the words of this book that has been found. For great is the anger of Yahweh that is kindled against us, because our fathers have not obeyed the words of Yahweh in order to do according to all that is written in this book.

22 Then Hilkiah and those whom the king had appointed went to Huldah the prophetess who was the wife of Shallum the son of Tokhath the son of Hasrah. Shallum was the keeper of the wardrobe of the priests, and Huldah dwelt in the second quarter in Jerusalem. So they went and talked with Huldah.

23 And she answered them: Thus says Yahweh the God of Israel. Tell the following thing to man who has sent you to me.

24 Thus says Yahweh: Behold I will bring evil on this place and on its inhabitants, according to all the curses that are written in the book that they have read before the king of Judah.

25 Because they have forsaken me and have burned incense to other gods, to anger me by all the works of their hands [especially since the days of Manasseh because the many facets of his negative legacy are still visible]. Therefore my anger is kindled against this place, and it will not be quenched.

26 But you will [also] say to the king of Judah who has sent you to inquire of Yahweh: Thus says Yahweh the God of Israel, concerning the words that you have heard.

27 Because your heart has been grieved, and you have humbled yourself before God when you heard his words against this place and against its inhabitants [in the book that you have caused to read before you], and because you have humbled yourself before me and torn your clothes and wept before me, therefore I have heard you also, says Yahweh.

28 Therefore behold I will gather you to your fathers, and you will be put in your grave in peace, and your eyes will not see all the evil that I will bring on this place and on its inhabitants. And then those servants brought back this answer to the king.

29 Then the king sent, and gathered all the elders of Judah and Jerusalem.

30 And the king went up to the temple of Yahweh with all the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and with the priests and the Levites, and with all the people from the least to the greatest. And he read [he caused to read] in their ears all the words of the book of the covenant that had been found in the temple of Yahweh.

31 And the king stood near his pillar and made a covenant before Yahweh, to walk after Yahweh and to keep with all his heart and with all his soul his commandments, and his testimonies, and his statuts, in order to perform the words of the covenant that were written in the book.

32 And he caused all those who were found in Jerusalem and in Benjamin to enter the covenant. And the inhabitants of Jerusalem did according to the covenant of God, namely the God of their fathers.

33 And Josiah removed all the abominations from all the territories that belonged to the children of Israel, and he caused all those who were found in Israel to serve Yahweh their God. And they did not turn away from following Yahweh the God of their fathers during all the days of Josiah.

2 Chronicles 35

1 And Josiah celebrated the passover of Yahweh in Jerusalem, and they killed [the sacrifices of] the passover on the fourteenth day of the first month.

2 And Josiah appointed the priests in their offices and encouraged them to do the service of the house of Yahweh.

3 And Josiah said to the Levites who are a tribe that Yahweh had set apart to teach all Israel and to be holy: The holy ark [of the covenant of Yahweh] is in the house that Solomon the son of David king of Israel has built. You will no longer have to carry it on your shoulders. Now therefore, serve Yahweh your God and his people Israel.

4 Prepare yourselves according to your fathers' houses and to your divisions, as David king of Israel had written, and as Solomon his son had written.

5 Take your places in the sanctuary according to the fathers' houses [the tribes] of your brothers the children of the people, and according to the division of the family of the Levites.

6 And sanctify yourselves, and kill [the victims of] the passover, and instruct your brothers so that they may do according to the word that Yahweh had given by the hand of Moses.

7 And Josiah gave to the people thirty thousand sheep [and goats], namely lambs and kids, for the passover of all those who were present. And he also gave three thousand bullocks. All these animals were taken from the king's possessions.

8 And his princes [the leaders] had willingly given gifts to the people, namely to the priests and to the Levites. Hilkiah and Zechariah and Jehiel were the rulers of the house of God. And they gave to the priests two thousand and six hundred sheep, and three hundred bullocks, for the passover.

9 And Conaniah, and Shemaiah and Nethanel his brothers, and Hashabiah and Jeiel and Jozabad, the chiefs of the Levites, they gave to the Levites five thousand sheep and five hundred bullocks for the passover.

10 So the service was prepared, and the priests and the Levites stood in their places, according to their divisions, as king Josiah had commanded.

11 And they killed the passover [each person must lay his hand on the head of his personal offering before a Levite kills the victim], and the priests sprinkled the blood with their hands, and the Levites flayed the victims.

12 And they brought the aminals for the burnt offerings according to the divisions of the families of the children of the people [that is to say, the burnt offerings were not individual], and offered them to Yahweh by the method which is written in the book of Moses. And they did likewise with the bullocks.

13 And they roasted [the sacrifices of] the passover with fire according to the ordinance. And they boiled the other holy offerings in pots, and in cauldron, and in pans, and they quickly distributed it to all the people.

14 And afterward they prepared for themselves and for the priests, because the priests the sons of Aaron were busy offering the burnt offerings and the fat [of the passover] until night. Therefore the Levites prepared [the passover] for themselves and for the priests the sons of Aaron.

15 And the singers the sons of Asaph were in their place, and their place had been established by the commandment of David, and of Asaph, and of Heman, and of Jeduthun the king's seer. And the gatekeepers were at every gate, and they did not have to turn away from their service because their brothers the Levites prepared what was for them.

16 So all the service of Yahweh was prepared the same day, to celebrate the passover and to offer burnt offerings on the altar of Yahweh, according to the commandment of king Josiah.

17 And the children of Israel who were present celebrated at that time the passover [which is done in the evening of the fourteenth day of the first month], and the feast of unleavened bread during seven days [which is a continuity of the passover according to what is written in the law of Moses].

18 There had been no passover in Israel like this one since the days of Samuel the prophet [who lived before there was any king in Israel, and who died during the days of Saul the first king of Israel]. And none of the kings of Israel organized a passover similar to the one that Josiah celebrated with the priests, and the Levites, and all Judah, and Israel who were present [from the territory of the kingdom of the ten tribes, a kingdom that ended during the days of Hezekiah], and the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

19 This passover was celebrated in the eighteenth year of the reign of Josiah.

20 After all this things that Josiah had done for the temple [of Yahweh], Neco king of Egypt came up to fight against the city of Carchemish near Euphrates [which was owned by the king of Assyria]. And Josiah went out to fight against Neco.

21 And Neco sent messengers to Josiah by saying: What have I to do with you the king of Judah. I have not come against you today, but against the house with which I am at war. And God commanded me to make haste. Do not oppose God who is with me, lest he destroy you.

22 But Josiah did not want to turn away from Neco, and Josiah disguised himself and went with his men to fight against the army of Neco. So Josiah did not listen to the words of Neco, and yet these words had come from the mouth of God [since it was the angels of the holy spirit of God who had commanded Neco, perhaps through some seers, to go and fight against the king of Assyria]. And Josiah went forward to fight in the valley of Megiddo.

23 And the archers shot at king Josiah, and the king said to his servants: Take me away, for I am sorely wounded.

24 And his servants took Josiah out of that chariot, and put him in the second chariot that he had, and brought him to Jerusalem. And he died, and was buried in the sepulcher of his fathers, and all Judah and Jerusalem mourned for Josiah.

25 And Jeremiah lamented for Josiah, and all the singers both men and women have spoken of Josiah in their lamentations to this day and have established it as an ordinance in Israel. And behold, they are written in the Lamentations.

26 Concerning the remaining of the acts of Josiah, and his good deeds which he had performed in order to fulfill what was written in the law of Yahweh.

27 All his deeds, the first and the last, behold they are written in the book of the kings of Israel and Judah.

2 Chronicles 36

1 Then the people of the land took Jehoahaz the son of Josiah and made him king in Jerusalem in the stead of his father.

2 And Jehoahaz was twenty three years old when he began to reign, and he reigned three months in Jerusalem.

3 And the king of Egypt took him away from Jerusalem and imposed a tribute of one hundred talents of silver and one talent of gold on the land of Jehoahaz.

4 And Neco king of Egypt made Eliakim the brother of Jehoahaz king over Judah and Jerusalem, and changed his name to Jehoiakim. And Neco took Jehoahaz the brother of Jehoiakim and carried him to Egypt.

5 And Jehoiakim was twenty five years old when he began to reign, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem, and he did what was evil in the sight of Yahweh his God.

6 And Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came against Jehoiakim, and bonded him with chains to carried him to Babylon.

7 And Nebuchadnezzar also carried some of the utensils of the house of Yahweh to Babylon, and put them in his palace at Babylon.

8 Concerning the remaining of the acts of Jehoiakim, and his abominations which he did, and what was found in him, behold they are written in the book of the kings of Israel and Judah. And Jehoiachin his son reigned in his stead.

9 Jehoiachin was eight [eighteen] years old when he began to reign, and he reigned three months and ten days in Jerusalem, and he did what was evil in the sight of Yahweh.

10 And at the end of the year, king Nebuchadnezzar sent and brought Jehoiachin to Babylon with the precious utensils of the house of Yahweh. And Nebuchadnezzar made Zedekiah the half brother of the father of Jehoiachin king over Judah and Jerusalem.

11 And Zedekiah was twenty one years old when he began to reign, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem.

12 And Zedekiah did what was evil in the sight of Yahweh his God, and he did not humble himself before Jeremiah the prophet who gave him the words of Yahweh. [In other words, Zedekiah was not moved by the warning of the prophet.]

13 And Zedekiah also rebelled against Nebuchadnezzar who had caused him to swear by God. And Zedekiah stiffened his neck and hardened his heart so as not to return to Yahweh the God of Israel.

14 And all the chiefs of the priests and of the people transgressed greatly according to all the abominations of the nations, and they profaned the house of Yahweh which he had sanctified in Jerusalem.

15 Therefore Yahweh the God of their fathers sent his messengers [prophets] again and again to warn them, because he wanted to spare his people and his own dwelling place [which is the house that he had chosen to put his name there].

16 But they mocked the messengers of God and despised his words. They misused his prophets until there was no remedy for the wrath of Yahweh toward his people.

17 For God brought against them the king of the Chaldeans who killed their young men with the sword in the house of their sanctuary. And he spared neither the young man, nor the virgin woman, nor the mature man, nor the gray-haired man. God gave them all into the hand of the king of the Chaldeans.

18 And [the servants of] Nebuchadnezzar carried to Babylon all the utensils of the house of God [which were found at that time], great and small, and the treasures of the house of Yahweh, and the treasures of the king and of his princes [leaders].

19 And they burned the house of God and broke down the walls of Jerusalem, and burned all the palaces, and destroyed all the precious objects.

20 And those who escaped from the sword were carried away captives to Babylon, and they served Nebuchadnezzar and his sons until the reign of the kingdom of Persia.

21 In order to fulfill the word of Yahweh spoken by the mouth of Jeremiah, the land remained desolate until it had enjoyed its sabbath. The land rested until the seventy years were completed.

22 And in the first year of Cyrus king of Persia [that is to say, the first year after he conquered the kingdom of Babylon], in order to fulfill the word of Yahweh spoken by the mouth of Jeremiah, Yahweh stirred up the spirit of Cyrus king of Persia and he made the following proclamation throughout all his kingdom, both by word of mouth and in writing.

23 Thus says Cyrus king of Persia: Yahweh the God of heaven has given me all the kingdoms of the earth, and he has commanded me to build him a house in Jerusalem which is in Judah. Who among you is of his people. May Yahweh his God be with him, and let him go up.

Ezra

Ezra 1

1 Now in the first year of Cyrus king of Persia [that is to say, the first year after he conquered the kingdom of Babylon], in order to fulfill the word of Yahweh spoken by the mouth of Jeremiah, Yahweh stirred up the spirit of Cyrus king of Persia and he made the following proclamation throughout all his kingdom, both by word of mouth and in writing.

2 Thus says Cyrus king of Persia: Yahweh the God of heaven has given me all the kingdoms of the earth, and he has commanded me to build him a house in Jerusalem which is in Judah.

3 Who among you is of his people. May his God be with him, and let him go up to Jerusalem which is in Judah and build the house of Yahweh the God of Israel. He is the God who is in Jerusalem.

4 And in every place where is sojourning anyone belonging to that people, the inhabitants of this place will relieve him with silver, and gold, and goods, and livestock, besides a freewill offerings for the house of God which is to be build in Jerusalem.

5 Then the chiefs of the fathers' houses of Judah and Benjamin, and the priests and the Levites, and all those whose spirit God had stirred, they arose in order to go up and build the house of Yahweh in Jerusalem.

6 And all those who were around them strengthened their hand with utensils of silver, and with gold, and goods, and livestock, and precious things, besides all the freewill offerings [which they gave especially for the house of God].

7 And king Cyrus returned the utensils of the house of Yahweh which Nebuchadnezzar had taken from Jerusalem and had put in the house of his god.

8 It is those utensils that Cyrus king of Persia brought out by the hand of Mithredath the treasurer who gave them to Sheshbazzar the prince of Judah [the captain among the people who were returning from the captivity].

9 And this is their number: thirty basins of gold, and one thousand basins of silver, and twenty nine knives.

10 And thirty bowls of gold, and four hundred and ten silver bowls of second order, and one thousand other utensils.

11 All the utensils of gold and silver were five thousand and four hundred. And Sheshbazzar carried all these things from Babylon to Jerusalem when he returned with other captives.

Ezra 2

1 Now these are the men of the province who returned from captivity, whom Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon had carried away to Babylon, and who returned to Jerusalem and Judah, every one to his city.

2 They went to Jerusalem with Zerubbabel, and Jeshua, and Nehemiah, and Seraiah, and Reelaiah, and Mordecai, and Bilshan, and Mispar, and Bigvai, and Rehum, and Baanah.

3 And these are the numbers of the men of the people of Israel. The sons of Parosh, two thousand and one hundred and seventy two.

4 The sons of Shephatiah, three hundred and seventy two.

5 The sons of Arah, seven hundred and seventy five.

6 The the sons of Pahath-Moab, of the sons of Jeshua and Joab, two thousand and eight hundred and twelve.

7 The the sons of Elam, one thousand and two hundred and fifty four.

8 The sons of Zattu, nine hundred and forty five.

9 The sons of Zaccai, seven hundred and sixty.

10 The sons of Bani, six hundred and forty two.

11 The sons of Bebai, six hundred and twenty three.

12 The sons of Azgad, one thousand and two hundred and twenty two.

13 The sons of Adonikam, six hundred and sixty six.

14 The sons of Bigvai, two thousand and fifty six.

17 The sons of Bezai, three hundred and twenty three.

19 The sons of Hashum, two hundred and twenty three.

20 The sons of Gibbar, ninety five.

22 From the town of Netophah, fifty six.

24 From the town of Azmaveth, forty two.

25 From the towns of Kiriath-arim, and of Chephirah, and of Beeroth, seven hundred and forty three.

26 From the towns of Ramah and Geba, six hundred and twenty one.

27 From the town of Michmas, one hundred and twenty two.

28 From the towns of Bethel and Ai, two hundred and twenty three.

29 From the town of Nebo, fifty two.

30 From the town of Magbish, one hundred and fifty six.

31 From the other Elam which is a town, one thousand and two hundred and fifty four.

32 From the town of Harim, three hundred and twenty.

33 From the towns of Lod, and of Hadid, and of Ono, seven hundred and twenty five.

34 From the town of Jericho, three hundred and forty five.

35 From the town of Senaah, three thousand and six hundred and thirty.

36 And of the classes of priests: the sons of Jedaiah through the house of Jeshua, nine hundred and seventy three.

37 The sons of Immer, one thousand and fifty two.

39 The sons of Harim, one thousand and seventeen.

40 The Levites: the sons of Jeshua, of Kadmiel through the house of Hodaviah, seventy four.

42 The sons of the gatekeepers: the sons of Shallum, and the sons of Ater, and the sons of Talmon, and the sons of Akkub, and the sons of Hatita, and the sons of Shobai. All were one hundred and thirty nine.

43 The Nethinim (who had a special function in the temple): the sons of Ziha, and the sons of Hasupha, and the sons of Tabbaoth.

44 And the sons of Keros, and the sons of Siaha, and the sons of Padon.

45 And the sons of Lebanah, and the sons of Hagabah, and the sons of Akkub.

46 And the sons of Hagab, and the sons of Shamlai, and the sons of Hanan.

47 And the sons of Giddel, and the sons of Gahar, and the sons of Reaiah.

48 And the sons of Rezin, and the sons of Nekoda, and the sons of Gazzam.

49 And the sons of Uzza, and the sons of Paseah, and the sons of Besai.

50 And the sons of Asnah, and the sons of Meunim, and the sons of Nephisim.

51 And the sons of Bakbuk, and the sons of Hakupha, and the sons of Harhur.

52 And the sons of Bazluth, and the sons of Mehida, and the sons of Harsha.

53 And the sons of Barkos, and the sons of Sisera, and the sons of Temah.

54 And the sons of Neziah, and the sons of Hatipha.

55 The sons of Solomon's servants: the sons of Sotai, and the sons of Sophereth, and the sons of Peruda.

56 And the sons of Jaalah, and the sons of Darkon, and the sons of Giddel.

57 And the sons of Shephatiah, and the sons of Hattil, and the sons of Pochereth-hazzebaim, and the sons of Ami.

58 All the Nethinim and the sons of Solomon's servants were three hundred and ninety two.

59 And now these are those who went from Tel-melah, and Tel-harsha, and Cherub, and Addan, and Immer, and who could not make known their genealogies and their tribes, to prove that they were of Israel.

60 The descendants of Delaiah, and the descendants of Tobiah, and the descendants of Nekoda, six hundred and fifty two.

61 And there were also some among the priests who could not prove their belonging to the family of the priests [for Aaron the brother of Moses was the first priest, and it is only a male child of a priest who is a priest]. There were the sons of Habaiah, and the sons of Hakkoz, and the sons of Barzillai [whoever had married one of the daughters of Barzillai the Gileadite was called by their names and therefore designated as being a descendant of Barzillai].

62 These men sought their references in the genealogical records, but they were not found. Therefore these men were put out of the priesthood.

63 And the governor commanded them that they should not eat of the most holy things until a priest had consulted with Urim and Thummim.

64 And the whole congregation was made of forty two thousand and three hundred and sixty men.

65 Besides their men-servants and their maid-servants who were seven thousand and three hundred and thirty seven. And there were also two hundred singers, both men and women.

66 And they had seven hundred and thirty six horses, and two hundred and forty five mules.

67 And four hundred and thirty five camels, and six thousand and seven hundred and twenty donkeys.

68 And some of the chiefs of the fathers' houses, when they arrived at the place where the house of Yahweh had been in Jerusalem, they willingly gave gifts to build the foundations of the house of God at the place where it had been.

69 And they gave to the treasury of the work, according to their ability, sixty one thousand darics of gold, and five thousand pounds of silver, and one hundred priests' garments.

70 So the priests and the Levites, and some of the people, and the singers, and the gatekeepers, and the Nethinims, they dwelt in their cities and all Israel dwelt in their cities.

Ezra 3

1 And the seventh month came, and the children of Israel were dwelling in their cities, and the people assembled as one man to Jerusalem.

2 And Jeshua the son of Jozadak, and his brothers the priests, and Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, and his brothers, they arose and built the altar of the God of Israel in order to offer burnt offerings thereon as it is written in the law of Moses the man of God.

3 And they set up the altar on its base, although they were afraid of the peoples of the land [the kings of Assyria had sent some people into the territory of the kingdom of Israel after their captivity, and the kings of Babylon had sent some people into the territory of the kingdom of Judah after their captivity], and they offered burnt offerings to Yahweh on the altar, namely the morning and evening burnt offerings.

4 And they celebrated the feast of tabernacles, as it is written [in the book of the law of Moses], and offered burnt offerings day by day according to the number appointed for each day.

5 And from that time they offered the continual burnt offerings [every morning and every evening], and the burnt offerings of the new moons [the beginnings of the months] and of all the holy feasts of Yahweh, and the burnt offerings of everyone who willingly offered a freewill burnt offering to Yahweh.

6 They began to offer burnt offerings to Yahweh on the first day of the seventh month, but the foundation of the temple of Yahweh had not yet been laid.

7 And they gave money to the masons and to the carpenters. And they also gave food and wine and olive oil to those of Sidon and of Tyre, in order to bring cedar wood from Lebanon to Joppa through the sea, according to the authorization given to them by Cyrus king of Persia.

8 And in the second year after they had come to the house of God in Jerusalem, in the second month, Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel and Jeshua the son of Jozadak, and the remaining of their brothers the priests and the Levites, and all those who had returned from the captivity to Jerusalem, they began the work and appointed the Levites from twenty years old and upward to oversee the construction of the house of the house of Yahweh.

9 And Jeshua stood with his sons and his brothers, and Kadmiel with his sons who were of the sons of Judah, and the sons of Henadad with their sons and their brothers the Levites. And they supervised those who worked in the house of God.

10 And when the builders laid the foundation of the temple of Yahweh, they set the priests in their apparel with trumpets, and the Levites the sons of Asaph with cymbals, to praise Yahweh according to the ordinances of David king of Israel.

11 And they sang to praise and to give thanks to Yahweh by saying 'For he is good, because his mercy endures forever toward Israel'. And all the people shouted with a great shout while they were praising Yahweh, because the foundation of the house of Yahweh was being laid.

12 But many of the priests and the Levites, and of the chiefs of the fathers' houses, namely all those elders who had seen the first house of Yahweh, they were weeping with a loud voice while the foundation of this new house was being laid before their eyes. And many others of the people were shouting for joy.

13 And thus the sound of the shouting for joy could not be distinguished from the sound of weeping among the people. For the people shouted with a loud cry, and the noise could be heard afar off.

Ezra 4

1 But the adversaries of Judah and Benjamin heard that the children of the captivity were building a temple for Yahweh the God of Israel.

2 And they came to Zerubbabel and to the chiefs of the fathers' houses, and said: We will build with you because we seek your God as you do, and we have been sacrificing to him since the time of Esar-Haddon king of Assyria who brought us here.

3 But Zerubabbel, and Jeshua, and the other chiefs of the fathers' houses of Israel, they replied: The construction of the house of our God is not your responsibility but ours. We will build it alone for Yahweh the God of Israel, as king Cyrus the king of Persia has commanded us.

4 Therefore the people of the land troubled the people of Judah, and intimidated them to prevent them from building.

5 And they hired officers among the rulers of the land against the men of Judah, in order to prevent them from building. And it was so during all the days of Cyrus king of Persia, and until the reign of Darius king of Persia.

6 And during the reign of Ahasuerus [Ahasuerus being a title that was held by other Persian kings who lived long after this one], at the beginning of his reign, they wrote an accusation against the inhabitants of Judah and Jerusalem [namely against those who had come from the captivity].

7 And in the days of Artaxerxes [Artaxerxes being a title, and this king lived before Darius], they wrote another letter to Artaxerxes king of Persia. And the letter had been designed in the Syrian tongue and was written in the Syrian characters. Those who wrote it were Bishlam, and Mithredath, and Tabeel, and the remaining of their companions.

8 So Rehum the governor and Shimshai the scribe wrote to king Artaxerxes the following letter concerning Jerusalem.

9 From Rehum the governor, and Shimshai the scribe, and their other colleagues. And the Dinaites, the Apharsathchites, the Tarpelites, the Apharsites, the Archevites, the Babylonians, the Susanchites, the Dehavites, and the Elamites.

10 And the other peoples whom the great and noble Osnappar brought over and established in the city of Samaria and in other places on this side of the river Euphrates.

11 This is the copy of the letter sent to king Artaxerxes: Your servants the men who live beyond the river Euphrates salute you.

12 Let it be known to the king that the Jews who had come up from you to us are now in Jerusalem, the rebellious and wicked city. And they have laid the foundations of the walls [of the house of their God], and have joined the foundations.

13 Let it be known to the king that if this city and its walls are rebuilt, then they will pay neither tribute, nor tax, nor customs fees. And thus the treasuries of the king will suffer from it.

14 Now we have duties toward the king, and we do not wish to witness the king's dishonor. Therefore we want to inform the king of this matter.

15 Let there be a search in the book of the chronicles of your fathers, and thus you will find and see in the book of the chronicles that this city is a rebellious city which has been hurtful to kings and provinces. They have been instigating seditions there since ancient times, and that is why the city was destroyed.

16 Therefore we certify to the king that if this city is rebuilt and its walls are completed, then you will no longer have possession on this side of the river.

17 Then the king sent the following answer: To Rehum the governor, and to Shimshai the scribe, and to their other colleagues who dwelt in Samaria and in other places beyond the river Euphrates. Greetings.

18 The letter that you sent us has been read entirely before me.

19 And I have commanded to do a search, and we have found that this city has made insurrections against kings from ancient times, and that rebellions and seditions were made there.

20 There had been powerful kings in Jerusalem, and they had ruled over all the lands beyond the river Euphrates, and the peoples paid them tributes, and tax, and customs fees.

21 Now therefore make a decree to stop the work of those men. And the city will not be rebuilt without my permission.

22 Take care not to fail in this obligation, for why should the damage increase so as to hurt the king.

23 And as soon as the copy of the letter from king Artaxerxes had been read before Rehum, and Shimshai the scribe, and their colleagues, they hurriedly went to Jerusalem to the Jews and caused them to cease their work by force and power.

24 So the work of the house of God ceased in Jerusalem, and things remained that way until the second year of the reign of Darius king of Persia.

Ezra 5

1 Then the prophet Haggai and the prophet Zechariah the son [grandson] of Iddo prophesied in the name of the God of Israel to the Jews who were in Judah and Jerusalem.

2 Then Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel and Jeshua the son of Jozadak arose and began to build the house of God in Jerusalem. And the prophets of God were with them to help them.

3 And at the same time, Tattenai who was governor on this side of the river Euphrates, and Shethar-bozenai, and their colleagues, they came and spoke to the Jews thus: Who has given you the authorization to build this house, and to raise these walls [around the place of the house for the courtyards].

4 And they spoke again to the Jews and said: What are the names of the men who oversee this building.

5 But the eye of their God was on the elders of the Jews, and the work continued while a report was sent to Darius and until a letter was received concerning this matter.

6 So Tattenai the governor on this side of the river Euphrates, and Shethar-bozenai, and their colleagues from Apharsac, they sent a letter to king Darius.

7 They sent him a letter which was written thus: To king Darius, Greetings.

8 Let it be known to the king that we went to the province of Judah, to the house of the great God. It is being built with great stones, and timber is laid on the walls. The work is done quickly and successfully in their hands.

9 And we questioned the elders and spoke to them thus: Who has given you the authorization to build this house, and to raise these walls [around the place of the house for the courtyards].

10 And we also asked them their names so that you may identify them, and we have put in writing the names of the men who are their rulers.

11 And here is the answer that they have given us: We are the servants of the God of the heaven and the earth, and are rebuilding the house that had been built many years ago. For a great king of Israel had built and completed it.

12 But after our fathers had provoked the wrath of the God of heaven, he gave them into the hands of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, the Chaldean who destroyed this house and carried the people away into Babylon.

13 But in the first year of Cyrus king of Babylon, king Cyrus made a decree to build this house of God.

14 And concerning the utensils of gold and silver that were in the house of God in Jerusalem, and that king Nebuchadnezzar had taken and carried to the temple of Babylon, king Cyrus took those things in the temple of Babylon and gave them to a man called Sheshbazzar whom he had made chief [among the people who were returning from the captivity].

15 And king Cyrus said to him: Take these utensils and bring them with you, and you will place them in the temple that will be built in Jerusalem. Let the house of God be rebuilt on the place where it was.

16 And the same Sheshbazzar came and laid the foundation of the house of God which is in Jerusalem, and it has been under construction since that time until now, and it is not finished.

17 Now therefore, if it seems good to the king, let there be a search in the treasure-house of the king in Babylon in order to see if a decree had been made by king Cyrus for the construction of this house of God in Jerusalem. And may the king make known to us his will concerning this matter.

Ezra 6

1 Then king Darius gave an order to make a search in the house of the archives where the treasures were stored in Babylon.

2 And they found a parchment in a coffer, in the palace that is in the province of Media, and the following thing was written on it.

3 In the first year of king Cyrus, king Cyrus made a decree concerning the house of God in Jerusalem and it was saying: Let the house be rebuilt, namely the place for offerings of sacrifices, and let its foundation be strongly laid. Its height will be sixty [thirty] cubits, and its width sixty cubits [including its rooms at its sides].

4 There will be three rows of great hewn stones and one row of timber. The expenses will be paid out of the king's treasury.

5 And concerning the gold and silver utensils of the house of God, those things that Nebuchadnezzar took away from the temple in Jerusalem and carried to Babylon, they will be restored to the temple in Jerusalem at their places. They will be put in the house of God.

6 Now therefore [said king Darius], I command the following thing to Tattenai the governor beyond the river Euphrates, and to Shethar-bozenai, and to their colleagues from Apharsac who live beyond the river: Stay away from this place.

7 Let the work that is being done for this house of God continue. Let the chief of the Jews and the elders of the Jews rebuild this house of God in its place where it was.

8 And I make this decree concerning what you are to do for these elders of the Jews, for the building of this house of God: The expenses will be taken from the king's goods, namely from the tribute of the area beyond the river Euphrates. And thus these men will receive what is necessary so that there may be no interruption in their work.

9 And the things needed for the burnt offerings of the God of heaven will be given to the priests of Jerusalem day by day without failure. Whether it is young bullocks, or rams, or lambs, or wheat, or salt, or wine, or oil.

10 And thus they may offer sacrifices of a pleasant smell to the God of heaven, and pray for the life of the king and of his sons.

11 And this is the commandment that I give concerning whoever transgresses this word: A timber will be pulled out of his house, and he will be hanged on it, and his house will be reduced to a heap of rubbish because of this.

12 May the God who has caused his name to dwell in that place overthrow all kings and peoples who will put forth their hand to deteriorate and to destroy this house of God which is in Jerusalem. I Darius have made a decree, let it be performed promptly.

13 Then Tattenai the governor on this side of the river Euphrates, and Shethar-bozenai, and their colleagues, they did promptly according to the commandment which king Darius had sent them.

14 So the elders of the Jews built successfully, being encouraged by the words of Haggai the prophet and of Zechariah the son of Iddo. And they built and finished it, according to the commandment of the God of Israel, and according to the commandment of Cyrus, and of Darius, and of Artaxerxes king of Persia [Artaxerxes being a title, and this king lived before Darius. This is a list of the Persian kings who have influenced the construction process of this house of God].

15 And the house was finished on the third day of the month Adar, in the sixth year of the reign of king Darius.

16 And the children of Israel celebrated the dedication of this house of God with joy. There were the priests, and the Levites, and the remaining of the children of the captivity.

17 And they offered at the dedication of this house of God one hundred bullocks, and two hundred rams, and four hundred lambs. And they also offered twelve male goats for a sin offering for all Israel, according to the number of the tribes of Israel.

18 And they appointed the priests according to their order, and the Levites according to their divisions, for the service of [the house of] God in Jerusalem, as it is written in the book of Moses.

19 And the children of the captivity kept the passover on the fourteenth day of the first month.

20 For the priests and the Levites had purified themselves, and all of them were clean. And the Levites killed the [victims of the] passover for all the children of the captivity, and for their brothers the priests, and for themselves.

21 So the children of Israel who had returned from the captivity ate the passover. They ate it with all the inhabitants of the land who had joined them in order to turn away from their sinful way of life and to seek Yahweh the God of Israel.

22 And they kept the feast of unleavened bread for seven days with joy. For Yahweh had made them glad by causing the king of Persia to help them in the work of the house of God, namely the God of Israel.

Ezra 7

1 Now after these things, in the reign of Artaxerxes king of Persia [Artaxerxes being a title, and it is not the same king as the one mentioned previously], Ezra arose. He was the son of Seraiah, the son of Azariah, the son of Hilkiah.

2 The son of Shallum, the son of Zadok, the son of Ahitub.

3 The son of Amariah, the son of Azariah, the son of Meraioth.

4 The son of Zerahiah, the son of Uzzi, the son of Bukki.

5 The son of Abishua, the son of Phinehas, the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron the high priest.

6 This Ezra came from Babylon. He was a scribe versed in the law of Moses, the law which Yahweh the God of Israel had given. And because the hand of Yahweh his God was on him, therefore the king Artaxerxes granted him all his requests.

7 And some of the children of Israel, and of the priests, and of the Levites, and of the singers, and of the gatekeepers, and of the Nethinim, they came up to Jerusalem in the seventh year of king Artaxerxes.

8 And Ezra came to Jerusalem in the fifth month, in the seventh year of king Artaxerxes.

9 For Ezra departed from Babylon on the first day of the first month, and he came to Jerusalem on the first day of the fifth month, according to the good hand of his God that was on him.

10 For Ezra had set his heart to seek the law of Yahweh, and to do it, and to teach the precepts and judgments.

11 And this is the copy of the letter that king Artaxerxes gave to Ezra the priest and scribe, who was a writer of the words of the commandments of Yahweh and of his statutes to Israel.

12 Artaxerxes king of kings, to Ezra the priest and scribe who is versed in the law of the God of heaven, Greetings.

13 I have given orders to let go all those of the people of Israel, and of their priests and of their Levites, namely all those who are in my kingdom and who are willing to go with you to Jerusalem.

14 You are sent by the king and his seven counselors, in order to inspect Judah and Jerusalem according to the law of your God which is in your hand.

15 And to carry the silver and gold that the king and his counselors have willingly offered to the God of Israel, whose habitation is in Jerusalem.

16 And all the silver and gold that you can find in all the province of Babylon, namely the freewill offerings that the people may willingly give to the priests for the house of their God in Jerusalem.

17 And you will take care to use this money to buy bullocks, and rams, and lambs, and their meal offerings and their drink offerings. And you will offer them on the altar of the house of your God in Jerusalem.

18 And concerning the remaining of the silver and of the gold, you and your brothers the Jews will use it according to the will of your God to do whatever seems good to you.

19 And concerning the utensils that are given to you for the service of the house of your God, you will lay it before God in Jerusalem.

20 And you can use the money of the king's treasury for anything else that is needed for the house of your God.

21 And I king Artaxerxes have commanded all the treasurers who are on the other side of the river Euphrates to give to Ezra, the priest and scribe versed in the law of the God of heaven, whatever he will ask of you.

22 Up to one hundred talents of silver, and one hundred measures of wheat, and one hundred baths of wine, and one hundred baths of oil, and unlimited salt.

23 Whatever is commanded by the God of heaven, let it be done exactly for the house of the God of heaven. For why should he be angry against the realm of the king and of his sons.

24 And concerning all the priests, and the Levites, and the singers, and the gatekeepers, and the Nethinim, namely all the servants of this house of God, we certify it will not be lawful to impose on them any tribute or customs fees or toll.

25 And you Ezra, according to the wisdom of your God which is in your hand, you will appoint judges and magistrates to judge all the people who are beyond the river Euphrates. You will choose them among all those who know the laws of your God, and you will teach all those who do not know that law.

26 And whoever will not do both the law of your God and the law of the king, the same will be judged without delay. And depending on the crime, the punishment may be death, or banishment, or confiscation of property, or imprisonment.

27 Blessed be Yahweh the God of our fathers, for he has prepared the heart of the king of Persia to beautify the house of Yahweh which is in Jerusalem.

28 And also because he has made me find favor sight of the king, and of his counselors, and of all the king's mighty princes. So I was strengthened by the hand of Yahweh my God which was on me, and I gathered the chiefs of Israel to go up with me.

Ezra 8

1 Now these are the chiefs of the fathers' houses, and the genealogies of those who came up with me from Babylon during the reign of king Artaxerxes.

2 Of the sons of Phinehas, Gershom. Of the sons of Ithamar, Daniel. Of the sons of David, Hattush.

3 Of the sons of Shecaniah, of the sons of Parosh, Zechariah. And there were one hundred and fifty males with him.

4 Of the sons of Pahath-moab, Eliehoenai the son of Zerahiah. And there were two hundred males with him.

5 Of the sons of Shecaniah, the son of Jahaziel. And there were three hundred males with him.

6 Of the sons of Adin, Ebed the son of Jonathan. And there were fifty males with him.

7 Of the sons of Elam, Jeshaiah the son of Athaliah. And there were seventy males with him.

8 Of the sons of Shephatiah, Zebadiah the son of Michael. And there were eighty males with him.

9 Of the sons of Joab, Obadiah the son of Jehiel. And there were two hundred and eighteen males with him.

10 Of the sons of Shelomith, the son of Josiphiah. And there were one hundred and sixty males with him.

11 Of the sons of Bebai, Zechariah the son of Bebai. And there were twenty eight males with him.

12 Of the sons of Azgad, Johanan the son of Hakkatan. And there were one hundred and ten males with him.

13 And of the last sons of Adonikam, whose names are Eliphelet, and Jeiel, and Shemaiah. And there were sixty males with them.

14 Of the sons of Bigvai, Uthai and Zabbud. And there were seventy males with them.

15 And I gathered them together at the river that flows toward Ahava, and we encamped there three days. Then I turned my attention to the people and to the priests, and found there none of the sons of Levi.

16 Therefore I sent for the chiefs, namely Eliezer, and Ariel, and Shemaiah, and Elnathan, and Jarib, and Elnathan, and Nathan, and Zechariah, and Meshullam. And also Joiarib and Elnathan who were men of understanding.

17 And I sent them with a command to Iddo the chief who was living in Casiphia. And I told them what they should say to Iddo and to his brothers the Nethinim who were in Casiphia, in order to cause the servants of the house of our God to come to us.

18 And according to the good hand of our God that was on us, they brought us Sherebiah who was a wise man of the sons of Mahli the son of Levi the son of Israel [Jacob]. And there were his sons and his brothers with him, eighteen men.

19 And they also brought us Hashabiah. And there were with him Jeshaiah of the sons of Merari, and his brothers and their sons, twenty men.

20 And of the Nethinim [who are the descendants of those] whom David and the princes [leaders] had appointed to help the Levites, two hundred and twenty Nethinim. All their names were written on a list.

21 And there at the river near Ahava, I proclaimed a fasting in order to humble ourselves before our God and obtain from him a safe journey for us, and for our children, and for all that we had.

22 For I had been ashamed to ask the king of Persia for foot soldiers and horsemen to protect us from the enemy in the way, because we had said to the king: The hand of our God provide an adequate assistance to all those who seek him, but his power and his wrath are on all those who forsake him.

23 Therefore we fasted and besought our God regarding this probable difficulty, and we entreated him greatly.

24 Then I did set apart twelve of the chiefs of the priests, namely Sherebiah and Hashabiah and ten of their brothers.

25 And I weighed before them the silver, and the gold, and the utensils, namely all the offerings that had been given for the house of our God by the king of Persia, and by his counselors, and by all the Israelites who had been found.

26 And I gave into their hands six hundred and fifty talents of silver, and one hundred talents of silver utensils, and one hundred talents of gold.

27 And twenty bowls of gold worth one thousand darics, and two utensils of shining brass which were as precious as gold.

28 Then I said to them: You are holy to Yahweh, and these utensils are dedicated, and this silver and this gold are a freewill offering to Yahweh the God of your fathers.

29 Be vigilant and keep them until you weigh them in the chambers of the house of Yahweh, before the chief priests and the Levites, and before the chiefs of the fathers' houses of Israel at Jerusalem.

30 So the priests and the Levites received the weight of the silver, and of the gold, and of the utensils, in order to bring them in the house of our God at Jerusalem.

31 Then we departed from the river of Ahava on the twelfth day of the first month, to go to Jerusalem. And the hand of our God was on us, and he save us from the hand of the enemy namely all those who ambushed us in the way.

32 And we came to Jerusalem, and rested there three days.

33 And on the fourth day we weighed the silver in the house of our God, and the gold and the utensils, and gave them to Meremoth the son of Uriah the priest. And he was with Eleazar the son of Phinehas, and with the Levites Jozabad the son of Jeshua and Noadiah the son of Binnui.

34 When all was verified, both by numbers and by weights, they wrote down the total weight at the same time.

35 And the children of the captivity who had returned from the exile offered burnt offerings to the God of Israel, more precisely twelve bullocks for all Israel, and ninety six rams, and seventy seven lambs, and also twelve male goats for a sin offering. All these were burnt offerings to Yahweh.

36 And we had given the orders of the king of Persia to the officers of the king of Persia and to his governors on this side of the river Euphrates. And all these leaders assisted the people for the service of the house of God.

1 After these things were done, the princes [leaders] came to me and said: The people of Israel, and the priests, and the Levites, have not separated themselves from the peoples of the lands and are doing according to their abominations. The abominations of the Canaanites, and of the Hittites, and of the Perizzites, and of the Jebusites, and of the Ammonites, and of the Moabites, and of the Egyptians, and of the Amorites.

2 For they have taken of their daughters for themselves and for their sons, and have mixed the holy seed with the peoples of the lands [that is to say, they have mixed the duties of the people of Israel with the usual abominations of these other peoples], and the princes and the rulers were the first to commit this transgression.

3 And when I heard this thing, I tore my garment and my mantle, and plucked the hair of my head and of my beard, and sat down desolate.

4 And all those who feared the words of the God of Israel assembled to me, because of the transgression of the children of the captivity. And I sat down desolate until the evening sacrifice.

5 And I arose from my mortification at the time of the evening sacrifice, with my garments and my mantle torn, and I fell on my knees and spread out my hands toward Yahweh my God.

6 And I said: O my God, I am ashamed and blush to lift up my face to you. For our iniquities have multiplied over our heads, and our transgression is grown up to the heaven.

7 From the days of our fathers to this day we have committed great transgressions. And because of our iniquities, we, and our kings, and our priests, we have been delivered into the hand of the kings of the lands. We have been given to the sword, and to captivity, and to plunder, and to confusion of face, as it appears this day.

8 And yet Yahweh our God has been gracious to us by causing a remnant to escape. And he has given us a refuge in his holy place, to illuminate our eyes and to give us some refreshment in our slavery.

9 For we are bondmen, and nevertheless God has not forsaken us in our bondage. He made us find grace in the sight of the kings of Persia, to reinvigorate us in order to set up the house of our God and repair its ruins, and to give us a place of rest in Judah and in Jerusalem.

10 And now, O our God, what will we say after this.

11 For we have forsaken your commandments which you commanded us by your servants the prophets by saying: The land into which you will enter to possess it, is a land defiled by the filthiness of the peoples of that land. For they have filled it from one end to the other with their filthiness, by their abominations.

12 Now therefore you will not give your daughters to their sons, and you will not take their daughters for your sons, and you will never feel concerned by their misfortunes and distress. And thus you will be strong [if you do not participate in their evil behavior], and you will eat of the goodness of the land, and you will leave it for an inheritance to your children forever.

13 So our evil deeds and our great transgression have caused all that have happened to us. And nevertheless you have not punished us according to our iniquities, for you have given us these survivors.

14 If we continue to transgress your commandments by uniting with these abominable peoples [namely by imitating their practices], will not your anger come back against us until you destroy us without leaving a single survivor.

15 O Yahweh the God of Israel, you are righteous. And you have allowed that there be survivors to perpetuate the legacy of our people, as it appears today. Behold we stand before you in our new transgression, and we cannot lift up our faces before you because of this.

Ezra 10

1 While Ezra was praying thus and confessing, and weeping and bowing down before the house of God, a crowd of the children of Israel gathered around him. There were men, and even women and children, because some of the people were weeping bitterly.

2 Then Shecaniah the son of Jehiel, one of the sons [descendants] of Elam, said to Ezra: We have transgressed against our God by marrying foreign women of the peoples of the land. But Israel is not without hope concerning this thing.

3 Now therefore let us make a covenant with our God, to send away all these wives and their children according to the counsel of my lord [Ezra] and of those who tremble at the commandments of our God. And let it be done according to the law [given by Moses].

4 Arise because this matter is yours [that is to say, you will supervise the resolution of this problem]. We are with you, therefore be of a good courage and do it.

5 Then Ezra arose and caused the chiefs of the priests, and of the Levites, and of all Israel, to swear that they will do according to this word. And they swore.

6 Then Ezra departed from before the house of God and went into the private room of Jehohanan the son of Eliashib. And when he entered, he did not eat bread and did not drink water. For he mourned because of the transgression of the children of the captivity.

7 And they made a proclamation throughout Judah and Jerusalem in order to assemble all the children of the captivity at Jerusalem.

8 And it was specified that, according the counsel of the princes and the elders, whoever did not come within three days will have all his goods confiscated and he himself should be excluded from the assembly of the children of the captivity.

9 Then all the men of Judah and Benjamin assembled at Jerusalem within three days. It was on the twentieth day of the ninth month. And all the people stood in the street of the house of God, and they were trembling because of this matter and because of the rain.

10 And Ezra the priest stood up and said to them: You have sinned by marrying those foreign women. You have made Israel guilty of a great transgression.

11 Now therefore give praise to Yahweh the God of your fathers, and do his will. Separate yourselves from the peoples who are living in the land, and from the foreign wives.

12 Then all the assembly answered with a loud voice by saying: We will do according to the words that you have spoken to us.

13 But the people are many and the weather is rainy, therefore it is hard to continue to stay outside. And it will not take just one day or two to accomplish what we have decided, but much more because there are many among us who have offended in this matter.

14 Let our leaders be appointed for all the assembly. And all those of our cities who have taken foreign wives will come to these leaders at appointed times, with the elders and judges of every city, until the fierce anger of our God turns away from us concerning this matter.

15 They then appointed Jonathan the son of Asahel and Jahziah the son of Tikvah for this matter, and also Meshullam and Shabbethai the Levites to help them.

16 And the children of the captivity did so. And Ezra the priest, with certain chiefs of the fathers' houses, according to the fathers' houses of the people of the assembly, and all of them by their names, were set apart. And they sat down in the first day of the tenth month to examine the matter.

17 And they finished the trial of all men who had married foreign women on the first day of the first month.

18 And there were men who had married foreign women among the sons of the priests. Of the sons [descendants] of Jeshua, there was the son of Jozadak, and of his brothers there were Maaseiah, and Eliezer, and Jarib, and Gedaliah.

19 And they swore with their hands to put away their wives, and those who were guilty offered a ram for their transgression.

20 And of the sons of Immer, Hanani and Zebadiah.

21 And of the sons of Harim: Maaseiah, and Elijah, and Shemaiah, and Jehiel, and Uzziah.

22 And of the sons of Pashhur: Elioenai, and Maaseiah, and Ishmael, and Nethanel, and Jozabad, and Elasah.

23 And of the Levites: Jozabad, and Shimei, and Kelaiah who is also called Kelita, and Pethahiah, and Judah, and Eliezer.

24 And of the singers, Eliashib. And of the gatekeepers: Shallum, and Telem, and Uri.

25 And now ordinary men of Israel. Of the sons of Parosh: Ramiah, and Izziah, and Malchijah, and Mijamin, and Eleazar, and Malchijah, and Benaiah.

26 Of the sons of Elam: Mattaniah, and Zechariah, and Jehiel, and Abdi, and Jeremoth, and Elijah.

27 And of the sons of Zattu: Elioenai, and Eliashib, and Mattaniah, and Jeremoth, and Zabad, and Aziza.

28 And of the sons of Bebai: Jehohanan, and Hananiah, and Zabbai, and Athlai.

29 And of the sons of Bani: Meshullam, and Malluch, and Adaiah, and Jashub, and Sheal, and Jeremoth.

30 And of the sons of Pahath-moab: Adna, and Chelal, and Benaiah, and Maaseiah, and Mattaniah, and Bezalel, and Binnui, and Manasseh.

31 And of the sons of Harim: Eliezer, and Isshijah, and Malchijah, and Shemaiah, and Shimeon.

32 And Benjamin, and Malluch, and Shemariah.

33 And of the sons of Hashum: Mattenai, and Mattattah, and Zabad, and Eliphelet, and Jeremai, and Manasseh, and Shimei.

35 And Benaiah, and Bedeiah, and Cheluhi.

36 And Vaniah, and Meremoth, an Eliashib.

37 And Mattaniah, and Mattenai, and Jaasu.

38 And Bani, and Binnui, and Shimei.

39 And Shelemiah, and Nathan, and Adaiah.

40 And Machnadebai, and Shashai, and Sharai.

41 And Azarel, and Shelemiah, and Shemariah.

42 And Shallum, and Amariah, and Joseph.

43 Of the sons of Nebo: Jeiel, and Mattithiah, and Zabad, and Zebina, and Iddo, and Joel, and Benaiah.

44 All those men had married foreign women, and a part of those women had children.

Nehemiah 1

1 The words of Nehemiah the son of Hacaliah. In the month of Chislev, in the twentieth year [of king Artaxerxes], while I was in the palace of Shushan.

2 Hanani who is one of my brothers came to me with some other men of Judah. And I asked them concerning the Jews who had come from the captivity, and concerning Jerusalem.

3 And they said to me: The remnant who had come from the captivity are there in the province, in great affliction and in reproach. And the wall of Jerusalem is broken down, and its gates are burned with fire.

4 And when I heard these words, I sat down and wept, and was desolate for many days. And I fasted and prayed before the God of heaven with the following words.

5 O Yahweh the God of heaven, the great and awesome God who keeps his covenant and mercy with those who love him and keep his commandments.

6 Let your ear be attentive and your eyes open, and hear the prayer that your servant prays to you daily, day and night, for your servants the children of Israel. I confess the sins of the children of Israel, our sins against you, because I and my father's house have sinned.

7 We have grievously sinned against you, and have not kept the commandments, nor the statutes, nor the judgments, which you commanded to your servant Moses.

8 I beseech you to remember the word that you spoke to your servant Moses by saying: If you transgress then I will scatter you among the peoples.

9 But if you return to me and keep my commandments, and do them, then although your outcasts may have been sent to the outermost part of the heaven, I will gather you from there and bring you back to the place that I have chosen to put my name there.

10 Now they are your servants and your people, whom you have redeemed by your great power and by your mighty hand.

11 O Lord, I beseech you, let your ear be attentive now to the prayer of your servant, and to the prayer of your servants who desire to fear your name. I pray you to cause your servant to prosper in the undertaking that he begin today, by giving him favor in the sight of this man [the king of Persia]. Now I was the king's cupbearer at that time.

Nehemiah 2

1 Now in the month Nisan, in the twentieth year of king Artaxerxes, I took the wine from before the king and gave it to him while being sad in his presence. Now I had never appeared sad in his presence.

2 And the king said to me: Why is your countenance sad. You are not sick therefore it can only be a sorrow of heart.

3 And then I was seized with a great fear, and I said to the king: May God save the king forever. How can my countenance not be sad while the city of the sepulchers of my fathers is in bad condition and its gates are consumed with fire.

4 And the king said to me: What is your request.

5 Then I prayed to the God of heaven, and I said to the king: If it pleases the king, and if your servant have found favor in your sight, I desire that you send me to Jerusalem in Judah, the city of the sepulchers of my fathers, in order to rebuild it.

6 And the queen was sitting near the king, and he said to me: How long will your journey be, and when will you be back.

7 So it pleased the king, and he send me, and I set him a time. Then I said to the king: If it pleases the king, let letters be given to me for the governors who are beyond the river Euphrates, so that they may let me pass through until I come into Judah.

8 And also a letter to Asaph the king's forester, so that he may give me timber to build the gates of the palace near the house of Yahweh, and the wall of the city, and my own house where I will dwell.

9 And king gave me these letters, according to the good hand of my God that was on me. And I went to the governors on the other side of the river Euphrates, and gave them the king's letters. And the king had sent some captains of the army and horsemen with me.

10 And when Sanballat the Horonite and Tobiah an Ammonite servant heard it, they were exceedingly grieved by the fact that a man had come to seek the prosperity of the children of Israel.

11 So I came to Jerusalem and stayed there three days.

12 And then I got up during the night, I and a small number of men with me, without telling anyone what my God had put in my heart to do for Jerusalem. And there was no beast of burden with me, except my own the beast on which I rode.

13 And I went out by night through the gate of the valley, and I came before the well of the dragon and at the gate of dung. And I looked at the wall of Jerusalem and saw how they were broken down, and how its gates were consumed with fire.

14 Then I went to the gate of the fountain, and to the king's pool. But there was no place for my horse to pass.

15 Then I went up by night by the brook, and looked again at the wall. Then I went back by the gate of the valley, and so I returned.

16 And the rulers did not know where I had gone nor what I had done. For I had told it neither to the Jews, nor to the priests, nor to the nobles, nor to the rulers, nor to any of those who could enter this matter.

17 Afterward I said to them: You see our misery. Jerusalem is destroyed, and its gates are consumed with fire. Come and let us rebuild the wall of Jerusalem so as not to be ashamed anymore.

18 Then I told them how the good hand of my God had been on me, and what words the king had spoken to me. And they said, 'Let us arise and build'. So they strengthened themselves for their good purpose.

19 And when Sanballat the Horonite heard it, and also Tobiah an Ammonite servant and Geshem the Arabian, they mocked us, and despised us, and said: What are you doing. Are you rebelling against the king.

20 Then I answered them by saying: The God of heaven will grant us success, for we his servants will arise and build. But as for you, you have in Jerusalem no portion, nor right, nor memorial.

Nehemiah 3

1 Then Eliashib the high priest arose with his brothers the priests, and they built the sheep gate. They repaired it and set up its doors. They repaired it to from the tower of Meah to the tower of Hananeel.

2 And the men of Jericho built the section of the wall next to Eliashib, and the next section of the wall was built by Zaccur the son of Imri.

3 And the sons of Hassenaah built the fish gate. And they covered it with timber and set up its doors, and its bolts, and its bars.

4 And the next section of the wall was repaired by Meremoth the son of Uriah the son of Hakkoz. And the next section of the wall was repaired by Meshullam the son of Berechiah the son of Meshezabel. And the next section of the wall was repaired by Zadok the son of Baana.

5 And the next section of the wall was repaired by the men from Tekoa, but the nobles of Tekoa refused to work for their leader Nehemiah.

6 And Joiada the son of Paseah and Meshullam the son of Besodeiah repaired the old gate. And they covered it with timber and set up its doors, and its bolts, and its bars.

7 And the next section of the wall was repaired by Melatiah the Gibeonite, and Jadon the Meronothite, and men of Gibeon, and men of Mizpah which belonged to the throne of the governor who is beyond the river.

8 And the next section of the wall was repaired by Uzziel the son of Harhaiah one of the goldsmiths. And the next section of the wall was repaired by Hananiah one of the perfumers. And they fortified Jerusalem as far as the broad wall.

9 And the next section of the wall was repaired by Rephaiah the son of Hur, the ruler of a half of the district of Jerusalem.

10 And the next section of the wall was repaired by Jedaiah the son of Harumaph, opposite his house. And the next section of the wall was repaired by Hattush the son of Hashabneiah.

11 Malchijah the son of Harim and Hasshub the son of Pahath-moab repaired another part of the wall, and the tower of the furnaces.

12 And the next section of the wall was repaired by Shallum the son of Hallohesh, the ruler of a half of the district of Jerusalem, he and his daughters.

13 And Hanun and the inhabitants of Zanoah repaired the gate of the valley. They built it, and set up its doors, and its bolts, and its bars. They made a thousand cubits of wall as far as to the gate of dung.

14 And Malchijah the son of Rechab, the ruler of the district of Beth-haccherem, repaired the gate of dung. He built it, and set up its doors, and its bolts, and its bars.

15 And Shallum the son of Col-hozeh, the ruler of the district of Mizpah, repaired the gate of the fountain. He built it, and covered it, and set up its doors, and its bolts, and its bars. He also made the wall of the pool of Shelah which is near the king's garden, as far as to the steps that go down from the city of David.

16 And next to him there was Nehemiah the son of Azbuk, the ruler of a half of the district of Beth-zur, who repaired the wall as far as the place opposite the sepulchers [of the sons] of David, as far as the pool that was built, and as far as the house of heroes.

17 And the next section of the wall was repaired by Rehum the son of Bani and other Levites. And the next section of the wall was repaired by Hashabiah the ruler of a half of the district of Keilah, for his district.

18 And the next section of the wall was repaired by their brothers. And the leader was Bavvai the son of Henadad, the ruler of a half of the district of Keilah.

19 And Ezer the son of Jeshua, the ruler of Mizpah, repaired another section of the wall opposite the ascent to the corner of the armory.

20 And Baruch the son of Zabbai repaired diligently another section of the wall, from the corner to the door of the house of Eliashib the high priest.

21 And Meremoth the son of Uriah the son of Hakkoz repaired another section from the gate of the house of Eliashib to the end of the house of Eliashib.

23 And Benjamin and Hasshub repaired the section of the wall opposite their house. And Azariah the son of Maaseiah the son of Ananiah repaired the section of the wall near his house.

24 And the next section of the wall was repaired by Binnui the son of Henadad, from the house of Azariah to the turning of the wall and to the corner.

25 And the next section of the wall was repaired by Palal the son of Uzai, from the turning of the wall to the high tower which is near the king's house, near the court of the prison. And the next section of the wall was repaired by Pedaiah the son of Parosh.

26 And the Nethinim dwelt in Ophel, and repaired the wall as far as opposite the water gate on the east, and to the tower that stand there.

28 And the priests repaired the wall above the gate of horse, each one in front of his house.

29 And Zadok the son of Immer repaired the section of the wall in front of his house. And the next section of the wall was repaired by Shemaiah the son of Shecaniah, the keeper of the east gate.

30 And the next section of the wall was repaired by Hananiah the son of Shelemiah and Hanun the sixth son of Zalaph. And Meshullam the son of Berechiah repaired the section of the wall in front of his house.

31 And the next section of the wall was repaired by Malchijah one of the goldsmiths, and he worked as far as the house of the Nethinims, and of the merchants, opposite the gate of Miphkad, and as far as the house of the corner of the wall.

32 And the goldsmiths and the merchants repaired the section of the wall between the house of the corner and the sheep gate.

Nehemiah 4

1 But when Sanballat heard that we were rebuilding the wall, he was angry and very grieved, and he mocked the Jews.

2 And he spoke before his brothers and before the army of Samaria, and said: What are these weak Jews doing. Will they be allowed to do it. Will they offer sacrifices [to celebrate the end of this work]. Will they finish building in one day. Will they revive the stones out of the heaps of rubbish, seeing that they are burned.

3 And Tobiah the Ammonite was near him, and he said: Although they build, their work will be of poor quality because a fox climbing on it would be enough to collapse their stone wall.

4 And I prayed and said: O our God, hear how we are despised. Return their insults on their own heads, and make them shameful prey in a land of captivity.

5 Do not forgive their iniquity, and do not let their sin be blotted out from before you. For they have insulted and discouraged the builders.

6 So we rebuilt the wall, and it was completed to half its height, and the people were eager to do a good work.

7 And when our enemies had heard that the walls of Jerusalem were repaired, when the breaches began to be stopped, they were very angry. They were Sanballat, and Tobiah, and the Arabians, and the Ammonites, and the Ashdodites.

8 And they conspired all together to come and attack Jerusalem and to do it harm.

9 Then we prayed to our God, and we set up a watch day and night to defend ourselves against their attacks.

10 And [the representatives of the Jews of] Judah said: The strength of the bearers of burdens is weakened, and the ruins are great. We will not be able to complete the wall.

11 And our enemies had said: They will not know nor see, until we come among them and kill them, and thus cause their work to cease.

12 But the Jews living among our enemies came to us ten times, and they informed us of all the places from where the enemy planned to attack us.

13 Therefore I placed some of the people behind the lowest parts of the wall, and near the holes. I placed them by families and they had their swords, and their spears, and their bows.

14 And I looked, and stood to speak to the nobles, and to the rulers, and to the remaining of the people. And I said: Do not be afraid of them, for you must remember the Lord who is great and terrible. Fight for your brothers, and for your sons, and for your daughters, and for your wives, and for your houses.

15 And when our enemies heard that we had been warned of how they were going to proceed, then God brought their counsel to nought. So we all started building the wall again, each was doing his work.

16 But from that day on, half of the men did the labor while the other half were armed with spears, and with shields, and with bows, and with coats of mail. And the rulers stood behind all the house of Judah.

17 And concerning the builders of the wall and those who carried burdens, each worked with one hand and held a sword with the other.

18 For each of them had his sword girded on his waist while working. And the one appointed to sound the trumpet stood near me.

19 And I said to the nobles, and to the rulers, and to the remaining of the people: The work is great and extensive, and we are scattered along the wall, one far from another.

20 Therefore if you hear the sound of the trumpet, then you will gather to us at the place from which the sound that you heard will have been emitted. And our God will fight for us.

21 So we did the work, and half of the men were holding the spears from the rising of the morning until the stars appeared.

22 At that time I said to the people: Let each one spend the night in Jerusalem with his servant. And thus we will keep watch by night, and we will work by day.

23 So we did not take off our clothes, neither I nor my brothers, nor my servants, nor the guard who followed me. Except that each one took them off when he washed himself.

Nehemiah 5

1 Afterward there arose a great complaint from the people and their wives against their brothers the Jews.

2 For some said: We with our sons and our daughters are many. Therefore we must take more grain for us in order to eat and live.

3 And others said: We are mortgaging our fields, and our vineyards, and our houses, in order to have grain in this time of famine.

4 And others said: We have borrowed money on our fields and vineyards for the king's tribute.

5 And now our flesh is like the flesh of our brothers, and our children like their children. And lo, we will have to bring our sons and our daughters into bondage by making them servants, and some of our daughters are already brought into bondage. And we are powerless, because our fields and our vineyards belong to others.

6 And I was very angry when I heard those words of their complaints.

7 And I resolved to rebuke the nobles and the rulers, and I said to them: You lend at interest to your brothers.

8 And I gathered a great crowd around them, and I said to them: According to our ability, we have redeemed our brothers the Jews who were sold to the nations. And you, how can you sell your brothers [to one another]. Should they become our servants.

9 Then they held their peace, finding nothing to answer. And I said: What you are doing is not good. Should you not walk in the fear of our God in order to avoid the insults from our enemies who are the nations.

10 For I, and my brothers and my servants, we have also lent them money and grain. And now let us abandon what they owe us, I pray you.

11 I pray you to restore to them this day their fields, and their vineyards, and their oliveyards, and their houses. And also the hundredth part of the money, and of the corn, and of the wine, and of the oil, which you exacted from them as interest.

12 And they answered: We will restore it and we will not demand anything from them. We will do as you have said.

13 Then I called the priests, and made them swear before the priests that they would do according to this promise. And I also shook my lap, and said: May God shake thus out of his house and out of his work each person who will not fulfill this promise. May he be shaken out thus and emptied.

14 And all the assembly said 'Amen', and they praised Yahweh. And the people did according to this promise. It must be known that since the day that the king made me governor over them in the land of Judah, from the twentieth year to the thirty second year of king Artaxerxes, a period of twelve years, neither I nor my brothers have eaten of the governor's remuneration [that is to say, what the people had a duty to give to the governor].

15 For the former governors who were before me had oppressed the people. The governors had taken from them bread and wine, besides forty shekels of silver. And the leaders under those governors had also oppressed the people. But I have not done so, because of the fear of God.

16 Moreover, I have worked on repairing this wall with all my servants, and we have not taken any land from anyone.

17 And I usually had one hundred and fifty men of the Jews of Judah at my table, besides those who came to us from the surrounding nations.

18 And it was prepared for me every day an ox, and six chosen sheep, and birds. And every ten days it was prepared in abundance all kinds of wine. Yet I have not requested the salary of the governor for all this, because the bondage was heavy on this people.

19 Remember me for the good deeds, O my God, according to all that I have done for this people.

Nehemiah 6

1 And Sanballat, and Tobiah, and Geshem the Arabian, and the remaining of our enemies, they heard that I had rebuilt the wall and that there was no breach left in it. At that time I had not yet put the doors in the gates.

2 Then Sanballat and Geshem planned to do me harm, and sent messengers to me to say: Come, and let us meet together in one of the villages of the valley of Ono.

3 And I sent messengers to them with this answer: I have a great work to do, and I cannot come down. Why should I interrupt the work for the sole purpose of coming down and meeting you.

4 And they sent me the same request four times, and I gave them the same answer.

5 And when Sanballat sent me his servant for the fifth time, there was an open letter in his hand.

6 And it contained the following words: It is reported among the nations, and Gashmu has confirmed it, that you and the Jews are thinking of rebelling. It is said that you have build the wall for this purpose, and that you are going to become their king.

7 And it is also said that you have appointed prophets to preach about yourself in Jerusalem and to say, 'There is a king in Judah'. And now these words will be brought to the knowledge of the king of Persia. Come now therefore, and let us take counsel together.

8 Then I sent to Sanballat by saying: What you are saying is not true. You have invented it.

9 Strengthen me now, O God. For they just want to scare us, and they have said to themselves: Their hands will be weakened in the work, and it will not be done.

10 Then I went to the house of Shemaiah the son of Delaiah the son of Mehetabel. He had shut himself in, and he said: Let us go together into the house of God, inside the holy place of the temple, and let us shut the doors of the temple, because they will come to kill you. Yes, it is in the night that they will come to kill you.

11 But I answered to Shemaiah: Should a man like me run away. And an ordinary Jew like me cannot enter the holy place of the temple without being guilty before Yahweh [since I am not from the Levi tribe]. I will not go there.

12 And lo, I knew that God had not sent him and that he had announced this prophecy against me because Sanballat and Tobiah had hired him.

13 So they had hired him in order to make me afraid, in the hope that I would follow his advice and commit a sin. And thus they could have done an evil report to shame me.

14 My God, remember Tobiah and Sanballat according to their works. And remember also Noadiah the prophetess [the woman prophet], and the other prophets who tried to scare me.

15 And the wall [of Jerusalem] was completed on the twenty fifth day of the month of Elul, and the work had been done in fifty two days. [Now this may only be the duration of the work, which does not include all the time for preparing and transporting materials to the construction site.]

16 And when all our enemies heard of it, namely all the nations that were around us, they were afraid and they had no more courage to seek to hurt us. For they knew that this work had been accomplished by our God.

17 And in those days there were many of the nobles of Judah who wrote letters to Tobiah and received letters from him.

18 For many people in Judah were bonded to him by an oath, because he was the son in law of Shecaniah the son of Arah, and his son Jehohanan had married the daughter of Meshullam the son of Berechiah.

19 They also spoke of his good deeds before me, and they reported my words to him. And Tobiah sent letters to scare me.

Nehemiah 7

1 So the wall [of Jerusalem] was rebuilt and I did put the doors in the gates. And we appointed the gatekeepers, and the singers, and the Levites.

2 Then I gave orders to Hanani my brother, and to Hananiah the commander of the palace of Jerusalem. For Hananiah was a faithful man, and he feared God more than many others.

3 And I said to them: Let not the gates of Jerusalem be opened until the heat of the sun. And during opening hours, let them shut the doors and put the bars when there is no need to open. And appoint guards among the inhabitants of Jerusalem, some to stand at strategic places and others to stand each in front of his house.

4 Now the city was large and great, but it was sparsely populated, and the houses had not yet been built [just a few].

5 And my God put into my heart to gather together the nobles, and the rulers, and the people, to establish their genealogies. And I found a register of the genealogies of those who had come up first [from the captivity], and the following thing was written in it.

6 These are the sons of the province who returned from the captivity, where Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon had carried away the captives. They returned to Jerusalem and Judah, each one to his city.

7 Those who came with Zerubbabel: Jeshua, and Nehemiah, and Azariah, and Raamiah, and Nahamani, and Mordecai, and Bilshan, and Mispereth, and Bigvai, and Nehum, and Baanah.

8 And now this is the number of the men of the people of Israel. The sons of Parosh, two thousand and one hundred and seventy two.

9 The sons of Shephatiah, three hundred and seventy two.

10 The sons of Arah, six hundred and fifty two.

11 The sons of Pahath-moab, of the sons of Jeshua and Joab, two thousand and eight hundred and eighteen.

12 The sons of Elam, one thousand and two hundred and fifty four.

13 The sons of Zattu, eight hundred and forty five.

14 The sons of Zacchai, seven hundred and sixty.

15 The sons of Binnui, six hundred and forty eight.

16 The sons of Bebai, six hundred and twenty eight.

17 The sons of Azgad, two thousand and three hundred and twenty two.

18 The sons of Adonikam, six hundred and sixty seven.

19 The sons of Bigvai, two thousand and sixty seven.

20 The sons of Adin, six hundred and fifty five.

22 The sons of Hashum, three hundred and twenty eight.

23 The sons of Bezai, three hundred and twenty four.

25 The sons of Gibeon, ninety five.

28 The men of Beth-azmaveth, forty two.

29 The men of Kiriath-jearim, and Chephirah, and Beeroth, seven hundred and forty three.

30 The men of Ramah and Geba, six hundred and twenty one.

33 The men of the other Nebo, fifty two.

34 The sons of the other Elam, one thousand and two hundred and fifty four.

35 The sons of Harim, three hundred and twenty.

36 The sons of Jericho, three hundred and forty five.

37 The sons of Lod, and Hadid, and Ono, seven hundred and twenty one.

38 The sons of Senaah, three thousand and nine hundred and thirty.

39 The priests: the sons of Jedaiah, of the house of Jeshua, nine hundred and seventy three.

42 The sons of Harim, one thousand and seventeen.

43 The Levites: the sons of Jeshua, of Kadmiel through the house of Hodevah, seventy four.

45 The sons of the gatekeepers [of the temple of Yahweh]: the sons of Shallum, and the sons of Ater, and the sons of Talmon, and the sons of Akkub, and the sons of Hatita, and the sons of Shobai. All were one hundred and thirty eight.

46 The Nethinim (who had a special function in the temple): the sons of Ziha, the sons of Hasupha, the sons of Tabbaoth.

47 The sons of Keros, the sons of Sia, the sons of Padon.

49 The sons of Hanan, the sons of Giddel, the sons of Gahar.

50 The sons of Reaiah, the sons of Rezin, the sons of Nekoda.

51 The sons of Gazzam, the sons of Uzza, the sons of Paseah.

52 The sons of Besai, the sons of Meunim, the sons of Nephishesim.

53 The sons of Bakbuk, the sons of Hakupha, the sons of Harhur.

55 The sons of Barkos, the sons of Sisera, the sons of Temah.

56 The sons of Neziah, the sons of Hatipha.

57 The sons of Solomon's servants: the sons of Sotai, the sons of Sophereth, the sons of Perida.

58 The sons of Jaala, the sons of Darkon, the sons of Giddel.

59 The sons of Shephatiah, the sons of Hattil, the sons of Pochereth-hazzebaim, the sons of Amon.

60 All the Nethinim and the sons of Solomon's servants were three hundred and ninety two.

61 And now these are those who went from Tel-melah, and Tel-harsha, and Cherub, and Addon, and Immer, and who could not make known their genealogies and their tribes, to prove that they were of Israel.

62 The descendants of Delaiah, and the descendants of Tobiah, and the descendants of Nekoda, six hundred and forty two.

63 And there were also some among the priests who could not prove their belonging to the family of the priests [for Aaron the brother of Moses was the first priest, and it is only a male child of a priest who is a priest]. There were the sons of Habaiah, and the sons of Hakkoz, and the sons of Barzillai [whoever had married one of the daughters of Barzillai the Gileadite was called by their names and therefore designated as being a descendant of Barzillai].

64 These men sought their references in the genealogical records, but they were not found. Therefore these men were put out of the priesthood.

65 And the governor commanded them that they should not eat of the most holy things until a priest had consulted with Urim and Thummim.

66 And the whole congregation was made of forty two thousand and three hundred and sixty men.

67 Besides their men-servants and their maid-servants who were seven thousand and three hundred and thirty seven. And there were also two hundred and forty five singers, both men and women.

68 And they had seven hundred and thirty six horses, and two hundred and forty five mules.

69 And four hundred and thirty five camels, and six thousand and seven hundred and twenty donkeys.

70 And some of the chiefs of the fathers' houses gave gifts for the work [of the house of God]. The governor gave to the treasury one thousand darics of gold, and fifty cups, and five hundred and thirty garments of priests.

71 And some of the chiefs of the fathers' houses gave to the treasury of the work twenty thousand darics of gold, and two thousand and two hundred pieces of silver.

72 And the remaining of the people gave twenty thousand darics of gold, and two thousand pieces of silver, and sixty seven garments of priests.

73 And the priests, and the Levites, and the gatekeepers, and the singers, and the Nethinians, they dwelt in their own cities, and all Israel dwelt in their own cities. And the seventh month came, and the children of Israel were in their cities.

Nehemiah 8

1 Then all the people gathered together in the street that was before the water gate. And they spoke to Ezra so that he might bring the book of the law of Moses which Yahweh had commanded to Israel.

2 And Ezra the priest brought the law before the assembly made up of all those who were able to hear it, both men and women. It was on the first day of the seventh month.

3 And Ezra [with his assistants] did read in the book from the morning until the middle of the day, in the street that was before the water gate. There was all those who were able to hear it, both men and women, and all the people gave attention to the reading of the book of the law.

4 And Ezra the scribe stood on a pulpit of wood that they had made for this occasion. And beside him, on his right hand, there were Mattithiah, and Shema, and Anaiah, and Uriah, and Hilkiah, and Maaseiah. And on his left hand there were Pedaiah, and Mishael, and Malchijah, and Hashum, and Hashbaddanah, and Zechariah, and Meshullam.

5 And Ezra opened the book in the sight of all the people, for he was above all the people. And when he opened it, all the people stood up and did not move.

6 And Ezra blessed Yahweh the great God. And all the people raised their hands and answered, Amen, amen. And they bowed themselves and worshiped Yahweh with their face against the ground.

7 And there were some of the Levites who explained the law to the people while the people were standing each one at his place. Those Levites were Jeshua, and Bani, and Sherebiah, and Jamin, and Akkub, and Shabbethai, and Hodiah, and Maaseiah, and Kelita, And Azariah, and Jozabad, and Hanan, and Pelaiah.

8 They distinctly read in the book of the law of God, and they gave the meaning to clarify what they had read. [Each of them read a part of the book]

9 Then Nehemiah the governor, and Ezra the priest and scribe, and the Levites who taught the people, they spoke to all the people and said: This day is holy to Yahweh your God. Do not be sad and do not weep.

10 For all the people were weeping when they heard the words of the law. And they said to the people: Go and eat good food, and drink soft liqueurs, and send portions to those who have nothing prepared, because this day is holy to our Lord. Do not afflict yourself, because the joy of Yahweh is your strength.

11 And the Levites calmed the people in every part of the crowd by saying: Hold your peace, because this day is holy. Do not afflict yourself.

12 And all the people went their way in order to eat and drink, and to send portions, and to rejoice. For they had understood the words that had been explained to them.

13 And on the second day, the chiefs of the fathers' houses of all the people assembled to Ezra the scribe, with the priests and the Levites, in order to hear more explanations from Ezra concerning the words of the law.

14 And they found written in the law, which Yahweh had commanded by Moses, that the children of Israel should dwell in tents during the feast of the seventh month.

15 And [they understood] that they should make this proclamation in all their cities and in Jerusalem: Go in the mountain and bring olive branches, and wild olive branches, and myrtle branches, and palm branches, and branches of thick trees, in order to make booths as it is written.

16 So the people went to look for tree branches and they made booths, each one on the roof of his houses, in their yards, and in the courtyards of the house of God, and in the street near the water gate, and in the street of the gate of Ephraim.

17 And the whole assembly of those who had returned from the captivity made booths, and sat under the booths. And there was very great gladness, because the children of Israel had not done so [all together] since the days of Joshua the son of Nun until that day.

18 And Ezra did read in the book of the law of God every day, from the first day until the last day, and they celebrated the feast for seven days. And there was a solemn assembly on the eighth day, according to the manner [that is to say, the ordinance of the law].

Nehemiah 9

1 On the twenty fourth day of that same month, the children of Israel assembled to make a fasting, wearing sackcloth and dust on their bodies.

2 Those who were of the seed of Israel had separated themselves from all the foreigners, and they stood and confessed their sins and the iniquities of their fathers.

3 And the book of the law of Yahweh their God was read before them for a quarter of the day, and they confessed their sins and worshiped Yahweh their God during another quarter.

4 Then Jeshua, and Bani, and Kadmiel, and Shebaniah, and Bunni, and Sherebiah, and Bani, and Chenani, they stood up on the platform of the Levites and cried with a loud voice to Yahweh their God.

5 And the Levites, namely Jeshua and Kadmiel, and Bani, and Hashabneiah, and Sherebiah, and Hodiah, and Shebaniah, and Pethahiah, they spoke and said: Stand up, and praise Yahweh your God who is alive for ever and ever. Blessed be your glorious name, which is exalted above all blessing and praise.

6 You are Yahweh, you alone. You have made the heaven, and the heaven of heavens with all their army, and the earth and all that is on it, and the seas and all that is in them. And you give life to everything, and the army of the heaven worships you.

7 You are Yahweh, the God who has chosen Abram. And you brought him out of Ur of the Chaldees, and gave him the name Abraham.

8 You found his heart faithful before you, and you made a covenant with him. You promised to give to his seed the land of the Canaanites, and of the Hittites, and of the Amorites, and of the Perizzites, and of the Jebusites, and of the Girgashites. And you have performed your word, because you are righteous.

9 You saw the affliction of our fathers in Egypt, and you heard their cry near the red sea.

10 You performed signs and wonders on Pharaoh, and on all his servants, and on all the people of his land. For you knew that those Egyptians acted arrogantly, and therefore you used them to establish your name as it appears today. [You are Yahweh who brought us out of the severe servitude maintained by those Egyptians]

11 For you divided the sea before our fathers, and they went through the middle of the sea on dry ground. But you cast those who pursued them into the sea, like a heavy stone sank into water.

12 And you led our fathers with a pillar of clouds during the day, and with a pillar of fire at night to give them light on the path that they had to take.

13 You came down also on mount Sinai, and spoke to them from heaven, and you gave them righteous judgments and true laws, good statutes and commandments.

14 You made known to them your holy sabbath, and you gave them precepts and statutes and laws by the hand of Moses your servant.

15 And you gave them bread from heaven when they were hungry, and you brought water out of the rock when they were thirsty. And you told them to go and take possession of the land that you had sworn to give them.

16 But our fathers were arrogant toward you in their response to this order, and they stiffened their necks so as not to listen to you.

17 For they refused to obey, and they forgot the wonderful works that you had done for them. And they hardened their necks, and in their rebellion they appointed a leader to return to their bondage in the land of Egypt. But you are a God ready to forgive, compassionate and merciful, slow to anger and rich in tenderness, and therefore you did not forsake them [you could have destroyed them and kept Moses alone in the same way that Noah had been kept alone with seven people at his time, but you chose to allow their children to carry the memory of the good deeds that their fathers had done before their transgressions].

18 And when they made for themselves [to worship it] a molten calf and said: O Israel, here is your God who brought you out of the land of Egypt.

19 They had grievously insulted you by this action, but it is because of your great mercy that you had not forsaken them in the wilderness. For the pillar of cloud did not cease to guide them during the day, and there was always the pillar of fire at night to give them light on the path that they had to take.

20 And you gave them your good spirit to make them wise [some of them, and among the men of war there were Caleb the son of Jephunneh the Kenizzite and Joshua the son of Nun]. And you did not withhold your manna from their mouth, and you gave them water for their thirst.

21 And you fed them during forty years in the wilderness, and they lacked nothing. Their clothes had not been damaged, and their feet did not swell.

22 You gave them kingdoms and peoples, and also other lands which were not included in the promise. And they possessed the land of Sihon king of Heshbon and the land of Og king of Bashan.

23 And you multiplied their children like the stars of the heaven, and you brought them into the land about which you had commanded their fathers to go and possess it [and their fathers had not obeyed this command].

24 So their children went in and possessed the land, and you submitted to them the inhabitants of the land, namely the Canaanites. You gave into their hands the people of the land with their kings, so that they might do whatever they wanted to their enemies.

25 And they took fortified cities and fertile lands, and they possessed houses filled with all kinds of good things, and dug wells, and vineyards, and olive trees, and fruit trees in abundance. And they ate and were satisfied, and they became fat and lived in pleasure through your great goodness.

26 Nevertheless they rose up and rebelled against you. They threw your law behind their backs, and killed your prophets who admonished them to return to you, and they made great provocations against you.

27 Therefore you gave them into the hand of their adversaries to oppress them. And they cried out to you in the time of their distress, and you heard them from the heaven because of your great mercy, and you gave them savior who saved them from the hand of their adversaries.

28 But when they had rest, they started doing wrong again before you. And therefore you gave them again into the hands of their enemies to have dominion over them. And they cried to you again, and you heard them from the heaven. You saved them many times because of your great mercy.

29 You admonished them to return to your law, but they continued in pride and did not listen to your commandments. They sinned against your ordinances, these things that a man should do in order to live because of them [this is true in those days when the exact identity of God is still unknown]. They had a rebellious shoulder, and stiffened their neck, and did not obey.

30 Nevertheless you endured them for many years. And you warned them by your spirit, by the hand of your prophets, but they would not listen. Therefore you gave them into the hand of the peoples of the lands.

31 But in your great mercy you did not destroy them, nor forsake them, for you are a compassionate and merciful God.

32 And now, our God, you are the great God who is mighty and awesome. You keep your covenant and show mercy. Do not consider as a small thing all the sufferings that have happened to us, we, and our kings, and our princes [leaders], and our priests, and our prophets, and our fathers, and all your people, from the days of the kings of Assyria until this day.

33 Surely you have been fair in all that has happened to us. For you have been faithful, but we have done wickedly.

34 For your law has not been kept neither by our kings, nor by our princes [leaders], nor by our priests, nor by our fathers. They have not paid attention to your commandments and to your warnings that you gave them [by the hand of your prophets].

35 For they have not served you in their kingdom, in the great and fertile land that you had given them. For you had shown them your great kindness, but they have not turned from their evil deeds.

36 Behold we are servants this day. We are servants in the land that you had given to our fathers so that they might enjoy its fruits and its goodness.

37 And the land yields its good produce for the kings whom you have set over us [namely the kings of Persia], because of our sins. These kings have dominion over our bodies and over our cattle at their pleasure, and we are in a great distress. These kings rule over our bodies and over our cattle according to their pleasure, and we are in a great distress.

38 And we made a covenant on that day because of all these things, and wrote it down. And it has been sealed by our princes [leaders], and our Levites, and our priests.

Nehemiah 10

1 Now these are those who sealed it: Nehemiah the governor, the son of Hacaliah, and Zedekiah.

2 And Seraiah, and Azariah, and Jeremiah.

3 And Pashhur, and Amariah, and Malchijah.

4 And Hattush, and Shebaniah, and Malluch.

5 And Harim, and Meremoth, nd Obadiah.

6 And Daniel, and Ginnethon, and Baruch.

7 And Meshullam, and Abijah, and Mijamin.

8 And Maaziah, and Bilgai, and Shemaiah. These are the priests.

9 And the Levites: Jeshua the son of Azaniah, and Binnui of the sons of Henadad, and Kadmiel.

10 And their brothers Shebaniah, and Hodiah, and Kelita, and Pelaiah, and Hanan.

11 And Micah, and Rehob, and Hashabiah.

12 And Zaccur, and Sherebiah, and Shebaniah.

13 And Hodiah, and Bani, and Beninu.

14 The chiefs of the people: Parosh, and Pahath-moab, and Elam, and Zattu, and Bani.

15 And Bunni, and Azgad, and Bebai.

16 And Adonijah, and Bigvai, and Adin.

17 And Ater, and Hezekiah, and Azzur.

18 And Hodiah, and Hashum, and Bezai.

19 And Hariph, and Anathoth, and Nobai.

20 And Magpiash, and Meshullam, and Hezir.

21 And Meshezabel, and Zadok, and Jaddua.

22 And Pelatiah, and Hanan, and Anaiah.

23 And Hoshea, and Hananiah, and Hasshub.

24 And Hallohesh, and Pilha, and Shobek.

25 And Rehum, and Hashabnah, and Maaseiah.

26 And Ahiah, and Hanan, and Anan.

27 And Malluch, and Harim, and Baanah.

28 And after that, there arose the remaining of the people. The [other] the priests, and the [other] Levites, and the gatekeepers, and the singers, and the Nethinim, and all those who had separated themselves from the foreign peoples in order to follow the law of God, and their wives, and their sons, and their daughters, all those who were able to understand the law.

29 And they joined their brothers and their leader, and entered the curse and the oath. And they promised to walk in the law of God given by Moses the servant of God, to observe and to do all the commandments of Yahweh our Lord, and his judgments and his statutes.

30 And we promised not to give our daughters to the peoples of the land, and not to take their daughters for our sons.

31 And we promised that if the peoples of the lands brought wares or any food on the sabbath to sell, then we would not buy anything from them on the sabbath and also on the other holy days. And that we would apply the law concerning each seventh year, by not claiming any debt from our brothers.

32 And we also made a new ordinances for ourselves, to give one third of a shekel each year for the service of the house of our God.

33 It was to be used for the showbreads, and for the daily meal offering, and for the daily burnt offering, and for the offerings of the sabbaths, and of the new moons [the beginnings of the months], and of the feasts established by the law. And also for holy things [the renovations of the utensils of the temple], and for the sin offerings to make an atonement for Israel [whenever an involuntary transgression of the whole people is observed], and for all the work of the house of our God.

34 And we cast lots, the priests, and the Levites, and the people, for the offerings of the wood. For we had decided to bring wood each year into the house of our God, according to our fathers' houses and at the times that we appointed for each of them, so that there is always wood available to be burned on the altar [in order to do the offerings] as it is written.

35 And we promised to bring every year to the house of Yahweh the firstfruits of our land, and the firstfruits of all the fruit of all the trees.

36 And we promised to bring to the house of our God, to the priests who minister in the house of our God, the firstborn of our sons and of our cattle as it is written in the law, and the firstborn of our herds and of our flocks.

37 And we promised to bring to the priests other things which were to be put into the store rooms of the house of our God. The firstfruits of our dough, and our [freewill] offerings, and the fruit of all trees, of the new wine and of the oil. And also to give the tithes of our land to the Levites, and they were to collect it in all the towns where we work.

38 And the priest the son of Aaron [who is designated for a particular area] will be with the Levites when the Levites take the tithes. And the Levites will bring the tithe of the tithe [the tenth part of the tithes] into the house of our God, into the rooms set apart to be treasure-house.

39 For the children of Israel and the children of Levi will bring into those rooms the offerings of the grain, and of the new wine, and of the oil. And there will be the utensils of the sanctuary, and the priests who minister, and the gatekeepers, and the singers. And thus we will not forsake the house of our God.

1 And the leaders of the people dwelt in Jerusalem. And the remaining of the people cast lots in order to bring one out of ten to dwell in Jerusalem the holy city, and to make nine out of ten live in other cities.

2 And the people blessed all those who voluntarily consented to dwell in Jerusalem.

3 Now these are the leaders of the province who dwelt in Jerusalem. At that time each of the remaining of the people had received his own possession in all the other cities of Judah, namely Israel, and priests, and Levites, and the Nethinim, and the sons of the servants of Solomon.

4 And some of the sons [descendants] of Judah and of the sons of Benjamin dwelt in Jerusalem. Of the sons of Judah: Athaiah the son of Uzziah, the son of Zechariah, the son of Amariah, the son of Shephatiah, the son of Mahalalel, of the sons of Perez.

5 And Maaseiah the son of Baruch, the son of Col-hozeh, the son of Hazaiah, the son of Adaiah, the son of Joiarib, the son of Zechariah, the son of the Shilonite.

6 All the sons of Perez who dwelt in Jerusalem were four hundred and sixty eight valiant men.

7 And these are the sons of Benjamin: Sallu the son of Meshullam, the son of Joed, the son of Pedaiah, the son of Kolaiah, the son of Maaseiah, the son of Ithiel, the son of Jeshaiah.

8 And after him there were Gabbai, and Sallai, and others, nine hundred and twenty eight men.

9 And Joel the son of Zichri was their leader, and Judah the son of Hassenuah was the second chief over the city.

10 And of the classes of priests [according to a classification that had been made at the time of David]: Jedaiah, and Joiarib, and Jachin.

11 Seraiah the son [a descendant] of Hilkiah, the son of Meshullam, the son of Zadok, the son of Meraioth, the son of Ahitub who had been the chief of the house of God.

12 And their brothers of other priestly families, for the service of the house [of God], eight hundred and twenty two men. And Adaiah the son [descendant] of Jeroham, the son of Pelaliah, the son of Amzi, the son of Zechariah, the son of Pashhur, the son of Malchijah.

13 And his brothers the chiefs of the fathers' houses, two hundred and forty two men. And Amashsai the son of Azarel, the son of Ahzai, the son of Meshillemoth, the son of Immer.

14 And their brothers, valiant men, one hundred and twenty eight men. And Zabdiel the son of Haggedolim was their leader.

15 And of the Levites: Shemaiah the son of Hasshub, the son of Azrikam, the son of Hashabiah, the son of Bunni.

16 And Shabbethai and Jozabad were of the chiefs of the Levites and were in control of the external works of the house of God.

17 And Mattaniah the son of Mica, the son of Zabdi, the son [descendant] of Asaph. Mattaniah was the chief in order to lead the songs of praise and prayers. And Bakbukiah the second among his brothers. And Abda the son of Shammua, the son of Galal, the son of Jeduthun.

18 All the levites in the holy city were two hundred and eighty four.

19 And the gatekeepers: Akkub, and Talmon, and their brothers who watched and guarded the gates, one hundred and seventy two.

20 And the remaining of Israel, and of the priests, and of the Levites, they dwelt in all the cities of Judah, each one in what had become his inheritance.

21 And the Nethinim dwelt on the hill of Ophel, and Ziha and Gishpa were over the Nethinim [their chiefs].

22 And the leader of the Levites in Jerusalem was Uzzi the son of Bani, the son of Hashabiah, the son of Mattaniah, the son Mica, of the sons [descendants] of Asaph. The descendants of Asaph were the singers for all the works of the house of God.

23 And there was a commandment of the king [of Persia] concerning them, that a certain portion should be given to the singers, for every day.

24 And Pethahiah the son of Meshezabel, of the sons of Zerah the son of Judah, was appointed by the king of Persia for all matters concerning the people.

25 And some of the children of Judah dwelt in the following towns and in their fields: Kiriath-arba and its villages, and Dibon and its villages, and Jekabzeel and its villages.

26 And Jeshua, and Moladah, and Beth-pelet.

27 And Hazar-shual, and Beersheba and its villages.

28 And Ziklag, and Meconah and its villages.

29 And En-rimmon, and Zorah, and Jarmuth.

30 And Zanoah, and Adullam, and their villages, and Lachish and its villages, and Azekah and its villages. So they dwelt from Beersheba to the valley of Hinnom.

31 And the sons of Benjamin dwelt from Geba, in Michmash, and in Aija, and in Bethel, and in their villages.

32 And in Anathoth, and in Nob, and in Ananiah.

33 And in Hazor, and in Ramah, and in Gittaim.

34 And in Hadid, and in Zeboim, and in Neballat.

35 And in Lod, and in Ono, and in the valley of craftsmen.

36 And there were the divisions of the Levites in Judah and in Benjamin.

Nehemiah 12

1 Now these are the priests [the names of the priests' families] and the Levites who returned with Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel and with Jeshua: Seraiah, and Jeremiah, and Ezra.

2 And Amariah, and Malluch, and Hattush.

3 And Shecaniah, and Rehum, and Meremoth.

4 And Iddo, and Ginnethoi, and Abijah.

5 And Mijamin, and Maadiah, and Bilgah.

6 And Shemaiah, and Joiarib, and Jedaiah.

7 And Sallu, and Amok, and Hilkiah, and Jedaiah. These were the chiefs of the priests and of their brothers in the days of Jeshua [the names of the main ancient families according to which the priests were identified.

8 And the Levites: Jeshua, and Binnui, and Kadmiel, and Sherebiah, and Judah, and Mattaniah who led the songs of praise and prayers, he and his brothers.

9 And their brothers Bakbukiah and Unno stood near them whenever they served.

11 And Joiada begat Jonathan, and Jonathan begat Jaddua.

12 And these were the chiefs in the priests' families in the days of Joiakim: Meraiah for Seraiah. Hananiah for Jeremiah.

13 Meshullam for Ezra. Jehohanan for Amariah.

14 Jonathan for Malluchi. Joseph for Shebaniah.

15 Adna for Harim. Helkai for Meraioth.

16 Zechariah for Iddo. Meshullam for Ginnethon.

18 Shammua for Bilgah. Jehonathan for Shemaiah.

19 Mattenai for Joiarib. And Uzzi for Jedaiah.

21 Hashabiah for Hilkiah. Nethanel for Jedaiah.

22 In the days of Eliashib, and of Joiada, and of Johanan, and of Jaddua, the names of the leaders of the families of the Levites and the priests were written down during the reign of Darius the Persian.

23 And the chiefs of the fathers' houses of the sons of Levi were written in the book of the Chronicles until the days of Johanan the son of Eliashib.

24 And the chiefs of the Levites were Hashabiah, and Sherebiah, and Jeshua, and Binnui, and Kadmiel, and their brothers stood across from them to praise and to give thanks according to the commandment of David the man of God.

25 And the [chiefs of the] gatekeepers who watched the thresholds of the gates were Mattaniah [another with the same name], and Bakbukiah, and Obadiah, and Meshullam, and Talmon, and Akkub.

26 They served in the days of Joiakim the son of Jeshua the son of Jozadak, and in the days of Nehemiah the governor, and of Ezra the priest and scribe.

27 And when the walls of Jerusalem were dedicated, they called the Levites from all their places and brought them to Jerusalem. And all the people joyfully celebrated the dedication with thanksgivings and songs, with cymbals and psalteries and harps.

29 And from Beth-gilgal, and from the region of Geba and Azmaveth. For the singers had built villages all around Jerusalem.

30 And the priests and the Levites purified themselves, and they purified the people, and the gates, and the wall.

31 And I brought up the princes [leaders] of Judah to the wall, and appointed two great companies to give thanks, and one of them went on the right hand of the wall toward the gate of dung.

32 And they were followed by Hoshaiah, and half of the princes [leaders] of Judah.

33 And also Azariah, and Ezra, and Meshullam.

34 And Judah, and Benjamin, and Shemaiah, and Jeremiah.

35 And there were also some of the sons of the priests with trumpets. Zechariah the son of Jonathan, the son [descendant] of Shemaiah, the son of Mattaniah, the son of Micaiah, the son of Zaccur, the son of Asaph.

36 And his brothers Shemaiah, and Azarel, and Milalai, and Gilalai, and Maai, and Nethanel, and Judah, and Hanani, with the musical instruments of David the man of God. And Ezra the scribe went before them.

37 And at the fountain gate which was opposite them, they went up by the stairs of the city of David, at the going up of the wall, above the house of David, to the water gate eastward.

38 The second group of singers went on the opposite side. And I was behind them with the other half of the people on the wall, from beyond the tower of the furnaces to the broad wall.

39 And we went to the gate of Ephraim, and to the old gate, and to the fish gate, and to the tower of Hananel, and the tower of Hammeah, and to the sheep gate. And they stopped at the gate of the guard.

40 Then the two companies of singers went and stood in the house of God (in the courtyards of the temple). And we did likewise, I and the half of the rulers who were with me.

41 And also the priests Eliakim, and Maaseiah, and Miniamin, and Micaiah, and Elioenai, and Zechariah, and Hananiah, with trumpets.

42 And Maaseiah, and Shemaiah, and Eleazar, and Uzzi, and Jehohanan, and Malchijah, and Elam, and Ezer. And the singers sang aloud, and Jezrahiah was their leader.

43 And they offered many sacrifices in that day, and rejoiced. For God had given great joy to the people, and also the women and the children rejoiced. And the joyful shout of Jerusalem was heard far away.

44 And on that day they appointed men to oversee the storerooms for the offerings, the offerings of the firstfruits and the tithes. And their duty was to collect it from the fields of the cities, to obtain the portions required by the law for the priests and the Levites. For Judah rejoiced for the priests and the Levites because of their service.

45 And both the singers and the gatekeepers performed their duty to their God and their duty during the purifications [what they had to do in particular whenever the priests performed the rituals], according to the commandment of David and of his son Solomon [It was David and his prophets who created the role of singer in order to occupy some of the Levites].

46 For in the days of David in the past, Asaph had been a chief of the singers and had made songs of praise and of thanksgiving to God.

47 And in the days of Zerubbabel, and in the days of Nehemiah, all Israel gave the portions of the singers and of the gatekeepers, day by day, and they gave the holy things to the other Levites [as required by the law of Moses], and the Levites gave a part of those holy things to the sons of Aaron [as required by the law of Moses].

Nehemiah 13

1 On that day they did read in the book of Moses in the audience of the people, and it was found written that the Ammonite and the Moabite should not come into the assembly of God forever.

2 For they had not come to meet the children of Israel with bread and water, but they had hired Balaam against them to curse them. And our God turned the curse into a blessing.

3 Now when the people had heard [this part of] the law, they separated the whole mixed multitude from Israel.

4 But before that happened, there arose Eliashib the priest who was appointed over the chambers of the house of our God and who was a relative of Tobiah [connected by marriage].

5 And Eliashib had prepared for Tobiah a great chamber where they had previously put the meal offerings, and the incense, and the utensils, and the tithe of the grain, and of wine, and of oil. So there had been those things that were given for the Levites, and for the singers, and for the gatekeepers, and also the offerings given for the priests.

6 And I was not in Jerusalem while this thing happened. For I had returned to the king of Babylon in the thirty second year of Artaxerxes king of Babylon. And later I asked a permission from the king to return to Jerusalem.

7 And when I returned to Jerusalem, I saw the evil that Eliashib had done in preparing a chamber for Tobiah in the temple of God.

8 And that saddened me deeply. Therefore I threw out of the chamber all the things that belonged to Tobiah.

9 And I commanded to clean the chamber, and I brought back there the utensils of the house of God, and the offerings and the incense.

10 And I heard also that the portions of the Levites had not been given, and that the Levites and the singers who did the service had fled each one to his own field.

11 Then I rebuked the rulers and said, Why has the house of God been forsaken. And I assembled the Levites and the singers together, and set them in their places.

12 Then all [the land of] Judah brought into the treasuries the tithe of the grain, and of the wine, and of the oil.

13 And I appointed treasurers over the treasuries, Shelemiah the priest, and Zadok the scribe, and Pedaiah from among the Levites. And next to them was Hanan the son of Zaccur, the son of Mattaniah. For they had a reputation of being faithful, and their office was to distribute the goods to their brothers.

14 Remember me, O my God, concerning this thing that I have done. Do not forget my good deeds that I have done for the house of my God and for its services.

15 In those days I saw in Judah some men treading wine presses on the sabbath, and bringing in sheaves, and loading donkeys with wine, and with grapes, and with figs, and with all kinds of things, and bringing them to Jerusalem on the sabbath day. And I gave them warning about the days on which they should sell their goods.

16 And there were people from Tyre who lived in Jerusalem and brought fish and all kinds of goods to sell to the children of Judah in Jerusalem on the sabbath.

17 And I rebuked the nobles of Judah and said to them: What is this evil that you are doing by profaning the sabbath day.

18 Is it not the same thing that your fathers did, and has not our God brought all this evil on us and on this city. And you want again to increase the anger on Israel by profaning the sabbath.

19 Then I commanded that the gates of Jerusalem be shut before each sabbath when the day begins to darken, and not be opened until after the sabbath. And I set some of my servants at the gates in order to prevent that something be brought to Jerusalem on the sabbath day.

20 So it happened once or twice that traders and sellers of all kinds of goods were prevented from entering Jerusalem and spent at least a whole night there.

21 And I warned them by saying, 'Why do you stay in front of the wall during all the night. If you do it again then I will lay my hands on you'. And from that time on they came no more on the sabbath day.

22 And I also commanded the Levites to purify themselves in order to come and keep the gates and thus sanctify the sabbath. Remember me for this thing, O my God, and forgive me according to your great mercy.

23 In those days I also saw Jews who had married women of Ashdod, and of Ammon, and of Moab.

24 And half of their children spoke the language of those foreign land, and did not know how to speak the Jewish language. They knew only the language of this or that foreign people.

25 Therefore I rebuked them and cursed them, and smote some of them, and pulled their hair, and made them swear by God and said: You will neither give your daughters to their sons, nor take their daughters for your sons or for yourselves.

26 Did not Solomon king of Israel sin by these things. For there was no king like him among the multitude of nations, and he was beloved of his God, and God made him king over all Israel. But his foreign wives caused him to sin.

27 Should we allow you to commit such a great evil. Should we allow the evil influence of these foreign women to cause you to transgress against our God.

28 And one of the sons of Joiada the son of Eliashib the high priest was a son in law to Sanballat the Horonite [the same one who had tried several times to prevent us from building the walls of Jerusalem]. Therefore I chased him far from me.

29 Remember them, O my God, because they have defiled the priesthood and the covenant of the priests and the Levites.

30 Then I cleansed them from every foreigner, and I restored the duties of the priests and the Levites, each one in his office.

31 And for the offerings of wood at the appointed times, and for the firstfruits, remember me for all these good things required by your law given to Moses, O my God.

32 [Now God remembers that Nehemiah was willing to obey the commandments that he knew during his days, and we all must do thus with what we know today about God's identity. We must not seek to understand the exact intentions of God in any situation but only obey him with a devoted heart.]

Esther

Esther 1

1 It was in the days of Ahasuerus, this Ahasuerus who reigned from India to Ethiopia over one hundred and twenty seven provinces.

2 And king Ahasuerus ruled from his throne which was in the palace of the city of Shushan.

3 In the third year of his reign, he made a feast for all his princes and his servants. There were the captains of the army of Persia and Media, and the nobles and the princes of the provinces.

4 And he displayed the riches of his glorious kingdom and the dazzling magnificence of his greatness for many days, for one hundred and eighty days.

5 And when these days were finished, the king made another feast during seven days in the courtyard of the garden of the king's palace, for all the people of the city of Shushan, from the greatest to the least.

6 A room was made with hangings of white, and of green, and of blue, fastened with cords of fine linen and purple to rings of silver and to pillars of marble. The beds to sit on were made of gold and silver, and were placed on a pavement of porphyry, and of marble, and of alabaster, and of expensive blue colored stones.

7 Drinks were served in diverse utensils of gold, and there was an abundance of royal wine in conformity with the generosity of the king.

8 And the king had given orders to all the officers of his house in order to distribute drinks without constraints. Each person was served according to his own pleasure.

9 And the queen Vashti was also doing a feast for the women in the royal house of king Ahasuerus.

10 And on the seventh day, when the heart of the king was merry with wine, he gave orders to Mehuman, and Biztha, and Harbona, and Bigtha, and Abagtha, and Zethar, and Carcas, the seven eunuchs who served in the presence of king Ahasuerus.

11 He ordered them to bring the queen Vashti with the royal crown before the king, in order to show her beauty to the people and to the nobles. For she was beautiful to look at.

12 But queen Vashti refused to come when she received the king's command by the hand of the eunuchs. Therefore the king was very angry, and his anger burned in him.

13 Then the king spoke to the wise men who had knowledge of the times. For thus was the king's manner for all matters concerning laws and judgments.

14 In those days these wise men were Carshena, and Shethar, and Admatha, and Tarshish, and Meres, and Marsena, and Memucan, the seven princes [leaders] of Persia and Media who had regular official meetings with the king and who were the highest officials in the kingdom.

15 And the king said: What should we do to the queen Vashti according to the law. For she has not done what king Ahasuerus has commanded her by the hand of the eunuchs.

16 And Memucan answered before the king and the princes: Queen Vashti has not done wrong against the king only, but against all the princes and all the people who are in all the provinces of king Ahasuerus.

17 For this deed of the queen will be known to all women, and they will despise their husbands before their faces. For they will say: King Ahasuerus commanded that Vashti the queen be brought before him, but she refused to come.

18 So the princesses of Persia and Media who have heard of this deed of the queen will act in this way towards the princes of the king from today. And much contempt and anger will arise thus.

19 Now therefore if it pleases the king, let a royal decree be published from him, and written among the laws of Persia and Media so that it may not be transgressed, with the commandment that Vashti will no more appear before king Ahasuerus. And let the king give the dignity of queen to another woman who is better than her.

20 And when the decree of the king which will be made will be published throughout his large kingdom, all the wives will honor their husbands from the greatest to the least.

21 This advice pleased the king and the princes, and the king acted according to the word of Memucan.

22 For the king sent [he caused to send] letters to all the provinces of the kingdom, to each province according to the writings of the official languages, and also to each people [in the provinces] according to their own language. And each letter declared in the language of the people who received it that each husband must be the chief of his own family.

Esther 2

1 After these things, when the anger of king Ahasuerus had appeased, he remembered Vashti and what she had done, and what had been decided concerning her.

2 And the king's servants who work for his personal well-being in his presence said: Let young and beautiful virgins be sought for the king.

3 And let the king appoint officers in all the provinces of his kingdom, to gather into the house of the women of the palace of Shushan all the beautiful young virgins, under the guardianship of Hegai the king's eunuch who is the keeper of the women. And let their things for purification be given to them.

4 And the girl who will please the king will be queen instead of Vashti. And the king approved this suggestion, and he did so.

5 Now there was in the city of Shushan a certain Jew whose name was Mordecai. He was the son of Jair, the son of Shimei, the son of Kish, a man of Benjamin.

6 He [Kish] had been carried away from Jerusalem with the group of the captives who had been taken with Jeconiah [Jehoiachin the son of Jehoiakim] king of Judah by Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon.

7 And he raised Hadassah who is Esther, his uncle's daughter, because neither her father nor her mother were alive. Mordecai had taken her to be his daughter after the death of her father and her mother. And the girl was well-shaped and beautiful to look at.

8 And when the king's commandment and his decree had been published, a great number of young women were gathered in the palace of Shushan under the guardianship of Hegai [and his colleagues]. And Esther who was one of them was also brought into the king's house [the house of the women of the palace of the king], in order to be under the guardianship of Hegai the keeper of the women.

9 And the girl pleased to Hegai, and she found favor in his sight. Therefore he caused the things for her purification to be given to her quickly, with her portions, and seven young girls of the king’s house who were worthy to be given to her as servants. And he placed her and her handmaids in the best part of the house of the women.

10 But Esther did make known neither the exact nature of the links between her and the persons whom she knew nor the fact that she was a Jewess. For Mordecai had commanded her not to speak of it.

11 And Mordecai went daily before the courtyard of the house of the women to inquire how Esther was, and what was happening to her.

12 Now every young woman went in turn to king Ahasuerus, after she had spent twelve months doing according to the law for the women of the king. For so were the days of their purifications accomplished. They were taking care of their bodies for six months with oil of myrrh, and for six other months with sweet odors and the perfumes used among women.

13 And thus every of those young woman went to the king. And when she went from the house of the women to the king's house, she was given everything she wanted.

14 Each of them went to the king's house in the evening, and in the morning she came out and went into the second house of the women which was under the guardianship of Shaashgaz. Shaashgaz was the king's eunuch who was the keeper of the concubines. And she did not go to the king again, unless he sent for her by specifying her name.

15 Esther was the daughter of Abihail, and Abihail was the uncle of Mordecai who had taken her to be his daughter. And when her turn had come to go to the king, she asked nothing but what Hegai had designated for her. Hegai was the king's eunuch who was the keeper of the women. And Esther found favor in the sight of all those who looked at her.

16 So Esther was brought to king Ahasuerus into his royal house in the tenth month which is the month of Tebeth, in the seventh year of his reign.

17 And the king loved Esther more than all the women, and she found grace and favor in his sight more than all the other virgins. Therefore he set the crown of the kingdom on her head, and made her queen instead of Vashti.

18 Then the king made a great feast to all his princes [leaders] and his servants, a feast of Esther. And he caused work to cease in the provinces of his kingdom for the period of this event, and he distributed gifts in accordance with the generosity of the king.

19 Now when the virgins were gathered together the second time [the period of time when they went to live in the house of the concubines after meeting the king], Mordecai was sitting at the king's gate.

20 And Esther had not made known the exact nature of the links between her and the persons whom she knew nor the fact that she was a Jewess, as Mordecai had commanded her. For Esther did according to the word of Mordecai, as when she was fed by him.

21 And in those days when Mordecai was sitting at the king's gate, there were two of the king’s eunuchs who were angry and were plotting to lay their hands on the king Ahasuerus. Their names were Bigthan and Teresh, and they were of those who kept the threshold.

22 And when Mordecai heard of it, he told it to queen Esther. And she told it to the king and specified that this information came from Mordecai.

23 And when the investigation was made on the case and it was found to be so, they hanged the two eunuchs on a tree and it was written in the book of the Chronicles before the king.

Esther 3

1 After these things, king Ahasuerus promoted Haman the son of Hammedatha the Agagite, and exalted him, and set his seat above all the princes [leaders] who were with him.

2 And all the king's servants who were at the king's gate bowed their knees and did reverence to Haman: For so was the king's commandment concerning Haman. But Mordecai neither bowed the knee nor did reverence before Haman. [In those days the exact identity of God was still unknown and each people had its own customs whose actual implementation depends on the will of each person. And king Ahasuerus had no reason to think that it was abnormal to give such a commandment concerning a man]

3 And the king's servants who were at the king's gate said to Mordecai: Why do you transgress the king's commandment.

4 And they repeated it to him daily, but he did not want to comply with their advice. Therefore they reported it to Haman in order to see whether Mordecai would persist in his disobedience. For he had told them that he was a Jew.

5 And when Haman saw that Mordecai neither bowed his knee nor did reverence before him, then Haman was filled with fury.

6 But Haman disdained to lay his hand on Mordecai alone, because they had made him know the people to whom Mordecai belonged [they informed Haman that it was one of the customs of the religion of this people]. And Haman wanted to destroy the people of Mordecai, namely all the Jews who were throughout the whole kingdom of Ahasuerus. [What Haman reproached in his heart to this people did not come from a false belief that they could disobey any orders of the king or of the authorities established in the kingdom, but rather the fact that they had the possibility of not bowing in his presence as each one bowed in those days to honor everything associated with a deity of one's own religion.]

7 And in the first month which is the month of Nisan, in the twelfth year of king Ahasuerus, they began to cast Pur [that is to say, they did cast lots] before Haman, from day to day and from month to month, until the twelfth month which is the month of Adar.

8 And Haman said to king Ahasuerus: There is a certain people that is scattered in all the provinces of your kingdom and yet behaved separately among the peoples. Their laws are different from those of all the other peoples, and they do not obey the king's laws. Therefore it is dangerous for the king to allow them to live in this way.

9 If it pleases the king, let a decree be written to order the destruction of this people. And I will put ten thousand talents of silver into the king's treasury in order to finance the organization of the implementation of this decree by the official authorities.

10 Then the king took his ring off his finger and gave it to Haman the son of Hammedatha the Agagite. Haman was the adversary of the Jews.

11 And the king said to Haman: You can keep your money for yourself. Punish this people as you want. [The king did not verify the exact content of the facts that the highest officer among all his servants reproached to this people whose name was not given to him. For no one is perfect.]

12 Then the king's secretaries were called on the thirteenth day of the first month. And according to all that Haman commanded them, they wrote letters to the king's officers, and to the governors who were over every province, and to the leaders of every people. They wrote to every province according to its writings, and to each of the peoples according to their language. The letters were written in the name of king Ahasuerus and sealed with the king’s ring.

13 And the letters were carried by messengers into all the king's provinces, and contained the order to uproot, to kill and to destroy all the Jews, both young and old, children and women, in one day on the thirteenth day of the twelfth month which is the month of Adar, and to gave their property to be plundered.

14 The letters also commanded that the decree be published in each province and read publicly among all the peoples so that the populations might be ready on the specified day.

15 And the king commanded the messengers to hurry, and the message was also published in the city of Shushan. And the king and Haman sat down to drink, while the inhabitants of the city of Shushan were perplexed.

Esther 4

1 Now when Mordecai heard all that had happened, Mordecai tore his clothes. Then he put on sackcloth, and also ashes on his body, and he went out into the midst of the city while crying with a loud voice and a bitter lamentation.

2 And came as far as to the king's gate, but he did not go further because no one could enter the king’s gate while being dressed in sackcloth.

3 And in every province, wherever the king’s commandment and his decree came, there was great mourning among the Jews. And they fasted, and wept and moaned, and many lay down on the sack and ashes.

4 And the handmaids of Esther and her eunuchs came and told her that Mordecai had appeared before the king’s gate in sackcloth, and the queen was very frightened. Then she sent messengers with a garment to clothe Mordecai and to take his sackcloth off his body, but he refused to do so.

5 Then Esther called Hathach, one of the eunuchs whom the king had appointed to serve her, and ordered him to go to Mordecai and find out what this meant and why it was happening.

6 So Hathach went to Mordecai in the street of the city in front of the king's gate.

7 And Mordecai told Hathach all that had happened to him, and how much money Haman had promised to to pay to the king's treasuries to organize the destruction of the Jews.

8 And Mordecai also gave Hathach a copy of the content of the decree that had been published in the city of Shushan for the destruction of the Jews, in order to show it to Esther and to make known to her everything. And Mordecai commanded that Esther should go to the king to make supplications and ask for mercy for her people.

9 And Hathach came and told Esther the words of Mordecai.

10 Then Esther sent Hathach to Mordecai with the following words.

11 All the king's servants and the people of the king's provinces know the law against anyone entering the inner courtyard of the king without having been officially invited, whether it be a man or a woman. Such a person is necessarily punished with death within the same period unless the king holds out his golden scepter to him at the moment of the transgression. And I have not been summoned to the king for thirty days.

12 And they said to Mordecai the words of Esther.

13 And Mordecai told them to give the following answer to Esther: Do not think that being in the king’s house will allow you to be the only one of all the Jews to escape this massacre.

14 For if you hold your peace at this time, then deliverance and comfort will arise for the Jews from another place, but you and your father's house [of which you are the only living representative] will perish. And who knows whether it is not for such a time as this that you have become queen.

16 Go and gather together all the Jews who are found in the city of Shushan, and do a fasting for me. You will neither eat nor drink for three days, night and day [with the Jewish people's concept of day, this means two consecutive nights, from sunset before the first night until sunrise after the second night]. I also will do a fasting in the same way with my handmaids, and then I will go to meet the king despite the prohibition of the law to go there without being invited. And if I must perish, then I will perish.

17 And Mordecai went his way, and did according to all that Esther had commanded him.

Esther 5

1 And on the third day Esther put on her royal apparel and stood in the inner courtyard of the king's house, in front of the king's house. And the king was sitting on the royal throne of his royal house, near the gate of the house.

2 And when the king saw the queen Esther standing in the courtyard, she found favor in his eyes. And the king held out to Esther the golden scepter that was in his hand, and Esther came near and touched the top of the scepter.

3 And the king said to her: What is the matter with you, queen Esther. What is your request. It will be granted to you even if it were a half of the kingdom.

4 Then Esther said: If it pleases the king, let the king come today with Haman to the banquet that I have prepared for him.

5 And the king said [to his personal servants]: Bring Haman quickly, so that it may be done as Esther desires.

6 And the king went with Haman to the banquet that Esther had prepared for them. And while they were drinking wine at the banquet, the king said to Esther: Tell me what your request is, so that I may grant it to you. What do you desire. For it will be fulfilled even if it were a half of the kingdom.

7 Then Esther answered and said: This is my request and my desire.

8 If I have found favor in the king's sight, and if it pleases the king to grant my request and to fulfill my desire, then let the king come with Haman to the other banquet that I will prepare for them tomorrow. And it is at this event that I will tell the king the thing that I desire.

9 And Haman was glad and excited on that day, when he went out of the first banquet. But when he saw Mordecai at the king’s gate, and saw that Mordecai neither stood up nor moved for him, then he was filled with indignation against Mordecai.

10 Nevertheless Haman refrained from doing anything. And he went home, and sent for his friends and Zeresh his wife.

11 Then Haman told them of the greatness of his wealth, and the multitude of his children, and all that the king had done to exalt him, and how he had been set above the princes [leaders] and servants of the king.

12 And Haman spoke again and said: And I am the only one who has been invited to the banquet that queen Esther has made with the king today. And I am invited again with the king for another banquet tomorrow.

13 But all this is of little value to me as long as I see Mordecai the Jew sitting at the king's gate.

14 Then Zeresh his wife and all his friends said to him, 'Command to prepare a gibbet of fifty cubits high, and in the morning you will speak to the king to have Mordecai hanged on it. And after that you will joyfully go to the banquet with the king'. And the thing pleased Haman, and he caused the gibbet to be made.

Esther 6

1 And the king could not sleep that night. And he commanded to take the book of the chronicles and to read it before him.

2 Then it was found written that Mordecai had told of Bigthan and Teresh, the two king's eunuchs whp were of the keepers of the threshold and who were plotting to lay their hands on the king Ahasuerus.

3 Then the king said, 'What honor and dignity has Mordecai received for this'. And the king's servants answered, 'He has received nothing'.

4 And [in the morning] Haman came into the inner courtyard of the king's house, in order to speak to the king and to have Mordecai hanged on the gibbet that he had prepared for him. And the king said: Who is in the courtyard.

5 And the king's servants said to him, 'Haman is standing in the courtyard'. And the king said, 'Let him come in'.

6 And when Haman came in, the king said to him: What should be done to the man whom the king desires to honor.

7 And Haman thought in his heart, 'Who would the king desire to honor if not me'. And Haman answered the king: Here is what is to be done to a man whom the king desires to honor.

8 Let them bring for him the royal apparel that the king usually wears, and the horse on which the king rides, and a royal crown to put it on his head.

9 And let the apparel and the horse be given to the guardianship of one of the king's most noble princes. And this leader will put the apparel on the man whom the king desires to honor, and cause that man to ride on the horse through the main street of the city, and proclaim before him: It will be done thus to the man whom the king desires to honor.

10 Then the king said to Haman: Hurry up, and take the apparel and the horse as you have said, and do so to Mordecai the Jew who sits at the king's gate. Do not neglect anything of all that you have spoken.

11 So Haman took the apparel and the horse, and arrayed Mordecai, and caused him to ride on the horse through the main street of the city, and proclaimed before him: It will be done thus to the man whom the king desires to honor.

12 And Mordecai returned to the king's gate, and Haman hastened to his house while mourning and with his head covered.

13 And Haman told Zeresh his wife and all his friends all that had happened to him. Then Zeresh his wife and his wise men said to him: If Mordecai before whom you have begun to fall is of the seed of the Jews, then you will not prevail against him but you will surely fall before him.

14 And while they were still talking with him, the king's eunuchs came and hastened to bring Haman to the banquet that Esther had prepared.

Esther 7

1 So the king and Haman went to the banquet with queen Esther.

2 It was the second day [after the queen had presented herself before the king], and the king said to Esther at the banquet of wine: What is your request, queen Esther. It will be granted to you. What do you desire. For it will be fulfilled even if it were a half of the kingdom.

3 And queen Esther answered and said: If I have found favor in your sight, O king, and if it pleases the king, then my request is that my life be given to me and my desire is that the life of my people be saved.

4 For we have been sold, I and my people, to be destroyed, to be slaughtered and annihilated. If we had been sold to become servants and handmaids then I would have kept silent, for the situation would not have been serious enough to require disturbing the king.

5 Then king Ahasuerus spoke and said to queen Esther: Who is the one who intends to do this. And where is he.

6 And Esther answered, 'The adversary and the enemy is this wicked Haman'. Then Haman was terrified before the king and the queen.

7 And the king arose from the banquet of wine in his anger, and went into the palace garden. And Haman remained in order to save his life by begging the queen. For he saw that his destruction was determined in the king's mind.

8 And when the king came back from the palace garden into the place of the banquet of wine, he saw Haman rushing toward the bed on which Esther was sitting and therefore he said: Will he also force the queen before me and into the house.

9 And as soon as the word went out of the king's mouth, his personal servants came and seized Haman and covered his face. And Harbonah was one of the eunuchs who stood in the presence of the king, and Harbonah spoke and said: There is a gibbet of fifty cubits high in the house of Haman. And Haman has prepared it for Mordecai, the man who had spoken for the good of the king.

10 And the king said, 'Let Haman be hanged on it'. So they hanged Haman on the gibbet that he had prepared for Mordecai. Then the king's anger was pacified.

Esther 8

1 And the same day king Ahasuerus gave to queen Esther the house of Haman the adversary of the Jews [For the king had given this house of office to Haman after having exalted him]. And Mordecai came before the king, because Esther had made known to the king what was the exact nature of the family relationship between her and Mordecai.

2 And the king took off his ring which he had taken from Haman, and gave it to Mordecai. And Esther set Mordecai over the house of Haman [the house of office given by the king].

3 Then Esther spoke again before the king, and she fell at his feet weeping, and besought him to erase the wickedness of Haman the Agagite by preventing his plans against the Jews from succeeding.

4 Then the king held out the golden scepter to Esther, and Esther got up and stood before the king.

5 And she said: If it pleases the king, and if I have found favor in his sight, and if the thing seems right before the king, and if I please him, then let it be written a decree to revoke the letters devised by Haman the son of Hammedatha the Agagite. The letters that he wrote to destroy the Jews who are in all the king's provinces.

6 For how can I endure to see the evil that will come on my people, and how can I endure to see the destruction of my kindred.

7 Then the king Ahasuerus said to Esther the queen and to Mordecai the Jew: Behold I have given the house of Haman to Esther, and he has been hanged on the gibbet because he has stretched out his hand against the Jews.

8 And now I give you the permission to write in the name of the king whatever you want for the Jews, and to seal it with the king’s ring. But know that none of the decrees that are written in the name of the king and sealed with the king's ring can be revoked.

9 Then the king's secretaries were called at that time, in the twenty third day of the third month which is the month of Sivan. And they wrote letters according to all that Mordecai commanded.

They wrote to the Jews, and to the king's officers, and to the governors and the leaders of the provinces which were from India to Ethiopia, one hundred and twenty seven provinces. They wrote to every province according to its writings, and to each of the peoples according to their language, and to the Jews according to their writing and according to their language.

10 And the letters were written in the name of king Ahasuerus, and sealed with the king's ring. And Mordecai sent the letters by messengers who rode on the horses and mules and the dromedaries of the king's service.

11 In these letters the king gave to the Jews the permission to gather themselves together in each of the cities where they were and defend their lives, to uproot and kill and destroy all those of each of the peoples in each province who will try to kill them, and to attack also their children and their women, and to plunder their goods.

12 And to do this thing in one day in all the provinces of king Ahasuerus, on the thirteenth day of the twelfth month which is the month of Adar.

13 The letters also commanded that the decree be published in each province and read publicly among all the peoples for a warning, and so that the Jews might be ready to avenge themselves on their enemies on the specified day.

14 And the messengers took the letters and rode on the horses and mules, and the dromedaries, and they departed in haste to carry out the command of king. And the decree was also published in the city of Shushan.

15 And Mordecai went out from the presence of the king in a blue and white royal apparel, and with a great crown of gold, and with an inner garment of fine linen and purple. And the city of Shushan rejoiced and was happy.

16 And so the light had come for the Jews, and they felt joy and happiness and honor.

17 And in each province and in each city, wherever the king's commandment and his decree arrived, the Jews were happy and excited, and they made a feast and a holiday. And many persons from among the peoples of the kingdom became Jews [that is to say, they embraced the religion of Moses which authorized the conversions of foreigners], because they were seized by the fear of the hidden power of the Jews.

Esther 9

1 And in the twelfth month which is the month of Adar, on the thirteenth day of the month when the king's commandments and his decrees were to be implemented, those who were enemies of the Jews hoped to dominate them. But it was the opposite that happened, for the Jews dominated those who hated them.

2 For the Jews gathered together in their cities throughout all the provinces of the king Ahasuerus, in order to lay their hand on those who were seeking to hurt them. And no man could resist them, and it was because of a fear of the Jews that many persons among all the peoples had not tried to attack them.

3 And all the leaders in the provinces, and the officers, and the governors, and those who worked in matters concerning the king, they helped the Jews because they were afraid of Mordecai.

4 For Mordecai was great in the king's house, and his fame spread throughout all the provinces. For this man Mordecai had become more and more powerful.

5 Thus the Jews smote all their enemies with the sword. They killed their enemies and destroyed them, and did what they wanted to the those who hated them.

6 In the city of Shushan the Jews smote and killed five hundred men.

7 And they killed Parshandatha, and Dalphon, and Aspatha.

8 And Poratha, and Adalia, and Aridatha.

9 And Parmashta, and Arizai, and Aridai, and Vaizatha.

10 They were the ten sons of Haman, the enemy of the Jews who was the son of Hammedatha. But the Jews did not lay their hands on the spoil.

11 The number of those who had been killed in the city of Shushan was reported to the king on the same day.

12 And the king said to queen Esther: The Jews have killed and destroyed five hundred men and the ten sons of Haman in the city of Shushan. So we can imagine the magnitude of what they may have done in all the other provinces [because there were certainly more people elsewhere who were determined to attack them there, since there were so many here]. And now tell me what your request is so that I may grant it to you. What do you still want. For it will be fulfilled.

13 And Esther replied: If it pleases the king, let it be granted to the Jews who are in Shushan to act again tomorrow according to the decree of today. And let them hang the ten sons of Haman [their dead bodies] on gibbets.

14 And the king commanded to do so. And they published a new decree for the city of Shushan, and they also hanged the ten sons of Haman [their dead bodies].

15 So the Jews who were in the city of Shushan gathered together again on the fourteenth day of the month of Adar, and they killed three hundred men of those who tried to attack them in the city of Shushan [because there were still people who were willing to attack them]. But the Jews did not lay their hands on the spoil.

16 So the other Jews who were in the king's provinces had gathered together and defended their lives. And they had given themselves rest by saving themselves from the hand of their enemies, and they had killed seventy five thousand persons of those who tried to attack them. But the Jews had not laid their hands on the spoil.

17 Those Jews in the provinces had acted thus on the thirteenth day of the month of Adar. And the next day, on the fourteenth day of the month, they had rested [in each of their cities] and had made feasts and rejoicings.

18 But the Jews who were in the city of Shushan had gathered together on both the thirteenth day and the fourteenth day. And the next day, on the fifteenth day of the month, they rested and made a feast and rejoicings.

19 Therefore the Jews who live in the villages and in unwalled cities [some of those who were not concerned with the particular events of the city of Shushan] make the fourteenth day of the month of Adar a day of rejoicings and of feasting, namely a joyful day in which everyone send portions to his neighbor.

20 And later Mordecai wrote these things, and he sent letters to all the Jews who were in all the provinces of the king Ahasuerus, both near and far.

21 He commanded them to celebrate every year the fourteenth day of the month of Adar, and also the fifteenth day of the same month.

22 And to do so because of the days [both in the main city and in other cities] in which the Jews had rested from the hand of their enemies, and because of the month in which their sadness had completely changed into joy, and their mourning into feast. And that these days should be days of rejoicings and feasts, in which everyone send portions to his neighbor and gifts to the poor.

23 And the Jews agreed to continue doing what they had begun, and to comply with what Mordecai had written to them.

24 For Haman the son of Hammedatha the Agagite, the enemy of all the Jews, had planned to destroy the Jews and had cast Pur [that is to say the lot] to consume and destroy them.

25 And when Esther came before the king, the king commanded by letters in favor of the Jews. For the king say: Let this wicked plan that Haman has devised against the Jews be brought back on his own head, and let them hang him and his sons on gibbets.

26 Therefore they called these days Purim, by the name of Pur. And because of all the words of the letter that Mordecai wrote to them, and because of what they themselves had observed concerning the occurrence of all these events, and because of what had happened to them, the Jews decreed and made a covenant for themselves, and for their descendants, and for all those who would join them.

27 And they announced that they will not fail to do it, but will observe these two days according to what had been written and at their appointed times each year.

28 And they announced that these days were to be remembered and celebrated throughout every generation, and in every family, and in every province, and in every city. And that these days of Purim should never be abolished from among the Jews, and that the remembrance of these days should never perish from among their descendants. [Now Moses had instructed the tribes of Jacob not to add to or take away from the commandments that he had given, but David created a precedent by replacing the most holy place of the tabernacle of the testimony with something more beautiful.]

29 And queen Esther the daughter of Abihail, and Mordecai the Jew [Mordecai is designated in this way because he was anxious to put into practice what he knew of the laws given by Moses, and this included at least the ten commandments], they wrote a second letter with all authority to confirm the establishment of Purim. [In other words to confirm to all the children of Jacob who were scattered throughout the provinces of the kingdom that a certain number of wise men among their brothers had decided that it should be so.]

30 And Mordecai sent the letters, namely the copies of his second letter, to all the Jews in the one hundred and twenty seven provinces of king Ahasuerus. [Now a certain number of the children of Jacob had already returned to the promised land in those days. For these events occurred long after the Medes and the Persians had conquered the kingdom of Babylon in the days of Cyrus king of Persia, and after Cyrus king of Persia had decreed the voluntary return of all the captives in the first year of his domination of the kingdom of Babylon, because the children of Jacob had not left the promised land before the periods of destruction of the kingdom of Israel and of the kingdom of Judah. Therefore king Ahasuerus who reigned from India to Ethiopia over one hundred and twenty seven provinces was one of the persons who successively succeeded king Cyrus over time. So there had already been the reconstruction of the house that bore the name of Yahweh in Jerusalem and that was the place of service of the Jewish priests, but the promised land was into the great kingdom of king Ahasuerus. It is understood then that if no reference is made to the temple of Yahweh or to the city of Jerusalem in the whole account of these events, it is because the true God of Israel is the spirit of Yahweh who can only live in the hearts of living things and who can be found in several places on earth at the same time since it is only his angels who manifest themselves in visions and dreams. Thus there were many of the children of Jacob who had not returned to the promised land in those days, and who had remained dispersed among the nations where they had been able to settle. They might not have felt the need to return to the promised land because they had been able to see that Yahweh had allowed some persons to become prophets among the people who had just been taken captive to Babylon few years before the destruction of the kingdom of Judah, and one can think that the attachment to Yahweh for these people must have consisted solely in the practice of the ten commandments.]

31 These letters contained words of peace and truth, and confirmed these days of Purim in their appointed times as Mordecai the Jew and queen Esther had enjoined them, and as the children of Israel had already instituted in the past for themselves and for their descendants some other days of remembrance that concerned sad events [like the weeping for the daughter of Jephthah the Gileadite at the time of the judges of Israel, or the fasting for the destruction of the holy place namely the temple of Yahweh at the time of the captivity of the people of Jerusalem].

32 So the commandment of Esther confirmed the ordinance of Purim, and it was written in a book. [Queen Esther did not have a religious authority over those of the children of Israel who were in the kingdom of king Ahasuerus, but an administrative authority like queen Athaliah in the time of the kings and queens of Israel or Deborah in the time of the judges.]

1 And king Ahasuerus imposed a tribute on the land [of his kingdom], and on the islands of the sea.

2 Now all the acts of his power and of his might, and the details of the greatness to which the king raised Mordecai, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Media and Persia.

3 For Mordecai the Jew had become the second authority in the land, next to the king Ahasuerus. He was great among the Jews, and he was beloved by the multitude of his brothers the Jews. And he sought the happiness of his people, and brought peace to all the Jews.

Psalms

Psalms 1

1 Blessed is the man who does not walk according to the counsel of the wicked, and who does not stand in the way of the sinners, and who does not sit with the scorners.

2 For if he seeks his pleasure in the law of Yahweh, and meditates on that law day and night.

3 Then he will be like a tree planted near the streams of water. It yields its fruit in its seasons, and its leaves do not wither. So whatever he does [with his whole heart] will prosper.

4 But the wicked are not thus. For they are like the chaff which the wind drives away.

5 Therefore the wicked will not prevail against the judgment. Sinners will not endure in the assembly of the righteous.

6 For Yahweh knows the way of the righteous, and the way of the wicked leads to destruction.

Psalms 2

1 Why this tumult among the nations. Why do the people imagine vain things.

2 The kings of the earth rise up, and the rulers of the peoples conspire with them against Yahweh and against his anointed.

3 And they said: Let us break their bonds, and free ourselves from their chains.

4 But he who rules in the heavens laughs at them. The Lord will have them in derision.

5 And he will speak to them in his anger, and he will trouble them in his deep displeasure.

6 It is I who have set my king on my holy mountain, on Zion.

7 I will declare the decree. Yahweh has said to me: You are my son, I have begotten you today.

8 Ask of me, and I will give you the nations for an inheritance, and the ends of the earth for a possession.

9 You will break them with a scepter of iron, and break them into pieces like a pottery.

10 Therefore be wise now, you the kings. Receive instruction, you the judges of the earth.

11 Serve Yahweh with fear, and rejoice with trembling.

12 Kiss the son, lest he be angry. For you will perish in the way when his anger will suddenly be kindled. Blessed are all those who will believe in his message. [For you will have no other gods before me]

Psalms 3

1 A psalm of David, when he fled from Absalom his son. Yahweh, my adversaries have increased. A multitude has arisen against me.

2 And many have said of my soul: There will be no help for him from God.

3 But you are a shield for me, O Yahweh. You are my glory, the one who lifts up my head.

4 I cry to Yahweh with my voice, and he hears me while dwelling in his holy mountain. Pause.

5 I lie down and sleep, and then I wake up. For it is the will of Yahweh.

6 I will not be afraid of the ten thousands of the peoples who besieges me on every side.

7 Arise, O Yahweh. Save me, O my God. For you smite all my enemies on the cheek bone, you break the teeth of the wicked.

8 Salvation belongs to Yahweh, and your blessing is on your people. Pause.

Psalms 4

1 A psalm of David. Hear me when I call, O God of my righteousness. Set me free in my distress, have mercy on me and hear my prayer.

2 O you the sons of men, for how much longer will you dishonor my glory. For how much longer will you love vanity and seek to invent the best deceptions. Pause.

3 Be assured that it is the godly man who pleases Yahweh. Therefore Yahweh will hear me when I call on him.

4 Tremble, and sin no more. Examine your own heart on your bed, and be no more agitated. Pause.

5 Offer the sacrifices of justice [that is to say, circumcise your hearts to become lovers of justice], and trust in Yahweh.

6 Many say: Who will make us see happiness. Make the light of your blessings shine on us, O Yahweh, by burdening us with riches. [These people want to be blessed by perishable things]

7 As for me, your spirit puts more joy into my heart than all that they can possess when their wheat and wine multiply.

8 I will go to bed and fall asleep being comforted by my love for you. Because it is only the confidence in you that reassures me, O Yahweh.

Psalms 5

1 A psalm of David. Hear my words, O Yahweh, consider the intentions of my thought.

2 Listen to the voice of my cry, my king and my God. For it is to you that I send my prayer.

3 Hear my voice every morning, O Yahweh. For I turn to you every morning so that you may be the one who directs my steps.

4 For you are a God who hates wickedness. You are not with the person who plans to do evil.

5 The foolish will not endure before your eyes, because you hate all the workers of iniquity.

6 You will destroy those who tell lies to do evil. Yahweh abhors men of blood and fraud.

7 As for me, I will come into your house because of the multitude of your mercies. I will bow down in your holy temple with the fear of your power.

8 Teach me to walk in your righteous ways, O Yahweh, so that I may prevail against my enemies. Make my way straight before your face.

9 For the words of their mouths are not designed by honorable thoughts. Their heart is filled with malice, their throat is an open sepulcher, and they flatter with their tongue.

10 Destroy them, O God. Let them fall by their own cunning plans. Let them be driven out because of the multitude of their transgressions, from which they have refused to turn away. For they are rebellious against you.

11 But all those who trust in you will triumph, and they will rejoice forever. For you will defend those who love your name so that they may rejoice in you.

12 For you bless the righteous, O Yahweh. You surround him with your love as with a shield.

Psalms 6

1 A psalm of David. O Yahweh, do not rebuke me in your anger. Do not discipline me by your fury.

2 Have mercy on me, O Yahweh, because I am weak. Heal me, O Yahweh, because my bones are troubled.

3 My soul is greatly troubled. And you, O Yahweh, how long will you delay.

4 Return, O Yahweh, and save my soul. Save me for the sake of your mercifulness.

5 For he who is dead can no longer sing your praises. How can one praise you from the grave.

6 I am weary of my groaning. Every night my bed is soaked, because I water it with my tears.

7 My eye is dimmed by my sorrow, because of all my adversaries.

8 Depart from me, you all the workers of iniquity. For Yahweh has heard the voice of my weeping.

9 Yahweh has heard my supplication. Yahweh will receive my prayer.

10 All my enemies will be confused and cruelly tormented. They will be suddenly repelled and put to shame.

Psalms 7

1 A song of David that he sang to Yahweh concerning the words of Cush the Benjamite. O Yahweh my God, I have put my trust in you. Save me from all those who persecute me, and free me.

2 Lest they devour my soul like a lion, and tear it in pieces while there is no one to help me.

3 O Yahweh my God, if I have done an evil thing, if there is any wickedness in my hands.

4 If I have rewarded with evil him who was at peace with me, or if I have planned evil against him who hates me without cause.

5 Then let the enemy chase my soul and take it. Let him trample my life until it falls to the ground, and lay my glory in the dust. Pause.

6 Arise in your anger, O Yahweh, rise up against the rage of my enemies. Wake up for me according to the judgment that you have appointed.

7 Let the assembly of the peoples surround you, and go up above them to the high place. [Give the judgment.]

8 Yahweh will judge the peoples. Judge me, O Yahweh, according to my righteousness and according to my innocence that is in me.

9 Put an end to the malice of the wicked, and establish the righteous. For you probe the hearts and the intestines [therefore you can do it], O righteous God.

10 It is God who is my defender, and he saves the one whose heart is upright.

11 God is a righteous judge, and God performs his judgments every day.

12 If the wicked does not turn away from the evil way, then he sharpens his sword and bends his bow, and makes it ready.

13 And he directs the deadly arrows that he has prepared towards the wicked. He makes his arrows fiery.

14 The wicked plans to do evil. He designs projects of iniquity, and he produces falsehood.

15 He begins a pit to trap others and digs it, but he will fall because of the pit that he has made.

17 I will praise Yahweh because of his righteousness, and I will sing praise to the name of Yahweh the Most High.

Psalms 8

1 A psalm of David. O Yahweh our Lord, how excellent is your name in all the world. Your majesty is exalted above the heavens.

2 You have laid the foundation of your strength in the mouth of many young children and toddlers [Many of them are pleasant to your spirit] in order to confuse your adversaries, to silence the enemy and the avenger.

3 When I consider the heavens, the work of your fingers, the moon and the stars which you have created.

4 Then I think: What is man, so that you focus your attention on him. And the son of man, so that you visits him.

5 You have made him a little lower than angels, and have crowned him with glory and honor.

6 You have given him dominion over the works of your hands, and you have put all things under his feet.

7 Both sheep and oxen, and the beasts of the field.

8 The birds of the air and the fish of the sea, and all that move along the paths of the seas.

9 O Yahweh our Lord, how excellent is your name in all the world.

Psalms 9

1 A psalm of David. I will praise Yahweh with my whole heart, I will speak of all your wondrous works.

2 I will make you my joy and my pleasure. I will sing praises to your name, O you the Most High.

3 My enemies will turned back because of you, they will stumble and perish before you.

4 You will defend my right and my cause, for you sit on the throne and you are the righteous judge.

5 You have rebuked the nations, and you have destroyed the wicked. You have erased their name [their legacy] forever and ever.

6 Your enemies have come to a perpetual end. You have overthrown their cities, the memory of anything good about them have perished with them.

8 He judges the world with righteousness, he judges the peoples with equity.

9 Yahweh is a refuge for the oppressed, a refuge in times of trouble.

10 Those who know your name [your identity] will trust in you. For you will not reject those who seek you, O Yahweh.

11 Sing praises to Yahweh who dwells in Zion [where I have set up a tent to house the ark of his covenant]. Declare his deeds among the peoples.

12 He avenges blood and remembers the powerless. He does not forget their cries.

13 Have mercy on me, O Yahweh. Consider the troubles that I suffer from those who hate me, save me from the gates of death.

14 And I will declare all your praises at the gates of the daughter of Zion, and rejoice in your salvation.

15 The idolaters have fallen into the pit that they have made, their foot has been caught in their own trap.

17 The wicked will go to hell, with all the nations [their social organizations] that forget God.

18 For the powerless will not be forgotten forever, the hope of the afflicted will not perish forever.

20 Put them in fear, O Yahweh. Let the wicked know that they are only men. Pause.

Psalms 10

1 Why do you stand afar off, O Yahweh. Why do you hide yourself in times of affliction.

2 The pride of the wicked cause them to oppress the poor. Let them be taken in the traps that they have conceived.

3 For the wicked boasts of the desires of his heart. He despises Yahweh by coveting perishable things.

4 The wicked says in his arrogance that he will not be punished because there is no God. That is all he thinks.

5 His ways prosper at all times. Your judgments are far above what he can perceive, therefore he mocks all his enemies.

6 He says in his heart: I will never be moved, I have a minimum of security.

7 His mouth is full of curses, and deceits and frauds. There is malice and injustice under his tongue.

10.

11.

12 Arise, O Yahweh. Lift up your hand, O God. Do not forget the powerless.

13 Why does the wicked despise God. Why does he say in his heart that you will not punish him.

14 But you see it. You look at deceit and wickedness, to requite it with your hand. The powerless submits his cause to you, because you are the helper of the fatherless.

15 Break the arm of the wicked and of the evildoer. Search and requite his wickedness, until you find none.

16 Yahweh is king forever and ever. The wicked will be cut off from his land.

17 You hear the prayers of the afflicted, O Yahweh. You prepare their heart, you listen to them.

18 To bring justice to the fatherless and the oppressed, so that a man made of dust may no longer cause fear.

Psalms 11

1 A psalm of David. I have put my trust in Yahweh. Therefore how can you say to my soul: Flee to your mountain like a bird.

2 For lo, the wicked bend their bow, They make ready their arrow on the string, to secretly shoot at the one who has an upright heart.

3 When the foundations of justice are overthrown, what can the righteous do.

4 Yahweh is in his holy temple, the throne of Yahweh is in the heaven. His eyes consider everything, his eyelids probe the children of men.

5 Yahweh will probe the righteous. But his soul hates the wicked, the one who rejoices in iniquity.

6 He will rain snares on the wicked. Fire, sulfur and burning wind will be the portion of their cup.

7 For Yahweh is righteous, he loves righteousness. The upright will behold his face.

Psalms 12

1 A psalm of David. Help me, O Yahweh, because the godly have gone. The faithful have been destroyed from among the children of men.

2 They speak deceitfully every man to his neighbour, flattering with their lips, and speaking with a double heart.

3 May Yahweh destroy all flattering lips, and the tongue that speaks arrogantly.

4 For they have said: We will prevail with our tongue, our lips belong to us. Who is our lord.

5 But Yahweh has said: I will arise because of oppression against the powerless, because of the sighs of the humble. I will bring salvation to him whom the wicked has snared.

6 The words of Yahweh are pure words, as the silver melted seven times in order to be purified in a furnace on the earth.

7 You will fulfill the promises of your word, O Yahweh. You will preserve forever the memory of each one of those who are righteous in the midst of this generation.

8 The wicked walk on every side when baseness is exalted among the sons of men.

Psalms 13

1 A psalm of David. How long, O Yahweh. Will you forget me forever. How long will you hide your face from me.

2 How much longer should I wonder how to regain peace of mind. For I am tired in my heart every day. How long will my enemy be exalted against me.

3 Look and hear me, O Yahweh my God. Give light to my eyes, so that my sleep not be as hopeless as the sleep of the dead.

4 Lest my enemy say, I have prevailed against him. Lest my adversaries rejoice when I stumble.

5 But I trust in your mercy. My heart rejoices in your salvation.

6 I will sing to Yahweh, because he was kind enough to reveal himself to me.

Psalms 14

1 A psalm of David. The fool says in his heart, 'There is no God'. They have become corrupt, they have committed abominations, there is none who does good.

2 Yahweh looks down on the children of men from heaven, to see if there is anyone who understands and seeks God. [Evil is that which is intentional and unjustifiable in the eyes of any assembly of saints, and such an assembly knows that each person acts according to his particular knowledge and circumstances.]

3 They have all gone out of the way, they have all become corrupt. There is none who does good. No, not even one.

4 Have all the workers of iniquity lost their minds. They eat my people as they eat bread, they do not call on Yahweh.

5 But they will be taken by fear, because God is with the righteous in all generations.

6 You mock the hope of the powerless, but Yahweh is his refuge.

7 Oh give salvation to Israel out of Zion. When Yahweh turns the captivity of his people, then Jacob will rejoice and Israel will be glad.

Psalms 15

1 A psalm of David. O Yahweh, who will dwell in your tabernacle [in the heaven]. Who will rest on your holy mountain [in the heaven].

2 He who walks in integrity and acts with righteousness, and speaks the truth according to the certainties of his heart [he does not mislead anyone without having publicly acceptable justifications in his heart].

3 He does not slander with his tongue, nor does any evil to his neighbor, nor accepts a false report against his neighbor. [Evil is that which is intentional and unjustifiable in the eyes of any assembly of saints]

4 He does not admire contemptible behavior, and he honors the one whom he suspects of fearing Yahweh. He does not retract when he has sworn to his own disadvantage.

5 He does not give his money to usury, nor take a gift against the innocent. He who does these things will never be moved.

Psalms 16

1 A psalm of David. Preserve me, O God, because I trust in you.

2 O my soul, you have said to Yahweh: You are my Lord, I have no hope except you.

3 Therefore all my delight is in the saints who are in the land, and in the godly persons.

4 For the others multiply idols, they run after strange gods. But I will not participate in their offerings of blood [the offerings that glorify their wicked deeds]. I would have no respect for false gods.

5 For Yahweh is the portion of my inheritance and of my cup. It is you who maintains my portion.

6 The lines have fallen for me in pleasant places. Yes, I have received a goodly portion.

7 I will praise Yahweh my counselor. My heart teaches me even in the night.

8 I always set Yahweh before me. I will not be moved because he is at my right hand.

9 Therefore my heart is glad and my tongue rejoices, and my flesh also will rest in hope.

10 For you will not leave my soul in the grave. You will not allow your holy one to see corruption.

11 You will make known to me the path of life. There is the fullness of joy in your presence, and everlasting pleasures at your right hand.

Psalms 17

1 The prayer of David. Hear what is right, O Yahweh, consider my cry. Listen to my prayer made with lips without deceit.

2 Let my righteousness appear before your face, let your eyes look at the fairness of my deeds.

3 If you visit my heart in the night and probe it, if you test me, then you will find nothing. For what comes out of my mouth comes from the righteousness of my thoughts.

4 I guard myself against the way of wicked men. I do not let myself be influenced by the works of men, in accordance with the word of your lips.

5 Sustain my steps in your paths, so that my feet may not slip.

6 I have called on you. Surely you will hear me, O God. Incline your ear to me, and hear my words.

7 Show your marvellous lovingkindness, you who save by your right hand those who trust in you from those who rise against them.

8 Keep me as the apple of your eye. Hide me in the shadow of your wings.

9 Keep me from the wicked who oppress me, from my deadly enemies who surround me.

10 They are inclosed in their own fat, they have haughty words in their mouths.

11 They have surrounded us in our steps, they are watching us to overthrow us.

13 Arise and disappoint him, O Yahweh. Overthrow him. Save my soul from the wicked with your sword.

14 Save me from men by your hand, O Yahweh, from the men of the world who have their portion is in this life. You fill their belly with your store. Their children are satisfied, and leave the residue of their substance to their babies [because you often wait to perform your judgments].

15 As for me, I will see your face in my innocence. I will be satisfied with your image when I awake.

Psalms 18

1 A psalm of David the servant of Yahweh. He spoke the words of this song to Yahweh in the day [at the time] when Yahweh had saved him out of the hand of all his enemies, and out of the hand of Saul. He said: I love you, O Yahweh my strength.

2 Yahweh is my rock, and my fortress, and my savior. He is my God and my strength, the one in whom I trust. He is my shield and the horn of my salvation, he is my refuge.

3 I will call on Yahweh, because he is worthy to be praised. And thus I will be saved from my enemies.

4 The ropes of death had surrounded me, and the floods of the ungodly men had made me afraid.

5 The ropes of the grave had surrounded me, and the snares of death had come on me.

6 But in my distress I have called on Yahweh. I cried to my God, and he heard my voice from his temple. My cry came before him, and into his ears.

7 Then the earth was shaken and it trembled. And the foundations of the mountains were shaken and moved, because he was angry.

8 Smoke went out of his nostrils, and a consuming fire out of his mouth, and coals were kindled.

9 He lowered the heavens and he came down, and darkness was under his feet.

10 He rode on the cherub and flew, and he was seen on the wings of the wind.

11 He wrapped himself in darkness that covered him like a tent, and he was hidden by dark clouds filled with water.

12 Hailstones and lightnings came out from the clouds because of the splendor of his presence.

13 Yahweh also thundered from the heaven, the Highest uttered his voice with hailstones and coals of fire.

14 He shot his arrows and scattered my enemies, he sent lightnings which confused them.

15 The bed of waters were seen, and the foundations of the world were exposed by your rebuke, O Yahweh, by the sound of the breath of your nostrils.

17 He saved me from my strong enemy and from those who hated me, because they were too mighty for me.

18 They came on me in the day of my calamity, but Yahweh was my support.

19 He has saved me and he has set me free, because he loves me.

20 Yahweh has rewarded me according to my righteousness, he has recompensed me according to the purity of my hands.

21 For I have kept the ways of Yahweh, and I have not been guilty towards my God.

22 For all his laws were before me, and I did not cast away his commandments from me.

23 I was honest with him, and I have kept myself against my iniquity.

24 Therefore Yahweh has rewarded me according to my righteousness, according to the purity of my hands in his sight.

25 You show yourself good with the one who is good, and you act uprightly with the upright man.

26 You show yourself pure with him who is pure, and with the perverse you act according to his perversity.

27 You save the people who humble themselves, and you cast down the haughty eyes.

28 Yahweh my God enlightens my darkness. Surely you will light my lamp.

29 I rush towards an armed troop because of you, I jump over a wall because of my God.

30 The way of God is uncorrupted, the word of Yahweh is tested and proved to be reliable. He is a shield to all those who trust in him.

31 For who is God besides Yahweh, and who is a refuge except our God.

32 God girds me with strength, and he guides me to the right path.

33 He makes my feet like those of a deer, and he places me on my high places.

34 He teaches my hands to fight, so that a bow of brass is broken by my arms.

35 You have also given me the shield of your salvation. Your right hand sustains me, and I have become great because of your goodness.

36 You widen the path under my feet, and my feet do not waver.

37 I have pursued my enemies and overtaken them, I have not turned until I had consumed them.

38 I have smitten them, and they will not arise again, but they will fall under my feet.

39 You have girded me with strength for battle, and you have subdued under me those who had risen against me.

40 You have caused my enemies to turn their backs before me, and I have overcome those who hated me.

41 They looked around them, and there was no one to save them. And they cried out to Yahweh, but he did not answer them.

42 And I crushed them in small pieces like the dust of the earth, and I trampled them like the mud of the streets.

43 You have saved me from the dissensions of the people, and you have kept me as ruler of the nations. A people whom I did not know serve me.

45 The sons of foreigners are weakened and come out of their strongholds trembling.

46 Yahweh is alive, blessed be the God of my strength. Let the strength of my salvation be exalted.

47 The God who is my avenger, who subdues the peoples to me.

48 He rescues me from my enemies. You help me to defeat those who rise against me, you save me from the violent man.

49 Therefore I will praise you among the nations, O Yahweh, and I will sing to the glory of your name.

50 He makes great deliverances for his king and he shows mercy to his anointed, to David and to his seed forever.

Psalms 19

1 A psalm of David. The heavens declare the glory of God, and the expanse shows the work of his hands.

2 Each new day tells more of the story, and each night reveals more about the knowledge of God.

3 And these knowledge acquired through experience is not explained by a word or a speech, their voice is not heard [it is transmitted only by comprehension].

4 And their communication is experienced throughout all the earth, their teaching reaches the ends of the world. He has set a tabernacle there for the sun.

5 The sun comes out like a bridegroom out of his private room, and rejoices to run on its way like an athlete.

6 It rises at one end of the sky, and goes on its way to the other end. Nothing is continuously hidden from its warmth.

7 The law of Yahweh is perfect, it converts the soul. The testimony of Yahweh is reliable, it makes the simple wise.

8 The statutes of Yahweh are right, and they rejoice the heart. The commandments of Yahweh are pure, and they enlighten the eyes.

9 The fear of Yahweh is clean, and it endures forever. The judgments of Yahweh are true, and they are all fair.

10 They are more precious than gold, than much fine gold, and sweeter than honey and the honeycomb.

11 They make your servant circumspect, and there is a great reward for whoever keeps them.

12 Who can discern all his errors. Forgive me those of which I am ignorant.

13 Keep your servant from presumptuous sins. Let them not rule over me, and then I will be upright and clean from great sins.

14 Let the words of my mouth and the meditation of my heart be acceptable in your sight, O Yahweh my strength and my redeemer.

Psalms 20

1 A psalm of David. May Yahweh answer you in the day [the times] of trouble. May the name of the God of Jacob protect you.

2 May he send you help from the sanctuary, and strengthen you from Zion.

3 May he remember all your offerings and turn your burnt offerings into ashes. Pause.

4 May he grant you the desires of your heart and accomplish all your plans.

5 We will rejoice in your salvation, and set up the banner in the name of our God, when Yahweh will perform all your desires.

6 Now I know that Yahweh will save his anointed, and will answer him from his dwelling place by the mighty help of his right hand.

7 Some trust in chariots, and some in horses. But we call on the name of Yahweh our God.

8 They bow down and fall, but we rise and stand upright.

9 Save us, Yahweh. Let the King [Yahweh] answer us when we call on him.

Psalms 21

1 A psalm of David. The king rejoices in your strength, O Yahweh. Yes, he greatly rejoices in your salvation.

2 You have given him the desire of his heart, and you have not withheld the request of his lips. Pause.

3 For you have come to him with the blessings of goodness, and you have set a crown of pure gold on his head.

4 He asked life of you, and you gave him a long life forever and ever.

5 His glory is great in your salvation. You have laid honor and majesty on him.

6 For you have set him as a blessing forever. You have filled him with the joy of your countenance.

7 For the king trusts in Yahweh, and it is because of the lovingkindness of the Most High that he will not fall.

8 Your hand will identify all your enemies. Your right hand will identify those who hate you.

9 You will make them like a fiery furnace in the time of your anger. Yahweh will destroy them in his anger, and the fire will devour them.

10 You will destroy their fruit from the earth, and their seed from among the children of men.

11 For they have conceived deception and have planned evil against you [your spirit]. Therefore they will not prevail continuously.

12 For you will set them apart, and you will prepare the strings of your bow to shoot at their faces.

13 Arise, O Yahweh, in your strength. We will sing and praise your power.

Psalms 22

1 A psalm of David. My God, my God, why have you forsaken me. Why are you far from helping me, and not listening to the words of my groaning.

2 O my God, I cry in the daytime and I am not silent in the night, but you do not answer.

3 Nevertheless you are the holy one, and you inhabit the praises of Israel.

4 Our fathers trusted in you. They trusted, and you save them.

5 They cried to you, and were saved. They trusted in you, and were not disappointed.

6 But I am a worm and not a man. People make fun of me and despise me.

7 All those who see me mock me. They open their mouths and shake their heads.

8 And they say: Call on Yahweh, and he will save you. He will rescue you because he loves you.

9 But you brought me out of the womb of my mother. I have trusted in you before the time when I was on my mother's breasts.

10 I was joined to you from the womb of my mother. You are my God since the time when I was in my mother's belly.

11 Do not be far from me. For trouble is near, and there is no other to help me.

12 There are many bulls around me, strong bulls of Bashan have surrounded me.

14 I am poured out like water, and all my bones are out of joint. My heart is like wax, it is melted in my bowels.

15 My strength is dried up like a potsherd, and my tongue is attached to my palate. You have brought me into the dust of death.

16 For dogs have surrounded me, a company of evildoers have inclosed me. They pierced my hands and my feet.

17 I can count all my bones. They look and stare at me.

18 They divide my garments among them, they cast lots for my tunic.

19 But you are not far away, O Yahweh. You are my strength, come quickly to help me.

20 Save my soul from the sword, my life from the power of the dogs.

22 I will declare your name among my brothers, I will sing praises to you in the midst of the assembly.

23 Praise Yahweh, you who fear him. Glorify him, you all the seed of Jacob. Tremble before him, you all the seed of Israel.

24 For he will not despise or disdain the affliction of the powerless. He will not hide his face from the powerless, but he will hear when the powerless cries to him.

25 You will be my praise in the great assembly, I will pay my vows before those who fear him.

26 The powerless will eat and be satisfied. Those who seek Yahweh will praise him. Your heart will live forever [the heart of the powerless].

27 All the ends of the world will remember Yahweh and turn to him. All the families of the nations will worship before you.

28 For the kingship belongs to Yahweh, and he rules among the nations.

29 All the powerful persons of the earth will also eat and worship. All those who go down to the dust will bow before him, each of those who cannot keep their lives.

30 His seed will serve him, for the Lord will be spoken of in the next generation.

31 Each generation will proclaim his righteousness [the righteousness of the Lord] to the next who will be born, they will proclaim the work that he has done.

Psalms 23

1 The psalm of David. Yahweh is my shepherd, I will not be short of anything.

2 He makes me rest in green pastures, he leads me beside still waters.

3 He restores my soul. He leads me in the paths of righteousness for the sake of his name.

4 Even if I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil because you are with me. I am comforted by your rod and your staff.

5 You prepare a table before me in the sight of my adversaries. You have anointed my head with oil, so that my cup overflows.

6 Surely goodness and mercy will follow me during all the days of my life, and I will dwell in the house of Yahweh forever.

Psalms 24

1 A psalm of David. The earth and everything on it belong to Yahweh. The world and those who dwell in it belong to him.

2 For he has set its foundations on the seas, and established it on the rivers.

3 Who will ascend to the mountain of Yahweh. Who will stand in his holy place.

4 He who has clean hands and a pure heart. He who does not pervert his soul by futile behaviors, and does not swear deceitfully [to mislead some others without having publicly acceptable justifications in his heart].

5 He will receive a blessing from Yahweh, the mercy of the God of his salvation.

6 This is the portion of those who seek him, of those who seek your face. This is Jacob. Pause.

7 Lift up your heads, you the gates. Be lifted up, you the everlasting doors, and the king of glory will come in.

8 Who is this king of glory. It is Yahweh, the one who is strong and mighty. Yahweh, the one who is mighty in battle.

9 Lift up your heads, you the gates. Lift up yourselves, you the everlasting doors, and the king of glory will come in.

10 Who is this king of glory. Yahweh the God of armies, he is the king of glory. Pause.

Psalms 25

1 A psalm of David. I lift up my soul to you, O Yahweh.

2 My God, it is in you that I have put my trust. Therefore you will not allow me to be continually covered with shame, you will not let my enemies triumph over me.

3 For none of those who hope in you will be continually covered with shame, and disappointment will come only to those who try to mislead some others without having publicly acceptable justifications in their hearts.

4 Show me your ways, O Yahweh. Teach me your paths.

5 Lead me in your truth, and instruct me. For you are the God of my salvation, you are my hope forever.

6 Remember, O Yahweh, your tender mercies and your lovingkindness. For they are everlasting.

7 Do not remember the sins of my youth, nor my rebellions. But remember me according to your kindness, for the sake of your mercy, O Yahweh.

8 Yahweh is good and fair. Therefore he will instruct sinners in the way.

9 He will lead the powerless in righteousness, and teach the humble his way.

10 All the paths of Yahweh are mercy and truth for those who keep his covenant and his testimonies.

11 O Yahweh, forgive the great iniquity that I have done. Do it for the sake of your name.

12 Who is the man who fears Yahweh. Yahweh will instruct him on how to behave.

13 His soul will dwell at ease, and his seed will inherit the land.

14 The secrets of Yahweh are revealed to those who fear him, he will make them understand his covenant.

15 My eyes are constantly turned toward Yahweh. For he will pluck my feet out of the snares.

16 Turn your face toward me and have mercy on me. For I am desolate and powerless.

17 The sorrows of my heart have increased, save me from my troubles.

18 Look at my affliction and my pain, and forgive all my sins.

19 Consider my enemies, because they are many and they hate me with a cruel hatred.

20 Rescue me and keep my soul. Do not allow me to be continuously covered with shame, because I seek refuge in you.

21 Let my uprightness and fairness preserve me. For you are my hope.

Psalms 26

1 A psalm of David. Give me justice, O Yahweh, for I have walked in my innocence. I have trusted in Yahweh and that is why all my work will not be destroyed.

2 Examine me, O Yahweh, probe me. Probe my kidneys and my heart.

3 For I have always remember your lovingkindness, and I have walked in your truth.

4 I have not sat with those who love falseness, I have not joined the companies of dissemblers [those who engage in misleading behavior without having publicly acceptable justifications in their hearts].

5 I have hated the assembly of evildoers, and I have not sought to sit with the wicked.

6 I will wash my hands in my innocence, O Yahweh, and walk around your altar. [And thus you will judge me without delay. For you cannot allow one with a guilty heart to use your holy place to deceive others into believing his innocence.]

7 And there I will lift up my voice of thanksgiving, and tell of all your wondrous works.

8 I love the dwelling place of your house, the place where your honor dwells.

9 Do not gather my soul with those of the sinners, do not take away my life with those of men of blood. [Do not associate my final fate with those of people whose actions are unjustifiable. This is the wish of David, and it can be noted that Jesus the Son of God will be placed alone in a new tomb despite the fact of having been killed at the sides of two men among whom one was truly wicked.]

11 As for me, I will walk in my innocence. Redeem me and be merciful to me.

12 My foot stands on a high place. I will praise Yahweh in the assemblies.

Psalms 27

1 A psalm of David. Yahweh is my light and my salvation. Who will I fear. Yahweh is the strength of my life. Of whom will I be afraid.

2 When the evildoers come against me to eat my flesh, these same people from my persecutor and my enemies are those who stumble and fall.

3 If an army were to encamp against me, my heart would not be afraid. If war were to arise against me, I would nevertheless be confident.

4 I ask one thing from Yahweh, and it is the thing that I desire the most. I want to dwell in the house of Yahweh during all the days of my life, to admire the beauty of Yahweh and to enquire in his temple.

5 For his house would be my shelter in the time of trouble. He would hide me in the shelter of his house, and he would set me up on a rock.

6 And now my head is lifted up above my enemies who are around me. Therefore I will offer sacrifices of joy in his tabernacle. In other words, I will sing. Yes, I will sing praises to Yahweh.

7 Hear my voice when I cry to you, O Yahweh. Have mercy on me and answer me.

8 You have said to your people, Seek my face. And my heart says to you: I seek your face, O Yahweh.

9 Therefore do not hide your face from me, do not reject me in your anger. You are my help. Do not forsake me nor fail me, O God of my salvation.

10 For my father and mother may forsake me, but Yahweh will care for me.

11 Teach me your way, O Yahweh. Lead me in the right path because of my enemies.

12 Do not deliver me to the will of my adversaries. For false witnesses have risen up against me, and they are planning atrocious things.

13 I would faint if I did not hope to see the goodness of Yahweh in the land of the living.

14 Hope in Yahweh. Be strong, and he will comfort your heart. Trust in Yahweh.

Psalms 28

1 A psalm of David. I cry to you, O Yahweh. Do not be deaf to me, you who are my strength, lest I become like those who go down to the pit when you stop taking care of me.

2 Hear the voice of my supplications when I cry to you, when I lift up my hands toward your holy oracle [the most holy place of your sanctuary].

3 Do not carry me away with the wicked and with the workers of iniquity, all those who speak peace to their neighbors while malice is in their hearts [the desires of their hearts cannot be justified].

4 Reward them according to their deeds, according to the wickedness of their endeavours. Repay them according to the work of their hands, give them what they deserve.

5 For they have not considered the works of Yahweh, the testimonies of how his hand has behaved toward his people. Therefore you will not raise them up, but you will overthrow them.

6 Blessed be Yahweh, for he has heard the voice of my supplications.

7 Yahweh is my strength and my shield. My heart has trusted in him, and he helped me. Therefore my heart rejoices, and I praise him with my song.

8 Yahweh is the strength of his people, he is the strength of the salvation of his anointed.

9 Save your people and bless your inheritance. Be their shepherd, and exalt them forever.

Psalms 29

1 A psalm of David. Exalt Yahweh, you who are godly. Recognize in him the glory and the strength.

2 Glorify the power of his name [his identity]. Worship Yahweh for the beauty of his holiness.

3 The voice of Yahweh can be heard on the seas when the God of glory thunders. It is Yahweh who cries out over the raging waters [for all the phenomena of nature are the work of his hand].

6 He makes them leap like a calf, and Lebanon and the Sirion like young buffaloes.

8 The voice of Yahweh causes the wilderness to tremble. Yahweh causes the wilderness of Kadesh to tremble.

9 The voice of Yahweh causes the hinds to give birth, and it destroys the forests. In his holy dwelling in heaven, all his angels say: Glory.

10 Yahweh is sitting on the floods. Yes, Yahweh reigns over all things forever.

11 Yahweh will give strength to his people [that is to say to everyone who fears him], Yahweh will bless his people with peace.

Psalms 30

1 A psalm. A song made at the dedication of the house of David. I will glorify you, O Yahweh. For you have exalted me, you did not want my enemies to continuously rejoice over me.

2 O Yahweh my God, I have cried to you and you have restored me.

3 You have brought my soul up from the grave, O Yahweh. You have revived me from those who go down to the pit.

4 Sing praises to Yahweh, you his saints [that is to say anyone who obeys him]. Give thanks to the remembrance of his holiness [that is to say, the knowledge of his way of acting].

5 For his anger lasts for a moment, but his mercy give life [his mercy lasts forever]. Weeping can endure for the night, but the consolation comes in the morning.

6 When I was thriving, I thought that no more difficulties would arise in my life.

7 For you had caused my mountain to stand strong by your goodness, O Yahweh. But you did hide your face after that, and I was troubled.

8 Therefore I cried to you, O Yahweh. I implored my Lord.

9 What advantage is there in my blood if you bring me down to the pit now. Will the dust praise you among the living or declare your truth.

10 Hear, O Yahweh, and have mercy on me. For you are my helper, O Yahweh.

11 And after that you turned my lamentation into joy. You loosed my sackcloth and girded me with gladness.

12 Therefore my tongue will praise you continuously. I will praise you forever, O Yahweh my God.

Psalms 31

1 A psalm of David. I have put my trust in you, O Yahweh. Let me not be covered with shame continually. Save me because of your righteousness.

2 Turn your ear to me, and hasten to help me. For you are the strong rock, the house of defence in which I find my salvation.

3 For you are my rock and my fortress. Guide me and instruct me, for the sake of your name.

4 Take me out of the snare that they have secretly set for me. For you are my strength.

5 I have submitted my spirit to your will [I have not turned away from your commandments]. Thus you have redeemed me, O Yahweh the God of truth.

6 I hate those who cling to vanities [useless behaviors]. For I trust in Yahweh.

7 I will rejoice in your mercy and be glad. For you have seen my affliction, you have known the anguish of my soul in adversities.

8 And you have not given me into the hand of the enemy, but you have freed me from their traps.

9 You have had mercy on me, O Yahweh. For I was in distress. My eyes were consumed with grief, as well as my soul and my belly.

10 For my life was been spent in torment, and my years in sighing. My strength was failing because of my pain, and my bones were consumed.

11 All my enemies despised me, and also more particularly my neighbors. I was a terror to my friends, and they fled from me when they saw me outside.

12 I was forgotten in thoughts like a dead man, and I was like a broken vessel.

13 For I had heard the slander of many, and fear was on all sides. When they had taken counsel together against me, they had planned to take away my life.

14 But I trusted in you, O Yahweh. I said: You are my God.

15 My destiny is in your hand. Save me from the hand of my enemies, and from those who persecute me.

16 Cause your face to shine on your servant. Save me because of your lovingkindness.

17 Let me not be covered with shame continually, O Yahweh. For I call on you. Let the wicked be covered with shame and silenced in the grave.

18 Let the deceptive lips be silenced, those who speak in their hearts against the righteous with pride and contempt and cruelty.

19 Your goodness is great. You have stored it for those who fear you, and you perform it in the sight of the sons of men for those who trust in you.

20 You protect them in the shelter of your presence from the pride of man. You protect them in your tent from the strife of tongues.

21 Blessed be Yahweh. For he has shown his marvellous lovingkindness toward me, when I was in a city surrounded by enemies.

22 I thought in my haste, I am driven out of your sight. But you heard the voice of my supplications when I cried to you.

23 Love Yahweh, you all his saints [that is to say anyone who obeys him]. For Yahweh preserves the faithful, but he punishes the proud severely.

24 Be strong and let your hearts be strengthened, you all who hope in Yahweh.

Psalms 32

1 A psalm of David, words designed to be valid for all possible life situations and to give wisdom. Blessed is the one whose transgression is forgiven, for his sin is covered.

2 Blessed is the person whose iniquity is forgiven by Yahweh. The spirit of such a person is not perverse [that is to say, the mind constantly feels the desire to be able to justify itself either to other people in the situations that would require it, or sometimes only to his God because of particular circumstances and background].

3 As long as I did not acknowledge my transgression by asking forgiveness from those directly affected, my bones were wasting away from within and I was groaning every day [from the time when you started to get impatient, from day to night you will have killed me].

4 For your hand was heavy on me day and night, and I was becoming like a dry wilderness during the summer. Pause.

5 Then I have acknowledged my sin to you, I have not hidden my iniquity. For I said, 'I will confess my transgressions to Yahweh'. Therefore you have forgiven my sin [You have only given a suitable punishment, and you have not erased my name from under the heaven since you have allowed me to possess a useful legacy in the world of the living]. Pause. [In the law given by Moses, the guilty person must do an action in favor of the unjustifiably offended persons and in the presence of a priest namely a descendant of Aaron. For the priests and all the other members of the tribe of Levi were chosen by Yahweh to be the intermediaries between God and men among the children of Jacob. However in the particular case of the sin of David, Nathan the intermediary was perhaps not a Levite but he was at least a recognized prophet, and after the coming of Jesus Christ there is no longer a physically living intermediary between God and men.]

6 Let any godly man confess his sins while there is still time to find you, when you establish the means to indicate to him that it is the way to go. Surely destruction will not reach him, even during the floods of great waters. [You will grant him an inheritance that even the floods will not destroy, for it will be preserved possibly anonymously whenever you execute your judgments.]

7 You are my secret refuge [O Yahweh]. You preserve me during misfortunes, you surround me with your joy. Pause.

8 And you say to the one who has repented: I will instruct you and show you the way that you have to follow. I will guide you with my eyes [while you cling to my spirit].

9 Now therefore, do not be like a horse or a mule who do not want to obey. His mouth must be held with the bit and the bridle, lest he become uncontrollable.

10 Many sorrows await the wicked, but the one who trusts in Yahweh is surrounded by his grace.

11 Be glad, you the righteous. Be comforted and rejoice in Yahweh, all of you who are upright in heart.

Psalms 33

1 Rejoice in Yahweh, O you the righteous. For praise is suitable for the upright.

2 Praise Yahweh with the harp, sing praises to him with the psaltery of ten strings.

5 He loves righteousness and justice. The earth is full of the mercy of Yahweh.

6 The heavens were made by the word of Yahweh, and all their host by the breath of his mouth.

7 He gathers the waters of the sea together in a heap, he puts the deeps in storehouses.

8 Let all the earth fear Yahweh, let all the inhabitants of the world tremble before him.

9 For when he speaks, the thing occurs. And when he commands, there are consequences.

10 Yahweh can bring the counsel of the nations to nought. He decides whether the plans of the peoples will be carried out or not.

11 The counsel of Yahweh stands forever, and the thoughts of his heart are for instruction throughout all generations.

12 Blessed is the nation whose God is Yahweh, blessed is the people that he has chosen for his inheritance.

13 Yahweh looks down from heaven, he examines all the children of men.

15 He who forms the hearts of all and understands all their works.

17 It is not wise to rely solely on the horse for safety, it is not because of the great power of the horse that the plan will be a success.

18 For the eye of Yahweh is on those who fear him, on those who hope in his mercy.

19 To give them strength when they are hungry, to save their souls from death.

20 Our soul waits for Yahweh, because he is our help and our shield.

21 Surely our heart will rejoice in him, because we have trusted in his holy name.

22 Let your mercy be on us, O Yahweh, because we wait for you.

Psalms 34

1 A psalm of David, when he changed his behavior before Abimelech [Achish] by pretending to be mad and was sent away by Achish. I will bless Yahweh at all times, his praise will be in my mouth continuously.

2 My soul will boast in Yahweh. The powerless will hear of it and be glad.

3 Praise Yahweh with me. Let us honor his name together.

4 I sought Yahweh, and he answered me. He set me free from all my fears.

5 The one who looks toward him and run to him will be comforted, and will not be covered with shame.

6 When the powerless man cries, Yahweh hears and assist him in all his troubles.

7 For the angel of Yahweh encamps around those who fear him in order to provide them with an adequate assistance.

8 Taste and see that Yahweh is good. Blessed is the man who takes refuge in him.

9 Fear Yahweh, you his saints. For those who fear him lack nothing [of what is necessary for their salvation].

10 The young lions can be needy and suffer hunger, but those who seek Yahweh will not lack any good thing. [They will know how to recognize what is useful for them.]

11 Children, come and listen to me. For I will teach you the fear of Yahweh.

12 Who is the man who desires life. Who is the one who would like to have many days to see the triumph of good.

13 Keep your tongue from evil. Keep your lips from speaking cunningly without having publicly acceptable justifications in your heart.

14 Depart from evil and do good, seek and pursue peace.

15 The eyes of Yahweh are on the righteous, and his ears are open to their cry.

17 When the righteous cry, Yahweh hears and provides them with an adequate assistance in all their troubles.

18 Yahweh is close to those who have broken hearts, and saves those who have contrite spirits.

19 The troubles of the righteous are great, but Yahweh will always save him. [He will have a useful legacy among the living.]

20 He keeps all his bones, not one of them is broken.

21 But the wicked will be killed by his malice, and all those who hate the righteous will perish.

22 Yahweh redeems the souls of his servants, and none of those who take refuge in him will perish.

Psalms 35

1 A psalm of David. Defend me against my adversaries, O Yahweh. Fight yourself against those who fight against me.

2 Take up the shield and the buckler, and stand up to help me with it.

3 Take also the spear and the javelin to fight against my persecutors. Say to my soul: I am your salvation.

4 Let those who seek my life be covered with shame. Let them turn back and be confused, all those who plan my destruction.

5 Let them be like chaff carried away by the wind, and let the angel of Yahweh chase them.

6 Let their way be dark and slippery, and let the angel of Yahweh chase them.

7 For they have dug a pit for my soul, without cause. And they have hid the pit to make it a trap, without cause.

8 Let destruction come on them suddenly. Let them be caught in the trap that they have set in secret, let them be destroyed by their own wicked plans.

9 And then my soul will rejoice in Yahweh, and will be glad in his salvation.

10 All my bones will say: Who is like you, O Yahweh. You protect the powerless from the one who is too strong for him, and also the poor and needy from the one who plunders them.

11 False witnesses have arisen, and they question me of things that I do not know.

12 They reward me evil for the good that I have done, they trouble my soul.

13 As for me, I did put on sackcloth when they were sick. I humbled my soul with fasting, and I prayed with my head bowed in my bosom.

14 I behaved myself as if it had been for my friend or for my brother. I bowed down with sorrow, as one who laments his mother.

15 Nevertheless they gather together and rejoice when I stumble. The abjects gather without my knowledge to insult me, they tear me without ceasing.

17 Lord, how long will you see it. Protect my soul from their snares, my life from the lions.

18 I will praise you in the great assembly; I will praise you among many people.

19 Let not those who are wrongfully my enemies rejoice over me. Let not those who hate me without a cause insult me with their eyes.

20 For they speak not peace, but they plan deceitful words against those who are quiet in the land.

21 And they opened their mouths against me by saying: Aha, aha, our eyes are seeing.

22 You have seen it, O Yahweh. Do not be silent, do not be far from me, O Lord.

23 Arise to execute my judgment, to make known your decision on my cause, you who are my God and my Lord.

24 Judge me according to your righteousness, O Yahweh my God. Let them not rejoice continually in my sufferings.

25 Let them not say in their hearts, This is what we wanted. Let them not say, We have devoured him.

26 Let them be ashamed and be confused, all those who rejoice at my suffering. Let them be clothed with shame and confusion, all those who magnify themselves against me.

27 And concerning those who recognize my innocence and are saddened by my sufferings, give them the opportunity to rejoice continuously by saying: Let Yahweh be magnified, for he desires that his servants triumph.

28 And my tongue will speak of your righteousness. It will praise you every day.

Psalms 36

1 A psalm of David the servant of Yahweh. The transgression of the wicked man causes me to say in my heart: There is no fear of God before his eyes.

2 For he flatters himself in his own eyes, while his iniquity is found worthy to be hated.

3 The words of his mouth are false and deceitful without justification. He does not know true wisdom and does not do good without reprehensible reasons.

4 He plans iniquity on his bed. He walks in a way that is not good, and he does not abhor evil.

5 The manifestation of your goodness reaches to the sky, O Yahweh. The manifestation of your faithfulness reaches the clouds.

6 Your righteousness is like the great mountains. Your judgments are like the great deep. You save man and beast, O Yahweh.

7 Your mercy is the most precious thing, O God. Those who are wise among the children of men take refuge in the shadow of your wings.

8 They will be satisfied with the fatness [all the good things] of your house, and you will give them drink from the river of your pleasures.

9 For with you is the fountain of life, and it is by your light [your teaching] that we will see light.

10 Increase your lovingkindness to those who know you, and your righteousness to those who are upright in heart.

11 Let not the foot of proud people come against me, and let not the hand of the wicked prevail against me.

12 There is a place for the workers of iniquity who have fallen. They are overthrown and will not be able to arise again.

Psalms 37

1 A psalm of David. Do not fret because of the wicked, and envy not those who do iniquity.

2 For they are like grass. They will quickly disappear like green herbs that wither.

3 Trust in Yahweh and do good. Dwell in the land and rely on his faithfulness [the faithfulness of Yahweh].

4 Make of Yahweh your greatest pleasure, and he will give you what your heart desires.

5 Seek Yahweh in all that you do. Trust in Him, and he will act for you.

6 He will bring forth your righteousness as the light, and your judgment as the noonday sun.

7 Trust in Yahweh and wait patiently for him. Do not fret because of the one who prospers in his ways, or because of the man whose wicked plans are successful.

8 Repel anger and worry, because it can encourage you to do evil.

9 For the wicked will be cut off, and those who wait for Yahweh will inherit the land.

10 A little while, and the wicked will be no more. You will look at the place where his wickedness was causing distress to others, and he will not be found.

11 But the powerless will inherit the land, and will delight in the abundance of peace.

12 The wicked secretly make plans to hurt the righteous, and gnashes his teeth against the righteous.

13 But Yahweh laughs at the wicked, for he sees that the wicked will get what they deserve.

14 The wicked have drawn the sword and bent the bow, in order to bring down the powerless and needy, an to kill those whose ways are honest.

15 But their sword will enter into their own heart, and their bows will be broken.

16 A little that a righteous man has, is better than the abundance of many wicked men.

17 For the arms of the wicked will be broken, and Yahweh will endorses what the righteous is fighting for.

18 Yahweh knows the daily struggles of honest men, and their inheritance will last forever.

19 Their inheritances will not be destroyed by perilous times, and they will have enough to eat during the days of famine.

20 But the wicked will perish. The enemies of Yahweh are will be consumed like the fat of lambs, for they will be consumed and turned into smoke.

21 The wicked borrows and does not repay. But the righteous is merciful and gives.

22 For those whom Yahweh blesses will inherit the land, and those whom he curses will be cut off.

24 He will not fall even if he stumbles, because Yahweh sustains his hand.

25 I have been young, and now am old. Yet I have not seen the righteous forsaken, nor his seed begging bread.

26 But he is always merciful and generous, and his seed is blessed.

27 Depart from evil and do good, and you will live forever.

28 For Yahweh loves justice. He does not abandon his saints, they are preserved forever. But the seed [legacy] of the wicked will be cut off.

29 The righteous will inherit the land, and dwell there forever.

31 For the law of his God is in his heart, and his steps will not slip.

32 The wicked watches the righteous, and seeks to kill him.

33 But Yahweh will not leave the righteous in the hand of the wicked, nor condemn the righteous when he is judged.

34 Wait for Yahweh by keeping his way, and he will exalt you to inherit the land. And you will see when the wicked are cut off.

35 I have seen the wicked being strong, and spreading himself like a green bay tree.

36 And it happened that I looked again, and behold, he had gone. I sought him, but he could not be found.

37 Observe upright man, and consider the one who is blameless. For the peaceful person will have a legacy.

38 But the transgressors will be destroyed together. The legacy of the wicked will be cut off.

39 For the salvation of the righteous comes from Yahweh, he is their strength in the times of trouble.

40 Yahweh helps the righteous and rescues them. He rescues them from the wicked and saves them, because they take refuge in him.

Psalms 38

1 A psalm of David for remembrance, words designed to be valid for all possible life situations. O Yahweh, do not rebuke me in your anger, do not punish me in your fury.

2 For your arrows have struck me, and your hand his heavy on me.

3 There is no soundness in my flesh, because of your anger. There is no strength in my bones, because of my sin.

4 For my iniquities have been laid on my head. And they are too heavy for me, like a heavy burden.

5 My wounds are festering and putrefied, because of my foolishness.

6 I am troubled and deeply bowed. I go mourning all the day long.

7 For a burning devours my waist, and there is no soundness in my flesh.

8 I am weakened and utterly broken. I roar because of the disquietness of my heart.

9 Lord, all my desire is before you. For my sighs are not hidden from you.

10 My heart is troubled. My strength fails me, and the light of my eyes have gone away.

11 My friends and neighbors stand aloof from my plague, and my kinsmen stand afar off.

12 Those who seek my life lay their snares. Those who seek to hurt me speak wicked things and plan deceits all the day long.

13 But I do not want to hear, as if I were a deaf man. And I do not want to open my mouth, as if I were a dumb man.

14 So I am like a man who does not hear, and in whose mouth there is no reproofs.

15 For I hope in you, O Yahweh. You will answer me, O Lord my God.

16 And I say: Let them not rejoice over me continuously. They extol themselves against me because my foot has slipped.

17 For I am ready to fall, and my sorrow is continually before me.

18 For I have acknowledged my iniquity [according to the procedure indicated by your law], and I am sorry because of my sin.

19 And nevertheless my enemies are lively and full of strength. Those who hate me wrongfully are many.

20 They reward me evil for good. They are my adversaries, because I follow goodness.

21 Do not forsake me, O Yahweh. Do not be far from me, you my God.

22 Come quickly to my aid, my Lord and my salvation.

Psalms 39

1 A psalm of David. I had said: I will watch over my ways, lest I sin with my tongue. I will put a bridle on my mouth whenever there will be wicked men before me.

2 Therefore I not only refrained from saying words that could have been misinterpreted, but I also refrained from saying good words. And I became sad.

3 And my heart burned within me. And the more I thought about it, the sadder I became. Therefore I opened my mouth and spoke the following words.

4 O Yahweh, let me know what my end will be. And let me know how many days I have, so that I may be aware of the short time that I have left to live.

5 Behold you have made my days as the width of a hand, for my lifetime is as nothing before you. Surely every man in his best state is nothing but vanity. Pause.

6 Doubtless man walks in a shadow, and disquiets himself in vain. He gathers riches without having certainty about who will use them after his death, because unforeseeable events can happen at any time to anyone.

7 And now, Lord, what can I hope. My hope is in you.

8 Save me from the consequences of all my transgressions [because I have acknowledged them by following the procedure indicated in your law]. Do not allow me to become an example not to follow in the mouths of fools.

9 I should be silent and not open my mouth, because you are the one who is acting.

10 But I want to make supplications to my judge. Stop your attacks against me, because I am falling under the hits of your hand.

11 You rebuke man by punishing him for his iniquity. You cause the physical beauty of his achievements to become like a garment damaged by moths. Surely every man [in his best state] is nothing but vanity. Pause.

12 Hear my prayer, O Yahweh. Give ear to my cry, do not keep silent about my tears. For I am a sojourner and a pilgrim in your world of the living, like all my fathers.

13 Turn your anger away from me, so that I may experience true joy before death sets me aside.

Psalms 40

1 A psalm of David. I had put my hope in Yahweh. And he has looked at me, and has heard my cry.

2 And he has brought me out of the pit of destruction, out of the boggy clay. He has set my feet on the rock, and he has established my steps.

3 He has put a new song in my mouth, a song of praise to our God. Many will see it, and they will fear and trust in Yahweh.

4 Blessed is the man who makes Yahweh his trust. Such a man does not envy the liars [who deceive others without having publicly acceptable justifications in their hearts] or the proud.

5 O Yahweh my God, your wonderful works and plans toward us are so many that no one can set them in order before you. I would like to declare them and talk about them, but they are more than what I am able to express.

6 You do not really want animal sacrifices or meal offerings, you have opened my ears to understand it. You do not really want burnt offerings or sin offerings.

7 Therefore I said, 'Lo, I come'. And it is written of me in the content of the book.

8 O my God, I take pleasure in doing your will. And your law is deep inside my heart.

9 I have proclaimed your righteousness in the great assembly. And behold, O Yahweh, you know that I will not refrain my lips.

10 I have not hidden your righteousness within my heart, but I have declared your faithfulness and your salvation. I have not concealed your mercy and your truth in the great assembly.

11 Do not withhold your tender mercy from me, O Yahweh. Let your mercy and your truth preserve me continuously.

12 For I am surrounded by innumerable troubles. My sins have overcome me and I am not able to lift up my head. They are more numerous than the hairs of my head, therefore I have lost my courage.

13 May it please you to set me free, O Yahweh. Come quickly to my aid.

14 Let them be ashamed and confused together, all those who seek my soul to destroy it. Let them turn back and be rebuked, all those who want to hurt me.

15 Let them be astonished by their shame, all those who say about me: Aha, aha.

16 Give to all those who seek you reasons to rejoice in you and to be happy. Give to all those who love your salvation reasons to say continuously: Yahweh is worthy of praise.

17 As for me, I am poor and needy but Yahweh thinks about me. You are my helper and my savior. Do not delay, O my God.

Psalms 41

1 A psalm of David. Blessed is he who considers the weak. Yahweh will help him in the times of trouble.

2 Yahweh will protect him and keep him alive. He will be blessed on earth, and you will not give him to the will of his enemies.

3 Yahweh will strengthen him on the bed of sorrow. You will assuage his grief in all his diseases.

4 Therefore I said: O Yahweh, have mercy on me and heal my soul. For I have sinned against you.

5 My enemies speak wickedly of me by saying: When will he die. When will his name be destroyed.

6 If someone comes to see me, then he will speak falsely. For his heart comes to gather topics to gossip about me, and then he will go to tell it.

7 All those who hate me whisper together against me, and they plan to hurt me.

8 He has been seriously struck. He will fall and will not rise again.

9 My familiar friend who had my confidence and who ate my bread, the same has lifted up his heel against me.

10 But you, O Yahweh, have mercy on me and restore me. And thus they will understand that your spirit is not to be mocked.

11 I know that you love me, because my enemy will not triumph over me.

12 For you will succor me because of my integrity, and you will set me before your face for ever.

13 Blessed be Yahweh the God of Israel, from everlasting to everlasting. So be it, so be it.

Psalms 42

1 A psalm of the sons of Korah. As a deer strongly desires the water brooks, so my soul strongly desires you, O God.

2 My soul thirsts for God, for the living God. When will I come and appear before the face of God.

3 My tears have been my food day and night, while my enemies tell me daily: Where is your God.

4 I remember with a broken heart the times when I walked among the crowd and led them to the house of God. At these times we lifted up our voices to sing and praise, as a multitude keeping a feast.

5 Why is my soul cast down now. Why is it groaning within me. But I wait for God, and I will always praise him because my salvation comes from his presence.

6 O my God, my soul is cast down within me because I remember you from the land of Jordan, from the hill Mizar on the mount Hermon.

7 Deep calls to deep at the noise of your waterfalls. All your waves and your billows are going over me.

8 In a not so distant past, Yahweh was gracious to me by day and I sang his praises by night. I made prayers to the God of my life.

9 And now I say to God who is my strength: Why have you forgotten me. Why must I walk in the sorrow caused by the oppression of the enemy.

10 The provocations of my enemies make me feel like my bones are being broken. And they tell me daily: Where is your God.

11 Why is my soul cast down now. Why is it groaning within me. But I wait for God, and I will always praise him because he is my helper and my God.

Psalms 43

1 Judge me, O God, and defend my cause against ungodly people. Protect me against the deceitful and unjust man.

2 For you are the God of my strength. Why have you rejected me. Why must I walk in the sorrow caused by the oppression of the enemy.

3 Send your light and your faithfulness, and let them guide me. Let them bring me to your holy mountain and to your dwelling places.

4 Then I will go to the altar of God, to the God of my joy and my happiness. And I will sing praises to you on the harp, O God, my God.

5 Why is my soul cast down now. Why is it groaning within me. But I wait for God, and I will always praise him because he is my helper and my God.

Psalms 44

1 A psalm of the sons of Korah. We have heard with our ears, O God. Our fathers have told us of the works that you did in their days, and in the days of old.

2 You have driven out the nations with your hand in order to plant our fathers. You struck down peoples so that our fathers could settle down.

3 For they did not possess the land because of their own swords. It was not because of their own strength that they had prevailed. But it was done by your right hand, that is to say by the light of your countenance, because you loved them.

4 You are my king, O God. Come to the aid of Jacob.

5 We overthrow our enemies when you are at our side. It is because of your name that we trample with confidence on those who rise up against us.

6 For I do not trust in my bow, and I know that it is not my sword that saves me.

7 For it is you who saves us from our adversaries, it is you who puts those who hate us to shame [either because of your promises that you have made and that you must fulfill, or because of our obedience to the will of your spirit].

8 We will glory in God continuously, we will praise your name forever. Pause.

9 But now you have rejected us. You did not go with us into battle, and you allowed our enemies to humiliate us.

10 You have caused us to turn back before the adversary, and those who hate us have plundered us.

11 You have given us like sheep appointed for food, you have scattered us among the nations.

12 You have sold your people without asking for compensation, you did not want to increase your wealth by their price.

13 You have made us a joke to our neighbors, a mockery and a derision to those who are around us.

14 You have made us a proverb among the nations, and a shaking of the head among the peoples.

15 My dishonor is before me every day, shame has covered my face.

16 Because of the voice of those who insult and rebuke me, because of the enemy and the avenger. [For I had transgressed your laws before choosing to cling to you.]

17 All this has happened to us, therefore we will not forget you again. We will no longer act falsely concerning your covenant.

18 Our hearts will not turn back, our steps will not departed from your path.

19 But now you have broken us in this place of dragons, and covered us with the shadow of death.

Psalms 45

1 A psalm of the sons of Korah, a song of love [on the occasion of a wedding of king Solomon the son of David]. My heart meditates on an excellent thing, therefore I say: My work is for the king. Let my tongue be like the pen of a skilled writer.

2 You are fairer than the children of men. Grace is poured into your lips because God has blessed you forever.

3 Gird your sword on your thigh, that is to say your majesty and your glory, O most mighty.

4 Yes, your glory. Be victorious, defend truth and meekness and righteousness. Let your right hand be distinguished by marvelous deeds.

5 Your arrows are sharpened to pierce the hearts of the king's enemies. Therefore the peoples will fall under you.

6 Your throne, O God, is forever and ever. The scepter of your kingdom is a scepter of righteousness.

7 You have loved righteousness and have hated wickedness. Therefore God, your God, has anointed you with the oil of gladness above your fellows.

8 All your garments are perfumed with myrrh, and aloes, and cassia, when you leave the ivory palaces where they have made you glad.

9 Kings' daughters are among your honorable wives. And the main queen is at your right hand, in a vesture of gold from Ophir.

10 Listen, O daughter [who is the bride]. Incline your ear and consider. Forget your people and your father's house.

11 And thus the king will have pleasure in your beauty. For he has become your lord, and therefore you must honor him.

12 And the daughter of Tyre with the rich among the people will bring gifts to seek your favor.

13 The king's daughter [who is the bride] is all resplendent within the palace. She wears a garment woven with gold.

14 She is presented to the king, dressed in her embroidered garments and followed by her handmaids the virgins.

15 They are brought amidst joy and smiles, and they enter the king's palace.

16 Your children will take the place of your fathers. You will make them princes in all the earth.

17 I will cause your name to be remembered in all generations. The peoples will praise you forever and ever.

Psalms 46

1 A psalm of the sons of Korah. God is our refuge and our strength, a help that is always present in trouble.

2 Therefore we will not fear, even if the earth quakes and the mountains collapse.

3 Even if the waters of the sea are agitated and roar, and the mountains tremble because of its waves. Pause.

4 There is a river whose streams make glad the city of God, the holy place of the tabernacles of the Most High.

5 God is in the city, therefore it will not be moved. God helps it from the morning dawn.

6 Nations raged and kingdoms were moved, but God uttered his voice and the earth melted.

7 Yahweh the God of armies is with us. The God of Jacob is our refuge. Pause.

8 Come and see the works of Yahweh, the wonders that he has done on the earth.

9 He has caused wars to cease to the ends of the earth. He has broken the bow and has shattered the spear, and he has burned the chariots with fire.

10 Calm down and know that I am God. I will be exalted among the nations, I will be exalted throughout the earth.

11 Yahweh the God of armies is with us. The God of Jacob is our refuge. Pause.

Psalms 47

1 A psalm of the sons of Korah. Clap your hands, you all the peoples. Shout to God with a voice of triumph.

2 For Yahweh the Most High is awesome. He is the great king over all the earth.

3 He has subdued peoples under us, and the nations under our feet.

4 He has chosen our inheritance for us, [and this inheritance is] the glory of Jacob whom he has loved. Pause.

5 The ark of God has been moved to his resting place with shouts of triumph. Yahweh has been praised with the sound of the trumpet.

6 Sing praises to God, sing praises. Sing praises to our king, sing praises.

7 For God is the king of all the earth. Sing praises with understanding.

8 God reigns over the nations. God is sitting on his holy throne.

9 The princes of the peoples are gathered together to be the people of the God of Abraham, because the shields of the world belong to God. He is greatly exalted.

Psalms 48

1 A psalm of the sons of Korah. Yahweh is great. He is greatly praised in the city of our God, in his holy mountain.

2 Beautiful is the hill, the joy of the whole earth. It is mount Zion, and its north side is the city of the great King.

3 In the palaces of the city, God is known to be the refuge.

4 For lo, the kings had assembled and intended to fight against this city.

5 But they came and saw it, and they were astonished. They were afraid and they fled.

6 They were seized by a trembling there, as the pain of a woman in labor.

7 They were driven away as by an east wind with which you break the ships of Tarshish.

8 As we had heard [the reports of your past deeds], so we have seen in the city of Yahweh the God of armies, the city of our God.

9 We remember your goodness, O God, in the midst of your temple.

10 According to your name, O God, your praise will reach to the ends of the earth. For your right hand is full of righteousness.

11 Let mount Zion rejoice, and the daughters of Judah be glad, because of the fairness of your judgments.

13 Observe its wall and consider its palaces, in order to tell it to the next generation [because it may no longer look the same in the future].

14 For this God is our God forever and ever. He will be our guide even to death.

Psalms 49

1 A psalm of the sons of Korah. Listen to this, you all the peoples. Give ear, you all the inhabitants of the world.

2 Young and old, rich and poor.

3 My mouth will speak wisdom, the thoughts of my heart will give you understanding.

4 I bend my ear to a parable, I begin my speech by the sound of the harp.

5 Why should I fear in the days of trouble, when the iniquity of my heels will surround me. [There is no one who does not sin, and I have sinned before the day when I have clung to my God]

6 They trust their goods, and boast themselves in the multitude of their riches.

7 But none of them can by any means redeem his brother, nor give to God a ransom for his brother.

8 The redemption of their souls is costly, and will never happen.

9 They will not always live, they will not avoid the sight of the pit. For they will see it.

10 The wise men die. But the fool and the stupid also perish, and leave their riches to others.

11 They think that their houses will continue forever, and their dwelling places from generation to generation. And they give their own names to their lands.

12 But the honor that a man gives himself does not last forever. He is like the beasts that perish.

13 This is the way of their foolishness, and those who follow them have pleasure in their speeches. Pause.

14 They are appointed for Sheol as sheep. Death will devour them, and the righteous will have dominion over them in the morning. For their beauty will be consumed in their houses [legacies] while they are in the grave.

15 But God will save my soul from the power of the grave. For he will receive me. Pause.

16 Do not be fear when someone is made rich, or when the glory of his house is increased.

17 For he will not carry anything away when he dies. His wealth will not descend after him to stay forever at his side.

18 He blessed his own soul while he lived. And men generally praise those who give themselves importance for their apparent success.

19 Nevertheless he will go to stay with his fathers [who are the people who preceded him and who were models for him]. They will never see the light.

20 The man who is in honor and who has no understanding is like the beasts that perish.

Psalms 50

1 A psalm of Asaph. Yahweh the God of gods has spoken, and has called the earth from the rising of the sun to its going down.

2 Out of Zion, which is the perfection of beauty, God is shining.

3 Our God comes and does not keep silent. In front of him is a devouring fire, and around him is a violent storm.

4 He tells the sky and the earth to be witnesses while he judges his people.

5 Gather my saints together to me, those who made with me a covenant that include the sacrifices [the obligatory part of the burnt offerings which concern the days of each month and each year that are designated by the law of Moses to be particular festivals, and the associated meal offerings, and the fat of peace offerings].

6 And the heavens will declare the righteousness of God, for he himself is the judge. Pause.

7 Listen, O my people, and I will speak. Hear, O Israel, and I will testify against you. I am God, your God.

8 It is not because of your sacrifices that I reprove you. Your burnt offerings are continuously before me.

9 I will not take a bullock from your house, or a goat from your sheepfolds.

10 For all the beasts of the forest are already mine, and all the beasts on the thousands of mountains.

11 The wild beasts of the fields belong to me, and I know all the birds of the mountains.

12 If I were hungry, then I would not tell you. For the world is mine, and everything in it.

14 Offer deeds of grace [namely the purification of the intentions of the heart] to God, and fulfill the vows that you decide to make to the Most High.

15 And invoke me on the day of trouble. And I will save you [by providing you with an adequate assistance], and you will glorify me.

16 But God says to the wicked: You list my ordinances, and you have the words of my covenant in your mouth.

17 You who hate the instruction, since you have thrown the understanding my words behind you.

18 If you see a thief [who perverts the meaning of my commandments], then you run to join him. Your portion is with the adulterers.

19 You give your mouth to evil, and your tongue is skilled to form deceits.

20 You sit and you speak against your brother, you slander your the son of your mother.

21 These are the things that you have done, and you have thought that I am similar to you because I was silent. But I will reprove you, and I will list your iniquities before you.

22 Consider this now, you who forget God. Lest I tear you in pieces, and there be no one to succor you.

23 The one who offers deeds of grace [namely the purification of the intentions of the heart] glorifies me. I will show the salvation of God to the one who is anxious to make his way acceptable to me.

Psalms 51

1 A psalm of David, when Nathan the prophet came to him after David had copulated with Bathsheba. Have mercy on me according to your lovingkindness, O God. Blot out my transgressions according to the multitude of your tender mercies.

2 Wash me thoroughly from mine iniquity, and cleanse me from my sin.

3 For I acknowledge my transgressions, and my sin is ever before me.

4 I did what is evil in your sight, and I sinned against you alone. Therefore you are pure in the reproach that you make to me, and you are fair in the judgment that you have pronounced. [Now

David says these things in this way because he had been made king over the people by Yahweh, with the approval of the people. This is why he says that he has sinned against Yahweh alone.]

5 And behold, I was born in iniquity because my mother did conceive me in sin.

6 But the only thing that you desire from a person is to always have the truth in the inner part. [His intentions must be continuously publicly justifiable in his own eyes, and he may sometimes be the only one to know some of the information that determines his behavior]

7 Now therefore, set up firmly your wisdom in the bottom of my heart. Purge me with hyssop, and I will be clean. Wash me, and I will be whiter than snow.

8 Allow me to know some form of happiness and joy in the future. Allow my bones that you have broken [by removing their energy] to have reasons to be comforted.

9 Turn away your face from my sins, and blot out all my iniquities.

10 Create in me a clean heart, O God. Renew an honest spirit within me.

11 Do not cast me away from your presence, do not take away your holy spirit from me.

12 Restore to me the joy of your salvation, strengthen me by giving me your free spirit.

13 And then I will teach your ways to those who transgress your law, and sinners will convert to you.

14 O God, the God of my salvation, save me from bloodguiltiness [which is killing without having publicly acceptable justification in the heart] and my tongue will joyfully sing of your righteousness.

15 Open my lips, O Lord, and my mouth will declare your praise.

16 If you had desired sacrifices for the particular transgression that I have committed, then I would have offered them to you. But you have no pleasure in burnt offering for the atonement of a transgression.

17 The sacrifices that please God are a contrite spirit. You will not despise a contrite and broken heart, O God. [For the person who has the courage to acknowledge his trangressions while being in front of those whom he has actually offended breaks his own heart in this way.]

18 Do good to Zion according to your good pleasure [because it is the place where I have set up the ark of your covenant], build the walls of Jerusalem.

19 And then you will accept sacrifices of righteousness [since your law commands these things not only for the transgressions that do not directly offend another person, but also to give thank as requested by one of the categories of peace offerings]. You will thus also accept burnt offerings and whole burnt offerings [when the victim is killed but is not separated into different parts before the offering, as Samuel the prophet did once in a situation of trouble], and they will offer bullocks on your altar.

Psalms 52

1 A psalm of David. When Doeg The Edomite came to inform Saul, and told him that David had gone to meet Ahimelech [the high priest]. Why do you boast of your wickedness, O mighty man. It is only the lovingkindness of God that will endure without ending.

2 Your tongue only builds malice, and is like a sharp razor that works deceitfully.

3 You love evil more than good, and you prefer deception to righteousness. Pause.

4 You love all the words that offend the good spirit of anyone who hears them, O deceitful tongue.

5 Therefore God will destroy you forever. He will grab you and pluck you from your tent, he will uproot you from the land of the living. Pause.

6 The righteous will see it and will fear. And he will pity the wicked with the following words.

7 This is the man who did not take God to be his strength. For he trusted in the abundance of his riches, and he made of malice his strength.

8 As for me, I am in the house of God like a green olive tree in an appropriate place. For I trust in the mercy of God, I will trust forever and ever.

9 I will always praise you because of what you have done [since you have caused me to exist in order to give me a certain legacy]. I will hope in your name, because this is what is good to do for all your saints.

Psalms 53

1 A psalm of David. The fool says in his heart, 'There is no God'. They have become corrupt, they have done abominable acts of wickedness, there is none who does good.

2 God looks down on the children of men from heaven, to see if there is anyone who understands and seeks God. [Evil is that which is intentional and unjustifiable in the eyes of any assembly of saints]

3 They have all gone astray, they have all become corrupt. There is none who does good. No, not even one.

4 Have the workers of iniquity lost their minds. They eat my people as they eat bread, they do not call on God.

5 But they will tremble because of fear, while there will be no cause for fear. For God will scatter the bones of those who encamp against you. You will put them into confusion, because God has rejected them.

6 Oh give salvation to Israel out of Zion. When God turns the captivity of his people, then Jacob will rejoice and Israel will be glad.

Psalms 54

1 A psalm of David when the Ziphites came to Saul and said, Is not David hidden among us. Save me by your name, O God. Judge me by your power.

2 Hear my prayer, O God. Listen to the words of my mouth.

3 For strangers have risen up against me, and violent men seek my soul. They have not set God before them. Pause.

4 And behold, God is my helper. The Lord is the strength of my soul.

5 He will requite the wickedness of my enemies. Punish them because of your faithfulness.

6 As for me, I will offer you freewill offerings for sacrifices. I will praise your name, O Yahweh, because it is good.

7 For he has saved me from all troubles, and my eye has seen the confusion of my enemies.

1 A psalm of David, when the Philistines received him to make him dwell in Gath [when he was fleeing from the presence of Saul]. Have mercy on me, O God. For man want to swallow me up. He continually fights against me and torments me.

2 My enemies want to swallow me up every day. For many are those who fight against me, O Most High.

3 When I am afraid, I put my trust in you.

4 I will rejoice in God, because of his word. I have put my trust in God, therefore I will not fear what a living being made of flesh can do to me.

5 They always change the meaning of my words. When their thoughts turn towards me, it is only to harm me.

6 They plot, they spy, they watch my steps, because they want to kill me.

7 It is through their iniquity that they hope to triumph. Bring these people down in your anger, O God.

8 You count the steps of my wanderings. Collect my tears in your bottle. Are they not inscribed in your book.

9 My enemies will turn back when I cry to you, I know that it will be so. For God is with me [since I fear him].

10 I will rejoice in God, because of his word. I will rejoice in Yahweh because of his word.

11 I have put my trust in God, therefore I will not fear what man can do to me.

12 I will fulfill the vows that I have made to you, O God. I will praise you continuously.

13 For you have saved my soul from death. You have prevented my feet from falling, so that I may walk before God in the light of the living.

Psalms 57

1 A psalm of David, when he fled from Saul and went into the cave. Have mercy on me, O God, have mercy on me. For my soul trusts in you. I will seek refuge in the shadow of your wings, until the calamities come to an end.

2 I will cry to the God Most High, to the God who accomplishes all things for me.

3 He will send from heaven, and he will save me from the persecution of him who wants to swallow me up. Pause. God will send his mercy and his faithfulness.

4 My soul is among lions, my enemies are all around me like a devouring fire. Their teeth are like spears and arrows, and their tongues are like sharp swords.

5 Exalt yourself above the sky, O God. Let your glory fill all the earth.

6 My enemies have set a trap for my feet, my soul is bowed down. They had dug a pit for me, but they will fall into it themselves. Pause.

7 My heart is fixed, O God, my heart is fixed. I will sing songs of praise.

8 Awake, my soul. Awake, my lute and my harp. I will awake in the morning to sing.

9 I will praise you among the peoples, O Lord. I will sing to you among the nations.

10 For your mercy extends beyond the sky, your faithfulness extends beyond the clouds.

11 Exalt yourself above the sky, O God. Let your glory fill all the earth.

Psalms 58

1 A psalm of David. Do you speak righteously, O congregation. Do you judge fairly, O sons of men.

2 You prefer to plan wickedness in your heart, and your hands practise cruelty on the earth.

3 The wicked are perverted from the womb. They go astray as soon as they are born by speaking lies [namely by acting insincerely].

4 Their poison is like the poison of a serpent. They are like the deaf adder that closes its ear.

5 This snake who does not hear the voice of the enchanter, even the voice of the most skilled sorcerer. [This snake who has the reputation of not being manipulated by the music of a charmer]

6 Break their teeth in their mouths, O God. Break the jaws of the young lions, O Yahweh.

8 Let them be like a snail that melts and perish, or like a stillborn baby who will never see the sun.

9 He will sweep them away in his anger as by a whirlwind, the green ones as well as the burning ones, before your pots feel the heat of the thorns.

10 The righteous will rejoice when he sees the vengeance. He will wash his feet in the blood of the wicked.

11 And men will say: Surely the righteous produces fruits [that last and are useful], undoubtedly there is a God who judges on earth.

Psalms 59

1 A psalm of David, when Saul sent to watch the house of David and to kill David. Save me from my enemies, O my God. Defend me from those who rise up against me.

2 Deliver me out of the evildoers, and save me from bloodthirsty men [who are not only thirsty for justice].

3 For lo, they lie in wait to take my life. The mighty have gathered against me, while I am without guilt [I do not think that I have done something wrong] and without sin [I have not transgressed your law].

4 They have run and prepared themselves to harm me, although there is no wrongdoing from me. Arise to see and to help me.

5 You Yahweh the God of armies, the God of Israel, arise to visit all the nations. Do not be merciful to any of those who transgress maliciously. Pause.

6 They go backwards and forwards in the evening. They howl like dogs, and walk around the city.

7 Behold they bring evil from their mouth, and swords are on their lips. For they said: Who is there to hear.

8 But you will laugh at them, O Yahweh. You will scoff at all the nations.

9 For you are strong, and I will wait for you. God is my defense.

10 My God helps me because of his mercy. God will make me see my desire on my enemies.

11 Do not simply kill them, lest my people forget. Scatter them by your power, and cause them to fall, O Lord our shield.

12 Their mouths sin by the words of their lips: Let them be taken in their own pride, because of the curses and the deceits that are in their speech.

13 Destroy them in your wrath, destroy them so that they are no more. Let them know that God rules in Jacob and to the ends of the earth. Pause.

15 They wander here and there, looking for food, and they will not be satisfied even if they eat their fill [they are dominated by intense desires].

16 As for me, I will sing about your strength. I will praise your mercy in the morning. For you have been my defense and my refuge in the day of my distress.

17 I will sing about you, O my strength. For God is my defense, and my merciful God.

Psalms 60

1 A psalm of David, when he [his army] went to fight against the Syrians of Mesopotamia and the Syrians of Zobah, and when Joab returned and defeated twelve thousand Edomites in the valley of salt. O God, you have rejected us and you have scattered us because you were angry [at the end of Saul's reign]. Turn your face towards us once again.

2 You have shaken the land and have torn it. Repair its breaches, for it is tottering.

3 You have given your people many troubles, you have given us to drink the wine of astonishment.

4 But now you have given a banner to those who fear you, so that it may be displayed because of your truth. Pause.

5 For you will save your beloved. Hear me and save us by your right hand.

6 God has spoken in his holiness and has said: I will triumph, I will divide Shechem, I will measure the valley of Succoth.

7 Gilead is mine, Manasseh is mine. Ephraim is my helmet, and Judah is my lawgiver.

8 Moab is my washbasin, and I cast my shoe on Edom. Land of the Philistines, shout for joy because of me.

9 Now therefore, will you not bring me into the fortified city. Will you not lead me to Edom.

10 Will you reject us again, O God. Will you not go with us in the midst of our armies, O God.

11 It is in you that we will seek help in distress, for it is fruitless to seek only the help of men.

12 We will do valiantly through God, for it is he who will tread down our enemies.

Psalms 61

1 A psalm of David. Hear my cry, O God. Be attentive to my prayer.

2 I cry to you with a broken heart, from the ends of the earth. Lead me to the rock that is higher than I.

3 For you are my hope, a strong tower in front of the enemy.

4 I will dwell forever in your tabernacle, because I trust only in the shelter of your wings [that is to say, your laws]. Pause.

5 For you, O God, have heard my vows. You will give an inheritance to each of those who fear your name.

6 You will give the king a long life, you will let him live forever.

7 He will dwell before God forever. Your goodness and your faithfulness will preserve him.

8 Therefore I will sing praise to your name continuously, by performing my vows every day.

Psalms 62

1 A psalm of David. Yes, it is in God that my soul confides. My salvation comes from him.

2 Yes, he is my strength and my salvation. He is my refuge, therefore I will not waver.

3 Until when will you imagine deceptions in order to cause the fall of the one who acts with simplicity. You all wish his death, you all who do not fear me completely. You see in him a wall that bends, or a tottering fence.

4 They conspire to thrust him down from his dignity. They take pleasure in lies, they bless with their mouths while cursing in their hearts without having publicly acceptable justifications in their hearts. Pause.

5 But my soul confides in God, because my hope is in him.

6 Yes, he is my strength and my salvation. He is my refuge, therefore I will not fall.

7 My salvation and my glory are in God. He is the rock of my strength, my trust is in God.

8 Confide in him continuously, you all the people. Pour out your hearts before him, for God is our hope. Pause.

9 Surely the children of men are vanity [because it is futile to trust in them], and those who are leaders in the organizations of human societies represent a form of lie [in the sight of God]. All these false shelters would be lighter than a breath if they were lay in a balance.

10 Do not trust in the possibility that you have to do oppression or robbery [because this way will not allow you to achieve your goals with satisfaction, without this being followed by any unpleasant surprise through cause and effect relationships]. And if your riches increase, then do not let it become your main concern [that is to say, do not forget to practice justice and equity].

11 God spoke once, and it took me twice to understand the following thing: the power belongs to God.

12 And mercy also belongs to you, O Lord. For you reward every person according to his work.

Psalms 63

1 A psalm of David, when he was in the wilderness of Judah. You are my God, O God. I will seek you fervently, my soul thirsts for you. My flesh longs for you in a dry and barren land, where there is no water.

2 For thus I may see you as in the sanctuary, thus I may contemplate your power and your glory.

3 My lips will praise you, because your lovingkindness is better than all the pleasures of life.

4 I will bless you during all the rest of my life, I will lift up my hands for your name.

5 My soul is satisfied with your praise, as my flesh is satisfied with good food. My mouth will praise you with joyful lips.

6 I remember you on my bed, I meditate on you in the middle of the night.

7 For you are my help, and I rejoice in the shadow of your wings.

8 My soul clings to you, and your right hand upholds me.

9 Therefore those who seek to destroy my soul will go to the depths of the earth.

10 They will fall by the sword, they will be a portion for foxes.

11 But the king will rejoice in God, and everyone who swears by him will rejoice in him. For the mouth of those who speak lies [without having publicly acceptable justifications in their hearts] will be stopped.

Psalms 64

1 A psalm of David. Hear my voice when I cry out, O God. Preserve my life from the enemy whom I fear.

2 Protect me from the plots of the wicked, from the tumult of the workers of iniquity.

3 They sharpen their tongue like a sword, and they hurl their bitter words like arrows.

4 Without having publicly acceptable justifications in their hearts, they shoot at those who have not offended them. They do not fear.

5 They encourage themselves in their wickedness. They commune together to lay snares secretly, and they say: Who will see these things.

6 They have planned iniquity and they want to accomplish it. Each of them has this intention in his secret thoughts, in the depths of his heart.

7 But God will shoot an arrow at them unexpectedly, and they will be struck suddenly.

8 Their tongue will make them stumble, and each of those who will be told of what has happened to them will shake his head in astonishment.

9 And thus all men will fear. They will declare the work of God, and will wisely consider of his doing.

10 The righteous will rejoice in Yahweh and will trust in him. All those who are upright in heart will rejoice.

Psalms 65

1 A psalm of David. They will praise you in Zion, O God, and they will fulfill their vows.

2 Anyone can come to you, and you will hear his prayer.

3 Wicked deeds have prevailed against me, but you will be merciful to our transgressions. [They are committed by the people of whom I am king and they influence the nature of the difficulties I must face.]

4 Blessed is he whom you will choose to make him come into your presence and dwell in your courtyards [of the house that will be built for your name]. We will be satisfied with the goodness of your house, of your holy temple.

5 You will answer us with scary signs in your righteousness, O God of our salvation. You are the hope of all the ends of the earth, even of those who live far away across the sea.

6 He establishes the mountains by his power, he is girded with strength.

7 He calms the roaring of the seas namely the roaring of their waves, and also the tumult of the peoples.

8 Those who live at the ends of the earth will be afraid of your wonders. You will fill the east and the west with joy.

9 You visit the land and water it, and you fill it with riches. The river of God is full of water, and you use it to prepare the ground in order to provide grain.

10 You water its furrows abundantly, you make rain fall into its valleys. You make it soft with showers, and you bless its buds.

11 You crown the beginning of the year with your goodness, and your steps throughout the year pour out abundance.

12 Your water drop on the pastures of the wilderness, and the hills are girded with joy.

13 The pastures are covered with sheep, and the valleys are clothed with grain. Therefore they shout for joy and sing.

Psalms 66

1 A psalm. Shout joyfully to God, you all the inhabitants of the earth.

2 Sing the glory of his name, make his praise glorious.

3 Say to God: You are awesome in your works. Your enemies will submit themselves to you because of the greatness of your power.

4 The whole world will worship you and sing to you. They will sing to your name. Pause.

5 Come and contemplate the works of God. He is awesome in his doings toward the children of men.

6 He has turned the sea into dry land, and they went through the river on foot. We rejoiced there in him.

7 He rules the world forever by his power, his eyes watch the nations. Therefore the rebellious should not exalt themselves. Pause.

8 Praise our God, O peoples, and make the voice of his praise to be heard.

9 He who preserves our soul alive, and suffers not our foot to slip.

10 For all that you do is to test us, O God. You refine us like silver is refined.

11 You have brought us into a snare, and have laid a heavy burden on our waists.

12 You have caused men to ride on our heads, we went through fire and through water. But you have brought us out, in order to give us abundance.

13 I will come to your house with burnt offerings, and I will also pay my vows to you.

14 Because my lips had promised it. My mouth had spoken it in my affliction.

15 I will offer you burnt offerings of fat rams, with incense. And I will sacrifice bullocks and goats. Pause.

16 Come and listen, you all who fear God, and I will tell you what he has done for my soul.

17 I have cried out to him with my mouth, and he was extolled with my tongue.

18 if I had hidden a sin my heart [that is to say a transgression that had not been expiated by the procedure indicated in his law], then the Lord would not have heard me.

19 So God has heard me [because I had in my heart no wickedness that I had never sought to expiate by the procedure indicated in his law]. He has been attentive to the voice of my prayer [because he has provided me with an adequate assistance].

20 Blessed be God who has not rejected my prayer, and has not taken away his lovingkindness from me.

Psalms 67

1 A psalm. May God have mercy on us and bless us. May he cause his face to shine on us. Pause.

2 And thus we will make known your way on earth, and your salvation among all nations.

3 Let the peoples praise you, O God. Let all the peoples praise you.

4 Let the nations rejoice and be glad. For you will judge the peoples righteously, and you will govern the nations on earth. Pause.

5 Let the peoples praise you, O God. Let all the peoples praise you.

6 Bless us O God, our God, and let the land yields its produce.

7 May God blesses us, and may all the ends of the earth fear him.

Psalms 68

Psalms 69

1 A psalm of David [which is consistent with the state of mind that he might have had when he fled because of his son Absalom who stole the hearts of the people without king David suspecting it, and which contain poetic words to describe a period of suffering of any person who clings to the spirit of justice]. Save me, O God. For the waters threaten my soul.

2 I sink in deep mire, and there is nothing that I can grasp. I have fallen into deep waters, where the floods overflow me.

3 I am weary because of my cry, and my throat is dried. My eyes fail while I wait for my God.

4 Those who hate me without a cause are more numerous than the hairs of my head. Those who want to destroy me are unjustly my enemies, and are strong. I have to restore what I have not stolen.

5 You know my faults, O God. My sins are not hidden from you [namely I have sought to expiate them by the procedure indicated in your law].

6 Let not those who trust in you because of me be ashamed, O Lord Yahweh the God of armies. Let not those who seek you because of me be bewildered, O God of Israel.

7 It is for your sake that I suffer insults [for I do not want to transgress your law], and shame has covered my face.

8 I have become a stranger to my brothers, an alien to my mother's sons.

9 For the zeal for your house has devoured me, and the insults of those who do not honor you properly have fallen on me.

10 I weep and my soul fasts, but I was reproached for it.

11 I have put on sackcloth for my clothing, and I have become a proverb to them.

12 Those who sit in the gate speak of me, and the drunkards sing of me.

13 But my prayer is to you, O Yahweh. May the time be favorable, O God, by your great goodness. Answer me in the truth of your salvation.

14 Rescue me from the mire, do not let me sink. Let me be saved from the hands of those who hate me, and out of the deep waters.

15 Let not the floods overwhelm me, and let not the deep swallow me up, and let not the pit close its mouth on me.

16 Hear me, O Yahweh, according to the greatness of your lovingkindness. Turn to me according to the multitude of your tender mercies.

17 Do not hide your face from your servant, because I am in distress. Answer me speedily.

18 Come near to my soul and redeem it. Save me because of my enemies.

19 You know how I have been reproached, and my shame, and my dishonor. All my adversaries are before you.

20 Reproach has broken my heart, and I am full of weariness. I look for some of them to have pity on me, but in vain. I look for comforters, but I find none.

21 They gave me gall for my food, and to quench my thirst they gave me vinegar to drink.

23 Let their eyes be darkened so that they see not, and cause their waists to tremble continually.

24 Pour out your anger on them, and let your fierce fury seize them.

25 Let their dwelling be desolate, let there be no dweller in their tents [that is to say, do not allow their own legacies to be admired continuously].

26 For they persecute him whom you have smitten. They add to the sorrow of those whom you have wounded.

27 Add iniquity to their iniquity, and let them not profit from your mercy.

28 Let them be blotted out of the book of life, let them not be written with the righteous.

29 As for me, I am powerless and sorrowful. Let your salvation set me up on high, O God.

30 I will sing praises to the name of God, I will exalt him with thanksgiving.

31 Because it is more pleasing to Yahweh than an ox or a bullock that have horns and hoofs.

32 The humble will see it and will be glad. The hearts of those who seek God will live.

33 For Yahweh hears the powerless. He does not despise those who are unjustly oppressed.

34 Let the heaven and the earth praise him, and also the seas and everything that moves in them.

Psalms 70

1 A psalm of David, to bring to remembrance. Make haste to rescue me, O God. Make haste to help me, O Yahweh.

2 Let them be bewildered and ashamed, those who seek my soul. Let them turn back and be disappointed, all those who desire my destruction.

3 Let them turn back because of their shame, all those who say: Aha, aha.

4 And let all those who seek you be glad and rejoice in you. Let those who love your salvation say continuously: Praise God.

5 As for me, I am powerless and needy. Make haste to come to me, O God, for you are my helper and my savior. Do not delay, O Yahweh.

Psalms 71

1 I put my trust in you, O Yahweh. Let me never be confused.

2 Rescue me and save me in your righteousness. Incline your ear to me and help me.

3 Be the rock of my refuge, to which I will always turn. You have determined to save me, because you are my rock and my fortress.

4 O my God, save me from the hand of the wicked, from the hand of the unjust and violent man.

5 For you are my hope, O Lord Yahweh. I have trusted in you since my youth.

6 From my mother's womb I have leaned on you. You are the one who brought me out of the womb. My praise will be continuously for you.

7 I am like a wonder to many, but you are my strong refuge.

8 Let my mouth be filled with your praise, let it glorify you every day.

9 Do not cast me away in the time of old age, do not abandon me when my strength is diminished.

10 For my enemies speak against me, and those who watch for my soul take counsel together.

11 And they say: God has forsaken him. Now therefore, pursue and seize him because there is no one to rescue him.

12 Do not be far from me, O God. Come quickly to help me, O my God.

13 Let them be bewildered and destroyed, those who are against my soul. Let them be covered with shame and dishonor, those who seek my destruction.

14 As for me, I will hope continuously. I will praise you more and more.

15 My mouth will proclaim your righteousness and your salvation every day. For I do not know their numbers [since they are too many].

16 I will tell of your mighty works, O Lord Yahweh. I will make mention of your righteousness, only yours.

17 You have taught me from my youth and until now, O God. I will tell of your wondrous works.

18 Do not forsake me in my old age when I become gray-headed, O God. Until I have declared your strength to this generation, and your power to all those who are to come.

19 Your righteousness is very high, O God. You have done great things, O God. Who is like you.

20 You have made me experience many distresses and misfortunes, but you will refresh me. You will bring me up from the depths of the earth.

21 Raise up my honor, turn again and comfort me.

22 And I will praise you with the psaltery to make known your faithfulness, O my God. I will sing praises to you with the harp, O you the holy one of Israel.

23 My lips will rejoice greatly when I sing praises to you. And my soul too, because you will have redeem it.

24 And my tongue will proclaim your righteousness all the day long. For those who seek my destruction will be bewildered and ashamed.

Psalms 72

1 A psalm of Solomon. Give your judgments to the king, O God, and your righteousness to the son of the king.

2 He will judge your people with righteousness, and your poor with equity.

3 And there will be peace in the whole land, even on the mountains and on the hills, because of the righteousness.

4 He will judge the poor of the people, he will save the children of the needy, and he will subdue the oppressor.

5 They will fear you as long as the sun and the moon endures, from generation to generation.

6 He will come down like the rain on the mowed grass, like the showers that water the land.

7 In his days the righteous will flourish, and great peace will be as long as the moon endures.

8 He will have dominion from sea to sea, and from the river to the ends of the earth.

9 The inhabitants of the wilderness will bow before him, and his enemies will lick the dust.

10 The kings of Tarshish and of the isles will give tribute, and the kings of Sheba and Seba will offer gifts.

11 Yes, all kings will fall down before him and all nations will serve him.

12 For he will assist the powerless when he cries, and the needy who has no helper.

13 He will be merciful to the powerless and needy, and will save the souls of the needy.

14 He will redeem their soul from unjustifiable deceit and violence, and their blood will be precious in his sight.

15 He will live, and they will give him of the gold of Sheba. They will pray for him continually, and will bless him every day.

16 And when a handful of wheat will be sown in the land, even in the top of the mountains, then its fruit will wave like the trees of Lebanon. The people of the city will flourish like the grass of the earth.

17 His name will endure forever. His name will be remember as long as the sun endures. Men will be blessed through him, and all nations will blessed him.

18 Blessed be Yahweh God, the God of Israel who is the only one to perform wondrous things.

19 And blessed be his glorious name forever. Let the whole earth be filled with his glory. So be it, so be it.

20 Here end the prayers of David the son of Jesse.

Psalms 73

1 A psalm of Asaph. Surely God is good to Israel, to those who are pure in heart.

2 As for me, my feet were almost gone and my steps were about to slip.

3 For I envied fools, when I saw the prosperity of some wicked.

4 Nothing seems to torment them until their death, and their strength is firm.

5 They have no share in human suffering, they are not plagued like other men.

6 Therefore pride is their collar, and violence covers them as a garment.

7 Their possessions give them satisfaction, they do not restrain the lusts of their hearts.

8 They mock and speak maliciously concerning oppression. They speak presumptuously.

9 They lift up their mouth to the sky, and their tongue walks through the earth.

10 They swallow water abundantly [namely they do not care about the troubles that they may cause to the innocents], and their achievements seduce many ignorant people.

11 And they say: How can God know. How can the Most High know. [Does God exist. And if he exists then why will he not forgive this evil deed that I want to commit]

12 This is how the wicked think, and some of them are always happy and increase their riches.

13 Will it be in vain that I have purified my heart, and have washed my hands in innocence.

14 For I have been plagued daily, and smitten every morning.

15 If I say, I will speak like them. Then behold, it would be a betrayal towards the kind of your children.

16 When I considered these things to enlighten myself, it was too difficult for me.

17 Then I went to the temple of God, and something made me understand the final fate of the wicked.

18 Surely you have placed them in slippery places, and you have planned to cast them into desolation.

19 In an instant they are destroyed. They are taken away, annihilated by a sudden end.

20 As a dream from which one awakens, O Lord, so you will rise up against them to make their images contemptible.

21 When my heart was embittered, and I felt pierced in my waist.

22 I was stupid and ignorant. I was like a beast in your eyes.

23 Nevertheless I am always with you. You have held my right hand.

24 You will guide me with your counsel, and afterward you will receive me into your glory.

25 Who else do I have in heaven except you. And on earth I take pleasure in nothing but you.

26 My flesh and my heart may fail, but God will be the hope of my heart and my portion forever.

27 For lo, those who have not clung to you will perish. You will punish all those who play the whore toward you [by the fact of going to serve other gods with all their heart].

28 As for me, it is good for me to draw near to God. I have put my trust in the Lord Yahweh, so that I may declare all your works.

Psalms 74

1 A song of Asaph [prophetic words, the thoughts of a person who is not evil in his intentions but who has not understood the identity of God]. Why should you reject us for so long, O God. Why are you angry with the sheep of your pasture.

2 Remember your congregation, which you have acquired of old. It is the rod of your inheritance, which you have redeemed. And remember mount Zion, where you have come to dwell.

3 Turn your steps toward the everlasting desolations, toward all the iniquities that the enemy has committed in the sanctuary.

4 Your adversaries have roared in the midst of your congregation, they have set up their banners for signs.

6 They rushed to break down all the carved work of the place with axes and hammers.

7 They have set fire to your sanctuary. They have defiled the dwelling place of your name and have razed it to the ground.

8 They said in their hearts, Let us destroy them all together. They have burned all the synagogues of God in the land.

9 We no longer see our signs [by which we usually acknowledged that you have given a prophecy for your servants]. There is no more prophet, and there is no one among us who knows how long this will last.

10 How long will the oppressor insult, O God. Will the enemy continuously despise your name.

11 Why do you withdraw your hand, your right hand. Take it out of your bosom and destroy them.

12 God is my king since always, he who works salvation among all the inhabitants of the earth.

13 You had divided the sea by your power. You had broken the heads of the dragons in the waters.

14 You have broken the heads of leviathan in pieces, you have given it for food to the people in the wilderness.

15 You have caused fountain and river to gush forth. You have dried up mighty rivers.

16 The day is yours, and the night is yours. You have prepared the light and the sun.

17 You have set all the boundaries of the earth. You have made summer and winter.

18 Remember that the enemy has insulted you, O Yahweh, and that a foolish people has blasphemed your name.

19 Do not give the soul of your turtledove to the beasts [namely the wicked]. Do not forget the congregation of your powerless forever.

21 Let not the oppressed be continuously ashamed. Let the powerless and needy praise your name.

22 Arise and maintain your own cause, O God. Remember how the foolish man insults you daily.

Psalms 75

1 A psalm of Asaph. We praise you, O God, we praise you. For your name is in our mouths, and we declare your wondrous works.

2 You say: I will judge with equity at a suitable time.

3 The earth may tremble with all its inhabitants, but I have firmly established its pillars. Pause.

4 I say to the boaster, Do not boast. And to the wicked, Do not lift up the horn.

5 Do not lift up your horn on high, do not speak with a stiff necked.

7 For God is the judge. He humbles one, and exalts another.

8 For in the hand of Yahweh there is a cup, and the wine is red. But it is a mixture containing a poison, and this poison is his anger. It is this wine that he makes serve to all the wicked of the earth, and they drink it to the last drop.

9 I will declare these things continuously, and I will sing praises to the God of Jacob.

10 And he say: And I will break down all the horns of the wicked, and the horns of the righteous will be exalted.

Psalms 76

1 A psalm of Asaph [concerning the glory of the temple of Yahweh at a time when the hearts of the people are not far from his commandments]. God is known in Judah, his name is great in Israel.

2 There is peace in his tabernacle, his dwelling place is in Zion.

3 There he has broken the arrows of the bow, and the shield, and the sword, and other weapons of war. Pause.

4 You are more majestic and more glorious than the mountains of prey.

5 They have been stripped, these brave heroes. They have slept their last sleep. They did not know how to defend themselves, all these valiant men.

6 Both horsemen and horses have slept [have died] at your rebuke, O God of Jacob.

7 You are to be feared, you. Who can resist you when your anger is kindled.

8 You have made judgment heard from heaven, and the earth was afraid and kept silent.

9 God will arise to do justice, to save all powerless of the earth. Pause.

10 Surely the anger of man enables you to accomplish your purposes. The consequences of this anger are a garment for you.

11 Fulfill the vows that you make voluntarily to God. Let all those who are around him [his temple] bring gifts to the one who is worthy of being feared.

12 He brings down the pride of princes. He is feared by the kings of the earth.

Psalms 77

1 A psalm of Asaph [for the afflicted who awaits an intervention of his God]. My voice is lifted up to God, and I cry. My voice is lifted up to God, and he hear me.

2 I seek the Lord in the day of my distress. My hands are stretched out in the night, my soul refuses to be comforted.

3 I remember God, and I groan. I meditate, and my spirit is full of anguish. Pause.

4 You keep my eyelids awake, I am so troubled that I cannot speak.

5 Then I consider the days of old, the years of ancient times.

6 I remember the songs that delighted my heart during the nights. I ponder within my heart, and my spirit is diligently searching.

7 Will the Lord reject forever. Will he no longer be favorable.

8 Is his mercy gone forever. Will he never speak to us again.

9 Has God forgotten to have compassion. Has he closed his tender mercies in his anger. Pause.

10 I say: My suffering is that the right hand of the Most High is no longer the same.

11 I remember the deeds of Yahweh, I remember your wonders of old.

12 I will meditate on all your works, I will tell of your deeds.

13 Your ways are holy, O God. Who is greater than our God.

14 You are the God who does wonders. You have made known your power among the peoples.

15 You have redeemed your people with your arm, the sons of Jacob and Joseph. Pause.

16 The waters saw you, O God. The waters saw you and were afraid, and the depths trembled.

17 The clouds poured out water, thunder resounded in the sky, and your arrows flew on every side.

18 The voice of your thunder resounded all around, lightning lighted the world. The earth shook and trembled.

19 You walked through the sea, and your path was in the great waters, but your footprints could not be seen.

20 You led your people like one lead a flock, by the hand of Moses and Aaron.

Psalms 78

1 A psalm of Asaph. Hear my teaching, O my people. Give ear to the words of my mouth.

2 I open my mouth in a parable. I will utter the wisdom of old.

3 What we have heard and known, what our fathers have told us.

4 We will not hide it from their children [the spiritual or fleshly descendants], we will tell the next generation about the praises of Yahweh, and his strength, and his wondrous deeds that he has done.

5 He established a testimony in Jacob, he gave a law for Israel. And he commanded our fathers to teach it to their children.

6 To make it known to the children who should be born, and to the posterity. And they will grow up and tell their children too.

7 So that they may set their hope in God. So that they may not forget the works of God, but keep his commandments.

8 And thus they may not be like their fathers, a stubborn and rebellious generation. A generation whose heart was not steadfast, and whose spirit was not faithful to God.

9 The children of Ephraim, being armed and carrying bows, turned back in the day of battle.

10 They had not kept the covenant of God, they had refused to walk in his law.

12 He had done marvellous things in the sight of their fathers, in the field of Zoan in the land of Egypt.

13 He divided the sea and and led them to pass through. He caused the waters to stand as a heap [like a wall].

15 He did split the rocks in the wilderness, and gave their fathers to drink as if water came out of the great depths.

16 He also brought a stream of water out of the rock, and made it flow like a river.

17 But they continued to sin against him. They rebelled against the Most High in the wilderness.

19 They spoke against God by saying: Can God prepare a table in the wilderness.

20 Behold he smote the rock and the waters gushed out, and the river flowed. Can he also give bread. Can he provide meat for his people.

21 And Yahweh heard it, and the fire of his anger was kindled against Jacob. And a wrath arose against Israel.

22 Because they did not believe in God, and did not trust in his salvation.

23 Though he had commanded the clouds from above, and had opened the doors of heaven.

24 And he had rained down manna on them for food. He had given them of the wheat of heaven.

25 They all had eaten the bread of princes. God had sent them food to the full.

26 He caused the east wind to blow in the heaven, and brought the south wind by his power.

27 He rained down meat on them like dust, and winged birds like the sand of the sea.

28 And he made it fall in the midst of their camp, all around their habitations.

29 So they ate and were well filled, for God had given them their desire.

30 But before they had satisfied their desire, when the meat was yet in their mouths.

31 Then the anger of God rose against them, and he struck the strongest ones with death. He smote down the young men of Israel.

32 And despite all this, they continued to sin. They did not trust in his wondrous works [that he can do for those who cling to him].

33 Therefore he consumed their days in vanity, and their years in trouble.

34 When he killed some them, then the others sought him and they returned. They sought God earnestly.

35 They remembered that God was their strength, and that the Most High God was their redeemer.

36 But it was only to flatter him with their mouth, and to deceive him with their tongue.

37 For their hearts were not steadfast toward him, and they were not faithful in his covenant.

38 However he forgave their iniquity and did not destroy them, because he is merciful. Yes, he did turn away his anger many times, and did not awake all his fury.

39 For he remembered that they were but flesh, a wind that passes and does not return.

40 They frequently rebelled against him in the wilderness. They frequently grieved him in the wilderness.

41 They did not cease to test God, to provoke the holy one of Israel.

42 They did not remember his hand, nor the day when he save them from the enemy.

43 The signs that he performed in Egypt, and his wonders in the field of Zoan.

44 He turned their rivers into blood, and their streams, so that they could not drink their water.

45 He sent swarms of flies among them to devour them, and frogs to destroy them.

46 He also gave their fruit to caterpillars, and their labor to the grasshoppers.

48 He also gave their cattle to the hail, and their flocks to the thunderbolts.

50 He made a way to his anger. He did not spared their souls from death, but gave their lives to the pestilence.

51 And he smote all the firstborn in Egypt, the firstfruits of their strength in the tents of Ham.

52 But he led his people out like sheep. He led them like a flock in the wilderness.

53 He led them safely, and they were not afraid. But the sea covered their enemies.

54 He brought them to the borders of his sanctuary, to this mountain that his right hand had purchased.

55 He drove out the nations before them, and he distributed the land to them as an inheritance. He gave a place to live to the tribes of Israel.

56 But they tested the Most High God and rebelled against him. They did not keep his testimonies.

57 They turned aside and acted falsely like their fathers. They turned like a deceitful bow.

58 They provoked him to anger with their high places, and moved him to fury with their graven images.

59 God heard it and was angry, and he greatly abhorred Israel.

60 Therefore he forsook the dwelling place of Shiloh, the tabernacle where he dwelt among men.

61 And he delivered his strength into captivity, and his glory into the hand of their enemy. [The people that he had redeemed to be his inheritance].

62 And he gave his people to the sword, because he was angry against his inheritance.

63 The fire devoured their young men, and their virgins were not praised.

65 Then the Lord awoke as one from sleep, as a strong man after the effects of wine have worn off.

66 And he smote his enemies in their buttocks, and covered them with an everlasting shame.

67 However he rejected the tent of Joseph, he did not choose the tribe of Ephraim.

68 But he chose the tribe of Judah, and mount Zion which he loved.

69 And he built his sanctuary like a high palace, like the earth that he has established forever.

71 He took David who was following the ewes with their young, and he caused David to be shepherd of Jacob his people and of Israel his inheritance.

72 So David shepherded them according to the simplicity of his heart, and David guided them by the prudence of his hands.

Psalms 79

1 A psalm of Asaph. The nations have invaded your inheritance, O God. They have defiled your holy temple, and have made Jerusalem heaps of stones.

2 They have given the dead bodies of your servants to be food to the birds of the air, and the flesh of your saints to the beasts of the earth.

3 Their blood have been shed like water all around Jerusalem, and there was no one to bury them.

4 We have become an object of reproach to our neighbors, an object of scorn and of derision to those who are around us.

5 How long, O Yahweh. Will you be angry forever. Will your anger burn like fire.

6 Pour out your fury on the nations that do not know you, and on the kingdoms that do not call on your name.

7 For they have devoured Jacob, and made his dwelling desolate.

8 Remember no more our past iniquities, but let your tender mercies come quickly to meet us. For we are in great misery.

9 Help us, O God of our salvation, for the glory of your name. Forgive our sins and save us, for the sake of your name.

10 Why should the nations say, Where is their God. Act so that the nations and our eyes may know that you have avenged the blood of your servants, the blood that has been shed.

11 Let the groans of the captives come before you. Preserve those of your servants who are about to perish, according to the greatness of your power.

12 Repay seven times in the hearts of your enemies the grief that they have caused by insulting you, O Lord.

13 As for us, we are the sheep of your flock and we will praise you forever. We will declare your praises from generation to generation.

Psalms 80

1 A psalm of Asaph. Give ear, O shepherd of Israel, you who lead Joseph like a flock. Show your brightness, you who sit between the cherubim.

2 Deploy your strength to help the tribes of Ephraim, and Benjamin, and Manasseh. Come and save us.

3 Come back to us, O God. Cause your face to shine on us, so that we may be saved.

4 O Yahweh the God of armies, how long will you be angry at the prayer of your people.

5 You have fed them with the bread of tears. You have given them plenty of tears to drink.

6 You have made us an object of discord among our neighbors, and our enemies laugh at us among themselves.

7 Come back to us, O God of armies. Cause your face to shine on us, and we will be saved.

8 You have brought a vine out of Egypt, and you have driven out the nations to plant it.

9 You made room for it, and you caused it to take root and to fill the land.

10 The mountains were covered with its shadow, and its boughs were like the goodly cedars.

11 It did spread out its shoots to the river Euphrates, and its branches to the sea.

12 Why have you broken down its fences and allowed all the passerby to plunder it.

13 The wild boar of the forest has ravaged it, and the wild beasts of the field have devoured it.

14 We beseech you to come back to us, O God of armies. Look down from heaven and see, consider this vine.

15 Look at the vineyard that your right hand has planted, the young vineyard that you have strengthened for yourself.

16 It is burned with fire, it is cut down. They perish at the rebuke of your countenance.

17 Let your hand be on the man of your right hand, on the son of man whom you have strengthened for yourself.

18 And then we will no longer depart from you. Revive us, and we will call on your name.

19 Come back to us, O Yahweh the God of armies. Cause your face to shine on us, and we will be saved.

Psalms 81

1 A psalm of Asaph. Sing with joy to God our strength. Shout joyfully to the God of Jacob.

2 Choose a song and bring the tambourine, and the pleasant harp, and the psaltery.

3 Blow the trumpet at the new moon and at all the appointed times for our feasts.

4 For it is a statute for Israel, an ordinance of the God of Jacob.

5 He set this in Joseph for a testimony, when he came out of the land of Egypt, where I heard a language that I did not understand.

6 I have withdrawn his shoulder from the burden, his hands have been freed from the pots.

7 You cried in distress and I save you, I answered you from the secret place of thunder. I tested you at the waters of Meribah. Pause.

8 Hear, O my people, and I will warn you. If you were willing to listen to me, O Israel.

9 Let there be no strange god among you, and do not worship any foreign god.

10 For I am Yahweh your God, the one who brought you out of the land of Egypt. Open wide your mouth, and I will fill it.

11 But my people did not want to hear my voice. Israel did not obey me.

12 Therefore I have let them walk in the stubbornness of their heart, and they have walked in their own counsels.

13 Oh if my people were willing to listen to me, if Israel were willing to walk in my ways.

14 Then I would have humbled their enemies, I would have turned my hand against their adversaries.

15 Those who hate Yahweh would have been subdued, and the legacies of my servants would have lasted forever.

16 My servants would have been fed with the best wheat, and I would have satisfied them with honey from the rock.

Psalms 82

1 A psalm of Asaph. God stands in the assembly of the gods. He stands as judge among the judges.

2 How much longer will you judge unjustly by doing favors to wicked people.

3 You must give justice to the powerless and fatherless, and protect the rights of the poor and needy.

4 Help the poor and needy, save them from the hand of the wicked.

5 But they have neither knowledge nor understanding, and they walk in darkness. All the foundations of the earth are shaken.

6 I had said: You are gods, you all are the sons of the Most High.

7 Nevertheless you will die like a man [since the flesh will be destroyed], you will fall like any prince [since the fate of all human beings is the same].

8 Arise and judge the earth, O God [the Son]. For you will inherit all nations.

Psalms 83

1 A psalm of Asaph. Do not keep silence, O God. Do not hold your peace, do not remain inactive, O God.

2 For lo, your enemies make a tumult. Those who hate you have lifted up the head.

3 They have formed cunning plans against your people, they have prepared themselves to harm those who are in the secrets of your love.

4 They have said: Come and we will destroy them, so that they may no longer be a nation. Let the name of Israel not be part of useful remembrances.

5 They all consult with the same heart, they make an alliance against you.

6 The tents of Edom, and of the ismaelites, and Moab, and the Hagarenes.

7 And Gebal, and Ammon, and Amalek, and the Philistines, and the inhabitants of Tyre.

8 Assyria also have joined them, they have helped the children of Lot. Pause.

9 Do to them as you did to the Midianites, and as you did to Sisera and to Jabin at the river Kishon.

10 They perished at Endor, and [their legacies] became like dung for the land.

12 For they have said, Let us take the dwellings [of the people] of God for our possession.

13 O my God, make them like the whirling dust, like the stubble carried by the wind.

14 Be to them like the fire that burns a forest, or like the flame that sets the mountains on fire.

16 Fill their faces with shame so that they may seek your name, O Yahweh.

17 Let them be bewildered and troubled forever. Yes, let them be put to shame and perish.

18 Let them know that you alone, whose name is Yahweh, you are the Most High over all the Earth.

1 A psalm of the sons of Korah. How amiable is your dwelling, O Yahweh the God of armies.

2 My soul yearns and faints for the courtyards of Yahweh. My heart and my flesh desire to rejoice in the living God.

3 As the sparrow looks for a house, and the swallow looks for a nest to lay her young, thus my soul looks for your altar. O Yahweh the God of armies, my king and my God.

4 Those who dwell in your house are blessed, since they can praise you continuously. Pause.

5 Blessed is the man who seeks his strength in you [that is to say the one who has put his trust in you]. His heart longs for the paths to your house.

6 They come through the valley of Baca, which God has turned into a place of springs and which is covered with blessing by the rains.

7 Their strength increases as they march, and they come in order to stand before God in Zion.

8 Hear my prayer, O Yahweh the God of armies. Listen to me, you the God of Jacob. Pause.

9 Look at the face of your anointed [our king], O God our shield.

10 Better is one day in your courtyards than a thousand elsewhere. I would rather be a doorkeeper of the house of my God than to dwell in the tents of wickedness.

11 For Yahweh God is our sun and our shield. Yahweh will give grace and glory to those who love him, he will provide all that is necessary for the triumph of those who walk uprightly.

12 Blessed is the man who trusts in you, O Yahweh the God of armies.

Psalms 85

1 A psalm of the sons of Korah. For you have been favorable to your land, O Yahweh. You have brought back the captives of Jacob.

2 You have forgiven the iniquity of your people, and have covered all their sins. Pause.

3 You have taken away all your fury, you have turned back from the fierceness of your anger.

4 Restore us completely now, O God of our salvation. Stop completely your indignation against us.

5 Will you be angry with us forever. Will you prolong your anger to all generations.

6 Will you not reinvigorate us, so that your people may rejoice in you.

7 Show us your lovingkindness, O Yahweh, and grant us your salvation.

8 I hear what Yahweh God say. For he speaks peace to his people and to his saints, if they do not return to folly.

9 Surely his salvation is near to those who fear him, and therefore glory can dwell in our land.

10 Mercy and truth will meet together, righteousness and peace will kiss each other.

11 Truth will grow from the earth, and righteousness will look down from heaven.

12 Yahweh will give us good things, and our land will yield its fruit.

13 Righteousness will go before him, and will mark his steps in the way.

Psalms 86

1 A Prayer of David. Incline your ear, O Yahweh, and answer me. For I am poor and needy.

2 Preserve my soul, for I am godly. Save your servant who trusts in you, O my God.

3 Have mercy on me, O Lord. For I cry to you continuously.

4 Rejoice the soul of your servant. For I have lifted up my soul to you, O Lord.

5 For you are good and merciful, O Lord. You are full of goodness to all those who call on you.

6 Give ear to my prayer, O Yahweh. Listen to the voice of my supplications.

7 I call on you in the day of my distress, because you hear me.

8 There is no one like you among the gods, O Lord. And there is no one wo can perform the likeness of your works.

9 All the nations will come and worship before you, O Lord. They will exalt your name, because you are the one who has created them.

10 For you are great, and you do wondrous things. You alone are God.

11 Teach me your ways so that I may walk in your truth, O Yahweh. Prepare my heart so that I may fear your name.

12 I will praise you with all my heart, O Lord my God. Yes, I will exalt your name forever.

13 For your lovingkindness is great toward me, and you have delivered my soul from the depths of the grave.

14 The proud have risen up against me, O God. A company of violent men have sought my soul, and have not cared for your will.

15 But you are a merciful and gracious God, O Lord. You are slow to anger, and abundant in lovingkindness and truth.

16 Look at me and have mercy on me. Give your strength to your servant, and save the son of your handmaid.

17 Show me a sign of your goodness, and let those who hate me see it. And thus they will be ashamed because you have helped me and comforted me, O Yahweh.

Psalms 89

1 A psalm of Ethan the Ezrahite. I will sing of the mercies of Yahweh forever. My mouth will declare your faithfulness to all future generations.

2 For I say: Goodness has everlasting foundations, you have established your faithfulness in the heavens.

3 And you have said: I have made a covenant with my chosen, I have sworn the following thing to David my servant.

4 I will establish your seed throughout all future generations [namely your spiritual children], and establish your throne forever [namely the legacy of your kingship]. Pause.

5 The heavens celebrate your wondrous works, O Yahweh. And your faithfulness is celebrated in the assembly of the saints.

6 For who in the heaven can be compared with Yahweh. Who among the heavenly beings is like Yahweh.

7 God is very terrible in the assembly of the saints. He is to be feared above all those who are around him [that is to say, above all the heavenly beings].

8 Who is like you, O Yahweh the God of armies. A mighty God who is surrounded by the faithfulness [which is yours].

9 You subdue the pride of the sea, you calm its waves when they arise.

10 You have crushed Egypt like a corpse. You have scattered your enemies with the power of your arm.

11 The heavens and the earth belong to you. You have founded the world and all that is in it.

12 You have created the north and the south. The mountains Tabor and Hermon rejoice in your name.

13 Your arm is powerful. Your hand is strong, and your right hand is exalted.

14 Righteousness and fairness are the foundation of your throne. Mercy and faithfulness walk before your face.

15 Blessed are the persons who rejoice in you. For they walk in the light of your face, O Yahweh.

16 They rejoice continuously in your name, and they will be exalted by your righteousness.

17 For you are the source of their strength. It is your contentment that forms our glory.

18 For Yahweh is our shield. The holy one of Israel is our king.

19 You once spoke in a vision to one of your beloveds, for your prophets are your beloveds, and you said: I have assisted a mighty man. I have found the one who deserves to be exalted among my people. [He was not old enough to be appointed at the time when the people demanded that a first king be established over them. He had not the age of the men of war, and it was one of the criteria at that moment.]

20 I have found David my servant, and have anointed him with my holy oil.

21 My hand will establish him, and my arm will strengthen him.

22 The enemy will not overcome him, the wicked will not destroy him.

23 I will crush his adversaries before him, and I will smite those who hate him.

24 My lovingkindness and my faithfulness will be with him, and his horn will be exalted by my name.

25 I will set his hand on the sea, and his right hand on the rivers.

26 He will invoke me by saying: You are my father, my God and the rock of my salvation.

27 And I will make him my firstborn, the highest of the kings of the earth.

28 My love will protect him forever. My covenant with him will not be of a nature that can become invalid.

29 I will cause his legacy to last forever. His throne, namely the legacy of his kingship, will remain before me as long as the days of heaven.

30 If his sons forsake my law and do not walk in my judgments.

31 If they violate my precepts and do not observe my commandments.

32 Then I will punish their transgressions with the rod, and their iniquities with strokes.

33 But I will not withdraw my lovingkindness from him, and I will not allow my faithfulness to fail.

34 I will not break my covenant, and I will not alter what has come out of my lips.

35 I have sworn it by my holiness, I will not lie to David.

36 His legacy will endure forever. The legacy of his kingship will remain in front of me like the sun.

37 It will last forever like the moon. The witness who is in the heaven is faithful. Pause.

38 But you have rejected and abhorred. You have been angry with [those who bear the legacy of] your anointed.

39 You have disregarded the covenant of your servant, you have desecrated his crown by casting it to the ground.

40 You have destroyed all his fences, you have ruined his fortresses.

41 All those who pass by the way rob him. He has become an object of rebuke to his neighbors.

42 You have lifted up the right hand of his enemies, and you have rejoiced all his adversaries.

43 You have also turned back the edge of his sword, and have not allowed him to stand in the battle.

44 You have caused his dignity to decline, and have cast his throne to the ground.

45 You have shortened the days of his youth, since you have quickly covered him with shame. Pause.

46 How much longer, O Yahweh. Will you hide your face forever. How long will your anger burn like fire.

47 Remember what the duration of my life is. Have you created all the children of men without purpose.

48 Is there a man who can live and not see death [by remaining alive in his flesh]. Will anyone escape the grave. Pause.

49 Lord, where are your former mercies which you swore to David in your truth.

50 Consider the shame suffered at this time by your servants [who carry the legacy of David]. Remember that I carry numerous peoples in my bosom [since you have told Abraham that all the families of the earth will be blessed through his legacy].

51 Remember the insults of your enemies, O Yahweh. They have insulted the footsteps of [David] your anointed.

52 Blessed be Yahweh forever. So be it, so be it.

Psalms 90

1 A prayer of Moses the man of God. Lord, you have been our refuge from generation to generation.

2 Before the mountains were made, and before you had formed the earth and the world, from everlasting to everlasting you are God.

3 You cause man to become dust again, for you say: Return, you the children of man.

4 For a thousand years in your sight are as yesterday when it is past, and as a watch in the night.

5 You carry them away like a dream which ends in the morning.

6 We are like grass. In the morning [namely at the beginning] it blossoms and grows, but in the evening [namely at the end] it is cut down and withers.

7 We are consumed by your anger, and your fury terrifies us.

8 You have set our iniquities before you. You bring our hidden sins in the light of your countenance.

9 All [the work that we have done during] our days can be devoured by your anger. We see our years vanish like a sigh.

10 The duration of our days is almost seventy years, or almost eighty years for those who are more resilient. And the pride that we can get is full of labor and sorrow. And it quickly disappears, because we fly away.

11 Who knows the power of your anger. For the fear that is due to you should be as intense as your fury.

12 Teach us to count our days, so that we may be aware of their insignificance, and so that we may understand the necessity of making wisdom dwell in our hearts.

13 Return, O Yahweh. How much longer. Have mercy on your servants.

14 Satisfy us every morning with your lovingkindness, so that we may rejoice and be glad for the rest of our days.

15 Comfort us as many days as you have afflicted us, as many years as we have seen misfortunes.

16 Let your work be revealed to your servants, and your glory to their children.

17 May the favor of the Lord our God be on us. Establish the work of our hands. Yes, establish the work of our hands.

Psalms 91

1 He who dwells in the secret place of the Most High will rest in the shadow of the Almighty.

2 I say of Yahweh: He is my hope and my fortress, my God in whom I trust.

3 Surely he will save you from the snare of the fowler, and from the deadly pestilence.

4 He will cover you with his wings, and you will be safe under his feathers. His faithfulness is a shield and a breastplate.

5 You will not be afraid of the terror of night, nor of the arrow that flies by day.

6 Nor of the pestilence that walks in darkness, nor of the destruction that strikes at noonday.

7 A thousand may fall at your side, and ten thousand at your right hand, but it will not come near you.

8 You will merely have to look with your eyes, and you will see the reward of the wicked.

9 For you have said, Yahweh is my hope. You have made the Most High your refuge.

10 No evil will befall you, no plague will come in your tent.

11 For he will command his angels to preserve you wherever you go.

12 And they will bear you in their hands, lest you dash your foot against a stone.

13 You will walk on the lion and the venomous snake. You will trample the young lion and the snake with your feet.

14 I will save him because he loves me. I will exalt him because he knows my name.

15 He will call on me, and I will answer him. I will be with him during his troubles. I will free him, and I will honor him.

16 I will satisfy him with a long life [which is the eternal life], for I will show him my salvation.

Psalms 92

1 A psalm for the sabbath day. It is a good thing to thank Yahweh, and to sing praises to your name, O Most High.

2 In order to declare your lovingkindness in the morning, and your faithfulness every night.

3 By playing with an instrument of ten strings, and with the lute, and by adding the soft sound of the harp.

4 For you have made me glad through your work, O Yahweh. I will rejoice in the works of your hands.

5 Your works are so great, O Yahweh. Your thoughts are very deep.

6 An unwise man does not know it, and a stupid man is not careful about it.

7 The wicked may grow like the grass, and the workers of iniquity may blossom like flowers, but they [their works] will be destroyed forever.

8 And you will honor your followers forever, O Yahweh.

9 For lo, the fate of your enemies, O Yahweh. For lo, all your enemies will perish. All the workers of iniquity will be scattered.

10 But you will exalt my horn, like the horn of a wild ox. For I am anointed with your fresh oil.

11 My eye will see my desires on my enemies, and my ears will hear what I hope from the wicked who rise up against me. [You do not desire the total destruction of the sinner, but that he be converted and live. And you will destroy the one who refuses to be converted.]

12 The righteous will blossom like a palm tree. He will grow like a cedar in Lebanon.

13 For the things that are planted in the house of Yahweh, will blossom in the courtyards of our God.

14 They will still bear fruit in old age, they will be fat and flourishing.

15 In order to make known that Yahweh is upright. He is my rock, and there is no unrighteousness in him.

Psalms 93

1 Yahweh reigns, and he is clothed with majesty. Yahweh is clothed with strength, with which he has girded himself. The world is established and will not be moved.

2 Your throne has been established from everlasting, you have existed from everlasting.

3 The floods have lifted up, O Yahweh. The floods have lifted up their voice. The floods lift up their roaring waves.

4 But Yahweh is mighty in the heavenly places. He is more mighty than the noise of many waters, more mighty than the mighty waves of the sea.

5 Your testimonies are entirely true. May holiness become your house forever, O Yahweh.

Psalms 94

1 O Yahweh God to whom vengeance belongs, O God to whom vengeance belongs, show yourself.

2 Arise, you the judge of the earth, and reward the proud according to their works.

3 How long will the wicked triumph, O Yahweh. How long will the wicked triumph.

4 They prate and speak arrogantly, all the workers of iniquity boast themselves.

5 They hurt your people, O Yahweh. They oppress your inheritance.

6 They kill the widow and the sojourner. They murder the fatherless.

7 And they say: Yahweh does not look, the God of Jacob does not consider.

8 Hear, you among the people who are unwise. When will you become wise, you the fools.

9 Will the one who made the ear not hear. Will the one who formed the eye not see.

10 Will the one who punishes the nations not rebuke. Will the one who teaches man knowledge not understand.

11 Yahweh knows the thoughts of man, he knows that they are futile.

12 Blessed is the man whom you discipline in order to teach him your law, O Yahweh.

13 For you will preserve him in the time of his affliction, while the pit is dug for the wicked.

15 For judgment will be according to righteousness, and all those who are upright in heart will be approved.

16 Who will rise up for me against the wicked. Who will stand up for me against the workers of iniquity.

17 If Yahweh had not been my help, my soul would soon have dwelt in the darkness.

18 When I see that my foot slips, then your mercy support me, O Yahweh.

19 In the multitude of thoughts of my heart, your promises comfort my soul.

20 Does the throne of iniquity have fellowship with you. Do those who use your statutes to plan deceit have a share in your love.

22 But Yahweh is my hope. My God is the rock of my refuge.

23 He will bring their wickedness on them, he will destroy them in their own malice. Yes, Yahweh our God will destroy them.

Psalms 95

1 Come, and let us rejoice in Yahweh. Let us sing joyfully to the rock of our salvation.

2 Let us come before him with praise, let us sing to him with a song of joy.

3 For Yahweh is a great God. He is a great king above all gods.

4 In his hand are the depths of the earth, and the tops of the mountains are his.

5 The sea is his, for he made it. And his hands formed the dry land.

6 Come, and we will worship and bow down. Let us kneel before Yahweh our Maker.

7 For he is our God, and we are the people of his pasture. We are his sheep and are under his hand.

8 If you hear his voice today [that is to say, if his existence and his way of acting are taught to you], then do not harden your hearts as at Massah, and as in the day of Meribah in the wilderness.

9 Where your fathers tested me, and probed me, although they had seen my work.

10 Therefore I had hated that generation for forty years, and had said: This is a people whose heart has erred. They do not know my ways.

11 Therefore I had sworn in my wrath by saying: They will not enter into my rest.

Psalms 96

1 Sing to Yahweh a new song. Sing to Yahweh, you all the inhabitants of the earth.

2 Sing to Yahweh, and bless his name. Proclaim his salvation from day to day.

4 For Yahweh is great and deserves to be highly praised. He is to be feared above all gods.

5 For all the gods of the peoples are idols, but Yahweh made the heavens.

6 Honor and majesty are before him, strength and joy are in his sanctuary.

7 Praise Yahweh, you all the families of the peoples. Praise the glory and the power of Yahweh.

8 Praise the glory of the name of Yahweh, bring an offering [a peace offering for gratitude] and enter his courtyards.

9 Worship Yahweh for the beauty of his holiness. Tremble before him, you all the inhabitants of the earth.

10 The world is established and will not be moved. Yahweh will judge the peoples in righteousness. Say among the nations: Yahweh reigns.

11 Let the heavens rejoice, and let the earth be glad. Let the sea roar, and all that is in it.

12 Let the field exult, and all that is in it. Let the trees of the forest sing for joy before Yahweh.

13 For he comes, for he comes to judge the earth. He will judge the world with righteousness, and the peoples in his truth.

Psalms 97

1 Yahweh reigns. Let the earth rejoice, and let the multitude of islands be glad.

2 Clouds and darkness surround him, righteousness and justice are the foundation of his throne.

3 Fire goes before him, and burns his enemies on all sides.

4 His lightnings light the world. The earth sees it and trembles.

5 The mountains melt like wax at the presence of Yahweh, at the presence of the Lord of the whole earth.

7 They will be ashamed, all those who serve graven images or who trust idols [namely false gods]. For all the gods will worship Yahweh.

8 Zion hears of it and rejoices. The daughters of Judah rejoice because of your judgments, O Yahweh.

9 For you are the Most High over all the earth, O Yahweh. You will be exalted above all gods.

10 You who want to love Yahweh, you must hate evil. He preserves the souls of his saints, he saves them from the hand of the wicked.

11 Light is sown for the righteous, and gladness for the upright in heart.

12 Rejoice in Yahweh, you the righteous. Give thanks for his holy memorial.

Psalms 98

1 A Psalm. Sing to Yahweh a new song. For he has done marvellous things. His right hand and his holy arm have given him victory.

2 Yahweh has made known his salvation, he has revealed his righteousness in the sight of the nations.

3 He has remembered his lovingkindness and his faithfulness toward the house of Israel. All the ends of the earth have seen the salvation of our God.

4 Shout for joy to Yahweh, you all the inhabitants of the earth. Sing praises and rejoice.

5 Sing praises to Yahweh with the harp. With the harp and a sweet voice.

6 And with trumpets, and with the sound of the horn. Shout for joy before Yahweh the king.

7 Let the sea roar, and all that is in it. And also the world, and those who dwell in it.

8 Let the rivers clap their hands, and let the mountains rejoice together before Yahweh.

9 For he comes to judge the earth. He will judge the world with righteousness, and the peoples with equity.

Psalms 99

1 Yahweh reigns, let the peoples tremble. He is sitting between the cherubim, let the earth tremble.

3 Let them praise your great and awesome name, for it is holy.

4 Let them praise the strength of the king who loves justice [for you are this king]. You have prepared equity, and you will perform righteousness and fairness in Jacob.

5 Exalt Yahweh our God, and worship before his footstool. For he is holy.

6 Moses and Aaron were among his priests, and Samuel was among those who call on his name. They called on Yahweh, and he answered them.

7 He spoke to them from a pillar of cloud. They kept his testimonies, and the law that he gave them.

8 You heard them, O Yahweh our God. You make them known that you are a merciful God, but you punished them for their transgressions.

9 Exalt Yahweh our God, and worship before his holy mountain. For Yahweh our God is holy.

Psalms 100

1 A Psalm of praise. Shout joyfully to Yahweh, you all the inhabitants of the earth.

2 Serve Yahweh with gladness. Come before his presence with joy.

3 Know that Yahweh is God. He has made us, and we are his. We are his people, the sheep of his pasture.

4 Enter into his gates with thanksgiving, into his courtyards with praises. Give thanks to him, and bless his name.

5 For Yahweh is good. His mercy endures forever, and his faithfulness is the same in all generations.

Psalms 101

1 A psalm of David. I will sing of mercy and righteousness. I will sing praises to you, O Yahweh.

2 I will behave wisely, for I will walk in your way until you come to me. I will walk in the uprightness of my heart wherever I go.

3 I will not set any wicked thing before my eyes. I hate the work of sinners, it will not cling to me.

4 A perverse heart will depart from me, I will have nothing to do with the wicked.

5 I will rebuke him who slanders his neighbor in secret. I will not endure him who has haughty eyes and a proud heart.

6 My eyes will be on the faithful of the land, so that they may dwell around me. He who walks in a blameless way, he will be my servant. [I David, the king, will use him to do my work]

7 He who works deceit will not dwell in my house. He who speaks lies will not remain in my sight. [He who does all these things without acceptable justification in his heart will be exposed by God and I will remove him from me.]

8 Every morning, I [David who has been made king] will destroy all the wicked of the land. And thus I will cut off all the workers of iniquity from the city of Yahweh.

Psalms 102

Psalms 103

1 A psalm of David. My soul blesses Yahweh, and all that is within me praises his holy name.

2 My soul blesses Yahweh, and forgets none of his blessings.

3 He who forgives all your iniquities, and heals all your diseases.

4 He who redeems your life from destruction, and crowns you with mercy and kindness.

5 He who satisfies you with good things, and reinvigorates you like a young eagle.

6 Yahweh is righteous, and he does justice to all those who are oppressed.

7 He made known his ways to Moses, and his works to the children of Israel.

8 Yahweh is merciful and compassionate, slow to anger and rich in kindness.

9 He does not argue continuously, he does not keep his anger forever.

10 He does not act toward us according to our sins, he does not reward us according to our iniquities.

11 For his goodness is great toward those who fear him, as the sky is high above the earth.

12 He can take our sins from us and put them in the distance, as far as the east is separate from the west.

13 Yahweh has compassion for those who fear him, as a father has compassion for his children.

14 For he knows what we are made of, he remembers that we are dust.

15 The days of man are like grass. It blooms like the flower of the field.

16 And it faints and disappears when the wind comes over it, and it is no longer known by the place in which it was.

17 But the lovingkindness of Yahweh endures forever and ever for those who fear him, and also his righteousness toward their descendants.

18 He acts thus toward those who keep his covenant, those who remember his commandments to do them.

19 Yahweh has established his throne in the heavens, and his kingship rules over all things.

20 Bless Yahweh, you his angels. You are mighty in strength, to perform his orders by obeying the voice of his word.

21 Bless Yahweh, you all his armies. You are his servants to do his pleasure.

22 Bless Yahweh, you all his works in all the places that he has made. My soul blesses Yahweh.

Psalms 104

1 My soul blesses Yahweh. O Yahweh my God, you are exceedingly great. You are clothed with glory and majesty.

2 He covers himself with light as with a garment. He stretches out the heavens like a curtain.

3 He lays the beams of his chambers in the waters, and makes the clouds his chariot. He rides on the wings of the wind.

4 He makes his spirits his messengers, and flames of fire his ministers.

5 He has established the earth on its foundations, it will never be moved.

6 You covered it with the depths as with a garment, and the waters stood above the mountains.

7 But they fled at your rebuke, they ran away at the sound of your thunder.

8 The mountains ascended, and the valleys descended, and the waters went to the place that you had set for them.

9 And you have set a limit that the waters will not cross, so that they will no longer return to cover the earth.

10 He sends springs into the valleys, and they flow between the mountains.

11 They give drink to all the animals of the fields, and the wild donkeys quench their thirst there.

12 The birds of the air live on their banks, and sing among the branches.

13 He waters the mountains from his chambers, and the earth is filled with the fruit of his works.

14 He causes the grass to grow for the cattle, and also the herb for the needs of man, so that the earth may produce food.

15 And also wine that makes the heart of man glad, and oil to cause his face to shine, and bread that strengthens the heart of man.

16 The trees of Yahweh are satisfied, namely the cedars of Lebanon which he has planted.

18 The high mountains are a refuge for wild goats, and the rocks are a refuge for the rock hyraxes.

19 He appointed the moon for seasons, the sun knows its going down.

20 You bring darkness, and it is night. And all the beasts of the forest move at that time.

22 And when the sun rises, they withdraw and lie down in their dens.

23 A man goes out to his work, and he labors until the evening.

24 Your works are manifold, O Yahweh. You have made them all in your wisdom, and the earth is full of your riches.

25 Behold the great and wide sea. Countless creatures move there, both small and great beasts.

26 It is the way of the ships, and also of the leviathan which you formed to play there.

27 All these creatures wait for you, so that you may give them food in due season.

28 And you give it to them, and they gather it. You open your hand, and they are satisfied with good things.

29 And they are troubled when you hide your face. When you take away their breath, they die and return to their dust.

30 All living things become alive through your spirit the breath-giver that you send, and thus you renew the face of the earth.

32 He looks on the earth, and it trembles. He touches the mountains, and they smoke.

33 I will praise Yahweh all my life. I will sing praises to my God as long as I live.

34 May my words be pleasing to him. I will rejoice in Yahweh.

35 Let sinners be consumed from the earth, and let the wicked be no more. My soul blesses Yahweh. Praise Yahweh.

Psalms 105

2 Sing to him, sing praises to him. Tell of all his wondrous works.

3 Rejoice in his holy name. Let the hearts of those who seek Yahweh rejoice.

4 Seek Yahweh and his strength, seek his face continuously.

5 Remember his marvellous works that he has done, his wonders and the judgments of his mouth.

6 O you the seed of Abraham his servant, you the children of Jacob who are his chosen.

7 Yahweh is our God, and he makes his judgments throughout the whole earth.

8 He has always remembered his covenant, the promise that he made to a thousand generations.

9 The covenant that he made with Abraham, and the oath that he swore to Isaac.

10 He has confirmed it to Jacob for a law, and to Israel for an everlasting covenant.

11 For he said [to each of them, and they all died according to the flesh without the fulfillment of this promise]: I will give you the land of Canaan which is the lot of your inheritance [the land from which your inheritance will be established by the chosen one, the Shiloh of the tribe of Judah in whom will be the obedience of the peoples according to the blessings that Jacob announced before his death].

12 At that time they were few in number [each of them and his possessions who were his family and his servants], very few, and they were strangers in that land.

13 And at that time they went from nation to nation, and from one kingdom to another people.

14 But Yahweh suffered no man to hurt them, and he rebuked kings for their sakes.

15 For he said: Do not touch my anointed ones, and do not harm my prophets.

16 He called for a famine on the land, and utterly broke the staff of bread.

17 But he had sent a man before them. For Joseph was sold to become a slave.

18 They bonded his feet with rope, and put his neck in chains of irons.

19 And he remained a slave until the time when he was justified by the word of Yahweh.

20 Then the king sent and loosed him. Yes, the ruler of the people freed him.

21 And he made Joseph lord of his house, and ruler of all his possessions.

22 So that Joseph might lead his princes at his pleasure, and teach his elders wisdom.

23 Then Israel came to Egypt, and Jacob sojourned in the land of Ham.

24 And God increased his people exceedingly, and made them stronger than their oppressors.

25 He had turned their hearts to cause them to hate his people, and to act treacherously toward his servants [the children of Israel].

26 Then he sent Moses his servant, and Aaron whom he had chosen.

27 And they performed his signs among the Egyptians. They performed wonders in the land of Ham.

28 He sent darkness and brought thick darkness, yet his messengers [Moses and Aaron] did not disobey his commission.

29 He turned the waters of the Egyptians into blood, and destroyed their fish.

30 And their land swarmed with frogs, even in the private rooms of their king.

31 He spoke, and there came swarms of flies and lice throughout all their land.

32 He gave them hail for rain, and flames of fire in their land.

33 He smote their vines also, and their fig trees, and broke the trees of their land.

34 He spoke, and grasshoppers and caterpillars came, innumerable.

35 And they devoured all the grass in their land, and devoured the fruit of their ground.

36 He smote also all the firstborn in their land, all the firstfruits of their strength.

37 And he brought out his people with silver and gold, and each person of their tribes was reinvigorated.

38 And the Egyptians rejoiced at their departure. For they had been seized by the fear of the children of Jacob.

39 And God did spread a cloud to cover them [in the daytime], and fire to give light in the night.

40 And he brought quails at their request, and satisfied them with the bread of heaven.

41 He opened the rock, and waters gushed out and ran in the dry places like a river.

42 For he remembered his holy promise to Abraham his servant.

44 And he gave them the lands of the nations, and they took the labors of the peoples in possession.

45 In order to keep his statutes, and to observe his laws. Praise Yahweh.

Psalms 106

1 Praise Yahweh. Praise Yahweh because he is good, for his mercy endures forever.

2 Who can tell all the mighty acts of Yahweh. Who can declare all his praise.

3 Blessed are those who keep the testimony, to act righteously at all times.

4 Think about me when you show kindness to your people, O Yahweh. Visit me with your salvation.

5 So that I may see the bliss of your chosen ones, and rejoice in the joy of your people, and glory in your inheritance.

6 We have sinned like our fathers. We have committed iniquity, we have done wickedly.

7 Our ancestors did not learn from the wonders that you performed in Egypt. They forgot your goodness at the red sea, and rebelled against you.

8 For he freed them for his name's sake [in order to perform the promises that he made to Abraham and Isaac and Jacob], and to make known his power.

9 He rebuked the red sea, and it dried up. Then he led them through the depths, as through a wilderness.

10 He freed them from the hand of the one who hated them, he redeemed them from the hand of the enemy.

11 And the waters covered their oppressors, and not one of them was left.

12 Then his people believed his words, and sang praises to him.

14 For they were seized with lust in the wilderness, and they tested God in the wilderness.

15 Then he gave them their desire, but he also caused their bodies to decay.

16 And they also envied Moses in the camp, and Aaron the holy one of Yahweh [namely the one whom Yahweh has chosen to serve as high priest].

17 Therefore the earth opened and engulfed Dathan, and covered the company of Abiram.

18 And a fire was kindled in the assembly of the children of Jacob, and its flame burned up the wicked.

19 And they had made a calf in Horeb, and had worshiped that molten image.

20 Thus they had exchanged [Yahweh] their glory for the likeness of an ox that eats grass.

21 They had forgotten God their savior who had done great things in Egypt.

22 The one who had done wondrous works in the land of Ham, and terrible things at the red sea.

23 Therefore he intended to destroy them. But Moses his chosen stood before him in the gap in order to turn away his wrath, to beseech God not to destroy all the transgressors.

24 And they also despised the pleasant land, they did not believe the word of Yahweh [who had promised that they would be strong enough to take it].

26 Therefore he lifted up his hand, and he swore to destroy them in the wilderness.

27 And that he would overthrow their seed among the nations, and scatter them in the countries.

28 And they also joined themselves to Baal-peor, and ate the sacrifices offered to the dead. [They ate it to worship with the people who made these offerings.]

29 Thus they provoked Yahweh to anger with their action, and a plague arose among them.

30 Then Phinehas stood up and executed judgment, and the plague was stopped.

31 And Yahweh considered this action of Phinehas to be a righteous act, and remembered it [when he looked on his descendants] in all generations forever.

32 They also provoked Yahweh to anger when they were at the waters of Meribah, and Moses was punished because of them. [They were the cause of the event in which Moses transgressed.]

33 For they put bitterness in the spirit of Moses through their incessant solicitations, and therefore he spoke rashly with his lips [and he acted without restraint].

34 Afterward they did not destroy some of the peoples whom Yahweh had commanded them to destroy [in the promise land].

35 And they mingled with the nations, and learned their works.

36 And they served the idols of those peoples. And thus those peoples had become a snare to them.

37 And the children of Israel offered their sons and their daughters to false gods.

38 And they shed innocent blood, the blood of their sons and their daughters whom they sacrificed to the idols of Canaan, and thus the land was defiled with the wilful transgressions of murders.

39 So they defiled themselves with their works, and played the whore in their doings. [They prostituted their souls by serving false gods.]

40 Therefore the anger of Yahweh was kindled against his people, and he abhorred his inheritance.

41 And he gave them into the hand of the nations, and thus those who hated them ruled over them.

42 So their enemies oppressed them, and they were humbled under their hand.

43 And Yahweh freed them many times, but they were rebellious in their counsels and returned to their worthless behaviors. And they were humbled because of their iniquity.

44 But whenever they called on him in their great distress, he heard their supplications.

46 And he also caused their oppressors, those who took them captive, to pity them.

47 Save us, O Yahweh our God, and gather us from among the nations. And thus they will know your holy name [namely they will be impressed by your power], and will joyfully praise you.

48 Blessed be Yahweh the God of Israel, forever and ever. And let all the people say: So be it, praise Yahweh.

Psalms 108

1 A psalm of David. My heart is prepared, O God. I will sing and praise you, it is my glory.

2 Awake, my lute and my harp. I will awake the morning.

3 I will praise you among the peoples, O Yahweh. I will sing to you among the nations.

4 For your mercy is high above the clouds, and your faithfulness reaches to the heavens.

5 Be exalted above the heavens, O God, and let your glory be on all the earth.

6 In order to free your beloveds from the hand of the enemy. Answer us, save us with your right hand.

7 God has spoken in his holiness and has said: I will triumph, I will divide Shechem and measure the valley of Succoth.

8 Gilead is mine, Manasseh is mine. Ephraim is my helmet, and Judah is my lawgiver.

9 Moab is my washbasin, and I cast my shoe on Edom. I will shout for joy over the land of the Philistines.

10 Now therefore, will you not bring me into the fortified city. Will you not lead me to Edom.

11 Will you reject us again, O God. Will you not go with us in the midst of our armies, O God.

12 It is in you that we will seek help in distress, for it is fruitless to seek only the help of men.

13 We will do valiantly through God, for it is he who will tread down our enemies.

Psalms 109

1 A psalm of David [which is a prophecy concerning another person]. Do not be silent, O God of my praise.

2 For they have opened against me a wicked and deceitful mouth. They have spoken to me with a lying tongue.

3 They have surrounded me with words of hatred, and have fought against me without a cause.

4 They are my adversaries while I love them, but I turn myself to prayer.

5 They have rewarded me evil for good, and hatred for my love.

6 Set a wicked man at his side, let an adversary stand at his right hand.

7 When he is judged, let him be found guilty and let his prayer be turned into sin.

8 Let his days be few, and let another fulfill his work [that is to say, the work that he would have done if he had not turned away from you].

9 Let his children be fatherless, and his wife a widow.

10 Let his children be vagabonds and beggars. Let them seek their bread far from their desolate places.

11 Let the creditor seize all that belong to him, and let strangers plunder the fruit of his labor.

12 Let no one show him kindness, and let no one have pity on his fatherless children.

15 Let them be continuously before Yahweh, so that he may cut off their legacy from the earth.

16 Because he remembered not to shew mercy, but persecuted the poor and needy, to the point of killing the brokenhearted.

17 He loved to curse others, therefore let curses be on him. He never blessed others, therefore let there be no blessing on him.

18 Let him wear his curses like a garment, and let it go into his inward parts like water, and into his bones like oil.

19 Let it be his garment to cover himself, and the girdle with which he is girded continuously.

20 Let this be the reward of my adversaries from Yahweh, and of those who speak evil against my soul.

21 But you will do for me what is right because of your name, O Lord Yahweh. Save me, for your goodness is great.

22 I am poor and needy, and my heart is wounded within me.

23 I am dying like the shadow that declines, I am driven away like a grasshopper.

24 My knees are weak because of fasting, and my body has lost all his fat.

25 I have become an object of reproach to them. They look at me and shake their heads.

26 Help me, O Yahweh my God. Save me because of your mercy.

27 And thus they will know that it is your hand. They will understand that you allowed all these things to happen because of your goals, O Yahweh.

28 Although they curse, you will bless. They arise, but they will be bewildered while your servant will rejoice.

29 Let my adversaries be clothed with shame. Let them cover themselves with their bewilderments as with a robe.

30 I will give great thanks to Yahweh with my mouth, I will praise him among the multitude.

31 For he will stand at the right hand of the powerless, to save him from those who condemn his soul.

Psalms 110

1 A psalm of David. Yahweh has said to my Lord: Sit at my right hand, until I make your enemies your footstool.

2 Yahweh will extend the scepter of your power from Zion. Be the ruler in the midst of your enemies.

3 Your people are full of zeal when you gather your army. In the beauties of holiness, the young persons of your army come to you like dew that comes from the womb of the morning.

4 Yahweh has sworn, and he will not repent: You are a priest forever, after the manner of Melchizedek.

5 The Lord is at your right hand, and he will shatter kings in the day of his wrath.

6 He performs justice among the nations, he fills the places with dead bodies. He crushes the heads of arrogant people throughout the world.

7 He drinks from the brook in the way, therefore he lifts up his head.

Psalms 111

1 Praise Yahweh. I will praise Yahweh with my whole heart, in the assembly of the upright and in the congregation.

2 The works of Yahweh [the holy spirit of Elohim] are great, and are sought out by all those who have pleasure in them.

3 His work is honor and majesty, and his righteousness endures forever.

4 He has caused his wonderful works to be remembered in all generations. Yahweh is merciful and gracious.

5 He has given a portion [namely a legacy] to those who fear him, for he continuously remembers his covenant.

6 He has made known to his people the power of his works, when he has given them the inheritance of the nations [namely their land].

8 They are established forever and ever [for their teaching is useful in all generations], and they are done in faithfulness and uprightness.

9 He has sent salvation to his people, he has established his covenant forever. His name is holy and awesome.

10 The fear of Yahweh is the beginning of wisdom. Everyone who learns from his commandments has a good understanding, for the glory of Yahweh endures forever.

Psalms 112

1 Praise Yahweh. Blessed is the man who fears Yahweh, namely the man who finds his pleasure in the commandments of Yahweh.

2 His posterity will be powerful on earth, for the legacies of the righteous persons are blessed.

3 Wealth and treasures accompany his legacy, and his righteousness endures forever.

4 A light shines in the darkness for each righteous person, for those who are merciful and compassionate and fair.

5 A good man is merciful and lends, and he guides his businesses by equity.

6 Surely he will never be moved, for the legacy of the righteous is forever.

7 He will not be afraid of bad news, because his heart is steadfast in his confidence that Yahweh has a plan.

8 His heart is strengthened, and he will not fear until he understands his triumph over his enemies.

9 He is generous, he gives freely to the needy. His righteousness endures forever, and his horn will be exalted with honor.

10 The wicked will see it and will grieve. He will gnash his teeth and consume his soul. The desire of the wicked will perish.

Psalms 113

1 Praise Yahweh. Praise, you the servants of Yahweh. Praise the name of Yahweh.

2 Blessed be the name of Yahweh from this time and forever.

3 Let the name of Yahweh be praised from the rising of the sun to its going down.

4 Yahweh is high above all nations, and his glory is above the heavens.

5 Who is like Yahweh our God. He dwells in the high place.

6 He looks down to see the things that are in the heavens and on the earth.

7 He raises the needy from the dust, and lifts up the poor from the dunghill.

8 In order to set him among the princes, among the nobles who are the beloveds of Yahweh.

9 He builds the house of the barren woman who loves him [namely he gives her a legacy]. He makes her a joyful mother of children [who are either carnal or spiritual]. Praise Yahweh.

Psalms 114

1 When Israel went out of Egypt, when the house of Jacob departed from the brutish people [who oppressed them].

2 Judah was his sanctuary, and Israel his kingdom.

3 The sea saw it and fled. And the Jordan was driven back.

4 The mountains leaped like rams, and the hills like lambs.

5 What is troubling you, O sea, so that you are fleeing. Why have you turned back, O Jordan.

6 You mountains, why have you leaped like rams. And you hills, why have you leaped like lambs.

7 The earth trembled at the presence of the Lord, at the presence of the God of Jacob.

8 The one who turned the rock into a pool of water, and the flint into a fountain of waters.

Psalms 115

1 Do not act because of us, O Yahweh. Do not act because of us, but only for the glory of your name, and for the sake of your mercy and your faithfulness.

2 Why should the nations say: Where is now their God.

3 But our God is in heaven, and he does whatever he pleases.

4 Their idols are made of silver and gold, the work of men's hands.

5 They have mouths, but they speak not. They have eyes, but they see not.

6 They have ears, but they hear not. They have noses, but they smell not.

7 They have hands, but they touch not. They have feet, but they walk not. They make no sound with their throat.

8 They are worthless like those who make them, like all those who trust in them.

9 Trust in Yahweh, O Israel. For he is your help and also your shield.

10 Trust in Yahweh, O house of Aaron. For he is your help and also your shield.

11 You who fear Yahweh, trust in Yahweh. For he is your help and also your shield.

12 Yahweh remembers us, and he will bless us. He will bless the house of Israel, he will bless the house of Aaron.

13 He will bless those who fear Yahweh, both small and great.

14 Yahweh will greatly reward you and your [spiritual] children.

15 Blessed be Yahweh, he made the heaven and the earth.

16 The heavens are the heavens of Yahweh, but he has given the earth to the children of men.

17 The dead do not praise Yahweh. None of those who are in silence praises him.

18 So we will bless Yahweh from this time and forever. Praise Yahweh.

Psalms 116

1 I love Yahweh, because he has heard my voice and my supplications.

2 Since he has inclined his ear to me, therefore I will call on him as long as I live.

3 For the ropes of death had surrounded me, and the griefs of the grave had seized me. I was in trouble and in sorrow.

4 And after having cleansed my heart by acknowledging my sin to the people whom I had previously offended without publicly acceptable justification, I called on the name of Yahweh by saying: I beseech you to save my soul, O Yahweh.

5 Yahweh is merciful and righteous. Yes, our God is full of compassion.

6 Yahweh preserves the one who has a simple heart. I was brought low, and he saved me [since he has given me reasons to hope].

7 Return to your rest, O my soul. For Yahweh has been merciful toward you.

8 For you have save my soul from death [by giving me reasons to hope], and my eyes from tears, and my feet from falling.

9 I will walk before Yahweh in the uprightness of my heart, in the land of the living.

10 I will believe in him even when I say: I am greatly afflicted.

11 For I say in my meditation: All men are liars.

12 How will I repay Yahweh for the work that he has allowed me to accomplish.

13 I will lift up the cup of my salvation, and call on the name of Yahweh.

14 I will pay my vows to Yahweh now, in the sight of all his people.

16 O Yahweh, truly I am your servant. I am your servant and the son of your handmaid, and you have loosed my bonds.

17 I will offer to you the sacrifices of praises, and will call on the name of Yahweh.

18 I will pay my vows to Yahweh now, in the sight of all his people.

19 I will do it in the midst of you, O Jerusalem, in the courtyards of the house of Yahweh. Praise Yahweh.

Psalms 117

1 Praise Yahweh, you all nations. Praise him, you all peoples.

2 For his lovingkindness toward us is great, and his faithfulness endures forever. Praise Yahweh.

Psalms 118

2 Let Israel say now: For his mercy endures forever.

3 Let the house of Aaron say now: For his mercy endures forever.

4 Let those who fear Yahweh say now: For his mercy endures forever.

5 I have called on Yahweh in distress. And Yahweh has heard me, and has set me free.

6 Yahweh is with me, therefore I will not fear. For what can man do to me.

7 Yahweh is my helper. Therefore I will triumph over my enemies.

8 It is better to take refuge in Yahweh than to have confidence in man.

9 It is better to take refuge in Yahweh than to have confidence in great leaders.

10 All nations can surround me, but I will prevail over them by the name of Yahweh.

11 They can surround me again and again, but I will prevail over them by the name of Yahweh.

12 They can surround me like bees, but they will be quenched like a fire of thorns. For I will prevail over them by the name of Yahweh.

13 You have pushed me to make me fall, but Yahweh has helped me.

14 Yahweh is my strength and my song. For he has been my salvation [since he has given me reasons to hope].

15 The voice of triumph and salvation rises from the tents of the righteous, and it said: The right hand of Yahweh is powerful.

16 The right hand of Yahweh is exalted, the right hand of Yahweh is powerful.

17 I will not die, but I will live. And I will declare the works of Yahweh.

18 Yahweh has chastened me painfully, but he has not given me to death.

19 Open to me the gates of righteousness. For I will enter into them to praise Yahweh.

20 It is the gate of Yahweh, and the righteous will enter into it.

21 I will praise you because you have heard me, and have been my salvation [since you have given me reasons to hope].

22 The stone that the builders have rejected has become the head stone of the corner.

23 And it is a work of Yahweh, and it is marvelous in our eyes.

24 This is the day that Yahweh has made. Let us rejoice and be glad in it.

25 O Yahweh, we beseech you to give salvation now. O Yahweh, we beseech you to give prosperity now.

26 Blessed is he who has come in the name of Yahweh. We have blessed you from [the place of] the house of Yahweh.

27 Yahweh is God, and he has given us light. Bind the sacrifice with cords, and bring it to the horns of the altar.

28 You are my God, and I will praise you. You are my God, and I will exalt you.

29 Praise Yahweh because he is good, for his mercy endures forever.

Psalms 119

1 Blessed is the one whose heart is honest and who walk in the law of Yahweh.

2 Blessed is the one who keep the testimonies of Yahweh, and who seek Yahweh with his whole heart.

3 Surely such a person do not commit wickedness, for he walk in the ways of Yahweh.

4 You have commanded us to do your precepts diligently.

5 May my heart be steadfast to perform your statutes.

6 For I will never be ashamed, if I continuously perform all your commandments.

7 I praise you with a sincere heart whenever I understand a little more the righteousness of your judgments.

8 Do not forsake me completely, because I want to do your statutes.

9 How can a young person purify his way. It is by taking care to walk according to your word.

10 I am looking for you with my whole heart. Do not let me wander away from your commandments.

11 I have hidden your word in my heart, so as not to sin against you.

12 Blessed are you, O Yahweh. Teach me your ways.

13 With my lips I list all the ordinances of your mouth.

14 I am delighted by following your testimonies, as if I had all the treasures.

15 I will meditate on your precepts and consider your ways.

16 I delight in your statutes, I will not forget your word.

17 Do good to your servant, so that I may live to perform your word.

18 Open my eyes, so that I may contemplate the wondrous things of your law.

19 I am a stranger on earth. Do not hide your commandments from me.

20 My heart is overwhelmed by the desire that carries it continuously towards your ordinances.

21 You will destroy the proud, these cursed persons who wander far from your commandments.

22 Remove from me shame and contempt, for I have kept your testimonies.

23 The rulers may sit down and speak against me, but your servant meditates on your statutes.

24 Your testimonies are my delight and my counsellors.

25 My soul is clinging to dust, give me reasons to hope according to your word.

26 I went to those whom I had unjustifiably offended in order to recognize my transgressions. Now teach me your statutes.

27 Make me understand the intentions of your precepts, and I will meditate on your wondrous works.

28 My soul melts because of sorrow. Raise me according to your word.

29 Remove from me the way of falseness, and grant me your law graciously.

30 I have chosen the way of truth, and I have placed your ordinances before me.

31 I have clung to your testimonies. Do not let me become bewildered, O Yahweh.

32 I will run toward the ways of your commandments, in order to enlarge my heart.

33 Teach me the way of your statutes, O Yahweh. And I will keep them until the end of my life.

34 Give me understanding, so that I may do your law. Yes, I will observe it with my whole heart.

35 Guide me toward the path of your commandments. For my delight is in them.

36 Incline my heart to your testimonies, and not to the lust of the things of the world.

37 Turn away my eyes from contemplating worthless things. Cause me to live in your ways.

38 Fulfill for your servant the promises of your word, since I have continuously the fear of you.

39 Take away from me the reason of rebuke that I dread, for your judgments are full of goodness.

40 And behold, I desire your commandments. Put your righteousness in the depths of my heart.

41 Let your mercy cover me, O Yahweh. Give me your salvation according to the promise of your word.

42 Allow me to have an answer for those who reproach me. For I trust in your word.

43 Do not remove utterly the word of truth from my mouth. For I hope in your judgments.

44 I will observe your law continuously, forever and ever.

45 I will live in freedom, since I seek your precepts.

46 I will speak of your testimonies before kings, and will not be ashamed.

47 I delight in your commandments, I love them.

48 I lift up my hands to your commandments, for I love them. I will always meditate on your statutes.

49 Remember me concerning the promises of your word, for you have given me hope.

50 It is my comfort in my affliction, for your promise refreshes me.

51 The arrogant have made fun of me a lot, but I have not turned away from your law.

52 I remember your judgments of old, O Yahweh, and I am comforted.

53 A strong feeling of disgust has seized me because of the wicked, for they transgress your law.

54 Your statutes are my songs, in the house of my pilgrimage [in this world].

55 I also remember your name in the night, O Yahweh. I cannot stop thinking about your law.

56 It is thus, because I take pleasure in your precepts.

57 You are my portion, O Yahweh. For I am determined to keep your word.

58 I cry to you with my whole heart, and I ask you the following thing: Be merciful to me in accordance with your word.

59 I consider my ways, and I turn my feet according to the teaching of your testimonies.

60 I hasten, I do not delay to perform your commandments.

61 The snares of the wicked surround me, but I do not forget your law.

62 At midnight I rise to praise you, because of your righteous judgments.

63 I am a friend of all those who fear you, namely all those who keep your precepts.

64 The earth is full of your goodness [for it is by your goodness that we come in the world of the living in order to create our own legacy], O Yahweh. Teach me your statutes.

65 You have acted graciously toward your servant in accordance with your word, O Yahweh. [For you have prepared the heart of your servant to learn to do your will]

66 Teach me goodness and understanding. For I believe your commandments.

67 Before I was afflicted, I went astray. But now I observe your word.

68 You are good and gracious. Teach me your statutes.

69 The proud have imagined a lie against me, but I will keep your precepts with my whole heart.

70 Their heart is as fat as grease, but my delight is in your law.

71 It is good for me that I have been afflicted. For it has prepared me to love your statutes deeply.

72 The law of your mouth is better to me than thousands jewels of gold and silver.

73 Your hands have created me and have fashioned me. Give me understanding, so that I may learn your commandments.

74 Those who fear you will rejoice when they see me, because I hope in your word.

75 I know that your judgments are fair, O Yahweh. It is because of your faithfulness that you have humbled me.

76 Let your lovingkindness be my comfort, in accordance with the promises of your word which is the hope of your servant.

77 Let your tender mercies come on me, so that I may live. For your law is my delight.

78 Let the arrogant be bewildered. They have oppressed me without a cause, but I meditate on your precepts.

80 Cause my heart to be faithful to your statutes, so that I may not be put to shame.

81 My soul craves for your salvation, because I hope in your word.

82 My eyes looks for your promise, and I say: When will you haved comforted me.

83 For I am like a bottle in the smoke. Nevertheless I do not forget your statutes.

84 How many are the days of your servant. When will you execute judgment on those who persecute me.

85 The arrogant have dug pits for me, they do not act according to your law.

86 All your commandments show your faithfulness. Help me, because they persecute me without a cause.

87 They had almost destroyed me on the earth, but I have not forsaken your precepts.

88 Refresh me according to your lovingkindness, so that I may keep the testimony of your mouth.

89 Forever, O Yahweh. Your word is established in heaven.

90 Your faithfulness endures from generation to generation. You have founded the earth, and it stands.

91 It is according to your laws that everything remains today. For all things are subject to you.

92 If your law had not become my delight, then I would have perished in my affliction. [You would have killed me and you would have destroyed my legacy also]

93 I will never forget your precepts, because it is through them that you have given me hope.

94 I am yours, save me. For I am looking for your precepts.

95 The wicked have waited for me to destroy me. But I am attentive to your testimonies.

96 I have seen the destruction of many things enticing the eyes, but your commandments endure.

97 I love your law so much. It is the object of my meditation continually.

98 Your commandments make me wiser than my enemies. And I always have your commandments before my eyes.

99 I have more understanding than all my teachers, because your testimonies are the subject of my meditation.

100 I understand more than old people, because I observe your precepts.

101 I hold back my foot far from any evil path, in order to perform your word.

102 I do not deviate from your laws, because you are the one who teaches me.

103 Your words are so sweet to my palate. Yes, they are sweeter than honey in my mouth.

104 I have gotten understanding through your precepts. And now I hate all the ways of falseness.

105 Your word is a lamp at my feet, and a light on my path.

106 I have sworn, and I will not fail in it: I will perform your laws because they are righteous.

107 I am very afflicted. Refresh me according to your word, O Yahweh.

108 I beseech you, O Yahweh, to accept the freewill offering of my mouth. And here is this offering: Teach me your judgments.

109 My life is continuously exposed, but I do not forget your law.

110 The wicked have laid a trap to make me fall, but I do not turn away from your precepts.

111 Your testimonies have become my inheritance forever, because they are the joy of my heart.

112 I have inclined my heart to perform your statutes continuously, until the end of my life.

113 I hate those who mislead some others without acceptable justifications. For I love your law.

114 You are my spear and my shield. I hope in your word.

115 Go away from me, you the wicked. For I want to perform the commandments of my God.

116 Support me according to the promise of your word, so that I may live. Do not disappoint my hope.

117 Assist me so that I may be saved. For I will perform your statutes constantly.

118 You will despise all those who move away from your statutes. For their deceitful plans are worthless.

119 You will remove all the wicked of the earth as one removes trash. Therefore I love your testimonies.

120 My flesh trembles because I am afraid of you. I fear your judgments.

121 I am doing what is right and good [according to your commandments]. Do not put me into the hands of my oppressors.

122 Act for the well-being of your servant. Do not allow the arrogant to oppress me.

123 My eyes are weakened by the search for your salvation. I seek the promises of your righteous word.

124 Act toward your servant according to your mercy, and teach me your statutes.

125 I am your servant. Therefore give me understanding, so that I may know your testimonies.

126 It is time for Yahweh to act, for they are transgressing your law.

127 I love your commandments more than gold, more than fine gold.

128 I know that all your precepts concerning all things are fair, and I hate all false ways.

129 Your testimonies are wonderful. Therefore my soul performs them.

130 The study of your word enlightens the soul, and gives understanding to those who are not intelligent.

131 I open my mouth and sigh, because I am eager to do your commandments.

132 Turn your face to me, and have mercy on me. For you act thus toward those who love your name.

133 Establish my footsteps in your word, and do not allow any iniquity to have dominion over me.

134 Redeem me from the oppression of men, because I perform your precepts.

135 Make your face shine on your servant, and teach me your statutes.

136 Streams of water flow from my eyes, because they do not perform your law.

137 You are righteous, O Yahweh. And your judgments are fair.

138 You have based your testimonies on righteousness and faithfulness.

139 My zeal consumes me, because my adversaries have forgotten your words.

140 Your word is tested and proven to be reliable, and your servant loves it.

141 I am small and despised, but I do not forget your precepts.

142 Your righteousness is an everlasting righteousness, and your law is truth.

143 Trouble and anguish have taken hold of me, but your commandments are my delight.

144 The righteousness of your testimonies is forever. Help me understand them so that I may live.

145 I call on you with my whole heart. Answer me since I perform your statutes, O Yahweh.

146 I call on you. Save me, for I keep your testimonies.

147 I come to you before the dawn, and I cry out to you. For I hope in your word.

148 When I open my eyes at night, it is to meditate on your word.

149 Hear my voice according to your lovingkindness. Refresh me according to the promises of your commandments, O Yahweh.

150 Those who have malice in their hearts approach me. Their hearts are far from your law.

151 But you are closer to me, O Yahweh. For all your commandments are truth.

152 What I have understood from your testimonies of old is that you have designed them to be eternally instructive.

153 Look at my affliction, and free me. For I have not forgotten your law.

154 Plead my cause, and redeem me. Refresh me according to your word.

155 Salvation is far from the wicked, because they do not seek your statutes.

156 Your tender mercies are great, O Yahweh. Refresh me according to your judgments.

157 My persecutors and my adversaries are many, but I do not depart from your testimonies.

158 I look on the transgressors with disgust, because they do not perform your law.

159 Consider how I love your precepts, O Yahweh. Refresh me according to your mercy.

160 The foundation of your word is truth, and all the judgments of your righteousness are eternally instructive.

161 Rulers persecute me without a cause, but my heart trembles only at your words.

162 I rejoice in your word, as one who has found a great treasure.

163 I hate falseness and abhor it, because I love your law.

164 I praise you seven times per day, because of your righteous judgments.

165 Those who love your law have true peace. Nothing will turn them away from you.

166 I perform your commandments because I trust in your salvation, O Yahweh.

167 My soul keeps your testimonies, because I love them exceedingly.

168 I perform your precepts and your testimonies, because all my ways are before you.

169 Let my cry come before you, O Yahweh. Give me understanding, according to the promise of your word.

170 Let my supplication come before you. Save me, according to the promise of your word.

171 My lips declare your praise. For you have taught me your statutes.

172 My tongue speaks of your word, because all your commandments are righteous.

173 Let your hand help me. For I have chosen your precepts.

174 I long for your salvation, O Yahweh. Your law is my delight.

175 Let my soul live in order to praise you. Let your law sustain me.

176 I have gone astray like a lost sheep. Seek your servant, for I have not forgotten your commandments.

Psalms 120

1 I called on Yahweh in my distress, and he answered me.

2 Keep the lying lips and the deceitful tongue away from me. [The one who mislead some others without having publicly acceptable justifications in his heart]

3 You the wicked, here is what you will get because of your deceitful tongue. Here is what it will bring to you.

4 The sharp arrows of a soldier, and burning coals to harm you.

5 Woe is me, for I am like one who sojourns in Meshech or who dwells in the tents of Kedar.

6 My soul has dwelt too long with him who hates peace.

7 I am for peace. But when I speak, they are for war.

Psalms 121

1 I lift up my eyes to the mountains. Where will my help come from.

2 My help comes from Yahweh, the one who made the heaven and the earth.

3 He will not suffer your foot to slip [since he has a plan for every one who loves his commandments]. For he who keeps you does not slumber.

4 Behold, he who keeps Israel does neither slumber nor sleep.

6 The sun will not smite you by day, nor the moon by night.

7 Yahweh will preserve you from all evil. He will preserve your soul.

8 Yahweh will be in control of your goings out and your comings in, from now on and forever.

Psalms 122

1 A psalm of David. I rejoice when they say to me: Let us go to the house of Yahweh.

2 Our feet are standing in your gates, O Jerusalem.

3 Jerusalem is built as a compact city.

4 It is where the tribes come to praise the name of Yahweh, in accordance with an ordinance given to the people of Israel. It is the holy place for all the tribes of Yahweh.

5 And thrones of justice will be there, the thrones of the kings from the house of David.

6 Pray for the peace of Jerusalem. May those who love you prosper.

7 May there be peace in your walls, and prosperity in your palaces.

8 Because of my brothers and friends, I desire your prosperity. [It is through you that Yahweh will cause my name to endure forever, as he has promised me.]

9 Because of the house of Yahweh our God [which is within your walls], I will seek your good.

Psalms 123

1 I lift up my eyes to you, the one who sits in the heavens.

2 Behold, as the eyes of servants look at the hand of their masters, and as the eyes of a maidservant look at the hand of her mistress, thus our eyes look at Yahweh our God to implore his mercy.

3 Have mercy on us, O Yahweh, have mercy on us. For we have suffered a lot of contempt.

4 Our soul is too full of the mockery of the rich and the contempt of the proud.

Psalms 124

1 A psalm of David. If Yahweh had not been our refuge, then what would have happened to us. Let Israel give an answer. [For they have preserved the testimonies, and they are able to tell all that has happened whenever some of them have forsaken Yahweh.]

2 If Yahweh had not been our refuge, then what would have happened when men rose up against us.

3 They would have swallowed us up quickly, when their anger was kindled against us.

4 The waters would have overwhelmed us. The stream would have passed over our souls.

5 Our proud enemies would have been like raging floods overwhelming our souls.

6 Blessed be Yahweh who has not given us to be a prey to their teeth.

7 Our souls have escaped, like a bird who escapes from the snare of the fowler. The snare has broken, and we have escaped.

8 Our help is in the name of Yahweh, the one who made the heaven and the earth.

Psalms 125

1 Those who trust in Yahweh are like mount Zion. It cannot be removed, since it is established forever.

2 As the mountains surround Jerusalem, so does Yahweh surround his people now and forever [no matter where they are].

3 For the scepter of wickedness will not stay very long on the portions of the righteous, lest the righteous stretch out their hands to wickedness.

4 O Yahweh, you will do good to the righteous, to those who are upright in heart.

5 But Yahweh will punish those who go astray in their tortuous ways, and he will destroy the workers of iniquity. May peace be on Israel.

Psalms 126

1 Prophetic song. We will be like those who dream, when Yahweh brings back the captives of Zion.

2 Our mouth will be filled with laughter, and our tongue with singing. And the peoples of the nations will say: Yahweh has done great things for them.

3 Indeed, Yahweh will do great things for us and we will be happy.

4 Bring back prosperity, O Yahweh. Make us feel like an arid land on which rivers are brought.

5 Now, those who sow while being sad will reap while being happy.

6 He who carries the seeds despite the troubles that make him weep, will joyfully carry the sheaves.

Psalms 130

1 Out of the depths I call on you, O Yahweh.

2 Hear my voice, O Lord. Let your ears be attentive to the voice of my supplications.

3 If you wanted to remember our iniquities continually [without any mercy when we repent by following the procedure indicated in your law], then who could stand before you.

4 But mercy is with you, so that we may learn to fear you.

5 I wait for Yahweh. My soul waits, and my hope is in his word.

6 My soul is waiting for the Lord more than those who watch for the morning. Yes, more than those who watch for the morning.

7 Put your hope in Yahweh, O Israel. For there is mercy with Yahweh, there is a great redemption with our Lord.

8 He will redeem Israel from all his iniquities.

Psalms 131

1 A psalm of David. O Yahweh, I have neither a proud heart nor haughty eyes. I do not set goals without having plans that I can perform to achieve them.

2 For I behave calmly like a weaned child who is with his mother. My spirit within me is like that of a weaned child.

3 O Israel, put your hope in Yahweh from now on and forever.

Psalms 132

1 O Yahweh, remember David and all his affliction.

2 He swore to Yahweh, he made the following vow to the mighty one of Jacob.

3 I will not enter the dwelling where I live, I will not go up on my bed.

4 I will not give sleep to my eyes, I will not give rest to my eyelids.

5 Until I find out a place for Yahweh, a house for the mighty one of Jacob.

6 We heard of it in Ephrathah. We found the ark of the covenant in the fields of Kiriath-jearim.

7 We will go to the house of our God, and we will bow down before his footstool.

8 Get up, O Yahweh. Come to your place of rest, you and the ark of your majesty.

9 Let your priests be clothed with righteousness, and let your saints rejoice.

10 Do not hold back your anointed one, for the sake of David your servant [to whom you promised to establish his legacy forever].

11 For Yahweh has sworn the truth to David, and he will not turn away from it: I will put on your throne a fruit of your intestines [that is to say your true spiritual son, for his love for me will be very similar to your love for me].

12 If your sons [according to the flesh] perform my covenant and my testimonies that will be taught to them, then their sons also will always sit on your throne.

13 For Yahweh has chosen Zion, he has desired it for his dwelling [that is to say, he has desired to put his name there].

14 It is my place of rest forever [for the ark of my covenant and my altar of offerings will no longer be moved to be used elsewhere as was the case before]. I will live there because I have desired it.

15 I will bless the food of the city, and even its poor will be satisfied with bread.

16 I will clothe its priests with salvation, and its saints will rejoice greatly [in their end].

17 It is there that I will cause the horn of David to sprout. For I will set there a lamp for my anointed.

18 I will shame his enemies, and his crown will shine on him.

Psalms 133

1 A psalm of David. It is good and pleasant for persons fearing God to work together.

2 It is like the precious oil that is poured on the head of the high priest Aaron [or his chosen descendant] and which flows over his beard and the edge of his garments.

3 It is like the dew of Hermon, which comes down on the mountain of Zion. For Yahweh has sent the blessing there, in order to give the life that endures forever.

Psalms 134

1 Praise Yahweh, you all the servants of Yahweh who stand by night in the house of Yahweh.

2 Lift up your hands toward the sanctuary, and bless Yahweh.

3 May Yahweh bless you out of Zion, he who made the heaven and the earth.

Psalms 135

1 Praise Yahweh, praise the name of Yahweh. Praise him, you the servants of Yahweh.

2 You who stand in the house of Yahweh, in the courtyards of the house of our God.

3 Praise Yahweh, for Yahweh is good. Sing praises to his name, because it is good to do so.

4 For Yahweh has chosen Jacob for himself, and Israel for his own possession.

5 For I know that Yahweh is great, and that our Lord is above all gods.

6 Yahweh does whatever he pleases, in the heaven and on the earth, in the seas and in all the depths.

7 He brings the clouds from the ends of the earth, he sends the lightnings and the rain. He brings the wind out of his treasuries.

8 He smote the firstborn males in Egypt, both of man and beast.

9 He sent signs and wonders in the midst of you, O Egypt, against Pharaoh and against all his servants.

10 He smote great nations, and killed mighty kings.

11 Sihon king of the Amorites, and Og king of Bashan, and all the kingdoms of Canaan.

12 And he gave their land for an inheritance, an inheritance for his people Israel.

13 Your name endures forever, O Yahweh. Your memorial endures from generation to generation.

14 For Yahweh will judge his people, and will have mercy on his servants.

15 The idols of the nations are of silver and gold, the work of men's hands.

16 They have mouths, but they speak not. They have eyes, but they see not.

17 They have ears, but they hear not. There is no breath in their mouths.

18 They are worthless like those who make them, like all those who trust in them.

19 Bless Yahweh, O house of Israel. Bless Yahweh, O house of Aaron.

20 Bless Yahweh, O house of Levi. Bless Yahweh, you who fear Yahweh.

Psalms 136

1 Praise Yahweh because he is good. For his mercy endures forever.

2 Praise the God of gods, for his mercy endures forever.

3 Praise the Lord of lords, for his mercy endures forever.

4 He is the only one to do great wonders, for his mercy endures forever.

5 Praise the one who made the heavens by his wisdom, for his mercy endures forever.

6 Praise the one who stretched out the earth on the waters, for his mercy endures forever.

7 Praise the one who made great lights, for his mercy endures forever.

8 Praise the one who made the sun to rule the day, for his mercy endures forever.

9 Praise the one who made the moon and the stars to rule the night, for his mercy endures forever.

10 Praise the one who smote the firstborn males in Egypt, for his mercy endures forever.

11 He brought out Israel from among the Egyptians, for his mercy endures forever.

12 And he did it with a strong hand and with an outstretched arm, for his mercy endures forever.

13 And he divided the red sea in two parts, for his mercy endures forever.

14 And he caused Israel to go across the sea on dry land, in the midst of the red sea, for his mercy endures forever.

15 And he overthrew Pharaoh and his army in the red sea, for his mercy endures forever.

18 And he killed powerful kings [whom he caused to kill], for his mercy endures forever.

21 And he gave their land for an inheritance, for his mercy endures forever.

23 And he remembered us when we were humiliated, for his mercy endures forever.

24 And he freed us from our oppressors, for his mercy endures forever.

25 He is the one who gives food to all living things, for his mercy endures forever.

26 Praise the God of heaven, for his mercy endures forever.

Psalms 137

1 We sat by the rivers of Babylon [where we have been taken into captivity], and we wept there while remembering Zion.

2 And we had hung our harps there on the willows trees.

3 And then those who had taken us captive asked us for songs. Our enemies asked us to entertain them by saying: Sing us some of the songs of Zion.

4 How can we sing the songs of Yahweh in a foreign land. [How can we entertain those who have captured us with the songs of Yahweh]

5 If I forget you, O Jerusalem, then let my right hand forget me. [For we hope in the promises that Yahweh has made to his servant David]

6 If I do not remember you, if I do not think of Jerusalem whenever I am happy, then let my tongue cling to my palate.

7 Remember the children of Edom, O Yahweh. For in the day of Jerusalem's misfortune, they were saying: Raze it, raze it to its foundations.

8 O Daughter of Babylon who deserves to be destroyed, we bless the one who will repay you for the evil that you have done to us.

9 We bless the one who will seize your children to fling them and crush them against the stones.

Psalms 138

1 A psalm of David. I will praise you with my whole heart, I will sing your praises before the gods.

2 I will worship toward your holy temple and praise your name, because of your lovingkindness and your truth. For you have glorified your name above all things by your word.

3 I have called on you, and you have heard me. You have strengthened my soul.

4 All the kings of the earth will praise you, O Yahweh, when they will have understood [the meaning of] the words of your mouth.

5 And they will sing of the ways of Yahweh, because the glory of Yahweh is great.

6 For Yahweh is great. And he is concerned about the legacy of the humble, and he recognizes the proud from afar.

7 When I walk in the midst of trouble, you refresh me. You stretch out your hand against the anger of my enemies, and your right hand preserves me.

8 Yahweh will perform the promises of his words that concern me. Your mercy endures forever, O Yahweh. Do not forsake the works of your hands.

Psalms 139

1 A psalm of David. You probe me and know me, O Yahweh.

2 You know when I sit down and when I get up. You understand the intentions of my thoughts while I am conceiving them.

3 You know why I do what I am doing, you understand all my ways.

4 For you know exactly what I will say, O Yahweh, when the word is not yet on my tongue.

5 You surround me on all sides. You are behind me, and in front of me, and you lay your hand on me.

6 Such a wonderful knowledge is too great for me to understand fully. It is so high that I cannot grasp it.

7 Where can I go to escape from your spirit. Where can I flee to escape from your presence.

8 If I ascend to heaven, then you will be there. If I go down to the grave, then I will find you there.

9 If I take the wings of the morning and follow the way of the sun, in order to dwell far beyond the sea.

10 Then it is your hand that will be leading me there, and your right hand will hold me.

11 If I say: Let darkness cover me and let night be the only light around me.

12 Then behold, even darkness cannot hide anything from you. For the night shines as the day in your eyes. For the differences between darkness and light do not change your way of perceiving things.

13 You have formed my inward parts, and you have united all the components of my body in my mother's womb.

14 I praise you that I am such a wonderful creature. Your works are wonderful, and my soul knows it well.

15 My bones were not hidden from you when I was made in the secret, when I was woven together in the womb.

16 Your eyes did see me when I was formless. And all the things that have been formed gradually were already written in your book, and everything was written before any of these things existed.

17 Your thoughts are inscrutable, O God, and their whole number is great.

18 If I should count them, then they will be more numerous than all the grains of sand. Now when I awake, I am still with you.

19 Surely you will destroy the wicked, O God. Therefore I say: Depart from me, you the men of bloodguiltiness [who seek the destruction of others without publicly acceptable justification].

20 For they speak wickedly against you. They use your name in vain, those who are your enemies. [They use your word to deceive without having publicly acceptable justifications in their hearts]

21 O Yahweh, should I not hate those who hate you. Should I not despise those who rise up against you.

22 I hate them with a perfect hatred, they are my enemies.

23 Probe me, O God, and know my heart. Test me, and know my thoughts.

24 See if there is any wicked way in me, and teach me in order to lead me in the way that lasts forever.

Psalms 140

1 A psalm of David. Free me from the evil man, O Yahweh. Preserve me from the cruel man.

2 Those who plan evil in their hearts, and are always enthusiastic about making war.

3 They have sharpened their tongues like a serpent. The poison of asps is under their lips. Pause.

4 Keep me from the hands of the wicked, O Yahweh. Preserve me from the cruel man who intends to cause my steps to slip.

5 The proud have laid a snare for me. They have spread a net with cords on my way, and they have set themselves in ambush. Pause.

6 But I say to Yahweh: You are my God. Hear the voice of my prayers, O Yahweh.

7 You are the strength of my salvation, O Lord Yahweh. You cover my head in the day of battle.

8 Do not satisfy all the desires of the wicked, O Yahweh. Do not perform all his plans, lest he exalt himself above you. Pause.

9 As for those around me, let the iniquity of their own lips fall on them without delay.

10 Let burning coals fall on them. Let them be cast them into the fire, into the deep pits from where they will not be able to rise again.

11 For a backbiter will not be established on the earth. Evil will pursue the cruel man until his destruction.

12 I know that Yahweh will preserve the powerless, and he will judge the needy with fairness.

13 Surely the honest will praise your name, and the righteous will dwell in your presence.

Psalms 142

1 A psalm of David, when he was in the cave. I cry to Yahweh with my voice, I implore Yahweh with my voice.

2 I pour out my complaint before him, I declared my distress in his presence.

3 My spirit is crushed within me, but you know my path. And they have hidden a snare for me in the way where I walk.

4 I look at my right hand, and I do not see someone there who knows me. There is no refuge where I can relax, and there is no one to save me.

5 O Yahweh, I cry to you and say: You are my hope, my portion in the land of the living.

6 Listen to my cry, for I am very distressed. Free me from my persecutors, for they are too strong for me.

7 Bring my soul out of its prison, so that I may still have the opportunity to praise your name. The righteous will surround me and learn from me, when you will have done me good.

Psalms 143

1 A psalm of David. Hear my prayer, O Yahweh. Be attentive to my supplication. Answer me in your faithfulness and in your righteousness.

2 Do not enter into judgment with your servant. For there is no one alive who is righteous in your sight.

3 The enemy pursues my soul, he has trampled down my life to the ground. He has caused me to dwell in darkness, like those who have been dead for a long time.

4 My spirit is crushed within me, and my heart is amazed within me.

5 I remember the days of old, and I meditate on all your doings. I ponder the work of your hands.

6 I stretch out my hands to you, my soul desires you like a thirsty land desires rain. Pause.

7 Hasten to answer me, O Yahweh, for my spirit faints. Do not hide your face from me, lest I become like those who go down into the pit.

8 Keep me alive until morning so that I may continue to contemplate the work of your hands, for I trust in you. Make me know the way in which I should walk, for I lift up my soul to you.

9 Preserve me from my enemies, O Yahweh. For I take refuge in you.

10 Teach me to do your will, for you are my God. Let your good spirit lead me in the right way.

11 Refresh me for the sake of your name, O Yahweh. Bring my soul out of trouble because of your righteousness.

12 Free me from my enemies because of your lovingkindness. Punish all those who seek my soul, for I am your servant.

Psalms 144

1 A psalm of David. Blessed be Yahweh my strength, the one who teaches my hands to fight, my fingers to battle.

2 He is my benefactor and my fortress, my high tower and my savior. He is my shield, the one in whom I trust. He makes me reign over my people.

3 O Yahweh, what is man so that you care about him. What is the son of man so that you pay attention to him.

4 Man is like a breath, his days are like a shadow that vanishes.

5 Bow your heavens and come down, O Yahweh. Touch the mountains, and they will smoke.

6 Cast a lightning, and scatter your enemies. Shoot your arrows, and destroy them.

7 Stretch out your hands from on high. Free me and preserve me from the great waters, and from the hand of strangers.

9 I will sing a new song to you, O God. I will sing praises to you on a psaltery of ten strings.

10 You are the one who gives salvation to kings, and who succors his servant David from the hurtful sword.

12 Let our sons be like plants growing in their youth, and our daughters like carved pillars adorning palaces.

13 Let our barns be full with an abundance of all kinds of products. Let our sheep multiply by thousands and by ten thousands in our streets.

14 Let our oxen be fruitful. Let there be in our streets no disaster, and no captivity, and no crying.

15 Happy is the people for whom this is done. Yes, happy is the people whose God is Yahweh.

Psalms 145

1 A psalm of David. I will extol you, O my God and king. I will bless your name forever and ever.

2 I will bless you daily, and I will sing praises to your name forever and ever.

3 For Yahweh is great and deserves to be highly praised. His greatness is inscrutable.

4 One generation will praise your works to another, and will declare your power.

5 I will meditate on the beauty of your glorious majesty, and on your wondrous works.

6 I will declare your greatness, and they will speak of the power of your scary acts.

7 They will spread the remembrance of your great goodness, and sing of your righteousness.

8 Yahweh is merciful and gracious, slow to anger and full of love.

9 Yahweh is good to everyone, and his mercies are over all his works.

10 All your works will praise you, O Yahweh, and your saints will bless you.

11 They will speak of the glory of your kingdom, and proclaim your power.

12 To make known to the sons of men your power and the glorious splendor of your kingdom.

13 Your kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and your dominion endures throughout all generations.

14 Yahweh upholds his beloved ones who are in trouble, he rises those who have fallen.

15 The eyes of all creatures wait for you, and you give them their food at the appropriate time.

16 You open your hand, and satisfy every living thing according to your good pleasure.

17 Yahweh is righteous in all his ways, and holy in all his works.

18 Yahweh is near to all those who call on him, to all those who call on him with sincerity.

19 He fulfills the desire of those who really fear him, for he hears their cry and preserves them.

20 Yahweh preserves each of those who love him, and he will destroy all the wicked.

21 My mouth will speak the praise of Yahweh. Let all flesh bless his holy name for ever and ever.

Psalms 146

1 Praise Yahweh. Praise Yahweh, O my soul.

2 I will praise Yahweh as long as I live. I will sing praises to my God as long as I have any being.

3 Do not trust in princes [leaders], nor in the children of men, for they cannot save.

4 When their breath departs, they return to the dust and their thoughts perish on the same day.

5 Blessed is the one whose help is the God of Jacob, namely the one whose hope is in Yahweh his God.

6 He made the heaven and the earth, and the sea, and all that is in them. He keeps his mercy forever.

7 He executes justice for the oppressed, he gives food to the hungry. Yahweh frees the captives.

8 Yahweh opens the eyes of the blind. Yahweh lifts up those who are bowed down. Yahweh loves the righteous.

9 Yahweh loves those who care about the strangers, and who sustain the fatherless and the widow. And Yahweh turns the way of the wicked upside down to destroy them.

10 Yahweh reigns forever. O Zion, your God perdures from generation to generation. Praise Yahweh.

Psalms 147

1 Praise Yahweh. For it is good to sing praises to our God, for it is pleasant and fitting to praise him.

2 Yahweh rebuilds Jerusalem, and he gathers together the outcasts of Israel.

3 He heals the brokenhearted and binds up their wounds.

4 He counts the number of the stars, and knows each of them by name.

5 Our Lord is great and powerful. His wisdom is infinite.

6 Yahweh sustains the powerless, and he brings the wicked down to the ground.

7 Sing to Yahweh with thanksgiving. Sing praises to our God with the harp.

8 He covers the heaven with clouds, and prepares rain for the earth. He makes grass grow on the mountains.

9 He gives food to the cattle, and to the young ravens when they cry.

10 He does not delight in the strength of the horse, he does not delight in the legs of man.

11 For Yahweh takes pleasure only in those who fear him and who hope in his mercy.

12 Praise Yahweh, O Jerusalem. Praise your God, O Zion.

13 For he makes the bars of your gates, and he blesses your children in the midst of you.

14 He makes peace in your borders, and he satisfies you with the finest of the wheat.

15 He sends his commandment on earth, and his word runs very swiftly.

16 He gives snow like wool. He scatters hoarfrost like ashes.

18 And he sends his word, and he causes his wind to blow. And the ice melts, and the waters flow.

19 He revealed his word to Jacob. He gave his statutes and his judgments to Israel.

20 He has not done it with the other nations, he has not given them his judgments. Praise Yahweh.

Psalms 148

1 Praise Yahweh. Praise Yahweh from the heavens, praise him in the high places.

2 Praise him, you all his angels. Praise him, you all his armies.

3 Praise him, sun and moon. Praise him, you all the bright stars.

4 Praise him, you the heavens of heavens, and you the waters above the heavens.

5 Let them praise the name of Yahweh. For he commanded, and they were created.

6 He has established their kinds forever and ever. He has made a decree which will not pass.

7 Praise Yahweh from the earth, and you the sea monsters and you all the depths.

8 Fire and hail, snow and vapor. And you stormy winds that arise to fulfill his word.

9 Mountains and all hills, fruit trees and all cedars.

10 Beasts and all cattle, creeping things and flying birds.

11 Kings of the kingdoms of the earth and all peoples, leaders and all judges on the earth.

12 Young men and virgins, old men and children.

13 Let them praise the name of Yahweh, for his name alone is excellent. His glory is above the earth and the heavens.

14 And he has exalted the horn of his people, namely the praise from all his saints, the praise from the children of Israel who are a people placed near him. Praise Yahweh.

Psalms 149

1 Praise Yahweh. Sing a new song to Yahweh. Let his praise be heard in the assembly of the saints.

2 Let Israel rejoice in the one who made him. Let the children of Zion rejoice in their king.

3 Let them praise his name with the flute. Let them sing praises to him with tambourine and harp.

4 For Yahweh takes pleasure in those who love him, he will glorify the powerless with salvation.

5 Let the saints be joyful because of their glory. Let them breathe out with joy on their beds.

6 Let the high praises of God be in their mouth, and a two edged sword in their hand.

7 To execute vengeance on the nations, and to punish the peoples.

8 To bind their kings with chains, and their nobles with fetters of iron.

9 To execute the judgment that is written against them. This honor belongs to all his saints. Praise Yahweh.

Psalms 150

1 Praise Yahweh. Praise God in his sanctuary. Praise him in the expanse of his power.

2 Praise him for his mighty deeds. Praise him according to the immensity of his greatness.

3 Praise him with the sound of the trumpet. Praise him with the lute and the harp.

4 Praise him with the tambourine and the flute. Praise him with stringed instruments and flutes.

5 Praise him with loud cymbals. Praise him with high sounding cymbals.

6 Let everything that has breath praise Yahweh. Praise Yahweh.

Song of songs

Song of songs 1

1 The song of songs, which is written by Solomon.

2 Let him kiss me with the kisses of his mouth. For your love is better than wine [O you my bridegroom].

3 Your name is like an oil that has a pleasant smell and that is poured out on the body. It is why the virgins love you.

4 Take me with you, for we will run after you. The king has brought me into his private rooms. We will be happy and rejoice in you. We will remember your love more than wine. Those who are righteous love you.

5 O daughters of Jerusalem, I am black but I am beautiful like the tents of Kedar, and like the curtains of Solomon.

6 Do not stare at me only because I am black. For it is the sun that has tanned me. The sons of my mother were angry against me, and they made me the guardian of the vineyards. And I have not taken care of my own vineyard.

7 O you [my bridegroom] whom my soul loves, tell me where you graze your sheep, where you cause them to rest at noon. For why should I be like one who is lost near the flocks of your companions.

8 If you know not where to go, O you the most beautiful among women, then follow the footsteps of the sheep and graze your young goats near the tents of the shepherds. [If you know not how to get closer to me your God in order to do only what pleases me, then you can start by imitating the behavior of the prophets.]

9 O my love [my bride], you are more beautiful to look at than a company of horses in Pharaoh's chariots.

10 Your cheeks are beautiful with the ornaments hanging beside them, and your neck with chains of gold.

11 We will make you more jewels of gold and of silver.

12 My perfume gives its smell while the king [my bridegroom] sat at his table.

13 My beloved [who is my bridegroom] is for me like a bundle of myrrh that rests between my breasts.

14 My beloved is for me like a bouquet of henna flowers in the vineyards of En-gedi.

15 O my love [my bride], you are so beautiful [when you describe your love for me with theses words]. You are beautiful, your eyes are like doves.

16 O my beloved [my bridegroom], you are beautiful and pleasant. Our bed is greenery.

17 The walls of our house are of cedars, and our rafters are of firs.

Song of songs 2

1 I am a rose of Sharon, and a lily of the valleys [O my bridegroom].

2 As a lily among thorns, so is my love [my bride] among the young women.

3 As an apple tree among the trees of the forest, so is my beloved [my bridegroom] among the sons of men. I desire to sit under his shadow, and its fruit is sweet to my taste.

4 He brought me into the house of wine, and his intention towards me was love.

5 Strengthen me with raisins, refresh me with apples. For I am sick because of my love for you.

6 His left hand is under my head, and his right hand embrace me.

7 O daughters of Jerusalem, I adjure you by the deer and by the hinds of the field to do the following thing: Do not awaken carnal love before its proper time, do not awaken it.

8 I hear the voice of my beloved. Behold he comes, leaping on the mountains and skipping on the hills.

9 My beloved is like a deer or a young hart. Behold he stands behind our wall, and he looks out of the windows. He looks through the lattice.

10 My beloved [my bridegroom] speaks and says to me: Arise my love, my beautiful one, and come to me.

11 For behold, the winter is past. The rain has ceased, it is gone.

12 The flowers appear on the land. The time of the singing of the birds has come, and the voice of the turtledove is heard in our land.

13 There are young figs on the fig tree, and one can smell the small grapes of the vines. Arise my love, my beautiful one, and come to me.

14 O my dove [my bride], you dwell in the clefts of the rock and you hide your thoughts in the high places. Let me see your face, let me hear your voice. For your voice is sweet, and your face is beautiful.

15 Catch the foxes for us [O my bridegroom], the little foxes that ravage the vineyards. For our vineyards have begun to produce grapes.

16 My beloved [who is my bridegroom] is mine, and I am his. He feeds his flock among the lilies until the day fades and the shadows flee.

17 Come, my beloved, and be like a deer or a young hart on the mountains of Bether.

Song of songs 3

1 On my bed during the night, I sought him whom my soul loves. I sought him [who is my bridegroom], but I did not find him.

2 And I said: I will arise now and go around the city, in the streets and in the squares. I will seek him whom my soul loves.

3 I sought him, but I did not find him. The watchmen who go around the city found me, and I said to them: Have you seen him whom my soul loves.

4 I had just left the watchmen when I found him whom my soul loves. I took hold of him [who is my bridegroom], and did not want to let him go until I had brought him to my mother's house, into the private room of her who conceived me.

5 O daughters of Jerusalem, I adjure you by the deer and by the hinds of the field to do the following thing: Do not awaken carnal love before its proper time, do not awaken it.

6 Who is this woman who comes up from the wilderness like pillars of smoke. She is perfumed with myrrh and frankincense made of the powders of the merchant.

7 Here is Solomon's chariot, and around it there are sixty valiant men of the valiant of Israel.

8 All of them are armed with the sword, and they are expert in war. Each one has his sword on his waist, to defend against the terrors of the night.

9 King Solomon made for himself a chariot of the wood of Lebanon.

10 He overlaid its pillars with silver, and its inside with gold. The seat was made of purple, and inlaid in its midst with the love by the daughters of Jerusalem.

11 Come out, O daughters of Zion, and look at king Solomon and the crown with which his mother crowned him on the day of his marriage, on the day of the gladness of his heart.

Song of songs 4

1 You are so beautiful, my love [my bride]. You are so beautiful. Your eyes are like doves behind your veil. Your hair is like a flock of goats that graze on the slopes of mount Gilead.

2 Your teeth are like a flock of shorn ewes that are well arranged and are coming up from the washing. None of them is barren, and each of them bears twins.

3 Your lips are like a thread of scarlet, and your mouth is lovely. Your cheeks are like two pieces of a pomegranate behind your veil.

4 Your neck is like the tower of David built for an armory. A thousand shields are hanging on that tower, all the shields of the mighty men.

5 Your two breasts are like two young deer that are twins and that feed among the lilies.

6 I will go to that mountain of myrrh and to that hill of frankincense, until the day fades and the shadows flee.

7 You are wholly beautiful, my love, and there is no blemish in you.

8 Come with me from Lebanon, my bride, come with me from Lebanon. Come from the top of Amana, from the top of Senir and Hermon, from the dens of the lions, from the mountains of the leopards.

9 You have stolen my heart, my sister, my bride. You have stolen my heart with one of the look from your eyes, and with the chain at your neck.

10 Your love is so charming, my sister, my bride. Your love is much better than wine, and the smell of your ointment is much better than all kinds of spices.

11 Your lips drop honey, O my bride. There is honey and milk under your tongue, and the smell of your garments is like the smell of Lebanon.

12 You are a garden enclosed, my sister, my bride. A spring shut up, a fountain sealed.

13 Your limbs are like a garden of pomegranates and of other precious fruits, such as henna, and spikenard.

14 And saffron, and calamus, and cinnamon, and all trees of frankincense, and myrrh, and aloes, and all the chief spices.

15 You are like a fountain of gardens, a spring of running waters flowing from Lebanon [O my bride].

16 Arise, north wind. Come, south wind. Blow on my garden and spread its smell. Let my beloved [my bridegroom] come into his garden and eat its pleasant fruit.

Song of songs 5

1 O my sister, my bride, I enter my garden. I gather my myrrh with my spices. I eat my honeycomb with my honey, I drink my wine with my milk.

2 Eat, O friend, and drink. Delight yourself, O my beloved [my bridegroom]. I am asleep, but my heart is awaken. It is the voice of my beloved that knocks by saying: Open to me, my sister, my love, my dove, my undefiled (who have been purified). For my head is covered with dew, my locks are full of the drops of the night.

3 Now I have taken off my garment. Why should I put it on. I have washed my feet. Why should I defile them.

4 My beloved did put his hand through the opening, and my heart was moved for him.

5 And I rose to open to my beloved. And my hands dripped myrrh, my fingers laid myrrh on the handle of the bolt.

6 I opened the door to my beloved, but my beloved had gone and could no longer be seen. I was beside myself when he had spoken to me. I sought him, but I could not find him. I called him, but he did not answer me.

7 The watchmen who went around the city found me. They smote me and wounded me. The keepers of the walls took away my veil from me.

8 O daughters of Jerusalem, if you find my beloved, I adjure you to tell him that I am sick because of my love for him.

9 O you the most beautiful among women, what has your beloved more than the other beloved. Why is your beloved different from another lover. What causes you to adjure us thus.

10 My beloved is tanned and radiant, he can be recognized while standing among ten thousand men.

11 His head is like the most fine gold. His locks are curly, and as black as a raven.

12 His eyes are like two doves that are near the rivers of waters, and that routinely wash themselves in milk. They are like a pair of jewels in its setting.

13 His cheeks are like a bed of spices, a ground covered with pleasant flowers at the edge of a river. His lips are like lilies dropping liquid myrrh.

15 His legs are like pillars of marble set on bases of pure gold. His countenance is like Lebanon, as excellent as the cedars.

16 His mouth is the sweetest thing, and his whole person is lovely. This is my beloved [who is my bridegroom], this is my lover, O daughters of Jerusalem.

Song of songs 6

1 Where has your beloved gone, O you the most beautiful among women. Which way has your beloved turned. Tell it so that we may seek him with you.

2 My beloved [who is my bridegroom] has gone down to his garden, to the beds of spices, in order to feed his flock in the gardens and to gather lilies.

3 I belong to my beloved, and my beloved is mine. He feeds his flock among the lilies.

4 O my love [my bride], you are beautiful as Tirzah and pleasant as Jerusalem. And you are terrible like an army with banners.

5 Turn your eyes away from me, for they overcome me. Your hair is like a flock of goats that graze on the slopes of Gilead.

6 Your teeth are like a flock of shorn ewes coming up from the washing. None of them is barren, and each of them bears twins.

7 Your cheeks are like two pieces of a pomegranate behind your veil.

8 There may be sixty queens and eighty concubines, and virgins without number.

9 But none of them is like my dove, my undefiled (who have been purified). She is the only daughter of her mother, and she is loved by her who gave birth to her. The virgins see her and blessed her, and the queens and concubines also praise her.

10 Who is she who shines like the dawn. She is beautiful as the moon, and pure as the sun, and terrible as an army with banners.

11 I went down to the garden of walnut trees in order to see the fruit of the valley, to see if the vine had budded and if the pomegranates had flourished.

12 And before I was aware, my soul set me on the chariots of my noble people.

13 Return, return, O Shulamite. Return, return, so that we may contemplate you. Why do you contemplate the Shulamite as one contemplates the dance of Mahanaim.

Song of songs 7

1 Your feet in your shoes are so beautiful, O you the daughter of the prince. The curves of your thighs are like those of jewellery, your body is the work of the hand of a skillful artist.

2 Your navel is similar to a round goblet that does not lack wine. Your belly is like a heap of wheat surrounded by lilies.

3 Your two breasts are like two fawns that are twins.

4 Your neck is like a tower of ivory. Your eyes are like the fishpools of Heshbon which are near the gate of Bath-rabbim. Your nose is like the tower of Lebanon which looks toward Damascus.

5 Your head is lifted up like Carmel, and the hair of your head is like purple. Your whole hair is like a prison which is so pleasant that only kings deserve to be held captive there.

6 You are so beautiful and so pleasant, O my love [my bride]. You are a delight.

7 Your appearance is like that of a palm tree, and your breasts are like its clusters of fruit.

8 And I say to myself: I will climb up this palm tree, and I will grasp its branches. Surely your breasts are like clusters of grapes, and the smell of your breath is like that of apples, and your mouth is like the best wine.

9 May that wine go straight to my beloved [my bridegroom], and slide on the lips of those who are asleep [among the brides of my bridegroom].

10 I belong to my beloved [my bridegroom], and his desire is toward me.

11 Come, my beloved. Let us go out into the fields, let us spend the night in the villages.

12 And we will go to the vineyards in the morning in order to see if the vine has budded the little grapes, and if the pomegranates have flourished. And I will give you my love there.

13 The mandrakes spread their fragrance, and there are all kinds of sweet things at our doors, new and old. I have kept them for you, O my beloved [my bridegroom].

Song of songs 8

1 Now I regret that you are not my brother, a brother who sucked the breasts of my mother. For then I could have embraced you outside as soon as I succeed in finding you, without it making me despicable in the eyes of others.

2 I would lead you and bring you into my mother's house. You would instruct me there, and I would cause you to drink of spiced wine which is the juice of my pomegranate.

3 His left arm should be under my head, and his right hand should touch me.

4 O daughters of Jerusalem, I adjure you to not awaken carnal love before its proper time. Do not awaken it.

5 Who is this woman who comes up from the wilderness while leaning on her beloved. [A question asked by the narrator who is neither the bride described in the story nor the bridegroom]

6 O you my bridegroom, I have awakened you under the apple tree. It is there that your mother gave birth to you, it is there that the woman who bore you have given birth to you. O you my bride, set me like a seal on your heart, like a signet ring on your hand. For love is as strong as death, and jealousy is as cruel as the grave. Their ardor is like burning coals, for they are flames of God.

7 O you my bridegroom, many waters cannot quench love, neither can floods overcome it. If a man [or more precisely a woman as I am] wants to give all the riches contained in his house to obtain love, then will he be despised for this action.

8 We [the people of the country] have a little sister and her breasts are not yet developed. What will we do for our sister in the day when a man asks to marry her.

9 If she were a wall then we would have built a palace of silver inside. If she were a door then we will have enclosed her with boards of cedar.

10 As for me, I am a wall and my breasts are like towers. And I appear in the eyes of my bridegroom as a person who has found peace.

11 O my bride, Solomon had a vineyard in Baal-hamon. He gave the vineyard to keepers, and each man brought grapes worth a thousand pieces of silver to Solomon.

12 As for me, my kind of vineyard belongs to me and I am its keeper. And you, O Solomon, you have to reward each of the keepers of your kind of vineyard with two hundred pieces of silver for the work which has given you a product worth one thousand pieces of silver.

13 O my beloved my bridegroom who dwells in the gardens, my companions seem to hear your voice. Cause me to hear it also.

14 Come, O my beloved, and be like a deer or a young hart on the mountains of spices.

Proverbs

Proverbs 1

1 The proverbs of Solomon, the son of David and king of Israel.

2 In order to know instruction and wisdom, to discern the words of intelligence.

3 In order to receive the instruction of wisdom, namely of righteousness and equity and honesty.

4 In order to give understanding to the simple, in order to give discernment and knowledge to the young person.

5 In order to recognize a proverb and its meaning, to understand the words of the wise and the hidden meanings of their dark sayings.

6 Let the wise man listen, and he will increase his knowledge. And the one who is intelligent will acquire skill.

7 For the fear of Yahweh is the beginning of true wisdom. Fools despise the instructions of true wisdom.

8 My son, hear the instruction of your father and do not forsake the teaching of your mother.

9 For it will be a crown of grace for your head, and an ornament for your neck.

10 My son, if sinners entice you then do not consent. [Do absolutely nothing if there is not in your heart a justification of which you think that it is publicly acceptable]

11 If they say: Come with us, and we will lie in wait in order to shed innocent blood. We will secretly set a trap to bring down some persons, despite the fact that we do not have in our hearts a publicly acceptable justification for doing so.

12 We will swallow them up alive like a grave. They will be wholly destroyed like those who go down to the pit.

13 We will find all precious riches, and we will fill our houses with the booty.

14 You will have your portion with us, there will be only one purse for all of us.

15 My son, do not go in that way with them. Turn your foot away from their path.

16 For their feet run to evil, and they make haste to shed blood without publicly acceptable justification.

17 But it is in vain that one spread the net to catch any bird that can fly, if it has eyes open to see the design of the trap.

18 And in addition, it is against their own blood that they set up snares. They lurk against their own lives.

19 It is thus with every man who is greedy of wealth. Covetousness destroys those who indulge in it.

21 She cries out at the entrance of the noisy places. She makes the following words hear at the gates in the city.

22 How long will you love foolishness, O you the fools. How long will scoffers ridicule wisdom. How long will the fools hate knowledge.

23 Turn to hear my reproof, for I desire to pour out my spirit on you and to make you understand my words.

24 But I call and you refuse, I stretch out my hand and you do not heed.

25 For you despise all my instructions, and do not meditate on my reproof.

26 Therefore I will laugh during your troubles, I will mock when fear befalls you.

27 For fear will come on you like a tempest, your calamity will come like a whirlwind. Distress and anguish will come on you.

28 Then they will call on me, but I will not answer. They will seek me diligently, but they will not find me.

29 For they have hated knowledge, and did not choose the fear of Yahweh.

30 For they have not loved my instructions, and they have despised all my reproof.

31 Therefore they will eat the fruit of their own way, they will suffer the consequences of their own counsel.

32 For the stubbornness of the foolish persons will kill them. The trust of fools will destroy them.

33 But he who obey me will not be moved by the fear of evil, and will dwell safely [in his last end].

Proverbs 2

1 My son, if you receive my words and keep my commandments within you.

2 In order to incline your ear to wisdom, and to incline your heart to understanding.

3 Yes, if you call on knowledge and lift up your voice for discernment.

4 If you seek it as silver, and search for it as for hidden treasures.

5 Then you will understand the fear of Yahweh, and you will find the knowledge of God.

6 For Yahweh is the source of wisdom. Knowledge and understanding come from his mouth.

7 He preserves the legacy of the righteous, he is a shield for those who walk uprightly.

8 He preserves the way of his saints, because he keeps the paths of righteousness.

9 If you obey him then you will understand the importance of justice, and of equity, and of righteousness. You will understand all the good paths.

10 And when wisdom enters your heart, and knowledge delights your soul.

11 Then instruction will guard you, and understanding will keep you.

12 In order to save you from the way of evil, and from the man who speaks deceitfully.

13 Namely from those who forsake the paths of righteousness to walk in the ways of darkness.

14 And from those who take pleasure in doing evil, those who delight in perverseness.

15 And from those who walk ignorantly in crooked paths, those who are crooked in their ways.

16 And in order to save you from the strange woman, namely from the strange woman who flatters with her words.

17 And from the woman who forsakes the guide of her youth by forgetting the covenant of her God.

18 Surely her house leans toward death, and her paths lead to the dead.

19 None of those who go to her will return, for they will never find the paths of life again.

20 Therefore you must walk in the way of good men, and keep the paths of the righteous.

21 For the upright will dwell in earth, the righteous men will remain there.

22 But the wicked will be cut off from the earth, the transgressors will be uprooted from it.

Proverbs 3

1 My son, do not forget my law. Let your heart keep my commandments.

2 For they will prolong the length of your days and the years of your life. They will give you peace.

3 Let not mercy and truth forsake you. Bind them around your neck, and write them on the tablet of your heart.

4 In order to find good understanding and favor in the sight of God and man.

5 Trust in Yahweh with all your heart, and do not rely on your own wisdom.

6 Acknowledge him in all your ways, and he will direct your paths.

7 Do not be wise in your own eyes, but fear Yahweh and depart from evil.

8 It will be health to your muscles, and a refreshment for your bones.

9 Honor Yahweh with your wealth, and with the firstfruits of all your income.

10 And thus your barns will be filled with abundance, and your vats will overflow with new wine.

11 My son, do not despise the chastening discipline of Yahweh. Do not be weary of his reproof.

12 For Yahweh disciplines the one whom he loves, as a father disciplines his beloved child.

13 Blessed is the person who finds wisdom, namely the person who gets understanding.

14 For the benefit that she gives is better than silver, the reward that she gives is better than gold.

15 She is more precious than rubies, and more to be desired than all other things.

16 In her right hand is long life, and in her left hand are wealth and honor.

18 She is a tree of life for those who take hold of her, for the one who retains her is blessed.

19 Yahweh has established the heavens by wisdom, and he has founded the earth by understanding.

20 It is by his knowledge that the depths were opened, and that the clouds drop down the dew.

21 My son, let not these teachings depart from your eyes. Keep wisdom and instructions.

22 For they will be life to your soul, and grace to your neck.

23 Then you will walk in your way with confidence, and your foot will not stumble.

24 You will not be without hope when you lie down, and your sleep will be peaceful when you sleep.

25 Do not be afraid of sudden terror, or of the destruction that comes from the wicked.

26 For Yahweh will be your confidence, and will keep your foot from being caught.

27 Do not withhold a reward from him who deserves it, when you have the power to grant it.

28 If you can give it now, then do not say to your neighbor: Go and come again, and tomorrow I will give it to you.

29 Do not plot evil against your neighbor, when he lives peacefully near you. [A deed is evil towards a person when an assembly of honest people cannot declare that his known behavior justifies the fact of imposing on him to suffer the consequences of that deed.]

30 Do not quarrel with a person only because you have the power to do it, when that person has done no harm to you or to someone else who is powerless.

31 Do not envy a wicked man [or a wicked person], and do not choose any of his ways.

32 For Yahweh abhors the perverse, but he is a friend to the upright.

33 The curse of Yahweh is in the house of the wicked, but he blesses the dwelling of the righteous.

34 He scoffs the scoffers, but he gives grace to the humble.

35 The wise will inherit glory, but fools will inherit shame.

Proverbs 4

1 My children, listen to the instruction of a father. Be attentive in order to know wisdom.

2 For I give you the good doctrine. Do not forsake my teaching.

3 I was a son for my father, and I was a tender and beloved child for my mother.

4 And my father taught me and said to me: Let your heart retain my words. Keep my commandments and you will live.

5 Acquire wisdom and understanding. Do not forget the words of my mouth, and do not turn away from them.

6 Do not forsake wisdom, and she will keep you. Love her, and she will preserve you.

7 And the following thing is the beginning of wisdom: Search wisdom, give her more value than all that you can possess.

8 Exalt her, and she will exalt you. If you embrace her then she will bring you honor.

9 She will put on your head a crown of grace, she will adorn you with a magnificent tiara.

10 Listen, my son, and receive my words in order to multiply the years of your life.

11 I show you the way of wisdom, I lead you to the paths of righteousness.

12 Your steps will be strengthened when you walk, and you will not fall when you run.

13 Retain the instruction, and do not let her go. Keep her, for she is your life giver.

14 Do not enter into the path of the wicked. Do not walk in the way of evil men.

15 Avoid it, do not go near it. Turn away from it, and continue on your way.

16 For they cannot sleep if they have not done evil. Their sleep departs when they do not cause someone to fall.

17 For they eat the bread of wickedness, and drink the wine of violence.

18 But the way of the righteous is like the light of the dawn, for its brightness increases until the middle of the day.

19 The way of the wicked is like darkness. They do not know how they will fall [while the righteous man knows that he will be preserved by his justice].

20 My son, be attentive to my words. Incline your ear to my speeches.

21 Do not let them depart from your eyes, keep them in the bottom of your heart [in order to think about it continuously].

22 For they are life for those who find them, and health for their flesh.

23 Keep your heart more than anything else, for it is the source of your life.

24 Remove falsehood from your mouth, banish deceit from your lips. [You must not do anything without having publicly acceptable justifications in your heart]

25 Let your eyes look straight before you, and let your eyelids look straight before you.

26 Consider the path on which you are walking, and let all your ways be well organized.

27 Do not turn to the right hand nor to the left, remove your foot from evil.

Proverbs 5

1 My son, be attentive to my wisdom. Incline your ear to my knowledge.

2 So that you may observe the instruction, and so that your lips may keep knowledge.

3 For the lips of a strange woman drop honey, her mouth is sweeter than oil.

4 But at the end she is bitter like wormwood, and sharp like a two edged sword.

5 Her feet descend to death, and her steps reach the hell.

6 She does not know the path of life. She wanders in her ways, and you cannot understand them.

7 Now therefore, O my children, listen to me. Do not depart from the words of my mouth.

8 Keep your way far from her, and do not approach the door of her house.

9 Lest you give your vigor to others, and your years to the cruel.

10 Lest your strength be used only to satisfy the elementary needs of strangers, and the fruit of your labor be not in building your own house but in the non-essential parts of a stranger's house.

11 Lest you mourn at your latter end, when your flesh and your body are consumed.

12 By saying: Why have I hated instruction. Why has my heart despised reproof.

13 Why have I not obeyed the voice of my teachers. Why have I not listen to those who instructed me.

14 And now I have suffered all kinds of misfortunes in the midst of the congregation and assembly.

15 Drink the waters of your own cistern, the waters that come out of your own well. [Content yourself with the women whose ways you understand and whom you can possess in a honest way]

16 Should your fountains spread out. Should your rivers of waters flow in the streets.

17 Let them be for you alone, and not for the strangers with you.

18 Let your fountain be blessed, rejoice with the wife of your youth.

19 Let her be like a loving hind and a pleasant doe. Let her breasts satisfy you at all times, and delight yourself in her love continually.

20 For why should you be delighted by a stranger woman, my son. Why should you embrace the breasts of a stranger.

21 For the ways of man are before the eyes of Yahweh who observes all his paths.

22 The wicked will be taken in his own iniquities, he will be seized by the cords of his own sin.

23 He will die for lack of instruction, he will go astray by his great folly.

Proverbs 6

1 My son, if you have made yourself an unrestricted surety for your neighbor, if you have pledged yourself for another.

2 If you are snared by the words of your mouth, if you are taken by the words of your own mouth.

3 Then you must do the following thing now, my son. Free yourself, because you have fallen into the power of your neighbor. Go and humble yourself, make entreaties to your neighbor.

4 Give no sleep to your eyes, nor slumber to your eyelids.

5 Free yourself like a roe deer from the hand of the hunter, like a bird from the hand of the fowler.

6 Look at the ant, you sluggard. Consider her ways, and be wise.

7 For she has no leader, and no overseer, and no ruler.

8 She prepares her food in the summer, she gathers her food in the harvest.

9 How long will you sleep, O sluggard. When will you arise from your sleep.

10 A little sleep, a little slumber, a little folding of your hands to sleep.

11 And poverty will come on you like a prowler. You will be overcome by need as by an armed man.

12 The one who walks with deceit in the mouth is either a perverse person or an unjust person, when there is no publicly acceptable justifications in the bottom of the heart.

13 Such a person winks with his eyes, or talks with his feet, or makes signs with his fingers.

14 Perversity is in his heart. He plots evil at all times, and sows discord.

15 Therefore his destruction will come suddenly. He will be broken suddenly, and without remedy.

16 There are six things that Yahweh hates. Yes, there are seven things that are an abomination to him.

17 The haughty eyes, and a lying tongue [who does not have a publicly acceptable justification in the heart], and hands that shed innocent blood.

18 And a heart that plans wicked purposes, and feet that are quick in running to evil.

19 And a false witness who speaks lies, and he who sows discord among brothers.

20 My son, keep your father's commandments and do not forsake the instruction of your mother.

21 Bind them always on your heart, and tie them around your neck.

22 They will guide you in your walk. They will guard you when you are asleep, and they will speak to you when you are awake.

23 For the commandment is a lamp, and the instruction is a light. And reproofs of instruction are the way of life.

24 In order to keep you from the evil woman, from the flattery of the tongue of a strange woman.

25 Do not lust after her beauty in your heart, do not be seduced by her eyelids. [Recognize the nature of her heart.]

26 For a whore is only looking for bread, but an evil woman will hunt for a precious life.

27 Can a man put fire in his chest without burning his clothes.

28 Can a man walk on hot coals without burning his feet. [How can this happen without a special intervention from the one for whom nothing is impossible]

29 It is thus for him who goes to the wife of his neighbor. Whoever touches her will not be innocent.

30 A thief will not be declared innocent when he steals to satisfy his appetite, when he is hungry.

31 For if he is found then he will restore sevenfold, or he will give all that he has in his house.

32 But he who commits adultery with a woman lacks understanding. He who does this thing is destroying his own soul.

33 He will find wounds [in his heart] and dishonor, and the reproach of his deed will never be erased.

34 For jealousy is the rage of a man, and he will not refrain in the day of vengeance.

35 He will not be interested in any ransom, and he will not consent, although you may give many gifts.

Proverbs 7

1 My son, keep my words. Hide my commandments within you.

2 Perform my commandments, and you will live. Keep my instruction as the apple of your eye.

3 Bind them on your fingers, and write them on the tablet of your heart.

4 Say to wisdom, You are my sister. And call understanding your kinswoman.

5 And thus you will be preserved from the strange woman, from the stranger who flatters with her words.

6 I was at the window of my house, and I looked through my window.

7 And I saw one of those who are simple-minded. I noticed a young man among the youths, and I saw that he did not have understanding.

8 He was going through the street, near a corner where was a certain woman. And he was going on the path of her house.

9 It was in the twilight in the evening, when the night began to be dark and black.

10 And behold, he encountered a woman. She had the behavior of a prostitute, and she was cunning in her heart.

11 She was indecent and restless. Her feet could not stay in her house.

12 She was standing here and there in the street, looking for a prey at every corner.

13 So she caught him, and kissed him, and with an impudent face she spoke to him.

14 And she said: I had made a vow, and it has been fulfilled today. Therefore I will offer thanks to my God.

15 For I have come out to meet you. I have diligently sought your face, and I have found you.

16 I have adorned my bedroom with tapestry, and with carved works, and with fine linen of Egypt.

17 I have perfumed my bed with myrrh, and aloes, and cinnamon.

18 Come, let us take our fill of love until the morning. Let us comfort ourselves with love.

19 For my husband is not at home, he has gone for a long journey.

20 He has taken a bag of money with him, therefore he will not return home before a certain time.

21 Thus she seduced him with her crafty speech, she enticed him with her flattering lips.

22 And he followed her immediately like an ox who is led to the slaughter, like a fool bonded for punishment.

23 Until an arrow pierces his liver, like the bird that rushes into the net without knowing that it is at the cost of its life.

24 Now therefore my sons, listen to me. Pay attention to the words of my mouth.

25 Let not your heart turn aside toward the ways of such a woman, nor wander in her paths.

26 For she has caused many to fall. All those whom the women like her have killed are numerous.

27 Her house is a way to the grave, it goes down to the chambers of death.

Proverbs 8

1 Does not wisdom cry out. Does not understanding lift up her voice.

2 She stands on the top of the high places by the road, at the crossroads of the paths.

3 She cries at the gates, at the entrance to the city, at the entrance of the doors.

4 I cry to you, O men. I lift up my voice to the children of men.

5 O you the simple-minded, understand wisdom. And you the fools, learn understanding.

6 Listen, for I will speak of excellent things. My lips are opened to teach what is right.

7 For my mouth will speak the truth, because my lips abhors wickedness.

8 All the words of my mouth are conceived in righteousness. There is nothing crooked or perverse in them.

9 They are all clear and unequivocal for the one who has understanding, they are all right for those who have found knowledge.

10 Prefer my instruction rather than silver, and knowledge rather than pure gold.

11 For wisdom is better than precious stones, and no treasure is comparable to her.

12 I the wisdom, I dwell in prudence and I possess counsel and knowledge.

13 The fear of Yahweh is to hate evil. Pride and arrogance, and the perverse mouth, I hate all the ways of evil.

14 Counsel and knowledge are mine. I am understanding, and strength is mine.

15 It is by me that the admired kings establish their kingships, and princes decree what is right.

16 By me are established the works of princes, and of nobles, and of all the judges of the earth.

17 I love those who love me, and those who seek me diligently find me.

18 Wealth and honor are with me. Yes, the lasting wealth of righteousness.

19 My fruit is better than gold, better than fine gold. The reward that I give is better than pure silver.

20 I lead in the way of righteousness, in the midst of the paths of equity.

21 In order to cause those who love me to inherit wealth, in order to fill their treasuries. [In order to give them a useful legacy.]

22 Yahweh created me at the beginning of his work, before his earliest works.

23 I was established from everlasting, from the beginning, before the earth was.

24 I was brought forth when there were no depths, when there were no fountains filled with water.

25 Before the first mountains were established, before the hills were, I was brought forth.

26 He had not yet made the earth, nor the open places, nor the first atom of the dust of the world.

27 I was there when he established the heavens, when he set a circle on the face of the depth.

28 When he established the clouds above, when he strengthened the fountains of the depth.

29 When he set a boundary to the sea, so that the waters should not transgress his commandment. When he laid the foundations of the earth.

30 I was at work with him. I was daily his delight, rejoicing continually before him.

31 Rejoicing in his habitable earth, and finding my delight among the children of men.

32 Now therefore listen to me, O children. For those who keep my ways are blessed.

33 Hear instruction in order to be wise. Do not reject it.

34 Blessed is the man who listens to me, watching daily at my gates and waiting at my doorposts.

35 For he who finds me has found life, and will obtain the favor of Yahweh.

36 But he who sins against me harms his own soul. All those who hate me love death.

Proverbs 9

1 Wisdom has built her house, and she has hewn out her seven pillars.

2 And she has killed her beasts, and mixed her wine, and prepared her table.

3 And she has sent her maids to cry out the following words on the highest places of the city: Whoever is simple-minded, let him come here.

4 She says the following thing to those who lack understanding.

5 Come to eat of my food, and to drink of the wine that I have prepared.

6 You the foolish, forsake your way in order to live. Walk in the way of understanding.

7 He who rebukes a scoffer will receive contempt as the reward from this person. And he who reproves the wicked will get hurt.

8 Do not rebuke a scoffer, lest he hate you. But rebuke a wise man, and he will love you.

9 Give instruction to a wise man, and he will be wiser. Teach a righteous man, and he will increase in learning.

10 The fear of Yahweh is the beginning of wisdom. The knowledge of the holy one is understanding.

11 For your days will be multiplied by me, and the years of your life will be increased.

12 If you are wise then you are wise for yourself. And if you are a scoffer then you alone will bear it.

13 Foolishness is that other woman who is noisy. She is simple-minded, and knows nothing.

14 She sits at the door of her house, on a seat on the highest places of the city.

15 To call passersby who continue straight on their way.

16 And she says: Let him who is stupid come in here.

17 She says to the one who is deprived of understanding: Stolen waters are sweet, and bread eaten in secret is pleasant.

18 And the simple-minded person does not know that the dead are there, and that her guests are in the depths of Sheol.

Proverbs 10

1 The proverbs of Solomon. A wise son makes his father glad, but a foolish son is a disappointment for his mother.

2 The treasures of wickedness do not bring advantage [in the sight of God], but righteousness save from death.

3 Yahweh will not let the righteous be very hungry, but he multiplies the desires of the wicked.

4 He who acts with a slack hand becomes poor, but the hand of the diligent makes wealthy.

5 He who gathers in summer is a son of wisdom, and he who sleeps in harvest is a son of confusion.

6 Blessings are on the head of the righteous, but iniquity covers the mouth of the wicked.

7 The memory of the righteous is a blessed, but the name of the wicked will decay.

8 He who is wise in heart receives commandments, but he who is foolish in lips runs to his destruction.

9 He who walks in integrity walks boldly, but he who corrupts his ways will be exposed.

10 He who winks with the eye causes grief, and he who is foolish in lips runs to his destruction.

11 The mouth of the righteous is a fountain of life, but iniquity covers the mouth of the wicked.

12 Hatred stirs up hostility, but love covers all transgressions.

13 Wisdom is found in the lips the one who has understanding, but a rod is for the back of the one who is simple in mind.

14 The mouth of the wise increases knowledge, but the mouth of the foolish announces his own destruction.

15 The possessions of a rich man are for him a strong city, and the fear of the poor is his poverty.

16 The work of the righteous bring life, but the work of the wicked is for sin.

17 He who keeps instruction is in the way of life, but he who forgets reproof goes astray.

18 He who conceals hatred has lying lips, and he who conceives slander is a fool.

19 He who speaks much does not fail to sin, but he who refrains his lips is wise.

20 The words of the righteous are like pure silver, but the plans of the wicked are worthless.

21 The lips of the righteous feed many persons [with useful teachings], but fools die for want of wisdom.

22 The blessing of Yahweh makes a person wealthy, and sorrow is not added to this wealth.

23 It is a sport for a fool to act wickedly, but a man of understanding has wisdom.

24 What the wicked fears will come on him, and the desire of the righteous will be granted to him.

25 Like the whirlwind that comes and then goes away, so the wicked comes and then he is no more. But the righteous is an everlasting foundation.

26 As vinegar is to the teeth, and as smoke is to the eyes, so is the sluggard to those who send him.

27 The fear of Yahweh prolongs the days, and the years of the wicked will be shortened.

28 The hope of the righteous will become his gladness, but the hope of the wicked will perish.

29 The way of Yahweh is the strength of the upright man, and destruction will come for the workers of iniquity.

30 The righteous will never be removed, and the wicked will not inhabit the earth.

31 The mouth of the righteous brings forth wisdom, and the perverse tongue will be cut off.

32 The lips of the righteous know what is acceptable, but the mouth of the wicked speaks pervertedly.

Proverbs 11

1 False scales are an abomination to Yahweh, and he is delighted by accurate weights.

2 When pride comes, then comes shame. But wisdom is with the humble.

3 The integrity of the righteous guides him, but the perverse ways of the deceiver will destroy him.

4 Riches is of no avail in the day of the wrath of Yahweh, but righteousness save from death.

5 The righteousness of the upright directs his way, but the wicked will fall in his own wickedness.

6 The righteousness of the honest will save him, but the transgressor will be taken by his own wickedness.

7 After a wicked man has died, his hope will perish. The wicked hope will perish.

8 The righteous is save from trouble, and the wicked comes to take a place there.

9 An hypocrite uses his words to destroy his neighbor, but the righteous will be freed by his knowledge.

10 The people of city rejoices when the righteous prospers, and they shout for joy when the wicked perishes.

11 A city is exalted by the blessing of the righteous, but it is overthrown by the mouth of the wicked.

12 He who despises his neighbor lacks wisdom, for a man of understanding keeps silence.

13 He who reveals the secrets of others without any necessity that may publicly justify this action is a slander, for he who is of a faithful spirit conceals a matter.

14 Where there is no wise counselor, the people fall. But where there are many wise counselors, there is safety.

15 He who is an unrestricted surety for another is in trouble, but he who hates suretyship is safe.

16 A gracious woman will obtain honor, and the powerful men will obtain riches.

17 A merciful man does good to his own soul, and a cruel man troubles his own flesh.

18 The work of the wicked is deceitful, for it is those who sow righteousness who will receive a true reward.

19 So righteousness leads to life, but he who follows evil will find his own death.

20 Those who are perverse in heart are an abomination to Yahweh, but those who are upright in their ways are his delight.

21 Surely the wicked will not be unpunished, but the spiritual children of the righteous will be save.

22 A beautiful woman who lacks understanding is as a gold ring placed in the nose of a pig.

23 The desires of the righteous are intended to create peace, but the secret hope of the wicked cannot fail to create a trouble.

24 The one who gives freely becomes wealthier, but he who saves too much attracts another kind of poverty.

25 The generous soul will be satisfied. He who waters will also receive rain.

26 He who withholds grain is cursed by the people, and the blessing will be on the head of him who sells it.

27 He who seeks peace will obtain favor, but he who follows evil will be harmed by it.

28 He who trusts in his riches will fall, but the righteous will flourish like a young leaf.

29 He who troubles his own house will inherit the wind, and [in their final ends] the fool will be servant to the one whose heart is wise.

30 The fruit of the righteous is a tree of life, for the person who is wise gains souls honestly.

31 And behold, each righteous person will receive a reward on the earth. And it will certainly also be the case for the wicked and the sinners.

Proverbs 12

1 He who loves instruction loves knowledge, but he who hates reproof is a fool.

2 A good man obtains favor from Yahweh, and Yahweh will rebuke the man who conceives wicked plans.

3 A man cannot be established by wickedness, and the root of the righteous will not be moved.

4 A virtuous woman is a crown to her husband, but she who causes shame is like deterioration in his bones.

5 The thoughts of the righteous are only justice, and the plans of the wicked are deceits.

6 The words of the wicked are a snare to shed blood, and the mouth of the righteous is like a deliverance.

7 The wicked will be overthrown and will be no more, but the house of the righteous will endure.

8 A man will be esteemed according to his wisdom, but he who is perverse in heart will be despised.

9 He who is despised and has a servant is better than he who honors himself and lacks bread.

10 A righteous man really cares for his livestock, but the tender mercies given by the wicked are cruel.

11 He who tills his land will be satisfied with food, but he who follows worthless things lacks understanding.

12 The wicked covets the possessions of wicked men, but the root of the righteous yields fruits of real value.

13 The wicked is snared by the wickedness of his lips, but the righteous will come out of trouble.

14 A man will be satisfied with good things by the fruit of his mouth, for God will reward each person according to the work of his own hands.

15 The way of a fool is right in his own eyes [although he knows that it is not publicly justifiable], but he who listens to advice is wise.

16 A fool reveals his anger without delay, but he who hides an insult is prudent [because he takes the time to choose a response that is truly appropriate and which may simply consist of distancing himself in a certain way].

17 A truthful man always proclaims justice, but a false witness seek to deceive.

18 The words of the one who speaks rashly can cut like a sword, but the tongue of the wise causes a feeling of well being in everyone who listens.

19 A truthful lip will be established forever, but a lying tongue is only for a moment [in comparison with the duration of eternity].

20 Deceit is in the heart of those who plot evil, but true joy is with those who counsel peace.

21 No true misfortune befalls the righteous [since his troubles are part of God's plan to build him a legacy of his own], but the wicked are overwhelmed with evil thoughts.

22 Lying lips are an abomination to Yahweh, but those who act truthfully are his delight.

23 A prudent man conceals his knowledge, but the heart of fools proclaims foolishness.

24 The hand of the diligent will rule in the end, and the lazy hand will be under tribute.

25 Anxiety in the heart of a righteous man can make him lose courage, but a good word will make him glad.

26 The righteous show his friend the right way, but a wicked is deceived by the way of evil.

27 The slothful does not roast what he has hunted, but the possessions of the diligent are precious in his own sight.

28 There is life in the way of righteousness, and there is no death in that path.

Proverbs 13

1 A wise son listens to his father's instruction, but a scorner does not pay attention to reproof. [And God is the father of all.]

2 A man will enjoy good by the fruit of his mouth, but the soul of the transgressors will suffer violence.

3 He who guards his mouth guards his life, and he who opens wide his lips runs to destruction.

4 The soul of the diligent will be satisfied, but the soul of the sluggard desires what his work does not allow him to obtain.

5 The righteous hates the word of falseness, but the wicked causes slander and shame.

6 Righteousness preserves the one who is upright in his way, and wickedness destroys the sinner.

7 There is one who acts like a rich despite the fact that he has nothing. And there is another who acts like a poor despite the fact that he has great possessions.

8 There are rich people who think they can pay a ransom for their lives, and there are poor people who do not listen to reprimand because they want to get rich.

9 The light of the righteous will shine, but the lamp of the wicked will be extinguished.

10 A quarrel only occurs because there is arrogance in at least one of the parties involved, and wisdom is with those who listen to good advice.

11 Wealth that is gotten by vanity will go away, but the product of righteous work will increase.

12 A hope that is deferred makes the heart sick, but a righteous desire that is fulfilled is a tree of life.

13 He who despises the word [of God] will be destroyed, and he who fears the commandment will be rewarded.

14 The teaching of the wise is a source of life, it causes to turn away from the snares of death.

15 Good understanding will give favor, but the ways of the transgressors will be hated.

16 Every prudent man considers knowledge, but the fool shows foolishness.

17 A wicked messenger falls into evil, but a faithful ambassador causes a feeling of well being.

18 Poverty and shame in the life are the portion of him who does not consider the reproof of God, for he who heeds reproof will be honored.

19 The accomplishment of a desire is sweet to the soul, and it is an abomination to fools to depart from evil.

20 He who walks with wise men becomes wise, but the companion of fools is in trouble.

21 Misfortune pursues the legacies of sinners, but prosperity will reward the righteous.

22 A good man will give an inheritance to his children's children, but the riches of the sinner is laid up for the righteous.

23 The poor and honest man knows how to appreciate the value of what his field produces, but there is one who perishes by reason of injustice.

24 He who spares his rod hates his son, for he who loves him seeks to discipline him early.

25 The righteous is satisfied with what he has to eat, but the belly of the wicked multiplies his desires.

Proverbs 14

1 A wise woman builds her house, but a foolish woman destroys it with her own hands.

2 He who walks with an honest heart fears Yahweh, but he who is perverse in his ways despises Yahweh.

3 There is pride in the mouth of the foolish, but the lips of the wise preserve them.

4 The cowshed is clean where there are no cattle, but the abundance of income come from the strength of oxen.

5 A faithful witness does not seek to lie even though he may be mistaken, but a false witness designs deceits.

6 A scoffer seeks wisdom and does not find it, but understanding is an easy thing for a man who seeks discernment.

7 Depart from the foolish man, when you do not perceive knowledge in his lips.

8 The wisdom of the prudent man is to understand his way. The foolishness of fools is to seek to deceive.

9 Fools make sport of sin, but among the righteous there is kindness.

10 The heart alone knows the things that truly grieve it, and a stranger cannot share its joy [because it is also the only one to know what really pleases it].

11 The house of the wicked will be destroyed, but the tent of the righteous will flourish.

12 There is a way that seems right to a man, but its end is the way of death [because he who takes this path knows that his actions would not be approved by any assembly of holy men if all the circumstances were explained to them].

13 It is possible to laugh with a sad heart, but this false joy will only increase the sorrow.

14 He whose heart goes astray will be rewarded with his own ways, and a good man is satisfied with what is in him.

15 He who is simple-minded believes everything that is said, but the prudent considers his steps.

16 A wise man fears and turns away from evil, but a fool is arrogant and confident.

17 He who angers hurriedly acts foolishly, but a man with a deceptive behavior will be hated in the end.

18 The simple-minded will inherit folly, but the prudent crown themselves with knowledge.

19 The evil will bow down before to the good [in the end], and the wicked will rest at the gates of the righteous.

20 The poor man is unpleasant even to his neighbor, but the rich have many friends.

21 He who despises his neighbor commits a sin, and he who has pity on the poor is blessed.

22 Do not those who plan evil err. For mercy and faithfulness are for those who plan what is good [that is to say, what is publicly justifiable].

23 Any labor brings abundance of its product, and idle talk leads only to want.

24 Wealth will be the crown of the wise, and foolishness will be the reward of fools.

25 A faithful witness saves souls, but a deceitful witness speaks lies.

26 He who fears Yahweh has a firm foundation, and his children will have hope.

27 The fear of Yahweh is a fountain of life, it allows to avoid the snares of death.

28 When the people are many, it is and honor for the king. But when the people are few, it is the ruin of the prince [because there is little chance that the people will continue to want to keep their organization in the form of a kingdom].

29 He who is slow to anger has a great understanding, and he who has a hasty spirit proclaims his folly.

30 A calm heart is the life of the body, but envy is the deterioration of the bones.

31 He who oppresses the poor reproaches his maker [namely the one who causes all things to happen]. But he who has pity on the needy honors the creator.

32 The wicked will be overthrown by his wickedness, but the righteous has a refuge even in his death.

33 Wisdom rests in the heart of him who has understanding, and what is in the heart of the fool will be exposed.

34 Righteousness exalts a nation, and sin is the shame of any people.

35 A wise servant is a delight for his king, and the wrath of the king will be against the servants who cause shame.

Proverbs 15

1 A soft answer turns away wrath, but a harsh word stirs up anger.

2 The tongue of the wise makes a judicious use of knowledge, but the mouth of fools pours out folly.

3 The eyes of Yahweh are in every place, observing the evil deeds and the good deeds.

4 A gentle tongue is a tree of life, but a perverse tongue can break a soul.

5 A fool despises his father's instruction, but he who heeds reproof acts prudently. [And God is the father of all.]

6 There is much true treasure in the house of the righteous, but there is trouble in the possessions of the wicked.

7 The lips of the wise pour out knowledge, but the heart of the foolish does not act thus [because of his hidden motivations].

8 The sacrifice of the wicked is an abomination to Yahweh, and the prayer of the righteous is his delight.

9 The way of the wicked is an abomination to Yahweh, and he loves the one who follows righteousness.

10 Punishment is grievous for the one who forsakes the right way, and he who hates reproof will die.

11 Since Hell and destruction are in the sight of Yahweh, how much more the hearts of the children of men. [How can you imagine hiding any intention from him.]

12 A scoffer does not love reproof, therefore he will not go to the wise.

13 A joyful heart makes a cheerful countenance, but the sorrow of the heart makes the spirit heavy.

14 The heart of the one who has understanding seeks knowledge, and the mouth the fool delights in foolishness.

15 Any person may designate the days of his affliction as evil days, but he who has a good conscience continuously expects a participation in the joy of God.

16 Better is a little with the fear of Yahweh, than great treasure with trouble.

17 Better is a dinner of green herbs and with love between the participants, than a meal of fattened oxen with hatred between the participants.

18 He who gets angry quickly stirs up fights, but he who is slow to anger pacifies disputes.

19 The sluggard considers his way as a hedge of thorns, but the righteous considers his way as a plain.

20 A wise son makes a glad father, but a foolish son despises his mother.

21 Foolishness brings joy to the one who does not have wisdom. And a man of understanding will always walk in the right way.

22 The objectives will not be achieved if there is no counsellor among those likely to be affected by a project. But in the multitude of counsellors they are established.

23 There is joy in the heart of him who gives a useful answer with his mouth, and a word spoken at the right time is a delight.

24 The wise man exalts the way of life, for he considers that it allows him to turn away from hell whose ways are lower since they are accessible to everyone.

25 Yahweh will overthrow the house of the proud, but he will establish the borders of the widow.

26 Evil plans are an abomination to Yahweh, and the words of the person who is pure are pleasant in the sight of Yahweh [since they are appropriate to the circumstances].

27 He who is greedy for gain troubles his own house, but he who hates gifts will live.

28 The heart of the righteous meditates on an answer, but the mouth of the wicked pours out evil things.

29 Yahweh is far from the wicked, but he hears the prayer of the righteous.

30 What pleases the eyes rejoices the heart, and a good news strengthens the bones.

31 The ear that listens to the relevant reproof that lead to the path of life will rest among the wise.

32 He who refuses instruction despises his own soul, and he who listens to reproof gets understanding.

33 The fear of Yahweh is the instruction of wisdom, and true humility precedes true honor.

Proverbs 16

1 The plans of the heart belong to man, but the answer of the mouth is from Yahweh.

2 All the ways of a man are clean in his own eyes [despite the fact that he may know that they are not publicly justifiable], but Yahweh weighs the spirits.

3 Commit your works to Yahweh, and your thoughts will be directed.

4 Yahweh has made everything for a purpose. Yes, even the wicked for the day of evil.

5 Each person who has a proud heart is an abomination to Yahweh. Surely he will not be unpunished.

6 An iniquity which is already committed can only be purged by the mercy and the faithfulness of Yahweh. But he who fears Yahweh turns away from evil.

7 When the ways of a man please Yahweh, that is to say when a man has a pure heart, Yahweh causes even the deeds of his enemies to prevent the destruction of his soul.

8 Better is a little with righteousness, than a great benefit with injustice.

9 A man's heart plans his way, but it is Yahweh who directs his steps.

10 The word that comes from the lips of a king is received as a word of God by his faithful servants. Whatever his mouth declares is supposed to be necessary and right.

11 All the weights in the bag are the work of Yahweh. But a just weight and a just scale are of the spirit of Yahweh [that is to say, these are the possessions of a person who fears Yahweh].

12 It is an abomination to kings to commit wickedness, for the throne is established by righteousness. [Evil is that which is intentional and unjustifiable in the eyes of any assembly of saints, and such an assembly knows that each one acts according to his particular knowledge and circumstances.]

13 The servants who have righteous lips delight the king. For each king wants each of his servant to speak without seeking to deceive the rulers of the kingdom.

14 The wrath of a king is like the messengers of death, and a wise servant will seek to pacify it.

15 All the servants of the kingdom are invigorated when the king’s countenance reveals that he is happy. And a favor of a king towards his people is like a cloud of the latter rain.

16 Wisdom is to be desired more than gold. Yes, understanding is much better than silver.

17 The way of the righteous is to depart from evil. The one who guards his way is guarding his soul.

18 Arrogance goes before destruction, and a haughty spirit before a fall.

19 It is better to be humble and to walk among the humble, than to divide the spoil with the proud.

20 He who observes the instruction will find good, and he who trusts in Yahweh is blessed.

21 He who has a wise heart is simply known as one of the prudent persons. And the sweetness of the lips promotes learning.

22 Wisdom is a fountain of life to him who has it, but the fool lets himself be taught by folly.

23 The heart of the wise teaches his mouth, and knowledge is increased when his lips speak.

24 Fair words are like a honeycomb. They are sweet to the soul, and they refresh the bones.

25 There is a way that seems right to a man who has not received the knowledge of instruction, but it leads to the paths of death.

26 Whatever a person is doing, he is actually doing it to satisfy one of his own desires. For the mouth of that desire urges him.

27 A wicked man plots evil, and the words of his lips are like a burning fire.

28 A deceitful person desires to stir up quarrel, and a whisperer can separate close friends.

29 A wicked man entices his neighbor in order to lead him into a way that is not good.

30 He who closes his eyes to think is conceiving a reprehensible thing. And if he bites his lips then he has already done evil in the sight of God [since his lips that have been bitten can serve as witnesses].

32 He who is slow to anger is better than a mighty man. He who rules his own spirit in order to not let oneself be under the control of circumstances is better than he who takes a city.

33 One may cast lots in order to make choices, but any answer obtained in this way comes also from Yahweh.

Proverbs 17

1 A dry morsel obtained in peaceful circumstances is better than a house that is full of meat and in which there is a quarrel.

2 A wise servant will have rule over a son who causes shame, and he will also have a part of the inheritance among the brothers.

3 As the refining pot is used to purify silver, and as the furnace is used to purify gold, so Yahweh is the one who probes the hearts.

4 A wicked man desires to imitate evil teachings. A liar delights in imitating the strategies of liars.

5 He who oppresses the poor reproaches his maker [namely the one who causes all things to happen]. And he who rejoices in calamity will not be unpunished.

6 Children's children are the pride of old age, and children take great pride in their parents. [Here it is not about the ancestors since part of the statement specifies 'children's children' and the other part specifies 'children'.]

7 He who has found the skill of having appropriate words does not become a true fool. And also he who is in the habit of deceiving others without having in his heart justifications that he imagines to be understandable at least by some people cannot become a noble man. [A noble man is one who does not deceive anyone without having in his heart justifications that he knows to be publicly acceptable by any assembly of honest people.]

9 He who forgives a transgression seeks love, but he who speaks continually about it can separate even close friends. [But to forgive does not mean to forget but simply to take appropriate precautions, and it is not necessary to talk about it continually.]

10 A proper rebuke penetrates more deeper into the heart of a wise man than the penetration into the heart of a fool of the effects of a hundred lashes.

11 A wicked man only wants to trouble some people, and a cruel messenger will be sent against him.

12 It is better to meet a bear whose cubs have just been taken away than to meet a fool who is performing his folly.

13 Evil will not depart from the house of the one who has repaid evil for good.

14 The start of a quarrel is like the fact of opening a hole in a dam. Withdraw yourself before the argument escalates.

15 He who justifies the wicked and he who condemns the righteous, they are both an abomination to Yahweh.

17 A friend loves at all times, and a brother is born for adversity [either to create adversity or to support during adversity or both].

18 A man who has no understanding extends his hand to become an unrestricted surety for his neighbor.

19 He who loves strife loves sin. He who raises high his gate seeks destruction.

20 He whose heart is not sincere will not find good, and he whose tongue is perverse will fall into adversity.

21 He who begets a fool will have sorrow. The father of a fool cannot have joy.

22 A joyful heart is a good medicine, but a broken spirit dries up the bones.

23 The wicked man accepts in secret the bribes given to him to pervert the ways of justice.

24 Wisdom is before the face of him who has understanding, but the eyes of a fool are in the ends of the earth.

25 A foolish son is a grief to his father, and a bitterness to her who bore him.

26 It is not good to punish the innocent, nor to smite noble persons for their honesty.

27 He who chooses his words carefully has knowledge. And a man of understanding has an excellent spirit.

28 Even a fool can pretend to be wise by keeping his peace. For he who shuts his lips is supposed to be prudent.

Proverbs 18

1 He who separates himself from all others seeks his own desire, and he is irritated against all that is wise.

2 A fool has no delight in understanding, but only in the manifestation of his thoughts.

3 Whoever associates himself with a wicked attracts reproach from God, and contempt, and shame.

4 The words of a man's mouth are like deep waters, while the source of wisdom is like a flowing brook.

5 It is not good to do favors to the wicked by altering the rights of the righteous in the judgment.

6 A fool's lips enter into the quarrels that do not concern him, and his mouth asks that blows be given.

7 A fool's mouth is his own destruction, for his lips are a snare for his soul.

8 The words of a slanderer are like tasty morsels, they descend into the innermost parts of the belly.

9 Whoever is slothful in his work is a brother of the destroyer.

10 The name of Yahweh is a strong tower, and the righteous runs into it for safety.

11 The riches of a rich man are his strong city. They are like a high wall in his imagination.

12 The heart of a man is haughty before his destruction, while true humility precedes true glory.

13 If someone answers a matter before he has listened to it, then he is committing an act of foolishness and he is attracting shame on himself.

14 The spirit of a man will sustain his infirmity. And who can lift up a broken spirit [if not the word of Yahweh].

15 A wise heart will obtain knowledge, for the ear of the wise seeks knowledge.

16 The gifts given by a man widen his way, and bring him before great men.

17 When there is a contention, the party who comes first to argue his case seems to be right. But it is only after the other parties have also come to argue that it is then possible to examine the case fairly.

19 It is easier to conquer a strong city than to restore a true peace with a brother who has been offended. Their contentions are like the bars of a castle.

20 A man's belly will be filled with the fruit of his mouth. Each person will be satisfied by the product of his lips.

21 Death and life are in the power of the tongue. Anyone who loves to talk will eat the fruits of his tongue.

23 The poor man speaks by supplicating, and the rich responds harshly.

24 A man can have many relationships but very few are true friends [who can really feel directly concerned by a misfortune]. But there is such a friend who is more supportive than a brother.

Proverbs 19

1 The poor man who walks in his integrity is better than the man who has perverse lips and is a fool.

2 It is not good for a man to lack understanding. And he who acts in haste commits sin.

3 The foolishness of a man perverts his way, and it is against Yahweh that his heart is irritated.

4 Whoever has riches has a large number of friends even among those unknown to him, but a poor man is even separated from his neighbor.

5 A false witness will not remain unpunished. Yes, he who says lies [without having publicly acceptable justifications in his heart] will not escape.

6 Many people flatter the generous man. Yes, every man is a friend to him who gives gifts.

7 The one who is poor is hated by all his brothers, and his friends are the first to move away from him.

8 Whoever seeks understanding loves his own soul. The one who keeps wisdom will find happiness.

9 A false witness will not remain unpunished. Yes, he who says lies [without having publicly acceptable justifications in his heart] will perish.

11 The man who has wisdom is slow to anger, and it is a glory for him not to declare his response to an offense [for he is not God].

12 The king's anger is like the roar of an adult young lion, and his favor is like dew on the grass.

13 A foolish son is the calamity of his father, and a quarrel with a wife is like the noise of a water that drops continually.

14 One can inherit houses and riches from his ancestors, but a wife who has wisdom is a gift of Yahweh.

15 The laziness causes to fall asleep, and the indolent soul will suffer from hunger.

16 Whoever keeps the commandment keeps his own soul, and whoever does not watch over his ways will die.

17 Whoever has mercy on the poor is lending to Yahweh, and Yahweh will reward him according to his work.

18 Discipline your son while there is hope, but do not do more than what seems necessary.

19 The one who gets easily angry will suffer the consequences. And do not seek to advise him directly on this aspect of his personality, because he will start again.

20 Listen to my counsel and receive the instruction, in order to be wise for the rest of your life.

21 There may be many plans in the heart of a man, but it is the objective of Yahweh that will be accomplished.

22 The true beauty of a man is his kindness, and a poor is much better than a liar.

23 The fear of Yahweh leads to life. He who is filled with that fear will not be destroyed by evil but will triumph.

25 If you smite a scoffer, then the one who is simple-minded will learn prudence. And if you reprove an intelligent man, then he will understand knowledge.

26 The one who mistreats his father, or who chases away his mother, is a son who causes shame and brings reproach.

27 My son, if you cease to listen to the instruction then you will err from the words of knowledge.

28 A wicked witness laughs at justice, for the mouth of the wicked devours iniquity.

29 There are punishments prepared for scoffers, and the backs of fools will be whipped.

Proverbs 20

1 Wine is a mocker, a strong drink is a brawler. Whoever drinks too much of it is not wise.

2 The fear caused by a king is like the roar of a young adult lion. The servant who provokes a king to anger sins against his own soul.

3 Refraining from all forms of physical violence in any discussions is a behavior that honors a man. For the fool does not argue only with the content of his written or spoken message, but he also argues with the threats of the movements of his body.

4 The lazy man says to himself that the cold is a sufficient reason not to plow. Therefore he will beseech during the harvest, and will have nothing.

5 The plans of a man's heart are like deep waters. But a man of understanding knows how to make a good choice.

6 Many people declare each one his goodness and the uprightness of his heart. And who can identify a faithful man if not with the help of God.

7 The righteous man walks in his integrity, and his children are blessed after him.

8 A king is established to sit on the throne of judgment and repel the evil with his eyes by ordering to do what is right.

9 How many people can say: I have purified my heart, and now I am clean from my sin.

10 Two kinds of weights or two kinds of measures, both are an abomination to [the spirit of] Yahweh. [For God desires that the laws be the same for everyone.]

11 The actions of a child already allow to have an idea about his true personality, and to know if he likes what is pure and fair or not.

12 The hearing ear and the seeing eye, Yahweh has made them both.

13 Do not love sleep, lest you become poor [in all kinds of wealth]. Open your eyes, and you will have enough bread.

14 It is not such a good deal, it is not such a good deal, says the buyer who knows the value of a product. But when he has gone on his way, then he boasts.

15 You can own gold and a multitude of precious stones, but the lips of wisdom have more value.

16 Take his garment, for he has made himself a surety for a stranger. Exact from him a pledge, because of the stranger.

17 The bread of deceit is sweet to a man, but afterward his mouth will be filled with gravel.

18 Plans are established by counsel. Wage war by wise guidance.

19 He who reveals secrets is like a slanderer. Do not associate with one who opens his lips without necessity.

20 If a man curses his father or his mother, then his lamp will be extinguished in total darkness.

22 Wait for Yahweh, and he will save you. Do not say: I also will plan an act that is not publicly justifiable in order to repay an evil.

23 Yahweh abhors those who have two kinds of weights [because they do not use the same laws in their interactions with different other people]. And a false scale is not good [in his sight].

24 The steps of a man are directed by Yahweh. How then can a man understand his own way.

25 It is a snare to a man to make a sacred covenant lightly, and to take heed only after he has vowed.

26 A wise king identifies the wicked and punishes them appropriately. [A wicked is a person who cannot provide publicly acceptable justifications for his behavior in a situation that require it, considering only the information available to him at the time of the event.]

27 The spirit of man is the lamp of Yahweh, searching all his innermost parts.

28 Justice and faithfulness preserve a king, for his throne will be established by justice.

29 The glory of young men is their strength, and the beauty of old men is the grey head.

Proverbs 21

1 The king's heart is in the hand of Yahweh like the brooks of waters. He turns it wherever he pleases.

2 Every way of a man is right in his own eyes [despite the fact that he may know that they are not publicly justifiable], but Yahweh weighs the hearts.

3 To act sincerely and fairly [by not seeking to deceive anyone without having in one's heart a publicly acceptable justification] is more acceptable to Yahweh than to offer sacrifice.

4 A haughty look and a proud heart are the lamp of the wicked, and it is a sin.

5 The thoughts of the diligent lead to abundance, while he who acts with carelessness will become poor.

6 Treasures obtained by the use of a deceitful tongue are vanity and a harbinger of death.

7 The violence of the effects of the actions of wicked persons will be the cause of their destruction, because they refuse to act justly.

8 The way of man is crooked and strange, but the one who is pure is behaving rightly in his particular context.

9 It is better to dwell alone in a corner of the roof than to dwell with a contentious woman in a wide house.

10 The soul of the wicked desires evil, and his friend finds no favour in his sight.

11 When a scoffer is punished, he who is simple-minded becomes prudent. And when a wise man is instructed, he receives knowledge.

12 The righteous man considers the house [legacy] of the wicked. But God will overthrow the wicked for their wickedness.

13 He who shuts his ear to the cry of the poor will also cry and will not be heard.

14 A gift given in secret pacifies anger. Yes, a gift given in secret pacifies even a fierce fury.

15 It is a joy for the righteous to do justice, and destruction will be for the workers of iniquity.

16 The man who strays from the path of wisdom will rest in the assembly of the dead.

17 He who loves delights will be a poor man. He who loves wine and oil will not be rich.

18 The wicked will be a ransom for the righteous. Yes, the transgressor will be a ransom for the upright.

19 It is better to dwell alone in a wilderness than to dwell with a contentious and irritable woman.

21 He who follows righteousness and mercy will find life, justice and honor.

22 A wise man can go to a city of mighty men and cast down the strength of their confidence.

23 He who guards his tongue and his mouth keeps his soul from troubles.

24 A proud and haughty man is called a scoffer. He dwells in the fury of arrogance.

25 The desires of the sluggard will kill him, because his hands refuse to work.

26 The sluggard covets all day long, while the righteous gives and withholds not [when the request is serious].

27 The sacrifice of the wicked is an abomination. How much more when they bring it with wicked thoughts.

28 A false witness will perish, but the man who hears will speak whenever there is the need.

29 The wicked man hardens his face, but the upright establishes his own way.

30 There is no wisdom against [the instruction of] Yahweh, nor understanding, nor counsel.

31 The horse is prepared for the day of battle, but victory belongs to Yahweh.

Proverbs 22

1 A good reputation is better than great riches. Yes, a good name is better than silver and gold.

2 The rich and the poor meet together. Yahweh is the maker of them all.

3 A prudent man foresees the evil and hides himself, but the simple-minded goes on and is punished.

4 The reward of humility and of the fear of Yahweh is wealth, and glory, and life.

5 Thorns and snares are in the way of the perverse, but he who guards his soul will be far from them.

6 Teach a child the way that he should go, and he will not depart from it when he is old.

7 The rich rules over the poor, and the borrower is servant to the lender.

8 He who sows injustice will reap destruction, and the rod of his anger will fail.

9 A man whose eye is kind will be blessed, because he gives of his bread to the poor.

10 Cast out the scoffer, and strife will cease. Yes, contention and ignominy will cease.

11 He who loves to have a pure heart and whose lips are gracious will be the friend of the king.

12 The eyes of Yahweh preserve each of those who have knowledge, but he overthrows the plans of the transgressors.

13 The sluggard man says: There is a lion outside, I will be killed in the streets if I want to do a work.

14 The mouth of a strange woman is a deep pit. He who is abhorred by Yahweh will fall into it.

15 Foolishness is bound in the heart of a child. But the rod of correction, namely all the ways to express disapproval, will drive it far from him.

16 He who oppresses the poor in order to increase one's wealth or in order to give to the rich, the same will surely become poor.

17 Incline your ear and hear the words of the wise. Apply your heart to my knowledge.

18 For it is good for you to keep them within you in order to establish them on your lips.

19 I am instructing you today, you to whom I am speaking now, so that your trust may be placed in Yahweh.

20 Have I not already written for you counsels and meditations.

21 In order to teach you unquestionable things, namely the words of truth, and so that you may speak truthfully to anyone who interacts with you.

22 Do not rob the powerless although you may easily do it since he is powerless. Do not discriminate against them in judgments.

23 For Yahweh will defend their cause, and despoil the soul of those who despoil them.

24 Do not become a friend of an angry man, and do not walk with a furious man.

25 Lest you become accustomed to his ways, and get the destruction of your soul.

26 Do not be one of those who strike hands, or who become surety for debts.

27 If you have no means of paying, then why would you let your bed be removed from under you.

28 Do not move the ancient boundaries that your fathers have set.

Proverbs 23

1 When you sit to eat with a ruler, think carefully about who is before you.

2 And put a knife to your throat, if you are a gourmand.

3 Do not covet his dainties, for it is a deceptive food. [For life is more than food.]

4 Do not torment yourself with the desire to become rich. Cease to rely on your own wisdom.

5 Do you want to pursue with your eyes what will disappear. For riches makes themselves wings, like the wings of an eagle that flies in the sky.

6 Do not eat the bread of him who has an evil eye, and do not covet his dainty food.

7 For as he thinks in his heart, so is he. While his heart is planning evil against you, he will say to you: Eat and drink.

8 And he only wants you to vomit the morsel that you have eaten, and to lose your pleasant words.

9 Speak not in the ears of a fool, for he will despise the wisdom of your words.

10 Do not move the ancient boundaries, and do not enter into the fields the fatherless.

11 For their redeemer is strong. He will defend their cause against you.

12 Open your heart to instruction, and your ears to the words of knowledge.

13 Do not hold back if you have to discipline a child. If you smite him with the rod then he will not die.

14 For you may save his soul from Sheol by smiting him with the rod [or by giving any other proportional and publicly justifiable response in order to punish an actions that is completely immoral and totally intentional]. [For it is the response given to an offense that allows the mind of the guilty to meditate more deeply when he finds himself in comparable circumstances]

15 My son, if your heart is wise then my own heart will rejoice.

16 My inner part will rejoice if your lips speak only what is right.

17 Let not your heart envy sinners, but let it fear Yahweh continuously.

18 For surely there is a future for you if you act thus, for your hope will not be cut off.

19 Listen, my son, and be wise. Direct your heart in the right way.

20 Do not be among the drunkards or among the gluttons.

21 For a drunkard and a glutton will become poor, and drowsiness will clothe a man with rags.

22 Listen to your father who begot you [or the one who took care of you], and do not despise your mother when she is old.

24 The father of the righteous will greatly rejoice. He who begets a wise child will have a joy in him.

25 Your father and your mother will be glad, she who bore you will rejoice.

26 My son, give me your heart. Let your eyes observe my ways.

27 For a whore is like a deep ditch, and a strange woman is like a narrow pit from which you will not be able to escape if you fall in it.

28 She lies in wait like for a prey, and increases the number of transgressors among men.

29 For whom are the groans caused by regret. For whom are the contentions. For whom are the murmurings. For whom are evitable wounds. For whom are the bloodshot eyes.

30 They are for those who linger over wine, for those who are eager to taste mixed wine [for the sole purpose of obtaining pleasure and getting drunk].

31 Do not be seduced by the wine when you see that it is very red, and that it swings harmoniously in the cup, and that it gives pleasure by going down the throat.

32 For in the end it will bite like a serpent, it will sting like an adder.

33 And then your eyes will desire strange women, and your heart will speak perverse things.

34 And you will feel like a man who is in the middle of the sea, on the top of a mast.

35 And you will say: They have stricken me, but I have not been hurt. They have beaten me, but I have not felt it. When will I wake up. For I want more of that wine.

Proverbs 24

1 Do not envy evil men, and do not desire to be with them.

2 For their hearts plans destruction, and the words of their lips are iniquity.

3 A house that is built by wisdom will be established by understanding.

4 It is by knowledge that are its rooms filled with all precious and pleasant things which are useful to its owner.

5 A wise man is strong. For a man of understanding increases his strength [moral strength].

6 For you will make your wars by wise counsel, and there is safety in the multitude of wise counselors.

7 Wisdom is too high for a fool. He will never have something useful to say in the gate.

8 He who plans to do evil is called a man full of wickedness.

9 The thoughts of foolishness are sins, and a scoffer is an abomination to men.

10 If you faint in the day of adversity, then your strength is small.

11 If you have the opportunity to defend them, then save those who are unjustly carried to death and those who are about to be killed.

12 You may wait in order to say afterward, 'I withheld some information because I did not know that those persons would be put to death'. But will not he who weighs the hearts understand it. Does not he who watches over your soul know it. Will he not reward each person according to his works.

13 Eat honey, my son, for it is good. Honey that is eaten in the honeycomb is sweet to your mouth.

14 Thus will the knowledge of wisdom be to your soul. If you find it then there is a future for you, for your hope will not be cut off.

15 Do not lie in wait against the dwelling of the righteous, O wicked man. Do not spoil his resting place.

16 For the righteous man falls seven times and continues to get up, while the wicked are cast down into destruction.

17 Do not become glad when your enemy falls, do not let your heart rejoice when he stumbles.

18 Lest Yahweh see it, and be displeased with it, and turn his anger away from that wicked person.

19 Do not be afraid of the success of those who do evil, and do not envy the wicked.

20 For there is no future for the one who do evil. The lamp of the wicked will be extinguished.

21 My son, fear Yahweh and the king. Do not walk with the seditious.

22 For their destruction will arise suddenly. And who knows the punishments of the ones and of the others.

23 There is also the following principle that belongs to the wise: It is not good to have partiality in judgment.

24 He who says to the wicked, 'You are righteous'. The people will curse him, and nations will abhor him.

25 But the judge who condemns the wicked will be loved by the people, and will be blessed by the people.

26 He who answers with righteous words is a delight, like a bridegroom is delighted by a kiss of his bride.

27 Put order in all your interactions by establishing peace, and then you can start to build your house [with the confidence that it will have been useful in the end].

28 Do not be a witness against your neighbor without cause [that is to say without having a publicly acceptable justification in your heart]. Why would you deceive with your lips.

29 Do not say: I will do to him what he did to me, I will repay each man according to his works.

30 I went near the field of a sluggard, the vineyard of a man who has no understanding.

31 And behold, thorns were growing in it, and nettles covered its face, and the stone wall was broken down.

32 And I looked carefully, and I considered this thing deeply. And then I was instructed by what I saw.

33 A little sleep, a little slumber, a little folding of your hands to sleep.

34 And poverty will come on you like a prowler. You will be overcome by need as by an armed man.

Proverbs 25

1 These also are proverbs of Solomon, which was collected by the men of Hezekiah king of Judah.

2 It is the glory of God to conceal a thing, but the honor of kings is to search out a matter.

3 Like the sky in its height and the earth in its depth, thus the hearts of kings are unsearchable.

4 Take away the dross from the silver, and the smith will have a good material to do a task.

5 Take away the wicked from before the king, and his throne will be established by righteousness.

6 Do not exalt yourself in the presence of the king, and do not take the initiative to place yourself among great men.

7 For it is preferable for you that someone tell you 'Come up here' rather than to be humiliated before the great men whom your eyes have seen.

8 Do not hasten to enter into a dispute, lest you know not what to do in the end when your neighbor has shamed you.

9 Speak about your cause with your neighbor without revealing the secret of another.

10 Lest the one who hears it puts you to shame, and your infamy clings to you.

11 A word that is spoken fitly is like apples of gold in settings of silver.

12 When a wise rebukes an intelligent ear, it is like an earring of gold and an ornament of fine gold.

13 As the cold of snow in the time of harvest, so is a faithful messenger to those who send him. For he refreshes the soul of his masters.

14 A man who makes false promises is like clouds and wind without rain.

16 If you find honey then eat only what is enough for yourself, lest you be overfull and vomit it.

17 Let your foot be infrequent in your neighbor's house, lest he become weary of your presence and hates you.

18 A man who bears false witness against his neighbor is like a hammer, and a sword, and a sharp arrow.

19 Trust in an unfaithful man in the day of trouble is like a broken tooth and a foot out of joint.

20 The one who sings songs to a sad heart is like the one who takes away his garment in cold weather, or who mixes vinegar and nitre.

21 If your enemy is hungry then give him bread to eat. If he is thirsty then give him water to drink.

22 For thus you will heap coals of fire on his head, and Yahweh will reward you.

23 A backbiting tongue will cause the righteous to anger [even if he does not show it], like the north wind brings forth rain.

24 It is better to dwell alone in a corner of the roof than to dwell with a contentious woman in a wide house.

Proverbs 26

1 As snow in summer, and rain in harvest, thus glory is not fitting for a fool.

2 Like the trail of the sparrow in the sky, or like the trail of the swallow in the sky, so a curse that is not the result of a completely diabolical cause will have no effect.

3 A whip for the horse, a bridle for the donkey, and a rod for the back of fools.

4 Do not respond to a fool by adopting a behavior that is similar to that of his folly, lest you become like him.

5 Respond to a fool only after you have understood the quality of his foolishness and do it only to publicly expose unacceptable behavior, lest he consider himself wise in his own eyes and repeat the same behavior later.

6 He who sends a message by the hand of a fool is like one who cuts off his own feet and drinks violence.

7 A proverb that is invented by a fool is as unsuitable as the feet of a lame.

8 He who honors a fool is like one who hides a precious stone in a great heap of stones.

9 A proverb that is invented by a fool is like a thorn branch in the hand of a drunk man.

10 The great God who formed all things will reward the fool in an appropriate way and will reward transgressors in an appropriate way.

11 As a dog that returns to its own vomit, so is a fool who repeats his folly.

12 Have you seen a man who thinks himself very wise. There is more to be hoped for from a fool than from him.

13 The sluggard says: There is a lion in the way, there is a lion in the streets.

14 As the door turns on its hinges, so does the sluggard on his bed.

16 The sluggard thinks himself wiser than seven men who answer with good sense.

17 As one who seizes a dog by the ears, so is a passerby who intervenes in a quarrel that does not concern him. [A passerby who is not one of those whom the organization of society has established to maintain public order.]

18 Like a madman who throws firebrands, and arrows and death [that is to say other deadly things].

19 So is a man who deceives his neighbor and who says: Was it not a jest.

20 A fire goes out due to lack of wood. And where there is no whisperer, contention ceases.

21 As coals are to hot embers, and wood to fire, thus can a contentious man inflame a strife.

22 As coals can do to hot embers, and as wood can do to fire, thus can a contentious man inflame a strife.

23 The one who has burning lips and an evil heart is like an earthen vessel overlaid with silver dross.

24 He who hates will be known by his lips, for he will plan snares in his heart.

25 Such a person may speak kindly, but do not believe him. For there are seven abominations in his heart.

26 He can hide his hatred by deceptive behaviors, but his malice will be understood by the multitude.

27 He who digs a pit to trap someone else will fall into it himself. And a stone will return on him who rolls it.

28 A lying tongue hates those whom it crushes, and a flattering mouth causes ruin.

Proverbs 27

1 Do not boast of tomorrow, for you do not know what a day may bring forth.

2 Let another man praise you, and not your own mouth. A stranger, and not your own lips.

3 There are heavy stones and weighty quantities of sand, but the wrath of a fool is heavier than both.

4 Wrath is cruel and anger is impetuous, but who can stand before jealousy.

5 Open rebuke is better than hidden love.

6 A friend may speak harsh words because of his faithfulness, and an enemy may kiss you deceitfully.

7 He who is full is disgusted by a honeycomb, but even a bitter thing is sweet to the hungry soul.

8 As a bird that wanders from its nest, so is a man who wanders from his home.

9 As ointment and perfume rejoice the heart, so the heartfelt counsel of a friend is sweet.

12 A prudent man hides himself when he sees the evil, but the simple-minded continues and may suffer for it.

13 Take his garment, for he has made himself a surety for a stranger. Exact from him a pledge, because of the stranger.

14 If a man blesses his neighbor with a loud voice early in the morning, then it is not sincere and he actually desires his neighbor's misfortune.

15 A contentious woman is like a continuous fall of water on a rainy day.

16 He who would restrain her will restrain the wind, and his right hand will encounter oil.

20 As the grave and destruction are never satisfied, so a man's eyes are never satisfied.

21 As the refining pot is used to purify silver, and as the furnace is used to purify gold, so a man's reputation searches his heart.

22 If you were to crush a fool in a mortar, among the grains with a pestle, his folly would not depart from him.

Proverbs 28

1 The wicked flees when no one pursues him, but the righteous is bold as a lion.

2 The multiplication of transgressions in a land can cause the people to have many wicked leaders. And the mercy of God can be prolonged on a people because of a leader who has understanding and knowledge.

3 A poor man who oppresses the poor is like a sweeping rain that causes a lack of food.

4 Those who forsake the law praise the wicked, but those who keep the law are angry with them.

5 Evil men do not understand justice, but those who seek Yahweh understand all things.

6 The poor man who walks in his integrity is better than the man who is rich and who perverts his ways.

7 A son who keeps the law is wise, and the one who is a companion of riotous men shames his father.

8 He who increases his riches by interest and usury gathers it for him who has pity on the poor.

9 He who turns away his ear from hearing the law is so distasteful in the sight of Yahweh that even his prayer is an abomination.

10 He who tries to lead an upright person into an evil way will fall into the pit he has dug, and the upright will inherit good.

11 The rich man is wise in his own eyes, but the poor who has understanding and who interacts directly with him will probe him.

12 When the righteous triumph, there is great glory. When the wicked rise up, each one hides himself by becoming more careful.

13 He who hides his sins will not prosper. But he who confesses them [in the manner indicated by the law] and who forsakes them will obtain mercy.

14 Blessed is the man who is always in fear [that is to say, the fear of behaving in a way that is not consistent with the will of God]. But he who hardens his heart falls into a disaster.

15 As a roaring lion and a hungry bear, so is a wicked who rules over a poor people.

16 A prince without understanding multiplies acts of oppression, but he who hates covetousness will prolong his days.

17 A man burdened with the innocent blood of another is fleeing to the pit. Do not slow him down.

18 He who walks uprightly will be saved, but he who is perverse in his ways will fall suddenly.

19 He who tills his land will be satisfied with food, but he who follows worthless things will be filled with poverty.

20 A faithful man will abound with blessings, but he who makes haste to be rich cannot prevent himself from transgressing.

21 It is not good to have respect for the face of a person when exercising judgment. But there is such a person who commits a sin in order to obtain a piece of bread.

22 A covetous man hastens to be rich, and does not know that poverty will come on him.

23 He who rebukes others with justice when he has the right to do so will find more favor afterwards than he whose tongue is flattering.

24 He who robs his father or his mother, and who says 'It is not a sin', the same is a companion of the destroyer.

25 He who has a proud heart stirs up strife, but he who trusts in Yahweh will be satisfied.

26 He who imagines his own wisdom is a fool, but he who walks in the wisdom of Yahweh will be saved.

27 He who gives to the poor will not lack, but he who hides his eyes will have many curses.

28 When the wicked rise up, each one hides himself by becoming more careful. And when they perish, the righteous increase.

Proverbs 29

1 A man who is rebuked and who stiffens his neck will ultimately be broken suddenly and without remedy.

2 When the righteous have authority, the people rejoice. But when the wicked rule, the people sigh.

3 A man who loves wisdom makes his father glad, but he who keeps company with prostitutes squanders his wealth.

4 It is by establishing righteousness and fairness that a king brings prosperity to his land. But the king who desires gifts brings ruin to his land.

5 A man who flatters his neighbor is spreading a net for his steps.

6 There is a snare for his own soul in the transgressions of an evil man, but the righteous will triumph and will rejoice.

7 The righteous care about the cause of the poor, but the wicked do not understand the wisdom of Yahweh.

8 Scoffers sow discord in a city, but wise men turn away wrath.

9 If a wise man contends with a foolish man, then the fool may be angry or laugh, but there will be no peace.

10 Bloodthirsty men hate the one who is blameless. But the upright protect his own soul.

11 The fool expresses all that he thinks, but the wise man keeps it to himself until later.

12 When the behavior of a leader shows that he is not concerned by the discernment between good and evil, all his servants are wicked.

13 The powerless and the oppressor meet together, and Yahweh enlightens the eyes of each one according to his good pleasure.

14 A king who judges the poor with justice will have the legacy of his kingship established forever.

17 Discipline your son, and he will give you rest. Yes, he will give pleasure to your soul.

18 A people who keeps the commandment is blessed. But where justice is not established to be the true God, the social organization leads to ruin.

19 A servant is not disciplined only with words. For listening to words will not stop him from repeating the bad behaviors. [A proportional response must be given to each transgression, like God does with each of his servants.]

20 If you see a man who is rash in his speech, then there is more to be hoped for from a fool than from him.

21 A servant who is treated delicately from his childhood by his master will become like a son in the end.

22 An angry man stirs up strife, and a furious man abounds with transgressions.

23 A man's pride will bring him low, but he who is humble in spirit will be honored.

24 He who is a partner of a thief hates his own soul. For he will not be willing to remove deceit from his lips when they have committed a crime together.

25 It is a snare to have the fear of a person, for it is he who has the fear of Yahweh who will be exalted.

26 Many people seek the favor of the ruler, but it is Yahweh who will judge each person.

27 An unjust man is an abomination to the righteous, and he who is upright in his ways is an abomination to the wicked.

Proverbs 30

1 The words of Agur the son of Jakeh. The words that he spoke to Ithiel, even to Ithiel and to Ucal.

2 Surely I am more stupid than any man, for I have not the understanding of a man in me.

3 But I have learned wisdom, and I have the knowledge of the holy men.

4 Who has ascended into heaven, and has descended. Who has gathered the wind in his fists. Who has bound the waters in his garment. Who has established all the ends of the world. What is his name and what is the name of his son. Do you have the answer.

5 Every word of God is pure. He is a shield to each of those who put their trust in him.

6 Do not add anything to his words [apart from the unique interpretations that establish the non-contradictory nature of his statements which sometimes say a same thing in several ways in a same book in order to clarify the meaning of the words used], lest he reprimand you and you be found a liar.

7 I ask two things of you. Do not deny them to me before I die.

8 Take away from me falseness and futilities. And give me neither poverty nor riches, but feed me with the food that is necessary for me.

9 Lest I deny you while being in abundance and say, 'Who is Yahweh'. And lest I steal while being in poverty and thus profane the name of my God.

10 Do not disparage a servant to his master, lest he curse you and you be found guilty.

11 There is a kind of persons who curse each one his father and do not bless each one his mother.

12 There is a kind of persons who are pure each one in his own eyes, and yet none of them is washed from his filthiness.

13 There is kind of persons whose eyes are haughty and whose eyelids are lifted up.

14 There is a kind of persons whose teeth are like swords. Their jaws are like knives to devour the powerless of the earth, especially the needy from among men.

15 The leech has two daughters whose names are give and give. There are three things that are insatiable. Yes, there are four things that never say: It is enough.

16 The place of the dead, and the barren woman, and the earth which is not satisfied with water, and the fire which will stop by itself only if there is no more fuel.

17 The eye that mocks his father and disdains obedience to his mother, the ravens of the valley will pick it and the young eagles will eat it.

18 There are three things that are too great for me to understand. Yes, four that I cannot comprehend.

19 The way of an eagle in the sky, and the way of a serpent on a rock, and the way of a ship in the midst of the sea, and the way of a man with a young woman.

20 Such is the way of an adulterous woman. She eats and wipes her mouth, and says: I have done no wickedness.

21 There are three things that cause the earth to tremble. Yes, there are four things the it cannot endure.

22 A servant who becomes king, and a fool who is satisfied with food.

23 A woman of bad reputation who marries, and a handmaid who becomes a heir of her mistress.

24 There are four creatures on earth that are small, and yet they are full of wisdom.

25 The ants are not a strong people, and yet they prepare their food in summer.

26 The conies are but a feeble folk, and yet they make their houses in the rocks.

27 The locusts have no king, and yet they move by groups.

28 The spider seizes with its hands, and is found in the palaces of kings.

29 There are three that have a beautiful look. Yes, there are four that have a beautiful gait.

30 The lion, which is strong among many beasts that are its prey and which almost never runs away.

31 And a fully equipped horse, and a goat, and a king against whom there is no rising up.

32 If you have been foolish enough to become proud, if you have planned evil in your thoughts, then put your hand on your mouth.

33 For the pressure of milk produces cheese, and the pressure of the nose produces blood, and the pressure of anger produces strife.

Proverbs 31

1 The words of king Lemuel. The words by which his mother instructed him.

2 What will I say to you, my son. What will I say to you, you the son of my womb. What will I say to you, O you the son whom I have desired.

3 Do not give your strength to women, nor your ways to the pleasures that destroy kings.

4 It is not for kings, O Lemuel. It is not for kings to drink wine, nor for princes to seek strong drinks.

5 Lest they drink and forget the law, and disregard the justice that must be given to all those who are afflicted.

6 Give strong drinks to him who is ready to perish, and wine to him who has grief in his heart.

7 Let him drink, so that he may forget his poverty and remember his misery no more.

8 Open your mouth for the dumb, for the cause of all those who are powerless [when you have the possibility to do so].

9 Open your mouth and judge righteously. Give justice to those who are afflicted and to the poor.

10 Who can find a virtuous woman. She is of much more value than pearls.

11 The heart of her husband trusts in her, and he will have no need of spoil.

12 She does him good and not evil, all the days of her life.

13 She procures wool and flax, and works willingly with her hands.

14 She is like the ships of the merchants, she brings her food from afar.

15 She rises while it is still night, and gives food to her household, and their tasks to her handmaids.

16 She considers a field, and buys it. And she plants a vineyard by the fruit of her hands.

17 She girds her waist with strength, and strengthens her arms.

18 She perceives that her work is good. Her lamp does not go out at night.

19 She puts her hand to the distaff, and her fingers hold the spindle.

20 She stretches out her hand to the poor. Yes, she stretches out her hand to the needy.

21 She is not afraid of the snow for her household. For all her household are doubly clothed.

22 She makes herself carpets. She wears garments of fine linen and purple.

23 Her husband is respected in the gates, when he sits among the elders of the land.

24 She makes linen garments and sells them, and she delivers belts to the merchant.

25 She is clothed with strength and honor, and she will rejoice in the last days.

26 She opens her mouth with wisdom, for the law of grace is on her tongue.

27 She takes care of the ways of her household, and does not eat the bread of idleness.

28 Her children rise up and call her blessed. And her husband also praises her.

29 Many daughters have done virtuously, but you excel them all.

30 Grace can be deceitful, and beauty is vain. For the woman who will be praised is the one who fears Yahweh.

31 Reward her according to her work [O Yahweh]. Let her works praise her in the gates.

Ecclesiastes

Ecclesiastes 1

1 The meditations of the preacher, the son of David and king in Jerusalem. [His understanding of the nature of Yahweh the God of Israel.]

2 Vanity of vanities, says the preacher. Vanity of vanities, all is vanity.

3 What advantage does a man have from all the trouble that he suffers under the sun.

4 One generation goes, and another generation comes, but the earth remains continuously.

5 The sun arises, and the sun goes down toward its place from where it will arise again.

6 One time the wind blows toward the south, and another time it blows toward the north. Thus the wind can blow all around by returning continually on its paths.

7 All the rivers go into the sea, or almost all, and yet the sea is not full. And the rivers continue to go to the place where they go.

8 All things are in work beyond what we can say. And the eye is not satisfied with seeing, and the ear never tires of hearing.

9 As for the fundamental motivations that determine the individual behaviors of men, what is done today is what has already been done before. And what will be done in the future is what will have already been done before. There is nothing new under the sun.

10 If there is a behavior about which one say, 'Look at this, it is new'. Then this behavior has already existed in the times that preceded us.

11 People do not take care to remember in an appropriate way what is ancient. And what is happening today will not be correctly understood by those who will come after.

12 I the preacher have been king over Israel and my royal house was in Jerusalem.

13 I have occupied my heart with the research and examination of the wisdom contained in everything that is done under the heaven. This is a painful occupation to which God submits the sons of men.

14 And I have considered all the works that are being done under the sun. And behold, all this trouble that I have given myself has been a vanity and the pursuit of the wind.

15 That which is crooked cannot be straightened, since one cannot modify the past but only learn from it, and that which is wanting cannot be numbered.

16 I have thought in my heart: Behold I have become great and surpassed in wisdom all those who have been before me in Jerusalem. My heart has acquired a lot of wisdom and knowledge.

17 I have occupied my heart with the study of how wisdom works, and of how foolishness works, and of how madness works. And I understood that all this is also the pursuit of the wind.

18 For with a lot of wisdom one has a lot of sorrow, and whoever increases his knowledge increases his pain.

Ecclesiastes 2

1 And I have said in my heart: Come now, and I will test you with joy. Therefore enjoy the pleasant things.

2 And behold, this also was vanity. And I have said of laughter, You are mad. And I have said of joy, What is it for.

3 And I have resolved in my heart to comfort my flesh with wine, while leading my heart with wisdom. And I have tried this foolishness in order to identify what is good for the children of men to do under the heaven during all the days of their life.

4 And I have made my great works. I have built houses for myself, and planted vineyards for myself.

5 And I have made gardens and orchards for myself, and I have planted all kinds of fruit trees in them.

6 And I made cisterns of water, in order to water the forest and make the trees grow.

7 And I have bought menservants and maidservants, and I have had children born in the house. And I had great possessions of herds and flocks, more than all those who had been before me in Jerusalem.

8 And I have gathered for myself silver and gold, and the treasures that I received from kings and from provinces. I have gotten for myself men singers and women singers, and the delights of the sons of men namely a wife and mistresses.

9 I have become great, and I have been more exalted than all those who were before me in Jerusalem. And my wisdom stayed with me.

10 And whatever my eyes have desired, I have not withheld it from them. And I have not withheld any joy from my heart. For my heart rejoiced in all my labor, and this was my portion of all my labor.

11 Then I have considered all the works that my hands had done, and how I had labored to perform them. And behold, all is vanity and the pursuit of the wind. There is no advantage in the greatness of the works that we do under the sun [but only in the reasons why we do them].

12 Then I have turned my eyes toward wisdom, and toward folly, and toward madness. For what will the man who succeeds the king do, if not that which has already been done.

13 And I have seen that wisdom is better than folly, as light is better than darkness.

14 For the eyes of the wise man are in his head [that is to say in his understanding], while the fool walks in darkness. But I have also perceived that the same event happens to both of them.

15 And I have thought in my heart: What happens to the fool will happen to me also. Why then should I take care to be wiser.

16 And I have said in my heart, This also is vanity. For the remembrance of the wise is not more eternal than that of the foolish. And in most cases, both become anonymous after their deaths. The wise man and the fool will both die.

17 Therefore I have begun to hate life, because the work that is done under the sun grieved me. For all is vanity and the pursuit of the wind.

18 And I have also begun to hate all the labor that I had done under the sun. For I will leave it to the man who will be after me.

19 And who knows whether he will be wise or foolish. Nevertheless he will have the power over all my labor that are the fruit of my wisdom under the sun. This also is vanity.

20 Therefore I have given my heart to despair, because of all the labor that I had done under the sun.

21 For there is a man whose labor has been done with wisdom, and with knowledge, and with skillfulness. And he will leave the fruit of his labor to a man who has not contributed to it. This also is vanity and a great grief.

22 For what has a man of all his labor, and of the trouble of his heart by which he has labored under the sun.

23 For all his days are sorrow, and his labor is grief. Yes, his heart has no rest even in the night. This also is vanity.

24 There is no happiness for man except to eat and drink, and to make his soul enjoy the well-being while doing his work. And I have seen that this also comes from the hand of God.

25 For who should eat what is necessary and enjoy a true well-being except I [who am pleasing to God].

26 For the man who pleases God receives wisdom, and knowledge, and true joy. But to the sinner he gives the grief of gathering and keeping in reserve, in order to give it to him who pleases God. This also is vanity and the pursuit of the wind.

Ecclesiastes 3

1 There is an appointed time for everything, a time for every purpose under the heaven.

2 A time to be born, and a time to die. A time to plant, and a time to uproot what has been planted.

3 A time to kill, and a time to heal. A time to break down, and a time to build.

4 A time to weep, and a time to laugh. A time to lament, and a time to dance.

5 A time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones together. A time to embrace, and a time to refrain from embracing.

6 A time to search, and a time to lose. A time to keep, and time to cast away.

7 A time to tear, and time to sew. A time to remain silent, and a time to speak.

8 A time to love, and a time to hate. A time for war, and a time for peace.

9 What is the advantage of one who designs great works.

10 I have seen the occupation that God has given to the sons of men, in order to humble them.

11 He does any good thing at the appropriate time. And he has put into their hearts the thought of eternity, although man cannot understand the work that God has done from the beginning to the end.

12 And I acknowledge that there is no good in them, if not to rejoice and to do good during their life.

13 And also that if a man can eat and drink what is necessary for him, and have real satisfaction concerning the work that he has done wholeheartedly, then it is a gift from God.

14 For I know that whatever [the holy spirit of] God does with all his heart will last forever, and nothing can be added or removed from his work. And God acts thus in order to be feared.

15 As for the fundamental motivations that determine the individual behaviors of men, what is happening now has been before, and what will be in the future has already been before. For God brings back what is past.

16 I have also seen under the sun that in the place established to judge there is wickedness, and in the place established for righteousness there is wickedness.

17 And I have said in my heart: God will judge the righteous and the wicked. For there is a time there for every purpose and for every work.

18 And I have said in my heart, concerning the children of men: God has humbled them, so that they may see by themselves that they are but beasts.

19 For the fate of the children of men and the fate of the beasts are for them the same fate. As one dies, thus the other dies. They all have one breath, and man is not superior to beast when we consider this fact. For all is vanity.

20 They all go to the same place. Each of them comes from dust, and each of them will return to dust.

21 And who knows if the spirit of a human goes upward to the sky and if the spirit of the beast goes downward in the earth.

22 Therefore I have perceived that there is nothing better for a human than to rejoice in his works, since it is his portion. For who will make him enjoy what will be after him.

Ecclesiastes 4

1 And then I have considered all the oppressions that are done under the sun. And behold, the oppressed weep and there is no one to comfort them. They have no comforter, and there is power in the hand of their oppressors.

2 And I have thought that the dead who are already dead are happier than some of the living ones who are still alive.

3 And I have also thought that those who are happiest are those who have not yet existed, since they have not seen the evil works that are done under the sun.

4 And I have seen that every work and every skilled work causes the jealousy of a man toward his neighbor. This also is vanity and the pursuit of the wind.

5 The fool folds his hands and eats his own flesh [since he destroys his soul by the way in which he obtains his food].

6 For it is better to have one hand full of riches obtained honestly than to have the two hands full of riches obtained by a dishonest work.

7 Now I have seen another vanity under the sun.

8 There is a man who is alone and has no companion, and has neither son nor brother. Nevertheless his labor has no end, for his eyes are not satisfied with riches. And he does not ask himself, 'For whom do I labor and deprive my soul of any good company'. This also is vanity, and it is an evil labor. [Now in those days, the law given by Moses separated the Jewish people from other communities, and Jesus pushed this logic of not seeking only one's personal well-being to the extreme by asking to focus on the well-being of people arbitrarily chosen throughout humanity.]

9 Two are better than one, because they can hope a good reward for their labor.

10 For if one falls then the other can lift up his companion. But woe to him who is alone when he falls, for there is no other to lift him up.

11 Likewise, if two sleep together then they will be warm. But how can he who is alone be warm.

12 And a person may overcome the one who is alone, but two persons may withstand an enemy. And three persons can even be stronger since three cords that are woven together to make one is not quickly broken.

Ecclesiastes 5

1 Take heed to your foot when you enter into the house of God. Come near in order to hear rather than to offer the sacrifice of fools. For they know not that they do evil.

2 Do not open your mouth rashly. Do not let your heart be hasty to utter a word before God. For God is in the heaven, and you are on earth. Therefore let your words be few.

3 For the voice of the fool is heard in the multitude of his words, like a dream comes from the multitude of activities.

4 When you have made a vow to God, delay not in fulfilling it. For God has no pleasure in fools. Fulfill what you have vowed.

5 It is better for you to refrain from making a vow, rather than not to fulfill a vow that you have made.

6 Suffer not your mouth to cause your flesh to sin. Do not say in the presence of the messenger that it was an error. Why should you want God to be angry at your voice and to destroy the work of your hands.

7 For there is vanity in the multitude of words, like there are vanities in the multitude of dreams. Therefore fear God.

8 If you see in a province the oppression of the poor, and the violation of justice and righteousness, then do not be astonished by the situation [since the real culprits are not necessarily in front of you]. For a high man is placed under the supervision of a higher one, and above them there are higher ones.

9 For the greatest advantage of a land is to have a king [or a higher authority] who really wants to serve the people of the land.

10 He who loves money will never be satisfied with the money that he has, and he who loves riches will never be satisfied with the riches that he has. This also is vanity.

11 When riches increase, those who accumulate them for pleasure also increase. And what advantage does such an owner derive from it, except that he sees it with his eyes.

12 He whose activities are honest has a sweet sleep, whether he eats little or much. But the satiety of him who eats the fruit of deceit, or of him who accumulates goods only for pleasure, does not give him peace.

13 There is a grievous evil that I have seen under the sun, in the fact that the riches accumulated by a person should normally give him sadness.

14 For they can be lost by sudden unfortunate events, and nothing is left in the hand of the son whom he begot.

15 Moreover, each person will return naked to the dust as he has come naked out of his mother's womb. There is nothing of his labor that he can carry away in his hand.

16 And this is also a grievous evil. For he will go away only with what he had brought in the world. And what is his benefit in the fact that he has labored for wind.

17 Moreover, all his days he eats in darkness [without understanding the purpose of life], and he has much sorrow, and pain, and anger.

18 Behold the following thing is what I have seen. It is good and pleasant for a man to eat and to drink, and to take pleasure in all the labor that he labors under the sun, during all the days of his life which God has given him. For this is his portion.

19 And if God has given a man riches and wealth, and if God has also given him the opportunity to enjoy it properly by giving him a good health and freedom, if he can thus rejoice in his labor with the peace of an honest heart, then it is a gift of God.

20 Surely he will not remember the pain with which he performed all his labors, since God has also given joy to his heart.

Ecclesiastes 6

1 There is an evil that I have seen under the sun, and it happens often among men.

2 There is a man to whom God has given riches, and wealth, and honor, and he lacks nothing of all that his soul desires. But God has not given him the power to enjoy it, and it is other persons who enjoy it. This is vanity and a grievous evil.

3 If a man begets a hundred children, and lives many years so that the days of his years are many, but his soul has not taken a peaceful pleasure in the work that he has done wholeheartedly, and he did not participate in a work that is useful in the lives of others and thus deserves to be inscribed on his tombstone, then I say that a baby who dies at birth is better than this man.

4 For the baby has come in vanity, and has gone in darkness, and his name will be covered with darkness.

5 He has not seen the sun, and he does not know all the sufferings that are under the sun. Therefore his rest is more pleasant than that of the man described previously.

6 For although this man might have lived two thousand years, the fact is that he did not experience a peaceful pleasure and both persons will go to the same place which is the place of those who have died.

7 All the work of man is for his mouth, that is to say to please his heart, and yet his appetite is never satisfied.

8 For how can one describe the advantage that the wise man has over the foolish. What advantage has the poor man who knows how to behave himself in the presence of the living.

9 Surely what the eyes see is better than the wandering of desires. For the wandering of desires is also vanity and the pursuit of the wind.

10 Whatever exists has already been named, and what a man can do has already been known. A man cannot contend with the creator.

11 Surely there are many things that increase vanity. But who knows how it can help a person.

12 For who knows what is good for a man in life, during all the days of his vanity which he spends like a shadow. For who can tell a man what will be after him under the sun.

Ecclesiastes 7

1 A good reputation is better than a good perfume, and the day of death is better than the day of birth.

2 It is better to go to a house where there is mourning than to go to a house where there is entertainment. For every person must die, and the living person who acts in this way will remember that his days are limited and that his heart should not waste his time in the search for bad pleasures. [Now a bad pleasure is the one that do not come from a work that can be useful for strangers arbitrarily chosen in society.]

3 Sincere dissatisfaction is better than laughter. For the heart can rejoice about an honest achievement while the face is concerned about improvement. [Indeed, a laugh is inappropriate if it is not caused by the observation of a lack of common sense in a particular deed of a person who is also displaying his pride in the same event.]

4 The heart of the wise thinks about the day of his death and of the honest deeds that he will have done before that day, while the heart of the fool actually desires only to entertain himself.

5 It is better to hear the rebuke of the wise than to hear the flattery of the fools.

6 For the laughter of the fool is like the noise of thorns that burn briefly in a fire under the boiler. This also is vanity.

7 Surely a wise man who is oppressed can become mad. And also a gift can corrupt the heart of a man.

8 The end of a thing is better than its beginning, and a patient spirit is better than a haughty spirit.

9 Do not be hasty in your spirit to be angry, for anger dwells in the bosom of fools.

10 Do not say, Why were the days of old better than these ones. For it is not by wisdom that you think in this way.

11 Wisdom is worth more than an inheritance, for it is the best thing for those who see the sun.

12 For one can take refuge in the shadow of wisdom as one takes refuge in the shadow of money, but an advantage of the knowledge of wisdom is that it gives life to those who possess it.

13 Consider the work of God. For who can straighten a thing that he has bent. [That is to say, who can give utility to the legacy of a person if God has already given that legacy to contempt.]

14 Be comforted during the days of your prosperity, and cogitate during the days of your affliction. God has made the two kinds of days, so that man does not discover what will be after him.

15 I have seen all things during the days of my vanity. There is a righteous man who perishes in his righteousness, and there is a wicked man who continues to be alive for a long time in his wickedness.

16 Do not be overly fair, and do not make yourself too wise. For why should you want to destroy yourself. [For there is necessarily a little subjectivity in the notion of justice.]

17 Do not be too wicked, and do not be foolish. For why should you want to die quickly.

18 It is good to keep that word, and not to neglect that other word. For he who fears God will be saved from destruction by keeping all his word.

19 Wisdom makes the wise stronger than ten rulers who are in the city. [For God cares more for the preservation of him who fears God than for the preservation of those who are exalted among men.]

20 Surely there is no righteous man on the earth who does good and who never sins. [Such a person would not be an ordinary person.]

21 Therefore do not exaggerate the importance of every word that are spoken if you can understand the context in which it has been spoken, for even your servant can curse you without a real malice.

22 For you know that your heart has also sometimes cursed others.

23 I have probed all this by wisdom. And when I wanted to be wiser than others and not wise with others, then wisdom has moved away from me.

24 What is far, what is exceedingly deep, who can find it.

25 Then I have set all my heart to know, and to probe, and to seek the wisdom and the reason of things, and to know the madness of wickedness and the stupidity of foolishness.

26 And I have found that a woman can be more bitter than the thought of preparing to die, when her arms are like chains and her heart is a trap and a net. He who is pleasing to God will escape from such a woman, but the sinner will be taken by her.

27 And now here is what I have found, said the preacher, while examining things one by one to grasp the reason.

28 The following thing is what my soul is still looking for, what I have not found: I have found one honest man among a thousand, but I have not found a woman among them all [and therefore they are much rarer].

29 And here is the only other thing that I have found: God has made human beings upright, but they have sought many detours. [That is to say, they do not want to act with simplicity.]

Ecclesiastes 8

1 Who is like the wise. And who knows the interpretation of a thing. The wisdom of a man causes his face to shine, and the severity of his face is changed.

2 I say to you: Keep the king's commandments, because of the oath that you have sworn to God.

3 Do not hasten to go out of the sight of the king, and do not persist in doing something that displeases him. For he can do whatever pleases him.

4 For the word of a king is powerful [in the hearts of his servants who have made him king]. And who can say to him: What are you doing.

5 The servant who keeps the commandment of his king will be safe from his anger, and the heart of the wise knows how to discern what is right according to the circumstances.

6 For there is a right time and a right way for every purpose, when misfortune overwhelms a man.

7 For he does not know what will be. For who can tell him when it will be.

8 Man has no power over his breath to retain it, he has no power over the day of his death. It is not really he who decides the outcome of a battle, and wickedness cannot preserve the wicked.

9 I have seen all this, and I have consider in my heart every work that is done under the sun. There is a time when man rules over man to bring misery.

10 Then I saw the wicked buried with a grandiose memorial built for him, while those who had been righteous departed from the holy place and were forgotten in the city. This also is vanity.

11 Because the sentence against an evil work is not executed speedily, therefore the hearts of the children of men are fully set in them to do evil.

12 However, although a sinner may do evil a hundred times and continue in it for a long time, I also know that the best reward will be given to those who fear God, those who are afraid of his word.

13 And the best reward will not be given to the wicked, for he will not prolong his days [by obtaining the life that lasts forever]. He will be like a shadow, because he is not afraid of the word of God.

14 There is also this vanity that is done on the earth. There are righteous people to whom it happens according to the deeds of the wicked, and there are wicked people to whom it happens according to the deeds of the righteous. I say that this also is vanity.

15 Therefore I recommend the joy [which is the inner satisfaction of having done what is honest]. For there is no better thing for a man under the sun than to eat [what is necessary for him], and to drink, and be merry [with peace of heart]. For this is what accompany him in his labor, during the days of his life that God gives him under the sun.

16 Now I have occupied my heart to know wisdom, and to consider the things that are done on the earth, and those things that cause the eyes of men to stay awake day and night.

17 And I have seen all the work of God [that is before my face], and I have understand that man cannot discover the thing that is done under the sun. Even though he may labor to seek it, he will not find it. And even if a wise man wants to know it, he will not be able to find it.

Ecclesiastes 9

1 I have occupied my heart with exploring all this, and I have seen that the righteous, and the wise, and their deeds, are in the hand of God [since he will not reward them in the same way that he will reward the wicked]. And also their emotions of love and hatred are in the hand of God. Man does not know it, although all is before them.

2 Nevertheless, all things happen alike to all. The same fate to the righteous as to the wicked, to the good and the pure as to the impure, to the one who sacrifices as to the one who does not sacrifice, to the good as to the sinner, to the one who swears as to the one who fears to swear.

3 And it is an evil in all that is done under the sun, the fact that there is one same fate for all. Therefore the heart of the sons of men is full of wickedness. Madness is in their heart while they live, and afterward they go to the dead.

4 Surely anyone who is alive can have hope, and even a living dog is better than a dead lion.

5 For the living know that they will die [but at least after some time during which something can happen], while the dead person can no longer have any initiative. They can no longer take the initiative to modify their works, and their remembrance can be forgotten among the living.

6 And their love, and their hatred, and their envy, all have already perished. They will have no more initiative in any of the things that are done under the sun.

7 Go your way, and eat your bread with joy, and drink your wine with a merry heart [that is to say the peaceful satisfaction of having an honest heart]. For God takes pleasure in the work that you do, whatever it may be.

8 Let your garments be white at all times, and let no oil be lacking on your head. [For you contribute to the well-being of others by acting in this way.]

9 Enjoy life with the wife whom you love [or the wives whom you love], during all the days of your life of vanity that God has given you under the sun. Yes, all the days of your vanity. For it is your portion the life, in your labor which you do under the sun.

10 Whatever your hand finds to do, that is to say whatever you undertake from the bottom of your heart, do it rigorously. For there is neither work, nor plans, nor useful knowledge, nor wisdom, in the grave where you will go.

11 I have also seen under the sun that a race is not necessarily won by the one who is usually the fastest, and a battle is not necessarily won by the strongest, and a wise person can lack food, and those who are rich are not necessarily those who are intelligent, and those who are rewarded for their works are not necessarily those who have done something useful. For what happens to each person comes from a set of circumstances that are established by all the elements involved directly or indirectly.

12 For man does not know his time namely all the things that determine the behavior of each of those with whom he interacts. He is like the fish that is taken in a deadly net, and like the bird that is caught in a snare. The children of men are snared thus in the times of an evil, when it falls suddenly on them.

13 I have also seen under the sun the following wisdom, and it appeared to me as something great whose meaning is hidden.

14 There was a small city, with few men in it, and a great king came to fight against it. And he surrounded it, and he built camps all around for his army.

15 And there was a poor and wise man there in the city, and he saved the city by his wisdom. Nevertheless no one remembered that poor man afterward.

16 Therefore I say: Wisdom is better than strength, but the wisdom of the poor is despised and his words are not heard.

17 The words of the wise which are heard in discretion are better than the shouting of him who rules among the foolish.

18 Wisdom is better than weapons of war, but one sinner can destroy much goods.

Ecclesiastes 10

1 Dead flies pollute and putrefy the oil of the perfumer. In the same way, an act of folly ruins the reputation of one who is known for wisdom or honor.

2 The heart of the wise is at his right hand, and the heart of the fool at his left hand.

3 And when a fool walks in the way, his understanding fails him and he lets everyone know that he is a fool.

4 If the spirit of a ruler rises up against you, then do not leave your place. For calmness prevents great sins.

5 There is an evil that I have seen under the sun, and the simple-minded may think that it is an error of the one who reigns over all things [that is to say an error of God].

6 Those who have folly in them very often occupy high positions, while those who are rich in wisdom are very often in abasement.

7 I have seen servants on horses, that is to say those who deserve to be servants because of the personal characteristics of their souls, while princes were walking on the ground like servants, that is to say those who deserve to be exalted because of the personal characteristics of their souls.

8 He who digs a pit will fall into it [in other words the one who designs deceptions to cause the destruction of others is trapping also his own soul]. And he who breaks down a wall will be bitten by a serpent [in other words the one who hurts others without having publicly acceptable justifications in his heart will be smitten by God].

9 He who moves stones will be hurt by it [in other words the one who wilfully perverts justice will not go unpunished]. And he who splits wood puts himself in danger [in other words the one who plans deceptions puts himself in danger].

10 If he has blunt the iron, and has not sharpened the edge, then he will have to put more strength. But wisdom has the advantage of success.

11 If a serpent bites before being charmed, then the charmer is of no further use for the victim since he cannot change the past [and it is rather a doctor who should be looked for].

12 The words of the mouth of a wise man are gracious, but the lips of a fool devour also his own soul.

13 The beginning of the words of his mouth is foolishness, and the end of his speech is wicked madness.

14 A fool multiplies the words as should do the one who can announce the future. Nevertheless a man does not know what will happen in the period of time that he has left to live. And who can tell him what will be after him.

15 The work that is done wholeheartedly by a fool wearies him, because he does not know how to go to the city [in other words he does not know the way of wisdom].

16 Woe to you, O land, when your king is a child and your leaders [the advisors of the king] eat early in the morning.

17 Blessed are you, O land, when your king loves the instruction of wisdom and your leaders eat in order to sustain their strength and not for drunkenness.

18 When the hands are idle, the roof of the house is deteriorating. And when hands are lazy, the roof of the house leaks.

19 One makes a feast for laughter, and wine gives comfort, and money has an answer to everything.

20 Do not curse the king, not even in your thought. And do not curse the rich in your bedroom. For a bird of the air may carry your voice, and thus a winged creature may tell your words [and then you will have to give an answer to those whom you have offended].

Ecclesiastes 11

1 Cast your bread on the waters, for after many days you will find it again. [In other words, do not tire of wishing the well-being of others, because a benefit will be granted to you in return even if it is after a long time.]

2 Give a portion to seven, and also to eight. For you do not know what misfortune may befall the earth. [In other words, it is necessary to diversify your sources of income because an unexpected event may affect certain particular activities]

3 When the clouds are full of rain, they pour it on the earth. And if a tree falls to the south or to the north, then it remains where it has fallen [since it will not move on its own initiative].

4 He who observes the wind will not sow, and he who observes the clouds will not reap. [You have to do what needs to be done, even in circumstances where you are not very comfortable.]

5 As you do not know the way of the breath of life, or how bones grow in the womb of a pregnant woman, so you do not know the work of God who makes all things.

6 Sow your seed in the morning, and do not let your hand rest in the evening. For you do not know whether only that thing will prosper or only that other thing, or whether both will be good.

7 Surely the light is a pleasant thing, and it is a good thing for the eyes to see the sun.

8 If someone lives many years, then it is good for him to rejoice during all those years, that is to say, it is good for him to seek the true joy which comes from the peace of an honest heart. For he must also remember that he is going to die, and that his days in darkness will be more numerous, and that he will no longer be able to have initiative.

9 O young man, if your desire is to rejoice in your youth, if your heart seeks amusement in the days of your youth, if your works are to fulfill the lusts of your heart and of your eyes, then know that God will bring you into judgment for all these things. [For the spirit of God does not distinguish between young and old when he identifies wickedness and establishes punishments.]

10 Therefore take away sadness of your heart, but also keep away the evil from your flesh [in other words remove evil from your deeds]. For childhood and youth are vanity.

Ecclesiastes 12

1 So remember your creator during the days of your youth, before the evil days come and before the arrival of the years in which you will say: I have no more pleasure in those things.

2 Before the sun is darkened [when you die], with the light, and the moon, and the stars. Before the clouds return to their place after the rain.

3 Before that time when the keepers of the house tremble, and the strong men bow their thoughts, and those who grind stop because they are diminished, when those who look through the windows are darkened.

4 When the doors are shut on the street, and the sound of the millstone is low, when one gets up at the voice of the bird, when all the daughters of singing are weakened.

5 When they are afraid of the most high, because there are terrors in the way, when the grasshoppers struggle to move despite the fact that the almond tree has blossomed, and sexual desire is diminished. For man goes to his eternal home, and there are people crying through the streets.

6 Before the silver cord is loosed, or the golden bowl is broken, or the bucket is broken at the fountain, or the wheel is broken at the cistern.

7 Before the dust returns to the earth as it was, and the breath of life returns to God who had given it.

8 Vanity of vanities, says the preacher, all is vanity.

9 Now the preacher taught knowledge to the people, because he was wise. And he searched, and probed, and put in order many proverbs.

10 The preacher sought out pleasant words, and all that which is written in uprightness are the words of truth.

11 The words of wise men are like goads, and they seem to have been given by a single shepherd, while those given by the leaders of assemblies are like nails firmly fixed. [Now the preacher is wise and he is a leader.]

12 And now, my son, learn from these things. There would always be things to say if the aim were to make a large number of books to teach wisdom, and much study is a weariness for the body.

13 And here is the conclusion of all these speeches: Fear God and keep his commandments, for it is the whole duty of every person.

14 For God will bring every work into judgment, with every secret thing, whether it be good or evil.

Isaiah

Isaiah 1

1 The vision of Isaiah the son of Amoz, which he saw concerning Judah and Jerusalem, in the days of Uzziah, and of Jotham, and of Ahaz, and of Hezekiah, kings of Judah.

2 Hear, O heavens, and give ear, O earth, for Yahweh has spoken. I have nourished and brought up children, but they have rebelled against me.

3 The ox knows his owner, and the donkey his master's stall. But Israel does not know me, my people does not understand.

4 Woe to the sinful nation. For they have become a people laden with iniquity, the seed of the wicked, the spiritual children of dishonesty, since they have forsaken Yahweh. They have despised the holy one of Israel, and they have turned backward.

5 What new punishment will I inflict on you, when you multiply your rebellions. The whole head is sick, and the whole heart feel faint.

6 From the sole of the foot to the head, nothing is in good condition. For there are only wounds, and swellings, and raw sores. They have neither been wrapped, nor bound up, nor alleviated with oil.

7 Your land is desolate, your cities are burned with fire, strangers devour your land in your presence. They damage and destroy, like barbarians.

8 But the daughter of Zion will remain like a booth in a vineyard, like a lodge in a garden of cucumbers, like a city left untouched.

9 If Yahweh had not left us a small remnant, then we would have become like Sodom, and we would have become like Gomorrah.

10 Hear the word of Yahweh, you the rulers of Sodom. Give ear to the law of our God, you the people of Gomorrah. [Now the Lord speaks to the people of the kingdom of Judah who behave as the inhabitants of Sodom and Gomorrah did.]

11 What have I to do with the multitude of your sacrifices, says Yahweh. I have had enough of the burnt-offerings of rams, and of the fat of well-fed beasts. I have no pleasure in the blood of bullocks, and of lambs, and of goats.

12 Why do you come before me to defile my courtyards by insincerely performing the deeds that should have testified of your contrition.

13 Do not bring me your useless offerings anymore. I am disgusted by your incense, and your new moons, and your sabbaths, and your calling of assemblies. I cannot stand to see crime associated with your ceremonies.

14 My soul hates your new moons and your appointed feasts. They have become an object of trouble for me, I am weary of enduring them.

15 Therefore I turn my eyes away from you, when you stretch out your hands. I refuse to listen to you, when you multiply your prayers. For your hands are covered with blood.

16 Wash yourselves, make yourselves clean. Remove the evil of your doings from before my eyes, cease to do evil.

17 Learn to do good. Seek justice, relieve the oppressed, defend the fatherless, plead for the widow.

18 Give me your heart now and let us reason together, says Yahweh. Although your sins may be like scarlet, they will become as white as snow. Although they may be red like crimson, they will become like wool.

19 If you are willing and obedient, then you will eat the good things of this land [which I have given to your fathers].

20 But if you refuse and rebel, then you will be devoured by the sword. For the mouth of Yahweh has spoken it.

21 For lo, the faithful city has become a whore. The city was full of justice, and righteousness dwelt in it, but now it is inhabited by murderers.

22 Your silver has become dross, your wine has been mixed with water.

23 Your leaders are rebellious and companions of thieves. They all love bribes, and run after rewards. They do not perform justice for the fatherless, and they do not want to listen to the cause of the widow.

24 Now therefore, thus says the Lord Yahweh, the God of armies, the mighty one of Israel: Aha. I will repay my adversaries, and I will take revenge on my enemies.

25 I will stretch out my hand against you, and I will remove all kinds of dross among you in order to purify you.

26 I will restore your judges as they were at the beginning, and your counselors as they were at the beginning. Afterward you will be called the city of righteousness, the faithful city.

27 Zion will be redeemed by justice, and her converts will be saved by righteousness.

28 And destruction will come on both the transgressors and the rebels. For those who forsake Yahweh will perish.

29 For they will be ashamed of the oaks which you have desired, and you will blush because of the gardens that you have chosen in order to replace me.

30 For you will be like an oak whose leaves wither, and like a garden that has no water.

31 He who now thinks that he is strong will be like tow, and his work like a spark. They will both burn together, and there will be no one to quench them.

Isaiah 2

1 A prophecy of Isaiah the son of Amoz concerning Judah and Jerusalem.

2 It will happen in the last days that the mountain of the house of Yahweh will be established on the top of the mountains, and will be exalted above the hills, and all nations will flow to it.

3 And many peoples will go and say: Come, and let us go up to the mountain of Yahweh, to the house of the God of Jacob. And he will teach us his ways, and we will walk in his paths.

4 For the law will go forth out of Zion, the word of Yahweh will go forth from Jerusalem [and will spread throughout the whole world]. He will judge between the nations, and he will decide concerning many peoples. They will turn their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning hooks. A nation will no longer lift up the sword against another nation, and they will no longer learn to do war.

5 O house of Jacob, come and let us walk in the light of Yahweh.

6 For you have forsaken your people the house of Jacob, because they are filled with the customs from the east, and are sorcerers like the Philistines, and because they associate themselves with anyone who does evil.

7 The land is full of silver and gold [which carry the curse of the evil deeds by which they were obtained], and they possess such treasures in great quantity. Their land is full of horses, and its chariots are without number.

8 Their land is full of idols. For they worship the work of their hands, the things that their fingers have made.

9 Therefore the small will be bowed down, and the great will be brought low. You will not forgive them.

10 Enter into the rock, and hide yourself in the dust, because of the fear of Yahweh and because of the splendor of his majesty.

11 The haughty eye will be brought low, and the proud man will be humbled, and Yahweh alone will be exalted in that day.

12 For there is a day of Yahweh the God of armies for every one who is proud and haughty, and for every one who exalts himself. Such a person will be brought low.

13 And for all the cedars of Lebanon that are high and exalted, and for all the oaks of Bashan.

14 And for all the high mountains, and for all the hills that are exalted.

15 And for every high tower, and for every fortified wall.

16 And for every ship of Tarshish, and for every thing that pleases the sight [and thus causes desire in the heart of man].

17 The proud man will be humbled, and the haughty man will be brought low, and Yahweh alone will be exalted in that day.

18 All the idols will be utterly abolished.

19 And they will go into the holes of the rocks, and into the caves of the earth, because of the fear of Yahweh and because of the splendor of his majesty, when he arises to shake the earth mightily.

20 In that day, men will cast away to the rats and to the bats their idols of silver and their idols of gold which they had made to worship them.

21 And they will go into the holes of the rocks, and into the clefts of the ragged rocks, because of the fear of Yahweh and because of the splendor of his majesty, when he arises to shake the earth mightily.

22 Cease to put your trust in man, in whose nostrils there is only a breath. Indeed, what value does he have.

Isaiah 3

1 For lo, the Lord Yahweh the God of armies will take away from Jerusalem and from Judah every support and every source of strength, every source of bread and every source of water.

2 The strong man and the man of war, the judge and the prophet, the prudent and the elder.

3 The captain of fifty, and the honorable man, and the counselor, and the expert craftsman, and the eloquent orator.

4 And I will give them young men to be their leaders, and children will rule over them.

5 The people will oppressed, every one by another, and every one by his neighbor. The child will behave himself proudly against the old man, and the vile against the honorable.

6 And a man will seize his brother in his father's house, and will say: You have a garment. Now therefore, be our leader and take these ruins in your hand.

7 In that day he will answer: I cannot be a helper. For there is neither bread nor clothing in my house. Do not make me ruler of the people.

8 Jerusalem is tottering, and Judah is falling, because their words and their deeds are against Yahweh. They have provoked the eyes of his majesty.

9 The look of their countenance testifies against them. They declare their sin like Sodom, they did not hide it. Woe to their souls, for it is against themselves that they have done evil.

10 Say to the righteous that they will prosper, for they will eat the fruit of their works.

11 Woe to the wicked. For he will be in misfortune, since he will be rewarded according to the work of his own hands.

12 The oppressors of my people are children, and women rule over them. O my people, those who lead you have caused you to err. For the way of your paths is destined to be destroyed.

13 Yahweh stands to plead, he stands to judge the people.

14 Yahweh enters into judgment with the elders of his people, and with the princes [leaders] of his people. And he says: You have devoured the vineyard, and the spoil that you have taken from the poor is in your houses.

15 The Lord Yahweh the God of armies says: What right have you to crush my people to pieces, and to grind the faces of the poor.

16 And Yahweh says: Because the daughters of Zion are haughty, and walk with stretched out necks and with impudent eyes, walking with affectedly small steps and seeking to make sounds with their feet.

17 Therefore the Lord will cause the heads of the daughters of Zion to become bald, and Yahweh will expose their private parts.

18 In that day the Lord will take away the ornaments of their feet, and their waist chain, and their necklaces.

19 And their earrings, and their bracelets, and their veils.

20 And their tiaras, and the ornaments of their legs, and their sashes, and their perfume boxes, and their amulets.

21 And their rings, and their nose rings.

23 And their mirrors, and their fine linen, and their turbans, and the light coats.

24 And there will be a stench instead of perfume, and a rope instead of a girdle, and baldness instead of curly hair, and a sackcloth instead of a robe, and burning instead of beauty.

25 Your men will fall by the sword, and your warriors in the battle.

26 And her gates will mourn and lament, and she will be desolate and will sit on the ground.

Isaiah 4

1 And seven women will take hold of one man in that day by saying: We will eat our own bread, and we will wear our own garments. Only take away our shame by allowing us be called by your name.

2 In that day the branch of Yahweh will be beautiful and glorious, and the fruit of the land will be excellent and pleasant for those of Israel who will have endured.

3 And the remnant of Zion, and the remnant of Jerusalem, they will be called holy. And every one in Jerusalem will be written among the living.

4 And the Lord will wash away the filth of the daughters of Zion, and he will cleanse Jerusalem from the blood that is in its midst. He will do it by the spirit of justice which burns like fire.

5 And Yahweh will set over all Mount Zion and over its assemblies a smoking cloud by day and a flaming fire by night [that is to say, the similarity in purpose to what led the people into the wilderness in the days of Moses]. For all that is glorious will be covered.

6 There will be a shelter for a shade from the heat of the day, and for a place of refuge, and for a covert from storm and from rain.

Isaiah 5

1 I will sing to my beloved a song of my love for his vineyard. My beloved had a vineyard, on a very fruitful hill.

2 And he dug the ground, and gathered out its stones, and planted the best vine there. And he built a tower in its middle, and he made a winepress there. Then he hoped that it would bring forth good grapes, but it brought forth wild grapes.

3 Now therefore, O inhabitants of Jerusalem and men of Judah, I pray you to judge between me and my vineyard.

4 What is a thing that I could have done more for my vineyard and that I have not done. Why has it bring forth wild grapes when I hoped that it would bring forth good grapes.

5 Now I will tell you what I will do to my vineyard. I will take away its hedge, and it will be grazed. I will break down its fence, and it will be trampled down.

6 I will reduce it to ruin. It will not be pruned or tilled, and briers and thorns will grow up in it. And I will command the clouds, and they will not make rain fall on it.

7 The vineyard of Yahweh the Go of armies is the house of Israel, and the men of Judah are his beloved plant. He hoped for justice, but behold, there is blood. He hoped for righteousness, but behold, there are cries of distress.

8 Woe to those who add house to house, and join field to field, until there is no place for anyone else, in order to dwell alone in the midst of the land.

9 This is what Yahweh the God of armies has revealed to me: These many houses will surely be desolate, these great and beautiful houses will be empty.

10 And ten acres of vineyard will yield only a bath, and a homer of seed will yield only an ephah.

11 Woe to those who rise up early in the morning in order to follow drunkenness, and who stay awake at night in order to be warmed by wine.

12 While listening to the harp, and the lute, and the tambourine, and the flute, and the wine of their drink. For they do not consider the work of Yahweh, and they do not look at the operation of his hands.

13 Therefore my people will be taken captive, because they have no knowledge. Their nobles will die of hunger, and their multitude will be dried up by thirst.

14 Therefore Sheol [the place of the dead] will open its mouth, and widen its jaws beyond measure. And there will descend their glory, and their multitude, and their tumults, and those who rejoice among them.

15 The small will be brought down, and the great will be humbled, and the eyes of the haughty will be humbled.

16 For Yahweh the God of armies will be exalted by justice. The holy one will be sanctified by righteousness.

17 And the lambs will feed wherever they want as in their own pasture, and wanderers will eat from the abandoned fields of the rich.

18 Woe to those who draw iniquity with cords of wickedness, and sin as with chariot strings.

19 For they say: Let him speed. Let him hasten his work so that we may see it. Let the decree of the holy one of Israel come and be done, so that we may know it.

20 Woe to those who speak good of evil, and evil of good. Those who consider that the darkness is a light, and that the ways of the light are dark. Those for whom bitterness is sweet, and sweetness is bitter.

21 Woe to those who are wise in their own eyes, and who are prudent in their own sight [that is to say according to their own criteria].

22 Woe to those who are valiant to drink wine, and valiant to mix strong drinks [in order to get drunk].

23 Those who justify the wicked for a reward, and take away the justice which is due to the righteous.

24 Therefore as the flame of fire devours the stubble, and as the flame consumes the dry grass, so their root will be like rottenness and their blossom will fade away like dust. For they have rejected the law of Yahweh the God of armies, and have despised the word of the holy one of Israel.

25 Therefore the anger of Yahweh is kindled against his people, and he has stretched out his hand against them, and has smitten them. The mountains have trembled, and their dead bodies were as dung in the midst of the streets. And despite all that, his anger was not turned away and his hand was stretched out again.

26 And he will lift up an ensign for the nations who are far away, and will hiss to call them from the ends of the earth. And behold, they will hasten and come swiftly.

27 None of them will be weary or stumble. None of them will slumber or sleep. The girdle of their waist will not be loosed, nor the latchet of their shoes be broken.

28 Their arrows will be sharp, and all their bows will be ready to shoot. The hooves of their horses will be like flints, and their chariot wheels like a whirlwind.

29 Their roars will be like that of lions, they will roar like young adult lions. They will roar, and seize the prey, and carry it away, and no one will come to help.

30 In that day they will roar against my people like the mighty waves of a rough sea. And if one looks at the land, behold there is darkness and sorrow. And the light will be darkened by the clouds in their sky.

Isaiah 6

1 In the year of the death of king Uzziah, I saw the Lord sitting on a throne which was high and wonderful, and whose lower parts was filling the temple.

2 And seraphim [who are a kind of heavenly beings among angels] were standing above it. Each of them had six wings and were using it in the following way: two of his wings were covering his face, and two others were covering his feet, and two others were used for flying.

3 And one speaks to another by saying: Holy, holy, holy, thus is Yahweh the God of armies. The whole earth is full of his glory.

4 And the doorposts vibrated at the sound of the voice of the one who had spoken, and the house was filled with smoke.

5 Then I said: Woe is me, I will be cut off. For I am a man of polluted lips, and I dwell in the midst of a people of polluted lips, and my eyes have seen the King Yahweh the God of armies.

6 Then one of the seraphim flew to me, and he had in his hand a burning coal which he had taken with tongs from the altar.

7 And he touched my mouth with the burning coal, and said: Lo, this has touched your lips. Now therefore, your iniquity is taken away and your sin is purged.

8 And I heard the voice of the Lord which was saying, 'Whom will I send, and who will go for us'. And I said, 'Here I am, send me'.

9 And he answered: Go and say to this people, You will hear, but you will not understand. And you will see, but you will not perceive.

10 Make the heart of this people fat, and make their ears heavy, and shut their eyes. Lest they see with their eyes, and hear with their ears, and understand with their heart, and convert, and be healed.

11 Then I said, 'O Lord, how long'. And he answered: Until the cities become desolate and without inhabitants. Until there is no man in the houses, and the land becomes utterly desolate.

12 Until Yahweh drives them far away, and the land becomes a great wilderness.

13 And if there remain a tenth part of them, then they will also be destroyed. But as a terebinth tree and as an oak, whose trunk remain when they are cut down, in other words they retain their life in their roots, so a holy seed will arise from this people.

Isaiah 7

1 And in the days of Ahaz the son of Jotham, the son of Uzziah, king of Judah, it happens that Rezin the king of Syria and Pekah king of Israel the son of Remaliah came up against Jerusalem to war against it, but he could not overcome it.

2 And it was told the house of David by saying: The Syrians have joined themselves with Ephraim [to fight against us]. And the heart of Ahaz was moved, and also the hearts of the men of his people, as the trees of the forest are moved by the wind.

3 Then Yahweh said to Isaiah: Go now, you and Shear-jashub your son, to meet Ahaz at the end of the conduit of the upper pool, on the road to the fuller's field.

4 And you will say to him: Take heed, but do not be afraid. Do not let your heart be troubled by these two stubs of smoking firebrands, by the fierce anger of Rezin and of Syria, and of the son of Remaliah.

5 Indeed they have plotted evil against you, Syria and Ephraim and the son of Remaliah. And they have said the following thing.

6 Let us go up against Judah, and besiege the city, and make a breach to enter it, and make the son of Tabeel king over it.

7 But thus says the Lord Yahweh: Their plans will not be a success, their desire will not be fulfilled.

8 For Damascus is the head of Syria, and Rezin is the head of Damascus. And within sixty five years, Ephraim will be no more a people.

9 And Samaria is the head of Ephraim, and the son of Remaliah is the head of Samaria. If you do not believe what I am saying to you, then surely you will not survive.

10 And Yahweh spoke again to Ahaz with the following words [by the hand of Isaiah].

11 Ask Yahweh your God for a sign that you would like to see happen and that will allow you to have confidence in the words that have been told to you. Ask for it to happen in the place of your choice, either in the low places or in the high places.

12 But Ahaz answered: I will not ask, for I will not test Yahweh.

13 Then Isaiah said: Hear now, O house of David. Is it because it seems a small thing in your eyes to fatigue the patience of men, that you also want to fatigue that of my God.

14 Therefore Yahweh himself will give you a sign. For behold, a virgin will conceive and bear a son, and she will call his name Immanuel.

15 He will eat butter and honey, until he knows to refuse evil and to choose good.

16 But before the child knows to refuse evil and choose good, the land whose two kings you fear will be forsaken.

17 Nevertheless Yahweh will bring on you, and on your people, and on your father's house, such days as there have not been since the day when Ephraim separated from Judah. The king of Assyria will come to fight against you.

18 In that day, Yahweh will hiss for the fly that is in the uttermost part of the rivers of Egypt, and for the bee that is in the land of Assyria. '

19 And they will come, and all of them will settle in the desolate valleys, and in the clefts of the rocks, and on all thorny places, and on all bushy places.

20 In that day, Yahweh will use those who are beyond the great river Euphrates, namely the king of Assyria, in order to punish Judah. And they will be like a razor that is hired to shave the head of Judah, and the hair of the feet, and to remove the beard.

21 In that day, a man will keep alive a young cow and two sheep.

22 And he will eat butter from the abundance of milk that they will give. For butter and honey will be the food of all those who will remain in the land.

23 In that day, there will only be briers and thorns in the places where there are now a thousand grapevines worth a thousand shekels of silver.

24 And people will enter there with arrows and with bows [for the purpose of hunting wild animals], because the whole land will be briers and thorns.

25 And all the mountains that were usually cultivated with the mattock will no longer be visited, for fear of briers and thorns. The oxen will be sent there to graze, and the sheep will wander there.

Isaiah 8

1 And Yahweh said to me: Take a large tablet and write on it with a man's pen the following word, Mahershalalhashbaz [which means, Hasten to the spoil, hasten to the prey].

2 Then I took with me faithful witnesses to see how I wrote the word. They were Uriah the priest and Zechariah the son of Jeberekiah.

3 Then I went to the prophetess, and she conceived and bore a son. Then Yahweh said to me: Call his name Mahershalalhashbaz.

4 For before the child can say 'My father, my mother', the riches of Damascus and the spoil of Samaria will be carried away before the king of Assyria.

5 And Yahweh spoke to me again with the following words.

6 Since this people has despised the waters of Shiloah that flow softly, and has rejoiced in Rezin and in the son of Remaliah.

7 Now therefore, behold Yahweh will bring up against them the mighty and great waters of the river Euphrates, namely the king of Assyria and all his power. For he will be like waters that are lifted up above all its channels and overflow all its banks.

8 And it will come into Judah, and it will overflow and pass through, and it will reach the neck. And the spreading of its wings will fill the breadth of your land, O Immanuel.

9 Join together, O you peoples, and you will be broken in pieces. Give ear, you all who live far away. Prepare yourselves for battle, and you will be broken in pieces. Prepare yourselves for battle, and you will be broken in pieces.

10 Make plans, and they will be brought to nought. Give orders, and they will not stand. For Immanuel [that is to say, for God is with us].

11 For Yahweh has spoken to me in the following way, when his hand seized me to teach me not to walk in the way of this people.

12 Do not call a conspiracy all that this people calls a conspiracy. Do not be afraid of them, and do not fear what they fear.

13 For it is Yahweh the God of armies whom you must sanctify. He alone must be the cause of your fear and of your terror.

14 And he will be a sanctuary, but also a stumbling block. A rock of scandal for the two houses of Israel, a net and a snare for the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

15 Many among them will stumble on it. They will fall and be broken. They will be ambushed, and will be snared.

16 Wrap this testimony, seal this revelation among my disciples. [Let my disciples keep it in their hearts.]

17 And now I wait for Yahweh, he who hides his face to the house of Jacob. I will look for him.

18 And behold, I and the [spiritual] children whom Yahweh has given me are for signs and for wonders in Israel, from Yahweh the God of armies who dwells in mount Zion.

19 If they say to you, 'Consult those who communicate with the dead, and the soothsayers who whisper and sigh [namely all those who do not only practice the commandments of Yahweh]. Then you will answer them: Should not a people consult their God. Should they seek the advice of the dead to know how to behave among the living.

20 Each faithful person must say, 'I trust only the law and the testimony'. For the one who does not speak in this way has no light in him.

21 In those days, they will wander to and fro while being afflicted and hungry. And when the famine will increase, they will fret, and will curse their king and their God.

22 For whether they look upward or on the land, behold there will only be trouble and darkness, vexation and anguish. And they will be driven to darkness.

Isaiah 9

1 But darkness will not reign forever on the earth where there is now an anxiety [caused by misunderstanding about the purpose of life and the extent of the flexibility of Yahweh’s commandments]. The ancient times have given little importance to the land of Zebulun and the land of Naphtali [while the land of Judah was distinguished by being the place where the house of Yahweh is established]. But the times to come will cover with glory the region near the sea, beyond the Jordan, Galilee of the Gentiles.

2 The people who walked in darkness will see a great light. The light will shine on those who dwell in the land of the shadow of death.

3 You enlarge the nation and increase their joy. They rejoice before you like one rejoices in harvest time, like men rejoice when they divide a spoil.

4 For the yoke of his burden, and the staff of his shoulder, and the rod of his oppressor, you have broken them as in the day of Midian [when you freed your people from the oppression of the Midianites].

5 For [in the last days] every shoe that is destined to be worn in a battle [that opposes one nation to another], and every garment destined to be rolled in such blood, will be given to the flames to be devoured by the fire.

6 For a child is born to us, a son is given to us, and the responsibility of guiding the people will be on his shoulders. And his name will be called Wonderful, Counsellor, The mighty God, The everlasting Father, The prince of peace.

7 Increase the extent of the empire, and give an endless peace to the throne of David and to his kingdom. To establish it, and to sustain it by righteousness and justice, from henceforth and forever. The zeal of Yahweh the God of armies will perform this.

8 The Lord send a word into Jacob, and it will fall on Israel.

9 And all the people will know, Ephraim and the inhabitants of Samaria who say the following thing in pride and with a haughty heart.

10 The bricks have fallen, but we will rebuild with hewn stones. Sycamore trees have been cut down, but we will use cedars in their place.

11 Therefore Yahweh will set on high the adversaries of Rezin, and he will join his enemies together.

12 And Israel will have the Syrians on the east, and the Philistines on the west. And they will devour Israel with an open mouth. Despite all this, his anger will not be appeased, and his hand will be stretched out again.

13 For the people does not want to return to the one who smites him, they do no seek Yahweh the God of armies.

14 Therefore Yahweh will cut off the head and tail of Israel. He will take away the palm branch and reed in one day [that is to say, the strong and the weak of the people].

15 The elder and the leaders are the head, and the prophets who teach lies are the tail.

16 For those who lead this people cause them to err, and therefore those who are led by them are devoured.

17 Therefore the Lord will not rejoice in their young men, nor have pity on their fatherless and widows. For every one is a hypocrite and a wicked, and every mouth speaks foolishly. Despite all this, his anger will not be appeased, and his hand will be stretched out again.

18 For wickedness consumes like fire, it devours the briers and the thorns. It will be kindled in the thick of the forest, from which will rise pillars of smoke.

19 The land will be destroyed by the wrath of Yahweh the God of armies, and the people will be like the fuel of the fire. No man will spare his brother [or his neighbor].

20 Those on the right hand will snatch, and will be hungry. Those on the left hand will eat, and will not be satisfied. Every one will eat the flesh of his own arm.

21 Manasseh devours Ephraim, and Ephraim devours Manasseh, and together they come against Judah. Despite all this, his anger will not be appeased, and his hand will be stretched out again.

Isaiah 10

1 Woe to those who decree unrighteous decrees, or who write sorrowful things [in their commands].

2 To deny justice to the powerless, and to take away the right of the poor of my people. To make of the widows their prey, and of the fatherless their spoil.

3 What will you do in the day of retribution and of destruction that will come on you from afar. To whom will you flee for help. And where will you leave your riches [which are your glory].

4 Some will bow down among the captives, and others will fall among the slain. Despite all this, his anger [of Yahweh] will not be appeased, and his hand will be stretched out again.

5 O Assyrian, the rod of my wrath. For the staff in their hand will be the implement of my fury.

6 I will send him against an ungodly nation. I will give him my orders against a people who have provoked me to anger, to plunder and to take the spoil, and to trample them like the mire of the streets.

7 But he does not think so, and it is not the preoccupation of his heart [for he does not intend to just punish persons who have behaved in an unacceptable way toward other persons]. For he thinks only to destroy, and to cut off nations in many places.

8 For the king of Assyria says: Are not my officers like the kings of other nations.

9 Is not Calno like Carchemish. Is not Hamath like Arpad. Is not Samaria like Damascus.

10 And now my hand has reached the kingdoms of the idols, where there were more graven images than in Jerusalem and in Samaria. [That is to say, their gods were more numerous than the gods of the kingdom of Israel and the gods of the kingdom of Judah.]

11 Why then should I not be able to do to Jerusalem and to its idols what I have done to Samaria and to its idols.

12 Therefore when I the Lord has used him to performed everything that I intends to do on mount Zion and in Jerusalem, then I will punish the king of Assyria for the fruit of his proud heart and for the arrogance of his disdainful looks.

13 For he says: It is by the strength of my hand [without the spirit] that I have done it, and by my wisdom since I am prudent. I have removed the borders of the peoples, and plundered their treasures. Like a valiant man, I made their inhabitants my slaves.

14 I have laid my hand on the riches of the peoples, like on a nest. And I have gathered all the earth, as one gathers abandoned eggs. No one has moved the wings, nor opened the beak, nor uttered a cry [that is to say, no resistance has caught my attention].

15 And I Yahweh I say: Should the ax boast to the one who uses it. Or should the saw exalt itself towards the one who wields it. It is as if a rod could decide by itself to punish anyone, or as if a stick could pretend to be more than a piece of wood.

16 Therefore the Lord Yahweh the God of armies will send leanness among the fat of the king of Assyria. And the glory of the king of Assyria will be consumed as with a burning fire.

17 The light of Israel will be like a fire, and the holy one of Israel will be like a flame. And it will consume and devour the thorns and the briers of the king of Assyria in one day.

18 And then it will consume the glory of his forest and of his fruitful fields, both soul and flesh. And Assyria will be like a standard-bearer who faints.

19 And the remnant of the trees of his forest will be few, and a child will count them.

20 In that day, the remnant of Israel and the survivors of the house of Jacob will no longer lean on the people who has smitten them. And they will confidently lean on Yahweh who is the holy one of Israel.

21 The remnant will return to the mighty God. Yes, the remnant of Jacob.

22 Although your people are like the sand of the sea, O Israel, only a remnant of them will return. For destruction is decreed, and it will overflow with justice.

23 For the Lord Yahweh the God of armies will perform throughout all the land the destruction that he has determined.

24 Therefore thus says the Lord Yahweh the God of armies: O my people who dwell in Zion, do not be afraid of the Assyrian. He will indeed smite you with the rod and lift up his staff against you, as the Egyptians had done.

25 But it will be for a short time, and the punishment will cease. And then my anger will turn against the Assyrian to destroy him.

26 And Yahweh the God of armies will stir up a scourge for him, as in the massacre of Midian at the rock of Oreb. Yahweh will punish the Assyrian as he did to his enemies when he lifted up his staff over the sea and brought his people out of Egypt.

27 In that day the burden of the Assyrian will be taken off your shoulder, and his yoke from your neck, and the yoke will be destroyed because of the anointing.

28 The Assyrian will come to Aiath, and will pass through Migron, and will lay his baggage at Michmash.

29 They will cross the river at the fords, and they will encamp at Geba. Ramah will be afraid, and Gibeah of Saul will flee.

30 Raise your voice, O daughter of Gallim. Take heed, Laishah. Woe to you, Anathoth.

32 In that day the Assyrian will stop at Nob, and will lift up his hand against the mountain of the daughter of Zion, the hill of Jerusalem.

33 And behold, the Lord Yahweh the God of armies will cut off the branches with violence. The great will be cut down, and the arrogant humbled.

34 Yahweh will cut down the thickets of the forest with an ax of iron, and thus the Assyrian who will be like Lebanon will fall by a mighty hit.

Isaiah 11

1 Afterward a branch will come out of the trunk of Jesse, that is to say, a sprout will grow out of his roots.

2 And the spirit of Yahweh will stay on him. More precisely the spirit of wisdom and understanding, the spirit of counsel and strength, the spirit of knowledge of the fear of Yahweh.

3 Therefore he will be constantly overwhelmed by the fear of Yahweh. So he will not judge according to appearances, nor answer according to rumors.

4 For he will judge the poor with righteousness, and will decide with equity for the powerless the earth. He will smite the earth with his word as with a rod, and he will kill the wicked with the breath of his lips.

5 Righteousness and faithfulness will be the girdle of his waist.

6 The wolf will dwell with the lamb, and the leopard will lie down with the young goat. The calf will walk alongside the young lion and and fat beasts, and a little child will lead them.

7 The cow and the bear will graze together, and their young ones will lie down together. And the lion will eat straw like the ox.

8 The baby of a woman who still sucks the breast will play on the hole of the asp, and the weaned child will hold vipers in his hand.

9 They will not hurt or destroy on all my holy mountain. For the earth will be filled with the knowledge of Yahweh, like the bottom of the sea is entirely covered with water.

10 In that day the root of Jesse will stand for an ensign of the peoples. And the nations will seek him, and his rest will be glorious.

11 In that day the Lord will have stretched out his hand a second time, to possess the remnant of his people who are scattered in Assyria, and in Egypt, and in Pathros, and in Ethiopia, and in Elam, and in Shinar, and in Hamath, and in the islands of the sea.

12 He will have set up an ensign for the nations, and he will have assembled the outcasts of Israel, and will have gathered together the dispersed of Judah, from the four corners of the earth.

13 The jealousy of Ephraim will have departed, and his enemies in Judah will have been cut off. Ephraim was no longer jealous of Judah, and Judah was no longer vexed by Ephraim.

Isaiah 12

1 You will say in that day: I will praise you, O Yahweh. For you were angry with me, but your anger has turned away and you have comforted me.

2 And behold, God is my salvation. I will trust, and I will not fear. For the Yah Yahweh is my strength and my song. He has become my salvation.

3 Therefore you will joyfully draw water out of the wells of salvation.

4 And you will say in that day: Praise Yahweh, call on his name. Declare his works among the peoples, make mention of them in order to exalt his name.

5 Sing to Yahweh, for he has done wonderful things. Let them be known throughout all the earth.

6 Shout for joy and be glad before that day, O inhabitant of Zion. For he is great in your midst, the holy one of Israel.

Isaiah 15

1 The prophecy concerning Moab. The same night when it is ravaged, Ar of Moab is destroyed. The same night when it is ravaged, Kir of Moab is destroyed.

2 He has gone up to the temple and to Dibon, the places of worship, in order to weep. Moab laments for Nebo and for Medeba. All their heads are shaved, and every beard is cut off.

3 They are covered with sackcloth in their streets. Everyone groans and weeps abundantly on their housetops and in their broad places.

4 Heshbon and Elaleh cry out, and we hear their voice as far as Jahaz. Even Moab's warriors lament, they are frightened in the soul.

5 My heart laments for Moab, whose fugitives flee to Zoar, an heifer of three years old. For they are weeping while going up to Luhith, they cry out in despair on the path of Horonaim.

6 For the waters of Nimrim are dried. Therefore the grass has withered, the herbs fails, the greenery has disappeared.

7 Therefore, they will carry beyond the brook of willows what they have gathered and what they have stored up.

8 For the cries surround the borders of Moab. His lamentations sound to Eglaim, his lamentations sound to Beer-elim.

9 For the waters of Dimon are full of blood. For I will bring more on Dimon, a lion against those of Moab who have escape and against the remnant of the land.

Isaiah 16

1 Send lambs to the ruler of the land, send them from Selah through the wilderness to the mountain of the daughter of Zion.

2 Like a fledgling that have fallen from their nest, thus will be the daughters of Moab be at the fords of the Arnon.

3 And they will say: Give counsel, execute justice. Cover us with your shadow at noonday as with the night. Hide those who are persecuted, do not betray the fugitive.

4 Allow those who have been expelled from Moab to dwell with you. Be a refuge for them from the destroyer.

5 For oppression will cease, devastation will end, and the one who tramples the land will disappear. And a throne will be established in mercy, and he who will sit on it will be an honest judge from the tent of David. He will seek justice and will be zealous for righteousness.

6 We have heard of the pride of the proud Moab, how they are arrogant and conceited. But his boasting is empty talk.

7 Therefore Moab will wail for Moab, every one will wail. You will mourn for the foundations of Kir-hareseth, which will be smitten.

8 For the fields of Heshbon languish, and the vine of Sibmah. The masters of the nations have broken down its choice branches, which reached even to Jazer, and which wandered into the wilderness. Its shoots had spread abroad, they had passed over the sea.

9 Therefore I will weep for the vine of Sibmah, as for Jazer. I will water you with my tears, O Heshbon, and Elealeh. For a shout of war has come on your summer fruits and on your harvest.

10 Gladness is taken away, and joy has cease from the fruitful field. There is no more singing in the vineyards, no more rejoicing. The grape harvester no longer treads wine in the wine presses, I have caused the shouting of joy to cease.

11 Therefore my heart will sound like a harp for Moab, and all my inner parts for Kir-hares.

12 Moab will be weary on their high places, and will enter their sanctuary to pray, but they will not prevail.

13 This is the word that Yahweh has spoken long ago concerning Moab.

14 And now Yahweh has spoken by saying: Within three years, like the years of a hireling, the glory of Moab will be brought into contempt. And despite all its great multitude that now exists, the remnant will be very small and weak.

Isaiah 20

1 In the year that Tartan came and besieged Ashdod, and captured it, when Sargon the king of Assyria sent him to do it.

2 At that time Yahweh spoke to Isaiah the son of Amoz by saying: Go now and untie the sackcloth from around your waist, and take your shoes off your feet. And Isaiah did so, and he was walking naked and barefoot.

3 Then Yahweh said: My servant Isaiah has walked naked and barefoot for three years, for a sign and wonder concerning Egypt and concerning Ethiopia.

4 For the king of Assyria will carry away captives from Egypt, and captives from Ethiopia, both young and old. They will be naked and barefoot, their buttocks will be uncovered in order to shame Egypt.

5 And there will be fear and confusion for those who trust in Ethiopia and hope in the glory of Egypt.

6 And the inhabitants of this coast will say in that day: This is what our hope has become, those to whom we hoped to flee to be saved from the hand of the king of Assyria. And now, how will we be saved.

Isaiah 21

1 The prophecy about the wilderness of the sea. As whirlwinds from the south advances, so it comes from the wilderness, from a terrible land.

2 A grievous vision has been revealed to me. The treacherous man acts treacherously, the devastator devastates. Go up, O Elam. Besiege, O Media. I will put an end to all their sighing.

3 Therefore my waist is filled with anguish, I the prophet Isaiah. Pangs have taken hold of me, like the pains of a woman who gives birth. I was bowed down when I heard it, and I was afraid when I saw it.

4 My heart is troubled, terror has taken hold of me. The night of my pleasure has become a night of terror.

5 Prepare the table, watch in the watchtower. They eat, they drink. Arise, you the princes [leaders], and anoint the shield.

6 For Yahweh has spoken thus to me. Go and set a watchman, and let him report what he sees.

7 Whether he sees a troop, or horsemen in pairs, or a troop of donkeys, or a troop of camels, he must listen and pay attention.

8 Then he cried out like a lion: O Lord, I stand continuously on the tower in the daytime, I stay at my post every night.

9 And behold, a troop of men have come on their horses, horsemen in pairs. And one has spoken and said: Babylon has fallen, it has fallen, and all the graven images of its gods have been broken to the ground.

10 O my people, you are my threshing and the grain of my floor. What I have heard from Yahweh the God of armies, the God of Israel, I have declared it to you.

11 The prophecy about Dumah. One cry out to me from Seir and says: Watchman, how long will the night last. Watchman, how long will the night last.

12 And the watchman answers: The morning comes, and then another night will come. If you have another question then come back later and ask.

13 The prophecy about Arabia. You will spend the night in the forest of Arabia, you caravans of the Dedanites.

14 Bring water to the thirsty, you the inhabitants of the land of Tema. Bring bread to the fugitives.

15 For they flee from the swords, from the drawn sword, and from the bent bow, and from the grievousness of war.

16 For Yahweh has spoken thus to me: Within a year, according to the years of a hireling, all the glory of Kedar will perish.

17 And the residue of the number of the archers, the mighty men of the sons of Kedar, will be few. For Yahweh the God of Israel has spoken it.

Isaiah 22

1 The prophecy about the valley of vision. What has caused all your people to go up to the housetops.

2 You was a noisy city full of tumult, O joyous city. And now people have been killed, and they have not perished by the sword or in battle.

3 All your leaders have fled together from the bow, but they have been taken captive. All those of your people who had fled far away have been captured.

4 Therefore I say: Turn away your eyes from me, for I will weep bitterly. Do not insist on comforting me concerning the destruction of the daughter of my people [namely the city of Jerusalem].

5 For it is a day of trouble and of confusion in the valley of visions, from the Lord Yahweh the God of armies. Some trample on others, the walls have been broken down, and the cry of distress has gone to the mountain.

6 And Elam has sent the quivers of arrows, with chariots of warriors and horsemen, and Kir has uncovered its shields.

7 Your beautiful valleys are filled with chariots, and the horsemen set themselves in array at your gates.

8 The last fortifications of Judah are broken, and on this day you examine the armor of the house of the forest.

9 You consider the many breaches made in the city of David, and you gather together the waters of the lower pool.

10 You count the houses of Jerusalem, and you destroy some of them to fortify the wall.

11 And you make a reservoir between the two walls, for the waters of the old pool. But you do not look to him who has caused these things to happen, you do not see the one who has prepared them long ago.

12 In that day the Lord Yahweh the God of armies calls you to weep and to mourn, and to shave your heads, and to wear sackcloths.

13 And behold, there is joy and gladness. They kill oxen and sheep, and they eat flesh and drink wine. And they say: Let us eat and drink, for tomorrow we will die.

14 Therefore Yahweh the God of armies has revealed to me the following thing: This iniquity will not be forgiven them, until they die. The Lord Yahweh the God of armies has spoken it.

15 Thus says the Lord Yahweh the God of armies: Go to this treasurer, to Shebna who is steward of the house [of the king].

16 And you will say to him: What have you to do here, and who do you have here, so that you are hewing a sepulcher for yourself here. You hew out a sepulcher for yourself in the high places, and you dig your dwelling in the rock.

17 And behold, Yahweh will hurl you violently and he will wrap you.

18 And he will surely roll you like a ball to send you into a large country. And there you will die, and there the chariots of your glory will be the shame of your lord's house.

19 I will drive you from your office. Yahweh will uproot you from your place.

20 And in that day I will call my servant Eliakim the son of Hilkiah.

21 And I will clothe him with your apparel, and I will gird him with your belt [that is to say, I will give him your office]. I will give him your job, and he will be a father to the inhabitants of Jerusalem and to the house of Judah.

22 And I will lay the key of the house of David on his shoulder. No one will shut when he opens, and no one will open when he shuts.

23 And I will fasten him like a nail in a secure place, and he will be a seat of glory for his father's house.

24 And they will hang on him all the glory of his father's house, both the great and the small of their offsprings. He will be like a store containing various precious objects, from vases and cups to musical instruments.

25 In that day, says Yahweh the God of armies, the nail that is now fasten in the secure place will be removed. It will be cut and it will fall, and the burden that is on it will be destroyed. For Yahweh has spoken it.

Isaiah 28

1 Woe to the crown of pride of the drunkards of Ephraim, and to the faded flower that is the beauty of its adornment and that is on the heads of the people of the fertile valley of those who get drunk.

2 Behold a strong and mighty man comes from the Lord. Like a storm of hail, a destroying whirlwind, like a tempest rushing with torrents of waters, he will cast that crown down to the ground with his hand.

3 The crown of pride of the drunkards of Ephraim will be trampled underfoot.

4 And the faded flower that is the beauty of its adornment and that is on the heads of the people of the fertile valley, will be like a fig that is early seen before the harvest, and that is immediately taken in the hand and eaten.

5 In that day Yahweh the God of armies will become a crown of glory and a magnificent ornament for his people who are left.

6 And a spirit of justice for whoever sits to judge, and the strength for those who turn back the enemy at the gates.

7 For they also walk unsteadily because of wine, and are overcome by strong drink. The priests and the prophets stagger because of strong drink. They are swallowed up by wine, and are out of the way because of strong drink. They stagger while prophesying, and they stagger while they judge.

8 All the tables are full of vomit and filth. There is no clean place.

9 To whom do they want to teach wisdom. To whom do they want to make the message understood [by ordering these instructions that are on their tables]. Is it to children who have just been weaned and have just been taken away from the breast.

10 For it is precept on precept, precept on precept, line on line, line on line, a little here, a little there.

11 Well then. It is by men of stammering lips and of another languages that Yahweh will speak to this people.

12 For Yahweh had said to them: Here is the rest, give rest to him who is weary. Here is the resting place.

13 But they did not want to listen. And the word of Yahweh is understood by them as being precept on precept, precept on precept, line on line, line on line, a little here, a little there. And thus they will go and fall backward, and be broken. They will be ambushed and taken.

14 Now hear the word of Yahweh, you the mockers who rule over this people who is in Jerusalem.

15 For you say: We have made a covenant with death, and we are in agreement with hell. When the overflowing scourge passes through, it will spare us [and we will have our portion in this world according to the agreement we made with death]. For we have taken deceit as our refuge, we have hidden ourselves under falseness.

16 Therefore thus says the Lord Yahweh: Behold I lay in Zion for a foundation a stone, a tried stone, a precious cornerstone stone, a sure foundation. Whoever trusts in his message will not make haste to flee.

17 I will make righteousness an obsession and justice the norm. And the hail will sweep away the refuge of deceit, and the waters will overflow the hidden places inside hearts.

18 Your covenant with death will be destroyed [in future times], and your agreement with hell will not stand. When the overflowing scourge passes through, you will be trampled underfoot by it.

19 When it passes through, it will take you. For it will pass through every morning, day after day, night after night, and its noise alone will terrify you.

20 The bed will seem too short to stretch out on, and the covering too narrow to wrap oneself in it.

21 For Yahweh will rise up as in mount Perazim, and he will be angry as in the valley of Gibeon. He will thus do his work, his strange work. He will achieve his plan, his strange plan.

22 Now therefore do not mock, lest the ropes that are around you to bind you be tightened. For destruction is determined on the whole earth, I have heard it from the Lord Yahweh the God of armies.

23 Incline your ears, and hear my voice. Pay attention, and listen to my word.

24 Does he who plows to sow plow continuously. Does he open and break the clods of his ground continuously.

25 When he has prepared the surface of his ground, he scatters the dill seeds and sows the cumin seeds. And he plants the wheat in rows, and the barley in its special place, and the spelt seeds on the edges of his field.

26 For his God has taught him how to do it, he has given him instructions.

27 The dill should not be threshed with a threshing instrument, and a cart wheel should not go over the cumin. But the dill is beaten out with a staff, and the cumin with a rod.

28 They thresh the wheat, but do not thresh it continuously. The cart wheel and horses push it through, but do not crush it.

29 This also comes from Yahweh the God of armies. Wonderful is his counsel, and great is his wisdom.

Isaiah 29

1 Ho Ariel, Ariel, the city where David made his home [that is to say, Jerusalem]. For some time they will continue to make their feasts year after year.

2 Then I will distress Ariel, and there will be lamentations and wailings, but it will always be my Ariel.

3 I will surround you on every side. I will surround you with armed troops, and I will raise up fortresses against you.

4 You will be brought low, and you will speak out of the ground. Your speech will come out of the dust, your voice will come from the ground like that of a ghost. It is from the dust that you will whisper your words.

5 The multitude of your enemies will be like fine dust. This multitude of warriors will be like the dry grass that is devoured by fire. It will happen suddenly, in an instant.

6 You will be visited by Yahweh the God of armies with thunder, and earthquake, and great noise, and whirlwind, and tempest, and the flame of a devouring fire.

7 And the multitude of all the nations that will have come to fight against Ariel [at that time], all those who will have come to surround it, and to attack it and its fortress, will be like a dream or a vision of the night.

8 It will be like a hungry man who dreams that he is eating, and then he awakes and his soul is empty. Or like a thirsty man who dreams that he is drinking, and then he awakes and behold, he is tired and his soul is thirsty. The multitude of nations that will have come against mount Zion [at that time] will be thus.

9 Be amazed and marveled. Open your eyes but remain blind. They are drunk, but not because of wine. They stagger, but not because of strong drink.

10 For Yahweh has poured out on you a sleepy spirit. He has closed your eyes, O prophets. He has veiled your heads, O seers. [For your understanding is incomplete.]

11 Therefore all revelation is for you like the words of a book that is sealed. And they give the book to a man who can read, and they say, 'Read this, we pray you'. But he answers, 'I cannot read it, because it is sealed'.

12 Or like the words of a book that is given to a man who cannot read. And they say to him, 'Read this, we pray you'. But he answers, 'I have not learned to read'.

13 And Yahweh says: When this people comes near to me, they honor me only with their mouth and with their lips. For their heart is far from me, and the fear that is caused in them by the desire not to offend me persuades them only to perform the traditions of men.

14 Therefore behold, I will do another wonderful work for this people, a marvelous work and a miracle. And the wisdom of their wise men will perish, and the understanding of their prudent men will be hidden.

15 Woe to those who try to hide certain things from Yahweh. They perform their works in darkness [that is to say secretly according to their point of view], and they say: Who sees us. Who knows what we have in our hearts.

16 Your perversity is pathetic, you invert our roles. Should the potter be seen in the same way as the clay that he is handling. Should the work imagined by an artist say of its maker, 'He has not made me'. Or should a thing formed say of him who fashioned it: 'He has no understanding'.

17 Yet a little while, and Lebanon will be turned into a fruitful field, and the fruitful field will be considered a forest.

18 In that day the deaf will hear the words of the book, and the eyes of the blind will see out of dimness and out of darkness.

19 The humble will increase their joy in Yahweh, and the poor among men will rejoice in the holy one of Israel.

20 For the cruel man will be no more, and the scorner will be smitten without delay by God.

21 And all those who hasten to do iniquity will be cut off. Those who use their words or behavior to incite others to sin, or who set traps to bring down the one who judges honestly in the gate, or who use deceit to alter the rights of the innocent.

22 Therefore thus says Yahweh to the house of Jacob, he who redeemed Abraham: [The true spiritual children of] Jacob will no longer be bewildered. The face of Jacob will no longer turn pale in that day.

23 For when his children see the work of my hands among them [or when they understand its meaning after having heard about it], then they will sanctify my name. They will sanctify the holy one of Jacob, they will fear the God of Israel.

24 Those [among the true spiritual children of Jacob] who err in spirit will get understanding, those who murmur will learn the doctrine.

Isaiah 30

1 And Yahweh says: Woe to the rebellious children, those who take resolutions without seeking to obey my will that has been taught to them. They make alliances without seeking to please my spirit, they continue to add new sins to other sins.

2 They plan to go to Egypt in order to take refuge under the protection of Pharaoh, without asking for advice from my mouth. The trust that they have in me is outweighed by the trust that they have in the power of the shadow of Egypt.

3 Therefore the protection given by Pharaoh will bring shame on you. Your trust in the power of the shadow of Egypt will be the source of your confusion.

4 For their leaders are already in Zoan, and their messengers have reached Hanes.

5 They will all be ashamed because of a people who will not be useful to them. A people who cannot rescue them or help them, and who will only bring them shame and embarrassment.

6 It is the sentence that I have pronounced against these persons who behave like beasts. These persons go through a land of trouble and anguish, where are the lionesses and lions, and vipers, and poisonous flying serpents. And these persons carry their riches on the backs of donkeys, and their treasures on the humps of camels, in order to give it to a people who will not be useful to them.

7 For the help that they may receive from the Egyptians will not be of any use to them. It will not be able to satisfy their hope. This is why I call this deed 'a noise that leads to nothing' [namely a useless noise].

8 Go now, and write it before them on a tablet, and write it in a book. It will be remember in future times, forever and ever.

9 For they are a rebellious people, they are lying children. They are children who do not want to listen to the law of Yahweh [their father who was the guide of their ancestors].

10 They say to the teachers of the law, Do not enlighten us. And they say to the prophets: Do not declare to us the true prophecies, tell us flatteries, prophesy lies.

11 Turn aside from the way, depart from the path, take away from us the holy one of Israel.

12 Therefore thus says the holy one of Israel: Because you despise this word, and trust in violence and in detours, and enjoy the way of falseness.

13 Therefore this iniquity will be for you as a crack on a wall that is thus under the threat of collapse, and that will break suddenly in an instant.

14 It will be broken like a potter's vessel is broken to pieces. There will not be found among its potsherds a piece that can be used to take a hot coal from the hearth, or to take water from the cistern.

15 For thus had said the Lord Yahweh, the holy one of Israel: It is in tranquility and rest that you will be saved. It is in calm and confidence in me that you will be strengthened. But you have not wanted to listen.

16 But you said: No, for we will flee on horses and we will ride those who are the fastest. Therefore you will flee, and your persecutors will be swifter.

17 A thousand among you will flee at the threat of one enemy, and most of you will flee at the threat of five enemies, until you remain like a beacon at the top of a mountain and like a banner on a hill.

18 However Yahweh desires to be gracious to you, and he will rise up to show you mercy. For Yahweh is a righteous God. Blessed are all those who hope in him.

19 For a people will dwell in Zion at Jerusalem, you will not weep continuously. Yahweh will have mercy on you at the voice of your cry [and in the view of your true repentance]. He will answer you when he hears you.

20 The Lord will give you bread in anxiety, and water in distress. Those who instruct you will not hide anymore, but your eyes will see your teachers [for you will understand who they really are].

21 And when you turn to the right hand or when you turn to the left hand, your ears will hear behind you the voice that will say: Here is the way, walk in it.

Isaiah 36

1 In the fourteenth year of king Hezekiah, Sennacherib king of Assyria came up against all the fortified cities of Judah and took them.

2 And the king of Assyria sent Rabshakeh with a great army from Lachish to king Hezekiah at Jerusalem. And Rabshakeh came and stood near the aqueduct of the upper pool which is on the way to the fuller's field.

3 Then came forth to him Eliakim the son of Hilkiah and steward of the king's household, and Shebna the scribe, and Joah the son of Asaph and recorder.

4 And Rabshakeh said to them: Go and tell Hezekiah, Thus says the great king, the king of Assyria. What is this confidence on which you rely.

5 You are saying now, 'I have counsel and strength for the war'. But you are deceiving yourself. In whom have you put your trust so that you have rebelled against me.

6 Lo now, you may trust in the staff of Egypt. But it is a broken reed, and if anyone leans on it then it will pierce his hand and enter it. Thus is Pharaoh king of Egypt for all those who trust in him.

7 Perhaps you will say to me, 'We trust in Yahweh our God'. But is it not he whose high places and whose altars Hezekiah has destroyed. And Hezekiah has said to Judah and Jerusalem, 'You will worship only at that altar [which is in Jerusalem]'. [Now Rabshakeh did not know all the details of the Jewish law and he thought that Hezekiah has offended his God by acting in this way.]

8 Now therefore make an agreement with my lord the king of Assyria. And then I will give you two thousand horses, if you are able to set riders on them.

9 But even after this you will not be able to defeat the smallest captain among the servants of my lord. So how can you think that the chariots and horsemen of Egypt will be able to save you.

10 Is it without the will of Yahweh that I have come up now against this place to destroy it. Know that Yahweh said to me: Go up against this land and destroy it. [Now he was deceived in the same way that Yahweh had sent an angel to deceive the prophets of king Ahab the son of Omri, as it had been revealed by the prophet Micaiah.]

11 Then Eliakim, and Shebna, and Joah, they said [they agreed to say] to Rabshakeh: Talk to your servants in the Syrian language because we understand it. And do not speak with us in the language of the Jews, lest the people who are on the wall hear it.

12 But Rabshakeh answered: Has my master sent me with these words only to you and to your master. Has he not sent me to the men who are sitting on the wall to eat their excrement and to drink their urine with you.

13 Then Rabshakeh stood and cried out with a loud voice in the Jewish language, and said: Hear the words of the great king, the king of Assyria.

14 Thus speaks the king: Let not Hezekiah deceive you, because he will not be able to save you.

15 And let not Hezekiah make you trust in Yahweh by saying: Yahweh will surely save us, and this city will not be given into the hand of the king of Assyria.

16 Do not listen to Hezekiah. For thus speaks the king of Assyria: Make peace with me, and come out to me. And then each of you will eat of his own vine and of his own fig tree, and everyone will drink the water of his own well.

17 Until I come to bring you in another land that will be like your own land, in a land of wheat and wine, a land of bread and vineyards.

18 Let not Hezekiah deceive you by saying, 'Yahweh will save us'. Has any of the gods of the nations saved his land out of the hand of the king of Assyria.

19 Where are the gods of Hamath, and of Arpad. Where are the gods of Sepharvaim. Has any god saved Samaria out of my hand.

20 Who is the one who saved his country out of my hand among all the gods of these lands, so that you may think that Yahweh will save Jerusalem out of my hand.

21 But they kept silent and did not answer him a word. For the king had commanded them by saying: You will not answer him.

22 Then Eliakim the son of Hilkiah and steward of the king's household, and Shebna the secretary, and Joah the son of Asaph and recorder, they came to Hezekiah with their clothes torn, and reported to him the words of Rabshakeh.

Isaiah 37

1 And when king Hezekiah heard it, he tore his clothes and covered himself with a sackcloth, and went into the temple of Yahweh.

2 And Hezekiah sent Eliakim who was the steward of the king's household, and Shebna the secretary, and the elders of the priests. He sent them clothed with sackcloth to Isaiah the prophet the son of Amoz.

3 And they said to him, Thus says Hezekiah: This day is a day of trouble, and of rebuke, and of blasphemy. For children are close to leave the womb, but there is no strength for childbirth.

4 Perhaps Yahweh your God will hear the words of Rabshakeh whom the king of Assyria his master has sent to insult the living God, and perhaps Yahweh your God will rebuke the words that he has heard. Therefore lift up your prayer for those of us who are still alive.

5 So the servants of king Hezekiah went to Isaiah.

6 And Isaiah said to them, This is what you will say to your master: Thus speaks Yahweh, Do not be afraid of the words that you have heard and by which the servants of the king of Assyria have blasphemed me.

7 Behold I will send a blast on him [the king of Assyria], and he will hear a news and will return to his own land. And I will cause him to fall by the sword in his own land.

8 And when Rabshakeh heard that the king of Assyria had departed from Lachish, he went and found the king of Assyria warring against Libnah.

9 Then the king of Assyria heard say of Tirhakah the king of Ethiopia, 'Behold he has come out to fight against you'. And when the king of Assyria heard it, he sent messengers to Hezekiah again by telling them the following words.

10 You will speak to Hezekiah the king of Judah and say: Let not your God in whom you trust deceive you by saying, 'Jerusalem will not be delivered into the hands of the king of Assyria'.

11 Behold you have heard what the kings of Assyria have done to all the other lands, and how they have destroyed them. How then can you think that you will be saved out of my hand.

12 Have the gods of the nations saved them out of the hand of my fathers. For we have destroyed Gozan, and Haran, and Rezeph, and the children of Eden who were in Telassar.

13 Where is the king of Hamath, and the king of Arpad, and the king of the city of Sepharvaim, and the kings of Hena and Ivvah.

14 And Hezekiah received the letter from the hand of the messengers, and did read it. Then Hezekiah went to the temple of Yahweh, and Hezekiah laid it before Yahweh.

15 And Hezekiah prayed before Yahweh with the following words.

16 O Yahweh the God of armies, the God of Israel who dwells between the cherubim [above the ark]. You alone are the God who rules all the kingdoms of the earth. It is you who made the heaven and the earth.

17 Open your ear and listen, O Yahweh. Open your eyes and look, and hear all the words of Sennacherib who has sent to insult the living God.

18 Yahweh, I know that the kings of Assyria have destroyed all those countries and ravaged their lands.

19 And these kings have thrown the gods of the nations into the fire. But those gods were false gods made of wood and stone, the work of human hands. That is why it was achievable to destroy them.

20 Now therefore, O Yahweh our God, save us out of the hand of Sennacherib. And then all the kingdoms of the earth will know that you alone are Yahweh.

21 Then Isaiah the son of Amoz sent to Hezekiah by saying, Thus says Yahweh the God of Israel: Because you have prayed to me concerning Sennacherib the king of Assyria.

22 This is the word that Yahweh has spoken against Sennacherib: The virgin daughter of Zion despises you and she mocks you. The daughter of Jerusalem shrugs her shoulders before you.

23 Whom have you insulted and blasphemed. Against whom have you exalted your voice and lifted up your eyes on high. This is against the holy one of Israel.

24 You have insulted the Lord by your messengers, and you have said: It is by the multitude of my chariots [namely my own strength without the spirit] that I have gone up to the top of the mountains in the innermost parts of Lebanon. And there I have cut down the loftiest cedars and the choicest fir trees. I have gone into its farthest height and into its thickest forests.

25 I have dug and drunk strange waters, and with the sole of my feet I have dried up all the rivers of besieged places.

26 Have you not heard that I have planned these things long ago and that I have formed them in the ancient times. And now I have accomplished them, and you have reduced fortified cities to heaps of ruins.

27 Their inhabitants were powerless, they were terrified and confounded. They were like the grass of the field and the green herb. Like the grass on the roof of a house, or like grain destroyed before it had grown up.

28 But I know when you sit down, and when you go out, and when you come in, and when you are angry with me [namely when you offend my spirit].

29 For you are angry with me, and your arrogance has come up to my ears. Therefore I will put my hook in your nose, and my bridle in your lips, and I will lead you back by the way on which you have come.

30 And this will be a sign to you [you Hezekiah]: in the next year you [your people] will sow as habitually but you will eat of the things that have grown by themselves in your fields during this year in which you have not had the opportunity to work the land. But from the third year onwards you will harvest what you have sown. You will plant vineyards and eat their fruit.

31 And the people who will have survived of the house of Judah will again be like plants that send their roots deep into the ground and produce fruit above the ground.

32 For there will be a remnant in Jerusalem [after this time of affliction caused by the soldiers of the king of Assyria who have besieged the city]. And there will be survivors on the mount Zion [the part of Jerusalem where the city of David is located]. The zeal of Yahweh the God of armies will do this.

33 Therefore Yahweh speaks concerning the king of Assyria and says: He will not come into this city, or shoot an arrow at this city, or come closer with shields to begin a battle, or set up a mountain against the wall to enter the city.

34 But his soldiers will return by the way on which they have come and they will not enter this city, Yahweh has spoken it.

35 For I will defend this city to save it, because of my name and because of my servant David.

36 Then an angel of Yahweh went forth and smote one hundred and eighty five thousand men in the camp of the Assyrians. So when the others arose early in the morning, behold their companions were all dead bodies.

37 Then Sennacherib king of Assyria decamped, and they went and returned, and he stayed at Nineveh.

38 And while he was worshiping in temple of Nisroch his god, Adrammelech and Sharezer his sons killed him with the sword and escaped into the land of Ararat. And Esar-haddon his son reigned in his stead.

Isaiah 38

1 At that time Hezekiah became sick and was nearly dead. And the prophet Isaiah the son of Amoz came to him and said to him, Thus says Yahweh: Put your house in order, because you will not live but you will die.

2 Then Hezekiah turned his face to the wall and prayed to Yahweh with the following words.

3 I beseech you to remember now, O Yahweh, that I have walked before you in truth and with a perfect heart, and that I have done what is good in your sight. And Hezekiah wept wholeheartedly.

4 Then the word of Yahweh came to Isaiah with the following words.

5 Go back and tell Hezekiah, Thus says Yahweh the God of David your father: I have heard your prayer and seen your tears. Behold I will add fifteen years to your days.

6 And I will save you and this city out of the hand of the king of Assyria. For I will defend this city.

7 And the following thing will be a sign of Yahweh for you, so that you may know that Yahweh will perform what he has spoken.

8 Behold I will cause the shadow to go back ten steps on the steps of Ahaz where it is observed [something made by Ahaz still existed in that place at that time]. So the shadow [and not the sun] goes back ten steps.

9 The writing of Hezekiah king of Judah, when he had been sick and had recovered.

10 I said during my illness: I am on the way to the gates of death, I am deprived of the residue of my years.

11 And I said: I will no longer see [the house of] Yahweh, Yahweh in the land of the living. I will no longer see any man among the inhabitants of the world.

12 My home was being taken away from me and carried away like a shepherd's tent. I felt the thread of my life being cut as by a weaver who was cutting me from his loom. From day to night you will have killed me.

13 I counted at every moment the time that separated me from the morning, thinking that my bones would be suddenly broken as by a lion. From day to night you will have killed me.

14 I chattered like a swallow, I moaned like a dove. My eyes were weary to look upward: O Lord, help me because I am in anxiety.

15 And now what will I say. For he has answered me and has fulfilled my desire. I will walk humbly during all the time that I have left to live, after having been humbled thus.

16 O Lord, it is by your goodnesses that we enjoy life. It is through them that I still breathe. You have restored me, you have brought me back to life.

17 And behold my suffering has become a part of my salvation. You have taken pleasure in removing my soul from the pit of corruption, for you have cast all my sins behind you.

18 It is not the place of the dead that praises you, it is not those who are dead who celebrate you. Those who have descended into the pit can no longer hope for mercy.

19 Those who are alive, alive, they are the ones who praise you as I do today. And the fathers will declare your faithfulness to their children.

20 Yahweh has saved me. We will sing with stringed instruments all the days of our life, in the house of Yahweh.

21 Now Isaiah had said: Take a lump of dry figs, and crush it, and put it on the sore of Hezekiah, and he will recover.

22 For Hezekiah had said to Isaiah: What will be the sign that Yahweh will heal me, and that I will go up to the temple of Yahweh. [Now Hezekiah wanted to be reassured that Isaiah was not trying to assuage his feeling so that might die in peace. For it is known that the prophet Elisha had asked the servant of the king of Syria to lie to him that he would recover from his illness while knowing that he was going to die.]

Isaiah 39

1 At that time Merodach-baladan the son of Baladan and king of Babylon sent letters and a gift to Hezekiah. For he had heard how Hezekiah had been sick and had recovered.

2 And Hezekiah was very pleased with their initiative, and showed them all the valuable things that he owned. He showed them the silver, and the gold, and the spices, and the precious oil, and all the house of his armor, and all that was found in his treasures. There was nothing in his house and in all his kingdom that Hezekiah did not show them.

3 Then Isaiah the prophet came to king Hezekiah and said to him, 'What have these men said and from where have they come to you'. And Hezekiah answered, 'They have come from a far country, from Babylon'.

4 Then Isaiah said, 'What have they seen in your house'. And Hezekiah answered: They have seen all that is in my house, and there is nothing among my treasures that I have not shown them.

5 And Isaiah said to Hezekiah: Hear the word of Yahweh the God of armies.

6 Behold the days are coming when all that is in your house, and that which your fathers have laid up in store until this day, will be carried to Babylon. Nothing will be left, Yahweh has spoken it.

7 And of your sons who will proceed from you, namely those whom you will beget, they will be taken away and will be eunuchs in the palace of the king of Babylon.

8 Then Hezekiah said to Isaiah, 'The word of Yahweh that you have spoken is good'. And Hezekiah said: For there will be safety and tranquility during the days that I have yet to live. [That is to say, let each generation take care of its own problems. Now Hezekiah is not perfect as it is the case of any normal human being, because he is not Christ.]

Isaiah 40

1 Comfort, comfort my people, says your God.

2 Speak to the heart of Jerusalem, and cry out to her by saying: your bondage is ended, your iniquity is forgiven, you have already received from the hand of Yahweh a punishment for the double of all your sins.

3 The voice of someone is shouting: Prepare a way in the wilderness [of your hearts] for Yahweh. Make a straight highway in the wilderness for our God.

4 Let every valley be exalted, and let every mountain and hill be made low. Straighten the crooked roads, and smooth the rough places.

5 And the glory of Yahweh will be revealed, and all human beings will see it together. For the mouth of Yahweh has spoken.

6 The voice of someone says, Cry out. And he answers: What will I cry out. All flesh is like grass, and all its beauty is like the flower of the field.

7 The grass withers, and the flower fades, when the breath of Yahweh blows on it. Surely the people is like grass.

8 The grass withers, and the flower fades, but the word of our God stands forever.

9 Go up into a high mountain and proclaim the good news, O daughter of Zion. Lift up your voice with strength and proclaim good news, O daughter of Jerusalem. Lift up your voice and do not be afraid. Say to the cities of Judah: Now you know who your true God is.

10 Behold the Lord Yahweh has come with power, and his arm will rule for him. Behold the remuneration is with him. He will reward each person according to the work of that person.

11 He will feed his flock like a shepherd, he will gather the lambs in his arm and carry them in his bosom. He will lead the nursing ewes.

12 Who has measured the waters in the hollow of his hand, and has measured the heaven with the palm of his hand. Who has gathered the dust of the earth in a measure, and has weighed the mountains and the hills in a scale.

13 Who has instructed the spirit of Yahweh. Who has been his advisor to teach him.

14 With whom has he consulted to receive instruction. Who has taught him the way of justice. Who has taught him wisdom by showing him the way of understanding.

15 Behold all the nations are like a drop in a bucket [in his sight], like some small dust on a scale. Behold the islands are like small dust before him.

16 All the trees of Lebanon are not enough to make a fire capable of impressing him, and all its beasts are not enough to offer a burnt offering capable of impressing him.

17 All the nations are as nothing before him. They are considered by him as less than nothing and as vanity.

18 To whom will you compare God. What is the thing that you will consider to be his likeness.

19 A craftsman melts a material to make an image, and a goldsmith overlays it with gold and welds silver chains to it.

20 He who is too poor to invest so much wealth chooses a tree that does not rot easily. Then he seeks a skilled craftsman to make a carved image that may last a long time without deterioration.

21 But I say: Do you not know. Have you not heard it. Has it not been told you from the beginning. Have you not considered the foundations of the earth. [Why do you want to consider such a thing or such a person as being worthy of deserving your devotion.]

22 He who created all things sits on the circle of the earth, and those who dwell on the earth are like grasshoppers in his sight. He has stretched out the heavens like a curtain, and has spread them out like a tent to dwell in.

23 He reduces princes to nothing. He causes the rulers of the earth to become vanity.

24 It is as if they had not been planted, as if they had not been sown. For their stems have not taken root in the earth. He blows on them and they wither, and a whirlwind sweeps them away like stubble.

25 To whom will you compare me so that I may be his likeness, says the holy one. [What is your expectation regarding the best representation of my person, knowing that I am the one who smites even those who are lifted up among men. In your opinion, what can motivate me to smite this or that person.]

26 Lift up your eyes on high and look. Who has created these things. Who brings out their armies in order. He calls each of them by its name and there is not one that is lacking, because of his great power and his mighty strength.

27 Why do you say the following thing, O Jacob. Why do you cogitate with the following words, O Israel: My way is hidden from Yahweh, the justice due to me is unnoticed by my God.

28 Do you not know. Have you not heard it. Yahweh is the everlasting God and the creator of the ends of the world. He does not grow bored of exercising justice, he does not become tired. His understanding cannot be fathomed.

29 He gives strength to the one who faints [among his beloved]. He increases the endurance of the powerless.

30 Young men may get bored and become weary. Young men may stumble and fall.

31 But those who wait for Yahweh will renew their strength. They will lift up their wings like eagles. They will run and will not be weary, they will walk and will not faint.

Isaiah 41

1 Keep silent and listen to me, O islands. Let the peoples renew their strength in future times, and let them come near to answer. Let us come near and reason together.

2 Who has raised up from the east the one whom righteousness will call to its foot. Who has given the nations to him and has made him ruler over kings. His sword has reduced them to dust, and his bow to scattered stubble.

3 He has pursued them, and walked with success in a path that his feet had never trodden.

4 Who has planned and performed these things. It is the one who has called the generations from the beginning. I Yahweh, I am the first and I am the same with those who are last. [I am the same in all generations.]

5 The islands have seen it, and they were afraid. The ends of the earth have trembled. They approached and came, but despite this they continued to make false gods for themselves.

6 They help one another, and each one says to his brother: Be strong and have courage.

7 The sculptor encourages the founder. And the one who polishes with a hammer encourages the one who smites at the anvil. And this last worker says of the soldering, 'It is good'. And he fastens the new god with nails, so that it may not be moved without a completely voluntary action of a person.

8 As for you, Israel my servant, Jacob whom I have chosen. All of you, the [spiritual] children of Abraham my friend. [For it is prescribed in my law that foreigners can convert in order to do the commandments given to the families of Jacob.]

9 All of you whom I have taken from the ends of the earth, whom I have called from all its corners, to whom I have said: You are my servant, I have chosen you and will not reject you.

10 Do not fear, for I am with you. Do not be discomforted, for I am your God. I will strengthen you and help you. I will sustain you with my righteous right hand.

11 And behold, all those who are angry with you will be bewildered and put to shame. Those who fight against you will be brought to nothing and will perish.

12 You will seek them but will not find them, those who quarrel with you. For they will become like nothing. Those who war against you will become like a thing of nought.

13 For I am the Lord your God, the one who strengthens your right hand and who says to you: Do not be afraid, I will help you.

14 Do not be afraid, you the spiritual children of Jacob who are as fragile as a worm, you the men of Israel. For I will help you, says Yahweh. I am your redeemer, the holy one of Israel.

15 Behold, I will make you a new threshing instrument, sharp and toothed. You will thresh the mountains and grind them into dust, and beat the hills into chaff.

16 You will winnow them, and the wind will carry them away, and the whirlwind will scatter them. And you will rejoice in Yahweh, you will glory in the holy one of Israel.

17 The poor and needy seek water, but there is none, and their tongue is parched with thirst. I Yahweh will answer them. I the God of Israel will not forsake them.

18 I will open rivers on the hills, and fountains in the midst of the valleys. I will turn the wilderness into a pool of water, and the dry land into streams of water.

19 I will plant in the wilderness the cedar, and the acacia, and the myrtle, and the olive tree. I will plant in the wilderness the fir tree, and the elm, and the box tree, all together.

20 And they will see and know, they will consider and understand together that the hand of Yahweh has done this thing. They will understand that the holy one of Israel has created it.

21 As for you who follow other gods. Defend your cause, says Yahweh. Bring forth your strong justifications, says the king of Jacob.

22 Let your gods come forth and declare to us what will happen. Let them show the things of the past that they had foretold, so that we may consider those things and know when they had come true. Or let them tell us what will happen in the future.

23 Declare the things that will happen in the future, so that we may know that you are gods. Declare something, whether good or bad, and carry it out without the intermediary of anyone, so that we may look at it together and fear you.

24 Behold you have no value, and your work is in worthlessness. It is an abomination to take pleasure in you.

25 I raised him up from the north, and he will come from the east, and he will call on my name. He will trample down the mighty like wet clay, like the potter tramples the mud under his feet.

26 Who has declared this thing previously, so that we may know his power. Who has announced it in the past, so that we may say, 'It is true'. No one has declared it, no one has foretold it, and no one has heard a word from your false gods.

27 I was the first to say to [the daughter of] Zion: Behold, behold these things. I will give to Jerusalem a messenger who will bring a good news.

28 I looked, and there was no one among those false gods who could be worthy of being worshipped, there was no counsellor. I asked, and they could not answer a word.

29 Behold, they are all vanity. Their works are worthless, their molten images are wind and confusion.

Isaiah 42

1 Here is my servant whom I support, my chosen one in whom my soul takes pleasure. For I have placed my spirit on him, and therefore he will proclaim justice to the nations.

2 He will not cry out nor lift up his voice, nor cause it to be heard in the street.

3 He will not separate the broken reed, and he will not quench the burning wick. He will proclaim justice in truth.

4 He will not grow tired and he will not be discouraged, until he has established justice on the earth. And the isles will hope in his law.

5 Thus says God Yahweh who created the heavens and stretched them out. He who did spread out the earth and its products. He who gives breath to the people on it, and spirit to those who walk on it.

6 I, Yahweh, have called you for salvation. I will hold your hand, and I will preserve you. You will be my covenant with the people, the light of the nations.

7 In order to open the eyes of the blind, and to bring out the captive from the prisons [in which their minds have been locked]. To enlighten those who sit in darkness and thus free their minds from prison.

8 I am Yahweh, that is my name. I will not give my glory to another, nor my praise to graven images.

9 Behold the former things have been fulfilled, and I have declared new things to you. I have told you of them before they occur.

10 Sing a new song to Yahweh, sing his praise throughout the whole earth. You who sail on the sea, and all that is in the sea. You all the islands and their inhabitants.

11 Let the wilderness and its cities lift up their voices. Let the towns occupied by Kedar lift up their voices. Let those who dwell on the rocks sing. Let them shout from the tops of the mountains.

12 Let them give glory to Yahweh, and declare his praise in the islands.

13 Yahweh will go forth like a mighty man, he will stir up his zeal like a man of war. He will raise his voice and shout, he will show his strength against his enemies.

14 I have held my peace for a long time, I have been quiet and I have refrained myself. And now I will cry out like a woman who is giving birth. I will destroy and devour at once.

15 I will lay waste mountains and hills, and dry up all their vegetation. I will turn rivers into dry land, and dry up pools of water.

16 And I will lead the blind by a way that they do not know, that is to say all those who are willing to do what is right but do not understand the purpose of life. I will guide them on paths that they do not know. I will turn darkness into light before them, and crooked places into plains. I will do these things, for I will not forsake them.

17 And they will turn back, and they will be greatly ashamed for having trusted in graven images and for having said to molten images: You are our gods.

18 Listen, you the deaf. Look, you the blind, in order to see.

19 Who is blind if not my servant, or deaf like my messenger whom I send. Who is blind like he who is at peace with me, and blind like the servant of Yahweh.

20 You have seen many things, but you have not considered them. He has opened the ears, but he has not heard.

21 For the sake of his justice, it pleased Yahweh to magnify the law and exalt it.

22 But they have become a people robbed and plundered, all of them are snared in holes and their minds have become prisons. They have been plundered, and no one has rescued them. They have been plundered, and there is no one to say: Restore.

23 Who among you will consider these things. Who will pay attention and listen for the future.

24 Who has given Jacob for a spoil, and Israel to the robbers. Is it not Yahweh. They have sinned against him. They have not wanted to walk in his ways, and they have not wanted to obey his law.

25 Therefore he has poured out on them the fierceness of his anger and the violence of war. And they have been set on fire on every side, but afterward they have not understood. They have been devoured, but afterward they have not considered.

Isaiah 43

1 And now thus says Yahweh who created you, O Jacob, the one who formed you, O Israel: Do not fear, for I have redeemed you. I have called you by your name, you are mine.

2 I will be with you when you pass through the waters. You will not be overwhelmed when you pass through the rivers. You will not be burned when you walk through the fire, the flame will not scorch you.

3 For I am Yahweh your God, the holy one of Israel, your savior. I gave Egypt for your ransom, I gave Ethiopia and Seba for you.

4 For you are precious in my sight. You have been honorable, and I have loved you. I will give men in your place, and peoples for your soul.

5 Do not fear, for I am with you. I will bring forth your seed from the east, and gather you from the west.

6 I will say to the north, 'Give'. And to the south, 'Do not retain'. Bring my sons from far, and my daughters from the ends of the earth.

7 Free every one who is called by my name. For I have created him for my glory, I have formed him and I have instructed him.

8 Bring out the blind people who have eyes, and the deaf who have ears. [Enlighten them.]

9 Let all the nations be gathered together, and let the peoples be assembled. Who among them has declared these things. Who have made us hear the former predictions. Let them bring their witnesses in order to be justified, so that we may hear and say: It can be true.

10 You are my witnesses, says Yahweh. You are my servant whom I have chosen so that you may know me, and trust me, and understand that I am he. No God was formed before me, and there will be no other after me.

11 I, even I, am Yahweh, and beside me there is no savior.

12 I have declared, and I have rescued, and I have prophesied. This has not been done by a strange god among you. Therefore you are my witnesses that I am God, says Yahweh.

13 I have been God from the beginning, and no one can deliver from my hand. I will act, and who can thwart it.

14 Thus says Yahweh, your redeemer, the holy one of Israel: For your sake I will send the enemy against Babylon, and I will bring down all the fugitives of the Chaldeans on the ships with which they boasted.

15 I am Yahweh, your holy one, the creator of Israel, your king.

16 Thus says Yahweh, the one who made a way in the sea and a path in the mighty waters.

17 He who sent out chariots and horses [of the Egyptians], an army and valiant warriors who were suddenly laid down together so as to never rise again, destroyed and extinguished like a wick.

18 Do not be saddened by the sufferings of the past, do not lament about old things.

19 Behold I will do a new thing, and it is about to occur. Will you not know it. I will make a way in the wilderness, and rivers will flow through the dry land.

20 The beasts of the field will glorify me, the jackals and the ostriches. Because I have given waters in the wilderness, rivers in the dry land to give drink to my people who is my chosen.

21 The people whom I have formed for myself will declare my praise.

22 But you have not called on me, O Jacob. For you have been weary of me, O Israel.

23 You have not brought me of your sheep for burnt offerings, and you have not honored me with your sacrifices [of peace offerings]. I have not been angry in response to the absence of your offerings or in response to the absence of your incense.

24 You have not used your money to buy things and offer them to me, you have not satisfied me with the fat of your sacrifices. But you have tormented me with your sins, you have wearied me with your iniquities.

25 For I, even I, am the one who clears your transgressions. It is for my own sake that I will no longer remember your sins.

26 Remember all that I have done, let us reason together. Speak for yourself in order to be justified.

27 Your first father has sinned, and your teachers have transgressed against me.

28 Therefore I have profaned the rulers of the sanctuary. I will give [the tribes of] Jacob to destruction. Yes, the children according to the flesh of him whom I have called Israel will become a subject of disapproval.

Isaiah 44

1 Now listen, O Jacob my servant, and Israel whom I have chosen.

2 Thus says Yahweh your maker, the one who formed you from the womb and who disciplined you. Fear not, O my servant Jacob, and you the righteous whom I have chosen.

3 For I will pour water on the thirsty ground, and streams on the dry ground. I will pour my spirit on your seed, and my blessing on your offspring.

4 And they will spring up among the grass, like willows near the rivers of waters.

5 One will say in those days, 'I belong to Yahweh'. And another will surname himself with the name of Jacob, and another will write with his hand 'To Yahweh', and will surname himself with the name of Israel.

6 Thus says Yahweh, the king of Israel and his redeemer, Yahweh the God of armies: I am the first and I am the last, and beside me there is no God.

7 Who made predictions like me. Let them declare it and set it in order before me, all that they have foretold since I established the ancient peoples. Let them announce what will happen in the future times.

8 Do not be anxious, and do not be afraid. Have I not declared it to you from the past and publish it. You are my witnesses. Is there any other God besides me. There is no other God, I do not know any.

9 Those who fashion graven images are all vanity. The things in which they take pleasure are worthless, and serve as witnesses against those who worship them. But these people do not see it and do not understand it, therefore they will be in confusion.

10 Who should fashion a god or a molten image intended to be worshiped. This does not provide any real profit.

11 For behold, all those who participate in it will be ashamed. For the craftsmen are simply humans. Let them all be gathered together and stand up. They will fear, and they will be put to shame together.

12 The blacksmith works with coals and makes an ax, and fashions it with a hammer. He forges it with the strength of his arm. And he loses his strength when he becomes hungry, and he becomes weak if he does not drink water.

13 The carpenter stretches out a line, and he draws with a pencil. And he shapes the wood with a knife, and draws a border with a compass. He fashions it in the form of a human, and according to the beauty of a human figure, in order to set it in a house.

14 And there is that other man who hews cedars [to beautify his house]. And he also takes some pine wood and oak wood, which he selects for himself from the trees of the forest. He has planted fir trees, and it is the rain that nourishes them.

15 Man burns of these trees, he uses them to warm himself. He also sets them on fire to bake bread, and he also makes a god out of them to worship it. He uses them to make a graven image, and bows down to it.

16 He burns half of his wood in the fire, and with it he roasts his meat. He prepares his meal and he is satisfied. He also warms himself, and he says: Ah, I am warmed, I see the flame.

17 And he makes a god with the residue of the wood, a graven image, and he falls down before it to worship it. And he prays to it, and says: Save me, for you are my god.

18 They have no understanding, and they do not consider. For God has closed their eyes so that they do not see, and their hearts so that they do not understand.

19 None of them asks the right questions in his heart, he has neither intelligence nor knowledge to say: I have burned half of it in the fire and baked bread on its coals, and there I have roasted flesh and eaten it. Should I use the residue to make an abomination. Should I worship a piece of wood.

20 So this person who lacks wisdom feeds his soul with vanity. His seduced heart has led him astray. And he does not have the ability to reason in himself of his own initiative and to say: Is it not a lie that is in my right hand. [That is to say: Am I not giving importance to things that are worthless.]

21 Remember these things, O Jacob and Israel. For you are my servant. I have disciplined you so that you may be my servant. Do not forget me, O Israel.

22 I will blot out your transgressions, and they will become like a cloud that is moved away. I will blot out your sins, and they will become like a haze that is dissipated. Turn to me, for I have redeemed you.

23 You the heavens, rejoice for what Yahweh has done. Shout, you the lower parts of the earth. Break forth into praises, you the mountains, and the forests and each of their trees. For Yahweh has redeemed Jacob, and he glorifies himself in Israel.

24 Thus says Yahweh your redeemer, the one who has formed you from the womb: I am Yahweh, I have made all things. I alone have stretched out the heavens, and I have spread out the earth by myself.

25 I am the one who destroy the signs of the liars, and make diviners mad. I cause those who are wise in their own eyes to turn backward, and I turn their knowledge into foolishness.

26 I confirm the word of my servant, and I perform what my messengers have spoken. I say of Jerusalem, 'It will be inhabited'. And I say of the cities of Judah: They will be rebuilt, I will raise them up from their ruins.

27 I say to the deep: Be dried up, I will dry up your rivers.

28 I say of Cyrus, 'He is my shepherd, and he will perform all my desires'. He will say of Jerusalem, 'Let it be rebuilt'. And he will say of the temple, 'Let its foundation be laid'.

Isaiah 45

1 Thus says Yahweh to Cyrus his anointed, the one whose right hand I will hold in order to subdue nations before him: I will weaken the waists of kings in order to open the doors before him, and those gates will not be closed again.

2 I will go before you, and I will smooth the rough places. I will break in pieces the gates of brass, and I will cut the bars of iron.

3 I will give you hidden treasures, the riches hidden in secret places, and you will know that I am the God of Israel, I Yahweh who call you by your name.

4 I have called you by your name for the sake of my servant Jacob, and of Israel my chosen. I have spoken to you, before you have known me.

5 I am Yahweh, and there is no other. There is no God beside me.

6 I have girded you before you have known me. I will act thus so that it may be known, from the rising of the sun to the going down of the sun, that there is no God beside me. I am Yahweh, and there is no other.

7 I form the light, and I create darkness. I bring peace, and I create adversity. I Yahweh, I am the one who does all these things.

8 Let the heavens send dew from above, and let the sky pour down righteousness. Let the earth open, and let salvation and justice grow together. I have created it, I Yahweh.

9 Woe to him who contends with his maker, you a vessel among earthen vessels. Should the clay say to the one who fashions it, 'What are you making.' or 'Does your work have no hand.'.

10 Woe to him who says to his father, 'Why have you begotten me.'. Or the one who says to his mother, 'Why did you give birth to me.'.

11 Thus says Yahweh, the holy one of Israel and his maker: Should someone ask me to justify myself about the things that happen. Should anyone give me orders concerning my children who are the work of my hand.

12 I have made the earth, and created man on it. I, even my hands, have stretched out the heavens, and have commanded all their army.

13 I have raised up Cyrus in my righteousness, and I will direct all his ways. He will [order to] rebuild my city, and he will let go my captives without ransom or reward, says Yahweh the God of armies.

14 Thus says Yahweh: The goods of Egypt and the goods of Ethiopia, and of the Sabeans who are tall men, it will come to you and will be yours. And the men of those peoples will follow you, walking in fetters. They will fall down before you, and will make supplications to you by saying: Surely the true God is with you [O Cyrus], and there is no other God beside him on the whole earth.

15 And I say now, I Isaiah the prophet: You are truly a God who hides his true identity, O God of Israel, the savior.

16 All of them will be ashamed and confused. Their portion will be into shame, all those who trust in graven images.

17 But Israel will be saved by Yahweh with an everlasting salvation. You will neither be put to shame nor be confused in the end, and forever.

18 For thus says Yahweh the creator of the heavens, the only God who formed the earth and fashioned it. He has established the earth, he has not created it without purpose. He has formed it to be inhabited. I am Yahweh, and there is no one else.

19 I have not spoken in secret, in a dark place of the earth. I have not said to the seed of Jacob, 'Seek me in vain'. I Yahweh, I speak what is true and I declare what is right.

20 Assemble yourselves and come. Come near together, you who escape from the nations. Those who carry their wooden idols have no understanding, they call on a god who cannot save.

21 Declare it, and bring them forth. Let them take counsel together. Who has foretold these things from ancient times. Who has declared it a long time ago. Is it not I Yahweh. There is no other God beside me. I am the righteous God who saves, there is no one else beside me.

22 Turn to me and be saved, you all the ends of the earth. For I am God, and there is no other.

23 I swear it by myself, the truth comes out of my mouth and my word will not fail: Every knee will bow to me, and every tongue will swear by me.

24 Surely they will say of me: It is only in Yahweh that there is justice and strength. All those who have provoked his anger will come before him and will be ashamed.

25 All the seed of Israel will be justified in Yahweh, and will glory.

Isaiah 46

Isaiah 47

Isaiah 48

1 Hear this, O house of Jacob, you who are called by the name of Israel and have come out of the waters of Judah [that is to say, you simply have genealogical or spiritual connections with the tribe of Judah]. You who swear by the name of Yahweh, and speak of the God of Israel, but without truth and without righteousness.

2 For they are called by the name of the holy city, and they pretend to rely on the God of Israel whose name is Yahweh the God of armies.

3 I had declared the former things long before. They had gone out of my mouth, and I had announced them. And subsequently, I acted suddenly and they happened.

4 For I knew that you are obstinate. Your neck is a tendon of iron, and your forehead is of brass.

5 Therefore I had told you these things long ago. I had declared them to you before they have happened, so that you would not say: My idol has done them. It is my graven image or my molten image who has ordered them.

6 You had heard my predictions, and afterward you have seen that they have been fulfilled. Should you not declare it. And now I am telling you new things, hidden things, things that you did not know.

7 They are happening now, they are not of the past. And you had no knowledge of them before this day, and therefore you cannot say: Behold I knew it.

8 For you had not heard of it, you did not know it. These new things had not been spoken in your ears previously. For I knew that you will act treacherously, and it is from the womb that you have been called a rebel.

9 I have deferred my wrath for the sake of my name. It is becauce of my praise that I have refrained from destroying you.

10 Behold I have refined you, but not like silver. I have probed you in the furnace of affliction.

11 It is for the love of myself that want to act, for the love of myself. For why should my name be defiled. I will not give my glory to another.

12 Listen to me, O Jacob and Israel, you who are called to be my servants. I am he. I am the first, and I am also the last.

13 My hand has laid the foundations of the earth, and my right hand has stretched out the heavens. I call to them, and they stand up together.

14 Assemble yourselves, all of you, and listen. Who among them has declared these things. The one whom Yahweh loves will perform his pleasure on Babylon, and his arm will be against the Chaldeans.

15 I am the one who has spoken it. I will call him, and I will lead him, and his work will prosper.

16 Come near to me and listen to this: I have not spoken in secret since the beginning. I have been there since the time when these things have been done, and now the Lord Yahweh and his spirit have sent me.

17 Thus says Yahweh your redeemer, the holy one of Israel: I am Yahweh your God, the one who instructs you for your good. I will lead you in the way that you should go.

18 Oh, if only you would pay attention to my commandments. Your peace would be like a river, and your prosperity like the waves of the sea.

19 Your seed would be like the sand, and the fruit of your body like the grains of sand. Your name would not be blotted out or destroyed before me.

20 Get out of Babylon, flee from the Chaldeans. Declare the following thing with a joyful voice, proclaim it in order to make it known to the ends of the earth: Yahweh has redeemed his servant Jacob.

21 They were not thirsty when he led them through the wilderness. He caused the waters to flow out of the rock for them, he did split the rock and the waters gushed out.

22 There is no peace for the wicked, says Yahweh.

Isaiah 50

1 Thus says Yahweh: Where is the letter of divorce by which I have rejected your mother [namely the city of Jerusalem]. Or to whom of my creditors have I sold you. Behold you have been sold because of your iniquities, and your mother has been rejected because of your sins.

2 Why was there no one when I came. Why has no one answered when I called. Is My hand too short to redeem. Am I not strong enough to save. I dry up the sea with my rebuke, I turn the rivers into a wilderness. Their fish perish because of thirst, and stink because of the lack of water.

3 I clothe the heavens with blackness, and make sackcloth their covering.

4 The Lord Yahweh has given me the tongue of the learned, so that I may know how to sustain with words the one who is weary. He awakens me every morning, he awakens my ear so that I may listen like the learned.

5 The Lord Yahweh has opened my ear and I have not been rebellious, I have not turned backward.

6 I have given my back to those who were striking me, and my cheeks to those who were plucking out my beard. I have not hidden my face from shame and spitting.

7 For the Lord Yahweh will help me, therefore I will not be confused. Therefore I have set my face like a flint, knowing that I will not be ashamed.

8 He who justifies me is near. Who will contend with me. Let us stand together. Who is my adversary. Let him come near me.

9 Behold the Lord Yahweh will help me. Who will condemn me. Behold they will all fade away like a garment, and the clothes moths will eat them up.

10 Who is the one among you who fears Yahweh. Let him obey the voice of his servant. Who is the one who walks in darkness because he has no light. Let him trust in the name of Yahweh, and thus rely on his God.

11 And behold, concerning all those among you who kindle a fire to make a torch for themselves [because they despise my light], you will be burned by the flames of your fire and by the coals that you have kindled. This thing will be done to you by my hand, and you will lie down in sorrow.

Isaiah 51

1 Listen to me, you who pursue righteousness, you who seek Yahweh. Look to the rock from which you have been hewn, and to the hole of the pit from which you have been dug.

2 Consider Abraham your father, and Sarah who bore you. For I called him alone, and blessed him, and multiplied him. [And among his descendants who carried his legacy, I approved only those who possessed the love of righteousness like him. This is how I separated the twin brothers Esau and Jacob who were the sons of Isaac who was the son of Abraham and Sarah.]

3 Surely Yahweh will have compassion on Zion [which is the place where his servant David has chosen to immobilize the ark of the covenant of his God and the altar of sacrifices]. He will have compassion on all her desolations. He will make her desert like Eden, and her wilderness like the garden of Yahweh. Joy and gladness will be found in her, praise and the voice of melody.

4 Listen to me, O my people. Give ear to me, O my nation. For a law will go forth from me, and I will establish my law for the light of the peoples.

5 My righteousness is near, my salvation has gone forth, and my arms will judge the peoples. The islands will hope in me, and they will trust in my arm.

6 Lift up your eyes to the heavens, and look on the earth beneath. For the heavens will vanish like smoke. The earth will wax old like a garment, and its inhabitants will die in like manner. But my salvation will last forever, and my righteousness will not be abolished.

7 Listen to me, you who know righteousness, the people in whose hearts is my law. Do not fear the reproach of men, and do not be dismayed at their insults.

8 For the moth will eat them like a garment, and the worm will eat them like wool. But my righteousness will last forever, and my salvation will be from generation to generation.

9 Awake, awake. Put on strength, O arm of Yahweh. Awake, as in the days of old, as in the generations of ancient times. Was it not you who struck down Egypt, and pierced the monster.

10 Was it not you who dried up the sea, the waters of the great deep, who made a way in the depths of the sea for the redeemed to pass through.

11 So the redeemed of Yahweh will return, and they will come to Zion with singing. And everlasting joy will be on their heads. Gladness and joy will come near, sorrow and sighing will flee away [when I bring back their captive from Babylon from elsewhere].

12 I, even I, am he who comforts you. Who are you, so that you should be afraid of a mortal man. Why should you be afraid of the son of man who will be made like grass.

13 Why should you forget Yahweh your maker who stretched out the heavens and laid the foundations of the earth, and choose to tremble continually every day at the wrath of the oppressor who seeks to destroy. And where is the fury of the oppressor.

14 The captive [whose minds have been locked out of knowledge] will be delivered. He will not die in the pit, and he will not lack his bread.

15 I am Yahweh your God, the one who divides the sea and makes its waves roar. Yahweh the God of armies is his name.

16 I have put my words in your mouth [O my chosen one], and have covered you in the shadow of my hand, in order to stretch out new heavens and to lay the foundations of a new earth, and to say to Zion: You are my people. [Now the words new heavens and new earth are simply an analogy.]

17 Awake, awake, stand up, O Jerusalem which has drunk from the hand of Yahweh the cup of his wrath. You have drunk and licked the dregs of the cup of astonishment. [This will happen when I destroy you and send the people into captivity.]

18 There is none of all the sons whom she has borne who is able to guide her [in the days of her destruction]. There is none of all the sons whom she has raised who is able to take her by the hand [in the days of her destruction].

19 The two following things have befallen you, who will mourn for you. Desolation and destruction, and the famine and the sword. By whom will I comfort you.

20 Your sons have fainted, and they lie at every street corner like a deer in a net. They are full of the wrath of Yahweh, of the rebukes of your God.

21 Therefore listen to this, you who are miserable and drunken, but not with wine.

22 Thus says your Lord Yahweh, your God who pleads the cause of his people: Behold I have taken from your hand the cup of trembling, the cup of my wrath. You will no longer drink it [as long as you will be my people].

23 I will give it into the hand of those who oppress you [that is to say, those who will be oppressing you when I set you free], those who have said to your soul, 'Bow down, so that we may pass over', and you have made your back like the ground, and have been like a street on which they have gone over.

Isaiah 52

1 Awake, awake O Zion, and put on your strength. Put on your beautiful garments, O Jerusalem the holy city. For from now on neither the uncircumcised nor the unclean will come into you again. [The definitions of these words will change.]

2 Shake off your dust. Highlight the qualities that make you pure and sit down, O Jerusalem. Loose the bands from around your neck, O captive daughter of Zion.

3 For thus says Yahweh: You were sold for nothing, and you will be redeemed without money. [Concerning all the laws of Moses that had been given after the people had asked Aaron the brother of Moses to make a god that they could continuously see before their eyes.]

4 For thus says the Lord Yahweh: My people went down aforetime into Egypt to sojourn there, and later the Assyrian oppressed them without cause [when they came and besieged Judah in the days of king Hezekiah].

5 And now what have I to do here, says Yahweh. I have not received a payment to allow my people to be taken away. And those who rule over them cause them to howl, says Yahweh, and my name is continually blasphemed every day.

6 Therefore my people will know my name [that is to say, my real name]. Therefore they will know in that day that I am the one who used to speak to them. Here I am.

7 How beautiful they are on the mountains, the feet of him who brings good news and publishes peace. The one who brings good news and publishes salvation. The one who says to Zion: your God reigns.

8 But before that, your watchmen will lift up their voices and shout with one voice. For they will see with their own eyes how Yahweh will restore Zion.

9 Shout together and rejoice, you the ruins of Jerusalem. For Yahweh has comforted his people, he has redeemed Jerusalem.

10 Yahweh will uncover his holy arm in the sight of all the nations, and all the ends of the earth will know the salvation of our God [which will be pronounced by the mouth of Cyrus his anointed who does not belong to his people].

11 Depart, depart, get out of there. Do not touch any unclean thing, get out of the midst of her. Purify yourselves, you who carry the vessels of Yahweh.

12 Do not go out in haste, do not go out by running away. For Yahweh will go before you. The God of Israel will gather you together.

13 And behold, my servant will prosper. He will be exalted and extolled, he will be exalted on high.

14 Just like many people were astonished when they saw you, because his face was so marred, and his appearance was so different from that of the sons of men.

15 In this way he will sprinkle his message of true joy on many nations. Kings will shut their mouths at him [that is to say, when they are enlightened by the exact understanding of the content of his message]. For they will learn what they had not heard, and they will see what had not been told to them.

Isaiah 53

1 Who has believed what was announced to us. Who has recognized the arm of Yahweh.

2 He grew up before Yahweh like a tender plant, like a root out of a dry ground. However, he was neither beautiful nor impressive. When we saw him, there was nothing in his appearance that could please us.

3 He was despised and rejected by men, he was a man of sorrows and acquainted with grief. He was despised like one from whom men hide their faces, we had not esteemed him.

4 Surely he has borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows. And we were thinking that he has been punished, smitten and afflicted by God.

5 But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities. The punishment that brings us peace was on him, and it is by his wounds that we are healed.

6 All of us had gone astray like sheep. Each one [of the peoples] had turned to his own way, and Yahweh has laid on him the iniquity of us all.

7 He was oppressed and afflicted, but nevertheless he did not open his mouth. He was like a lamb that is led to the slaughter, like a silent sheep before its shearers. He did not open his mouth.

8 He has been taken away by oppression and injustice. And who among all those of his generation has understood what was happening. For it is because of the transgression of my people that he has been smitten and cut off from the land of the living.

9 He has been with the wicked in his death, and with the rich in his tomb, although he had done no violence and there was no deceit in his mouth.

10 For it pleased Yahweh to crush him with suffering. After you have made of his soul an offering for sin, he will see his seed. He will prolong his days, and the delight of Yahweh will prosper in his hand.

11 He will see the work of his soul, and will be satisfied. My righteous servant will justify many by his knowledge, for he will bear their iniquities.

12 Therefore I will give him a portion with the great. He will divide the spoil with the strong. For he has poured out his soul to death, and was numbered with the transgressors, in order to bear the sin of many and to make intercession for the transgressors.

Isaiah 54

1 Rejoice, O barren one, you who have not borne children. Be comforted and be glad, you who have not known the pains of childbirth. For the children of the woman who is desolate [and who fears

God] will be more numerous than the children of the woman who is living with her husband, says Yahweh.

2 Enlarge the space of your tent, let them spread out the curtains of your dwelling. Do not hold back, lengthen your cords and strengthen your stakes.

3 For you will increase on the right and on the left, and your seed [who are your spiritual children] will possess nations and will cause desolate cities to be inhabited.

4 Do not be afraid, for you will not be put to shame and you will not be confused. You will not be ashamed, for you will forget the shame of your youth and will no longer remember the reproach of your widowhood.

5 For your creator is your husband, and his name is Yahweh the God of armies. Your redeemer is the holy one of Israel, and he will be called the God of the whole world.

6 For Yahweh has called you like a woman forsaken and grieved in her spirit, like a wife of youth who has just been thrown away, says your God.

7 I have forsaken you for a short time, but I will receive you with a great kindness.

8 I have hidden my face from you for a short time, because of a moment of anger. But I will have mercy on you with an everlasting kindness, says Yahweh your redeemer.

9 It will be for me like the waters of Noah. For I had sworn that the waters of Noah will no longer be poured out on the earth, and thus I swear that I will never be angry with you again, nor rebuke you again.

10 For the mountains could be removed, and the hills could disappear, but my lovingkindness will not depart from you. My covenant of peace will fail, says Yahweh who has compassion on you.

11 O you who are afflicted and tossed by the tempest, and are not comforted. Behold I will set your stones in the finest way, and lay your foundations with sapphires. [The stones and foundations of your house that I will build for you, that is to say, your legacy.]

12 And I will fashion your windows with emeralds, and your gates with shining stones, and all your borders with pleasant stones.

13 All your [spiritual] children will be taught by Yahweh, and great will be the peace of your [spiritual] children.

14 You will be established by your righteousness. You will be far from anxiety, for you will not need not be afraid, and from ruin, for it will not come near you.

15 If plots are formed against you, then they will not come from me [that is to say, I the spirit]. Whoever will plan evil against you will fall because of you [since he will become my enemy].

16 Behold I have created the smith who blows the coals in the fire, and who makes a weapon by his work. But I have also created the destroyer who can make such a weapon useless.

17 None of the weapon that can be formed against you [in order to ruin your legacy] will prosper. And you will succeed in having every tongue that will rise against you in judgment condemned. This is the heritage of the servants of Yahweh, and their salvation will come from me, says Yahweh.

Isaiah 55

1 All of you who are thirsty, come to the waters. It does not matter if you do not have money, come to buy and eat. Come, I say, in order to buy wine and milk in exchange for something that is free and that is more precious to me than money.

2 Why do you spend money for what does not really feed you. Why do you work for what does not satisfy you. Now listen to me, and you will really appreciate what you eat, and your soul will take pleasure in the abundance of what will be at your disposal.

3 Incline your ear and come to me. Listen, and your soul will live. I will make an everlasting covenant with you, in accordance with the promise that I have made to David.

4 Behold I have set him as a witness to the peoples, a leader and the ruler of the peoples.

5 Behold you will call nations that you do not know, and nations that do not know you will run to you because of Yahweh your God. I am the holy one of Israel who will exalt you.

6 Seek Yahweh while he may be found, call on him while he is near.

7 Let the wicked forsake his evil way, and the unrighteous man his evil thoughts, and let him return to Yahweh who will have mercy on him. Let him come back to our God who is always ready to forgive. [In accordance with all the commandments that I had given to my servant Moses for my people Israel.]

8 For my thoughts are not like your thoughts, and your ways are not like my ways, says Yahweh.

9 For as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways higher than your ways, and so are my thoughts above your thoughts.

10 And as the rain and the snow come down from the sky, and do not return there without having watered the earth and having caused the plants to sprout and grow, in order to give seed to the sower and bread to the eater.

11 So is my word that goes out of my mouth. It will not return to me without having had an effect, but it will accomplish what I want and it will prosper in the purpose for which I have sent it.

12 You will go out with joy, and be led forth with peace. The mountains and the hills will break forth into joy before you, and all the trees of the field will clap their hands.

13 Instead of the thorn there will grow fir trees, and instead of the brier there will grow myrtle. And this happiness will come to exalt the name of Yahweh, and to serve as a sign whose memory will never fade.

Isaiah 56

1 Thus speaks Yahweh: Keep what is right, and practice justice. For my salvation will not be long in coming, and my justice will manifest itself.

2 Blessed is the man who does this, and the son of the man who remains firm in it. The one who keeps the sabbath so as not to profane it, and who keeps his hand from doing any evil.

3 And let not the one who clings to Yahweh and who is the son of the foreigner say, 'Yahweh will surely separate me from his people'. And let not the eunuch say, 'Behold I am a dry tree'.

4 For thus speaks Yahweh to the eunuchs who keep my sabbaths, and who choose to do only the things that please me, and who persevere in my covenant.

5 Those who act thus will receive in my house and in my walls a place and a name better than that of many of those who are sons and daughters. I will give to each of them an everlasting name that will not be cut off [that is to say, a legacy that will endure forever].

6 And the foreigners who will cling to Yahweh to serve him, to love the name of Yahweh and to be his servants, each of those who will keep the sabbath so as not to profane it, and who will persevere in my covenant.

7 I will bring them to my holy mountain, and I will delight them in my house of prayer. Their burnt offerings and their sacrifices will be accepted on my altar. For my house will be called a house of prayer for all peoples.

8 The Lord Yahweh who gathers the people exiled from the land of Israel says the following thing: I will gather other peoples to him, in addition to his own people who will be gathered.

9 You all the beasts of the fields, come to eat. Yes, you all the beasts of the forest.

10 But now they are all blind, they do not have knowledge. They are like mute dogs, unable to bark. They lie down and sleep, and delight in sleeping.

11 And they are voracious and insatiable dogs. These are shepherds who cannot understand. For they have all turned to their own way, each one to his benefit.

12 And they speak thus: Come, and I will look for wine and we will fill ourselves with strong drinks. We will do as much tomorrow, and much more.

Isaiah 57

1 The righteous perish, and no man considers it in his heart. The good men are taken away, and no one understands that the righteous is taken away from the evil that dominates the world.

2 For the one who has walked uprightly will come into peace. They will enjoy their rest on their beds in heavenly places.

3 As for you, you the [spiritual] children of the sorceress, the seed of the adulterer and of the whore. Come near and listen.

4 Who are you mocking. Against whom do you open widely your mouth and stick out your tongue. Are you not the children of the transgression, a seed of the falseness.

5 For I see that your desire is to defile your soul near the oaks, and under every green tree, and to kill children in the valleys and under the clefts of the rocks.

6 Your portion is among the smooth stones of the streams. There is your lot, yes it is there. It is there that you pour out drink offerings and offer grain offerings. Can I be unconcerned by this behavior.

7 You have prepare your bed on a high mountain, and you go up there to offer sacrifices.

8 You do not look for any memory of me when you pass through the doors and doorposts of your house. For you have uncovered yourself for someone other than me, and you have gone up. You have enlarged your bed, and have made a covenant with them. You have loved their bed where you have seen it.

9 You go to your new kings with oil, after having increased your perfumes. You send your messengers far and wide, you lower yourself to hell.

10 You become weary because of your journey, and nevertheless you do not say, 'I will give up'. You seek all the remaining strength of your hand, therefore you are not discouraged.

11 Who are you afraid of, and who is the one who terrifies you, so that you do not remember me and direct your heart toward me. Is it not because I have been refraining from punishing you for a long time that you are not afraid of me.

12 I will proclaim what your righteousness is, and your works will not profit you.

13 You will cry out, and the multitude of your idols will not save you. The wind will carry them all away, for their dwelling is vanity. But whoever trusts in me will possess the land and inherit my holy mountain.

14 For I say: Make a way, make a way, prepare the way. Remove every stumbling block from the path of my people.

15 For thus says the Most High whose dwelling is eternal and whose name is holy: I dwell in the high places and in holiness. But I am with each of those who have contrite and humble spirits, in order to revive the spirits of the humble persons and to revive the hearts of the contrite persons.

16 I do not want to rebuke you continuously [concerning a same transgression], nor keep an endless anger, when spirits grow weak before me, the souls that I have made.

17 I have become angry and I have smitten him because of his wicked greed. I have hidden my face because of my indignation, and the rebellious man has followed the way of his heart.

18 And I have seen his ways, and I will heal him. I will guide him and I will comfort him, him and those who are sad for him.

19 I will put praise on the lips. Peace, peace to those who are far off and to those who are near, says Yahweh. I will heal them.

20 But the wicked are like a troubled sea that cannot rest and whose waters cast up mire and dirt.

21 There is no peace for the wicked, says my God.

Isaiah 58

1 Cry out aloud, do not hold back. Lift up your voice like a trumpet, and declare their transgressions to my people. Declare their sins to the house of Jacob.

2 They pretend to seek me daily, and to desire to know my ways. They behave like a nation that has acted righteously, and has not forsaken the law of their God. They ask me to judge them fairly, they want their God to be near them.

3 And they say: What good is it for us to fast if you do not look at it. Why must we afflict our souls while you are looking elsewhere.

4 Now therefore listen to me. Behold you indulge your own desires on the day of your fasting, and you behave harshly toward your servants. Behold you argue and quarrel during your fast, and you smite wickedly with your fist. You do not fast as is required on this day, in order to cause your voice to be heard on high.

5 Can I find pleasure in the fasting that you do. Should this not be a length of time during which man humiliates his soul before me by remembering that he is only vanity. You do not strive to separate yourself from your evil thoughts, but you bow your head like a dying plant near a stream, and you lie down on sackcloths and on ashes. Is this what you call a fasting, a day pleasing to Yahweh.

6 Now therefore listen to me, here is how to do a fasting that gives me pleasure. Unfasten the chains of wickedness, do not demand hard work from your servants, let the oppressed go free, look for everyone's happiness.

7 Share your bread with the hungry, and bring the homeless into your house [that is to say, find him a place if you can do it, even if it is in your field, according to what you can know about him because it is not wise to interact without precautions with a person whom you do not know]. If you see someone expressing a need for clothing, then give them what you can. Do not hide from your relatives when they need help.

8 If you act in this way then your light will emerge like the morning, and the healing of your soul will emerge quickly. Your righteousness will go before you, and the glory of Yahweh will be your reward.

9 Then you will call, and Yahweh will answer. You will cry, and he will say: Here I am.

10 If you stop deliberately causing the suffering of others among whom are you servants, if you stop expressing yourself in such a way as to want to grieve the spirits of others, if you stop accusing others when you do not have solid evidence against them. If you allow your soul to have compassion for the hungry, and to seek to refresh the afflicted souls.

11 Then your light will rise from the darkness, and your darkness will shine like the noonday. For Yahweh will guide you continuously. He will satisfy your soul in dry places, and strengthen your bones. You will be like a watered garden, and like a spring whose waters never fail.

12 Your people will rebuild the ancient ruins, and you will raise up the foundations for many generations. You will be called the repairer of the breach, the restorer of the paths to the enviable dwellings.

13 If you hold back your foot during the sabbath, and refrain from doing your pleasure on my holy day, and make the sabbath your delight in order to sanctify it. If you glorify Yahweh in this way, if you honor him by not behaving in the way that pleases you. If you do not seek your own pleasure, and if you continuously refrain from speaking vain words [every day].

14 Then you will delight yourself in Yahweh, and I will cause you to ride on the high places of the earth, and I will feed you with the heritage of Jacob your father. For the mouth of Yahweh has spoken it.

Isaiah 59

1 Behold the hand of Yahweh is not too short to save, nor his ear too hard to hear.

2 But it is your iniquities that separate you from your God. It is your sins that hide his face from you, and prevent him from hearing you.

3 For your hands are defiled with blood, and your fingers with iniquity. Your lips have spoken in falseness, and your tongue has murmured wickedness.

4 No one complains in righteousness, no one pleads with equity. They rely on vain things and speak with deceit, they conceive deceptions and bring forth iniquity.

5 They incubate the eggs of serpents and weave spiders' webs. Whoever eats of their eggs dies. And if one of those eggs is broken, then it comes out a viper.

6 Their webs are not good for clothing, and they will not cover themselves with their own work. Their works are works of iniquity, and acts of violence are in their hands.

7 Their feet run to evil, and they make haste to shed innocent blood. Their thoughts are thoughts of iniquity. Unhappiness and destruction are in their paths.

8 They do not know the way of peace, there is no equity in their ways. They take crooked paths, and whoever walks in such a path will not know peace.

9 Therefore the decree of deliverance is far from us, and salvation does not come near us. We look for light, but lo, it is darkness. We look for brightness, but we walk in darkness.

10 We grope like blind people along a wall, we grope like those who have no eyes. We lurch at noonday as if we were at night, we look like dead men in the midst of our possessions.

11 We all growl like bears, we wail like doves. We look for deliverance, but it is not there. We look for salvation, but it is far from us.

12 For our transgressions are many before you, and our sins testify against us. For our transgressions are with us, and we know our iniquities.

13 We have transgressed and acted treacherously against Yahweh, we have forsaken our God. We have spoken violence and apostasy, we have planned deceptions in our hearts and we have acted in falseness.

14 Therefore deliverance has turned backward, and salvation stands far off. For truth staggers in the street, and uprightness cannot come near.

15 Yes, truth has perished. The one who turns away from evil becomes a prey. Yahweh has seen it, and he is discontented because there is no justice.

16 He sees that there is no one who is honest, and he is amazed because there is no intercessor. Therefore his arm will perform salvation, and his righteousness will uphold him.

17 He puts on righteousness as a breastplate, and the helmet of salvation on his head. He takes vengeance as his garment, and covers himself with jealousy as with a cloak.

18 He will repay each one according to his deeds. There will be fury for his adversaries, and reprimand for his enemies. And he will repay the islands.

19 The name of Yahweh will be feared from the west, and his glory from the rising of the sun. When the enemy comes like a flood, the spirit of Yahweh will chase him away.

20 A redeemer will come to Zion, to those who turn away from transgression in Jacob, says Yahweh.

21 As for me, says Yahweh, this is my covenant with them: My spirit which rests on you, and my words which I have put in your mouth, will not depart from your mouth, nor from the mouth of your seed, nor from the mouth of the seed of your seed, says Yahweh, from henceforth and forever.

Isaiah 60

Isaiah 61

1 The spirit of the Lord Yahweh is on me. For Yahweh has anointed me to announce the good news to the powerless. He has sent me to heal those who have a broken heart, to proclaim liberty to the captives and deliverance to those [of his beloved] who are in chains.

2 To proclaim a year of grace from Yahweh, and the day of revenge of our God. To comfort all those who mourn.

3 To enlighten those who mourn in Zion. To give them a tiara instead of ashes, an oil of joy instead of mourning, a garment of praise instead of the spirit of sadness, so that they may be called trees of justice, the plantation of Yahweh to serve his glory.

4 They will rebuild on old ruins, they will raise up the former desolations. They will repair ravaged cities which has been devastated through many generations.

5 And the strangers will stand and feed your flocks, and the sons of the strangers will be your plowmen and your vinedressers.

6 And you will be called the priests of Yahweh. Men will call you the servants of our God. You will eat the wealth of the nations, and you will be exalted in their glory.

7 You will receive a double portion Instead of your shame. Instead of ignominy, they will rejoice in their portion. For they will have the double in their land [that is to say, wherever they dwell], and their joy will be eternal.

8 For I Yahweh, I love justice. I hate robbery and burnt offerings. I will direct their work in truth, and I will make an everlasting covenant with them.

9 Their kind will be known among the nations, and their [spiritual] children among the peoples. Everyone who will see their works will acknowledge that they are the seed that Yahweh has blessed.

10 I will greatly rejoice in Yahweh, my soul will be joyful in my God. For he has clothed me with the garments of salvation, and covered me with the mantle of deliverance. I feel like a bridegroom wearing a crown, like a bride adorned with magnificent jewels.

11 For as the earth brings forth its sprouts, and as the garden causes the things that are sown in it to grow, thus the Lord Yahweh will germinate righteousness and praise, in the sight of all nations.

Isaiah 65

1 I have manifested myself to those who have asked me nothing. I have let myself be found by those who were not looking for me. I have said to a nation that was not calling on my name: Here I am, here I am.

2 For I had every day stretched out my hands to a rebellious people, who walk in an evil way by following their own thoughts.

3 A people who continually provokes me in the face. They offer sacrifices in gardens and burn incense on bricks.

4 They sit among the graves and spend some nights in secret places. They eat the flesh of the pig, and put unclean food in their vessels.

5 And they say to others: Keep your distance and do not come near us, because we are holy.

6 They are like smoke in my eyes, and their fire burns continually. Behold all your deeds are written before me. I will not keep silent, but I will reward them. I will reward them fully.

7 I will act because of your iniquities and because of the iniquities of your fathers, says Yahweh. For they had burned incense on the mountains, and thus insulted me on the hills. Therefore I will measure to them the reward of their past deeds.

8 Thus says Yahweh: When there is sweet juice in some of the clusters of grapes, one says, 'Do not destroy the whole vineyard, for there is a blessing in it'. I will act thus for the sake of my servants, so as not to destroy them all.

9 I will bring forth a seed out of Jacob, and there will be some people out of Judah who will inherit my mountain. My chosen ones will inherit the land, and my servants will dwell there [after I have ravaged it].

10 Sharon will be a sheepfold, and the valley of Achor will be a resting place for the cattle, for my people who seek me.

11 As for you who have forsaken Yahweh, who have forgotten my holy mountain and have prepared there a table for your false gods, to offer drink offerings to the god of destiny.

12 I will appoint you to the sword, and you will all bow your knees to be slaughtered. For you have not answered when I have called, you have not listened when I have spoken. But you have done what is evil in my sight, you have chosen what I dislike.

13 Therefore thus says the Lord Yahweh: Behold my servants will eat, but you will be hungry. Behold my servants will drink, but you will be thirsty. Behold my servants will rejoice, but you will be ashamed [in the end].

14 Behold my servants will sing with joy in their hearts, but you will cry because of the sorrow of your heart and wail because of the vexation of your spirit.

15 Your name will be considered as a curse by my chosen ones. For the Lord Yahweh will kill you [for the second death which is the destruction or the rotting of the legacy], while he will call his servants by another names.

16 Whoever will want to be blessed on the earth will want to be blessed by the true God. And whoever will swear on the earth will swear by the true God. For the former troubles will be forgotten and hidden from my eyes.

17 For lo, I am creating new heavens and a new earth. The former things will not be remembered [in the purpose of performing them like the burnt offerings], they will not come into mind.

18 But be glad and rejoice forever for what I am creating. For behold, I will create a new Jerusalem for joy, and its people for gladness.

19 I will rejoice in Jerusalem, and I will rejoice in my people. The voice of weeping or the voice of crying will no more be heard there [in those days].

20 There will be neither children nor old people who do not fulfill their days. For whoever dies at the age of one hundred will be considered as young, and the sinner who will die at the age of one hundred will be considered as accursed.

21 They will build houses and inhabit them, and they will plant vineyards and eat their fruit.

22 They will not build houses that will be inhabited by another, and they will not plant vineyards whose fruit will be eaten by another. For the days of my people will be like the days of a tree, and my chosen ones will enjoy the work of their hands.

23 They will not labor in vain, and they will not bear children to see them perish. For they will be a seed blessed by Yahweh, and their children with them.

24 In those days I will answer before they call on me. I will hear them while they are speaking.

25 The wolf and the lamb will feed together, and the lion will eat straw like the ox, and dust will be the food of the serpent. They will no more hurt nor destroy on all my holy mountain, says Yahweh.

Isaiah 66

1 Thus says Yahweh: The heaven is my throne, and the earth is my footstool. What house could you build for me. What place would you give me to dwell in.

2 For all these things have been made by my hand, and it is in this way that all of them have come into being, says Yahweh. Now therefore listen, here is the one whom I will take care of: the one who is humble and of a contrite spirit, and who is afraid of my word.

3 He who kills a bullock is like the one who kills a human being, and he who sacrifices a lamb is like the one who breaks a dog's neck. He who offers a grain offering is like the one who offers the blood of a pig, and he who burns incense is like the one who worships false gods. All these persons delight in their own ways, and their souls find pleasure in their abominations.

4 I too will take pleasure in their affliction, and I will bring their fear on them, because I will have called and they will not have answered, because I will have spoken and they will not have listened. For they will have done what is evil in my sight, they will have chosen what displeased me.

5 Hear the word of Yahweh, you who are afraid of his word. This is what your brothers who hate you and reject you because of my true name say, 'Let Yahweh be glorified through the commandments that had been taught by Moses'. But he will appear for your joy, and they will be covered with shame.

6 A loud voice comes from the city, a voice from the temple. It is the voice of Yahweh who rewards his enemies.

7 Before she has suffered pain, she has given birth. Before her sufferings have come, she has given birth to a son.

8 Who has ever heard such a thing. Who has ever seen anything like it. Can a nation be born in one day [as will be the nation formed by the children of the Christ of God]. Can a nation be born in a single moment [without requiring a period of consultations]. For as soon as [the city of] Zion will travail, she will give birth to her true children.

9 Can I open the womb [as I did in giving the law of Moses] and not let the child be born, says [the spirit of] Yahweh. Can I cause to bring forth, and shut the womb, says your God.

10 Rejoice with Jerusalem, and be glad with her, you all who love her. Leap with her for joy, you all who mourn for her.

11 So that you may suck and be satisfied with the breasts of her consolation, so that you may milk and be delighted in the brightness of her glory.

Jeremiah

Jeremiah 1

1 The words of Jeremiah the son of Hilkiah. Hilkiah was one of the priests who lived in Anathoth, in the land of Benjamin.

2 The word of Yahweh came to him in the days of Josiah the son of Amon king of Judah, in the thirteenth year of his reign.

3 And also in the days of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah and king of Judah, until the end of the eleventh year of Zedekiah the son of Josiah and king of Judah, until the time when Jerusalem was taken to captivity in the fifth month.

4 The word of Yahweh came to me in the following words.

5 Before I formed you in the belly of your mother, I knew you. Before you came out of the womb, I sanctified you and I appointed you to be a prophet for the nations.

6 And I replied: Oh Lord Yahweh, behold I do not know how to speak because I am a child.

7 But Yahweh said to me: Do not say, 'I am a child'. For you will go to all those to whom I will send you, and you will say everything that I will command you.

8 Do not be afraid of their faces: For I am with you to protect you, says Yahweh.

9 Then Yahweh extended his hand, and touched my mouth. And Yahweh said to me: Behold I have put my words in your mouth.

10 Behold I establish you today over the nations and over the kingdoms, to pluck up, and to root out, and to destroy, and to overthrow, and to build, and to plant.

11 Moreover the word of Yahweh came to me by saying, 'What do you see, Jeremiah'. And I replied: I see a branch of an almond tree.

12 Then Yahweh said to me: You have seen correctly. For I watch over my word, to perform it.

13 And the word of Yahweh came to me again by saying, 'What do you see'. And I replied: I see a boiling cauldron that is oriented toward the north.

14 Then Yahweh said to me: It is from the north that calamity will spread on all the inhabitants of the land.

15 For lo, I will call all the families of the kingdoms of the north, says Yahweh. And they will come, and each will place his throne at the entrance of the gates of Jerusalem, and all around its surrounding walls, and in all the cities of Judah.

16 And I will pronounce my judgments against my people, because of all their wickedness, because they have forsaken me and have offered incense to other gods, and have worshiped the work of their hands.

17 As for you, Jeremiah, gird up your waist and arise. You will tell them everything that I will command you. Do not be afraid of their faces, lest I put you into confusion before them.

18 For behold, I establish you today on the whole land like a strong city, like an iron pillar and a wall of brass, against the kings of Judah and against its princes [leaders], against its priests and against the people of the land.

19 They will fight against you, but they will not prevail against you. For I am with you to protect you, says Yahweh.

Jeremiah 2

1 And the word of Yahweh came to me in the following words.

2 Go and proclaim in the ears of Jerusalem the following thing: Thus says Yahweh, I remember the kindness that you had in your youth, when you loved me like a faithful bride and followed me in the wilderness, in a land that was not cultivated.

3 The people of Israel were holy to Yahweh, they were the firstfruits of his harvest. At that time all those who tried to harm them were guilty and were rewarded by calamities that came on them, says Yahweh.

4 Hear the word of Yahweh, O house of Jacob [who is now in the land of Judah], and you all the families of the house of Israel [who are everywhere].

5 Thus says Yahweh, What is the injustice that your fathers have found in me. What is their justification for turning away from me. They have departed from me to follow vanity, and they have become worthless.

6 And they did not say: Where is Yahweh who brought us up out of the land of Egypt. The one who led us through the wilderness, through a land of deserts and of pits, through a land of drought and of the shadow of death, through a land that no man passed through and where no man dwelt.

7 And I brought you into a land that is like a fruitful field, to eat its fruit and its choicest produce. But when you entered, you defiled my land and made my heritage an abomination.

8 The priests did not ask themselves, 'Where is Yahweh'. Those who are the keepers of the law [among the families of the children of Israel] have not sought to know me. The rulers of the people have also transgressed against me, and the prophets have prophesied by Baal and have followed things that do not give a real benefit.

9 Therefore I will contend with you, says Yahweh, and I will contend with your children's children.

10 Go across the sea to the islands of Kittim, and see. Send someone to the land of Kedar and observe diligently, to see if there is such a thing.

11 Has any nation ever changed its gods. They remain faithful to their false gods, while my people have changed their glory for that which does not give a real benefit.

12 Be astonished at this thing, O you the heavens. Shudder and be greatly horrified, says Yahweh.

13 For my people have committed two evils. They have forsaken me, I the fountain of the water of life, and they have hewn out for themselves cisterns, broken cisterns that can hold no water.

14 Is Israel a servant or is he a son born in the house [of the spirit of Yahweh]. Why then has he become a prey [in the sight of Yahweh who is the possessor of all things].

15 The young lions have roared against Israel, and have yelled. They have made his land waste. His cities have been burned with fire, and have become without inhabitants.

16 And the children of Noph and Tahpanhes have broken the crown of your head.

17 Did not all this happen to you because of yourself. For you have forsaken Yahweh your God, the one who was leading you in the way.

18 And now, what did you get when you went in the way of Egypt to drink the waters of the Nile. What did you get when you went in the way of Assyria to drink the waters of the river Euphrates. [What have you gotten by looking for help in those communities rather than turning to me.]

19 Your own wickedness will punish you, and your backsliding will rebuke you. You will know and see that it is an evil and bitter thing to forsake Yahweh your God, and that you do not have the fear of me, says the Lord Yahweh the God of armies.

20 For you have broken your yoke long ago in order to separate yourself from me, you have torn your bonds apart, and you have said, 'I will not serve you'. For you have gone on every hill and under every green tree, in order to prostitute your soul.

21 I had planted you like one plants a special vine, a completely correct seed. How then have you become to me the plants of a strange vine.

22 Your iniquity will be marked before me, even if you wash yourself with nitre and use much soap, says the Lord Yahweh.

23 How can you say, 'I have not defiled myself, I have not gone after Baalim'. Look at your steps in the valley, and recognize what you have done. You are like a swift dromedary running along its paths.

24 Or like a wild female donkey accustomed to the wilderness, when she is sniffing the wind because she is eager to copulate. Who can prevent her from satisfying her desire. All the male who seek her do not need to weary themselves. They will find her in her month.

25 I say, 'Keep your foot from being unshoed, and your throat from thirst [that is to say, do not continue in your evil way]'. But you say, 'There is no hope, no. For I love foreign gods and I will follow them'.

26 The house of Israel will be confused like a thief who is confused when he is found. They, and their kings, and their princes [leaders], and their priests, and their prophets [who prophesy lies to you].

27 For they say to a tree, 'You are my father'. And they say to a stone, 'You have given me life'. For they have turned their backs on me instead of turning their faces towards me. But when they are in trouble, they say: Arise, and help us.

28 Where are your gods that you have made for yourself. Let them arise, if they can help you in the time of your trouble. For your gods are as many as your cities, O Judah.

29 Why would you want to argue with me. You all have rebelled against me, says Yahweh.

30 I have smitten your children in vain, for they have not heeded my reproofs. Your own sword has devoured your prophets, like a destroying lion.

31 O generation, pay attention to the word of Yahweh. Have I been like a wilderness for Israel, or like a land of darkness. Why do my people say, 'We are free, we will not return to you'.

32 Does a young woman forget her jewelry, or a bride her attire. Yet my people have forgotten me since days without number.

33 How clever you are in your ways to seek what you love. Even the wicked women [who are already sufficiently malicious] could be taught by the evil behavior of my people.

34 The blood of the souls of poor innocents can be found in your wings [that is to say, in the source of your strength]. You did not have the necessary justifications to hit them.

35 Yet you say, 'I am innocent, surely his anger will turn away from me'. Behold I will enter into judgment with you, because you say: I have not sinned.

36 Why are you so eager to seek help from place to place instead of looking for me. You will find only confusion in Egypt, as you had found only confusion in Assyria.

37 You will also go out from there with your hands on your head. For Yahweh has rejected those in whom you trust, and you will not prosper with them.

Jeremiah 3

1 Yahweh says: If a man divorces his wife [because of a sincere disagreement between the two of them] and she leaves him, and if she becomes the wife of another man, should her first husband take her back after that. Will not the land itself be polluted by such practices. [For each person must give a proportional response to each offense that is done to him, and to forgive does not mean to forget but rather to take appropriate precautions in the future.]

2 Now you have played the whore with other lovers [that is to say, by worshiping all your false gods], and you want to return to me, says Yahweh. Lift up your eyes to the heights and look. Where have you not played the whore. You have sat down to wait for them from place to place like an Arabian in the wilderness, and you have polluted the land with your whoredom and with your wickedness.

3 Therefore the rains have been withheld, and there was no latter rain. Nevertheless you have had the forehead of a whore, for you have refused to be ashamed.

4 And now you [the whole nation] cry to me by saying: You are my father, for you were the guide of my youth [that is to say, the guide of our ancestors]. Will he retain his anger forever. Will he retain it until the end.

5 This is how you talk to me, after doing evil things.

6 Yahweh said to me again in the days of king Josiah: Have you seen what the unfaithful [kingdom of] Israel had done. She had gone up on every high mountain and under every green tree, and there she had played the whore [by worshiping false gods].

7 And I had thought that some of the generations of her children might come back to me after she had done all these things. But she has not returned, and her hypocritical sister who is [the kingdom of] Judah has seen it.

8 And when I saw how the unfaithful Israel was playing the whore at every opportunity, I rejected her completely and gave her her divorce certificate. And her hypocritical sister Judah has not been afraid, but she also went and played the whore [by the fact of striving to disobey my commandments].

9 I say, the unfaithful Israel had defiled her land by her blatant whoredom. All the generations of her children had committed adultery by worshiping false gods made of stone and wood.

10 And after having seen my answer to the unfaithful Israel, her hypocritical sister Judah has not returned to me with her whole heart. For she has acted feignedly, says Yahweh.

11 And Yahweh said to me: The unfaithful Israel seems innocent compared to the hypocritical Judah.

12 Go and proclaim these words toward the north, and say: Return, you the unfaithful people of Israel, says Yahweh. I will not look at you with harsh eyes. For I am merciful, says Yahweh, therefore I will not keep my anger forever.

13 Only acknowledge your iniquity. Acknowledge that you [and your fathers] have transgressed against Yahweh your God, and that you have scattered your ways to strange gods under every green tree, and have not obeyed my voice, says Yahweh.

14 Return, you the unfaithful children, says Yahweh. For I am your Lord. I will take you, one from a city, two from a family, and I will bring you to Zion.

15 And I will give you shepherds according to my own heart, and they will feed you with knowledge and understanding.

16 And when you will have multiplied and been fruitful in the land, in those days, says Yahweh, the ark of the covenant of Yahweh will be no more spoken of. It will not come into the mind, and it will not be remembered, and the need of it will not be felt, and another will not be done.

Jeremiah 4

1 O Israel. If you come back, if you come back to me, says Yahweh, if you remove your abominations from before me, then you will no longer be a wanderer.

2 If you swear without deceit by saying, 'Yahweh is alive'. If you act in righteousness and with justice, then the nations will be blessed in him, and will glory in him [and you will be glad to have contributed to this].

3 For thus speaks Yahweh to the men of Judah and Jerusalem: Break up your fallow ground, and sow not among thorns.

4 Circumcise yourself for Yahweh by taking away the foreskins of your hearts, you the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem. Lest my anger come forth like a fire, and burn without there being anyone to extinguish it, because of the wickedness of your deeds.

5 Announce in Judah, and publish in Jerusalem, and say, 'Blow the trumpet in the land'. Cry out and say, 'Assemble yourselves, and let us go into the fortified cities'.

6 Set up a banner in Zion and flee for your safety, do not stay. For I will bring evil from the north, and a great destruction.

7 The lion comes up from his den, the destroyer of nations is on his way. He has gone forth from his place to ravage your land. Your cities will be ruined, there will be no more inhabitants.

8 Therefore gird yourselves with sackcloths, lament and groan. For the fierce anger of Yahweh does not turn away from us.

9 On that day the king and the leaders will lose their courage, says Yahweh. And the priests will be astonished, and the prophets will cogitate.

10 Then I said, I Jeremiah: Oh Lord Yahweh, surely you have deceived this people of Judah and Jerusalem. For you have said, 'You will have peace [if you return to me]'. And yet the sword will reach to the soul. [Now Jeremiah speaks with sincerity, but he does not understand at that moment how Yahweh is not contradicting himself. Now Yahweh has already decided that there will be a destruction, but the spirit of Yahweh can always find a way to give a legacy to those who choose to change their behaviors since God can prolong his patience.]

11 At that time [says Yahweh], it will be said to this people of Judah and Jerusalem: A dry wind blows from the high places of the wilderness toward the daughter of my people, but not to winnow or to clean.

12 It is an impetuous wind that comes from there because of me. Now I will pronounce their sentence.

13 Behold the destroyer comes up like clouds, and his chariots are like a whirlwind. His horses are swifter than eagles. Woe to us, because we are destroyed.

14 O Jerusalem, wash the wickedness from your heart in order to be saved. How long will you keep your futile thoughts inside you.

15 For a voice will declare it from Dan, and will proclaim disaster from mount Ephraim.

16 Write this for the remembrance of the nations, and publish it in Jerusalem. The watchers come from a far country, and cry out against the cities of Judah.

17 They surround Jerusalem like men guarding a field, because Jerusalem has rebelled against me, says Yahweh.

18 This is the product of your ways and your deeds, this is the product of your wickedness. Admittedly this is bitter, it penetrates to your heart.

19 And I Jeremiah, I said: My bowels, my bowels. I suffer inside my heart, my heart is disquieted in me and I cannot hold my peace. For you have heard, O my soul, the sound of the trumpet which is the alarm of war.

20 Destruction on destruction is announced, for the whole land will be ravaged. My tents will be destroyed suddenly, and my curtains in a moment.

21 How long will I see the banner, and hear the sound of the trumpet.

22 And Yahweh said: For my people is foolish, they do not know me. They are foolish children, for they have no understanding. They are skillful in doing evil, but they do not know how to do good.

23 I looked at the earth, and lo, it was formless and void. And I looked at the heavens, and they had no light.

24 I looked at the mountains, and lo, they were trembling and all the hills were tottering.

25 I looked, and lo, there was no man, and all the birds of the sky had departed.

26 I looked, and lo, the fruitful place was a wilderness, and all its cities were broken down before Yahweh, and by his fierce anger.

27 For thus says Yahweh: The whole land will be desolate, but I will not completely destroy it.

28 Because of this, the land will mourn and the heavens above will be darkened. For I have spoken it. I have purposed it, and I will not repent. I will not turn back from it.

29 Every city will flee at the noise of the horsemen and the archers, they will go into the thickets and climb on the rocks. Every city is forsaken, and not a man remains there.

30 And when you will be destroyed, what will you do. You clothe yourself with scarlet, and you will adorn yourself with ornaments of gold, and you paint your face. But it is in vain that you make yourself beautiful, for your lovers will despise you and they will seek your life.

31 For I have heard a voice like that of a woman giving birth, an anguish like that of a woman giving birth to her first child. The voice of the daughter of Zion who groans and spreads out her hands by saying: Woe is me now, for my soul faints because of the murderers.

Jeremiah 5

1 Walk backwards and forwards throughout the streets of Jerusalem, in order to observe now and inquire in all open places, to know if there is anywhere a person who acts uprightly and searches for the truth. If you find such a person then I will forgive Jerusalem.

2 For they speak by saying, 'Yahweh is alive', but surely they swear falsely.

3 Then I said, I Jeremiah: O Yahweh, do not your eyes see the truth. You have stricken them, but they have not grieved. You have consumed them, but they have refused to receive correction. They have made their faces harder than a rock, they have refused to return.

4 But I said to myself, Surely it is only the poor who are so foolish. They do not know the way of Yahweh, the law of their God.

5 I will go to the great men, and I will speak to them. For they should know the way of Yahweh, the law of their God. But I perceived that they too have completely broken the yoke, and have burst the bonds.

6 Therefore a lion of the forest will kill them, and a wolf of the wilderness will destroy them. A leopard will watch over their cities, and anyone who will get out of there will be torn in pieces. For their transgressions are numerous, and their rebellions have increased.

7 Why would I forgive you, you the land of Judah, says Yahweh. Your children have abandoned me, and they swear in their hearts by false gods. Although I had fed them to their fill, they have committed adultery and have gathered themselves together in troops to the houses of prostitutes.

8 Like well-fed horses running here and there, every one neighs after his neighbor's wife.

9 Should I not punish them for these things, says Yahweh. Should I not avenge my soul from such a nation.

10 Go up on their walls, and destroy. Do not destroy entirely, but take away the battlements. For they do not belong to Yahweh.

11 For the house of Israel and the house of Judah have been unfaithful to me, says Yahweh.

12 They have denied Yahweh and have said: It is not he [for he is powerless]. Misfortune will not come to us, we will see neither the sword nor famine.

13 And the prophets are only wind, for no one speaks in them. It will be done to them thus.

14 Therefore thus says Yahweh the God of armies: Because they speak with such words, behold my words that I put in your mouth will be like fire, you Jeremiah, and this people will be like wood, and they will be devoured.

15 And lo, I will bring a nation from afar against you, O house of Israel, says Yahweh. It is a strong nation, it is an ancient nation, a nation whose language you do not know and whose words you will not understand.

16 Their quiver is like an open sepulcher, they are all mighty men.

17 And they will devour your harvest and your bread, and they will devour your sons and your daughters, and they will devour your flocks and thy herds, and they will devour your vineyards and your fig trees. They will destroy with the sword your fortified cities in which you trust.

18 But I will not destroy you entirely in those days, says Yahweh.

19 And when they will say, 'Why has Yahweh our God done all these things to us'. Then you will answer them with my following words: As you have abandoned me and have served strange gods in your land, so you will serve strangers in a land that is not yours.

20 Declare this in the house of Jacob, publish it in Judah with the following words.

21 Hear now this, O foolish people who has no heart. You have eyes but you do not see, you have ears but you do not hear.

22 Should you not fear me, says Yahweh. Should you not tremble at my presence. I am the one who placed the sand to be the natural limit of the sea by a perpetual decree, it cannot pass it. Its waves are agitating, but they do not prevail. They roar, but they will not dwell beyond.

23 But this people has an unfaithful and rebellious heart. They have rebelled and gone.

24 They do not say in their hearts: Let us now fear Yahweh our God who gives the rain, both the former and the latter rains. He reserves us the weeks intended for the harvest.

25 Your iniquities have turned away these things, your sins have deprived you of these good things.

26 For there are found wicked persons among my people. They wait like he who lays snares. They make pits to catch men.

27 Their houses are filled with deceits like a cage is filled with birds. This is how they have become great and rich.

28 They are fat and they shine. They excel in the deeds of wickedness. They do not plead the cause, the cause of the fatherless. They prosper, although they do not care about the rights of the powerless.

29 Should I not punish them for these things, says Yahweh. Should I not avenge my soul from such a nation.

30 A shocking and amazing thing is done in the land.

31 There are prophets who prophesy with falsehood, and the priests do not perform their duties, and my people take pleasure in all this. What will you do in the end.

Jeremiah 6

1 Flee from the midst of Jerusalem, you the children of Benjamin. Blow the trumpet in Tekoa, and set up a banner at Beth-haccherem. For evil and great destruction are coming from the north.

2 I will destroy the beautiful and delicate daughter of Zion.

3 Shepherds with their flocks will come to her. They will pitch their tents around her, and each one will graze on his portion.

4 Prepare to attack her. Arise, and let us go up at noon. Woe to us, for the day is fading, and the shadows of the evening are lengthening.

5 Therefore arise, and let us go up at night, and let us destroy her palaces.

6 For thus says Yahweh the God of armies: Cut down the trees and cast up a mound against Jerusalem. This city must be punished, for there is nothing but oppression in her midst.

7 As a fountain pours out its waters, so Jerusalem pours out her wickedness. There is violence and oppression in her midst, and I see only sorrow and wounds there.

8 Receive the instruction, O Jerusalem, lest my soul depart from you and I make you a desolation, a land without inhabitants.

9 Thus says Yahweh the God of armies: The remnant of Israel will be gleaned like a vine. Turn again your hand, like a grape-gatherer over the vines.

10 To whom will I speak. Who will I warn. Who will listen to me. Behold their ears are uncircumcised, and they cannot listen. Behold the word of Yahweh has become a disgusting thing for them, they have no delight in it.

11 Therefore I am filled with the wrath of Yahweh, I am weary of holding it back. I will pour it out on the children in the street, and on the assemblies of the young men. For both man and woman will be taken, and the aged with him who is full of days.

12 And their houses and their fields will be taken by others, and their wives also. For I will stretch out my hand against the inhabitants of the land, says Yahweh.

13 For from the least of them to the greatest of them, everyone is greedy for gain. And from the prophet to the priest, everyone acts falsely.

14 They have healed the wound of the daughter of my people slightly by saying 'Peace, peace', while there is no peace.

15 Were they ashamed when they had committed abominations. No, they were not at all ashamed and they could not blush. Therefore they will fall among those who will fall. They will be cast down when I visit them, says Yahweh.

16 Thus says Yahweh: Stand at the crossroads and see, and ask for the ancient paths. Ask for the good way, and walk in it in order to find rest for your souls. But they say, 'We will not walk in it'.

17 I have set watchmen over them, and I have said. 'Pay attention to the sound of the trumpet'. But they say, 'We will not pay attention to it'.

18 Therefore listen, you nations. Know what will happen to them, you the assembly of the peoples. [Know why it will happen to them.]

19 Hear, O earth. Behold I will bring a disaster on this people, in accordance with the fruit of their thoughts. For they have rejected my law, and they have despised my words.

20 Why do you bring me incense from Sheba, or sweet cane from a far country. Your burnt offerings are not pleasant to me, and your sacrifices are not pleasant to me.

21 Therefore thus says Yahweh: Behold I will lay stumbling blocks before this people. Fathers and sons will stumble over them, neighbors and friends will perish.

22 Thus says Yahweh: Behold a people comes from the north country, a great nation arises from the ends of the earth.

23 They carry bows and spears. They are cruel and have no compassion, their voice roars like the sea. They ride on horses and are ready to fight as one man against you, O daughter of Zion.

24 Our hands grow weak while they approach, anguish grips us like the pain of a woman giving birth.

25 Do not go out into the fields or walk along the highways. For the sword of the enemy is there, and terror reigns around.

26 O daughter of my people, cover yourself with sackcloth and roll yourself in ashes. Mourn as if for an only son, weep with bitter tears. For the destroyer will come on us suddenly.

27 I have set you for an overseer and a fortress among my people, so that you may know and probe their way. [You Jeremiah.]

28 They are all rebels and slanderers, their foreheads are made of brass and iron. They are all corrupt.

29 The bellows are hot, the lead is consumed by the fire. It is in vain that one refines, the dross are not taken away.

30 They will be called contemptible silver, for Yahweh has rejected them.

Jeremiah 7

1 And the word of Yahweh came to Jeremiah in the following words.

2 Stand at the gate of the house of Yahweh and proclaim the following word there: Hear the word of Yahweh, you all the men of Judah who enter by these gates to worship Yahweh.

3 Thus says Yahweh the God of armies, the God of Israel: Reform your ways and your doings, and I will let you dwell in this place.

4 Do not deceive yourselves by assuming that you will be saved by saying: The temple of Yahweh, the temple of Yahweh, this is the temple of Yahweh.

5 For if you thoroughly reform your ways and your deeds, if you practice justice toward each other.

6 If you do not oppress the sojourner, or the fatherless, or the widow. If you do not shed innocent blood in this place, and if you do no go after other gods to your own destruction.

7 Then I will let you dwell in this place, in the land that I gave to your fathers, forever and ever.

8 For behold, now you are trusting in the words of lies which can give no real profit.

9 For your works are to steal, to kill, to commit adultery, to swear falsely, to burn incense to Baal, to follow other gods that you have not known.

10 And while you are doing this, you come and stand before me in this house that is called by my name, and you say: We are now forgiven for all the abominations that we have committed.

11 Has it become in your eyes a den of thieves, this house that is called by my name. I see it myself, says Yahweh.

12 Go now to the place that had been consecrated to me in Shiloh, where I had caused my name to dwell at the beginning, and see what I did to it because of the wickedness of my people Israel.

13 And now, because you have done all these things, says Yahweh, because you have not listened to me despite the fact that I have arisen early [every day] and spoken to you, because I have called you and you did not answer.

14 Therefore concerning the house that is called by my name, this house in which you trust and which is the place that I have given to you and to your fathers, I will treat it as I treated Shiloh.

15 And I will cast you out of my sight, as I have cast out all your brothers, the whole seed of Ephraim.

16 As for you, Jeremiah, do not pray for this people. Do not lift up a cry or a plea for them. Do not intercede for them with me, for I will not listen to you.

17 Do you not see what they are doing in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem.

18 The children gather wood, and the fathers kindle the fire, and the women knead the dough, in order to make cakes for the queen of heaven and to pour out drink offerings to other gods, in order to provoke me to anger.

19 Am I the only one whom they are hurting, says Yahweh. Do they not hurt themselves, to their own shame.

20 Therefore thus says the Lord Yahweh: Behold my anger and my fury will be poured out on this place, on man and on beast, on the trees of the field and on the fruit of the ground. It will burn and will not be quenched.

21 Thus says Yahweh the God of armies, the God of Israel: Add your burnt offerings to your sacrifices, and eat their flesh.

22 For I had neither spoken to your fathers nor given them commandments concerning burnt offerings and sacrifices, in the day when I brought them out of the land of Egypt.

23 But this is the command that I gave them: Obey my voice, and I will be your God, and you will be my people. Walk in all the ways that I have commanded you, so that you may be happy.

24 But they did not want to obey, and they did not consider. And they walked in their own counsels and in the stubbornness of their wicked hearts. They went backward and not forward.

25 From the day that your fathers came out of the land of Egypt until this day, I have sent to you all my servants the prophets. I have arisen early every day to send them.

26 But they did not want to obey, and they did not consider. And they hardened their necks and did more evil than their fathers.

27 And now you will tell them all these things, but they will not want to listen to you. You will cry out to them, but they will not answer you.

28 Therefore you will say to them: This is the nation that does not want to listen to the voice of Yahweh their God, they do not want to receive instruction. Truth has perished, it is cut off from their mouth.

29 Cut off your hair and cast it away, O Jeremiah, and lift up a lamentation on your lips. For Yahweh has rejected and forsaken the generation that has provoked his anger.

30 For the children of Judah have done evil in my sight, says Yahweh. They have set their abominations in the house that is called by my name, to pollute it.

31 They have built high places at Topheth in the valley of the son of Hinnom, to burn their sons and their daughters in the fire. It is something that I had not commanded them, such a thing never even entered my mind.

32 Therefore behold, says Yahweh, the days are coming when it will no longer be called Topheth or the valley of the son of Hinnom, but the valley of slaughter. And they will bury the victims in Topheth until there be no place to bury them.

33 And the carcasses of this people will be food for the birds of the air and for the beasts of the earth, and there will be no one to frighten them.

34 And I will cause to cease from the cities of Judah and from the streets of Jerusalem, the voice of mirth and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride. For the land will become a desolation.

Jeremiah 8

1 At that time, says Yahweh, they will bring out of their graves the bones of [some of] the kings of Judah, and the bones of [some of] its leaders, and the bones of [some of] the priests, and the bones of [some of] the prophets, and the bones of [some of] the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

2 And they will spread them out before the sun and the moon, and before all the armies of the heaven [that is to say, all the stars], those things that theses dead persons had loved [during a part of their lives], and had served, and had followed, and had sought, and had worshiped. They will not be gathered or reburied, but they will be like dung on the face of the earth.

3 And death will be desired rather than life by all the residue that will remain from this wicked family, in all the places where I will lead them, says Yahweh the God of armies.

4 Should not a person who falls try to get up. Should not a person who gets lost reorient himself when he become aware of it.

5 Why then do these people of Jerusalem turn away by a continual rebellion. They persist in deceit, they refuse to repent.

6 I pay attention and listen, but they do not speak as they should. No one repents of his wickedness, no one says, 'What have I done'. Each one goes back to his way, like a horse rushing into battle.

7 Even the stork in the sky knows her appointed times. The turtledove and the crane and the swallow observe the time of their migration. But my people do not know the law of Yahweh.

8 How can you say, 'We are wise, the law of Yahweh is with us'. And lo, it is in vain that the scribes have used a lying pen [and thus have written falsely].

9 The wise men are ashamed, they are dismayed, they are taken. And lo, this is because they have despised the word of Yahweh. What wisdom do they have now.

10 Therefore I will give their wives to others, and their fields to those who will possess them. For everyone is greedy for gain, from the least to the greatest. And everyone acts falsely, from the prophet to the priest.

11 For they have healed the wound of the daughter of my people slightly by saying 'Peace, peace', while there is no peace.

12 Were they ashamed when they had committed abominations. No, they were not at all ashamed and they could not blush. Therefore they will fall among those who will fall. They will be cast down when I visit them, says Yahweh.

13 I will surely devour them, says Yahweh. There will be no more grapes on the vine, no more figs on the fig tree, and the leaves will wither. I will take away what I had given them.

14 Why do we stay here. Gather yourselves, and let us go and take refuge into the fortified cities in order to perish there. For Yahweh our God has appointed us to die. He has given us a poisoned water to drink, because we have sinned against Yahweh.

15 We looked for peace, but nothing good has come. We looked for a time of healing, and behold, there is troubles.

16 The neighing of his horses is heard from Dan, and the whole land trembles at the sound of the neighing of his strong horses. For they come in order to devour the land and everything in it, the city and those who dwell in it.

17 For behold, I will send snakes among you, vipers that no one can charm. They will bite you, says Yahweh.

18 And I Jeremiah, I want to relieve my pain but my heart suffers inside me.

19 Behold the voice of the cry of the daughter of my people is heard because of those who have come from a distant land. And that voice says, 'Is not Yahweh in Zion. Does not its true king dwell in the city'. And Yahweh says: Why have they provoked me to anger with their graven images and with their strange futilities.

20 The harvest is past, the summer is ended, yet we are not saved [for the enemy continues to besiege the city].

21 And I Jeremiah, I am now distressed because of the future pain of the daughter of my people. I am full of sorrow, dismay has seized me.

22 Is there no balm in Gilead. Is there no physician there. Why then is the healing of the daughter of my people not accomplished.

Jeremiah 9

1 Oh if my head were full of water and my eyes were a fountain of tears, then I would have wept day and night for those who will be killed in the midst of the daughter of my people. [I Jeremiah.]

2 Oh if I had a traveler hut in the wilderness, I would have left my people and would have gone far away from them. For they are all adulterers, an assembly of treacherous men.

3 Their tongues are like bows that are stretched out to shoot arrows of falsehood. It is not by the truth that they are becoming powerful in the land, for they move from one wickedness to another wickedness. They do not know me, says Yahweh.

4 Take precautions when interacting with your friends, and do not trust in any brother. For every brother seeks to deceive, and every friend spreads slanders.

5 Each one seeks to deceive his neighbor, they do not tell the truth [since they have maleficent intentions when they express themselves]. They train their tongues to speak falsely, they watch each other in order to plan evil.

6 Your dwelling is built through the use of deception. It is by falseness that they refuse to know me, says Yahweh.

7 Therefore thus says Yahweh the God of armies: Behold I will melt them and I will refine them. For how should I act toward the daughter of my people.

8 Their tongue is a deadly arrow, they only speak deceitfully. Everyone speaks peaceably to his neighbor with his mouth, but in his heart he set ambushes for him.

9 Should I not punish them for these things, says Yahweh. Should I not avenge my soul from such a nation.

10 And I Jeremiah, I want to weep and to wail for the mountains, I want to lament for the empty fields. For they are burned [that is to say, they will be burned]. No animal passes there, and the voice of the cattle can no longer be heard. The birds of the sky and the beasts have fled, they have disappeared.

11 I will make Jerusalem a heap of ruins, a hideout of jackals, says Yahweh. And I will make the cities of Judah a desolation without inhabitants.

12 Is there a man who is wise enough to understand these things. Is there someone who has been taught by Yahweh. Can anyone explain the message. Why will the land be ruined. Why will it be made like a wilderness where no one goes.

13 And Yahweh says: It is because they have forsaken my law that I had set before them, and have not obeyed my voice [whenever I have wanted to put them back in the way]. They have not wanted to listen to my voice.

14 For they have walked in accordance with the stubbornness of their own hearts, and they have gone after the Baals as their fathers taught them.

15 Therefore thus says Yahweh the God of armies: Behold I will feed this people with wormwood, and I will make them drink poisoned waters.

16 And I will disperse them among nations that they have not known, neither they nor their fathers, and I will send the sword behind them until I have exterminated them.

17 Thus speaks Yahweh the God of armies: Consider these things and call for the mourners, the skilful women who shout during funerals. Bring them closer.

18 Let them make haste, and let them say a lamentation for us. Let tears fall from our eyes, let waters gush out of our eyelids.

19 For a voice of wailing is heard out of Zion, and they say: We are destroyed, we are covered with shame. We must leave our land, and our houses have been destroyed.

20 Listen to the word of Yahweh, O you the women. Let your ear receive the word of his mouth, and teach your daughters how to wail. Let every one teach her neighbor to lament.

21 For death has come up through our windows, and it has entered our palaces. Death has come for our children who play in the streets, and for the young men who meet in the public places.

22 Tell them this, you Jeremiah: Thus says Yahweh, the corpses of men will lie on the ground like manure on the fields, like grains that fall behind the harvester and that no one gather.

23 Thus speaks Yahweh: Let not the wise man glory in his wisdom, and let not the strong man glory in his strength, and let not the rich man glory in his riches.

24 For the one who glories must glory in the fact that he has received the understanding that is transmitted by the knowledge of my person. For I am Yahweh who performs judgment, and justice, and mercy, on the whole earth. And it is in these things that I take pleasure, says Yahweh.

25 Behold the days are coming, says Yahweh, when I will punish all those who are uncircumcised of heart regardless of their different kind of circumcisions.

26 Egypt, and Judah, and Edom, and the children of Ammon, and Moab, and all those who shave the corners of their beards [to have fancy appearances], and those who dwell in the wildernesses [for the sole purpose of a complete isolation]. For all the nations are uncircumcised, and all the house of Israel are uncircumcised in heart.

Jeremiah 10

1 Hear the word that Yahweh speaks to you, O house of Israel.

2 Thus says Yahweh: Do not behave like other nations. Do not be afraid by the signs of the sky, like the nations who are afraid of those things.

3 For the customs of the peoples are vanity. One cuts a tree in the forest, and the hands of a craftsman shape it with an axe.

4 And they adorn it with silver and with gold. They fasten it with nails and with hammers, so that it may not be easily moved.

5 These gods are set up like a palm tree, and they do not speak. They have been carried because they cannot walk. Do not be afraid of them, for they cannot do harm and they do not have the power to do good.

6 There is none like you, O Yahweh. You are great, and your name is great and powerful.

7 Who should not fear you, O King of the nations. For it is to you that the supremacy belongs. For among all the wise men of the nations, and among all the gods of their kingdoms, there is none like you.

8 All of them are stupid and foolish. Some of them hope to receive their teaching from worthless pieces of wood.

9 Others bring plates of silver from Tarshish, and gold from Uphaz, the work of the workman and of the hands of the goldsmith. The clothes of these gods are of fabrics dyed in blue and purple, and all these things are the work of skilful men.

10 But Yahweh is the true God. He is the living God, and an everlasting King. The earth trembles at his anger, and the nations cannot bear his fury.

11 Tell them the following thing: The gods who have not made the heavens and the earth will perish from the earth and from under the heavens.

12 He has created the earth by his power, and he has established the world by his wisdom, and he has stretched out the heavens by his understanding.

13 The waters roar in the sky when he raises his voice to command it, he causes the vapors to ascend from the ends of the earth. He makes lightnings and rain, and he brings the wind from his treasuries.

14 Every man who trusts only his own wisdom will be made stupid, and every goldsmith will be put to shame by his graven image. For his molten image is falsehood, and there is no breath in it.

15 They are worthless, a work of deceit. They will perish at the time of their judgment.

16 He who is the portion of Jacob is not like those things. For he is the one who has formed everything, and Israel is the tribe of his inheritance. Yahweh the God of armies is his name.

17 Carry what you possess away from the land, O you the inhabitants of the strong place.

18 For thus says Yahweh: Behold this time I will throw the inhabitants out of the land, as with a slingshot. And I will trouble them so that they feel my anger.

19 And I Jeremiah, I say concerning the land of my people: Woe is me, for I am broken and my wound is grievous. But I say, This is my sorrow and I must bear it.

20 My tent is destroyed, and all my cords are broken. My children have left me, they are no more. I have no one to spread my tent again, to set up my curtains. [Says Yahweh.]

21 For the shepherds have been foolish, they have not sought Yahweh. Therefore they have not prospered, and all their livestock are scattered.

22 Behold a noise is heard, a great tumult comes from the north. They come to make the cities of Judah a desolation, and a den of jackals.

23 O Yahweh, I know that the way of man is not under his power. It is not man who directs his steps when he walks. [Says Jeremiah.]

24 Chastise me because of your justice, O Yahweh. But do not do it in your anger, lest you destroy me.

25 Pour out your fury on the nations that do not know you, and on the families that do not call on your name. For they devour Jacob, they devour him and consume him, and they ravaged his dwelling.

Jeremiah 11

1 The word of Yahweh came to Jeremiah in the following words.

2 Hear the words of this covenant, and speak to the men of Judah and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

3 Say to them, Thus says Yahweh the God of Israel: Cursed be the man who does not obey the words of this covenant.

4 That is to say, the words that I commanded your fathers in the day that I brought them out of the land of Egypt, out of the iron furnace. For I said to them at that time: Obey my voice and do all the things that I commanded you. And thus you will be my people, and I will be your God.

5 I acted thus in order to fulfill the oath that I swore to your fathers, to give them that land where milk and honey flow. And you are living in that land today. Then I Jeremiah, I answered and said: So be it, O Yahweh.

6 And Yahweh said to me, Proclaim all these words in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem by saying: Hear the words of this covenant, and obey them.

7 For I have warned your fathers since the day that I brought them out of the land of Egypt until this day. I have continually risen early and protested by saying: Obey my voice.

8 But they did not pay attention, and did not obey. And each one have walked in the stubbornness of his wicked heart. Therefore I will fulfill all the words of this covenant for them, all that I had announced as punishment in case of disobedience to the commandments that I gave them and that they have not performed.

9 And Yahweh said to me: There is a conspiracy among the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

10 They have returned to the iniquities of their forefathers who had refused to listen to my words. They have gone after other gods to serve them. The house of Israel and the house of Judah have broken my covenant that I made with their fathers.

11 Therefore thus says Yahweh: Behold I will bring a disaster on them, and they will not be able to escape it. They will cry to me, but I will not listen.

12 The cities of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem will go and call on the gods to whom they offer incense, but those gods will not save them in the time of their trouble.

13 For your gods are as many as the number of your cities, O Judah. And you have built the altars of confusion in every street of Jerusalem, altars to burn incense to Baal.

14 Therefore do not pray for this people, you Jeremiah. Do not lift up a cry or a plea for them. For I will not listen to them when they cry to me in their trouble.

15 Why has my beloved come into my house now. She has committed a multitude of iniquities. The offering of consecrated meat will not save you, for you have rejoiced when you was doing evil.

16 A green olive tree, distinguished by the beauty of its fruit, that is the name that Yahweh had given you. But he will set that tree on fire with a powerful storm, and its branches will be broken.

17 For Yahweh the God of armies is the one who planted you, and he has called a disaster on you because of the wickedness of the house of Israel and of the house of Judah. They have hurt themselves when they provoked me to anger by offering incense to Baal.

18 And Yahweh let me know that some people were planning to harm me, and I became aware of this. You showed me what they were doing, says Jeremiah.

19 I was like a sweet lamb that is led to slaughter, and I did not know the evil that they had planned against me. For they had said: Let us destroy the tree with its fruit, and let us cut him off from the land of the living so that his name may be no more remembered.

20 But you are a righteous judge who probes the minds and the hearts, O Yahweh the God of armies. Let me see your vengeance against them, for I have entrusted my cause to you.

21 And Yahweh said to me: Therefore thus speaks Yahweh concerning the men of Anathoth who seek your life and who say: Do not prophesy in the name of Yahweh if you do not want to die by our hand.

22 Therefore thus says Yahweh the God of armies: Behold I will punish them. The young men will die by the sword, and their sons and daughters will die by famine.

23 None of them will escape. For I will bring a disaster on the men of Anathoth in the year that I will punish them.

Jeremiah 12

1 You are righteous, O Yahweh, therefore I cannot argue with you. But I desire to speak to you about your judgments. Why does the way of the wicked prosper. Why do all the transgressors live peacefully.

2 You have planted them, and they have taken root. They grow and bear fruit. You are near in their mouth, but far from their heart.

3 And you know my heart, O Yahweh. You see me and you test my mind. Bring them out like sheep for slaughter, and prepare them for the day of slaughter.

4 How long will the land mourn, and the grass of every field wither. The beasts and the birds perish because of the wickedness of those who dwell there. And they say: Jeremiah will not live long enough to see what happens to us.

5 And Yahweh said to Jeremiah: If you get exhausted when you race with men, then how can you compete with horses. If you trip and fall in a safe place, then what will you do in a dangerous place like near the river Jordan where thornbushes grow.

6 For even your brothers of your father's house have betrayed you. They have even cry out against you. Do not trust them, even if they speak to you in a friendly way.

7 I have forsaken my house, I have rejected my heritage. I have given the beloved of my soul, the people that I had chosen to bear my name, into the hands of his enemies. [It has already happened with the kingdom of Israel which no longer exists, and Manasseh who was king of Judah has also unleashed my fury.]

8 The people of my heritage has turned against me like a wild lion of the forest. They have roared against me, therefore I have hated them.

9 My heritage have become like a dying animal surrounded by vultures. These birds have come against my heritage from all sides and have said: Gather together, you all the beasts of the field, and come to devour something.

10 Many pastors have destroyed my vineyard, they have trampled my field. They have made my pleasant field a wilderness, a desolation.

11 They have made it a wilderness. It is desolate and it mourns before me. The whole land is desolate, and no one is left to care for it.

12 Destroyers have come on all high places through the wilderness, for the sword of Yahweh devours the land from one end to the other. There is no peace for anyone.

13 But before that happens, they will sow wheat, but they will reap thorns. They will toil without benefit. You will be ashamed of your fruit, because of the fierce anger of Yahweh.

14 Thus says Yahweh concerning all my wicked neighbors, those who have always lived in the land that I have given to my people Israel for an inheritance. Behold I will uproot them from their land, and I will uproot the house of Judah from among them.

15 But after I have uprooted them, I will have compassion on them. And I will bring them back, each one to his inheritance, each one to his land.

16 And if they learn the ways of my people, if they swear with my name by saying 'As Yahweh is alive', like they had taught my people to swear by Baal in the past, then they will be built in the midst of my people. [I will give them a place with me in the same way that I will give a place to my people.]

17 But if they do not listen at that time, then I will destroy such a nation. I will destroy it and make it perish, says Yahweh.

Jeremiah 13

1 And Yahweh spoke to me thus: Go and buy a linen belt for yourself, and put it around your waist. You will not put it into the water.

2 So I bought a belt according to the word of Yahweh, and put it around my waist.

3 And the word of Yahweh came to me a second time in the following words.

4 Take the belt that you have bought, which is around your waist, and get up, and go to Perath, and hide it there in a cleft of the rocks.

5 So I went to Perath and hid it there, as Yahweh had commanded me.

6 And after many days, Yahweh said to me: Arise and go to Perath, and take from there the belt that I commanded you to hide there.

7 So I went to Perath, and I dug, and I took the belt from the place where I had hidden it. And behold, the belt was marred and was no longer good for anything.

8 Then the word of Yahweh came to me in the following words.

9 Thus says Yahweh: In this way I will mar the pride of Judah, and the great pride of Jerusalem.

10 This wicked people who refuses to listen to my words, and who walks in the stubbornness of their hearts, and who goes after other gods to serve them and to worship them. Therefore they will become like this belt which is no longer good for anything.

11 For as a girdle is girded around a man's waist, so I tied to myself the whole house of Israel and the whole house of Judah, says Yahweh, in order to make them my people, and to make known my name, and my praise, and my glory. But my people did not listen to me.

12 Therefore you will say to them this word, Thus says Yahweh the God of Israel, 'Every bottle will be filled with wine'. And they will say to you, 'Do we not know that every bottle will be filled with wine'.

13 Then you will say to them, Thus says Yahweh: Behold I will fill all the inhabitants of this land with drunkenness, even the kings who sit on the throne of David, and the priests, and the prophets, and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

14 And I will dash them one against another, even the fathers and the sons together, says Yahweh. I will neither spare, nor have mercy, nor have compassion. Nothing will prevent me from destroying them.

15 Pay attention and listen, do not be proud. For Yahweh has spoken.

16 Give glory to Yahweh your God before he brings darkness, and before your feet stumble on the dark mountains. You look for light, but he will turn it into the shadow of death and make it gross darkness.

17 If you do not obey his word, then I will weep in secret because of your pride. My eyes will weep bitterly and shed tears, because the the flock of Yahweh is led away captive.

18 Say to the king and the queen his wife: Humble yourselves, and sit down on the ground. For the crown of your glory will fall from your heads.

19 The cities of the south will be shut up, and no man will open them. All Judah will be carried away captive, every one of them will be carried away captive.

20 Lift up your eyes and see those who come from the north. Where is the flock that was given to you, the flock of your glory.

21 What will you say when he sets over you those whom you yourself have taught to rule over you. Will not pangs take hold of you, like they take hold of a woman giving birth.

22 If you say in your heart at that time, 'Why have these things happened to me'. Know that it is because of the multitude of your iniquities that your clothes and your shoes are taken from you.

23 Can a man change the color of his skin, or a leopard his spots. Can you begin to do good, you who are accustomed to do evil.

24 Therefore I will scatter them like stubble that is taken away by the wind of the wilderness.

25 This is your portion, the part that you will get from me, says Yahweh, because you have forgotten me and have trusted in falseness.

26 Therefore I will lift up your skirts over your face, and your private parts will be uncovered.

27 I have seen your adulteries and your neighs, your shameless whoredom on the hills and in the fields [when you were prostituting your soul by worshiping false gods]. I have seen your abominations. Woe to you, O Jerusalem. How long will you continue in your evil way.

Jeremiah 14

1 The word of Yahweh that came to Jeremiah on the occasion of the drought.

2 Judah mourns, and its cities are desolate. They have been heavily thrown to the ground, and the cry of Jerusalem rises.

3 And their nobles have sent their little ones to search for water. And they went to the water wells, and found no water, and came back with their empty vessels. They were confused and ashamed, and they covered their heads.

4 The ground is cracked, because there has been no rain in the land. The plowmen are confused, and they cover their heads.

5 Even the doe in the field forsakes her newborn fawn, because there is no greenery.

6 And the wild donkeys stand in the high places, they sniff the wind like jackals. Their eyes languish, because there is no grass.

7 O Yahweh, act because of your name, despite the fact that our iniquities testify against us. For our rebellions are numerous, we have sinned against you.

8 You are the hope of Israel, its savior in times of trouble. Why should you be like a stranger in the land, like a traveler who has enters it only to spend the night.

9 Why should you be like an amazed man, like a mighty man unable to help. For you are in the midst of us, O Yahweh, and we are called by your name. Do not abandon us.

10 Thus says Yahweh to this people: They have loved to wander, they have not refrained from evil. Therefore Yahweh takes no pleasure in them, and now he will remember their iniquity and punish their sins.

11 And Yahweh said to me: Do not pray for the good of this people.

12 I will not listen to their supplications when they do a fasting. I will not look at them favorably when they offer burnt offerings. And I will destroy them by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence.

13 Then I replied: Ah, Lord Yahweh. Behold the prophets are saying to the people, 'You will not see the sword, and you will have no famine, and I Yahweh, I will give you a guaranteed peace in this place'.

14 And Yahweh said to me: Those prophets prophesy lies in my name, I have not sent them. I have not given them orders, and I have not spoken to them. They prophesy to you visions of falsehood, and worthless divination, the deceit of their own hearts.

15 Therefore thus says Yahweh concerning the prophets who prophesy in my name, those whom I have not sent and who say: Sword and famine will not be in this land.

16 Those prophets will perish by the sword and by famine. And those to whom they prophesy will die by the sword and by famine, and their dead bodies will be thrown in the streets of Jerusalem. And there will be no one to bury them, both they and their wives, and their sons, and their daughters. For I will pour out their wickedness on them.

17 As for you, Jeremiah, speak this message to the people of Judah: Tears flow from my eyes night and day without ceasing. For the virgin daughter of my people is destroyed with a great destruction, and with a very grievous wound.

18 For if I go into the field, behold there are men killed with the sword. And if I enter the city, behold there are men who are consumed by famine. The prophet and the priest both go to a land that they do not know.

19 Have you utterly rejected Judah. Has your soul loathed Zion. Why do you smite us without there being a healing for us. We hoped for peace, and nothing happy happens. We hoped for a time of healing, and behold there is terror.

20 We acknowledge, O Yahweh, our wickedness and the iniquity of our fathers. For we have sinned against you.

21 Do not abhor us. For the sake of your name, do not destroy the throne of your glory. Remember your covenant with us, and do not break it.

22 Is there among the vanities of the nations any false god who is able to produce rain. Is it the sky that gives the rain by itself. Is it not you, O Yahweh our God. Therefore we hope in you, because you have made all these things.

Jeremiah 15

1 And Yahweh said to me: Even if Moses and Samuel were standing before me in the flesh among the men of this people, I would not show favor to this people [and I would save only those who deserve it]. Cast them out of my sight, and let them go.

2 And if they say to you, 'Where will we go'. Then you will say to them, Thus says Yahweh: Those who are destined to death, to death. And those who are destined to the sword, to the sword. And those who are destined to famine, to famine. And those who are destined to the captivity, to the captivity.

3 And I will send four kinds of plagues against them, says Yahweh. The sword to kill them, and dogs to tear them in pieces, and birds of the air and beasts of the earth to devour and destroy them.

4 I will also scatter them throughout all the kingdoms of the earth, because of Manasseh the son of Hezekiah and king of Judah, because of what he did in Jerusalem.

5 Who will have pity on you, O Jerusalem. Who will feel sorry for what will happen to you. Who will go and pray for your peace.

6 You have forsaken me, says Yahweh, and you have gone backward. Therefore I will stretch out my hand against you and destroy you, for I am weary of having compassion.

7 I will fan them with the wind at the gates of the land. I will deprive my people of children and destroy them, all those who have not turned away from their evil ways.

8 Their widows will be more numerous than the sand of the sea. And I will bring against them, against the mothers of the young men, a destroyer who will strike at noonday. I will suddenly bring anguish and terror on the people of Judah.

9 She who had given birth to seven sons will become desolate [because they have perished], and her heart will fail. Her sun sets while it is still day, she is confused and ashamed. And I will give the residue of them to the sword of their enemies, says Yahweh.

10 O my mother, says Jeremiah, I am sorry that you have given birth to me. For I am a man of contention and strife for the whole earth. I do not borrow or lend, but nevertheless every one does curse me.

11 But I serve you wholeheartedly, O Yahweh. In times of disaster and trouble, I pray to you for those who are wrongly my enemies.

12 Can iron break the iron or the brass made in the north. [Says Yahweh.]

13 I will freely give your possessions and your treasures to plunder, you the people of Judah, because of all your sins throughout all your territory.

14 And I will make you go with your enemies into a land that you do not know. For the fire of my anger has been kindled, and it is burning against you.

15 You know everything, O Yahweh. Remember me and visit me, and avenge me of my persecutors. Do not take me away in the continuation of your anger. You know that I suffer reproach for your sake.

16 Your words came to me, and I devoured them. The fact that these words came from you has filled my heart with joy and comfort, despite the fact that their content has grieved my heart. For I am called by your name, O Yahweh the God of armies.

17 I have not sat in the assembly of scoffers to rejoice. I sat alone because of your right hand that is on me, for you have filled me with indignation.

18 Why is my pain continual. Why is my feeling painful and refuses to heal. You make me feel like a spring of water that became dry, like a spring whose water has stopped flowing.

19 Therefore thus says Yahweh: O Jeremiah, you are losing your way in your reasoning. If you return to me, then I will bring you back to me, and you will stand before me. If you separate the precious from the vile, in other words if you refrain from saying useless words, then you will be like my mouth. The people of Judah should change and come back to you, but do not change by becoming like them.

20 And you will be like a strong wall of brass toward this people. They will fight against you, but they will not prevail against you. For I am with you to protect you and to save you, says Yahweh.

21 And I will deliver you out of the hand of the wicked, and I will redeem you out of the hand of the violent.

Jeremiah 16

1 The word of Yahweh came to me in the following words.

2 You will not take a wife, and you will have neither sons nor daughters in this place.

3 For thus says Yahweh concerning the sons and concerning the daughters who are born in this place, and concerning their mothers who bear them, and concerning their fathers who beget them in this land.

4 They will die by a painful death. They will not be lamented, and they will not be buried, and they will be as dung on the face of the earth. They will perish by the sword and by famine, and their dead bodies will be food for the birds of the air and the beasts of the earth.

5 For thus says Yahweh: Do not enter a house of mourning, and do not go to the surroundings to weep or groan with them. For I have taken away my peace from this people, says Yahweh, even my mercy and my compassion.

6 Both great and small will die in this land, and they will not be buried. No one will mourn for them, nor make a cut on his body, nor shave his head to show his sorrow for them.

7 They will not seek to comfort each other about those who have died. No one will comfort those whose mother or father has died.

8 And now, Jeremiah, do not go to a house where there is a party to sit with them to eat or drink.

9 For thus says Yahweh the God of armies, the God of Israel: Behold I will cause to cease from this place, during your days and before your eyes, the voice of mirth and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride.

10 And when you tell this people all these things, they will say to you: Why has Yahweh declared all this great evil against us. What is our iniquity. What sin have we committed against Yahweh our God.

11 Then you will say to them: It is because your fathers have forsaken me, says Yahweh, and have gone after other gods to serve them and to worship them. They have forsaken me because they have not obeyed my law.

12 And you have done more wickedly than your fathers. For behold, each of you follows the stubbornness of his evil heart, in order not to listen to me.

13 Therefore I will carry you out of this land and lead you to a land that you have not known, neither you nor your fathers. And there you will serve other gods day and night. For I will not hold back my anger against you.

14 Therefore behold, says Yahweh, the days are coming when they will no longer say: Yahweh is alive, he who brought the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt.

15 But they will say, 'Yahweh is alive, he who brought the children of Israel out of the land of the north and out of all the countries where he had scattered them'. For I will bring them again into their land that I gave to their fathers.

16 Behold I will send a multitude of fishermen in this land, says Yahweh, and they will come to fish the people of Judah. And afterward I will send a multitude of hunters, and they will hunt the people of Judah on every mountain and on every hill, and in the clefts of the rocks.

17 For my eyes are attentive to all their ways. They are not hidden from my face, and their iniquity is not hidden from my sight.

18 And I will first repay them double for their iniquity and their sin, because they have defiled my land. They have filled my inheritance with all the abominable objects that they have worshiped, and all the detestable behavior that they had.

19 O Yahweh. You are my strength and my help, my refuge in the day of affliction. The nations will come to you from the ends of the earth, and they will say: Surely our fathers have inherited nothing but lies, worthless things in which there is no real profit. [Says Jeremiah.]

20 Should a man make for himself gods who are not gods. [Says Yahweh.]

21 Therefore behold, I will cause them to know it this time. I will cause them to know my hand and my power, and they will know that my name is Yahweh.

Jeremiah 17

1 The sin of Judah is written with a pen of iron, and with the point of a diamond. It is engraved on the tablets of stone of your wicked hearts, and on the horns of your altars. [That is to say, your altars that you build illegally everywhere to offer sacrifices to your other gods, without worrying about the method and categories of offerings indicated in my law.]

2 They continually remember their altars, and their groves which are under the green trees on the high hills, in the same way that they remember their children.

3 O my mountain and its fields, I will give your possessions and all your treasures to be plundered, because of the sin of your high places throughout your territory.

4 You will lose the inheritance that I gave you, and I will make you serve your enemies in a land that you do not know. For you have kindled the fire of my anger, and it will burn forever.

5 Thus says Yahweh: Cursed be the person who puts his trust in humans. For his heart has turned away from Yahweh, since he hopes in the wisdom and strength of men.

6 Such a person is like a tree that is isolated in the desert, and cannot receive the blessings granted to those who have understanding. He is like the one who dwells in a desolate place of the wilderness, a salty land without an inhabitant.

7 Blessed is the man who trusts in Yahweh, the one whose hope is Yahweh.

8 He is like a tree planted near a freshwater spring, which spreads out its roots near a freshwater river. It does not feel the effects of heat, and its leaves remain green. He does not worry about the year of drought, and does not cease to produce fruit.

9 The heart can be deceitful above all things, and exceedingly wicked. Who can know it.

10 I Yahweh, I probe the heart and test the mind, in order to give to each person according to his ways and according to the fruit of his deeds.

11 As a partridge that sits on eggs that she has not laid, so is the one who gets riches by unrighteous methods. In the midst of his days he will leave them, and in the end he will be a fool.

12 Yahweh is a throne of glory. He is exalted from the beginning, like the place of our sanctuary [that he has established among us].

13 O Yahweh, you are the hope of Israel. All those who forsake you will be put to shame. Those who turn away from you will not endure on earth, because they have forsaken Yahweh who is the fountain of the water of life.

14 Heal me, O Yahweh, and I will be healed. Save me, and I will be saved. For you are the object of my praise.

15 Behold they say to me: Where is the word of Yahweh. Let it be fulfilled so that we may see it.

16 You know it, O Yahweh, I have not desired to turn away from you. I have not refused to be a shepherd, and I have not desired the day of trouble [that you have announced by my mouth]. You know why I have said everything that came out of my lips.

17 Do not be a terror to me. You are my hope in the day of adversity.

18 Let my persecutors be put to shame, and let me not be put to shame. Let them tremble, and let me not tremble. Bring the day of evil on them, and destroy them with a double destruction.

Jeremiah 18

1 The word of Yahweh came to Jeremiah in the following words.

2 Arise, and go down to the potter's house, and there I will make you hear my words.

3 Then I went down to the potter's house, and behold, he was working with clay at the wheel.

4 And the potter noticed an anomaly on the vessel of clay that he was making with his hand, and he used the same clay to make another vessel which he shaped as it seemed good to him to make it.

5 Then the word of Yahweh came to me in the following words.

6 Thus speak Yahweh: Can I not act toward you as this potter acts toward the clay, O house of Israel. Behold you are in my hand like the clay in the hand of the potter, O house of Israel.

7 It may happen that I suddenly speak against a nation or against a kingdom, to uproot it, and to pull it down, and to destroy it.

8 And if that nation against which I have spoken turns away from its wickedness, then I will repent of the evil that I have planned to do to them.

9 Or it may happen that I suddenly speak of a nation or a kingdom, to build it and to establish it.

10 And if I see that this nation turns from the right way to do what is evil in my sight, and that they do not obey my voice, then I will repent of the good that I have planned to do to them.

11 Now therefore speak to the men of Judah and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and say: Thus says Yahweh, Behold I am preparing evil against you, I am planning a disaster against you. Turn away now from your evil ways, each of you. Improve your ways and your deeds.

12 But they will say: You are wasting your time. For we will surely walk according to our own imaginations, and each one will act according to the stubbornness of his wicked heart.

13 Therefore thus says Yahweh: Ask now among the nations. Who has ever heard such things. Israel should have been a virgin daughter for me, but she has done disgusting things.

14 Does the snow of Lebanon forsake the rock of the fields. Or do the fresh flowing waters that come from there dry up.

15 Nevertheless my people have forgotten me and have burned incense to false gods. Their leaders have led them astray, for they have left the ancient paths in order to follow strange ways.

16 Therefore their land will become a desolation and will continually be a subject of hissing. All those who will pass there will be astonished and will shake their heads because of what they will see.

17 I will scatter them with an east wind in front of the enemy. I will turn my back on them so as not to look at them on the day of their destruction.

18 Then the enemies of Jeremiah said: Come, and let us plan evil against Jeremiah. For there will always be priests to teach the law, and wise men to advise us, and prophets to give us the true word of God. Come, and let us destroy Jeremiah with our tongue. Let us not pay attention to any of his words.

19 Listen to me, O Yahweh, and listen to the voice of those who contend with me.

20 Should one do evil in order to reward a good deed. For they have dug a pit for my soul. Remember how I stood before you to speak for their good, in order to turn away your anger from them.

21 Therefore now, deliver their children to the famine and cause them to perish by the sword of their enemies. Let their wives lose their children and husbands, and let their husbands be killed by diseases. Let their young men be killed by the sword in battle.

22 Let cries be heard from their houses, when you suddenly bring an army against them. For they have dug a pit to take my life, they have hidden snares for my feet.

23 O Yahweh, you know all their plans to kill me. Do not forgive their iniquity, do not erase their sin from before you. Let them be overthrown before you, punish them in your anger.

Jeremiah 19

1 Thus says Yahweh to me: Go and buy an earthen bottle from a potter, and take with you some of the elders of the people and some of the elders of the priests.

2 And you will go to the valley of the son of Hinnom, which is near the entrance of the gate Harsith, and you will proclaim there the words that I will tell you.

3 You will say: Hear the word of Yahweh, O kings of Judah and inhabitants of Jerusalem. Thus says Yahweh the God of armies, the God of Israel, Behold I will bring such a disaster on this place that the ears of anyone who will hear of it will tingle.

4 Because they have forsaken me and desecrated this place. They have burned incense there to other gods that they had not known, neither they nor their fathers nor the kings of Judah. And they have filled this place with the blood of innocents.

5 And they have built high places for Baal, to burn their children in the fire for burnt offerings to Baal. It is something that I had not commanded and about which I had not spoken. Such a thing never even entered my mind.

6 Therefore behold, says Yahweh, the days are coming when it will no longer be called Topheth or the valley of the son of Hinnom, but the valley of slaughter.

7 And I will destroy the counsel of Judah and Jerusalem in this place. And I will cause them to fall by the sword before their enemies and by the hand of those who seek their lives. And I will give their carcasses to be food for the birds of the air and for the beasts of the earth.

8 And I will cause this city to become a desolation and a subject of hissing. All those who will pass there will be astonished and will hiss because of all its destruction.

9 And I will cause them to eat the flesh of their sons and the flesh of their daughters, and they will each eat the flesh of his friend, in the siege and in the distress to which their enemies and those who seek their lives will reduce them.

10 And when you will have told them these things, then you will break the bottle in the sight of the men who have come with you.

11 And you will say to them, Thus says Yahweh the God of armies: It is in this way that I will break this people and this city, as one breaks a potter's vessel which cannot be restored [except by a potter]. And they will bury the victims in Topheth until there be no place to bury them.

12 I will do thus to this place, says Yahweh, and to its inhabitants, and I will make this city like Topheth.

13 The houses of Jerusalem and the houses of the kings of Judah will be defiled like the place of Topheth, because of all the houses on whose roofs they have burned incense to honor all the armies of the heaven, and because of drink offerings that they have poured out there to other gods.

14 Then Jeremiah returned from Topheth, where Yahweh had sent him to prophesy. And he stood in the courtyard of the house of Yahweh, and said the following thing to all the people.

15 Thus says Yahweh the God of armies, the God of Israel: Behold I will bring on this city and on all its towns all the evil that I have spoken against it. For they have hardened their necks with the aim of not listening to my words.

Jeremiah 20

1 And Pashhur heard Jeremiah prophesying these things. He was the son of Immer the priest, and a high officer in the temple of Yahweh.

2 Then Pashhur smote Jeremiah the prophet [that is to say, he caused to smite him], and he locked the hands and feet of Jeremiah between large blocks of wood. This was at the upper gate of Benjamin of the temple of Yahweh. [Jotham king of Judah had built the upper gate of the house of Yahweh.]

3 And Pashhur released Jeremiah the next morning, and then Jeremiah said to him: Yahweh has not called your name Pashhur, but Magor-missabib.

4 For thus says Yahweh: Behold I will deliver you to terror, you and all your friends. They will fall by the sword of their enemies, and your own eyes will see it. And I will also deliver all Judah into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he will carry them captive to Babylon after killing a part of them with the sword.

5 And I will deliver into the hand of their enemies all the riches of this city among which are the products of the labor of its inhabitants. All the precious things of the city and all the treasures of the kings of Judah will be plundered, and taken away, and carry to Babylon.

6 And you Pashhur, and all those who dwell in your house, you all will go into captivity. You will go to Babylon, and you will die there, and you will be buried there, you and all your friends to whom you have prophesied falsely.

7 O Yahweh, you have persuaded me, and I am persuaded. You are stronger than me, and you have prevailed on me. And I have become an object of mockery, everyone makes fun of me every day. [Says Jeremiah.]

8 Because every time I speak, I cry out to announce violence and destruction. The word of Yahweh has made of me an object of reproach and derision all day long.

9 Sometimes I say to myself, 'I will not mention him anymore when I speak, and I will no longer speak on his behalf'. But there is something in my heart, like a devouring fire that dries up my bones. I feel uncomfortable when I try to contain your message inside me, I cannot refrain from doing your will.

10 And now I hear the defamations of several people, and there is terror on every side. For they say, 'Accuse him, let us accuse him'. All those who were at peace with me are now hoping that I will stumble, and they say: Perhaps we can trick Jeremiah, and we will prevail against him and take our revenge on him.

11 But Yahweh is with me like a mighty warrior. Therefore my persecutors will stumble and will not prevail. They will be filled with shame, because they have acted unwisely. It will be an everlasting shame that will never be forgotten.

12 O Yahweh the God of armies, you test the righteous and you see the mind and the heart. Let me see your vengeance against them, for I have entrusted my cause to you.

13 Sing to Yahweh, praise Yahweh. For he delivers the soul of the poor from the hand of the evildoers.

14 Cursed be the day in which I was born. May the day in which my mother gave birth to me not be blessed. [For I do not desire the general disaster that I have the responsibility to announce and that will affect the totality of my people.]

15 Cursed be the man who brought this news to my father and made him glad by saying: A man child is born to you. [Now Jeremiah is not perfect as it is the case of any normal human being, because he is not Christ.]

16 Let that man be like a city that Yahweh is destroying without mercy. Let him hear shouts of war in the morning and wails at noon.

17 Why was it not God's pleasure to kill me in my mother's womb. Why has she not been my grave. Or why has she not kept me in her womb forever rather than to give birth to me.

18 Why did I come out of my mother's womb to see pain and sorrow, and to spend my days in shame in the eyes of all those with whom I interact.

Jeremiah 21

1 And the word of Yahweh came to Jeremiah when king Zedekiah sent to him Pashhur the son of Malchijah and Zephaniah the son of Maaseiah the priest.

2 He sent them to tell Jeremiah: Inquire of Yahweh for us, I pray you. For Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon is making war against us. Perhaps Yahweh will perform some of his wondrous works for us, so that the enemy may depart from us.

3 Then Jeremiah answered them by saying: You will speak thus to Zedekiah.

4 Thus says Yahweh the God of Israel: Behold I will make useless the weapons of war that are in your hands, with which you intend to fight against the king of Babylon and the Chaldeans who are outside the wall of the city and who are besieging you. For the enemy will enter into the midst of the city of Jerusalem.

5 And I myself will fight against you with an outstretched hand and with a strong arm, because of my anger, and my fury, and my great indignation.

6 For I will smite the inhabitants of this city, both man and animals, and many will die of a great pestilence.

7 And after that, says Yahweh, I will deliver Zedekiah the king of Judah, and his servants, and the people, all those who will be alive in this city after the destruction caused by the pestilence, and by the famine, and by the sword [for they will even fight against each other in distress]. They will all be delivered into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, into the hand of their enemies and into the hand of those who seek their lives. And Nebuchadrezzar will smite them with the edge of the sword. He will not spare them, he will have neither mercy nor compassion.

8 And you will say to this people of Judah: Thus says Yahweh, Behold I set before you the way of life and the way of death.

9 Whoever will remain in this city will die by the sword, or by the famine, or by the pestilence. But whoever will go outside to give himself to the Chaldeans who are besieging the city will live, and his life will be for him like a loot of war.

10 For I have set my face against this city in order to do evil and not to do good, says Yahweh. It will be given into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he will burn it with fire.

11 And you will say to the house of the king of Judah: Hear the word of Yahweh.

12 O house of David, thus says Yahweh: Execute justice in the morning, and deliver the oppressed out of the hand of the oppressor. Lest my anger flare up like fire and burn without there being anyone able to quench it, because of the evil of your doings.

13 Behold I am against you, O inhabitants of the valley, and of the rock of the plain, says Yahweh, you who are saying: Who will come down against us. Who will enter into our habitations.

14 I will punish you according to the fruit of your doings, says Yahweh. And I will kindle a fire in your forest, and it will devour all that is around it.

Jeremiah 22

1 Thus speaks Yahweh: Go down to the house of the king of Judah, and there you will declare the following thing.

2 You will say: Listen to the word of Yahweh, O you the king of Judah who is sitting on the throne of David, you and your servants, and your people who enter by these gates.

3 Thus speaks Yahweh: Execute justice and fairness, deliver the oppressed out of the hand of the oppressor. Do not mistreat the foreigner, or the fatherless, or the widow. Do not use violence, and do not shed innocent blood in this place.

4 For if you act in this way, then the kings who are sitting on the throne will continue to enter by the gates of this house, and to ride in chariots and on horses, they, and their servants, and their people.

5 But I swear by myself that this house [of the kings of Judah] will become a ruin if you do not obey to these words, says Yahweh.

6 For thus speaks Yahweh concerning the house of the king of Judah: You are for me like Gilead, and like the summit of Lebanon. But I will certainly make you a wilderness, like cities that are not inhabited.

7 And I will prepare destroyers against you, each with his weapons, and they will cut down your most beautiful cedar trees and throw them into the fire.

8 And people from many nations will pass by this city, and they will say to each other: Why has Yahweh done thus to this great city.

9 And they will answer: Because they have forsaken the covenant of Yahweh their God, and have worshiped other gods, and have served them.

10 Do not weep for the one who is dead, and do not bemoan him. But weep for the one who is going away. For he will not return, he will no longer see his native country.

11 For thus speaks Yahweh concerning Shallum [also called Jehoahaz] the son of Josias king of Judah, he who reigned instead of his father Josiah and who has been taken away from this place: He will never come back.

12 For he will no longer see this land, and he will die in the place where he has been taken into captivity.

13 Woe to him who builds his house by the fruit of unrighteousness, and his private rooms by the fruit of injustice. He who makes his neighbor work without paying him, without giving him his salary, and who says the following thing.

14 I will build for myself a large house, with spacious rooms. And I will beautify it with large windows, and with a cedar ceiling, and I will paint it with vermilion.

15 Is it because of your passion for cedars that you have been made king [over my people whom I had chosen to bear my name]. Did not your father eat, and drink, and prosper, when he practiced justice and fairness. [Your ancestor David acted in this way, and he is your father according to the fact that he is the one because of whom you have become king over my people.]

16 He was judging the cause of the afflicted and of the poor, and he was prospering. Is it not the practice of these things that means that a person knows me, says Yahweh.

17 But you use your eyes and your heart only for your greed, and to shed innocent blood, and to practice oppression and violence.

18 Therefore thus says Yahweh concerning Jehoiakim the son of Josiah and king of Judah: The people of Judah will not mourn him. They will not say to each other, 'Ah my brother' or 'Ah my sister'. They will not lament for him by saying, 'Ah lord' or 'Ah his glory'.

19 Jehoiakim will be buried like a donkey is buried, dragged and thrown outside the gates of Jerusalem.

20 O people of Judah, go up to Lebanon and cry out. Lift up your voice in Bashan, and cry out from the passages. For all those who love you will be destroyed.

21 I spoke to you in the time of your prosperity, but you said, 'I will not hear'. This is how you have acted from your youth, you did not want to obey my voice.

22 The wind of fury will smite all the pastors, and those who love you will go into captivity [that is to say, those people from whom you hope for help will also be taken into captivity]. Surely then you will be ashamed and confused, because of all your wickedness.

23 O inhabitants of Lebanon, you who make your nest in the cedars, you will be so beautiful when pangs come on you like the pangs of a woman giving birth.

24 I am alive, says Yahweh. Even if Coniah [also called Jehoiachin] the son of Jehoiakim and king of Judah were a ring in my right hand, I would pluck you from there.

25 I will give you into the hand of those who seek your life, into the hand of those of whom you are afraid, into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon and into the hand of the Chaldeans.

26 And I will cause them to carry you away, you and your mother who gave birth to you, into another country where you were not born. And you will die there.

27 And you will desire to return to your land, but it will not happen.

28 Is not this man Coniah [also called Jehoiachin] a despised and broken vase. Is he not a vase in which no one takes pleasure. Why are they carried away, he and his seed, and thrown into a land that they do not know.

29 O earth, earth, earth, hear the word of the Yahweh.

30 Thus speaks Yahweh: Register this man as deprived of [spiritual] children, a man who will not prosper in his days. For none of his descendants will succeed in sitting on the throne of David to rule over Judah.

Jeremiah 23

1 Woe to the pastors who destroy and scatter the sheep of my pasture, says Yahweh.

2 Therefore thus says Yahweh the God of Israel, concerning the pastors who feed my people: You have scattered my flock and driven them away, and have not cared for them. Behold I will punish you for the wickedness of your doings, says Yahweh.

3 And I will gather the remnant of my sheep from all the countries where I will have driven them, and will bring them back to their pasture. And they will be fruitful and multiply.

4 And I will set up shepherds over them, to feed them. And they will fear no more, nor be dismayed, and none will be missing, says Yahweh.

5 Behold the days are coming, says Yahweh, when I will bring forth a righteous branch to David. He will reign like a king and will prosper, and will execute judgment and justice on the earth.

6 In his days Judah will be saved [from its sins], and Israel will dwell safely. And this is the name by which he will be called: Yahweh our righteousness.

7 Therefore behold, says Yahweh, the days are coming when they will no longer say: Yahweh is alive, he who brought the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt.

8 But they will say: Yahweh is alive, he who has brought the seed of the house of Israel out of the country of the north and out of all the countries where I had driven them. And the will dwell in their own land.

9 My heart is broken within me, and all my bones tremble, says Jeremiah, because of the false prophets. I am like a drunken man, like a man whom wine has overcome, because of Yahweh and because of his holy words.

10 For the land is full of adulterers, and the land will mourn greatly because of the curse [that was proclaimed in our covenant with Yahweh]. The pleasant places of the wilderness will be dried up. For the people run to evil, and their strength is only for iniquity.

11 The prophets and the priests are corrupted, and I have found their wickedness even in my house [which has been built to bear my name], says Yahweh.

12 Therefore their way will be slippery and dark, they will be pushed and will fall. For I will bring a disaster on them in the year that I will punish them, says Yahweh.

13 I had seen folly in the prophets of Samaria. For they prophesied by Baal, and caused my people Israel to err.

14 But I have seen horrible things in the prophets of Jerusalem. They commit adultery, and they walk in falseness. They strengthen the hands of the evildoers, so that no one may turn away from his wickedness. They are all like Sodom in my sight, and the inhabitants of the land are like Gomorrah.

15 Therefore thus says Yahweh the God of armies concerning the prophets: Behold I will feed them with wormwood, and make them drink poisonous waters. For wickedness has gone forth throughout all the land because of the prophets of Jerusalem.

16 Thus says Yahweh the God of armies: Do not listen to the words of the prophets who prophesy to you, and who teach you vanity. They speak of the visions of their own hearts, and not by the mouth of Yahweh.

17 They say to those who despise me, 'Yahweh has said: You will have peace'. And they say to all those who follow the stubbornness of their own hearts, 'No evil will come on you'.

18 Who among them has stood in the council of Yahweh to see and hear his word. Who among them has paid attention to his testimonies in order to hear his word.

19 Behold the tempest of Yahweh will break forth because of his fury. A violent whirlwind will fall on the heads of the wicked.

20 The anger of Yahweh will not return, until he has executed and finished the intents of his heart. You will understand it clearly in the latter days.

21 I have not sent these prophets, and nevertheless they run to speak in my name. I have not spoken to them, and nevertheless they prophesy in my name.

22 If they had stood in my council, then they would have declared my words to my people, and my people would have turned away from their evil ways and from the wickedness of their imaginations.

23 Am I God only for people who want to get closer to me by their behavior, says Yahweh. Am I not also a God who reigns over those who are far away from me by their behavior.

24 Can anyone escape from my sight by hiding himself in a secret place, says Yahweh. Do I not fill the heaven and the earth, says Yahweh.

25 I have heard what the prophets have said, those persons who prophesy falsely in my name by saying: I have had a vision in a dream, I have had a vision in a dream.

26 How long will the prophets take pleasure in prophesying falsely. They desire to prophesy the deceptions imagined by their own hearts.

27 Do they think that all of my people will forget my name, namely my true nature, when each one tells his neighbor false dreams or dreams that are not visions. This is how their fathers had forgotten my name to worship Baal.

28 If a prophet has a dream, then let him tell it without forgetting to specify that it is only a dream. And if a prophet receives my word, then let him report my word faithfully. Why mix the straw with the wheat, says Yahweh.

29 Is not my word like a fire, says Yahweh. Is not my word like a hammer that breaks rocks into pieces.

30 Therefore behold, says Yahweh, I am against the prophets who steal my words every one from his neighbor [with the intention of presenting himself as the one who has received that word from my mouth].

31 And behold, says Yahweh, I am against the prophets who use their tongues to attribute to me the words that I have not said to them personally. For they speak by saying: He has said.

32 And behold, says Yahweh, I am against those who prophesy by telling false dreams which they have imagined in their hearts. They cause my people to err by their lies and by their vain boasting. I have not sent them, and I have not spoken to them. Therefore they do not give any advantage to this people, says Yahweh.

33 As for you, Jeremiah, if someone of this people of Judah, or a prophet, or a priest, comes to you and asks you, 'What is the burden from Yahweh'. Then you will answer them, 'What burden. I will even abandon you, says Yahweh'.

34 And concerning the prophet, or the priest, or the one of the people who will say, 'The burden from Yahweh'. I will punish that person and his house.

35 You will say every one to his neighbor, and every one to his brother, 'What has Yahweh answered. What has Yahweh spoken'.

36 But you will no longer say, 'The burden from Yahweh'. For the burden of every man will be his own words. For you have perverted the words of the living God, of Yahweh the God of armies who is our God.

37 So you will question a prophet by saying, 'What has Yahweh answered. What has Yahweh spoken'.

38 And if you say again, 'The burden from Yahweh'. Then thus says Yahweh: Because you say this word, 'The burden from Yahweh', despite the fact that I have sent to tell you, 'You will not say: The burden from Yahweh'.

39 Therefore behold, I will utterly forget you and I will reject you, you and the city that I had given to you and to your fathers. And I will cast you away far from my face. [You to whom I am speaking.]

40 And I will bring on you an everlasting reproach. It will be a perpetual shame that will never be forgotten.

Jeremiah 24

1 And behold, Yahweh made me see two baskets of figs that were placed in front of the temple of Yahweh, after Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon had carried away captive from Jerusalem to Babylon Jeconiah [also called Jehoiachin] the son of Jehoiakim king of Judah, and the princes [leaders] of Judah, with the workmen and the craftsmen of Jerusalem.

2 One of the baskets contained very good figs, like the figs of the first harvest, and the other basket had very bad figs that could not be eaten because of their bad quality.

3 Then Yahweh said to me, 'What do you see, Jeremiah'. And I replied: Figs. The good figs are very good, and the bad figs are so bad that they cannot be eaten because of their bad quality.

4 And the word of Yahweh came to me in the following words.

5 Thus speaks Yahweh the God of Israel: As you have recognized these good figs, so I will recognize the good quality of [many among] the captives of Judah whom I have sent out of this place into the land of the Chaldeans.

6 And I will look at them with a favorable eye, and I will bring them back to this land. And I will build them, and I will not destroy them. I will plant them, and I will not uproot them. [Now Yahweh is talking about their legacies, and not necessarily their physical bodies.]

7 For I will give them a heart to know me, and they will know that I am Yahweh. And they will be my people, and I will be their God, for they will return to me each with his whole heart.

8 And thus says Yahweh: As you have recognized the bad figs that cannot be eaten because of their bad quality, so I will give up Zedekiah the king of Judah, and his princes [leaders], and [many among] the residue of Jerusalem who remain in this land and those who dwell in the land of Egypt.

9 I will make them an object of disgust for all the kingdoms of the earth, an object of reproach and a proverb, an object of sarcasm and a curse, in all the places where I will drive them.

10 And I will send against them the sword, and the famine, and the pestilence, until they disappeared from the land that I gave to them and to their fathers.

Jeremiah 25

1 The word that came to Jeremiah concerning all the people of Judah, in the fourth year of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah king of Judah. It was in the first year of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon.

2 Jeremiah the prophets declared it to all the people of Judah and to all the inhabitants of Jerusalem in the following word.

3 The word of Yahweh came to me from the thirteenth year of Josiah the son of Amon and king of Judah, twenty three years ago, and it has continued to this day. And I have spoken to you, rising early in the morning and speaking, and you have not obeyed.

4 And Yahweh has sent to you all his servants the prophets, rising early in the morning and sending them, but you have not wanted to pay attention and you have not obeyed.

5 They have said: Return now from your evil ways, from the evil of your doings, each of you. And you will dwell in the land that Yahweh has given to you and to your fathers, forever and ever.

6 Do not go after other gods to serve them or to worship them. Do not provoke me to anger by the work of your hands, and I will not hurt you.

7 But you have not wanted to obey me, says Yahweh. And you have provoked me to anger by the work of your hands, in order to harm yourselves.

8 Therefore thus says Yahweh the God of armies: Because you have not obeyed my words.

9 Behold I will send and take all the families of the north, says Yahweh, and Nebuchadrezzar my servant who is the king of Babylon. And I will bring them against this land of Judah, and against its inhabitants, and against all these nations who are around it. And I will destroy those lands [by the hand of Nebuchadrezzar my servant], and they will become perpetual desolations, and a subject of astonishment and of hissing.

10 I will bring an end to the voice of mirth and the voice of gladness in those places, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride, the sound of the millstones and the light of the lamps.

11 For this whole land will become a desolation, and a subject of astonishment, and these peoples will serve the king of Babylon for seventy years. [More precisely the kings of Babylon, Nebuchadrezzar and his successors who will be by this fact his spiritual children.]

12 And when seventy years are accomplished, I will punish the king of Babylon and that nation, says Yahweh, because of their iniquities [which will be found at that time]. I will punish the land of the Chaldeans, and I will make it a perpetual desolation.

Jeremiah 26

1 At the beginning of the reign of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah king of Judah, the following word came from Yahweh.

2 Thus says Yahweh: Stand in the courtyard of the house of the Yahweh, and speak to those who come from all the towns of Judah to worship in the temple of Yahweh. You will tell them all the words that I command you, and you will not diminish a word.

3 Perhaps they will listen and turn away each one from his evil way. And then I will repent of the evil that I purpose to do to them because of the wickedness of their deeds.

4 You will say to them, Thus says Yahweh: If you do not listen to me when I command you to walk in my law that I have set before you.

5 If you do not listen to the words of my servants the prophets whom I send to you. For I arise early in the morning to send them, but you do not want to listen.

6 Then I will cause this house [that is called by my name] to become like Shiloh, and will make this city a curse to all the nations of the earth.

7 Now the priests, and the prophets, and all the people, they heard Jeremiah speaking these words in the house [temple] of Yahweh.

8 And when Jeremiah had finished speaking all that Yahweh had commanded him to speak to all the people, then he was seized by the priests, and the prophets, and all the people. And they were saying: You will surely die.

9 Why have you prophesied in the name of Yahweh by saying, 'This house will become like Shiloh, and this city will be desolate without an inhabitant'. And all the people gathered against Jeremiah in the house [temple] of Yahweh.

10 And when the princes [leaders] of Judah heard these things, then they came up from the king's house to the house [temple] of Yahweh, and sat down at the entrance of the new gate of the temple of Yahweh. [Jotham king of Judah had built the upper gate of the house of Yahweh.]

11 Then the priests and the prophets spoke to the princes [leaders] and to all the people by saying: This man deserves to die. For he has prophesied against this city, as you have heard with your ears.

12 Then Jeremiah said to all the princes [leaders] and to all the people: Yahweh has sent me to prophesy against this house and against this city all the words that you have heard.

13 Now therefore reform your ways and your doings, and obey the voice of Yahweh your God. For then Yahweh will repent of the evil that he has pronounced against you.

14 As for me, behold I am in your hands. Do to me what seems good and right in your eyes.

15 But know that if you kill me, then you will have put innocent blood on yourselves, and on this city, and on its inhabitants. For it is really Yahweh who has sent me to you, to speak all these words in your ears.

16 Then the princes [leaders] and all the people said to the priests and to the prophets: This man does not deserve to die, for he has spoken to us in the name of Yahweh our God.

17 Then some of the elders of the land stood up and said the following thing to all the assembly of the people.

18 Micah the Morashtite prophesied in the days of Hezekiah king of Judah, and he spoke to all the people of Judah by saying: Thus says Yahweh the God of armies, Zion will be plowed like a field, and Jerusalem will become like heaps of stones, and the mountain of the temple will become a forest.

19 Had Hezekiah king of Judah and all the people of Judah put him to death. Had not Hezekiah feared Yahweh and had he not entreated Yahweh to have mercy. And then Yahweh had repented of the evil that he had pronounced against them. Why should we bring such a great sin on our souls [by killing Jeremiah].

20 Now there was also a man who prophesied in the name of Yahweh, Uriah the son of Shemaiah who was from Kiriath-jearim. He had prophesied against this city and against this land by saying the same words that Jeremiah has prophesied.

21 And when Jehoiakim the king heard the words of Uriah, the king with all his mighty men and with all his princes [leaders], then the king sought to kill him. But when Uriah heard it, he fled and went into Egypt because he was afraid.

22 Then king Jehoiakim sent men into Egypt, namely Elnathan the son of Achbor and some men with him, into Egypt.

23 And they took Uriah out of Egypt and brought him to king Jehoiakim, and the king caused him to be killed with the sword, and his dead body was thrown into the graves of the common people.

24 But the hand of Ahikam the son of Shaphan was with Jeremiah to protect him, so that he would not be given into the hands of the people who wanted to kill him.

Jeremiah 27

1 In the fourth year of the reign of Zedekiah the son of Josiah king of Judah, the following word came to Jeremiah from Yahweh.

2 Thus says Yahweh to me: Make a yoke out of straps and poles, and put it on your neck.

3 And you will send similar yokes to the king of Edom, and to the king of Moab, and the king of the children of Ammon, and to the king of Tyre, and to the king of Sidon, by the hands of the messengers who have come to Jerusalem to meet Zedekiah the king of Judah.

4 And you will give them my orders for their masters by saying, Thus says Yahweh the God of armies, the God of Israel: You will say the following things to your masters.

5 I have made the earth, and also the man and the beasts that are on earth. I have done it by my great power and by my outstretched arm, and I give the authority on earth to whom I want to give it.

6 And now, I give all these lands into the hands of my servant Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon. And I also give him the beasts of the fields, to serve him.

7 And all the nations will serve him, and his son, and the son of his son, until the coming of the time of the submission of his own land, when many nations and great kings will subdue him.

8 And if a nation or a kingdom does not serve Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon, if they do not put their neck under the yoke of the king of Babylon, then I will punish that nation by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence, says Yahweh, until I destroyed them by his hand.

9 Therefore do not listen to your prophets, nor to your soothsayers, nor to your dreamers, nor to your necromancers, nor to your sorcerers, all those who will tell you: You will not serve the king of Babylon.

10 For it is a lie that they prophesy to you. And if you want to listen to them then you will be sent far from your land, to a place where I will lead you and make you perish.

11 And concerning the nation that will put their necks under the yoke of the king of Babylon to serve him, I will let that same nation in their own land, says Yahweh. And they will cultivates their own land, and will dwell there.

12 And I Jeremiah, I also spoke to Zedekiah king of Judah according to the same words by saying: Put your necks under the yoke of the king of Babylon, and serve him and his people, and you will live.

13 Why should you want to die, you and your people, by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence, as Yahweh has declared it concerning any nation that will not want to serve the king of Babylon.

14 Therefore do not listen to the words of the prophets who speak to you by saying, 'You will not serve the king of Babylon'. For it is the lie that they prophesy to you.

15 For I have not sent them, says Yahweh, and nevertheless they prophesy the lie in my name. And if you want to listen to them then I will lead you out of your land and make you perish, you and the prophets who prophesy to you.

16 I also spoke to the priests and to all this people by saying, Thus says Yahweh: Do not listen to the words of your prophets who prophesy to you by saying, 'Behold the utensils of the house of Yahweh will soon be brought back from Babylon'. For it is the lie that they prophesy to you.

17 Do not listen to those prophets. Serve the king of Babylon, and you will live. Why should this city become a desolation.

18 And if they are truly prophets [and have simply temporarily lost their way], if the word of Yahweh is with them, then let them entreat Yahweh the God of armies so that the utensils that remain in the house of Yahweh, and in the house of the king of Judah, and in Jerusalem, will not be taken away to Babylon.

19 For I announce now something that they do not know: Thus says Yahweh the God of armies, concerning the pillars, and concerning the sea, and concerning the bases, and concerning the residue of the utensils that remain in this city.

20 Those things that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon has not taken when he has carried away captives from Jerusalem to Babylon, when he took Jeconiah [also called Jehoiachin] the son of Jehoiakim and king of Judah, with all the nobles of Judah and Jerusalem.

21 Thus speaks Yahweh the God of armies, the God of Israel, concerning the utensils that remain in the house of Yahweh, and in the house of the king of Judah, and in Jerusalem.

22 They will be carried to Babylon, and they will stay there until the day when I come for them, says Yahweh. Then I will bring them back, and restore them to this place.

Jeremiah 28

1 In that same year, in the fifth month of the fourth year of the reign of Zedekiah king of Judah, there was a prophet called Hananiah who was the son of Azzur and who was from Gibeon. And he said the following thing to me in the house [temple] of Yahweh, in the presence of the priests and of all the people.

2 Thus says Yahweh the God of armies, the God of Israel [who has spoken to me, I Hananiah]: I will break the yoke of the king of Babylon.

3 Within the space of two full years I will bring back to this place all the utensils of the house of Yahweh, the utensils that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon took from this place and carried to Babylon.

4 And I will bring back to this place Jeconiah [also called Jehoiachin] the son of Jehoiakim king of Judah, with all the captives of Judah who went to Babylon, says Yahweh. For I will break the yoke of the king of Babylon.

5 Then Jeremiah the prophet said the following thing to Hananiah the prophet, in the presence of the priests and of all the people who were in the house of Yahweh [namely in the courtyards of the temple of Yahweh].

6 Jeremiah the prophet said: So be it. May Yahweh do so. May Yahweh perform your words as you have prophesied it. May he restore to this place the utensils of the house of Yahweh and all the captives.

7 But listen now to the following word that I speak in your ears and in the ears of all the people.

8 There have been prophets before me and before you, from the ancient times. And they prophesied against many countries and against great kingdoms, and they announced either war, or disaster, or pestilence.

9 But if there is a prophet who announces the way in which peace will be restored in times of trouble, and if events occur in accordance with his prophecy, then the people will know that this prophet has not spoken falsely when he said that Yahweh has sent him.

10 Then Hananiah the prophet took the yoke from the neck of Jeremiah the prophet, and broke it.

11 And Hananiah spoke in the presence of all the people by saying, 'Thus says Yahweh, I will break thus the yoke of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon from the necks of all the nations, within the space of two full years'. And Jeremiah the prophet went away.

12 Now after Hananiah the prophet had broken the yoke from the neck of Jeremiah the prophet, the word of Yahweh came to Jeremiah in the following words.

13 Go and tell Hananiah the following thing, 'Thus says Yahweh: You have broken a yoke of wood, but I have made yokes of iron instead of yokes of wood'.

14 For thus says Yahweh the God of armies, the God of Israel: I have put a yoke of iron on the neck of all these nations, in order to make them serve Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon. For they will serve him, and I have also given him the beasts of the field.

15 Then Jeremiah the prophet said to Hananiah the prophet: Hear now, Hananiah. Yahweh has not sent you, and you make this people believe a lie.

16 Therefore thus says Yahweh: Behold I will remove you from the face of the earth, because your words have been rebellion against Yahweh. And you will die this year.

17 And Hananiah the prophet died in the same year, in the seventh month.

Jeremiah 29

1 Now here are the words of the letter that Jeremiah the prophet sent from Jerusalem to the residue of the elders who had been carried away captive, and to the priests, and to the prophets, and to all the people whom Nebuchadnezzar had carried away captive from Jerusalem to Babylon.

2 So this letter was sent after the departure for captivity of Jeconiah [also called Jehoiachin], and of the queen mother, and of the eunuchs, and of the princes [leaders] of Judah and Jerusalem, and of the workemen, and of the craftsmen, all those who had been carried away from Jerusalem at that time.

3 Jeremiah sent it by the hand of Elasah the son of Shaphan and Gemariah the son of Hilkiah, when Zedekiah the king of Judah [the successor of Jehoiachin] sent them to Babylon to meet Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon. The letter contained the following words.

4 Thus speaks Yahweh the God of the armies, the God of Israel, to all the captives whom I have caused to be carried away from Jerusalem to Babylon.

5 Build houses to dwell in them, and plant gardens to eat their fruits.

6 Take women in marriage to beget sons and daughters. Take also women for your sons, and give your daughters in marriage to men, so that they may have sons and daughters. Multiply where you are, and do not decrease.

7 And seek the welfare of the city where I have caused you to be carried away captive, and pray to Yahweh for it. For you will have peace through their peace.

8 For thus speaks Yahweh the God of armies, the God of Israel: Do not be deceived by your prophets who are among you, or by your dreamers, and do not let your own dreams influence you.

9 For it is with falsity that they tell you prophecies in my name. I have not sent them, says Yahweh.

10 For thus says Yahweh: After the accomplishment of seventy years for Babylon, I will remember you. I will perform my good word that I have announced to you, by causing you to return to this place [namely the place from which Jeremiah has sent you this letter].

11 For I know the plans that I have formed for you, says Yahweh. I have planned peace and not evil, to give you hope in your latter end.

12 You will invoke me, and you will go and pray to me, and I will hear you.

13 You will seek me and find me, when you seek me with all your heart.

14 And I will let myself be found by you, says Yahweh, and I will bring you back from your captivity. I will gather you from all the nations and from all the places where I have led you, says Yahweh, and I will bring you back to the place from which I have caused you to be carried away captive.

15 For you have said: Yahweh has caused some of us to become prophets while we are in Babylon. [And you think in yourself: Perhaps it is not essential to seek to practice the totality of the commandments of Moses which specify particular rituals that priests who are the descendants of Aaron must practice a house of God which is designed to be their place of service.]

16 Therefore thus says Yahweh concerning the king who is sitting on the throne of David, and concerning all the people who dwell in this city of Jerusalem, your brothers who have not gone with you into captivity.

17 Thus says Yahweh the God of armies: Behold I will send among them the sword, and the famine, and the pestilence, and I will make them like vile figs that cannot be eaten because of their bad quality.

18 And I will pursue them with the sword, and with the famine, and with the pestilence. I will make them an object of disgust for all the kingdoms of the earth, and a curse, and a subject of astonishment and of hissing, and an object of reproach among all the nations where I will drive them.

19 For they have not obeyed my words that I have sent by my servants the prophets, says Yahweh. I have arisen early every day to send them but you have not wanted to pay attention, says Yahweh.

20 Now therefore, take care to obey the words of Yahweh [that I send you by my servants the prophets], you all the captives whom I have sent from Jerusalem to Babylon. [Says Yahweh.]

21 And now, thus says Yahweh the God of armies, the God of Israel, concerning Ahab the son of Kolaiah, and concerning Zedekiah the son of Maaseiah, these two men who are among you and who have made false prophecies in my name. Behold I will deliver them into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar the king of Babylon, and he will kill them before your eyes.

22 And they will become an object of curse in the minds of all the captives of Judah who are in Babylon, and the following proverb will arise about them: May Yahweh make you like Zedekiah and like Ahab, whom the king of Babylon has roasted in the fire.

23 And this will happen because they have acted stupidly in Israel. For they have committed adultery with the wives of their neighbors, and they have spoken falsely in my name by saying things that I had not commanded them to say. I know that they have done these things, I am a witness, says Yahweh.

24 And you will say the following thing to Shemaiah the Nehelamite.

25 Thus says Yahweh the God of armies, the God of Israel: You have sent a letter in your own name to the priest Zephaniah the son of Maaseiah, and to all the priests, and to all the people who are at Jerusalem, and you have written the following thing in that letter.

26 Zephaniah, Yahweh has made you priest in the stead of Jehoiada the priest. Therefore you should have appointed officers in the house [temple] of Yahweh to identify every person who is mad and who claims to be a prophet, in order to put such a person in prison and in chains.

27 Now therefore, why have you not rebuked Jeremiah who is from Anathoth and who prophesies among you.

28 For Jeremiah had already sent us the following message after we have come to Babylon: The captivity will be long. Build houses to dwell in them, and plant gardens to eat their fruits. [Now Shemaiah can imagine in his heart that he can be right because the commandments of the law of Moses recommend the people to constantly seek to separate themselves from the persons who do not serve Yahweh, but Shemaiah especially seeks to draw attention to himself because it is easy for him to realize that he is not completely right because of the context in which these events have occurred.]

29 Now Zephaniah the priest has read this letter in the ears of Jeremiah the prophet.

30 And the word of Yahweh has come to Jeremiah in the following words.

31 Send the following message to all the captives who are in Babylon: Thus says Yahweh concerning Shemaiah the Nehelamite. Shemaiah has prophesied by declaring the insincerity of the prophecies that Jeremiah has spoken in my name. I have not spoken to Shemaiah, and he has made you believe a lie.

32 Therefore thus says Yahweh: Behold I will punish Shemaiah the Nehelamite, and his seed. I will destroy his personal legacy, he will have no portion in the good things that I will do for my people. For his words are a rebellion against [the spirit of] Yahweh.

33 [Now despite the fact that he is an ordinary person, Shemaiah takes the initiative to reproach the priests of Yahweh, who are in service in the house of Yahweh, for not having extended their power beyond what is contained in the law written by Moses. And the law of Moses specifies that it is these priests in service in the house of Yahweh who must give the definitive decisions in all controversies that may arise among the population if the people has not established a king, and Zedekiah the last king of Judah is reigning in those days. And the law of Moses also specifies that one must listen to a prophets whose prophecies come true and who do not incite the people to disobey any of the commandments of that the law. And this house of Yahweh was built to replace the tabernacle that Moses had made build in the wilderness according to the commandments of Yahweh, and Moses did not indicate that the people could replace in future times the tabernacle whose plans and building materials were specified in the written law. And when Yahweh appeared to Solomon for the second time, he told him that in the event of great transgressions there will be the destruction of the new house that bears his name and also the departure of the people of Israel for a captivity. And king Solomon who built the new house for the name of Yahweh had explicitly specified in his prayer of dedication that it could happen, in accordance with the words of Yahweh that a prophet had announced to him while he was building the new house of Yahweh.]

Jeremiah 30

1 The word of Yahweh came to Jeremiah in the following words.

2 Thus speaks Yahweh the God of Israel: Write in a book all the words that I have spoken to you.

3 For lo, says Yahweh, the days come when I will bring back the captives of my people Israel and Judah, says Yahweh. For I will bring them back to the land that I gave to their fathers, and they will possess it.

4 And Yahweh said the following words concerning Israel and concerning Judah.

5 For thus speaks Yahweh: We heard a terrible voice. There is fear and not peace.

6 Do research to find out if there has ever been a male somewhere who became pregnant. Why do I see every man with his hands on his waist, like a woman about to give birth and already feeling the pain. And all their faces have become pale.

7 Alas, for this day is so great that there no other like it. It is the time of trouble for Jacob, but he will be delivered from it.

8 In that day [namely in those days], says Yahweh the God of armies, I will break his yoke from your neck and I will break your bonds, and you will no longer serve strangers.

9 For they will serve Yahweh their God, and David their king whom I will bring forth among them.

10 Therefore fear not, O my servant Jacob, says Yahweh. Do not be dismayed, O Israel. For lo, I will deliver you out of the distant lands, I will deliver your seed out of the land of their captivity. And Jacob will return, and will enjoy rest and tranquility, and there will be no one to disturb him.

11 For I am with you, says Yahweh, to save you. I will utterly destroy [the legacies of the social organizations of] all the nations where I have scattered you, but I will not destroy you. I will rebuke you fairly, because I cannot let you go unpunished.

12 For thus says Yahweh: Your hurt is incurable, and your wound is painful.

13 No one defends your cause, to bandage your wounds. You have no remedies to heal.

14 All your lovers have forgotten you, they do not seek you. For I have stricken you like an enemy strikes. I have punished you with violence because of the multitude of your iniquities, because your sins were many.

15 Why are you surprised by the severity of your punishment. I have done these things against you because of the multitude of your iniquities, because your sins were many.

17 But I will restore your health, I will heal you of your wounds, says Yahweh, because they have called you an outcast by saying: This is Zion who does not interest anyone.

18 Thus speaks Yahweh: Behold I will bring back the captives of the tents of Jacob, for I will have compassion on his dwelling places. The city will be rebuilt on its own heap, the palace will be restored as it was.

19 And they will sing songs of praise there, and there will be the sound of laughter. I will multiply them, and they will not decrease. I will honor them, and they will not be despised.

20 Their children will be like in the past, and their congregation will be established before me. And I will punish all those who will want to oppress them.

21 Their leader will be one of their own, their ruler will come from among them. I will cause him to come near, I will let him approach me. For who can purify his heart enough to be able to approach so close to me.

22 You will be my people, and I will be your God.

23 And behold now, the tempest of the fury of Yahweh has gone forth, a terrifying tempest. It rushes on the head of the wicked.

24 The fierce anger of Yahweh will not return, until he has executed and finished the intents of his heart. You will understand it in the latter days.

Jeremiah 31

1 At that time, says Yahweh, I will be the God of all the families [tribes] of Israel and they will be my people.

2 Thus says Yahweh: They have found grace in the wilderness, the people of those who had escaped the sword. Israel walks towards his place of rest.

3 Yahweh has looked at me from afar and has said: I love you with an everlasting love. That is why I keep my kindness toward you.

4 I will build you and you will be restored, O virgin of Israel. You will be adorned with your tambourines again, and you will dance like all those who have joy in the heart.

5 You will plant vineyards on the mountains of Samaria again. The planters will plant, and will enjoy the fruits.

6 For the day will come when the watchmen will cry out on the mountain of Ephraim: Get up and we will go up at Zion, we will go to Yahweh our God.

7 For thus says Yahweh: Sing with gladness for Jacob, shout for Israel who is the greatest of the nations. Publish praise and say: O Yahweh, you save your people the remnant of Israel.

8 Behold I bring them back from the country of the north, and I gather them from the ends of the earth. Among them are the blind and the lame, women with children and pregnant women. A great company will return.

9 They will come weeping, and I will lead them in the middle of their supplications. I will lead them along streams of water, on smooth paths so that they do not stumble. For I am a father for Israel, and Ephraim is my firstborn.

10 Listen to the word of Yahweh, O you the nations, and declare it in the distant islands: He who has scattered Israel will gather him, and will keep him like a shepherd keeps his flock.

11 For Yahweh has redeemed Jacob. Yahweh has ransomed Jacob from the hand of the one who is stronger than he.

12 Therefore they will come and rejoice on the heights of Zion. They will be happy because of the goodness of Yahweh, for the wheat, and the wine, and the oil, and the young of sheep and oxen. And their soul will be like a watered garden, and they will sorrow no more.

13 The young girls will rejoice in dance, the young men and the old men together. For I will turn their mourning into joy, and I will comfort them. I will give them joy after their past sorrows.

14 I will satisfy the soul of priests with lots of good food, and my people will be satisfied with my goodness, says Yahweh.

15 Thus speaks Yahweh: A voice is heard in Ramah, lamentations and bitter weeping. Rachel weep for her children, and she refuses to be comforted for her children, because they are no longer.

16 Thus speaks Yahweh: Refrain your voice from weeping, and your eyes from tears. For your works will be rewarded, says Yahweh, and they will return from the land of the enemy.

17 There is hope for your latter end, says Yahweh. Your children will come back to their own land.

18 I have heard Ephraim lamenting thus: You have chastised me, and I have been chastised like an ox that had not yet been trained to carry the yoke. Turn your face toward me now, and I will submit myself to you because you are Yahweh my God.

19 I wandered away from you. But I finally realized how wrong I was, and I smote my thigh to punish myself for my madness. So I changed my heart and my life. I am ashamed and embarrassed about the foolish things that I did when I was young.

20 Was not Ephraim a beloved son and a pleasant child to me. I have rebuked him, but I have not forgotten him. Therefore my bowels are troubled for him. I will surely have mercy on him, says Yahweh.

21 Set up waymarks, renew the signposts. Pay attention to the road, to the path in which you walk. Come back to me, O virgin of Israel. Return to these cities that are yours.

22 How long will you go astray, you the rebellious daughter. For Yahweh has created a new thing in the land: The woman will seek the man.

23 Thus says Yahweh the God of armies, the God of Israel: Here is what they will say again in the land of Judah and in its cities, when I bring back the [families of the] captives taken from there: Yahweh bless you, O habitation of righteousness, O mountain of holiness.

24 The people will dwell in all the cities of Judah, all together, the plowmen and those who drive the flocks.

25 For I will refresh the thirsty soul, and satisfy every languishing soul.

26 And I awoke [from my dream] after hearing these things, and behold, my sleep had been pleasant to me. [I Jeremiah.]

27 Behold the days are coming when I will sow the house of Israel and the house of Judah with the seed of man and with the seed of beast, says Yahweh.

28 I will have watched over them to uproot, and to overthrow, and to destroy, to hurt and to afflict, but after that I will watch over them to build and to plant, says Yahweh.

29 And in those days they will no longer say: The fathers have eaten sour grapes, and the children's teeth are set on edge.

30 But everyone will die for his own iniquity. The teeth of each man will be set on edge because of the sour grapes that he has eaten. [The transgressions of the fathers will no longer directly influence the transgressions of the sons, as the transgressions of Jeroboam king of Israel had caused the kingdom of Israel to sin for several generations because they did not turn away from it.]

31 For behold, the days are coming when I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel and with the house of Judah, says Yahweh.

32 And it will not be like the covenant that I made with their fathers in the day that I took them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt. And they had broken my covenant, although I was a husband to them, says Yahweh. [My servant Moses had broken the first two tablets of the covenant, which contained the ten commandments that I had spoken previously in the ears of all the people who had gathered at the foot of the mountain. And my servant Moses had broken these first two tablets of the covenant because of the transgression of the people, the transgression that he had seen when he came down from the mountain.]

33 But this will be the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel after those days, says Yahweh. I will put my law in their inward parts, and write it on their hearts. And I will be their God, and they will be my people.

34 And they will no more teach every man his neighbor, and every man his brother, by saying, 'Know Yahweh'. For they will all know me, from the least of them to the greatest of them, says Yahweh. For I will forgive their iniquity, and I will no more remember their sin. [That is to say, I will no more remember their collective transgression of my first covenant which will have had consequences for several generations because they had heard my voice before that.]

35 Thus says Yahweh. The one who has given the sun for a light by day, and the courses of the moon and of the stars for a light by night. He who divides the sea and makes its waves roar. His name is Yahweh the God of armies.

36 If these ordinances cease from before me, says Yahweh, then the seed of Israel will cease from being a nation before me forever. [The nation of the children of Jacob was divided into two kingdoms in the days of the kings of Israel and the kings of Judah, but it was always one nation.]

37 Thus says Yahweh: If the sky above can be measured, or if the foundations of the earth beneath can be searched, then I will cast off the whole seed of Israel because of all that they have done, says Yahweh.

Jeremiah 32

1 The word that came to Jeremiah from Yahweh in the tenth year of Zedekiah king of Judah. It was the eighteenth year of Nebuchadrezzar.

2 The army of the king of Babylon was besieging Jerusalem at that time, and Jeremiah the prophet was shut up in the courtyard of the guards that was in the house of the king of Judah.

3 For Zedekiah king of Judah had Jeremiah imprisoned, by saying: Why do you prophesy by saying, 'Thus says Yahweh, Behold I will give this city into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he will take it'.

4 And Zedekiah king of Judah will not escape from the hand of the Chaldeans, but will surely be delivered into the hand of the king of Babylon. And Zedekiah will speak to the king of Babylon mouth to mouth, and they will look each other in the eyes.

5 And the king of Babylon will take Zedekiah to Babylon, where he will remain until I remember him, says Yahweh. Therefore you will not succeed in your fight against the Chaldeans. [These are the words that Zedekiah had said to Jeremiah to justify his imprisonment.]

6 Now Jeremiah said [concerning those days]: The word of Yahweh came to me in the following words.

7 Behold Hanamel the son of your uncle Shallum will come to you and say: Buy my field that is in Anathoth. For you must be privileged among all buyers because of the right of redemption that you possess by the fact of being the nearest kinsman.

8 And Hanamel the son of my uncle came to me in the courtyard of the prison, according to the word of Yahweh, and said to me: Buy my field that is in Anathoth in the land of Benjamin, I pray you. Buy it for yourself, because you have the right of redemption.

9 And I knew that it was the word of Yahweh. And I bought the field that was in Anathoth and that belonged to Hanamel the son of my uncle. I weighed him the money, seventeen shekels of silver.

10 I wrote a deed of sale and purchase, and sealed it, and took witnesses, and weighed the money on a scale.

11 Then I took the deed of sale and purchase, the copy that was sealed according to the law and custom, and the copy that was unsealed.

12 And I gave the deed of sale and purchase to Baruch the son of Neriah the son of Mahseiah, in the sight of Hanamel the son of my uncle, and in the sight of the witnesses who had signed the deed of sale and purchase, and in the sight of all the Jews who were in the courtyard of the prison.

13 And I commanded Baruch before them with the following words.

14 Thus says Yahweh the God of armies, the God of Israel: Take these writings, this deed of sale and purchase that is sealed and the one that is unsealed, and put them in an earthen vessel so that they may be preserved for a long time.

15 For thus says Yahweh the God of armies, the God of Israel: Houses and fields and vineyards will again be bought in this land. [For the king of Babylon will succeed in destroying this city that he is besieging, and in sending the people into captivity, but later my people will return to this land and the activities of social life will be restored.]

16 And I prayed to Yahweh with the following words, after I had given the deed of sale and purchase to Baruch the son of Neriah.

17 Ah Lord Yahweh, behold you have made the heaven and earth by your great power and by your outstretched arm. Nothing can be too difficult for you.

18 You preserve your love to a thousand generations, and you repay the iniquity of the fathers into the chest of their children after them. You are the great God, the mighty. Yahweh the God of armies is his name.

19 You are great in counsel and mighty in work. Your eyes are open on all the ways of the sons of men, to give to each one according to his ways, and according to the fruit of his doings.

20 You have performed signs and wonders in the land of Egypt, and even to this day, both in Israel and among other men, and you made a name for yourself as it appears this day.

21 You have brought your people Israel out of the land of Egypt with signs, and with wonders, and with a strong hand, and with an outstretched arm, and with a great terror.

22 And you have given them this land that you swore to their fathers to give them, a land where milk and honey flow.

23 And they came and took possession of it. But afterward they did not obey your voice, nor walk in your law. They have not done all that you commanded them, and therefore you have brought all this evil on them.

24 Behold the mounds are raised against the city by the enemy who wants to take it. And the city will be given into the hand of the Chaldeans who are fighting against it, and it will happen by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence. What you have announced is happening now as you see it. [Now Elohim is the one who causes all things to happen, and Yahweh is the holy spirit of Elohim, but Yahweh has said that he himself is Elohim and the only Elohim.]

25 And now you have said to me, O Lord Yahweh, 'Buy a field for yourself with money, and call witnesses'. And you have said this thing to me while the city is given into the hand of the Chaldeans. [How am I going to enjoy this possession since I have neither wife nor children.]

26 Then the word of Yahweh came to Jeremiah in the following words.

27 Behold I am Yahweh, the God of all flesh [that is to say, the God of every living creature]. Is there anything too difficult for me.

28 Therefore thus says Yahweh: Behold I will give this city into the hand of the Chaldeans, and into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and he will take it.

29 The Chaldeans who are fighting against this city will enter and set fire on this city, and burn it. They will burn the houses on whose roofs people have offered incense to Baal and poured out drink offerings to other gods, to provoke me to anger.

30 For the children of Israel and the children of Judah have done only evil in my sight from their youth. For the children of Israel have only provoked me to anger with the work of their hands, says Yahweh.

31 For this city has provoked my anger and my fury from the day that they built it until this day. Therefore I will remove it from my sight.

32 Because of all the evil that the children of Israel and the children of Judah have done to provoke me to anger, they, and their kings, and their leaders [princes], and their priests, and their prophets, and the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

33 And they have turned their backs to me, not their faces. I have taught them continually, rising early in the morning and teaching them, but they have not wanted to listen to receive instruction.

34 And they have set their abominations in the house that is called by my name, to defile it.

35 And they have built the high places of Baal in the valley of the son of Hinnom, to cause their sons and their daughters to be burned in the fire as offerings to the false god Molech. It is something that I had not commanded them. It had never even entered my mind that they could commit such abominations to cause Judah to sin.

36 And now thus says Yahweh the God of Israel, concerning this city of which you say: It is given into the hand of the king of Babylon by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence.

37 Behold I will gather them from all the countries where I will have driven them in my anger, and in my fury, and in great indignation. And I will bring them back to this place, and I will cause them to dwell safely.

38 And they will be my people, and I will be their God.

39 And I will give them one heart and one way, so that they may fear me forever, for their own good and for the good of their children after them.

40 And I will make an everlasting covenant with them. I will not turn away from them, but I will do them good. I will put my fear in their hearts, so that they will not depart from me.

41 Yes, I will delight in doing them good, and I will assuredly plant them in this land with my all my heart and with all my soul.

42 For thus says Yahweh: As I will have brought all this great disaster on this people, so I will bring on them all the good that I have promised them.

43 And fields will be bought in this land of which you say: It will be a wilderness without man or beast, it has been given into the hands of the Chaldeans.

44 Fields will be bought for money, deeds of sale and purchase will be written and sealed, and witnesses will be called, in the land of Benjamin, and in the areas around Jerusalem, and in the cities of Judah, and in the cities of the hill-country, and in the cities of the plain, and in the cities of the south. For I will cause their captives to return, says Yahweh.

Jeremiah 33

1 And the word of Yahweh came to Jeremiah a second time in the following words, while he was still shut up in the courtyard of the guards.

2 Thus says Yahweh who does these things, Yahweh who plans them and performs them. Yahweh is his name.

3 Call to me, and I will answer you. I will tell you great things, hidden things that you do not know.

4 For thus says Yahweh the God of Israel, concerning the houses of this city and concerning the houses of the kings of Judah, which are thrown down by the mounts, and by the sword.

5 They come to fight against the Chaldeans, but it is to fill themselves with the corpses of men whom I will kill in my anger and in my fury. For I have hidden my face from this city because of all their wickedness.

6 Behold I will give it health and healing. For I will cure them, and I will reveal to them the abundance of peace and truth.

7 I will bring back the captives of Judah and the captives of Israel, and I will build them as at the beginning.

8 I will cleanse them from all their iniquity that they have committed against me. I will forgive them all their iniquities by which they have sinned against me, and by which they have rebelled against me.

9 And this city will be to me a name, a source of joy and a praise, a glory before all the nations of the earth who will hear all the good that I will do to my people there. The nations will be amazed and will fear because of all the prosperity and goodness that I will grant to my people there.

10 Thus says Yahweh, concerning this place of which you say: It will be desolate, without man and without beast. The cities of Judah and the streets of Jerusalem will be desolate without man, and without inhabitant, and without beast.

11 People will again hear in this place the voice of joy and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride, the voice of those who will say, 'Praise Yahweh the God of armies. For Yahweh is good, because his mercy endures forever'. And the voice of those offering sacrifices of praise in the house of Yahweh. For I will bring back the captives of the land as at the beginning, says Yahweh.

12 Thus says Yahweh the God of armies: In this place that will be desolate, without man and without beast, and in all its cities, there will again be dwellings for shepherds to rest their flocks.

13 In the cities of the hill-country, and in the cities of the plain, and in the cities of the south, and in the land of Benjamin, and in the places around Jerusalem, and in the cities of Judah, the sheep will again pass under the hand of the one who counts them, says Yahweh.

Jeremiah 34

1 The word that came to Jeremiah from Yahweh when Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and all his army, and all the kingdoms of the earth that were under his dominion, and all the peoples, were fighting against Jerusalem and against all its cities.

2 Thus says Yahweh the God of Israel, Go and speak to Zedekiah king of Judah, and tell him: Thus says Yahweh, Behold I will give this city into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he will burn it with fire.

3 And you will not escape from his hand, for you will surely be taken and given into his hand. Your eyes will look into the eyes of the king of Babylon, and he will speak with you mouth to mouth, and you will go to Babylon.

4 But listen to the word of Yahweh, O Zedekiah king of Judah. Thus says Yahweh concerning you: You will not die by the sword.

5 You will die in peace. And incense will be burned for you as it was burned for your fathers the former kings who have been before you. And they will mourn you by saying, 'Oh lord'. For I have spoken this prophecy, says Yahweh.

6 All these words were spoken by Jeremiah the prophet to Zedekiah king of Judah in Jerusalem.

7 While the army of the king of Babylon was fighting against Jerusalem and against all the other cities of Judah that had not been captured, against Lachish and against Azekah. For these were the fortified cities that were still resisting in the land of Judah.

8 Now this is the word that came to Jeremiah from Yahweh, after king Zedekiah had made a covenant with all the people who were at Jerusalem, to proclaim liberty to them.

9 So that each man should set free his manservant and his maidservant, if the servant was a Hebrew or a Hebrewess. And thus no one should hold his fellow Jew in bondage any longer.

10 And all the princes [leaders] and all the people who had entered into the covenant agreed to set free every one his manservant and his maidservant, so that they should no longer be subjected to bondage. And they obeyed, and let them go.

11 But afterward they changed their minds, and took back the manservants and the maidservants whom they had freed. And they caused those persons to become slaves again.

12 Therefore the following word of Yahweh came to Jeremiah from Yahweh.

13 Thus says Yahweh, the God of Israel: I made a covenant with your fathers in the day that I brought them out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage, and I said to them the following thing.

14 At the end of seven years, each of you will let go free his brother who is a Hebrew and who has sold himself to you. He will serve you six years, and then you will let him go free from your home.

15 But [many of] your fathers have not obeyed, and have not wanted to pay attention. And now you had done a thing that is good in my sight in proclaiming liberty, every man to his neighbor, and you had made a covenant before me in the house [temple] that is called by my name.

16 But you have changed your minds after that, and thus profaned my name. You have taken back each one the manservants and the maidservants whom you had let go free at their pleasure, and you have caused them return to be your manservants and your maidservants.

17 Therefore thus says Yahweh: You have not obeyed me, to act according to the law and proclaim liberty each one to his brother and each one to his neighbor [And I am not even talking about the fact that you scorned me by breaking an oath that you chose to make in front of me when I had not asked you anything]. Behold I proclaim now a liberty for you, says Yahweh, to die by the sword, or by the pestilence, or by the famine. And I will make them an object of disgust for all the kingdoms of the earth.

18 I will give the men who have transgressed my covenant, and who have not kept the words of the covenant that they have made before me. They have even immortalized this covenant with a special ceremony. They have cut a calf in two and have walked between the two parts [and it is a thing that I did not ask them to do].

19 The leaders of Judah and the leaders of Jerusalem, and the eunuchs, and the priests, and all the people of the land who have walked between the two parts of the calf.

20 I will give them into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of those who seek their lives. And their carcasses will be food for the birds of the air and for the beasts of the earth.

21 And I will give Zedekiah king of Judah and his [other] leaders into the hand of their enemies, into the hand of those who seek their lives and into the hand of the army of the king of Babylon who has gone away from you.

22 Behold I will command and cause them to return to this city [now and not later in the future], says Yahweh. And they will attack it, and take it, and burn it with fire. And I will make the cities of Judah a desolation without inhabitants.

Jeremiah 35

1 The word of Yahweh came to Jeremiah in the following words, in the days of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah and king of Judah.

2 Go to the house of the Rechabites, and speak to them, and bring them to the house of Yahweh into one of the rooms [that had been built around the holy place and the most holy place]. And there you will give them wine to drink.

3 Then I took Jaazaniah the son of Jeremiah the son of Habazziniah, and his brothers, and all his sons, and the whole house of the Rechabites.

4 And I brought them into the house [temple] of Yahweh, into the chamber of the sons of Hanan the son of Igdaliah. Hanan was a man of God, and the chamber that bore his name in those days was near the chamber of the princes [leaders] of Judah, above the chamber of Maaseiah the son of Shallum. Maaseiah was the gatekeeper of the temple.

5 And I put bottles full of wine and cups in front of the sons of the house of the Rechabites. And I said to them: Drink wine.

6 But they replied: We will not drink wine, because our father Jonadab the son of Rechab commanded us by saying: You will not drink wine, neither you nor your sons, forever.

7 And you will not build houses, and you will not sow any seed, and you will not plant vineyard, and you will not possess vineyard. But you will dwell in tents during all your days, so that you may prolong your days in the land where you are sojourners. [For Yahweh the God of Israel has given this land to the children of Jacob as it is written in the law of Moses the man of God.]

8 And we have obeyed the voice of our father Jonadab the son of Rechab, in all that he commanded us. We do not drink wine during all our lives, neither we, nor our wives, nor our sons, nor our daughters.

9 And we do not build houses for our dwellings, and we do not possess vineyard or field, and we do not sow land.

10 Therefore we dwell in tents. We have obeyed and done according to all that our father Jonadab commanded us.

11 And when Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon came to attack the land of Judah, we said, 'Come, and let us go to Jerusalem in order to escape from the army of the Chaldeans and of the army of Syria'. Therefore we dwell now in Jerusalem.

12 Then the word of Yahweh came to Jeremiah in the following words.

13 Thus speaks Yahweh the God of armies, the God of Israel, Go and tell the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem the following thing: Are you not going to receive the instruction in order to have the will to obey my words, says Yahweh.

14 You can see that the words of Jonadab the son of Rechab are performed by his sons to whom he had ordered not to drink wine. They have not drunk wine until this day because they obey the commandment of their father. As for you, I have arisen early and spoken to you but you have not wanted to obey me.

15 I have sent you all my servants the prophets. I have arisen early [every day] to send them by saying: Turn away now each of you from his evil ways, improve the quality of your deeds and do not go after other gods to serve them. And thus you will stay in the land that I have given to you and to your fathers. But you have not wanted to obey me nor to pay attention.

16 The sons [descendants] of Jonadab the son of Rechab have kept the commandment of their father, which he commanded them. But this people of Judah has not obeyed me.

17 Therefore thus says Yahweh the God of armies, the God of Israel: Behold I will bring on Judah and on all the inhabitants of Jerusalem all the evil that I have pronounced against them. For I have spoken to them but they have not wanted to listen, I have called them but they have not answered.

18 And Jeremiah said to the house of the Rechabites, Thus speaks Yahweh the God of armies, the God of Israel: Because you have obeyed the commandment of Jonadab your father, and kept all his precepts, and done according to all that he commanded you.

19 Therefore thus speaks Yahweh the God of armies, the God of Israel: Jonadab the son Rechab will always have a man who will stand before me. [That is to say, among the descendants of Jonadab who will keep the commandments of Jonadab.]

Jeremiah 36

1 In the fourth year of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah king of Judah, the word of Yahweh came to Jeremiah in the following words.

2 Take a scroll and write on it all the words that I have spoken to you concerning Israel and concerning Judah, and concerning all the nations, from the day that I spoke to you in the days of Josiah until this day.

3 Perhaps the house of Judah will turn away every one from his evil ways when they hear all the evil that I intend to do to them. And thus I will forgive their iniquity and their sin.

4 Then Jeremiah called Baruch the son of Neriah, and Baruch wrote down in a scroll, under the dictation of Jeremiah, all the words of Yahweh that he had spoken to Jeremiah.

5 And Jeremiah commanded Baruch by saying: I am confined, and I cannot go to the house [temple] of Yahweh. [Jeremiah's movements were therefore limited at that time, for a reason that has not been specified.]

6 Therefore you will go and read the words of Yahweh that are in the scroll that you have written under my dictation. You will read it in the ears of the people in the house [temple] of Yahweh, on the day of fasting. You will read them in the ears of all Judah who have come from their cities.

7 Perhaps they will pray before Yahweh, and will turn away every one from his evil ways, when they hear the great anger and the fury that Yahweh has declared against this people.

8 So Baruch the son of Neriah did according to all that Jeremiah the prophet commanded him, and stood in the house [temple] of Yahweh to read the words of Yahweh that were in the book.

9 In the fifth year of the reign of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah king of Judah, in the ninth month, they proclaimed a fasting before Yahweh for all the people who dwelt in Jerusalem and for all the people who had come to Jerusalem from the cities of Judah.

10 And Baruch read the book that contained the words of Jeremiah in the temple of Yahweh, in the chamber of Gemariah the son of Shaphan, the scribe, in the upper court, at the entrance of the new gate of the temple of Yahweh, in the ears of all the people.

11 And Micaiah the son of Gemariah the son of Shaphan heard all the words of Yahweh that were in the book.

12 And he went down to the house of the king, into the chamber of the scribe. And lo, all the princes [royal officials] were sitting there: Elishama the scribe, and Delaiah the son of Shemaiah, and Elnathan the son of Achbor, and Gemariah the son of Shaphan, and Zedekiah the son of Hananiah, and all the other royal officials.

13 Then Micaiah declared to them all the words that he had heard when Baruch was reading the book in the ears of the people.

14 Then all the officials sent Jehudi the son of Nethaniah, the son of Shelemiah, the son of Cushi. They sent him to say to Baruch, 'Take in your hand the scroll in which you have read in the ears of the people, and come'. So Baruch the son of Neriah took the scroll in his hand and came to them.

15 And they said to Baruch, 'Sit down now, and read it in our ears'. And Baruch read it in their ears.

16 And when they had heard all the words, they looked at one another in fear and said to Baruch: We will announce all these words to the king.

17 And they questioned Baruch again by saying: Tell us how you wrote all these words. Have all these words been dictated by Jeremiah.

18 Baruch answered them: Jeremiah was declaring all these words to me with his mouth, and I was writing them with ink in the book.

19 Then the officials said to Baruch: Go and hide yourself, you and Jeremiah, and let no one know where you are.

20 And the officials placed the scroll in the chamber of Elishama the scribe, and went to the king in the courtyard. And they reported all the words in the ears of the king.

21 Then the king sent Jehudi to fetch the scroll. And Jehudi took it in the chamber of Elishama the scribe, and came to read it in the ears of the king and in the ears of all the princes [officials] who were with the king.

22 Now the king was sitting in the winter house. It was the ninth month, and there was a fire burning on the hearth before him.

23 And when Jehudi had read three or four columns from the scroll, the king cut the scroll with a penknife and threw it into the fire that was on the hearth. And the scroll burned there until it was completely consumed.

24 So they did not tear their garments and they were not afraid, neither the king nor any of his servants who heard all these words.

25 Nevertheless Elnathan and Delaiah and Gemariah begged the king not to burn the scroll, but the king did not want to listen to them.

26 And the king commanded Jerahmeel a son of the king, and Seraiah the son of Azriel, and Shelemiah the son of Abdeel, to seize Baruch the scribe and Jeremiah the prophet. But Yahweh hid them [that is to say, he prevented them from being found].

27 Then the following word of Yahweh came to Jeremiah, after the king had burned the scroll containing the words that Baruch had written under the dictation of Jeremiah.

28 Take another scroll, and write on it all the words that were in the first scroll which has been burned by Jehoiakim king of Judah.

29 And you will say to Jehoiakim king of Judah, Thus says Yahweh: You have burned the scroll by saying, 'Why have you written there the following words: The king of Babylon will certainly come and destroy this land, and will cause both man and beast to perish from it'.

30 Therefore thus says Yahweh concerning Jehoiakim king of Judah: He will have no one to sit on the throne of David [and to do a useful work there]. And his dead body will be exposed to heat during the day and to frost during the night.

31 And I will punish Jehoiakim, and his children, and his servants, for their iniquity. I will bring on them, and on the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and on the men of Judah, all the evil that I have spoken against them and which they have not wanted to listen.

32 Then Jeremiah took another scroll and gave it to Baruch the scribe, the son of Neriah. And Baruch wrote on it, under the dictation of Jeremiah, all the words of the book that Jehoiakim king of Judah had burned in the fire. And many other similar words were added.

Jeremiah 37

1 Zedekiah the son of Josiah reigned instead of Coniah [also called Jehoiachin] the son of Jehoiakim. Zedekiah has been made king in the land of Judah by Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon.

2 But neither he nor his servants, nor the people of the land, listened to the words Yahweh that he spoke by the prophet Jeremiah.

3 And Zedekiah the king sent Juhucal the son of Shelemiah, and Zephaniah the priest who was the son of Maaseiah, to the prophet Jeremiah by saying: Pray now to Yahweh our God for us.

4 Now Jeremiah was free to go where he wanted at that time. For they had not yet put him in prison.

5 And the army of Pharaoh came out of Egypt at that time [and they were coming towards Jerusalem]. And the Chaldeans who were besieging Jerusalem heard it, and they departed from Jerusalem.

6 Then the word of Yahweh came to the prophet Jeremiah in the following words.

7 Thus says Yahweh the God of Israel, You will say the following thing to the king of Judah who sent you to me to inquire of me: Behold the army of Pharaoh was coming to help you, but now they are returning to Egypt into their own land.

8 And the Chaldeans will come again, and fight against this city, and capture it, and burn it with fire.

9 Thus says Yahweh: Do not deceive yourselves by saying, 'The Chaldeans will surely depart from us'. For they will not depart.

10 Even if you were to defeat the entire army of the Chaldeans who are fighting against you, and if only wounded men remained among them, they would rise up each one in his tent and burn this city with fire.

11 Now at the time when the Chaldean army had departed from Jerusalem because of Pharaoh's army.

12 At that time Jeremiah wanted to leave Jerusalem in order to go into the land of Benjamin and escape from among the people.

13 And when he came at the gate of Benjamin, there was a captain whose name was Irijah, the son of Shelemiah, the son of Hananiah. And he seized Jeremiah the prophet by saying: Are you not running away to join our enemies the Chaldeans.

14 Then Jeremiah replied, 'That is false. I am not going to the Chaldeans'. But Irijah did not listen to Jeremiah. So Irijah took Jeremiah and brought him before the princes [officials].

15 And the officials were angry with Jeremiah. And they had him beaten and imprisoned in the house of Jonathan the scribe. For they had made this house a prison.

16 So Jeremiah went into a dungeon of the prison, and he remained there for many days.

17 Then Zedekiah the king sent to take Jeremiah from there, and the king questioned Jeremiah privately in his house. And the king said, 'Is there any word from Yahweh'. And Jeremiah answered, 'Yes'. And Jeremiah added, 'You will be delivered into the hand of the king of Babylon'.

18 And Jeremiah said to king Zedekiah: What have I done against you, or against your servants, or against this people. Why am I put in a prison.

19 And where are your prophets who prophesied to you by saying, 'The king of Babylon will not come against you nor against this land'.

20 Now therefore, I beseech you to accept my supplications that I make before you, O my lord the king. Do not send me back to the house of Jonathan the scribe, lest I die there.

21 Then King Zedekiah gave orders, and they put Jeremiah in the courtyard of the guards, and gave him every day a loaf of bread from the bakers' street, until there was no more bread in the city. So Jeremiah remained in the courtyard of the guards.

Jeremiah 38

1 Then Shephatiah the son of Mattan, and Gedaliah the son of Pashhur, and Jucal the son of Shelemiah, and Pashhur the son of Malchijah, they heard the following words that Jeremiah had spoken to all the people.

2 Thus says Yahweh: Whoever will remain in this city will die by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence. But whoever will go outside to give himself to the Chaldeans will live. His life will be for him like a loot of war, and he will live.

3 Thus says Yahweh: This city will surely be given into the hand of the army of the king of Babylon, and he will take it.

4 And after they had heard these words of Jeremiah, then the princes [officials] said to the king: We beseech you, let this man be put to death. For he discourages the men of war who remain in this city, and also all the people, by telling them such words. For this man does not seek the welfare of this people, but the hurt.

5 And Zedekiah the king replied: Behold he is in your hands. For the king is not the one who should act against you [since you seek the well-being of the king].

6 Then they took Jeremiah, and threw him into the cistern of Malchijah a son of the king. The cistern was in the courtyard of the guards, and they used ropes to make Jeremiah go down into the pit. There was no water in the cistern, but there was mud and Jeremiah sank into the mud.

7 Now Ebed-melech the Ethiopian was one of the eunuchs who were in the house of the king, and he heard that they had put Jeremiah into the cistern. And the king was sitting in the gate of Benjamin.

8 And Ebed-melech went out of the house of the king, and spoke to the king with the following words.

9 O my lord the king, these men have done evil in the thing that they have done to Jeremiah the prophet. For they have thrown him into the cistern, and he will die of hunger in the place where he is. For there is no more bread in the city.

10 Then the king commanded Ebed-melech the Ethiopian by saying: Take here thirty men with you, and you will go together to bring Jeremiah the prophet out of the cistern before he dies.

11 So Ebed-melech took the men with him, and they went to the house of the king. They went in a room that was under the treasury, and took there some old rags and worn-out garments, and let them down by ropes to Jeremiah into the cistern.

12 And Ebed-melech the Ethiopian said to Jeremiah: Put now these rags and worn-out garments under your armpits, to wrap the parts of the ropes that touch you in these places [so as not to be hurt when we are going to pull on the ropes to get you out of the pit]. And Jeremiah did thus.

13 So they pulled Jeremiah with the ropes, and took him out of the cistern. And Jeremiah stayed in the courtyard of the guards.

14 Then king Zedekiah sent, and they took Jeremiah the prophet and brought him to the king at the third entrance of the temple of Yahweh. And the king said to Jeremiah: I will ask you one thing, do not hide anything from me.

15 And Jeremiah replied to Zedekiah: Will you not kill me if I answer you honestly. And will you listen to me if I give you advice.

16 And king Zedekiah swore secretly to Jeremiah by saying: As Yahweh is alive, he who gives us the breath of life, I will not make you die, and I will not give you into the hand of the men who want to make you die.

17 Then Jeremiah said to Zedekiah, Thus says Yahweh the God of the armies, the God of Israel: If you choose to go and deliver yourself to the leaders of the army of the king of Babylon, then your soul will live and this city will not be burned by fire. And you will live, you and your house.

18 But if you do not go to the leaders of the army of the king of Babylon, then this city will be given into the hand of the Chaldeans, and they will burn it with fire, and you will not escape from their hand.

19 And king Zedekiah said to Jeremiah: I fear the Jews who have already gone to submit to the Chaldeans. I fear that the Chaldeans will deliver me into their hands, and that those Jews will mock me.

20 And Jeremiah replied: The Chaldeans will not deliver you into the hand of the men of Judah. I beseech you to listen to the voice of Yahweh in all that I tell you. And thus events will happen in your favor, and your soul will live.

21 But if you refuse to surrender to the Chaldeans, then the following thing is what Yahweh has revealed to me.

22 Behold all the women who are left in the house of the king of Judah will be brought to the leaders of the army of the king of Babylon, and those women will make fun of you with the following song: Your friends were stronger than you, and they led you the wrong way. You trusted them, and now your feet are stuck in the mud, and your friends have left you.

23 So they will bring out all your wives and your children to the Chaldeans. As for you, you will not escape from their hand. You will be taken by the hand of the king of Babylon, and this city will be burned with fire because you will not have listened to my advice.

24 Then Zedekiah said to Jeremiah: Let no one know anything about these words, and I will not command to kill you.

25 And if the princes [officials] hear that I have talked with you, and if they come and say to you: Tell us now what you have said to the king. Do not hide it from us, and we will not make you die. And tell us also what the king has said to you.

26 Then you will answer them: I have begged the king not to send me back to the house of Jonathan, lest I die there.

27 After that, all the princes [officials] came to Jeremiah and questioned him. And Jeremiah answered them according to all the words that the king had commanded. So they departed without being disturbed, for no one knew anything about the real conversation that had taken place between Jeremiah and the king.

28 So Jeremiah stayed in the prison, in the courtyard of the guards, until the day that Jerusalem was taken. And he was there when Jerusalem was taken.

Jeremiah 39

1 In the ninth year of Zedekiah king of Judah, in the tenth month, Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon came with all his army against Jerusalem and they besieged it.

2 And in the eleventh year of Zedekiah, on the ninth day of the fourth month, the Chaldeans entered the city.

3 And all the leaders of the army of the king of Babylon came and sat at the middle gate. They were Nergal, Sharezer, and Samgar-nebo, and Sarsechim, and Rab-saris, Nergal, Sharezar, Rab-mag, and all the other leaders of the army of the king of Babylon.

4 And when Zedekiah the king of Judah and all the men of war saw that the Chaldeans had entered the city, they fled and went out of the city in the night. They went by the way of the gate that was between the two walls that was near the king's garden. And they went toward the wilderness.

5 But the army of the Chaldeans pursued them, and overtook Zedekiah in the plains of Jericho. And when they had taken Zedekiah, they brought him to Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon, at Riblah in the land of Hamath, and they judged him there.

6 Then the king of Babylon caused to kill the sons of Zedekiah in Riblah, before the eyes of Zedekiah. And the king of Babylon also killed all the nobles of Judah.

7 And then he put out the eyes of Zedekiah, and bonded him in chains, and carried him to Babylon.

8 And the Chaldeans burned with fire the king's house and the houses of the people. And they demolished the walls of Jerusalem.

9 Then Nebuzaradan the chief of the guard carried away captive into Babylon the remaining of the people who were in the city, both those who had fled before the king of Babylon and those who had been left in the city.

10 But Nebuzaradan the chief of the guard left of the poor who possessed nothing in the land of Judah, and gave them vineyards and fields at the same time.

11 Now Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon had given the following order to Nebuzaradan the chief of the guard concerning Jeremiah.

12 Take him, and watches over him. Do not hurt him, but do to him what he will say to you.

13 So Nebuzaradan the chief of the guard sent soldiers to fetch Jeremiah. And other soldiers were sent by Nebushazban, and Rab-saris, and Nergal, and Sharezer, and Rab-mag, and all the other leaders of the army of the king of Babylon.

14 And they took Jeremiah out of the courtyard of the guard, and gave him to Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, to bring Jeremiah home. And thus Jeremiah dwelt among the people.

15 Now the following word of Yahweh had come to Jeremiah while he was shut up in the courtyard of the guard.

16 Go and speak to Ebed-melech the Ethiopian [that is to say, ask him to come to receive a message], and tell him: Thus says Yahweh the God of armies, the God of Israel: Behold I will bring my words on this city for evil and not for good, and they will be fulfilled before you in that day.

17 But I will deliver you from death in that day, says Yahweh, and you will not be given into the hand of the men of whom you are afraid.

18 For I will surely deliver you from death [at that time], and you will not fall by the sword. Your life will be your loot, because you have put your trust in me, says Yahweh.

Jeremiah 40

1 The word that came to Jeremiah from Yahweh, after Nebuzaradan the chief of the guard had sent him away from Ramah, when he had taken Jeremiah from among the captives of Jerusalem and Judah who were bonded in chains to be carried away to Babylon.

2 The chief of the guard took Jeremiah and said to him: Yahweh your God has pronounced this evil against this place.

3 Now Yahweh has brought it, and has done according what he had spoken. For you have sinned against Yahweh [that is to say, your people], and have not obeyed his voice, and therefore this thing has come on you.

4 And now, behold I release you today from the chains that are on your hands. If you want to come with me into Babylon, then you can come and I will take care of you. But if it displeases you to come with me into Babylon, then do not come. Look, the whole land is before you and you can go wherever it seems good and convenient for you.

5 And while Jeremiah delayed in answering, Nebuzaradan added, 'Return to Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, whom the king of Babylon has made governor over all the cities of Judah, and dwell with him among the people. Or you can go wherever it pleases you to go'. Then the chief of the guard gave him food and gifts, and let him go.

6 Then Jeremiah went to Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, to Mizpah, and dwelt with him among the people who remained in the land.

7 Now all the captains of the army who were in the fields with their men heard that the king of Babylon had made Gedaliah the son of Ahikam governor of the land, and had entrusted to him the men, and the women, and the children, and the poor of the land, all those who had not been carried away captive to Babylon.

8 Then they came to Gedaliah to Mizpah. They were Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, and Johanan and Jonathan the sons of Kareah, and Seraiah the son of Tanhumeth, and the sons of Ephai the Netophathite, and Jezaniah the son of a Maacathite, they and their men.

9 And Gedaliah the son of Ahikam the son of Shaphan swore to them and to their men by saying: Do not be afraid to serve the Chaldeans. Dwell in the land and serve the king of Babylon, and it will be well with you.

10 As for me, behold I will dwell at Mizpah in order to stand before the Chaldeans who will come to us. But you, gather the wine and the summer fruits and the oil, and put them in your vessels, and dwell in your cities where you were established.

11 Now all the Jews who were in the land of Moab, and among the Ammonites, and in the land of Edom, and in all the other lands, they heard that the king of Babylon had left a remnant of the people in Judah, and that he had set over them Gedaliah the son of Ahikam the son of Shaphan.

12 And all those Jews returned from all the places where they had been scattered, and came into the land of Judah to Gedaliah at Mizpah. And they made a plentiful harvest of wine and summer fruits.

13 Moreover Johanan the son of Kareah, and all the captains of the army who were in the fields, they came to Gedaliah at Mizpah.

14 And they said to him, 'Do you know that Baalis the king of the Ammonites has sent Ishmael the son of Nethaniah to kill you'. But Gedaliah the son of Ahikam did not believe them.

15 Then Johanan the son of Kareah spoke privately to Gedaliah at Mizpah by saying: I pray you to let me go and kill Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, and no one will know anything about it. Why should he kill you. Why should all the people of Judah who have gathered around you be scattered, and the remnant of Judah perish.

16 But Gedaliah the son of Ahikam said to Johanan the son of Kareah: Do not do this thing, because what you have said about Ishmael is not true. [Now Gedaliah may think that Johanan is lying, or that he has misinterpreted a conversation, or that he has been deceived by some other people.]

Jeremiah 41

1 Now Ishmael the son of Nethaniah the son of Elishama was of the family of the king and one of the chief officers of the king. And he came in the seventh month with ten men to meet Gedaliah the son of Ahikam at Mizpah. And they ate bread together there in Mizpah.

2 Then Ishmael the son of Nethaniah arose with these ten men who had come with him, and they smote Gedaliah the son of Ahikam the son of Shaphan with the sword. They killed the man whom the king of Babylon had made governor of the land.

3 And Ishmael also killed all the Jews who were with Gedaliah at Mizpah, and all the Chaldeans who were found there. These Chaldeans were men of war.

4 Now it was on the second day after they had killed Gedaliah, and no one else knew anything about what happened there.

5 And eighty men arrived from Shechem, and from Shiloh, and from Samaria. They had shaved their beards and torn their clothes, and they had cut themselves. They were carrying offerings and incense in their hand [that is to say, with them], to bring it at the house of Yahweh.

6 And Ishmael the son of Nethaniah went forth from Mizpah to meet them, and he was weeping while walking. And when he met them, he said to them: Come to meet Gedaliah the son of Ahikam.

7 And when they were inside the city, Ishmael the son of Nethaniah killed them, he and the men who were with him, and they threw the corpses of the visitors into a pit.

8 But there were ten men among the visitors who said to Ishmael, 'Do not kill us, for we have provisions hidden in the field. We have wheat, and barley, and oil, and honey'. So Ishmael refrained from killing them, as he had killed their companions.

9 Now Ishmael had killed those visitors so that the news of the death of Gedaliah does not spread. And the pit in which Ishmael had thrown all the dead bodies of the men whom he had killed was a pit that had been dug by king Asa, when Asa was afraid of Baasha king of Israel. Ishmael the son of Nethaniah filled that pit with the bodies of those whom he had killed.

10 And Ishmael carried away captive all the residue of the people who were in Mizpah. There were the king's daughters, and all the people who remained in Mizpah and whom Nebuzaradan the chief of the guard had entrusted to Gedaliah the son of Ahikam. Ishmael the son of Nethaniah carried them away captive, and departed to go over to the Ammonites.

11 But Johanan the son of Kareah, and all the captains of the army who were with him, they heard of all the evil that Ishmael the son of Nethaniah had done.

12 Then they took all their men, and went to fight against Ishmael the son of Nethaniah. And they found him by the great waters that are in Gibeon.

13 Now when all the people who were with Ishmael saw Johanan the son of Kareah, and all the captains of the army who were with him, then they were glad.

14 And all the people whom Ishmael had carried away captive from Mizpah ran and went to Johanan the son of Kareah.

15 But Ishmael the son of Nethaniah escaped with eight men from the hand of Johanan, and went to the Ammonites.

16 Then Johanan the son of Kareah, and all the captains of the army who were with him, they took all the remnant of the people whom they had rescued them from the hand of Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, those whom Ishmael had carried away captive from Mizpah after he had killed Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, and Johanan brought them back from Gibeon. Among these captives there were men of war, and women, and children, and eunuchs.

17 And they departed, and stayed at Geruth Chimham which is near Bethlehem, with the intention of continuing their march to go into Egypt.

18 For they wanted to get away from the Chaldeans and avoid meeting them. They were in fear because Ishmael the son of Nethaniah had killed Gedaliah the son of Ahikam whom the king of Babylon had made governor of the land.

Jeremiah 42

1 Then all the captains of the army, and Johanan the son of Kareah, and Jezaniah the son of Hoshaiah, and all the people from the least to the greatest, they came near to Jeremiah.

2 And they said to Jeremiah the prophet: We beseech you to listen to our request. Pray to Yahweh your God for our welfare, for all this little remnant of the people. For we are only a few who are alive and free after all the misfortunes that have befallen the people of Judah, as you can see with your own eyes.

3 And thus Yahweh your God may show us the way in which we should walk, and the thing that we should do.

4 Then Jeremiah the prophet said to them: I have heard you. Behold I will pray to Yahweh your God, according to your words. And I will tell you everything that Yahweh will answer you, without hiding anything from you.

5 Then they said to Jeremiah: May Yahweh be the true and faithful witness against us, if we do not do everything that Yahweh your God will tell you in his answer.

6 Whether it is good or evil, we will obey the voice of Yahweh our God. We are sending you to him because we know that we will triumph against all adversities when we obey the voice of Yahweh our God.

7 And the word of Yahweh came to Jeremiah ten days later.

8 And Jeremiah called Johanan the son of Kareah, and all the captains of the army who were with him, and all the people from the least to the greatest.

9 And Jeremiah said to them, Thus says Yahweh the God of Israel, the one to whom you sent me to transmit your supplications.

10 If you stay in this land, then I will build you and I will not destroy you. I will plant you, and I will not uproot you. For I repent of the evil that I have done to you.

11 Do not be afraid of the king of Babylon, the one of whom you are afraid now. Do not fear him, says Yahweh. For I am with you to save you, and to deliver you out of his hand.

12 I will cause him to have compassion on you, because I will have mercy on you. He will make you dwell in your own land.

13 But if you do not obey the voice of Yahweh your God, if you say: We will not dwell in this land.

14 If you say: We will go into the land of Egypt, because we will not see war there. Thus we will not hear the sound of the trumpet, and we will not become hungry for lack of bread, and we will dwell there.

15 Now therefore listen to the word of Yahweh, you the remnant of Judah. Thus says Yahweh the God of armies, the God of Israel: If you turn your face in order to go to Egypt, if you go to sojourn there.

16 Then the sword that you fear will reach you in the land of Egypt. And the famine of which you are afraid will cling to you in Egypt, and you will die there.

17 So whoever among you turns his face to go into Egypt in order to sojourn there, the same will die by the sword, or by the famine, or by the pestilence. And none of them will survive, none of them will escape from the evil that I will bring on them.

18 For thus says Yahweh the God of armies, the God of Israel: As my anger and my fury has been spread over the inhabitants of Jerusalem, so my fury will be spread over you when you enter into Egypt. And you will be an execration, a subject of disgust, and of astonishment, and of reproach, and a curse, and you will never come back to this place again.

19 O you the remnant of Judah, Yahweh has said the following thing concerning you: Do not go to Egypt. [Says Jeremiah.]

20 Know for sure that I have sincerely warned you today. Surely you have disguised your thoughts when you sent me to Yahweh your God by saying: Pray for us to Yahweh our God, and tell us all that Yahweh our God will say, and we will do it.

21 For today I have declared to you the answer of Yahweh your God, but you do not want to obey the voice of Yahweh your God concerning all the things that he has sent me to tell you.

22 Now therefore, know with certainty that you will die by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence, in the place where you desire to go to sojourn there.

Jeremiah 43

1 Now when Jeremiah had finished speaking to all the people all the words of Yahweh their God, the words with which Yahweh their God had sent him to them.

2 Then Azariah [also called Jezaniah] the son of Hoshaiah, and Johanan the son of Kareah, and all the proud men, they said to Jeremiah: You are speaking insincerely. Yahweh our God has not send you to tell us, 'Do not go to Egypt to dwell there'.

3 Surely it is Baruch the son of Neriah who has persuaded you to act against us, to deliver us into the hand of the Chaldeans so that they may kill us or carry us away captive to Babylon.

4 So Johanan the son of Kareah, and all the captains of the army, and all the people, they refused to obey the voice of Yahweh who commanded them to stay in the land of Judah and to dwell there.

5 And Johanan the son of Kareah, and all the captains of the army, they took all the remnant of Judah who had come to dwell in the land of Judah and who had returned from all the nations where they had been driven. [They had returned when they had heard that the king of Babylon had left a remnant of the people in Judah, and had set over them Gedaliah the son of Ahikam the son of Shaphan.]

6 There were men, and women, and children, and the king's daughters, and all the people whom Nebuzaradan the chief of the guard had left with Gedaliah the son of Ahikam the son of Shaphan, and Jeremiah the prophet, and Baruch the son of Neriah.

7 And they went into the land of Egypt, because they did not obey the voice of Yahweh in what he had said by the hand of Jeremiah. And they came to Tahpanhes. [Now the reason why Jeremiah has followed these people to Egypt has not been specified. Maybe he did not want to stay alone in the land and thought that he could still be useful to some of his people, since the group had been led in the wrong way by some leaders and therefore not everyone had the same guilt. For comparison, when Moses brought the people out of the land of Egypt and the people had provoked Yahweh several times, Yahweh had decided that it was the generation of people who were old enough to be men of war who should completely perish for forty years in the wilderness, and their children who did not yet know the distinction between good and evil should endure for forty years before taking the place of their fathers.]

8 Then the following word of Yahweh came to Jeremiah at Tahpanhes.

9 Take great stones in your hand, and hide them in the clay of the brick kiln that is at the entrance of Pharaoh's house at Tahpanhes. Do it in the sight of the men of Judah.

10 And you will say to the Jews, Thus says Yahweh the God of armies, the God of Israel: Behold I will send and call my servant Nebuchadrezzar the king of Babylon, and I will set his throne on these stones that I have hidden. He will spread his royal pavilion over them.

11 And he will smite the land of Egypt when he comes. Those who are destined to death, to death. And those who are destined to the captivity, to the captivity. And those who are destined to the sword, to the sword.

12 And I will set fire to the temples of the gods of Egypt. Nebuchadrezzar will burn those temples, and will carry the idols away. He will wrap himself in the land of Egypt as a shepherd wraps himself in his garment, and he will depart from there in peace.

13 He will also break the pillars of Beth-shemesh that are in the land of Egypt, and he will burn with fire the temples of the gods of Egypt.

Jeremiah 44

1 The following word came to Jeremiah concerning all the Jews who dwelt in the land of Egypt, those who dwelt at Migdol, and at Tahpanhes, and at Noph, and in the land of Pathros.

2 Thus says Yahweh the God of armies, the God of Israel: You have seen all the evil that I have brought on Jerusalem and on all the cities of Judah. Behold this day they are a desolation, and no man dwells there.

3 And this has happened because of the wickedness with which the people have acted to provoke me to anger. They went to burn incense wherever it pleased them, and to serve other gods whom they had not known, neither you nor your fathers.

4 Nevertheless I have sent to you all my servants the prophets, I have arisen early [every day] to send them by saying: Do not commit these abominations that I hate.

5 But they have not wanted to pay attention and they have not obeyed. They have not turned away from their wickedness, and they have not stopped to burn incense to other gods.

6 Therefore my anger and my fury have been poured out on the cities of Judah and the streets of Jerusalem, which are now ruins and desolations as it appears this day.

7 Now therefore thus says Yahweh the God of armies, the God of Israel: Why do you commit this great evil against your own souls. For your deeds will cause me to destroy men, and women, and children, and infants, and leave no survivors.

8 Why do you provoke me to anger with the works of your hands, by burning incense to other gods in the land of Egypt where you have come to dwell. Your deeds will cause your destruction, and you will become a curse and a subject of reproach among all the nations of the earth.

9 Have you forgotten the wickedness of your fathers, and the wickedness of the kings of Judah, and the wickedness of their wives, and your own wickedness, and the wickedness of your wives, which they have committed in the land of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem [and because of which all these disasters happened].

10 They have not humbled themselves to this day, they have not been afraid of me. They have not walked in my law and my statutes, which I have set before you and before your fathers.

11 Therefore thus says Yahweh the God of armies, the God of Israel: Behold I will set my face against you for evil, to destroy all the families of Judah [who are here].

12 I will take the remnant who has come from Judah, those who have turned their faces to come in the land of Egypt to sojourn here [despite the fact that I ordered them not to do so], and they will all be consumed. They will fall in the land of Egypt. They will be consumed by the sword and by the famine, from the least of them to the greatest of them. They will perish by the sword and by the famine, and they will be an execration, a subject of astonishment and of reproach, and a curse.

13 For I will punish those who dwell in the land of Egypt, as I have punished Jerusalem, by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence.

14 None of the remnant of Judah, those who have come into the land of Egypt to sojourn here, will escape or remain to return into the land of Judah where they will have the desire to return to dwell there. For they will not return there, except a few people who will escape [among the descendants of those who willfully disobeyed the word that I had sent to them].

15 Then all the men who knew that their wives usually burned incense to other gods, and all the women who were there, a great multitude, all the people who dwelt in Pathros in the land of Egypt, they said the following thing to Jeremiah.

16 Concerning the word that you have spoken to us in the name of Yahweh, we will not obey you.

17 For we will do as our own mouth has spoken, to burn incense to the queen of heaven, and to pour out drink offerings to her, as we have done, both we and our fathers, and our kings, and our princes [leaders], in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem. For then we had enough to eat, and were well, and saw no evil.

18 And when we have stopped burning incense to the queen of heaven and pouring out drink offerings to her, at that time we have lacked everything and have been consumed by the sword and by the famine.

19 And when we burned incense to the queen of heaven and poured out drink offerings to her, did our husbands not know that we were making cakes to worship her and that we were pouring out drink offerings to her. [Say the women.]

20 Then Jeremiah said the following thing to all the people, to the men and to the women, to all those who had given him that answer.

21 Has not Yahweh remembered the incense that you have burned in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem, both you and your fathers, and your kings, and your princes [leaders], and the people of the land. And he has reacted to that.

22 For Yahweh could no longer refrain from punishing you because of the wickedness of your imagination, because of the abominations that you had committed. Therefore your land has become a desolation, and a curse, and a subject of astonishment, without inhabitant, as it appears this day.

23 For you had burned incense [to other gods] and sinned against Yahweh, and had not obeyed the voice of Yahweh [when he sent his prophets to warn you]. You had not walked in his law, and in his statutes, and in his testimonies. Therefore this disaster has come on you, as it appears this day.

24 And Jeremiah said to all the people and to all the women: Hear the word of Yahweh, you all the people of Judah who are in the land of Egypt.

25 Thus says Yahweh the God of armies, the God of Israel: You and your wives have spoken with your mouths and have performed with your hands the following declaration, 'We will fulfill our vows that we have vowed, to burn incense to the queen of heaven and to pour out drink offerings to her'. And now you have confirmed your vow, and you have promised to continue to perform this vow.

26 Therefore hear the word of Yahweh, you all the people of Judah who dwell in the land of Egypt. Behold I swear by my great name, says Yahweh, that my name will no longer be invoked by the mouth of any of these persons who are from Judah and who dwell in all the land of Egypt. They will no longer say: Yahweh is alive.

27 Behold I will watch over them for evil and not for good. And all the men [and women] of Judah who are in the land of Egypt [and who are guilty of these things] will be consumed by the sword and by the famine, until they are annihilated.

28 Yet there will be a few of them who will escape the sword [among those who are not guilty of all these things, either because they are too young or because they are not aware of these words, or among their descendants], and they will return from the land of Egypt to the land of Judah. And all the remnant of Judah who have come to the land of Egypt to dwell there [by willfully disobeying my word] will know whether my word or theirs will stand.

29 And the following thing will be a sign to you, says Yahweh, that I will punish you in this place. And you will know that my words will surely stand against you to harm you.

30 Thus says Yahweh: Behold I will give Pharaoh Hophra king of Egypt [and his people] into the hand of his enemies, and into the hand of those who seek his life, as I have given Zedekiah king of Judah into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon his enemy who sought his life.

Jeremiah 45

1 Jeremiah the prophet said the following word to Baruch the son of Neriah, when he wrote these words in a book under the dictation of Jeremiah, in the fourth year of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah king of Judah.

2 Thus says Yahweh the God of Israel, to you, O Baruch.

3 You have said: Woe is me now. For Yahweh has added grief to my pain. I exhaust myself in sighing, and I find no rest.

4 You will say the following thing to Baruch: Thus says Yahweh. Behold I will destroy what I have built, and I will uproot what I have planted, and this in the whole land.

5 And you, should you seek great things for yourself. Do not seek them. For behold, I will bring disaster on all flesh, says Yahweh, but I will give you your life for a loot in all the places where you will go.

Jeremiah 52

1 Zedekiah was twenty one years old when he began to reign, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Hamutal the daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah.

2 And he did what was evil in the sight of Yahweh [the holy spirit of Elohim], according to all that Jehoiakim had done.

3 Surely it was because of the anger of Yahweh against Jerusalem and Judah that all these things happened [that is to say, that is why they were offending the holy spirit of Elohim], until he had thrown them out of his presence. Therefore Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babylon.

4 And in the ninth year of the reign of Zedekiah, on the tenth day of the tenth month, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came with all his army against Jerusalem. And they encamped in front of the city, and they built forts all around.

5 And the city was besieged until the eleventh year of king Zedekiah.

6 And on the ninth day of the fourth month, the famine was sore in the city so that there was no food for the people of the land.

7 Then the army of Nebuchadnezzar entered the city [at night]. And all the soldiers of Jerusalem fled at night and went out of the city by the way of the gate that was between the two walls that was near the king's garden. The Chaldeans were positioned in different places all around the city, but the king and his men escaped by the way of the wilderness.

8 But the army of the Chaldeans pursued the king and overtook Zedekiah in the plains of Jericho, and all his army was scattered from him.

9 Then they took the king and carried him to the king of Babylon at Riblah in the land of Hamath, and he judged him there.

10 The king of Babylon killed the sons of Zedekiah before his eyes. He also killed all the princes [leaders] of Judah at Riblah.

11 Then he put out the eyes of Zedekiah. And the king of Babylon bonded Zedekiah in chains, and carried him to Babylon, and put him in prison until the day of his death.

12 Then Nebuzaradan the servant of the king of Babylon who was the chief of the guard entered Jerusalem. It was on the tenth [seventh] day of the fifth month, which was in the nineteenth year of the reign of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon.

13 And Nebuzaradan burned the temple of Yahweh, and the king's house, and all the [great] houses of Jerusalem. He burned all the great houses with fire.

14 Then the whole army of the Chaldeans who was with the chief of the guard demolished the walls of Jerusalem all around.

15 And Nebuzaradan the chief of the guard carried away captive some of the poor of the people who were in the city, those of the people who remained in the city and those who had surrendered to the king of Babylon, the remnant of the multitude.

16 But Nebuzaradan the chief of the guard left some of the poor of the land to take care of all that grew in the fields.

17 And concerning the pillars of brass that were in the temple of Yahweh, and the bases, and the brazen sea that was in the temple of Yahweh, the Chaldeans broke them and carried all the brass to Babylon.

18 And they took away the pots, and the shovels, and the snuffers, and the basins, and the spoons, and all the utensils of brass that were used in the temple.

19 So the chief of the guard took away the cups, and the braziers, and the basins, and the pots, and the candlesticks, and the spoons, and the bowls, and all that was of gold, and all that was of silver.

20 And the two pillars, and the sea, and the twelve bulls of brass that were under the sea to serve as base, those things that Solomon had made for the temple of Yahweh. The brass from all these things was too heavy to be weighed.

21 And concerning the pillars, the height of one pillar was eighteen cubits, and a cord of twelve cubits encircled it. It was hollow, and its thickness was four fingers.

22 And there was a capital of brass at its top, and the height of the capital was five cubits, with the network and pomegranates on the capital all around, all of brass. And it was the same for the second pillar, with the pomegranates.

23 There were ninety six pomegranates on a side of the pillar, and all the pomegranates on the network were one hundred all around [for each of the two rows of each pillar].

24 And the chief of the guard took Seraiah the high priest, and Zephaniah the second priest, and the three keepers of the door of the temple.

25 And in the city he took an eunuch who had the supervision of the men of war, and five men of the king's advisors who were found in the city, and the secretary of the captain of the army who mustered the people of the land, and sixty men of the people of the land who were found in the city.

26 And Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard took them and brought them to the king of Babylon at Riblah.

27 And the king of Babylon smote them and killed them at Riblah in the land of Hamath. So Judah was carried away captive from their land.

28 This is how many people Nebuchadnezzar carried away captive. In the seventh year of his reign, three thousand and twenty three Jews [heads of families] were taken from Judah.

29 And in the eighteenth year of Nebuchadrezzar, he carried away from Jerusalem eight hundred and thirty two persons [heads of families].

30 And in the twenty third year of Nebuchadrezzar, Nebuzaradan the chief of the guard carried away captive among the Jews seven hundred and forty five persons [heads of families]. So all the persons [heads of families] were four thousand and six hundred.

31 And in the thirty seventh year of the captivity of Jehoiachin king of Judah, on the twenty fifth [seventh] day of the twelfth month, Evil-merodach king of Babylon was in the first year of his reign. And on that day Evil-merodach lifted up the head of Jehoiachin king of Judah by bringing him out of prison.

32 And Evil-merodach spoke kindly to him, and set his throne above the throne of the kings who were with him in Babylon [Evil-merodach gave him precedence].

33 And Evil-merodach changed the prison garments of Jehoiachin, and from that time Jehoiachin continually ate at the table of the king all the days of his life.

34 And his allowance was a continual allowance given him by the king of Babylon, every day an allowance, all the days of his life until the day of his death.

Lamentations 3

1 [The lamentation of the prophet Jeremiah, shortly before the destruction of Jerusalem and of the house that had been built by king Solomon to be called by the name of Yahweh the God of Israel (Jeremiah 17:13-18 - 18:18-23)]. I am the man who has seen affliction by the rod of his fury.

2 He has been my guide [and my hope], but he has brought me into darkness and not into light.

3 Surely he turns his hand against me several times every day.

4 He has caused my flesh and skin to age prematurely, and he has broken my bones [by taking away their energy].

5 He has besieged me, and has surrounded me with bitterness and hardship.

6 He has made me dwell in dark places, like those who have been dead for a long time.

7 He has surrounded me with a wall, so that I cannot escape. And he has immobilized me with heavy chains.

8 He closes his ear to my prayer when I cry and shout.

9 He has inclosed my ways with hewn stones, and he has caused my paths to be tortuous.

10 He has been for me like a bear who designed an ambush, like a lion hidden in secret places.

11 He has diverted my ways, and has torn me in pieces. He has caused me to feel desolate.

12 He has prepared his bow, and has positioned me to be a target for his arrow.

13 He has caused the arrows of his quiver to enter my kidneys.

14 I have become a derision for all my people, and I am every day the object of their songs.

15 He has filled me with bitterness, he has caused me to become drunk with wormwood.

16 He has also broken my teeth with stones, and covered me with ashes.

17 You has removed peace from my soul, and I have forgotten the definition of happiness.

18 And I said to myself: My strength and my hope have perished in Yahweh. [That is to say, Yahweh desires that I die with bitterness in my soul.]

19 I continually think about my affliction and my misery, the wormwood and the bitterness.

20 My soul has them in remembrance, and my spirit is softened inside me.

21 But here is the thing on which I want to meditate in my heart, the thing that revives my hope.

22 The kindness of [the spirit of] Yahweh cannot be exhausted, his compassions have no limit.

23 They are new every morning. Your faithfulness is great [that is to say, the faithfulness of the spirit of Yahweh].

24 Yahweh is my portion, says my soul. Therefore I will hope in him.

25 Yahweh will be good for those who trust in him, for the soul who seeks him continuously.

26 It is good for man to trust, and to wait for the salvation of Yahweh.

27 It is good for man to bear the yoke in his youth.

28 He will sit alone and he will not turn away from his hope, because he knows that it is Yahweh who imposes this on him.

29 He will not turn away from his hope even if his mouth is put in the dust.

30 He will give his cheek to the one who strikes him, he will let himself be filled with reproach.

31 For the Lord does not continuously reject the one who does not cease to seek him.

32 Despite the fact Yahweh sends affliction, he will have compassion according to the multitude of his mercies.

33 For he takes no pleasure in afflicting and humiliating the children of men.

34 While all the powerless of the earth are trampled underfoot.

35 While the justice due to man is violated before the face of the Most High.

36 While the one who acts honestly is subverted in his cause. Does not the Lord see it.

37 Who can say something and see its occurrence if the Lord does not give his permission.

38 Do not evil and good proceed from the mouth of the Most High.

40 Let us consider and probe our ways, and return to Yahweh.

41 Let us lift up our hearts and our hands to God who is in the heaven.

42 We have sinned, we have been rebellious. Therefore you have not refrained from afflicting us.

43 You have covered us with anger and pursued us. You have killed us without pity.

44 You have wrapped yourself in a cloud, to close access to our prayers.

45 You have made us an object of contempt and reproach in the midst of the peoples.

46 All our enemies have opened their mouths against us.

47 Our portion has become fear and pit, destruction and desolation.

48 Torrents of water flow from my eyes, because of the destruction of the daughter of my people.

49 My eyes melts in tears, and do not rest. I cannot contain myself.

50 Until Yahweh looks down, and has compassion from his dwelling place in heaven.

51 My eye makes me suffer, because of all the daughters of my city.

52 They have hunted me like one hunts a bird, those who are wrongly my enemies.

53 They wanted to destroy my life in the pit, and they threw a stone on me.

54 Waters flooded my head, and I said: I am destroyed.

55 And I have called on your name, O Yahweh, from the bottom of the pit.

56 You have heard my voice. You have not closed your ear to my sigh, to my cry.

57 And you have approached on the day that I called on you. And you have said: Do not be afraid.

58 O Lord [the spirit of Yahweh], you have defended the cause of my soul, you have redeemed my life.

59 O Yahweh, you have seen what they have done to me. Do me justice.

60 You have seen all their vengeance [to reward me for the good advice that I have given them], all their conspiracies against me.

61 You have heard their reproach, O Yahweh, and all their imaginations against me.

62 The speeches of my adversaries, and the projects that they form every day against me.

63 And behold, I am the subject of their songs when they sit down and when they get up.

64 You will give them a reward, O Yahweh, according to the work of their hands.

65 You will deliver them to the hardening of their hearts, to your curse against them.

66 You will pursue them in your anger, and you will destroy them from under the heaven, O Yahweh.

Ezekiel

Ezekiel 1

1 In the thirtieth year [after the book of the law given by Moses was discovered in the time of Josiah king of Judah], on the fifth day of the fourth month, while I was among the captives near the river Chebar, the heavens were opened and I saw visions of God.

2 On the fifth day of the month, which was the fifth year of the captivity of Jehoiachin king of Judah.

3 The word of Yahweh came to Ezekiel the priest, the son of Buzi, in the land of the Chaldeans near the river Chebar. It was there that the hand of Yahweh was on him.

4 And I looked, and behold, a whirlwind came from the north, a great cloud with fire flashing from it, and there was a great brightness all around it. And there was the likeness of amber in its midst, in the midst of the fire.

5 And there came from its midst the likeness of four living creatures, and this was their appearance: they had the likeness of a man.

6 Each of them had four faces, and each had four wings.

7 And their feet were straight feet, and the soles of their feet were like the sole of the foot of a calf, and they sparkled like burnished brass.

8 And they had human hands under their wings, on their four sides. The faces and the wings of the four living creatures appeared as follows.

9 Each had [two of] its wings joined one to another. And none of them did turn in his own way while they moved, but each moved straight ahead.

10 And concerning the appearance of their faces, each had the face of a man on the front, and each had the face of a lion on the right side, and each had the face of an ox on the left side, and each had the face of an eagle on the back.

11 Thus were their faces. And their wings were stretched upward. Two of the wings of each were joined one to another, and the other two wings covered its body.

12 And every one moved straight forward. And they went wherever the spirit led them, and none of them did turn in his own way while they moved.

13 And concerning the brightness of these living creatures, their appearance was like burning coals of fire, and like the appearance of lamps. For the fire was circulating among the living creatures, and was giving a brilliant light, and flashes of lightning were coming out of it.

14 And the living creatures were running here and there like lightning.

15 And I looked at the living creatures, and behold, there were four wheels that were touching the ground, one wheel behind each of the living creatures who had four faces.

16 The appearance of the wheels and their work was like that of beryl. And all four had the same shape, and their appearance and their work was such that there seemed to be a wheel within a wheel.

17 And when they moved, they could go in any of the four directions without turning while they moved.

18 Their rims were tall and fearsome, and the four wheels had their rims full of eyes all around.

19 And when the living creatures went, the wheels went with them. And when the living creatures were lifted up from the ground, the wheels were lifted up too.

20 Wherever the spirit led them, they went, and the wheels were moving with them. For the spirit of the living creatures was in the wheels.

21 Whenever the living creatures moved, the wheels moved with them. And whenever they stood still, the wheels stood still with them. And whenever they were lifted up from the ground, the wheels were lifted up with them. For the spirit of the living creatures was in the wheels.

22 And above the heads of the living creatures there was the likeness of a firmament, like a shining crystal, stretched out above over their heads.

23 And their wings were straight under the firmament, the one toward the other. Each had two wings covering him [from above], and each had two wings covering his body.

24 And I heard the noise of their wings while they were moving, like the noise of great waters, like the voice of the Almighty. It was a tumultuous sound like the noise of an army. And whenever the living creatures stopped moving, they put their wings at their sides.

25 And there was a voice from the firmament that was above their heads, whenever they stopped moving and put their wings at their sides.

26 And above the firmament that was over their heads, there was something like a sapphire stone in the form of a throne. And on the form of the throne there was the likeness of a man sitting on it above.

27 And I looked at him from his waist upward, and I saw the appearance of amber, and there was like a fire within it and all around. And I looked at him from his waist downward, and I saw the appearance of a fire, and there was brightness all around him.

28 And the light shining around him was like a rainbow in a cloud. This was the appearance of the likeness of the glory of Yahweh. And when I saw it, I fell on my face. And then I heard a voice speaking to me.

Ezekiel 2

1 And he said to me: Son of man, stand on your feet and I will speak to you.

2 And when he spoke these words to me, the spirit entered into me and set me on my feet. And all my attention was for the voice that was speaking to me.

3 And he said to me: Son of man, I am sending you to the children of Israel, to a rebellious nation that has rebelled against me. They and their fathers have sinned against me to this very day.

4 They are children of impudent faces and hardened hearts. I am sending you to them, and you will say to them: Thus speaks the Lord Yahweh.

5 Whether they listen to you or not, for they are a rebellious house, they will know that there has been a prophet among them.

6 And you, son of man, do not be afraid of them and do not be afraid of their words, although the people around you are like briers and thorns, although you dwell with scorpions. Do not be afraid of their words and do not be dismayed by their faces, although they are a rebellious house.

7 You will tell them my words, whether they listen to you or not. For they are rebellious.

8 And you, son of man, listen to what I say to you. Do not be rebellious like this rebellious house. Open your mouth and eat what I give you.

9 And I looked, and behold, a hand was stretched toward me. And lo, it was holding a scroll with words written on it.

10 And the hand did spread the scroll before me, and it was written inside and out. And there were written lamentations, and mourning, and woe.

Ezekiel 3

1 And he said to me: Son of man, eat what you see. Eat this scroll and go, and speak to the house of Israel.

2 So I opened my mouth, and he gave me the scroll to eat.

3 And he said to me, 'Son of man, feed your belly and fill your bowels with this scroll that I give you'. And I ate it, and it was sweet in my mouth like honey.

4 And he said to me: Son of man, go to the house of Israel and declare them my words.

5 For you are not sent to a people of an obscure speech and of a hard language, but to the house of Israel.

6 For there are many peoples of an obscure speech and of a hard language, whose words you cannot understand. Surely they would have listened to you if I were sending you to them.

7 But the house of Israel will not listen to you, because they do not want to obey me. For all the house of Israel have a hardened forehead and a stubborn heart.

8 Behold I have made your face strong against their faces, and your forehead strong against their foreheads.

9 I have made your forehead like a diamond, harder than the flint. Do not be afraid of them and do not be dismayed by their appearances, although they are a rebellious house.

10 And he said to me: Son of man, listen with your ears and receive into your heart all the words that I speak to you.

11 Go to the captives, to the children of your people, and speak to them. Whether they listen or refuse to listen, you will say to them: Thus says the Lord Yahweh.

12 Then the spirit took me up, and I heard behind me the voice of a great crowd which was saying: Blessed be the glory of Yahweh from his dwelling place.

13 And I heard the noise of the wings of the living creatures as they touched one another, and the noise of the wheels beside them, and the noise a great crowd.

14 So the spirit took me up, and carried me away. I went in the bitterness and the indignation of my mind [because of the rebellion of the children of my people against the word of Yahweh], and the hand of Yahweh was strong on me.

15 Then I came to those who had been led captives to Tel-abib, who were dwelling near the river Chebar, and I sat where they were sitting. And I remained there seven days, and I was astonished among them. [I was amazed that they did not have a burning desire to submit to Yahweh, since Yahweh had declared to me that they were rebels.]

16 And at the end of seven days, the word of Yahweh came to me in the followings words.

17 Son of man, I have set you as a watchman over the house of Israel. You will listen to the word of my mouth, and you will give them warnings from me.

18 If I say to the wicked, 'You will surely die'. And if you do not warn him, if you do not speak to that wicked person in order to turn him away from his evil way and thus save his life, then that wicked person will die in his iniquity and I will require his blood at your hand.

19 But if you warn that wicked person, and he does not turn away from his wickedness and from his evil way, then he will die in his iniquity but you will save your soul in this matter.

20 Likewise if a righteous person turns away from his righteousness and thus commits iniquity, then I will lay a snare before him and he will die. He will die in his sin, and his righteous deeds which he had done will not be remembered [because I will build the future events in such a way as to lessen their importance even if it is after a long period of time], and I will require his blood at your hands if you have not warned him while you had the possibility to do it.

21 But if you warn the righteous person in order to prevent him from succumbing to the temptation of sin, and if he does not sin because you have succeeded in strengthening him, then he will live and you will have saved your soul [that is to say, you will have saved your soul partly through him].

22 And the hand of Yahweh was there on me, and he said to me: Get up and go to the valley, and I will speak to you there.

23 So I got up and went to the valley, and behold, the glory of Yahweh appeared there, like the glory that I saw near the river Chebar. Then I fell on my face.

24 Then the spirit entered into me, and set me on my feet, and spoke to me by saying: Go, and shut yourself within your house.

25 And you, son of man, behold they will put ropes around you and bind you, to prevent you from going out among them.

26 And I will cause your tongue to cling to the roof of your mouth, and you will be dumb, and you will not be able to blame them. For they are a rebellious house.

27 But when I speak to you, I will open your mouth and you will say to them, 'Thus says the Lord Yahweh'. Whoever want to listen, let him listen, and whoever do not want to listen, let him not listen. For they are a rebellious house.

Ezekiel 4

1 And you, son of man, take a brick and place it in front of you, and portray the city of Jerusalem on it.

2 And lay a siege against it, and build forts against it, and cast up a mound against it. Surround it with a camp, and set battering rams against it all around.

3 Take an iron pan, and set it as an iron wall between you and the city. And turn your face toward it, and it will be besieged, and you will lay siege against it. This will be a sign for the house of Israel.

4 Then you will lie on your left side, and lay the iniquity of the house of Israel on it. And you will bear their iniquity according to the number of days that you will lie on your left side.

5 For I will lay on you the years of their iniquity, according to the number of days, one hundred and ninety days. You will bear in this way the iniquity of the house of Israel.

6 And when you have completed these days, you will lie on your right side, and you will bear the iniquity of the house of Judah forty days. A day for you will be for a year for them.

7 And you will turn your face toward the siege of Jerusalem, with your arm uncovered. And you will prophesy against it.

8 And behold, I will lay ropes on you, and you will not be able to turn from one side to another, until you have completed the days of your siege.

9 You will take wheat, and barley, and beans, and lentils, and millet, and spelt. And you will put them in one vessel, and make bread from them for the number of days that you will sleep on your side. You will eat of it during one hundred and ninety days.

10 And the food that you will eat will have a weight of twenty shekels per day. You will eat of it from time to time.

11 And you will drink water by measure, the sixth part of a hin. You will drink from time to time.

12 You will eat your food as barley cakes, and you will bake it in their sight with human excrement.

13 And Yahweh said: This is how the children of Israel will eat their defiled bread among the nations where I will drive them.

14 Then I said: Ah Lord Yahweh, behold my soul has not been defiled from my youth until now. For I have not eaten any animal that is dead or torn, and no unclean flesh has entered my mouth.

15 Then he said to me: Lo, I give you the dung of cow instead of the dung of human, and you will prepare your bread with it.

16 And he said to me: Son of man, behold I will break the staff of bread in Jerusalem. And they will eat bread by weight, and with care. And they will drink water by measure, and with astonishment.

17 For they will lack bread and water, and they will be astonished, and they will be consumed for their iniquity.

Ezekiel 5

1 And you, son of man, take a sharp knife, a barber's razor. Take it and cause it to pass on your head and on your beard. Then take a scale to weigh, and divide the hairs.

2 And you will burn a third part of it in the fire in the midst of the city [that is to say, the city of Jerusalem that you have portrayed on the brick], when the days of the siege are completed. And you will take another third part of it, and smite around it with a knife. And concerning the last third part of it, you will scatter it in the wind and I will draw out a sword after them.

3 And you will take a small amount of it, and bind it in your garment.

4 And you will take another small amount of it, and throw it into the fire in order to burn it in the fire. For a fire will come from there against the whole house of Israel.

5 Thus says the Lord Yahweh: This is Jerusalem [which you have portrayed on the brick]. I have set her in the midst of the nations and of the countries that are around her.

6 And she has changed my judgments into wickedness by doing more abominations than the nations, and she has transgressed my statutes more than the countries that are around her. For they have refused my judgments and my statutes, they have not walked in them.

7 Therefore thus says the Lord Yahweh: Because you have been more rebellious than the nations that are around you, and have not walked in my statutes, and have not kept my judgments, and have not done according to the judgments of the nations that are around you [that is to say, you have not sought to copy some of the things that they do and that are not described as abominations in the commandments that I have given you through Moses].

8 Therefore thus says the Lord Yahweh: Behold I am against you, yes I. And I will execute my judgments in your midst and in the sight of the nations.

9 And I will do to you a thing that I have never done before and that I will never do again. It will happen because of all your abominations.

10 For the fathers will eat their own sons in your midst [because of a great famine], and the sons will eat their own fathers. And I will execute judgments against you, and I will scatter all your remnant to all the winds.

11 Therefore, as I live, says the Lord Yahweh, surely, because you have defiled my sanctuary [and all the land] with all your detestable practices and with all your abominations, therefore I also will destroy you. And my eye will not spare, and I will not have compassion.

12 A third part of your inhabitants will die by the pestilence or will be consumed by the famine in your midst. And another third part will fall by the sword around you. And I will scatter the last third part to all the winds, and I will pursue them with the sword.

13 I will accomplish my anger thus. And after this I will give rest to the fury that I have against them, and I will be comforted. And when I will have accomplished my fury against them, then they will know that I have spoken against them in my zeal, I Yahweh.

14 Moreover I will make you a desolation, and an object of reproach among the nations that are around you, in the sight of any person who will come near this place after those days.

15 So you will be an object of reproach, and of mockery, and of instruction, and of astonishment, to the nations that are around you, when I will have executed judgments against you in anger, and in fury, and in sharp rebukes. I Yahweh, I have spoken it.

16 I will send on them the evil arrows of famine, which will be for their destruction, which I will send to destroy you. And I will increase the famine on you, and I will break your staff of bread.

17 I will send on you the famine and wild beasts, and they will bereaved you of your children. And pestilence and bloodshed will pass through you, and I will bring the sword on you. I Yahweh, I have spoken it.

Ezekiel 6

1 And the word of Yahweh came to me in the following words.

2 Son of man, set your face toward the mountains of Israel and prophesy against them.

3 And say, You the mountains of Israel, hear the word of the Lord Yahweh, thus says the Lord Yahweh to the mountains and to the hills, to the rivers and to the valleys: Behold I will bring a sword against you and I will destroy your high places, yes I.

4 And your altars will become desolate, and your images of the sun will be broken. And I will cast down your dead bodies in front of your idols.

5 I will lay the dead bodies of the children of Israel in front of their idols, and I will scatter your bones around your altars.

6 Your cities will be desolate in all the places of your dwellings, and your high places will be desolate. So your altars will be devastated and desolate, and your idols will be broken and will vanish, and your images of the sun will be cut down, and your works will be abolished.

7 And your people will be killed, and you will know that I am Yahweh.

8 But I will leave a remnant. For some of you will escape the sword among the nations, when you will be scattered through the countries.

9 And those who will have survived will remember me among the nations where they will be carried captive. They will know that I have been grieved by their adulterous and unfaithful heart, and by their eyes that have played the whore with their idols. And they will loathe themselves because of the evils that they have committed in all their abominations.

10 And they will know that I am Yahweh, and that I have not threatened them in vain to bring all this evil on them.

11 Thus says the Lord Yahweh: Smite with your hand, and stamp with your foot, and say, 'Alas'. Do it because of all the wicked abominations of the house of Israel. For they will fall by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence.

12 He who is far off will die by the pestilence, and he who is near will fall by the sword, and he who remains and is besieged will die by the famine. Thus I will accomplish my wrath on them.

13 And you will know that I am Yahweh, when the dead bodies of your people will be among their idols and around their altars, in the places where they offered sweet savor to all their idols, that is to say, on every high hill, and on all the tops of the mountains, and under every green tree, and under every thick oak.

14 And I will stretch out my hand against them and make the land desolate, more desolate than the wilderness toward Diblah. And it will happen throughout all their habitations, and they will know that I am Yahweh.

Ezekiel 8

1 In the sixth year [of the captivity of Jehoiachin king of Judah, that is to say, during the sixth year of the reign of Zedekiah king of Judah and five years before the destruction of Jerusalem and of the house of Yahweh built by Solomon], on the fifth day of the sixth month, I was sitting in my house and the elders of Judah were sitting in front of me [in the land where we had been carried away captive], and the hand of the Lord Yahweh fell there on me.

2 Then I looked, and lo, there was the likeness of a man who had the appearance of fire from his waist downward. And from his waist upward there was brightness like the appearance of amber.

3 And he stretched out the form of a hand, and took me by a lock of the hair of my head. And the spirit lifted me up between the earth and the heaven, and brought me to Jerusalem by a vision from God. He brought me at the entrance of the inner gate that looks toward the north, where there was the idol of jealousy, that is to say, an idol that was provoking the jealousy [of Yahweh].

4 And behold, the glory of the God of Israel was there, according to appearance that I had seen in the valley.

5 Then he said to me, 'Son of man, lift up your eyes now toward the north'. So I lifted up my eyes toward the north, and behold, northward at the gate of the altar, this idol that was provoking the jealousy [of Yahweh] was in the entrance.

6 And he said to me: Son of man, do you see what they have done. Do you see the great abomination that the house of Israel have committed here to cause me to depart from my sanctuary. And now I will show you greater abominations that they are committing.

7 And he brought me to the entrance of the courtyard. And I looked, and behold, there was a hole in the wall.

8 Then he said to me, 'Son of man, dig now in the wall'. And when I had dug in the wall, behold there was a door.

9 And he said to me: Go in, and see the wicked abominations that they are committing here.

10 So I went in, and looked, and behold, there were all kinds of images of creeping things, and of abominable beasts, and of all the idols of the house of Israel. All this was portrayed on the walls all around [with the aim of worshipping them as gods].

11 And there were seventy men of the elders of Israel, and Jaazaniah the son of Shaphan stood among them. And each of them had a censer in his hand, and the vapors of the incense were forming a cloud above them.

12 Then he said to me: Son of man, do you see what the elders of the house of Israel are doing in the dark. Each man has a special room for his own false god. For they say, 'Yahweh does not see us, Yahweh has forsaken the land'.

13 And he said to me: And now I will show you a greater abomination that the people of Judah is committing. [These ones do not even hide themselves].

14 And he brought me to the entrance of the gate of the temple of Yahweh, the gate which was toward the north. And behold, there sat women weeping for the false god Tammuz.

15 Then he said to me: Do you see this thing, O son of man. And now I will show you another abomination greater than these.

16 And he brought me into the inner courtyard of the temple of Yahweh. And behold, at the entrance of the house of Yahweh [which is the unique structure formed by the most holy place and the holy place and the adjacent rooms], between the portico and the altar of the burnt offerings, there were about twenty five men with their backs toward the house of Yahweh and their faces toward the east. And they were worshipping the sun toward the east. [And it was their intention to ask the favors of the sun, and not to worry about the holy place and the most holy place of the house of Yahweh which was behind them.]

17 Then he said to me: Do you see this thing, O son of man. Is it a small thing for the house of Judah to commit these abominations that they do here [inside the large structure that has been built to be the temple that is called by my name]. For they also fill the land with cruelty through the behaviors that they have towards each other, and they do many other things to provoke me to anger. And lo, they put the branch to their nose.

18 Therefore I also will change my kindness into fury. My eye will not spare, and I will have no pity. They will cry in my ears with a loud voice at that time, but I will not listen to them.

Ezekiel 9

1 Then he cried out with a loud voice in my ears by saying: Come near, you who must punish the city, every man with his instrument of destruction in hand.

2 And behold, six men came by the way of the upper gate which is on the north side, and every man had his instrument of destruction in his hand. And one man among them was clothed in linen and he had an equipment of a scribe at his waist, the pen and the ink. And they went in, and stood beside the altar of brass.

3 And the glory of the God of Israel went up from the cherubim on which it was, to the threshold of the house [of Yahweh]. And he called to the man clothed in linen, who had an equipment of a scribe at his waist.

4 And Yahweh said to him: Go through midst of the city, through the midst of Jerusalem, and set a mark on the foreheads of the men who sigh and cry over all the abominations that are done in the city.

5 And he said to the others in my ears: Go after him through the city, and smite. Do not let your eyes spare, and do not have pity.

6 Destroy utterly the old men, and the young men, and the maidens, and the children, and the women, but do not approach anyone on whom is the mark. And you will begin at my sanctuary.

7 So they began with the elders who were in front of the house. And he said to them: Defile the house, fill the courtyards with the dead bodies of those whom you will kill there, and then you will continue outside. So they went out, and they killed the people in the city.

8 And I was there while they were killing the people, and I fell on my face, and I cried by saying: Ah Lord Yahweh, will you destroy all the residue of Israel while you are pouring out your fury on Jerusalem.

9 Then he said to me: The iniquity of the house of Israel and Judah is exceedingly great, and the land is full of blood [that is to say, the blood of innocent people], and the city is full of injustice [that is to say, full of corrupt judgments]. For they say, 'Yahweh has forsaken the land, and Yahweh does not see'.

10 Therefore I also will change my kindness into fury. My eye will not spare, and I will have no pity. I will bring back their deeds on their heads.

11 And behold, the man clothed in linen who had the inkhorn at his waist reported the matter by saying: I have done as you have commanded me.

Ezekiel 10

1 And I looked, and behold, in the firmament that was above the heads of the cherubim, there was over them something like a sapphire stone, as the appearance of the likeness of a throne.

2 And he spoke to the man clothed in linen, and said: Enter between the wheels, [and go] under the cherubim, and fill your hands with coals of fire from between the cherubim, and scatter them over the city.

3 And the man went in while I was looking. Now the cherubim were standing on the right side of the house [of Yahweh] when the man walked to them, and the cloud filled the inner courtyard.

4 And the glory of Yahweh went up from the cherubim and stood over the threshold of the house [of Yahweh]. And the house was filled with the cloud, and the courtyard was filled with the brightness of the glory of Yahweh.

5 And the sound of the wings of the cherubim was heard in the outer courtyard, like the voice of the God Almighty when he speaks.

6 And he had commanded the man clothed in linen by saying, 'Take fire from between the wheels, from between the cherubims'. So the man went there and stood beside the wheels.

7 And one cherub stretched out his hand from between the cherubim to the fire that was between the cherubim, and took of it, and put it into the hands of the man clothed in linen. And the man took it and went out.

8 And there were in the cherubim the likeness a man's hand under their wings.

9 And I looked, and behold, there were four wheels beside the cherubim, one wheel beside each cherub. And the wheels had the appearance of a beryl stone.

10 The four wheels had the same shape, and their appearance was such that there seemed to be a wheel within a wheel.

11 And when they moved, they could go in any of the four directions without turning while they moved. And they went in the direction of the heads, without turning while they went.

12 And the whole bodies of the cherubim, including their backs, and their hands, and their wings, were full of eyes all around as were the wheels, the four wheels.

13 As for the wheels, it was cried to them in my ears: O wheel.

14 And each of the cherubim had four faces: the first face was the face of a cherub, and the second the face was the face of a man, and the third face was the face of a lion, and the fourth face was the face of an eagle.

15 And the cherubim rose up. These were the living creatures that I had seen near the river Chebar.

16 And when the cherubim went, the wheels went beside them. And when the cherubim spread their wings to fly in the air, the wheels did not turn away from behind them.

17 When the cherubim stood still, the wheels stood still with them. And when they rose up from the ground, the wheels rose up with them. For the spirit of the living creatures was in the wheels.

18 And the glory of Yahweh departed from over the threshold of the house [of Yahweh], and stood over the cherubim.

19 And the cherubim spread their wings, and rose up from the ground in my sight. And they went forth, and the wheels went beside them. And they stood at the entrance of the east gate of the temple of Yahweh, and the glory of the God of Israel was over them above.

20 These were the living creatures that I had seen under the God of Israel near the river Chebar, and knew that they were cherubim.

21 Every one had four faces, and every one had four wings, and the likeness of the hands of a man was under their wings.

22 And concerning the likeness of their faces, they were the faces that I had seen near the river Chebar. They had the same appearance, they were the same. And they went every one straight forward.

Ezekiel 11

1 Then the spirit lifted me up and brought me to the east gate of the temple of Yahweh, the gate that faces the east. And behold, there were twenty five men at the entrance of the gate. And I saw among them Jaazaniah the son of Azzur, and Pelatiah the son of Benaiah, leaders of the people.

2 Then he said to me: Son of man, these are the men who make evil plans and give wicked advice in this city.

3 For they say: Disaster is not near, let us build houses. The city is the cauldron, and we are the meat. [Let us continue to do what we like, because it is the natural order of things. The destruction announced by Jeremiah the prophet of Yahweh will not take place. And this city prepares us for the wonderful life we will have after the death of our physical bodies.]

4 Therefore prophesy against them. Prophesy, O son of man.

5 And the spirit of Yahweh fell on me, and he said to me, "Speak the following thing: Thus says Yahweh, you have spoken with such words, O house of Israel. And I know what comes into your minds.

6 You have multiplied the murders in this city, and you have filled its streets with the corpses of those whom you have killed.

7 Therefore thus says the Lord Yahweh: Those whom you or your fathers have killed unjustifiably in this city where the remains of their bones are found, they are the meat and this city is the cauldron [which prepares the vengeance of the innocent blood]. And as for you, you will be brought out of it.

8 You are afraid of the sword, and I will bring the sword against you, says the Lord Yahweh.

9 And I will bring you out of the midst of this city, and I will deliver you into the hands of strangers, and I will execute judgments against you.

10 Many of you will fall by the sword, and I will judge you in the border of Israel, and you will know that I am Yahweh.

11 This city will not be your cauldron, for you will not be its meat [that is to say, nobody in the future will admire what you have done here]. For I will judge you in the border of Israel.

12 And you will know that I am Yahweh. For you have not walked in my statutes, and have not done my judgments, but you have done according to the manner of the nations that are around you [that is to say, according to the things that they do and that I have explicitly forbidden in the commandments that I have given you through Moses]".

13 And when I finished to prophesy, Pelatiah the son of Benaiah died. Then I fell on my face and cried with a loud voice by saying: Ah Lord Yahweh, will you destroy all the remnant of Israel [that is to say, all the people who are still in Jerusalem because they have not yet been taken into captivity like me and the others].

14 Then the word of Yahweh came to me in the following word.

15 Son of man, these are your brothers, your brothers who are your relatives and your brothers from all the house of Israel, to whom some of the inhabitants of Jerusalem have said: Turn away from Yahweh, because the land has been given to us for a possession. [That is to say, some of the inhabitants of Jerusalem have incited the others not to worry about the announcement of the destruction of the city that has been proclaimed by Jeremiah the prophet of Yahweh.]

16 Therefore say the following thing, Thus says the Lord Yahweh: Although I have thrown them far off among the nations, and scattered them among the countries, nevertheless I will be like a little sanctuary for them in the countries they will be.

17 Therefore say the following thing, Thus says the Lord Yahweh: I will gather you from the peoples, and assemble you from the countries where you have been scattered, and I will give you the land of Israel.

18 And they will come back here, and they will put away from here all the idols and all the abominations.

19 And I will give them one heart, and I will put a new spirit within you. I will take away the heart of stone from their bodies, and I will give them a heart of flesh.

20 So that they may walk in my statutes, and keep my judgments, and do them. And they will be my people, and I will be their God.

21 But concerning those whose hearts is turned toward their idols and who delight in their abominations, I will bring back their deeds on their own heads, says the Lord Yahweh.

22 Then the cherubim lifted up their wings, and the wheels with them, and the glory of the God of Israel was over them above.

23 And the glory of Yahweh went up from the midst of the city, and stood on the mountain that was on the east side of the city.

24 And the spirit lifted me up, in the vision from the spirit of God, and brought me [back] to those who had already been taken captive into Chaldea. And the vision that I had seen vanished from me.

25 Then I declared to those who had already been taken captive all the things that Yahweh had revealed to me.

Ezekiel 12

1 The word of Yahweh came to me in the following words.

2 Son of man, you dwell among a rebellious house. They have eyes to see but do not see, and ears to hear but do not hear. For they are a rebellious house.

3 Therefore you son of man, prepare your stuff for a long journey, and leave in the daytime in their sight. Depart from your place to another place, in their sight. And maybe they will consider your behavior, despite the fact that they are a rebellious house.

4 You will take out your stuff in the daytime in their sight, as the stuff of someone who is leaving to dwell elsewhere. And then you will leave in their sight in the evening, and you will act as someone who is going into captivity.

5 You will dig through the wall [of your house] in their sight, and you will go through there to carry your belongings.

6 You will bear it on your shoulder in their sight, and carry it in the twilight. And you will cover your face so as not to be able to see the ground. For I have set you as a sign for the house of Israel.

7 And I did as I was commanded. I brought out my belongings in the daytime, as the stuff of someone who is going into captivity. And at evening I dug the wall [of my house] with my hand, and I carried my belongings in the twilight, and I bore it on my shoulder in their sight.

8 And in the morning the word of Yahweh came to me in the following words.

9 Son of man, has not the house of Israel, this rebellious house, said to you: What are you doing.

10 Say to them, Thus says the Lord Yahweh: This is a burden for the rulers who are in Jerusalem, and for all the house of Israel who are there.

11 Say: I am a sign for you. What I have done is what will be done to them. They will go into exile, into captivity. [We are here in captivity, and some of those who are now in Jerusalem will also go into captivity like us.]

12 And the ruler who is among them will shoulder his package in the dark, and will go forth. And they will have dug through the wall [of the city] to bring him out. And he will cover his face face so as not to be able to see the ground, so as not to be recognized.

13 And I will spread my net over him, and he will be taken in my snare. And I will bring him to Babylon, to the land of the Chaldeans. But he will not see it, although he will die there.

14 And I will scatter to all the winds all those who will be with him to help him, and all his troops, and I will draw out the sword after them.

15 And they will know that I am Yahweh, when I scatter them among the nations and disperse them through the countries.

16 But I will leave a few of them who will escape from the sword, and from the famine, and from the pestilence, so that they may declare all their misfortunes to the nations among which they will be. And they will know that I am Yahweh.

17 Moreover, the word of the Lord came to me in the following words.

18 Son of man, you will eat your bread with trembling, and drink your water with fear and with carefulness.

19 And say to the people who are with you in the land [of the Chaldeans], Thus says the Lord Yahweh concerning the inhabitants of Jerusalem and concerning the land of Israel. They will eat their bread with carefulness, and they will drink their water with astonishment. For the land will be desolate from its abundance, because of the cruelty of those who dwell there.

20 And the cities that are inhabited will be destroyed, and the land will be desolate, and you will know that I am Yahweh.

21 And the word of Yahweh came to me in the following words.

22 Son of man, there is among the people the following proverb concerning the land of Israel: The days multiply, and none of the visions is fulfilled.

23 Therefore tell them the following thing, Thus says the Lord Yahweh: I will cause this proverb to cease, for they will no longer use it as a proverb in Israel.

24 And say to them: The days are approaching, and all visions will be accomplished. For there will be no more any vain vision nor flattering divination within the house of Israel.

25 For I am Yahweh. I will speak, and the thing that I will say will be accomplished, and will no longer be delayed. For in your days, O rebellious house, I will say the thing and I will perform it, says the Lord Yahweh.

26 And the word of Yahweh came to me in the following words.

27 Son of man, behold the house of Israel says: The visions that he sees are not about to be accomplished. He prophesies for distant times.

28 Therefore say to them, Thus says the Lord Yahweh: There will no longer be any delay in the fulfillment of my words [that I speak through my servant Ezekiel]. The word that I speak will be accomplished, says the Lord Yahweh.

Ezekiel 13

1 The word of Yahweh came to me in the following words.

2 Son of man, prophesy against the prophets of Israel who prophesy in falsity. Say to those who prophesy out of their own hearts: Hear the word of Yahweh.

3 Thus says the Lord Yahweh: Woe to the foolish prophets, those who follow their own spirit and who have not received my word.

4 O Israel, your prophets are like foxes in the desolate places.

5 You have not gone up into the gaps, and you have not made up the hedge for the house of Israel to stand in the battle in the day of Yahweh.

6 Their visions are futile and their divination is false. Yahweh has not sent them and nevertheless they say, 'Yahweh has spoken it'. And they have made others hope for the fulfilment of events that will not happen.

7 Are these not false visions that you declare. Are not your divinations lies. I have not spoken to you, and yet you say: Yahweh has spoken it.

8 Therefore thus says the Lord Yahweh: Because you have spoken in falsity and have declared lies, behold I am against you, says the Lord Yahweh.

9 And my hand will be against the prophets who declare futility as if it were visions, and who prophesy lies. They will not be in the assembly of my people, they will not be written in the book of the house of Israel, and they will not return in the land of Israel. And you will know that I am the Lord Yahweh. [Now this statement of the prophet Ezekiel is a written memorial concerning those false prophets, but this memorial does not describe an admirable behavior that they had had.]

10 These things will happen because they have deceived my people by saying 'peace', while there will be no peace. And ones have built a wall, and lo, others have plastered it with mortar.

11 Say to those who cover it with plaster that it will fall. A heavy rain will come, and you, O great hailstones, will fall. And a stormy wind will break it.

12 And behold, the wall is falling down. Will it not be said to you: Where is the plaster with which you have covered it.

13 I will break it with a stormy wind in my fury. And there will be a heavy rain in my anger, and great hailstones in my indignation, to consume it.

14 So I will destroy the wall that you have plastered with mortar, and I will bring it to the ground, and its foundations will be exposed. It will fall, and you will be consumed there. And you will know that I am Yahweh.

15 Thus I will accomplish my fury on the wall, and on those who have plastered with mortar. And I will say to you: The wall is no more, and those who had plastered it are no more.

16 That is to say, the prophets of Israel who prophesy about Jerusalem and who tell visions of peace for her while there will be no peace, says the Lord Yahweh. [Now it appears that the wall referred to earlier is a metaphor to represent a stubborn state of mind.]

17 And you, son of man, set your face toward the daughters of your people who prophesy out of their own hearts, and prophesy against them.

18 Say to them, Thus says the Lord Yahweh: Woe to the women who sew pillows for every armpit, and make veils for the heads of people of every stature, in order to hunt souls. Will you hunt the souls of my people and save alive the souls who can be useful to you.

19 You profane me among my people for handfuls of barley and for pieces of bread. You give advice with the aim of killing the souls who should not die, and keeping alive the souls who should not live. You deceive my people by making them believe your lies.

20 Therefore thus says the Lord Yahweh: Behold I am against your pillows with which you hunt the souls. I will let them fly away, those among them who deserve it, for I will tear those pillows from your arms. And I will let the souls go, and they will be like birds flying from a trap.

21 I will also tear off your veils, and deliver my people from your hand. They will no longer be caught in the trap of your hand, and you will know that I am Yahweh.

22 Because you afflict the heart of the righteous with lies, when I have not afflicted him, and you strengthen the hands of the wicked to keep him in his wicked way, by promising him life.

23 Therefore your false visions and your lying divinations will no longer interest my people. For I will deliver my people from your hand, and you will know that I am Yahweh.

Ezekiel 14

1 And some of the elders of Israel came to me, and sat before me.

2 And the word of Yahweh came to me in the following words.

3 Son of man, these men carry their idols in their hearts and have thus put the stumbling block of their iniquity before their faces. Will I let myself be consulted by them. [Now an idol for a person is simply a preoccupation of that person that is different from the desire to obey the law of Yahweh of which one has knowledge.]

4 Therefore speak to them and say to them, Thus says the Lord Yahweh: Concerning every person of the house of Israel who has set up his idols in his heart, and has thus put the stumbling block of his iniquity before his face, and who comes to the prophet in order to consult me. I Yahweh will answer such a person according to the multitude of his idols.

5 Thus I will seize in their own hearts those of the house of Israel who come to consult me to test me, since their hearts are far from me through their idols.

6 Therefore say to the house of Israel, Thus says the Lord Yahweh: Return to me. Turn yourselves away from your idols, turn your faces away from all your abominable practices.

7 And concerning every person of the house of Israel or of the foreigners who sojourn in Israel, who separates himself from me by carrying his idols in his heart, who has thus put the stumbling block of his iniquity before his face, and who comes to a prophet in order to consult me through him. I Yahweh will answer such a person by myself.

8 And I will set my face against that person, and I will cause him to become a sign and a proverb, and I will cut him off from among my people. And you will know that I am Yahweh.

9 And if the prophet is deceived by his spirit in the answer that he gives to such a person [that is to say, if the prophet gives a favorable answer on my behalf], then it is I Yahweh who have deceived that prophet, and I will stretch out my hand against him, and I will destroy him from among my people Israel.

10 And they will bear the punishment of their iniquity. The punishment of the prophet will be like the punishment of one who has inquired of me through the prophet.

11 And thus the house of Israel will no longer turn away from me to defile themselves with all their transgressions [that is to say, when they have the desire to seek me then they must do it with all their heart and not to test me]. And thus they will be my people, and I will be their God, says the Lord Yahweh.

12 And the word of Yahweh came to me in the following words.

13 Son of man, if a land sins against me by committing abominations, and I stretch out my hand against it, and break the staff of its bread, and send a famine there, and destroy both man and beast there.

14 And if I find in that land one of these three men, Noah or Daniel or Job [that is to say, if I find there some persons who are honest in their behaviors as had been these three men]. Then they will save their own souls by their righteousness, says the Lord Yahweh.

15 If I cause wild beasts to go through a land, to ravage it and to make it a desolation through which no man may pass because of these beasts.

16 And if one of these three men is found in that land [that is to say, if I find there some persons who are honest in their behaviors as had been these three men], then I declare that as I am alive, says the Lord Yahweh, they will save neither sons nor daughters, but they will be the only ones to be saved and the land will become desolate.

17 Or if I bring a sword [that is to say, an army of enemies] against that land and say: Sword, go through the land and destroy both man and beast there.

18 And if one of these three men is found in that land [that is to say, if I find there some persons who are honest in their behaviors as had been these three men], then I declare that as I am alive, says the Lord Yahweh, they will save neither sons nor daughters, but they will be the only ones to be saved.

19 Or if I send a pestilence into that land, and pour out my fury on it, carrying out a slaughter by the pestilence in order to destroy both man and beast there.

20 And if Noah or Daniel or Job is found in that land [that is to say, if I find there some persons who are honest in their behaviors as had been these three men], then I declare that as I am alive, says the Lord Yahweh, they will save neither son nor daughter, but they will save their own souls by their righteousness.

21 Therefore thus says the Lord Yahweh: Despite the fact that I will send my four terrible punishments against Jerusalem, the sword, and the famine, and the wild beasts, and the pestilence, in order to destroy both man and beast there.

22 Nevertheless behold, there will be a remnant who will escape and will be carried away, both sons and daughters. Behold they will come to you, and you will see their way and their deeds, and you will be comforted concerning the disaster that I will have brought on Jerusalem, concerning all that I will have done to it.

23 And they will comfort you when you see their way and their deeds, and you will know that it is not without cause that I have done all that I will have done to it, says the Lord Yahweh.

Ezekiel 16

1 And the word of Yahweh came to me in the following words.

2 Son of man, cause Jerusalem to know her abominations.

3 You will say, Thus says the Lord Yahweh to Jerusalem: By your origin and your birth you are from the land of Canaan. Your father was an Amorite, and your mother was a Hittite.

4 At your birth, in the day you were born, your navel has not been cut and you have not been washed in the water to be cleansed. You have not been rubbed with salt, and you have not been wrapped with swaddling clothes.

5 No one felt sorry for you, to do one of these things to you, to have compassion for you. But you were thrown in the open field in the day of your birth, out of contempt for your person.

6 And while I was walking near you, I saw you wallowing in your blood and I said to you, 'Live in your blood'. Yes, I said to you: live in your blood.

7 I made you multiply like herbs in the field, and you have increased and have become great, and you have acquired excellent ornaments. Your breasts have developed and your hair have grown up while you were naked, entirely naked.

8 And now while I was walking near you, I looked at you and behold, your time had come. The time of love. And I spread my skirt over you, and covered your nudity. And I swore loyalty to you, and made a covenant with you, says the Lord Yahweh, and you became mine.

9 Then I washed you with water. Yes, I washed away your blood from you, and I anointed you with oil.

10 And I gave you embroidered clothes, and shoes made of badger skin. I gave you underwear made of fine linen, and covered you with silk.

11 And I adorned you with ornaments. I put bracelets on your hands, and a chain on your neck.

12 And I put a ring on your nose, and earrings in your ears, and a magnificent crown on your head.

13 Thus you were adorned with gold and silver, and your clothing were of fine linen, and silk, and embroidered work. And you did eat fine flour, and honey, and oil. You were very beautiful, and you were fit to be queen.

14 And your fame spread among the nations, because of your beauty. For it was perfect, through the majesty with which I had clothed you, says the Lord Yahweh.

15 But you have put your trust in your beauty [and not in me], and you have played the whore through your renown. And you have poured out your prostitution on all those who passed by, it was his.

16 And you have taken your garments, and used them to decorate the high places that you have made for yourself, in order to play the whore there. Such things will not continue, it will not be so.

17 You took your beautiful jewels made of my gold and of my silver, which I had given you, and you used them to make images of men in order to fornicate with them.

18 And you took your embroidered clothes to cover them, and you offered them my oil and my incense.

19 My bread that I had given you, and the fine flour, and the oil, and the honey, with which I fed you, you have set it before them for a pleasant smell. This is what has happened, says the Lord Yahweh.

20 And you have taken your sons and your daughters whom you bore to me, and you have sacrificed them to offer them as food to be devoured.

21 Was your whoredom a small matter. And nevertheless you have slaughtered my children and cause them to pass through the fire in order to honor your lovers.

22 And in all your abominations and your whoredoms you have not remembered the days of your youth, when you were naked, entirely naked, and were wallowing in your blood.

23 Woe, woe to you after all your wicked deeds, says the Lord Yahweh.

24 You have built houses of prostitution, you have made high places in every street.

25 You have built your high places at every corner of the way, and have made your beauty an abomination. You have opened your thighs to every one who passed by, and have multiplied your whoredoms.

26 You have also committed fornication with the Egyptians your neighbors, whose body is impressive, and you have increased your whoredom, to provoke me to anger.

27 Therefore behold, I have stretched out my hand against you, and reduced the portion [of the land] that I had allotted you. And I have delivered you to the will of your enemies, to the daughters of the Philistines who had been ashamed of your wicked ways.

28 You have played the whore also with the Assyrians because you were insatiable. Yes, you have played the whore with them, and you could not be satisfied.

29 You have multiplied your fornication in the land of Canaan to the Chaldea, and you have not yet been satisfied.

30 How wicked is your heart, says the Lord Yahweh. For you have done all these things, the work of a proud whore.

31 You have built your high places in the corner of every way, and you have made your high places in every street.

32 You have not even been like a whore who asks her lovers for a reward. You have been like an adulterous woman who entertains strangers instead of her husband.

33 For lovers give gifts to all whores, while you give gifts to all your lovers, and reward them, so that they come to you from every side to fornicate with you.

34 You are the opposite of other women in your whoredoms. Not only is no one looking for you to fornicate with you, but you are giving wages instead of receiving them. Therefore you are different from others.

35 Therefore hear the word of Yahweh, O whore.

36 Thus says the Lord Yahweh: Because your filthiness has been exposed, and your nakedness has been discovered through your whoredoms with your lovers, with all your abominable idols, and because of the blood of your children whom you have given to them.

37 Therefore behold I will gather all your lovers with whom you have taken pleasure, all those you whom have loved and all those whom you have hated. I will gather them against you from every side, and I will uncover your nakedness to them, that they may see all your nakedness.

38 And I will judge you as one judges adulteresses and those who shed blood, and I will make you a victim of bloodshed through wrath and jealousy.

39 I will deliver you into their hand, and they will destroy your high places, and they will burn your high places. They will strip you of your clothes, and take your beautiful jewels, and leave you naked, entirely naked.

40 They will bring up a troop against you, and they will stone you with stones and thrust you through with their swords.

41 And they will burn your houses with fire, and execute judgments on you in the sight of many women. So I will put an end to your sexual immorality, and you will no longer give wages to be loved.

42 So I will satisfy my anger against you. And my jealousy will depart from you, and I will be appeased, and I will no longer be angry.

43 Because you have not remembered the days of your youth, because you have provoked me to anger with all these things, behold I will repay your ways on your own head, says the Lord Yahweh, and you will no longer commit such abominations.

44 Behold those who use proverbs will use the following proverb on you: Such is the mother, such is her daughter.

45 You are the daughter of your mother, who rejected her husband and her children. You are the sister of your sisters, who rejected their husbands and their children. Your mother was a Hittite, and your father was an Amorite. [Now you have rejected me, your husband who had made a covenant with you, and you have rejected some of your children by offering them as sacrifices to your lovers.]

46 And your older sister, who dwelt on your left hand, is Samaria and her daughters. And your younger sister, who dwelt on your right hand, is Sodom and her daughters.

47 You have not only walked in their ways and committed the same abominations. For it was a small thing in your eyes, therefore you have done worse than them in all your ways.

48 As I am alive, says the Lord Yahweh, your sister Sodom and her daughters have not done what you and your daughters have done.

49 Behold this was the iniquity of your sister Sodom: she was proud, and she lived in abundance and was careless, she and her daughters. And she did not strengthen the hand of the poor and needy.

50 They have become haughty and have committed abominations before me. Therefore I took them away, as it seemed good to me.

51 And Samaria has not committed half of your sins. Your abominations were more numerous than theirs, and you have thus justified your sisters through all the abominations that you have committed.

52 Therefore, you who have justified your sisters, bear your own shame because of your sins. For they have been punished for their sins despite the fact that they have been more righteous than you, since you have committed things more abominable than what they had committed. Therefore, you too, be confused and bear your shame, for you have justified your sisters. [That is to say, since I must appease my anger against you after having punished you, it will be necessary for me to appease also my anger against those who have been less guilty than you.]

53 So I will bring back their captives, the captives of Sodom and her daughters, and the captives of Samaria and her daughters, and your captives among them.

54 So that you may bear your own shame and be confused for all that you have done, because you have become a comfort to them [by proving to them that they are not the most guilty peoples in my eyes].

55 And your sister Sodom and her daughters will return to their former state. And your sister Samaria and her daughters will return to their former state. And you and your daughters will return to your former state.

56 You had despised your sister Sodom in the days of your pride, when you were convinced that you were more honorable than she.

57 This was before your wickedness was discovered, when have been insulted by the daughters of Syria and all those who are around her, by the daughters of the Philistines, all those who despise you on every side.

58 It is your wickedness and your abominations that have caused your misfortunes, says Yahweh.

59 For thus says the Lord Yahweh: I will do to you as you have done, you who have despised the oath by breaking the covenant.

60 Nevertheless I will remember my covenant which I had made with you in the days of your youth, and I will establish with you an everlasting covenant.

61 Then you will remember your ways, and you will be ashamed when you receive your sisters, both the elder and the younger. And I will give them to you for daughters, but not by your covenant.

62 And I will establish my covenant with you, and you will know that I am Yahweh.

63 And you will remember the former things, and you will be ashamed. And you will never open your mouth again because of your shame, when I will have forgiven you for all the things that you have done, says the Lord Yahweh.

Ezekiel 17

1 And the word of Yahweh came to me in the following words.

2 Son of man, propose a riddle. Tell a parable to the house of Israel.

3 Say to them, Thus says the Lord Yahweh: A great eagle with great wings, long wings full of colorful feathers, came to Lebanon and took the highest branch of a cedar.

4 He plucked off the topmost of its young twigs, and carried it to a land of trade, and set it down in a city of merchants.

5 He took also of the seed of the land, and planted it in a fruitful field. He placed it near abundant waters, and set it like a willow.

6 And it grew, and became a spreading vine of low stature. Its branches were turned toward the eagle, and its roots were under him. So it became a vine, and produced branches, and sprouted.

7 There was another great eagle with great wings and many feathers. And behold, this vine spread its roots toward him and turned its branches toward him, so that he water it through the furrows of her plantation.

8 It was planted in good soil, near abundant waters, so that it might produce branches, and bear fruit, and become an excellent vine.

9 Say to them, Thus says the Lord Yahweh: Will this vine prosper. Will not the first eagle take away its fruit, and pluck up its roots so that it may wither. It will wither in all its leaves, and it will not take great power or many people to pluck it up by its roots.

10 Behold it has been planted, but will it flourish. Will it not utterly wither when the east wind blows on it. It will wither in the furrows where it grew.

11 And the word of Yahweh came to me in the following words.

12 Say now to this rebellious house, 'Do you not know what these things mean'. Say to them: Behold Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon had come to Jerusalem, and had taken the king [Jehoiachin] and the princes [leaders] there, and had brought them with him to Babylon.

13 And Nebuchadnezzar had taken a man from the family of the king and had made him the new king of Judah, namely Zedekiah, and had made a covenant with him, and had made him swear an oath.

14 And Nebuchadnezzar had also taken away the nobles of the land, so that the kingdom might act with humility and not seek to exalt itself, and thus keep his covenant by remaining faithful to him.

15 But Zedekiah has rebelled against Nebuchadnezzar, and has send his messengers to Egypt in order to obtain many horses and soldiers. Will he who has done such things prosper. Will he escape. Will he escape after breaking such a covenant.

16 As I am alive, says the Lord Yahweh, he will die in the land of the king who had made him king, and whose oath he has despised, and whose covenant he has broken. He will die in Babylon.

17 And Pharaoh with his great army and his great company will not save Zedekiah in the war. And the army of Nebuchadnezzar will erect mounds and build forts, and destroy many persons.

18 For Zedekiah has despised the oath and broken the covenant [that he had made with Nebuchadnezzar]. He had stretched his hand to approve this covenant, and nevertheless he has done these things. Therefore he will not escape.

19 Therefore thus says the Lord Yahweh: As I am alive, I will bring this thing back on his head, for he has despised an oath that he has sworn in my name, and has thus broken my covenant.

20 I will spread my net on him, and he will be taken in my snare. And I will bring him to Babylon, and I will enter into judgment with him there concerning his transgression that he has committed against me.

21 And all his advisers from his troops will die by the sword, and those who remain will be scattered to all the winds. And you will know that I have spoken it, I Yahweh.

22 Thus says the Lord Yahweh: I will also take of the highest branch of the high cedar, and I will set it. And I will cut off from the topmost of its young twigs a tender one, and I will plant it on a high and great mountain.

23 I will plant it on the high mountain of Israel. And it will produce branches, and will bear fruit, and will be an excellent cedar. All the birds will dwell under it, every bird will dwell in the shadow of its branches.

24 And all the trees of the field will know that I Yahweh have brought down the high tree, and have exalted the low tree. They will know that I have dried up the green tree, and have caused the dry tree to flourish. I Yahweh have spoken it, and I will do it.

Ezekiel 18

1 The word of Yahweh came to me in the following words.

2 Why do you use the following proverb in the land of Israel: The fathers have eaten sour grapes, and the children's teeth are set on edge.

3 As I am alive, says the Lord Yahweh, you will no longer use this proverb in Israel.

4 Behold all souls are mine. The soul of the father is mine, and the soul of the son is mine. The soul that sins is the soul that will die.

5 If a man is righteous, then he continuously does what is lawful and right.

6 He does not go on the mountains to participate in the meals that have been prepared to honor false gods, he does not seek approval from the idols of the house of Israel. He does not commit adultery with the wife of his neighbor, and he does not approach a woman during her menstrual indisposition.

7 He does not oppress anyone, and he restores the pledge of the debtor. He does not commit robbery [and he does not mislead anyone without having publicly acceptable justifications in his heart]. He gives his bread to the hungry, and covers the naked with a garment.

8 He neither demands nor accepts interest on a loan [taken by a needy person]. He turns away his hand from iniquity, and judges fairly between man and man.

9 He walks in my statutes and keeps my judgments, in order to act faithfully. Such a person is righteous and he will surely live, says the Lord Yahweh.

10 If such a person has a son who is a robber, or who sheds innocent blood, or who does similar things.

11 If that son does not walk in the ways of his father, but participates in the meals that have been prepared to honor false gods, or commits adultery with the wife of his neighbor.

12 Or oppresses the poor and needy, or commits robbery, or misleads others without having publicly acceptable justifications in his heart, or does not restore the pledge [of a debtor who is needy], or seeks approval from false gods, or commits other abominations.

13 Or demands or accepts interest [on a loan taken by a needy person]. Should such a person live. He will not live, for he has done all these abominations. He will surely die, and his blood will be on him.

14 Now if a man has a son who sees all the sins that his father commits. And if that son sees it, and fears, and does not do similar things.

15 If that son does not go on the mountains to participate in the meals that have been prepared to honor false gods, and does not seek approval from the idols of the house of Israel, and does not commit adultery with the wife of his neighbor.

16 If he does not oppress anyone, and does not take a pledge, and does not commit robbery, and does not mislead anyone without having publicly acceptable justifications in his heart. If he gives his bread to the hungry, and covers the naked with a garment.

17 If he turns his hand to help the afflicted, and does not demand or accept interest on a loan [taken by a needy person]. If he executes my judgments and walks in my statutes, then he will not die for the iniquity of his father. He will surely live.

18 And concerning his father, because oppresses and robs his brother [neighbor], and does what is not good among his people, lo, he will die in his iniquity.

19 And you say, 'Why does not the son bear the iniquity of the father'. It is because the son has done what is lawful and right, and has kept all my statutes, and has done them. He will surely live.

20 The soul that sins is the soul that will die. The son will not bear the iniquity of the father, and the father will not bear the iniquity of the son. The righteousness of the righteous will be on himself, and the wickedness of the wicked will be on himself.

21 But if the wicked turns away from all his sins that he has committed, and keeps all my statutes, and does what is lawful and right, then he will surely live. He will not die.

22 All his transgressions that he has committed will be forgiven, and he will live in his righteousness that he is practicing.

23 Do I take pleasure in the death of the wicked, says the Lord Yahweh. Is it not my wish that he may turn away from his evil ways and live.

24 And if a righteous person turns away from his righteousness and commits iniquity, and does according to all the abominations of a wicked person. Should he live. All his righteousness that he has done will be forgotten, and he will die in the transgression that he has committed and in the sin that he has sinned.

25 And you say, 'The way of the Lord is not fair'. Hear now, O house of Israel. Is not my way fair. Are not your ways unfair.

26 If a righteous person turns away from his righteousness, and commits iniquity, then he will die because of it. He will die through his iniquity that he has done.

27 If a wicked person turns away from his wickedness that he has committed, and does what is lawful and right, then he will save his soul alive.

28 Because he has considered, and has turned away from all his transgressions that he had committed, he will surely live and will not die.

29 And the house of Israel says, 'The way of the Lord is not fair'. Are not my ways fair, O house of Israel. Are not your ways unfair.

30 O house of Israel, I will judge you every one according to his ways, says the Lord Yahweh. Therefore repent, and turn away from all your transgressions, so that your iniquity does not cause your destruction.

31 Cast away from you all your transgressions by which you have transgressed, and make you a new heart and a new spirit. For why should you die, O house of Israel.

32 For I do not take pleasure in the death of the one who dies, says the Lord Yahweh. Therefore repent and live.

Ezekiel 20

1 In the seventh year [of the captivity of Jehoiachin king of Judah], on the tenth day of the fifth month, some of the elders of Israel came to inquire of Yahweh, and they sat before me.

2 And the word of Yahweh came to me in the following words.

3 Son of man, speak to the elders of Israel and say to them, Thus says the Lord Yahweh: Have you come to consult me. As I am alive, says the Lord Yahweh, I will not satisfy your expectation by answering you.

4 Do you want to judge them, son of man. Do you want to judge them. Cause them to understand the abominations of their fathers.

5 Say to them, Thus says the Lord Yahweh: In the day when I called Israel, I lifted up my hand to the seed of the house of Jacob and I made myself known to them in the land of Egypt. I lifted up my hand to them and said: I am Yahweh your God.

6 In that day I lifted up my hand to them, to bring them out of the land of Egypt and lead them into a land that I had chosen for them, a land where milk and honey flow, a land that was the most pleasant of all lands.

7 And I said to them: Reject every one the abominations that have seduced your eyes and have entered your hearts in this way, do not defile yourselves by the idols of Egypt. For I am Yahweh your God. [Now an idol for a person is simply a preoccupation of that person that is different from the desire to obey the law of Yahweh of which one has knowledge.]

8 But they rebelled against me, and did not want to listen to me. Every person did not reject the abominations that had seduced his eyes and had entered his hearts in this way, they did not forsake the idols of Egypt. Then I thought to pour out my indignation on them, to accomplish my anger against them in the midst of the land of Egypt.

9 But I have acted for the sake of my name, so that it might not be profaned before the nations among whom they had been, those in whose sight I had made myself known to the seed of the house of Jacob in bringing them out of the land of Egypt.

10 So I brought them out of the land of Egypt and led them into the wilderness.

11 And I gave them my statutes and showed them my judgments, by which a man will live if he fulfills them.

12 Moreover I also gave them my sabbaths, to be a sign between me and them, so that they might know that I am Yahweh who sanctifies them.

13 But the house of Israel rebelled against me in the wilderness. They did not walk in my statutes and they despised my judgments, by which a man will live if he fulfills them. They also greatly despised my sabbaths. Then I thought to pour out my indignation on them in the wilderness to destroy them.

14 But I have acted for the sake of my name, so that it might not be profaned before the nations in whose sight I brought them out of Egypt.

15 Nevertheless I swore to them in the wilderness, and declared that I would not bring them into the land which I had chosen for them, a land where milk and honey flow, a land that was the most pleasant of all lands. [I had declared that all those who had offended me, and who were old enough to distinguish between good and evil, should die in the wilderness and should not enter that land which I had chosen.]

16 I did it because they despised my judgments and did not walk in my statutes, and because they profaned my sabbaths. For their hearts did not depart from their idols.

17 So my eye had pity on them, and I did not completely destroy them. I did not wipe them out in the wilderness [since I have allowed their children to survive].

18 And I said to their children in the wilderness: Do not walk in the ordinances of your fathers, and do not observe their manners, and do not defile yourselves with their idols.

19 I am Yahweh your God. Walk in my statutes, and keep my judgments, and do them.

20 And sanctify my sabbaths, because they are a sign between me and you, so that you may know that I am Yahweh your God.

21 But the children rebelled against me. They did not walk in my statutes, nor keep my judgments to do them, those things by which a man will live if he fulfills them. And they also profaned my sabbaths. Then I thought to pour out my indignation on them, to accomplish my anger against them in the wilderness.

22 Nevertheless I have withdrawn my hand and have acted for the sake of my name, so that it might not be profaned before the nations in whose sight I brought them out of Egypt.

23 But I lifted up my hand to them in the wilderness, and said that I would scatter them among the nations, and disperse them through the countries.

24 For they had not executed my judgments, and had despised my statutes, and had profaned my sabbaths, and had turned their eyes to the idols of their fathers.

25 I also gave them statutes that were not good, and judgments by which they could not live.

26 And I defiled them in their own offerings, when they caused all their firstborn to pass through the fire. I wanted to punish them in this way, and make them know that I am Yahweh. [Now Yahweh is the holy spirit of Elohim, and Elohim is the one who causes all things to happen, but Yahweh has also said that he himself is Elohim and the only Elohim.]

27 Therefore, son of man, speak to the house of Israel and say to them, Thus says the Lord Yahweh: Your fathers have continued to insult me, by being unfaithful to me.

28 For when I had brought them into the land that I had sworn to give them, then they looked at every high hill and every thick tree, and they offered there their sacrifices [despite the fact that I had asked not to do it anywhere but only at the place that I have chosen, that is to say in my tabernacle], and there they presented their offerings of provocation [since they no longer even cared about the method and especially the different categories of offerings indicated in my law]. They also burned their sweet smelling incense there, and poured out their drink offerings there.

29 Then I said to them, 'What are these high places where you are going'. And the name high places has been given to them to this day.

30 Therefore say to the house of Israel, Thus says the Lord Yahweh: Have you not defiled yourselves in the manner of your fathers. Have you not committed whoredom according to their abominations.

31 For you have offered your offerings anywhere [without even worrying about the different categories indicated in my law and without even thinking about me], and you have caused your sons to pass through the fire [to be offerings to your false gods], and you have defiled yourselves by all your idols to this day. And now, should I let myself be consulted by you, O house of Israel. As I am alive, says the Lord Yahweh, I will not satisfy your expectation by answering you.

32 Nevertheless what you imagine will not happen. For you say: We want to be like the nations, like the families of the countries. We want to serve wood and stone.

33 As I am alive, says the Lord Yahweh, I will surely reign over you with a mighty hand and with an outstretched arm, and by spreading my fury.

34 And I will bring you out from among the peoples, and gather you from the countries where you have been scattered, with a mighty hand and with an outstretched arm, and by spreading my fury.

35 And I will bring you into the wilderness of the peoples, and there I will judge you face to face.

36 As I entered into judgment with your fathers in the wilderness of the land of Egypt, so I will enter into judgment with you, says the Lord Yahweh.

37 And I will cause you to pass under the rod, and I will bring you into the bond of the covenant.

38 And I will separate from among you the rebels, those who transgress against me. I will bring them out of the land where they dwell, but they will not enter the land of Israel, and you will know that I am Yahweh.

39 As for you who have come now to consult me, O house of Israel, thus says the Lord Yahweh: Go and serve every man his idols [that you have in your hearts]. But afterward you will listen to me, and will no longer profane my holy name with your bad offerings and with your idols.

40 For on my holy mountain, on the high mountain of Israel, says the Lord Yahweh, there the whole house of Israel and all those who are in the land will serve me. And there I will accept them, and there I will require your offerings, and the firstfruits of your crops, and all the things that you will dedicate to me.

41 I will receive you as a sweet smelling aroma, when I bring you from among the peoples, and gather you from the countries where you have been scattered. And I will be sanctified in you in the sight of the nations.

42 And you will know that I am Yahweh, when I bring you back to the land of Israel, to the land that I swore to give to your fathers.

43 And there you will remember your ways and all your deeds by which you have defiled yourselves, and you will loathe yourselves because of all your evils that you have committed.

44 And you will know that I am Yahweh, when I act toward you for the sake of my name, and not according to your evil ways, nor according to your wicked deeds, O house of Israel, says the Lord Yahweh.

45 And the word of Yahweh came to me in the following words.

46 Son of man, set your face toward the south, and utter your word toward the south, and prophesy against the forest of the south.

47 And say to the forest of the south, Hear the word of Yahweh. Thus says the Lord Yahweh: Behold I will kindle a fire in you, and it will devour every green tree in you, and every dry tree. The flame that will burn will not be quenched, and every face will be burned through it, from the south to the north.

48 And all flesh will see that I Yahweh have kindled it, and it will not be quenched.

49 Then I said [I Ezekiel]: Ah Lord Yahweh, the people who are here say of me, 'Is this not a maker of parables'.

Ezekiel 24

1 In the ninth year [of the captivity of Jehoiachin king of Judah], on the tenth day of the tenth month, the word of Yahweh came to me in the following words.

2 Son of man, write the date of the day, of this day. For [the army of the] king of Babylon will arrive in front of the walls of Jerusalem on this same day.

3 And speak a parable to the rebellious house, and say to them, Thus says the Lord Yahweh: Prepare a cauldron, put it on the fire, and pour water into it.

4 Put pieces of meat into it, all the good pieces like the thigh and the shoulder. And fill it with the best bones [that is to say, the bones that can be eaten].

5 So you will take of the best sheep, and will pile wood and the other bones under the cauldron. Boil it well, and cook the bones that are inside.

6 For thus says the Lord Yahweh: Woe to the bloody city, to the cauldron whose rust is inside, whose rust has not gone away. Take it out piece by piece, without bothering to cast lots.

7 For the blood that she has shed is in the midst of her. She has poured it on the top of the rocks, and did not pour it on the ground to cover it with dust.

8 In order to show my fury, in order to avenge me, I have set her blood on the naked rock, so that it may not be covered.

9 Therefore thus says the Lord Yahweh: Woe to the bloody city. For I will make the pile for fire great.

10 Pile up the wood, kindle the fire, cook the flesh well, thicken the broth, and let the bones be burned.

11 Then let the cauldron stand empty on the fire, and let it become so hot that its brass begin to glow. Let its filth melt in it, let its rust be consumed.

12 Jerusalem may work hard to scrub away her filth, but that rust will not go away. Only the fire of punishment will remove it.

13 You have sinned against me and have been defiled by your sin. I may wash you to make you clean, but the rust will not come out. You will not be purified until I have caused the fire of my fury to come on you.

14 I Yahweh, I have spoken it. It will happen, for I will perform it. I will not go back, I will have neither pity nor repentance. They will judge you according to your ways and according to your deeds, says the Lord Yahweh.

15 And the word of Yahweh came to me in the following words.

16 Son of man, behold I take away by a sudden death what makes the delights of your eyes. You will neither lament nor weep. Your tears will not flow.

17 Refrain from weeping, do not mourn for the dead. Tie your turban on your head, and put your shoes on your feet, and do not cover your lips, and do not eat the bread prepare for mourners.

18 So I spoke to the people in the morning, and my wife died in the evening. And I did in the next morning as I had been commanded.

19 And the people said to me: Will you not explain to us what we should understand by this behavior that you have.

20 Then I answered them: The word of Yahweh has come to me in the following words.

21 Say to the house of Israel [namely those who are currently with you in captivity], Thus speaks the Lord Yahweh: Behold I will desecrate my sanctuary which is the pride of your power, the delights of your eyes, the object of your love. [And it is going to happen now because yours brothers who are in the land of Judah are misusing it]. And your sons and daughters whom you have left behind will fall by the sword.

22 And then you will do as I did. You will not cover your lips, and you will not eat the bread prepare for mourners.

23 You will have your turbans on your head and your shoes on the feet, and you will neither lament nor weep. But you will waste away because of your iniquities [that is to say, the iniquities of the whole house of Jacob], and talk to each other quietly about your grief.

24 Thus Ezekiel will be a sign for you, and you will do entirely as he has done. And when these things happen, you will know that I am the Lord Yahweh.

25 And you, son of man, in the day when I take away from them [the pride of] their strength, the joy of their glory, the delights of their eyes, the object of their love. When I take away their sons and their daughters.

26 In that day, one of those who will escape will come to you to announce it to you in your ears.

27 In that day your mouth will be opened to that survivor, and you will speak, and will no longer be mute. So you will be a sign for them, and they will know that I am Yahweh.

1 And the word of Yahweh came to me in the following words.

2 Son of man, speak to the children of your people and say to them: When I bring the sword on a land, and the inhabitants of that land choose from among themselves a person to set him as watchman.

3 If the watchman sounds the trumpet to warn the people when he sees the sword coming on the land.

4 Then the one who listens to the sound of the trumpet and chooses not to prepare himself will have his own blood on his own head if the sword comes and takes him away.

5 For he has heard the sound of the trumpet, but he has not wanted to prepare himself. Therefore his blood will be on his own head. But if he prepares himself, then he may save his life.

6 But if the watchman sees the sword coming and deliberately chooses not to sound the trumpet, and the people are not warned, and the sword comes and takes the life of any person from among them, then the victim is taken away because of his own iniquity, but I will demand his blood at the hand of the watchman.

7 And you, O son of man, I have set you as a watchman over the house of Israel. Therefore you will listen to the word that comes from my mouth, and you will give them warnings from me.

8 When I say to the wicked, 'O wicked man, you will surely die'. If you do not warn the wicked person in order to turn him away from his evil way, then that wicked person will die in his own iniquity, but I will demand his soul at your hand.

9 But if you warn the wicked person in order to turn him away from his evil way, and if he does not turn away from his evil way, then he will die in his iniquity but you will save your soul in this matter.

10 Therefore, O you the son of man, say to the house of Israel: You speak by saying, 'Our transgressions and our sins are on us, and we are wasting away because of them. How then can we live'.

11 Say to them: As I am alive, says the Lord Yahweh, I do not take pleasure in the death of the wicked person, and my desire is that the wicked person may turn away from his evil ways and live. Repent, and turn away from your evil ways. For why should you die, O house of Israel.

12 Therefore, you the son of man, say to the children of your people: The righteousness of the righteous person will not deliver him in the day of his transgression, and the wicked person will not fall by his wickedness if he has turned away from his wickedness [that is to say, I will find a way to give him a useful legacy if he has repented by following the procedure indicated in my law]. The righteous person will not live through his righteousness in the day that he sins [that is to say, I will construct future events to gradually give little importance to his works of justice].

13 When I say to the righteous that he will surely live, if he trusts in his righteousness of the past and commits iniquity, then none of his righteous deeds will be remembered [because I will build the future events in such a way as to lessen their importance even if it is after a long period of time], and he will thus die in his iniquity that he has committed.

14 When I say to the wicked, 'You will surely die'. If he turns away from his sin and does what is lawful and right.

15 If that wicked person restores the pledge [of a debtor who is needy], and restores what he has stolen, and walks in the statutes of life, and does not commit iniquity, then he will surely live. He will not die.

16 None of his sins that he had committed will cause his destruction [that is to say, I will succeed in building a useful legacy for him]. For he has done what is lawful and right, and therefore he will surely live.

17 And the children of your people say, 'The way of the Lord is not fair'. But it is their way that is not fair.

18 If the righteous turns away from his righteousness and commits iniquity, then he will die in his sin.

19 If the wicked turns away from his wickedness and does what is lawful and right, then he will live in his righteousness.

20 And you say, 'The way of the Lord is not fair'. I will judge you every one according to his ways, O house of Israel.

21 In the twelfth year of our captivity [which is also the twelfth year of the captivity of Jehoiachin king of Judah], on the fifth day of the tenth month, a man who had escaped from Jerusalem came to me and said: The city has been smitten.

22 Now the hand of Yahweh had been on me in the evening before the coming of the one who had escaped, and Yahweh had opened my mouth at that time. So when the man came to me in the morning, my mouth was opened and I was no longer mute.

23 And the word of Yahweh came to me in the following words.

24 Son of man, those who dwell in the desolate places of the land of Israel are saying: Abraham was only one man, and he inherited the land [that is to say, Yahweh promised to give this land to his descendants]. And now we are more numerous [and we are the only children of Jacob who are now here on this ravaged land since all the others have been sent into captivity], therefore the land will be given to us for a possession [that is to say, we deserve it because of whom we are and not because of what we do]. [Now they speak in this way despite the fact that all the sons of Abraham did not inherit the promise made to Abraham, but only Isaac among the many sons of Abraham, and only Jacob among the two twin sons of Isaac.]

25 Therefore say to them [that is to say, prophesy about them], Thus says the Lord Yahweh: You eat your meat with the blood, and you lift up your eyes to your idols [to ask for their favors], and you kill innocent persons. Should you then inherit the land.

26 You rely on your sword, and you commit abominations. And each of you commits adultery with the wife of his neighbor. Should you then inherit the land.

27 Say to them [that is to say, prophesy about them]: Thus speak the Lord Yahweh: As I am alive, surely those who remain in the desolate places will fall by the sword. And concerning those who are in the open fields, I will give them to the beasts to be devoured. And concerning those who are in the strongholds and in the caves, they will die by the pestilence.

28 And I will make the land a desolation and a subject of astonishment, and the pride of its strength will cease [Now some of the people thought that a complete destruction cannot happen since it is the inheritance that God promised to their fathers]. And the mountains of Israel will be desolate, and no one will pass inside.

29 Then they will know that I am Yahweh [that is to say, the holy spirit of Elohim who considers what each person does and not who he is], when I will have made the land a desolation and a subject of astonishment because of all the abominations that they have committed.

30 As for you, son of man, the children of your people talk about you near the walls and in the doorways of their houses, and they say to each other, every one to his brother: Come, I pray you, and we will go to hear the new words that have come from Yahweh. [Now they speak thus because they are with you in the land where you have been carried away captive, and they have understood by certain signs that you are a prophet of Yahweh.]

31 And they come to you like the crowds assemble, and my people sits in front of you, and they listen to your words, but they do not put them into practice. For they show much love with their mouth, but their hearts are engaged in greed.

32 And lo, you are for them like a talented singer who produces lovely songs and whose pleasant voice is impossible to imitate. For they desire only to hear your words, and do not desire to put them into practice. [And yet they only need to practice your words to be able to become like you, but they do not know it.]

33 And when all the things that you have announced will have happened, and behold, they are happening, then they will know that there has been a prophet among them.

Ezekiel 34

1 And the word of Yahweh came to me in the following words.

2 Son of man, prophesy against the shepherds of Israel. Prophesy and say to them, Thus says the Lord Yahweh to the shepherds: Woe to the shepherds of Israel who feed themselves. Should not the shepherds feed the sheep.

3 You eat the fat, and you clothe yourselves with the wool. You kill the fatlings, but you do not feed the sheep.

4 You have not strengthened the weak, nor healed the sick, nor bound up the injured ones. You have not brought back the straying ones, nor sought the lost ones. But you have ruled over them with harshness and cruelty.

5 And they have been scattered because they had no shepherd. They have become prey to all the beasts of the field when they were scattered.

6 And my sheep have wandered through all the mountains and on every high hill. Yes, my sheep were scattered all over the land, and there was no one to search them and to take care of them.

7 Therefore, you shepherds, hear the word of Yahweh.

8 As I am alive, says the Lord Yahweh, because the lack of shepherds has caused my sheep to become a prey and be devoured by all the beasts of the field, because my shepherds have not searched my sheep to take care of them, because the shepherds have fed themselves instead of feeding my sheep.

9 Therefore, O you shepherds, hear the word of Yahweh.

10 Thus says the Lord Yahweh: Behold I am against the shepherds, and I will require my lost sheep at their hand. I will no longer let them feed my sheep, and those shepherds will no longer feed themselves. For I will deliver my sheep out of their mouths, and my sheep will no longer be a prey for them.

11 For thus says the Lord Yahweh: Behold I myself, even I, will search my sheep and will take care of them.

12 As a shepherd seeks his sheep when he is with them and they begin to stray, so I will seek out my sheep and gather them from all places where they have been scattered in the cloudy and dark day.

13 And I will bring them out from the peoples, and gather them from the countries, and bring them into their own land. And I will feed them on the mountains of Israel, near the rivers, and in all the inhabited places of the land.

14 I will feed them in a good pasture, and their sheepfold will be on the high mountains of Israel. There they will lie down in a pleasant sheepfold, and they will feed on the fat pasture of the mountains of Israel.

15 I will feed my sheep, and bring them to their rest, says the Lord Yahweh.

16 I will seek the lost sheep, and bring back those who are straying, and bind up those who are injured, and strengthen those who are sick. But I will destroy the fat and the strong, I will feed them with the punishment that they deserve.

17 As for you, O my sheep, thus says the Lord Yahweh: Behold I will judge between sheep and sheep, and between the rams and the goats.

18 Is it too little for you to graze in a good pasture. For you trample with your feet the remnant of your pasture. And when you have drunk of the clear waters, then you trouble the remnant with your feet.

19 And my sheep graze what your feet have trampled, and drink what your feet have troubled.

20 Therefore thus says the Lord Yahweh to them: Behold I, even I, will judge between the fat sheep and the thin sheep.

21 Because you have thrust with your side and your shoulder, and have push all the weak with your horns, until you have driven them away.

22 Therefore I will help my sheep, and they will no longer be a prey. I will judge between sheep and sheep.

23 And I will set up one shepherd over them, and he will feed them, even my servant David. He will feed them, and he will be their shepherd.

24 And I Yahweh, I will be their God, and my servant David will be prince among them. I Yahweh, I have spoken it.

25 And I will make a covenant of peace with them, and I will cause the evil beasts to disappear from the land. They will dwell safely in the wilderness, and sleep in the forests.

26 But before that, I will make them and the places around my hill a blessing. I will send the rain in its season, and it will be a shower of blessing.

27 And the trees of the field will yield their fruit, and the land will yield its produce, and they will be safe in their land. And they will know that I am Yahweh, when I break the bars of their yoke and deliver them from the hand of those who have enslaved them [that is to say, when I will set them free in the places where they are captive].

28 And they will no longer be a prey to the nations, and the beasts of the land will no longer devour them. They will dwell in safety, and no one will make them afraid.

29 And I will establish for them a plantation of renown, and they will no longer be consumed by the famine in the land, and they will no longer bear the reproach of the nations.

30 And they will know that I Yahweh their God am with them, and that they the house of Israel are my people, says the Lord Yahweh.

31 And you my sheep, the sheep of my pasture, you are men and I am your God, says the Lord Yahweh.

Ezekiel 37

1 The hand of Yahweh was on me, and he carried me out in the spirit of Yahweh [that is to say, in a vision], and set me down in the midst of a valley which was full of bones.

2 And he caused me to pass near them all around, and behold, there were many of them on the surface of the valley, and lo, they were completely dry.

3 And he said to me, 'Son of man, can these bones live'. And I answered, 'O Lord Yahweh, you know it'.

4 And he said to me: Prophesy over these bones, and say to them, 'O you dry bones, hear the word of Yahweh'.

5 Thus says the Lord Yahweh to these bones: Behold I will cause breath to enter you, and you will live.

6 And I will put sinews on you, and bring up flesh on you, and cover you with skin, and put breath in you, and you will live. And you will know that I am Yahweh.

7 So I prophesied as I had been commanded. And while I was prophesying, there was a noise, and behold, there was a shaking, and the bones came together, bone to its bone.

8 And I looked, and lo, sinews grew on them, and flesh grew, and skin covered them, but there was no breath in them.

9 Then he said to me: Prophesy to the wind. Prophesy, son of man, and say to the wind, 'Thus says the Lord Yahweh: Come from the four winds, O breath, and breathe on these dead bodies so that they may live.

10 So I prophesied as he had commanded me. And the breath entered them, and they became alive and stood on their feet. It was a very great army.

11 Then he said to me: Son of man, these bones are the whole house of Israel. Behold they say, 'Our bones have dried up, and our hope is gone, and we are cut off [from the inheritance that Yahweh had given to our fathers]'. [Now the prophet Jeremiah had already announced that there would be a return of the captives after seventy years, but perhaps not to the same persons. And even if there were some persons among them who knew this, it must be known that the people have the habit of doubting each time when they observe difficulties, as after the exodus from the land of Egypt under the leadership of Moses.]

12 Therefore prophesy and say to them, Thus says the Lord Yahweh: Behold I will open your graves [since you are saying that you are already dead], O my people, and cause you to come up out of your graves, and bring you into the land of Israel.

13 And you will know that I am Yahweh, when I open your graves and bring you up from your graves, O my people. [That is to say, when I will revive the hope of all those who will have the desire to return together to repopulate the land promised to their fathers and to serve me there, when I will proclaim your freedom in the places where you are captive]

14 And I will put my spirit in you, and you will live, and I will place you in your own land. Then you will know that I Yahweh, I have spoken it and performed it, says Yahweh.

15 The word of Yahweh came to me in the following words.

16 And you, son of man, take a stick and write on it, 'For Judah and for the children of Israel his companions'. And take another stick and write on it, 'For Joseph, the stick of Ephraim, and for all the house of Israel his companions'.

17 And you will join them together into one stick, so that they may become one in your hand.

18 And when the children of your people say to you: Will you not explain to us what these things mean.

19 Then you will say to them, Thus says the Lord Yahweh: Behold I will take the stick of Joseph, which is in the hand of Ephraim, and the tribes of Israel who are his companions, and will put them with the stick of Judah, and I will make them one stick, and they will become one in my hand.

20 And the sticks on which you have written will be in your hand, before their eyes.

21 And you will say to them, Thus says the Lord Yahweh: Behold I will take the children of Israel from among the nations where they have gone, and gather them on every side, and bring them into their own land.

22 And I will make them one people in the land, on the mountains of Israel. And one king will be king over them all. They will no longer be two peoples, they will no longer be divided into two kingdoms.

23 They will no longer defile themselves with their idols, nor with their abominations, nor with all their transgressions. For I remove them from all the places where they have lived and where they have sinned [in order to send them in captivity now], and I will cleanse them. And they will be my people, and I will be their God.

24 And my servant David will become king over them, and they will all have one shepherd. They will walk in my judgments, and keep my statutes, and do them.

25 And they will dwell in the land that I gave to Jacob my servant, where your fathers have dwelt. They will dwell there, they, and their children, and their children's children, forever. And my servant David will be their prince forever.

26 I will make a covenant of peace with them, and it will be an everlasting covenant with them. I will establish them and multiply them, and I will set my sanctuary in the midst of them forever.

27 My tabernacle also will be among them. Yes, I will be their God, and they will be my people.

28 And the nations will know that I am Yahweh who sanctifies Israel, when my sanctuary will be in the midst of them forever.

Ezekiel 40

1 In the twenty fifth year of our captivity [which is also the twenty fifth year of the captivity of Jehoiachin king of Judah], in the beginning of the year, on the tenth day of the month, in the fourteenth year after the destruction of the city of Jerusalem [and of the temple of Yahweh which was there], on that very day, the hand of Yahweh was on me and he brought me into the land of Israel.

2 He brought me there by a vision from God. And he put me on a very high mountain, and there was something like the construction of a city on the south side.

3 And he brought me there, and behold, there was a man whose appearance was like the appearance of brass, with a linen thread and a measuring rod in his hand, and he was standing at the gate.

4 And the man said to me: Son of man, see with your eyes and listen with your ears, and pay attention to all the things that I will show you. For you have been brought here so that I may show you these things. You must declare to the house of Israel all that you will see.

5 And behold, an outer wall surrounded the house on all sides. In the man's hand was a measuring line of six cubits, each cubit being a handbreadth larger than the ordinary cubit. And he measured the thickness of the wall which was one reed, and its height which was one reed.

6 Then he went to the east gate, and went up its steps. And he measured one of the doorposts which was one reed in width, and the other doorpost which was one reed in width.

7 And each chamber of the guardrooms was one reed in length, and one reed in width. And the space between the chambers was five cubits. and the post of the gate near the porch of the gate within was one reed.

8 And he measured the porch of the gate within with one reed.

9 Then he measured the porch of the gate which was eight cubits, and its posts which were two cubits. And the porch of the gate was inward.

10 And the chambers [guardrooms] of the gate eastward were three on this side, and three on that side. All three had the same measure, and the posts on each side had the same measure.

11 And he measured the breadth of the opening of the gate which was ten cubits, and the height of the gate which was thirteen cubits.

12 And there was a border in front of those chambers, one cubit on this side and one cubit on that side. And each chamber was six cubits on this side and six cubits on that side.

13 And he measured the gate from the roof of one chamber to the roof of the other. The width was twenty five cubits, door against door.

14 And he measured sixty cubits for the posts, beside which was a courtyard around the gate.

15 The space between the forefront of the entrance of the gate and the forefront of the porch of the inner gate was fifty cubits.

16 And there were narrow windows in the chambers, and in their posts within the gate all around, and likewise to the arches. And windows were all around inward. And palm trees were carved on the posts.

17 Then he brought me into the outer courtyard. And lo, there were chambers, and a pavement made for the courtyard all around. There were thirty chambers on the pavement.

18 And the pavement by the side of the gates over against the length of the gates was the lower pavement.

19 Then he measured the breadth from the forefront of the lower gate to the forefront of the inner courtyard. It was one hundred cubits eastward and northward.

20 And he measured the length and the width of the north gate that was in the wall surrounding the outer courtyard.

21 It was fifty cubits in length and twenty five cubits in width. And its chambers, three on this side and three on that side, and its posts and its arches, had the same measurements as for the first gate.

22 And their windows, and their arches with their palm trees, were the same as for the east gate. And one entered it by seven steps, before which were its arches.

23 And the gate of the inner courtyard was over against the gate toward the north, and toward the east. And he measured from gate to gate one hundred cubits.

24 And he brought me toward the south, and lo, there was a gate toward the south. And he measured its posts and its arches, and they had the same measurements as for the other gates.

25 And there were windows in it, and in its arches all around, like the other windows [of the other gates]. The length was fifty cubits, and the width was twenty five cubits.

26 One ascended to it by seven steps, in front of which was its arches. And it had palm-trees, one on this side, and another on that side, on its posts.

27 And there was a gate in the inner courtyard toward the south. And he measured from gate to gate toward the south one hundred cubits.

28 And he brought me to the inner courtyard by the south gate. And he measured the south gate, and they had the same measurements as for the other gates.

29 And its chambers, and its posts, and its arches, they had the same measurements as for the other gates. And there were windows in it, and in its arches all around, like the other windows [of the other gates]. The length was fifty cubits, and the width was twenty five cubits.

30 And the arches all around had twenty five cubits in length and five cubits width.

31 And its arches were toward the outer courtyard. And there were palm trees on its posts, and eight steps to go up to it.

32 And he brought me into the inner courtyard toward the east. And he measured the gate, and it was of the same measurement.

33 And its chambers, and its posts, and its arches, they had the same measurements as for the other gates. And there were windows in it, and in its arches all around, like the other windows [of the other gates]. The length was fifty cubits, and the width was twenty five cubits.

34 And its arches were toward the outer courtyard. And there were palm trees on its posts, on this side, and on that side. And eight steps to go up to it.

35 And he brought me to the north gate. And he measured it, and it was of the same measurement.

36 And its chambers, and its posts, and its arches. And there were windows in it all around, like the other windows [of the other gates]. The length was fifty cubits, and the width was twenty five cubits.

37 And its posts were toward the outer courtyard. And there were palm trees on its posts, on this side, and on that side. And eight steps to go up to it.

38 And the chambers and their entries were by the posts of the gates, and they washed the burnt offering there.

39 And in the porch of the gate were two tables on this side, and two tables on that side, on which they killed the burnt offerings, and the sin offerings, and the transgress offerings.

40 And on one side, outside the entrance to the north gate, there were two tables. And on the other side, which was at the porch of the gate, there were two tables.

41 So there were four tables on one side, and four tables on the other side. Eight tables in all, on which they killed the sacrifices.

42 There were also four tables of hewn stone for the burnt offerings, a cubit and a half long, and a cubit and a half wide, and a cubit high. On these tables were to be placed the instruments with which they killed the burnt offerings and the sacrifices.

43 And the hooks, a handbreadth long, were fastened within all around. And on the tables was the flesh of the offerings.

44 And outside the inner gate there were chambers for the singers in the inner courtyard. One was beside the north gate facing south, and the other was beside the east gate facing north.

45 And he said to me: This chamber facing south is for the priests who are on duty and serving in the house [that is to say, those who serve in the holy place inside the temple].

46 And the chamber facing north is for the priests who are on duty and serving at the altar. These are the sons of Zadok, they are the ones among the sons of Levi who will come near to Yahweh to minister to him.

47 And he measured the courtyard, one hundred cubits long and one hundred cubits wide, foursquare. And the altar was in front of the house.

48 Then he brought me to the porch of the house, and measured the posts of the porch, five cubits on this side and five cubits on that side. And the width of the gate was three cubits on this side and three cubits on that side.

49 The length of the porch was twenty cubits, and the width was eleven cubits. One entered it by steps. And there were pillars near the posts, one on this side and another on that side.

Ezekiel 41

1 And he brought me into the temple [that is to say, into the holy place of the temple]. And he measured the doorposts. They were six cubits wide on the one side, and six cubits wide on the other side, and it was the width of the tabernacle.

2 And the width of the door was ten cubits. And the sides of the door were five cubits on the one side, and five cubits on the other side. And he measured the length [of the holy place] which was forty cubits, and the width which was twenty cubits.

3 Then he went inside [toward the most holy place], and he measured the thickness of each of the doorposts which was two cubits, and the thickness of the door was six cubits, and the width of the door was seven cubits.

4 And he measured the length of that room which was twenty cubits, and the width which was twenty cubits. The room was in front of the temple [that is to say, in front of the holy place], and he said to me: This is the most holy place.

5 After that, he measured the thickness of the wall of the house which was six cubits, and the width of every chamber all around the house on every side, four cubits.

6 And the side chambers were in three stories, one over another, and there were thirty rooms on each floor, and they entered into a wall built for them all around the house, and they were built against it without entering into the wall of the house itself.

7 Each floor of the side rooms around the house was wider than the floor below. The walls of the rooms around the house became narrower the higher they went, therefore the rooms on the top floors were wider. A stairway went up from the lowest floor to the highest floor through the middle floor.

8 I saw also that the house had a raised basement all around. The foundations of the side chambers were a full reed of six great cubits.

9 The thickness of the wall, which was for the side chamber outside the house, was five cubits, and that which was left was the place of the side chambers that were within.

10 And between the chambers was the wideness of twenty cubits all around the house on every side. [That is to say, between the side chambers of the house and priests chambers.]

11 The doors of the side rooms opened into the raised base. There was one entrance on the north side and one entrance on the south side. The raised base was five cubits wide all around.

12 Now the building that was in front of the separate place at the end toward the west was seventy cubits width. And the wall of the building was five cubits thick all around, and its length was ninety cubits.

13 So he measured the house [temple] which was one hundred cubits long. And the separate place, its building and its walls, one hundred cubits long.

14 And the width of the forefront of the house and of the separate place toward the east was one hundred cubits.

15 And he measured the length of the building in front of the separate place which was behind it, and its galleries on the one side and on the other side. It was one hundred cubits, with the inner temple, and the porches of the courtyard.

16 The doorposts, and the narrow windows, and the galleries all around on their three stories, opposite the door, were covered with wood all around, and from the ground up to the windows, and the windows were covered.

17 And to above the door, and to the inner house, and outside, all the surrounding wall, inside and outside, all was according to the measure.

18 And it was made with cherubim and palm trees. There was a palm tree between a cherub and a cherub, and every cherub had two faces.

19 And the face of a man was toward the palm tree on the one side, and the face of a lion was toward the palm tree on the other side. And it was thus all around through all the house.

20 From the ground to above the door, there were cherubim and palm trees, and on the wall of the temple [the holy place].

21 The doorposts of the temple [holy place] were square, and the face of the sanctuary [the most holy place] had the same appearance.

22 And the altar of wood was three cubits high and two cubits long. And its corners, and its feet, and its sides, were of wood. And the man said to me: This is the table that is before Yahweh.

23 And the temple [holy place] and the sanctuary [most holy place] had two doors.

24 And the doors had two leaves, two turning leaves. Two leaves for one door, and two leaves for another.

25 Cherubim and palm trees were carved on the doors of the temple, as on the walls. And there were thick planks on the forefront of the porch outside.

26 And there were narrow windows and palm trees on the one side and on the other side, on the sides of the porch, and on the sides of the rooms around the house, and thick planks.

Ezekiel 42

1 Then he brought me to the outer courtyard on the north side, and led me into the chamber that faced the separate place and faced the building on the north.

2 Before the length of one hundred cubits was the north door, and the width was fifty cubits.

3 Opposite the twenty cubits of the inner courtyard, and the pavement of the outer courtyard, there was gallery against gallery in three stories.

4 And before the chambers there was a walk of ten cubits wide inward, and a way of one cubit. And their doors were toward the north.

5 Now the upper chambers were narrower than the lower ones and the middle ones, because the galleries took up space for them.

6 For they were in three stories, but had not pillars like the the pillars in the courtyards. Therefore from the ground, the upper chambers were narrower than the lower and middle ones.

7 And the wall parallel to the chambers, on the side of the outer courtyard, in front of the chambers, was fifty cubits long.

8 For the length of the chambers that were in the outer courtyard was fifty cubits. And lo, there were one hundred cubits before the temple.

9 At the bottom of these chambers was the entrance from the east, as one came into them from the outer courtyard.

10 There were also chambers along the width of the wall of the courtyard on the east side, opposite the separate place and opposite the building.

11 And the way before them was like the appearance of [the way of] the chambers which were toward the north. The length and width were the same. Their exits, and their layout, and their doors were similar.

12 And according to the doors of the chambers that were toward the south was a door in the head of the way, even the way directly before the wall toward the east, as one enters them.

13 Then he said to me: The north chambers and the south chambers, which are before the separate place, they are holy chambers where the priests who offer the sacrifices to Yahweh will eat the most holy things. And they will lay there the most holy things, and the meal offerings, and the sin offerings, and the transgress offerings. For that place is holy.

14 When the priests come, they will not go out of the sanctuary into the outer courtyard without changing clothes, but they will place there the garments with which they minister. For these garments are holy. And they will put on other clothes, and only then they will approach the areas allowed to other people.

15 Now when he had finished measuring the inner house, he brought me out by the gate that faced east, and he measured the surrounding area.

16 He measured the east side with the measuring reed, and it was five hundred reeds by the measuring reed.

17 He measured the north side, five hundred reeds by the measuring reed.

18 He measured the south side, five hundred reeds by the measuring reed.

19 He turned toward the west side, and measured five hundred reeds with the measuring reed.

20 He measured the wall all around, on all the four sides. The length was five hundred reeds, and the width was five hundred reeds, to make a separation between the sanctuary and the profane place.

Ezekiel 43

1 Afterward he brought me to the gate, the gate that faced east.

2 And behold, the glory of the God of Israel came from the east. His voice was like a noise of many waters, and the ground was bright with the light coming from his glory.

3 And this vision [of the glory of Yahweh] that I saw was like the vision that I saw when I came to destroy the city, and these visions were like the vision that I saw near the river Chebar. And I fell on my face.

4 And the glory of Yahweh came into the house [the entire construction of the sanctuary] through the gate that faced east.

5 Then the spirit lifted me up and brought me into the inner courtyard. And behold, the glory of Yahweh filled the house [made of the holy place and the most holy place].

6 And I heard someone speaking to me from the house, and the man was standing near me.

7 And he [the voice from the house] said to me: Son of man, this is the place of my throne and the place of the soles of my feet. I will dwell there among the children of Israel forever. The house of Israel will no longer defile my holy name, neither they, nor their kings, by their whoredoms and by the dead bodies of their kings in their high places.

8 They had set their threshold near my threshold, and their doorposts near my doorposts, and there was only a wall between me and them [that is to say, they had come in the area of my temple to do unlawful things]. Thus they had defiled my holy name by their abominations which they had committed. Therefore I have consumed them in my anger.

9 And now they will put away their whoredoms and the dead bodies of their kings far from me, and I will dwell among them forever.

10 And you, son of man, describe this house [temple] to the house of Israel, so that they may be ashamed of their iniquities. And let them measure accurately.

11 And if they become ashamed of all that they have done, then make known to them the form of this house [temple], its arrangement, its exits and its entrances, all its designs and all its ordinances, all its decorations and all its laws. And write the description in their sight, so that they may keep all its designs and all its ordinances, and do them.

12 This is the description of the house [that is to say, the description of the temple that has been given previously]. It will be on the top of the mountain, and all its limits all around will be most holy. And behold, this is the description of the house.

13 And now here are the measures of the altar in cubits, the cubit being a handbreadth longer than the ordinary cubit. The height of the base will be a cubit, and the width a cubit, and the rim will be a span wide. And the base of the altar will be thus.

14 From the bottom on the ground to the lower rim there will be a length of two cubits, and the width will be one cubit, and from the small to the large frame there will be four cubits, and one cubit wide.

15 And the altar will be four cubits, and from the altar upward there will be four horns.

16 And the altar will be twelve cubits long, and twelve cubits wide, and square in its four sides.

17 And the frame will be fourteen cubits long and fourteen cubits wide on its four sides. The rim will be half a cubit. And its bottom will be one cubit all around, and the steps will face the east.

18 And he said to me, Son of man, thus says the Lord Yahweh: These are the ordinances for the altar in the day when they will make it, to offer burnt offerings on it and to sprinkle blood on it.

19 You will give a young bullock for a sin offering to the descendants of Zadok. They are Levites and priests, and they will come near me to serve me, says the Lord Yahweh.

20 And you will take some of its blood, and put it on the four horns of the altar, and on the four corners of its frame, and on the rim all around. Thus you will cleanse the altar and make atonement for it.

21 And you will take the bullock of the sin offering, and burn it in the place reserved for it in the house [temple], outside the buildings of the sanctuary.

22 And on the second day you will offer a male goat without blemish for a sin offering. And they will cleanse the altar, as they did cleanse it with the bullock.

23 When you have completed the cleansing, you will offer a young bullock without blemish, and a ram from the flock without blemish.

24 And you will bring them before Yahweh, and the priests will throw salt on them, and they will offer them for a burnt offering to Yahweh.

25 For seven days, you will offer a male goat each day for a sin offering. They will also prepare a young bullock and a ram from the flock, both without blemish.

26 For seven days, they will make atonement for the altar, and cleanse it, and consecrate it.

27 And when these days are fulfilled, from the eighth day onward the priests will offer your burnt offerings and your peace offerings on the altar. And I will be favorable to you, says the Lord Yahweh.

Ezekiel 44

1 Then he brought me back by the way of the outer gate of the sanctuary that looks toward the east, and it was closed.

2 And Yahweh said to me: This gate will stay shut. It will not be opened, and no man will enter through it, because Yahweh, the God of Israel, has entered through it. Therefore it will stay shut.

3 As for the prince, the prince will sit there to eat bread before Yahweh. He will enter by the way of the porch of that gate, and will leave by the same way.

4 Then he brought me by the way of the north gate which is in front of the house. And I looked, and behold, the glory of Yahweh had filled the house of Yahweh. And I fell on my face.

5 And Yahweh said to me: Son of man, pay attention and see with your eyes. Listen with your ears to all that I say to you, concerning all the ordinances of the house of Yahweh and all its laws. Consider carefully the entrances of the house and all the exits of the sanctuary.

6 And you will say to the rebellious, namely the house of Israel, Thus says the Lord Yahweh: Enough of all your abominations, O house of Israel.

7 You have brought into my sanctuary foreigners who are uncircumcised in heart and uncircumcised in flesh, to pollute my house. And you have broken my covenant by all your abominations when you offered my bread, the fat and the blood.

8 And you have not kept the ordinances of the holy things, but you have set others in your place to keep the service in my sanctuary.

9 Thus says the Lord Yahweh: No foreigner who is uncircumcised in heart and uncircumcised in flesh will enter my sanctuary, of any foreigner who is among the children of Israel.

10 Moreover, concerning the Levites who have gone far from me when Israel went astray, those who have turned away from me to follow their idols, they will bear their iniquity.

11 They will serve in my sanctuary, and kept watch over the doors of the house, and ministered in the house [even those among them who are descendants of priests]. They will slaughter the burnt offerings and sacrifices for the people, and stood before them to minister to them. [That is to say, they are not going to do what the other Levites who are priests do. They will not have the privilege of the priests which is to approach the altar of burnt offerings and enter the holy place.]

12 For they have served the people before their idols, and have caused the house of Israel to sin. Therefore I have lifted up my hand against them, says the Lord Yahweh, and they will bear their iniquity.

13 They will not come near me to minister to me in the priesthood [that is to say, those priests who are among the Levites], they will not come near my holy things or the things that are most holy. They will bear the shame of their abominations which they have committed.

14 And I will make them keepers of the charge of the house [temple], for all its service and for all that will be done there.

15 But the priests of the Levites who are the sons of Zadok, they have kept the charge of my sanctuary when the children of Israel went astray from me. Therefore they will come near to me to serve me, and they will stand before me to offer me the fat and the blood, says the Lord Yahweh.

16 They will enter my sanctuary and come near to my table to serve me, and they will keep my charge.

17 And when they enter the gates of the inner courtyard, they will wear linen clothes. They will not wear wool while they serve in the gates of the inner courtyard and in the house [made of the holy place and the most holy place].

18 They will have linen bonnets on their heads, and linen breeches on their waists. They will not gird themselves with anything that causes sweat.

19 And when they go forth into the outer courtyard, the outer courtyard of the people, they will take off their garments in which they have served, and put them in the holy chambers, and they will put on other garments. And thus they will not sanctify the people with their garments. [Now one may think that the objective should rather be to prevent people from defiling the garments that are holy, but it is another objective that is specified, unless the two things are equivalent.]

20 And they will not shave their heads, nor let their hair grow long, but they will trim their hair.

21 No priest will drink wine when he enters the inner courtyard.

22 And they will not take a widow or a divorced woman for a wife. For they will take virgins from the descendants of the house of Israel, or they may take a widow who is the widow of a priest.

23 And they will teach my people the difference between holy and profane, and they will cause them to discern between the unclean and the clean.

24 And they will rise up to judge in controversies, and they will judge according to my judgments. They will keep my laws and my statutes in all my assemblies, and they will sanctify my sabbaths.

25 And they will not approach a dead person so as not to defile themselves in this way. But they may defile themselves thus for a father, or a mother, or a son, or a daughter, or a brother, or a sister who has not had a husband.

26 And after the priest has been made clean, he must wait seven days.

27 And when he enters the sanctuary, into the inner courtyard, to serve in the sanctuary, then he will offer his sin offering, says the Lord Yahweh.

28 And here is their inheritance: I am their inheritance. You will not give them a possession in Israel, because I am their possession.

29 They will eat the meal offerings, and the sin offerings, and the transgress offerings, and every dedicated thing in Israel will be theirs.

30 And all the first of all the fruit, and all the heave offerings and wave offerings, will be for the priests. And you will give the firstfruits of your dough to the priests, so that a blessing may be on your house.

31 The priests will not eat anything that has died by itself or that has been torn, whether it be bird or beast.

1 Moreover when you divide the land by lot for an inheritance, you will set aside a portion of the land as a holy offering for Yahweh. Its length will be twenty five thousand reeds, and its width will be ten thousand reeds. It will be holy throughout its entire area.

2 From this portion you will take for the sanctuary five hundred in length with five hundred in width, square all around, and fifty cubits for the suburbs all around.

3 And from this portion you will take a length of twenty five thousand and a width of ten thousand, and in it will be the sanctuary and the most holy place.

4 The holy portion of the land will be for the priests who serve in the sanctuary, those who approach Yahweh to serve him. And it will be a place for their houses, and a holy place for the sanctuary.

5 And the twenty five thousand of length, and ten thousand of width, will be for the Levites who serve in the house, for a possession for themselves, for twenty chambers.

6 And for the possession of the city, you will set aside five thousand of width and twenty five thousand of length, parallel to the holy portion given. It will be for the whole house of Israel.

7 And you will set aside a portion for the prince, on both sides of the holy portion and of the possession of the city, and in front of the holy portion and in front of the possession of the city, from the west side westward and from the east side eastward. And the length will be opposite one of the portions, from the western border to the eastern border.

8 It will be his land, his possession in Israel. And my princes will no longer oppress my people, and they will give the remaining of the land to the house of Israel according to their tribes.

9 Thus says the Lord Yahweh: Enough, you princes of Israel. Cease violence and robbery, do what is lawful and right. Take away your extortion from my people, says the Lord Yahweh.

10 You will have just scales, and a just ephah, and a just bath.

11 The ephah and the bath will be of the same measure. The bath will contain a tenth part of a homer, and the ephah will contain a tenth part of a homer. The measure will be in relation to the homer.

12 And the shekel will be twenty gerahs. The maneh will be twenty shekels, and twenty five shekels, and fifteen shekels [that is to say, sixty shekels].

13 And now here is the offering that you will offer. The sixth part of an ephah from every homer of wheat, and the sixth part of an ephah from every homer of barley.

14 And the tenth part of a bath of oil from every cor of oil. Now a cor is ten baths and thus a homer, for a homer is ten baths.

15 And one lamb from every two hundred sheep of the flock, from the fat pastures of Israel. All those things are to be given for meal offerings, and for burnt offerings, and for peace offerings, to make reconciliation for them, says the Lord Yahweh.

16 All the people of the land will give those offering to the prince of Israel.

17 And the prince will have to give the burnt offerings, and the meal offerings, and the drink offerings, for the feasts days, that is to say, for the new moons, and for the sabbaths, and for all the feasts established for the house of Israel. He will offer the sin offerings, and the meal offerings, and the burnt offerings, and the peace offerings, to make reconciliation for the house of Israel.

18 Thus says the Lord Yahweh: On the first day of the first month, you will take a young bullock without blemish and cleanse the sanctuary.

19 And the priest will take of the blood of the sin offering, and put it on the doorposts of the house, and on the four corners of the frame of the altar, and on the doorposts of the gate of the inner courtyard.

20 You will do the same on the seventh day of the month for everyone who has sinned unintentionally or unwisely. So you will reconcile the house.

21 On the fourteenth day of the first month, you will have the Passover. The feast will last seven days, and unleavened bread will be eaten.

22 And on that [fourteenth] day, the prince will offer for himself and for all the people of the land one bullock for a sin offering. [Now the prince is supposed to offer this by the hand of the priests.]

23 And during the seven days of the feast, he will make a burnt offering to Yahweh. It will be seven bullocks and seven rams without blemish each day during seven days, and a male goat each day for a sin offering.

24 And he will offer a meal offering with it. It will be an ephah for each bullock and an ephah for each ram, with a hin of oil for each ephah.

25 And on the fifteenth day of the seventh month, during the feast, he will offer during seven days the same sin offerings, and the same burnt offerings, and the same meal offerings, and the same oil.

Ezekiel 46

1 Thus says the Lord Yahweh: The gate of the inner courtyard that faces the east will be shut on the six working days, but it will be opened on the sabbath, and it will be opened on the day of the new moon. [Now this gate of the inner courtyard is different from the outer gate of the wall that surrounds all the buildings of the sanctuary, and it is not the only gate of the inner courtyard.]

2 And the prince will enter by the way of the outer porch of that gate, and will stand by the gateposts [of the inner courtyard]. And the priests will offer his burnt offering and his peace offerings, and he will worship at the threshold of the gate. After that he will go out, but the gate will not be shut until the evening [that is to say, that particular gate of the inner courtyard].

3 And the people of the land will worship before Yahweh at the entrance of that gate [of the inner courtyard] on the sabbaths and on the new moons.

4 And the burnt offering that the prince will offer to Yahweh on the sabbath day will be six lambs without blemish and one ram without blemish. [Now the prince is supposed to offer this by the hand of the priests.]

5 And the meal offering will be an ephah for the ram, and whatever he wants for the lambs, with a hin of oil for each ephah.

6 And on the day of the new moon, it will be a young bullock without blemish, and six lambs, and a ram. They will be without blemish.

7 And he will prepare the meal offering, an ephah for the bullock, and an ephah for the ram, and whatever he wants for the lambs, with a hin of oil for each ephah.

8 And when the prince enters [in the outer courtyard], he will enter by the way of the porch of the gate [namely the outer gate of the sanctuary that looks toward the east], and he will leave by the same way.

9 But when the people of the land come before Yahweh at the appointed feasts, whoever enters [the outer courtyard] through the north gate to worship will go out through the south gate, and whoever enters through the south gate will go out through the north gate. For no one will not return by the gate through which he has entered, but he will go out through the opposite gate.

10 And the prince will be there among the people [at the appointed feasts]: when the people go in [through their gates], the prince will go in with them [but through the porch of his gate]. And when they go out [through their gates], the prince also will go out [but through the porch of his gate].

11 And in the feasts and in the solemnities, the meal offering will be an ephah for a bullock, and an ephah for a ram, and whatever he wants for the lambs, with a hin of oil for each ephah.

12 Now when the prince wants to make a freewill burnt offering or a freewill sacrifice of peace offerings to Yahweh [namely an offering that is not required at that moment in the written law of Yahweh, a deed that is completely on his own initiative], then one will open for him the gate that faces east, and he will prepare his burnt offering and his peace offerings as he does it on the sabbath day. After that he will go out, and one will shut the gate when he has gone out. [Now this commandment concern the outer gate through which the glory of Yahweh had entered, and the precision has not been made so as not to clearly reveal that the prince will have this privilege which is reserved for the glory of Yahweh. Nevertheless it is possible to think that it does not concern that particular gate, but rather the gate of the inner courtyard that remains open until evening during each sabbath. And even in this situation one can cogitate about the behavior that the prince must have, since he is the only person of the people who can access the inner courtyard apart from the priests, and on the day when this gate is open until evening he must instead go through the porch of this gate, and it is not the only gate of the inner courtyard. In any case, there is already a very strong connection between the prince and the glory of Yahweh. For the people enter and leave the entire sanctuary through the north and south gates, while the prince must always enter and exit through the porch of the east gate, that gate that remains closed because the glory of Yahweh has entered the sanctuary through it.]

13 And you will offer a lamb a year old without blemish every day for a burnt offering to Yahweh. You will do it every morning.

14 And you will prepare its meal offering every morning. It will be the sixth part of an ephah, and the third part of a hin of oil to mingle the fine flour. This will be the meal offering to Yahweh continually, by a perpetual ordinance.

15 Every morning they will prepare the lamb, and the meal offering with the oil, for a continual burnt offering.

16 Thus says the Lord Yahweh: If the prince gives a gift from his inheritance to any of his sons, then it will become the property of that son. It will be their possession by inheritance.

17 But if he gives a gift from his inheritance to one of his servants, then it will belong to that servant until the year of liberty, and after that time it will return to the prince. For the inheritance of the prince will be only for his sons.

18 Moreover the prince will not take of the inheritance of the people, to thrust them out of their possession. Whatever he gives to his sons for an inheritance, he will take it from his own possession. And thus no one in my people will be removed from his possession.

19 Then he brought me through the entrance that was beside the gate, into the holy chambers of the priests that stood toward the north. And behold, there was a place in the far corner toward the west.

20 Then he said to me: This is the place where the priests will boil the flesh of the guilt offerings and of the sin offerings, and where they will bake the meal offerings, lest they carry these [holy] things into the outer courtyard and thus spread holiness among the ordinary people. [Now one may think that the objective should rather be to prevent people from defiling the holy things, but it is another objective that is specified, unless the two things are equivalent.]

21 Then he brought me into the outer courtyard, and caused me to go by the four corners of the courtyard. And behold, there was a courtyard at each of the corners of the courtyard.

22 In each of the four corners of the courtyard there was an enclosed area, forty cubits long and thirty cubits wide. All these four places were of the same measurement, at the corners.

23 And a wall surrounded them, all around those four places, and there were kitchens in the lower parts of the wall all around.

24 Then he said to me: These are the kitchens where the servants of the house will cook the flesh of the sacrifices offered by the people. [This concerns the part of the offerings that are eaten by the common people.]

Ezekiel 47

1 Afterward he brought me back to the door of the house. And behold, waters were flowing out from under the threshold of the house eastward. For the forefront of the house was toward the east. And the waters were coming down from under the right side of the house, at the south side of the altar. [Now the altar of burnt offerings is near the house made of the holy place and the most holy place, inside the inner courtyard.]

2 Then he brought me out by the way of the north gate, and led me around outside to the outer gate that faces the east [that is to say, the gate through which the glory of Yahweh had entered]. And behold, the waters were flowing out on the right side.

3 And when the man went forth eastward with the measuring line in his hand, he measured a thousand cubits. And he brought me through the waters, and I had the waters up to my ankles. [We were moving toward the east gate.]

4 And he measured another thousand cubits, and brought me through the waters, and the waters were up to my knees. And he measured another thousand cubits, and brought me through, and the waters were up to my waist. [We were moving toward the east gate.]

5 And he measured another thousand cubits, and the waters were a river that I could not pass through. For the waters were so deep that it would have been necessary to swim, a river that could not be passed over. [We were moving toward the east gate.]

6 And he said to me, 'Son of man, have you seen this' [That is to say, if one wants to reach the gate of the glory of Yahweh, like the prince who enters the sanctuary only through the porch of that gate, then one must not be a man but rather a fish]. Then he brought me, and caused me to return to the bank of the river.

7 Now when I had returned, behold there were very many trees on the bank of the river, on the one side and on the other.

8 Then he said to me: These waters will flow toward the eastern region, and will go down into the plain, and will enter the sea. And when it will flow into the sea, the waters of the sea will be healed.

9 And every living creature that will move wherever the rivers will come, will live. And there will be a very great multitude of fish. For these waters will come there, and the waters of the sea will be healed, and everything will live wherever the river comes.

10 Fishermen will stand on it from En-gedi to En-eglaim, and they will spread their nets. And there will be fish of various kinds, like the fish of the great sea, excessively numerous.

11 But its miry places and its marshes will not be healed. They will be given to salt.

12 And near the river on its bank, on this side and on that side, will grow all kinds of fruit trees, whose leaves will not wither and whose fruit will not fail. Each will bring forth new fruit according to its months, because their waters will come from the sanctuary [of Yahweh]. And their fruits will be for food, and their leaves will be for medicine.

13 Thus says the Lord Yahweh: These are the boundaries of the land that you will divide for an inheritance to the twelve tribes of Israel. Joseph will have two portions.

14 And you will inherit it, one as well as another. For I swore with an upraised hand to give it to your fathers. So this land will fall to you for an inheritance.

15 These are the boundaries of the land: On the north side, from the great sea by the way to Hethlon, to the entrance of Zedad.

16 Hamath, Berothah, Sibraim, which is between the border of Damascus and the border of Hamath. Hazar-hattichon, which is by the border of Hauran.

17 And the the boundary from the sea will be Hazar-enon at the border of Damascus, and on the north northward is the border of Hamath. This will be the north side.

18 The east side will be the Jordan, between Hauran and Damascus and Gilead, and the land of Israel. You will measure from the northern boundary to the eastern sea. This will be the east side.

19 And the south side southward will be from Tamar to the waters of Meribah at Kadesh, to the brook toward the great sea. This will be the south side southward.

20 And the west side will be the great sea, from the [south] border as far as over against the entrance of Hamath. This will be the west side.

21 So you will divide this land to you according to the tribes of Israel.

22 And you will divide it by lot for an inheritance, to you and to the foreigners who dwell among you and who beget children among you. For they will be considered as natives among the children of Israel, and they will have inheritance with you among the tribes of Israel.

23 You will give the foreigner his inheritance in the tribe where he sojourns, says the Lord Yahweh.

Ezekiel 48

1 Now these are the names of the tribes. From the north end, beside the way of Hethlon to the entrance of Hamath, Hazar-enan at the border of Damascus, northward beside Hamath, from the east side to the west side: Dan, one portion.

2 And on the border of Dan, from the east side to the west side: Asher, one portion.

3 And on the border of Asher, from east side to the west side: Naphtali, one portion.

4 And on the border of Naphtali, from east side to the west side: Manasseh, one portion.

5 And on the border of Manasseh, from the east side to the west side: Ephraim, one portion.

6 And on the border of Ephraim, from the east side to the west side: Reuben, one portion.

8 And on the border of Judah, from the east side to west side, there will be the place that you will give as an offering. It will be twenty five thousand reeds wide, and its length will be like the length of one of the portions of the tribes namely from the east side to the west side. And the sanctuary will be in the middle of this section of land.

9 And the land that you will offer to Yahweh will be twenty five thousand reeds long, and ten thousand wide.

10 And the priests will have this holy portion, it will be for them. Twenty five thousand reeds on the north side, and ten thousand wide on the west side, and ten thousand wide on the east side, and twenty five thousand long on the south side. And the sanctuary of Yahweh will be in the middle.

11 It will belong to the priests who are consecrated among the sons of Zadok. For they kept the service of my sanctuary and have not erred when the children of Israel and the Levites went astray.

12 Therefore this part of the land that will be offer will belong to them, and will be a most holy thing near the border of the other Levites.

13 And the inheritance of the Levites will be opposite the border of the priests. It will be twenty five thousand in length, and ten thousand in width. The whole length will be twenty five thousand, and the width will be ten thousand.

14 And they will not sell a part of it, nor exchange any part of it, nor alienate any part of it. For it is holy to Yahweh.

15 And the five thousand that remain in width, in front of the twenty five thousand, will be for the city, for dwellings and suburbs, and the city will be in the midst of it.

16 And these are their measurements: on the north side four thousand and five hundred, on the south side four thousand and five hundred, on the east side four thousand and five hundred, on the west side four thousand five hundred.

17 And the city will have suburbs: on the north side two hundred and fifty, on the south side two hundred and fifty, on the east side two hundred and fifty, on the west side two hundred and fifty.

18 And the remainder in the length, parallel to the holy portion, will be ten thousand eastward and ten thousand westward. It will be parallel to the holy portion, and its products will be the income of those who serve in the city.

19 And those who serve in the city will be from all the tribes of Israel, and they will farm this land.

20 And the whole dedicated land will be twenty five thousand in length and twenty five thousand in width. You will set aside a square portion, for the sanctuary and for the possession of the city.

21 And the remainder will be for the prince, on both sides of the holy portion and the possession of the city. It will be in front of the twenty five thousand of the holy portion on the east border, and in front of the twenty five thousand on the west border, parallel to the portions of the tribes. This will be for the prince. And the holy portion with the house of the sanctuary will be in the middle.

22 So after having set apart all the possessions of the Levites and the possessions of the city, the remainder of that section of land that is parallel to the portions of the tribes will be for the prince. All the remainder of the land between the border of Judah and the border of Benjamin will be for the prince.

23 These are the other tribes: From the east side to the west side: Benjamin, one portion.

24 And on the border of Benjamin, from the east side to the west side: Simeon, one portion.

25 And on the border of Simeon, from the east side to the west side: Issachar, one portion.

27 And on the border of Zebulun, from the east side to the west side: Gad, one portion.

28 And on the border of Gad, at the south side southward, the border will be from Tamar to the waters of Meribah in Kadesh, and to the river toward the great sea.

29 It is the land that you will divide by lot to the tribes of Israel for an inheritance, and those sections will be their portions, says the Lord Yahweh.

30 And these are the exits of the city: on the north side, four thousand and five hundred measures.

31 And the gates of the city will be according to the names of the tribes of Israel. There will be three gates on the north: one gate of Reuben, and one gate of Judah, and one gate of Levi.

32 And on the east side, four thousand and five hundred measures, and three gates: one gate of Joseph, and one gate of Benjamin, and one gate of Dan.

33 And on the south side, four thousand and five hundred measures, and three gates: one gate of Simeon, and one gate of Issachar, and one gate of Zebulun.

34 And on the west side, four thousand and five hundred measures, and three gates: one gate of Gad, and one gate of Asher, and one gate of Naphtali.

35 So the perimeter all around the city will be eighteen thousand measures. And the name of the city from that day will be: Yahweh is here.

Daniel

Daniel 1

1 In the third [rather eleventh and final] year of the reign of Jehoiakim king of Judah, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came against Jerusalem and besieged it.

2 And the Lord gave Jehoiakim king of Judah into his hand, with a part of the utensils of the house of God. And Nebuchadnezzar carried the utensils to the land of Shinar, to the house of his god, and put them in the treasury of his god.

3 Then the king commanded Ashpenaz the chief of his eunuchs, to bring [from among the captives] some of the children who were of royal seed or of noble birth, and to include the children of Israel among them.

4 They were to be boys without blemish, and handsome in appearance, and skilful in all kinds of wisdom, and endowed with the knowledge of science, and thus having the capacity to serve in the palace of the king. And they were to be taught the language and the literature of the Chaldeans.

5 And the king allocated for them a portion of the daily food of his table, and of the wine that he drank. They were to be nourished thus for three years, at the end of which they were to stand before the king.

6 Now among the children who had been chosen for this purpose, there were Daniel, and Hananiah, and Mishael, and Azariah. They were from Judah.

7 And the chief of the eunuchs gave them new names. He gave the name of Belteshazzar to Daniel, and the name of Shadrach to Hananiah, and the name of Meshach to Mishael, and the name of Abednego to Azariah.

8 But Daniel purposed in his heart not to defile himself with the the food given by the king or with the wine that the king drank. Therefore he begged the chief eunuch not to force him to defile himself.

9 Now God had caused Daniel to find kindness and compassion in the sight of the chief of the eunuchs.

10 However the chief of the eunuchs said to Daniel: I fear my lord the king, and he is the one who has given orders concerning what you must eat and drink. For why should he notice that your face is sadder than the faces of the other children who are with you. And my head will be in danger before the king who can accuse me for this thing.

11 Then Daniel said the following thing to Melzar, the one whom the chief of the eunuchs had set over Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah.

12 Test your servants for ten days, I beseech you. Let them give us vegetables to eat, and water to drink.

13 And after that you will compare our countenances with the countenances of the children who eat of the food of the king, and you will act toward your servants according to what you will see.

14 And Melzar granted them what they asked for, and he tested them for ten days.

15 And at the end of ten days, their countenances were more pleasant than those of others, and they were fatter than all the children who were eating the food of the king.

16 Therefore Melzar continuously took away the food and the wine that was intended for them, and gave them vegetables.

17 As for these four children, God gave them knowledge, that is to say, wisdom and understanding in all the literatures. And Daniel was able to explain all visions and dreams.

18 And when the time came, the time that the king had appointed to bring them to him, then the chief of the eunuchs brought all the children before Nebuchadnezzar.

19 And the king communed with them, and among them there was no one else like Daniel, and Hananiah, and Mishael, and Azariah. Therefore they stood before the king [that is to say, he chose them to be at his service].

20 And in all matters of wisdom and understanding, about which the king questioned them, he found them ten times better than all the magicians and astrologers who were in all his kingdom.

21 And Daniel was thus until the first year of king Cyrus [that is to say, he excelled in wisdom].

Daniel 2

1 And in the second [rather twelfth] year of the reign of Nebuchadnezzar, Nebuchadnezzar had a dream that troubled his spirit so much that he could no longer fall asleep.

2 Then the king commanded to call the magicians, and the astrologers, and the enchanters, and [the wise men of] the Chaldeans, in order to tell the king his dream. So they came and stood before the king.

3 And the king said to them: I have dreamed a dream, and my spirit is troubled. Now I want to know what this thing means.

4 Then the Chaldeans answered the king in the Syrian language: O king, live forever. Tell the dream to your servants, and we will give you its explanation.

5 And the king answered and said to the Chaldeans: The thing has gone away from me. If you do not make me know the dream and its explanation, then you will be cut into pieces and your houses will be reduced to heaps of rubble.

6 But if you tell me the dream and its explanation, then you will receive from me rewards and gifts and great honor. Now therefore, tell me the dream and its explanation.

7 And they answered a second time and said: Let the king tell the dream to his servants, and we will give its explanation.

8 Then the king answered and said: I realize with certainty that you want to gain time. For I have tell you that the thing has gone away from me.

9 And now, I will have you punished without delay if you do not tell me the dream. For I see that you intend to speak to me with cunning and in falsity [that is to say, with corrupt words] until I become anxious about something else. Therefore tell me the dream, and I will know if you are able to give me its true explanation.

10 Then the Chaldeans answered before the king and said: There is no one on earth who can tell the king what he has asked. And there has never been in the past a king, or a ruler, or a lord, who has asked such a thing of a magician, or an astrologer, or a wise man.

11 For it is a difficult thing that the king requires. There is no one who can reveal this secret to the king, except the gods whose dwelling is not among beings made of flesh.

12 When the king heard that, he became very angry and even furious, and he commanded to destroy all the wise men of Babylon.

13 And when the decision was published, they were looking for the wise men to kill them, and they were also looking for Daniel and his companions to kill them.

14 Then Daniel spoke with prudence and simplicity to Arioch who was the captain of the guard of the king, and who had gone forth to kill the wise men of Babylon.

15 Daniel spoke and said to Arioch the captain of the guard of the king, 'Why is the decision of the king so severe'. Then Arioch made the thing known to Daniel.

16 And Daniel went to the king, and Daniel begged the king to grant him some time to give the king the explanation of the mystery.

17 Then Daniel went to his house and made the thing known to his companions Hananiah, and Mishael, and Azariah.

18 So that they might implore the God of heaven to grant them the knowledge of this secret, so that Daniel and his companions might not perish with the other wise men of Babylon.

19 Then the secret was revealed to Daniel in a vision during a night. And Daniel blessed the God of heaven.

20 And Daniel spoke and said: Blessed be the name of God forever and ever. For wisdom and strength belong to him.

21 He changes times and circumstances, he deposes and establishes kings. He gives wisdom to the wise, and understanding to those who have knowledge.

22 He reveals what is deep and hidden. He knows what is in darkness, and the light dwells with him.

23 I thank you and I praise you, O you the God of my fathers. For you have given me wisdom and strength. You have made known to me the secret that we have begged you to reveal to us, you have allowed us to be able to satisfy the desire of the king.

24 And Daniel went to Arioch whom the king had appointed to destroy the wise men of Babylon. Daniel went and said to him: Do not destroy the wise men of Babylon. Bring me before the king, and I will give the explanation of the mystery to the king.

25 Then Arioch led Daniel in haste before the king, and Arioch said to the king: I have found among the captives of Judah a man who will explain the mystery to the king.

26 And the king spoke to Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar, and said: Are you able to make known to me the dream that I have seen and its explanation.

27 And Daniel answered before the king and said: The request of the king is a secret that cannot be revealed to the king neither by the wise men, nor the astrologers, nor the magicians, nor the soothsayers.

28 But there is a God in heaven who reveals secrets, and who has made known to king Nebuchadnezzar what will happen in the latter days. And now I will tell you your dream, the vision that you saw on your bed.

29 When you were on your bed, O king, you had the desire to know what will be after this time. And the revealer of secrets has made known to you what will happen.

30 It is not because I am wiser than all other living beings that this secret has been revealed to me, but it is so that the explanation may be known to the king, and so that you may know the thoughts of your heart.

31 O king, you were looking, and behold, there was a great statue. This statue was immense and exceedingly magnificent. It was standing before you, and its appearance was terrifying.

32 The head of the statue was of pure gold. Its breast and its arms were of silver, its belly and its thighs were of brass.

33 Its legs were of iron, its feet were partly of iron and partly of clay.

34 You were looking, and you saw a stone that had broken away without the intervention of any human hand. And the stone smote the statue at its feet which were of iron and of clay, and broke them into pieces.

35 Then the iron, and the clay, and the brass, and the silver, and the gold, were broken in pieces together, and became like the chaff on a threshing floor in the summertime. And the wind carried them away, and no trace of them was found. And the stone that smote the statue became a great mountain and filled the whole earth.

36 Thus was the dream, and we will declare its explanation before the king.

37 O king, you are a king of kings. For the God of heaven has given you the kingdom, and the power, and the strength, and the glory.

38 And he has given into your hand the children of men, and the beasts of the field, and the birds of the air, wherever they live. He has made you ruler over them all. Therefore you are the head of gold.

39 After you another kingdom will arise, and it will be inferior to yours. And then a third kingdom of brass, which will rule over all the earth.

40 And the fourth kingdom will be as strong as iron. As iron breaks and subdues all things, it will break and subdue everything, just as iron can break everything.

41 And just as you have seen the feet and toes partly of potter's clay and partly of iron, so this kingdom will be divided. But there will be something of the strength of the iron in it, because you have seen iron mixed with clay.

42 And just as the toes were partly of iron and partly of clay, thus that kingdom will be partly strong and partly brittle.

43 And you have seen iron mixed with clay because they will be mixed by human alliances but they will not merge together, just as iron does not mingle with clay.

44 And in the days of those kings, the God of heaven will set up a kingdom that will never be destroyed. And this kingdom will not be given to another people, but it will break in pieces and destroy all those kingdoms, and it will stand forever.

45 This is the meaning of the stone that you saw being cut away from the mountain without the help of any hand, and that broke in pieces the iron, and the brass, and the clay, and the silver, and the gold. The great God has made known to the king what will happen in the future. The dream is true, and its explanation is sure.

46 Then the king Nebuchadnezzar fell on his face, and bowed himself before Daniel, and commanded to make an offering and to burn incense to honor Daniel.

47 And the king spoke to Daniel and said: Truly your God is the God of gods and the Lord of kings, and the revealer of secrets, since you have been able to discover this secret.

48 Then the king promoted Daniel and gave him many valuable gifts. And the king made Daniel ruler over the whole province of Babylon, and chief over all the wise men of Babylon.

49 Then Daniel asked the king to give the governorship of the province of Babylon to Shadrach, and Meshach, and Abednego. And Daniel sat in the gate of the king.

Daniel 3

1 Now king Nebuchadnezzar made an image of gold which was sixty cubits high and six cubits wide. And he set it up in the plain of Dura, in the province of Babylon. [Now every people and even every person had his own way of glorifying the gods in those days, and even the children of Israel had exalted a house which had a holy place and a most holy place.]

2 Then king Nebuchadnezzar summoned the satraps, and the governors, and the captains, and the judges, and the treasurers, and the counsellors, and the sheriffs, and all the officials of the provinces, to come to the dedication of the statue that king Nebuchadnezzar had set up.

3 Then the satraps, and the governors, and the captains, and the judges, and the treasurers, and the counsellors, and the sheriffs, and all the officials of the provinces, they assembled for the dedication of the statue that king Nebuchadnezzar had set up, and they stood before the statue that Nebuchadnezzar had set up.

4 Then an herald cried out with a loud voice: This is what is commanded you, O peoples of all nations and languages.

5 When you hear the sound of the trumpet, and the flute, and the harp, and the sackbut, and the psaltery, and the dulcimer, and of all kinds of musical instruments, you will fall down and worship the golden image that Nebuchadnezzar the king has set up.

6 Whoever does not fall down and worship will be thrown into a fiery furnace that very hour.

7 Therefore as soon as all the peoples heard the sound of the trumpet, and the flute, and the harp, and the sackbut, and the psaltery, and of all kinds of musical instruments, then all the peoples of all nations and languages fell down and worshiped the golden image that Nebuchadnezzar the king had set up.

8 And some Chaldeans came forward and accused the Jews at that time.

9 They spoke and said to the king Nebuchadnezzar: O king, live forever.

10 O king, you have made a decree to announce that every man who will hear the sound of the trumpet, and the flute, and the harp, and the sackbut, and the psaltery, and the dulcimer, and of all kinds of musical instruments, should fall down and worship the golden image.

11 And whoever does not fall down and worship will be thrown into a fiery furnace.

12 Now there are certain Jews whom you have set over the governorship of the province of Babylon and who do not honor your commandment, namely Shadrach, and Meshach, and Abednego. O king, they neither serve your gods nor worship the golden image that you have set up.

13 Then Nebuchadnezzar in his anger and fury commanded to bring Shadrach, and Meshach, and Abednego. And these men were brought before the king.

14 And Nebuchadnezzar spoke and said to them: Are you doing it voluntarily, Shadrach, and Meshach, and Abednego. Do you refuse to serve my gods and worship the golden image that I have set up.

15 Now be ready, and at the sound of the trumpet, and the flute, and the harp, and the sackbut, and the psaltery, and the dulcimer, and of all kinds of musical instruments, you will fall down and worship the image that I have made. If you do not worship it, then you will be thrown immediately into a fiery furnace. And who is the god who will deliver you from my hand. [Now in those days when the exact identity of God is not yet revealed, king Nebuchadnezzar can think that a person can serve his own gods without this preventing him from honoring the gods of the king who is established over the whole population.]

16 Then Shadrach, and Meshach, and Abednego, answered and said to the king: O Nebuchadnezzar, we have no need to answer you in this matter. [Now these persons are Jews who believe in Yahweh. And they do not think that they can convince the king Nebuchadnezzar that their God is the only true God who rules the whole earth, and who chose the Jews to be his people, and who forbade them to worship any other god in the law that he gave to Moses.]

17 Behold our God whom we serve is able to deliver us from the burning fiery furnace, and he will deliver us from your hand, O king.

18 But even if our God does not deliver us from your hand, we want you to know that we refuse to serve your gods, O king, and we will not worship the golden image that you have set up. [Now these Jews who are believers know that they will find themselves with their God after the death of their physical bodies, as king Saul was able to speak to the spirit of Samuel through a woman who had the gift of communicating with the dead, and as was mentioned by Job who did not belong to the tribes of Israel.]

19 Then Nebuchadnezzar was filled with rage, and his face changed when he looked at Shadrach, and Meshach, and Abednego. Therefore he spoke and ordered to heat the furnace seven times more than it should be. [For he thought: I want them to disappear completely.]

20 And he commanded some of the strongest soldiers of his army to bind Shadrach, and Meshach, and Abednego, and to throw them into the burning fiery furnace.

21 So these men were bound while having on them their breeches, and their tunics, and their coats, and other clothes, and they were thrown into the burning fiery furnace.

22 Now the order of the king was urgent, and the furnace was extremely hot, therefore the flames of the fire killed the men who were leading Shadrach, and Meshach, and Abednego.

23 And these three men, Shadrach, and Meshach, and Abednego, fell down bound into the burning fiery furnace.

24 Then Nebuchadnezzar the king was astonished, and rose up in haste. And he spoke and said to his counsellors, 'Did we not throw three men bound into the fire'. And they answered and said to the king: Certainly, O king.

25 And the king answered and said: Lo, I see four men loose, walking in the midst of the fire [to go inside], and they have no hurt. And the appearance of the fourth is like that of a son of the gods [that is to say, an angel].

26 Then Nebuchadnezzar came near to the mouth of the burning fiery furnace, and he spoke and said, 'Shadrach, and Meshach, and Abednego, servants of the Most High God, come forth and come here'. So Shadrach, and Meshach, and Abednego, they came out of the midst of the fire.

27 Then the satraps, and the governors, and the captains, and the counsellors of the king, they were together and they saw that the fire had no power over the bodies of those men. The hair of their heads had not been singed, and their coats had not been damaged, and they did not even smell like someone who has been in a fire.

28 Then Nebuchadnezzar spoke and said: Blessed be the God of Shadrach, and Meshach, and Abednego. He has sent his angel to save his servants because they have trusted in him rather than obey the commandment of the king, and have preferred to give up their bodies rather than serve any god who is not their own God.

29 Now this is the command that I give: If any person, of whatever people, or nation, or language, speaks evil of the God of Shadrach, and of Meshach, and of Abednego, then the same will be cut in pieces, and his house will be made a pile of debris [that is to say, we are not even going to wait for this God to take the time to avenge himself]. For there is no other god who is able to perform such a deliverance.

30 After this, the king promoted Shadrach, and Meshach, and Abednego, in the province of Babylon [that is to say, he extended their authority].

Daniel 4

1 Nebuchadnezzar the king, to all the peoples of all nations and languages who dwell throughout the whole earth: May peace be multiplied to you.

2 It seemed good to me to make known the signs and wonders that the Most High God has performed toward me.

3 His signs are so great, and his wonders are so powerful. His kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and his dominion is from generation to generation [that is to say, he is the only true king who reigns over everything].

4 I Nebuchadnezzar, I was at ease in my house and flourishing in my palace.

5 Then I had a dream that frightened me. The thoughts that came to me on my bed and the visions of mind troubled me.

6 Therefore I commanded to bring all the wise men of Babylon before me, so that they might explain the dream to me.

7 Then came the magicians, and the astrologers, and the wise men of the Chaldeans, and the soothsayers. And I told them the dream, but they were not able to explain it to me.

8 And the last person who came to me was Daniel, who is called Belteshazzar in reference to the name of my God, and in whom is the spirit of the holy gods. He came before me, and I told him the dream in the following words.

9 O Belteshazzar, chief of the magicians. I know that you have the spirit of the holy gods in you, and there is no secret that is too difficult for you to understand. And now, give me the explanation of the visions that I have seen in my dream.

10 Here are the visions of my mind that I have seen while being on my bed. I looked, and behold, there was a tree of great height in the midst of the earth.

11 This tree had become tall and strong, and its top was reaching the heaven, so that one could have seen it [or at least its branches] from of all the ends of the earth.

12 Its leaves were beautiful and its fruit were abundant, and it provided food for all. The beasts of the field had shade under it, and the birds of the air dwelt in its branches, and every living creature was fed of it.

13 In the visions of my mind while I was on my bed, I looked and behold, a watcher and a holy one came down from heaven.

14 And he cried aloud and said: Cut down the tree, and cut off its branches. Shake off its leaves, and scatter its fruit. Let the beasts flee from under it, and the birds from its branches.

15 But leave the stump of its roots in the earth, and bind it with chains of iron and brass among the grass of the field. Let it be wet with the dew of the sky, and let his portion be with the beasts in the grass of the field.

16 His human heart will be taken from him, and a heart of a beast will be given to him, and seven times will pass over him.

17 This sentence is by the decree of the watchers, according to the word of the holy ones, in order to let all the peoples on the earth know that the Most High rules over human kingdoms, and gives it to whoever he wants, and can set up over it the least honorable person.

18 This is the dream that I have seen, I the king Nebuchadnezzar. And you, O Belteshazzar, give me its explanation since all the wise men of my kingdom are not able to explain it to me. You are able to do it, because the spirit of the holy gods is in you.

19 Then Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar, was amazed for a long time, and his thoughts troubled him. Then the king spoke and said, 'Belteshazzar, do not let the dream and its explanation trouble you'. And Belteshazzar spoke and said: My lord, I would have liked this dream to concern those who hate you, I would have wished that its explanation concerned your adversaries.

20 Concerning the tree that you have seen, which had become tall and strong, and whose top was reaching the heaven so that one could have seen it [or at least its branches] from all the ends of the earth.

21 That tree whose leaves were beautiful and whose fruit were abundant, and which provided food for all, and under which the beasts of the field dwelt, and on whose branches the birds of the air made their homes.

22 It is you, O king. You have become great and mighty. Your greatness has increased and reached the heaven, and your dominion extends to the ends of the earth.

23 Now the king has seen a watcher and a holy one coming down from heaven and saying: Cut down the tree and destroy it. But leave the stump of its roots in the earth, and bind it with chains of iron and brass among the grass of the field. Let it be wet with the dew of the sky, and let his portion be with the beasts of the field, until seven times pass over him.

24 Here is the explanation, O king, and it is a decree of the Most High which will be fulfilled on my lord the king.

25 You will be driven from among men, and your dwelling will be with the beasts of the field, and you will eat grass like oxen, and you will be wet with the dew of the sky, and seven times will pass over you, until you understand clearly that the Most High rules over human kingdoms and gives it to whoever he wants.

26 And since you have heard the command to leave the stump of the roots of the tree [in the earth], it means that your kingdom will be given back to you when you will have acknowledged sincerely that the one who rules is in heaven [that is to say, you should not indulge in pride because of the authority that you have received].

27 Now therefore, O king, let my advice be pleasing to you. Put an end to your sins by acting righteously, and to your iniquities by showing compassion to the afflicted, and thus your prosperity will continue [that is to say, the Most High will repent of what he intends to do to you].

28 Now all these things have happened to king Nebuchadnezzar.

29 At the end of twelve months, it happened that he was walking in the royal palace of Babylon.

30 And the king spoke and said: Is not this the great Babylon, that I have built for a royal residence by the power of my strength and for the glory of my majesty.

31 And while these words were still in the mouth of the king, a voice came from heaven by saying: O king Nebuchadnezzar, the kingdom is now taken away from you.

32 And you will be driven from among men, and your dwelling will be with the beasts of the field. You will eat grass like oxen, and seven times will pass over you, until you know that the Most High rules over human kingdoms and gives it to whoever he wants.

33 And this thing was accomplished for Nebuchadnezzar at that same hour. He was driven from among men, and ate grass like oxen, and his body was wet with the dew of the sky, until his hairs had grown like the feathers of eagles, and his nails like the claws of birds.

34 And at the end of those days, I Nebuchadnezzar, I lifted up my eyes to the sky, and my understanding returned to me. And I blessed the Most High, and I praised and honored the one who lives forever. His dominion is an everlasting dominion, and his kingdom is from generation to generation.

35 And all the inhabitants of the earth are nothing in his sight. He does as he pleases in the army of heaven and among the inhabitants of the earth, and there is no one who can resist his hand or say to him: What are you doing.

36 At that same time my understanding returned to me. And the glory of my kingdom, and my honor, and my brightness, were restored to me. My counselors and my nobles sought me, and I was established in my kingdom, and a dazzling majesty was added to me.

37 And now, I Nebuchadnezzar, I praise and exalt and honor the king of heaven. All his works highlight truths, and his ways are righteous, and he is able to abase everyone who walks in pride. [That is to say, I acknowledge that the whole duty of every person is to continuously honor and exalt only the holy spirit of the one who reigns over all things. I acknowledge the existence of this holy spirit who observes each person in an individual way by considering only the knowledge available to that person, I acknowledge that he is alive and that he wants to be the only one to be exalted by each person. I should not have behaved as if it was me who was above all things because it is rather this holy spirit who is above all things.]

1 King Belshazzar made a great feast for a thousand of his nobles, and drank wine in the presence of the thousand.

2 And when Belshazzar had tasted the wine, he commanded to bring the vessels of gold and of silver that his father Nebuchadnezzar had taken out of the temple which was in Jerusalem, so that the king, and his nobles, and his wives, and his concubines, could drink from them.

3 So they brought the gold vessels that had been taken out of the temple of the house of God which was in Jerusalem. And the king, and his nobles, and his wives, and his concubines, drank from them.

4 They were drinking wine [from those vessels of the house of Yahweh] and they were praising their own gods made of gold, and of silver, and of brass, and of iron, and of wood, and of stone.

5 In that same hour the fingers of a human hand appeared near the candlestick, and they wrote on the plaster of the wall of the royal palace, and the king saw the part of the hand that was writing.

6 Then the countenance of the king was changed, and his thoughts troubled him, and the joints of his waist became loose, and his knees were smiting one against the other.

7 Then the king cried aloud to bring in the astrologers, and the wise men of the Chaldeans, and the soothsayers. And the king spoke and said to the wise men of Babylon: Whoever reads this writing and explains it to me will be clothed with purple, and will receive a chain of gold around his neck, and will have the third place in the kingdom.

8 Then all the wise men of the king came in, but they could neither read the writing nor explain it to the king.

9 And king Belshazzar was greatly afraid, and his countenance had changed, and his nobles were dismayed.

10 Now the queen came into the banquet house because of the words of the king and his nobles, and the queen spoke and said: O king, live forever. Do not let your thoughts trouble you, and do not let your countenance be changed.

11 There is a man in your kingdom, in whom is the spirit of the holy gods. In the days of your father there were found in that man light, and understanding, and a wisdom like the wisdom of the gods. And king Nebuchadnezzar your father, the king your father, made him chief of the magicians, and of the astrologers, and of the wise men of the Chaldeans, and of the soothsayers.

12 For it was found in Daniel a superior spirit of knowledge and of understanding, and the ability to explain dreams and riddles, and to solve difficult questions, and the king named him Belteshazzar. Now let Daniel be called, and he will declare the explanation.

13 Then Daniel was brought before the king, and the king spoke and said to Daniel: Are you that Daniel who are of the children of the captivity of Judah, whom my father the king brought out of Judah.

14 I have heard concerning you that the spirit of the gods is in you, and that there is found in you light, and understanding, and an extraordinary wisdom.

15 And now the wise men and the astrologers have been brought before me in order to read this writing and to explain it to me, but they have not been able to explain this thing.

16 And I have heard concerning you that you are able to explain riddles and to solve difficult questions. Now if you can read the writing and explain it to me, then you will be clothed with purple, and you will receive a chain of gold around your neck, and you will have the third place in the kingdom.

17 Then Daniel answered and said before the king: Keep your gifts for yourself and give your rewards to another. Nevertheless I will read the writing for the king and explain it to him.

18 O king, the Most High God gave Nebuchadnezzar your father the kingdom, and majesty, and glory, and honor.

19 And because of the greatness that the Most High had given him, all the peoples of all nations and languages feared and trembled before him. King Nebuchadnezzar was able to kill whoever he wanted and to let those who pleased him live. He exalted whoever he wanted and he humbled whoever he wanted.

20 But when his heart was lifted up and his mind was hardened in pride, he was cast down from his royal throne and stripped of his honor.

21 And he was driven from among the sons of men, and his heart became like those of the beasts, and his dwelling was with wild donkeys. He ate grass like oxen, and his body was wet with the dew of the sky, until he acknowledged that the Most High rules over human kingdoms and gives it to whoever he wants.

22 And you his son, O Belshazzar, you have not humbled your heart although you knew all these things.

23 You have exalted yourself against the Lord of heaven. You have caused to bring the vessels of his house before you [when you did not need it since you were already drinking from other vessels], and you have drunk wine from them, you and your nobles, and your wives, and your concubines, while praising the gods made of gold, and of silver, and of brass, and of iron, and of wood, and of stone. You were praising those gods who neither see, nor hear, nor understand, and you have not glorified the God in whose hand is your breath and all your ways [despite the fact that you knew that your father exalted him when he had manifested himself to your father].

24 Therefore he has sent this part of the hand that has inscribed this writing.

25 And this is how to read the writing that has been inscribed: Numbered, numbered, weighed, and divided.

26 And this is the explanation of the thing: Numbered means that God has numbered your kingdom and has ended it.

27 Weighed means that you have been weighed in the scale and have been found wanting.

28 Divided means that your kingdom will be divided and given to the Medes and Persians.

29 Then Belshazzar immediately gave orders, and they clothed Daniel with purple, and put a gold chain around his neck, and proclaimed that he is the third ruler in the kingdom.

30 And in that same night, Belshazzar king of the Chaldeans was killed.

Daniel 6

1 Now Darius king of Persia took the kingdom when he was twenty eight years old. And it pleased Darius to set one hundred and twenty seven satraps over the kingdom, and they were to be throughout the whole kingdom. [Now this Darius is one of the kings who succeeded king Cyrus the Persian over time, because it was Cyrus who put an end to the domination of the successors of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon.]

2 And he placed three presidents over them, so that these satraps might give accounts to the presidents, and so that the king might not suffer any damage. One of the presidents was Daniel.

3 Now this Daniel was preferred above the presidents and the satraps, because there was a superior spirit in him. And the king thought to set him over the whole kingdom.

4 Then the presidents and the satraps sought to find an accusation against Daniel concerning the affairs of the kingdom, but they could find no accusation because there was no fault. For Daniel was faithful, and no fault nor evil was found in him.

5 Then these men said: We will not find any accusation against this Daniel, unless we seek it in the law of his God.

6 Then these presidents and satraps went together to the king, and spoke to him thus: King Darius, live forever.

7 All the presidents of your kingdom, and the officers, and the satraps, and the counsellors, and the governors, are of the opinion that a royal decree be established to declare that for thirty days no one will pray to any god or man who is different from you, O king, and that every transgressor will be thrown into the den of lions. [Now it appears that in those days the belief of some Medes and Persians had become that there is no gods, and that each person must glorify the authorities to which he is subject among men. King Cyrus did not have that opinion but even in those days the sons do not preserve the beliefs of their fathers, like Hezekiah king of Judah and his son Manasseh king of Judah.]

8 And now, O king, confirm the prohibition by sealing the decree. And thus it will be irrevocable, according to the law of the Medes and Persians which is immutable.

9 So king Darius sealed the decree and thus established the prohibition.

10 Now Daniel knew that the decree was sealed. Nevertheless he continued to pray and to praise his God three times per day, as he did previously. He went into his house, where the windows of the upper chamber were open toward Jerusalem, and there he knelt down. [Now in those days there has already been the voluntary return of the Jews to the promised land since the year when Cyrus king of Persia conquered the kingdom of Babylon, and Daniel had this habit of prayer long before that in accordance with the declarations that king Solomon had made at the dedication of the house that he had built for the name of Yahweh. For Solomon had said that if in the future the people were sent into exile when they have sinned, then he wish that Yahweh will have mercy on those who will turn toward Jerusalem to pray and thus desire the restoration and the glorification of the house that must bear the name of Yahweh. The exact identity of God is still unknown in those days.]

11 Then those men assembled, and found Daniel praying and making supplication to his God.

12 Then they came before the king and said to him concerning the royal decree, 'Have you not sealed a decree to declare that within a period of thirty days, anyone who prays to a god or a man instead of praying to you will be thrown into the den of lions'. And the king answered and said: The thing is unquestionable, according to the law of the Medes and Persians which is immutable.

13 Then they answered and said to the king: This Daniel, who is of the children of the captivity of Judah, has not submitted to your authority, O king. For he has voluntarily chosen not to obey your decree of which he had knowledge, and he has continued to pray three times per day [to implore the favor of his God].

14 And the king was greatly distressed when he heard this thing [because the king had found no wickedness in Daniel before that, and the king considered that this particular transgression of Daniel was not intended to offend another human being but was due to a foolish faith in a certain God who does not exist]. And the king set his heart on the rescue of Daniel, and he endeavored until the sunset to save Daniel.

15 But those men urged the king, and said to the king: O king, you know that the law of the Medes and Persians states that there can be no alteration of a decree or a statute that has been sealed by the king.

16 Therefore the king gave orders to bring Daniel and to throw him into the den of lions. And the king spoke and said to Daniel: Your God whom you serve so steadfastly, may he save you.

17 And they brought a rock, and placed it on the mouth of the den. And the king used his ring and put his seal on the rock, and he also used the rings of his officials and put their seals on the rock, so that nothing might be changed concerning Daniel [that is to say, so that no one might move that rock to bring Daniel out of the den of lions].

18 Then the king went to his palace, and he spent the night fasting. He did not want anyone to come and entertain him, and he could not sleep all night.

19 Then the king arose early in the morning, and went in haste to the den of the lions.

20 And when he approached the den where Daniel had been placed, he cried out while weeping in his heart and to speak to what might remain of the body of Daniel: O Daniel, servant of the living God [according to your own words], has your God whom you serve with such dedication been able to deliver you from the lions.

21 Then Daniel spoke and said to the king: O king, live forever.

22 My God has sent his angel and has closed the mouths of the lions, therefore they have not hurt me. For I have been found innocent before him. I have acted according to the knowledge that I have of the commandments of my God, and I have not intended to do you any harm [through my disobedience to your decree], O king.

23 And the king was exceeding glad for Daniel [when he heard the voice of Daniel], and the king commanded to bring Daniel out of the den. So Daniel was brought out of the den. And no wound was found on him, because he had trusted in his God [that is to say, he had trusted in the knowledge that he had of the commandments of his God].

24 And the king commanded to bring the men who had accused Daniel, they, and their children, and their wives, and to throw them into the den of the lions. And the lions seized them and broke all their bones in pieces before they reached the bottom of the den. [Now the king acted in this way toward those men because they used deceit to destroy a person who had done them no harm. They had observed the manner in which Daniel worshiped his God, and they had incited the king to establish a decree that should have caused the destruction of Daniel, and the king had done it without knowing their true motives.]

25 Afterward [that is to say later in the time] king Darius wrote to all the peoples of all nations and languages who dwell throughout the whole earth: May peace be multiplied to you.

26 I command that throughout all the dominion of my kingdom, every person should fear and tremble before the God of Daniel. For he is the living God, he lives forever. His kingship will never be destroyed, and his dominion will endure to the end.

27 He is the rescuer and the helper, and he performs signs and wonders in heaven and on earth. He has saved Daniel from the power of the lions.

28 So this Daniel had prospered during the reign of Cyrus the Persian and until the reign of Darius [king of Persia].

Daniel 7

1 In the first year of Belshazzar king of Babylon, Daniel had a dream and there were visions in his head on his bed. Then he wrote concerning that dream to report its main events.

2 And Daniel begins and said: In my vision during the night, I looked and behold, the four winds of heaven strove on the great sea [that is to say, the wind was blowing from all directions].

3 And four great beasts came up out of the sea, each being different from the others.

4 The first was like a lion, and had eagle's wings. And its wings were plucked while I was looking, and it was lifted up from the earth and made to stand on its feet like a man, and a man's heart was given to it.

5 And behold another beast appeared, the second, and it was like a bear and stood on one of its side. It had three ribs in its mouth between its teeth, and it was told to it: Get up, and eat much flesh.

6 After this I looked, and lo, there was another like a leopard. It had on its back four wings like a bird. This beast had also four heads, and dominion was given to it.

7 After this I looked, in the visions of the night, and behold there was a fourth beast, fearsome and powerful, and exceedingly strong. It had great iron teeth. It broke in pieces and devoured its victims, and trampled what remained under its feet. It was different from all the beasts that I saw before it, and it had ten horns.

8 And while I was considering the horns, behold another little horn came up from among them, and three of the other horns were plucked off by the roots. And behold, this horn had eyes like the eyes of a man, and a mouth speaking arrogantly.

9 I was looking and thrones were placed, and the ancient of days sat down. His garment was white as snow, and the hair of his head was like pure wool. His throne was like fiery flames, and its wheels were made of burning fire.

10 A river of fire flowed and came out from before him. Thousands of thousands ministered to him, and tens of thousands stood before him. The judges were set, and the books were opened.

11 And I looked [toward the terrible beast] because of the voice of the arrogant words that the horn was speaking. And while I was looking, the beast was killed and its body was destroyed and given to the fire to be burned.

12 And concerning the other beasts, they were stripped of their dominion but their lives were extended for a season and a time.

13 I looked in the visions of the night, and behold, the likeness of a son of man came on the clouds of the sky. He approached the ancient of days, and they brought him near before the ancient of days.

14 And they gave him dominion, and glory, and a kingdom, so that all the peoples of all nations and languages should serve him. His dominion is an everlasting dominion that will never be taken away, and his kingdom will never be destroyed.

15 And I Daniel was troubled in spirit within my body. The visions of my head had troubled me.

16 And I went [in the vision] to someone who was standing there, and I asked him what all these things meant. So he told me, and explained it to me in the following words.

17 These four great beasts are four kings who will arise on the earth.

18 But the saints of the Most High will take the kingdom and possess it forever, even forever and ever.

19 Then I desired to know the truth concerning the fourth beast, which was different from all the others, and exceedingly fearsome. Its teeth were of iron, and its nails were of brass. It broke in pieces and devoured its victims, and trampled what remained under its feet.

20 And concerning the ten horns that were on its head, and the other horn that came up and before which three fell. That horn had eyes, and a mouth speaking arrogantly, and a greater appearance than the others.

21 I looked, and the same horn made war with the saints and prevailed against them.

22 Until the ancient of days came, and gave judgment to the saints of the Most High, and the time came for the saints to possess the kingdom.

23 Then he explained it to me thus: The fourth beast is a fourth kingdom that will arise on earth, different from all the kingdoms. And it will devour the whole earth, and trample it down, and break it in pieces.

24 And the ten horns are ten kings who will arise from that kingdom. And another will arise after them, and he will be different from the first, and he will subdue three kings.

25 And he will speak words against the Most High, and will oppress the saints of the Most High, and will think to change the times and the law. And the saints will be given into his hand for a time, and times, and half a time.

26 Then the judgment will be set, and they will take away his dominion, to destroy and to annihilate it forever.

27 And the kingdom, and the dominion, and the greatness of the kingdoms under the whole heaven, will be given to the people of the saints of the Most High. His kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and all kinds of power will serve and obey him.

28 Here is the end of the matter. And I Daniel was greatly troubled by my thoughts, and my countenance was changed in me, and I kept this thing in my heart.

Daniel 9

1 The following thing also happened in the first year of Belshazzar king of the Chaldeans.

2 In the first year of his reign, I Daniel understood by the books that seventy years should be spent in the desolations of Jerusalem, according to the number of years that Yahweh had spoken to Jeremiah the prophet.

3 And I turned [my heart and my body] to the Lord God [that is to say, toward the city of Jerusalem], to pray and make supplication, with fasting and sackcloth and ashes.

4 And I prayed to Yahweh my God, and made confession to him by saying: Oh Lord, the great and fearsome God. You keep your covenant, and you show mercy to those who love you and keep your commandments.

5 We have sinned. We have committed iniquity since we have acted wickedly. We have rebelled and turned away from your commandments and your judgments.

6 For we have not obeyed to your servants the prophets, who spoke in your name to our kings, and to our princes [leaders], and to our fathers, and to all the people of the land.

7 Righteousness belongs to you, O Lord, and our portion is in shame as it appears this day for the men of Judah, and for the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and for all Israel, those who are near and those who are far, in all the lands where you have driven them because of their transgressions against you.

8 O Lord, it is because we have sinned against you that our portion is in bewilderment, we, and our kings, and our princes [leaders], and our fathers.

9 Nevertheless there are compassion and forgiveness with the Lord our God, despite the fact that we have rebelled against him.

10 For we have not obeyed the voice of Yahweh our God, to walk in his statutes which he set before us by the hand of his servants the prophets.

11 Yes, all Israel has transgressed your law. We have turned away from obeying your voice. Therefore the curse has been poured out on us, all the imprecations that are written in the law of Moses the servant of God.

12 For we have sinned against God. And he has fulfilled his words that he has spoken against us and against our leaders who ruled over us, by bringing on us a great calamity. And under the whole heaven nothing has been done like what has happened in Jerusalem.

13 As it is written in the law of Moses, all this calamity has come on us. For we have not prayed to Yahweh our God, we have not turned away from our iniquities, we have not listened to your truth.

14 Therefore Yahweh has made ready this calamity, and has brought it on us. For Yahweh our God is righteous in all his works that he does, and we have not obeyed his voice.

15 And now, O Lord our God, you who have brought your people out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand, and have made for yourself a name as it appears this day, we acknowledge that we have sinned. We have committed iniquity. [Now in those days when the exact identity of Yahweh is still unknown, it is normal for any Jew to pray on behalf of all the children of Jacob.]

16 O Lord, according to your great mercy, I beseech you, let your anger and your fury turn away from your city Jerusalem which is your holy mountain. For it is because of our sins and the iniquities of our fathers that Jerusalem and your people have become a subject of reproach for all those who are around us.

17 Now therefore, O our God, hear the prayer of your servant, and his supplications. Cause your face to shine on your sanctuary that is desolate, for the sake of the Lord.

18 O my God, incline your ear and listen. Open your eyes and look on our desolations, look on the city that is called by your name. For it is not because of our righteousness that we are presenting our supplications before you, but because of your great mercies.

19 O Lord, hear. O Lord, forgive. O Lord, consider and act. Do not delay, for your own sake, O my God. For your city and your people are called by your name.

20 Now I was still speaking and praying, and confessing my sin and the sin of my people Israel, and I was presenting my supplication before Yahweh my God concerning the holy mountain of my God. [Now in those days the exact identity of Yahweh is still unknown, it is normal for any of the children of Israel to pray for the restoration of the sanctuary of the Lord.]

21 I was still speaking thus for my prayer when the man Gabriel, whom I had previously seen in the vision, approached me by a swift flight at the time of the evening sacrifice.

22 And he spoke to me and taught me. He said to me: O Daniel, I have come now to give you knowledge and understanding.

23 The word came out at the beginning of your supplication, and I have come to declare it to you because you are greatly loved. Therefore consider the matter and understand the vision.

24 It has been decided that there will be seventy weeks [of years] for your people and for your holy city, to finish the transgression and thus make an end of sins, to make reconciliation for iniquity by bringing in the everlasting righteousness, to seal up the vision and the prophecy by anointing the most holy.

25 Know therefore and understand: From the proclamation of the word to restore and build Jerusalem until the anointed one who is the prince, there will be seven weeks and sixty two weeks. The streets and the wall will be rebuilt, but in times of trouble. [Now there may have been an alteration of the numbers but this does not affect the quality of the teaching.]

26 And after sixty two weeks, the anointed one will be cut off and will have no successor. And the people of the prince who will come will destroy the city and the sanctuary, and its end will come like a flood. It is determined that the devastations will last until the end of the war.

Daniel 10

1 In the third year of Cyrus king of Persia, a thing was revealed to Daniel who was also called Belteshazzar. And the thing was true, but the time appointed was long. And he understood the thing, he had the understanding of the vision.

2 In those days, I Daniel was mourning three full weeks.

3 I ate no pleasant bread, and neither meat nor wine entered my mouth. And I did not anoint myself at all, until the three whole weeks were fulfilled.

4 And on the twenty fourth day of the first month, I was on the bank of the great river which is Hiddekel.

5 And I lifted up my eyes, and looked, and behold, there was a man clothed in linen and with a belt made of the pure gold around his waist.

6 And his body was like the beryl, and his face shone like lightning. His eyes were like lamps of fire, and his arms and his feet were like burnished brass. And the voice of his words was like the voice of a multitude.

7 And I Daniel, I was the only one to see the vision. For the men who were with me did not see it, but they were seized with a great fright, and they fled to hide themselves.

8 Therefore I stayed alone and I saw this great vision, and there remained no strength in me. For my strength escaped from me, and I had no more vigor.

9 And I heard the voice of his words. And when I heard the voice of his words, then I slept on my face, and my face was toward the ground.

10 And behold, a hand touched me, and set me on my knees and on the palms of my hands.

11 And he said to me, 'O Daniel, a man greatly loved. Be attentive to the words that I will speak to you, and stand up in the place where you are. For I am now sent to you'. And when he had said these words to me, then I stood up while trembling.

12 Then he said to me: Do not be afraid, Daniel. For from the first day that you did set your heart to understand, and to humble yourself before your God, your words have been heard. So I have come because of your words.

13 But the prince of the kingdom of Persia resisted me twenty one days. But lo, Michael, one of the chief princes, came to help me. And I remained there with the kings of Persia.

14 Now I have come to make you understand what will happen to your people in the latter days. For the vision still concerns that time.

15 When he had said these words to me, then I turned my face toward the ground and I become mute.

16 And behold, one who had the appearance of the sons of men touched my lips. Then I opened my mouth, and spoke, and said to the one who stood in front of me: O my lord, the vision has filled me with weariness and I have lost all vigor.

17 For how can the servant of this my lord speak to this my lord while being in this state. Now there remained no strength in me, and I had no more breath.

18 Then the one who had the appearance of a man touched me again, and strengthened me.

19 And he said to me, 'O man greatly loved, do not be afraid. Peace be with you. Be strong, yes, be strong'. And while he was speaking to me, I was strengthened and I said: Let my lord speak, since you have strengthened me.

20 Then he said to me: Do you know why I have come to you. And now I will return to fight with the prince of Persia. And when I am gone, lo, the prince of Greece will come. [Now the kings of Persia ruled this part of the world in those days, and after them came the kings of Greece.]

21 But I want to make you know what is written in the book of truth. No one helps me in these things, except Michael your prince.

Daniel 12

1 At that time Michael will stand up, the great prince who stands for the children of your people. And there will be a time of trouble, such as has not been since there was a nation even to that same time. And at that time every one of your people whose name is found written in the book [of life] will be saved.

2 And many of those who sleep in the dust of the earth will awake, some for eternal life and some for shame and eternal contempt.

3 And those who are wise will shine like the brightness of the sky, and those who turn many to righteousness will shine like the stars forever and ever.

4 And you, O Daniel, keep these words secret, and seal the book until the time of the end. Many people will go here and there looking for true knowledge, and the true knowledge will increase.

5 Then I Daniel, I looked and behold, two other men were standing there. One on this side of the bank of the river, and the other on the other side of the bank of the river.

6 And one of them said to the man clothed in linen, who was standing over the waters of the river: How long will it be before these wonders end.

7 And I heard the man clothed in linen, who was standing over the waters of the river, when he lifted up his right hand and his left hand to heaven, and swore by him who lives forever that it will be for a time, times, and half a time, and that all these things will be finished when the power of the holy people is completely broken [that is to say, when they no longer rely on their own strengths].

8 And I heard it, but I did not understand. Then I said: O my lord, what will be the outcome of these things [when all things have come to eternal life and eternal contempt].

9 And he said: Go your way, Daniel. For these words are to remain secret and sealed until the time of the end.

10 Many will purify themselves. They will cleanse and refine themselves. But the wicked will do wickedly, and none of the wicked will understand, but those who are wise will understand.

Hosea

Hosea 1

1 The word of Yahweh that came to Hosea the son of Beeri, in the days of Uzziah [also called Azariah], and Jotham, and Ahaz, and Hezekiah, kings of Judah, and in the days of Jeroboam the son of Joash, king of Israel.

2 The first time that Yahweh spoke to Hosea, Yahweh said to Hosea: Go, take a wife of whoredom and children of whoredom. For the land has committed a great whoredom after they have turned away from Yahweh.

3 So Hosea went and took Gomer the daughter of Diblaim. And she conceived, and bore him a son.

4 And Yahweh said to Hosea: Call his name Jezreel. For yet a little while, and I will punish the house of Jehu for the bloodshed in Jezreel, and I will put an end to the kingdom of the house of Israel. [Now Jehu king of Israel had done what was asked of him concerning the legacy of Ahab king of Israel, but Jehu had also destroyed Ahaziah king of Judah and his family without being asked.]

5 In that day I will break the bow of Israel in the valley of Jezreel.

6 And she conceived again, and bore a daughter. And Yahweh said to Hosea: Call her name Lo-ruhamah. For I will no longer have compassion on the house of Israel, and I will utterly take them away.

7 But I will have mercy on the house of Judah, and I will save them by Yahweh their God. I will not save them by bow, nor by sword, nor by battle, nor by horses, nor by horsemen.

8 Now when she had weaned Lo-ruhamah, she conceived and bore a son.

9 And Yahweh said: Call his name Lo-ammi. For you are not my people, and I am not your God.

10 Nevertheless the number of the children of Israel will be like the sand of the sea, which cannot be measured nor numbered. And in the place where it was said to them, 'You are not my people', it will be said to them, 'You are the children of the living God'.

11 Then the children of Judah and the children of Israel will be gathered together, and will appoint themselves one head, and will go forth out of the land. For the day of Jezreel will be great.

Hosea 2

1 Say to your brothers 'Ammi [my people]', and to your sisters 'Ruhamah [mercy]'.

2 Argue with your mother. Argue with her because she is no longer my wife, and I am no longer her husband. Tell her to stop acting like a whore. Tell her to take away her lovers from between her breasts. [All this aims to describe the behavior of the children of Israel regarding their covenant with Yahweh, but it is not necessary that the comparison be identical in every aspect of the matter. After the prophet Hosea came to Gomer, she was able to cease her prostitution and conceive three children, and then she continued her prostitution while she was raising these three children. And now, here it is no longer about the children of Gomer but an advice given to the children of Israel.]

3 Lest I strip her naked, and set her as in the day that she was born, and make her as a wilderness, and set her like a dry land, and kill her by thirst.

4 And I will not have pity on her children, because they are children of whoredoms. [Here it is no longer about the children of Gomer but about to the children of Israel who are educated in the love of false gods by their parents.]

5 Their mother has played the whore. She who has conceived them has acted shamefully, for she has said: I will go after my lovers, who give me my bread and my water, my wool and my linen, my oil and my drink.

6 Therefore behold, I will hedge up your way with thorns, and I will build a wall so that she will no longer find her paths.

7 She will follow her lovers, but she will not reach them. She will seek them, but will not find them. Then she will say: I will go, and I will return to my first husband because I was happier then than now.

8 For she has not recognized that it was I who was giving her the grain, and the new wine, and the oil, and who was multiplying her silver and gold which they used to honor Baal.

9 Therefore I will take away my grain in its time, and my new wine in its season, and I will pluck away my wool and my linen which were to cover her nakedness.

10 For I will now uncover her lewdness in the sight of her lovers, and no one will deliver her out of my hand.

11 I will also cause all her mirth to cease, her feasts which are her new moons, and her sabbaths, and all her solemn assemblies.

12 And I will destroy her vines and her fig trees, concerning which she has said, 'This is my salary that my lovers have given me'. I will make them a forest, and the beasts of the field will devour them.

13 And I will chastise her for the days when she praised the Baalim and burned incense to them, when she decked herself with her earrings and her necklaces in order to go after her lovers and forget me, says Yahweh.

14 Therefore behold, I will allure her and bring her into the wilderness, and speak to her heart.

15 And I will give her her vineyards from there, and the valley of Achor for a door of hope. And she will sing there as in the days of her youth, and as in the day when she came up out of the land of Egypt.

16 And in that day, says Yahweh, you will call me 'Ishi [my husband]', and you will no longer call me 'Baali [my master]'.

17 For I will take away the names of Baalim from her mouth, and they will no longer be remembered by their name. [Now Baalim are supposed to be gods and are therefore considered as masters, but they are false gods.]

18 And in that day I will make a covenant for them with the beasts of the fields, and with the birds of the sky, and with the creeping things of the ground. And I will break the bow and the sword [that is to say, the weapons of war that will exist in those days], and the battle out of the earth, and I will cause them to lie down safely. [Now this concerns all those who will be the children of Israel in those days.]

19 And I will marry you to me forever. Yes, I will marry you to me through righteousness, and justice, and compassion, and mercy.

20 I will marry you to me through faithfulness, and you will know Yahweh.

21 And in that day I will answer, says Yahweh. I will answer the heavens, and they will answer the earth.

22 And the earth will answer the grain, and the new wine, and the oil. And they will answer Jezreel.

23 And I will plant her for me in the earth, and I will have mercy on her who was not pitied. And I will say to those who were not my people 'You are my people', and they will say 'You are my God'.

Hosea 3

1 Then Yahweh said to me: Go again, and love another woman who is loved by her friend and who is an adulteress. It is according to the love of Yahweh toward the children of Israel, since they turn to other gods and love the cakes of raisin.

2 So I bought her for fifteen pieces of silver, and a homer of barley, and half of a homer of barley.

3 And I said to her: Stay with me for several days. You will not play the whore, and you will not belong to any other person, and I will be thus toward you. [That is to say, we will both be together but we will not make love together, and neither of us will make love with anyone else.]

4 For the children of Israel will remain many days without a king, and without a prince, and without making sacrifices, and without an image [that is to say, a false god set up in public places], and without the ephod, and without the teraphim [that is to say, household gods].

5 Afterward the children of Israel will return and seek Yahweh their God, and David their king. And they will rejoice in the fear of Yahweh and in his goodness, in the latter days.

Hosea 4

1 Hear the word of Yahweh, you the children of Israel. For Yahweh has a controversy with the inhabitants of the land, because there is no truth nor mercy in the land, there is no knowledge of God.

2 There is only publicly unjustifiable deceptions, and murder, and stealing, and adultery. Crimes follow one another without interruption.

3 Therefore the land will mourn, and every one who dwells there will languish, with the beasts of the field and the birds of the air. Even the fishes of the sea will be taken away.

4 No one should dispute or rebuke another thus. For your people even dispute with the priest.

5 Therefore you will stumble during the day, and the prophet will stumble with you during the night, and I will destroy your mother.

6 My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge. Because you have rejected knowledge, I will also reject you so that you may no longer serve as priest for me. Because you have forgotten the law of your God, I will also forget your children. [Now Yahweh punishes the iniquities of parents on children through the quality of persecutions that children must undergo.]

7 The more they have multiplied, the more they have sinned against me. Therefore I will change their glory into shame.

8 The priest feed on the sins of my people, they wanted more and more of their sin offerings.

9 Therefore I will do to the priests as I will do to the people. I will punish them according to their ways, and I will repay them according to their deeds.

10 They will eat, but they will not have enough. They will commit adultery, but they will not multiply. For they have ceased to pay attention to Yahweh.

11 Sexual sins, or strong drinks, or new wine, ruin the ability of a person to think clearly.

12 My people consult their wood, and they let their staff teach them. For the spirit of fornication leads them astray, and they depart from under their God to prostitute their soul.

13 They sacrifice on the tops of the mountains, and burn incense on the hills under the oaks, and under the poplars, and under the terebinths, because the shadows of those trees are pleasant. Therefore your daughters behave like whores, and your daughters in law commit adultery.

14 I cannot blame your daughters or your daughters in law for doing this, because your men go and have sex with the prostitutes of the temple of their false gods [in order to worship those gods thus], and offer sacrifices with them. The foolish people destroy themselves thus.

15 While you play the whore, O Israel, do not incite Judah to sin. Do not go to Gilgal, do not go up to Beth-aven, and do not swear by saying: As Yahweh is alive.

16 For Israel has rebelled like a stubborn heifer, although Yahweh was feeding them like a lamb in the wide plains.

17 Ephraim is clinging to idols. Let him alone.

18 Ephraim has joined their drunkenness. Let them continue to be prostitutes. Let them be with their lovers.

19 They went to those gods for safety, and they have lost their ability to think. Their sacrifices will bring them shame.

Hosea 5

1 Hear this, you priests. Pay attention, O house of Israel. Give ear, O house of the king. For judgment is against you, because you have been like a trap at Mizpah, and like a net spread on the ground at Tabor.

2 And the revolters have gone deep in making slaughter, but I am a rebuker of them all.

3 I know Ephraim, and Israel is not hidden from me. For now, O Ephraim, you have played the whore and Israel has defiled itself.

4 They will not forsake their deeds to turn to their God. For the spirit of fornication is in their hearts, and they do not know Yahweh.

5 And the pride of Israel testifies against his face. Therefore Israel and Ephraim will fall in their iniquity. Judah also will fall with them.

6 They will go with their flocks and with their herds to seek Yahweh, but they will not find him. For he has withdrawn himself from them.

7 They have been unfaithful to Yahweh, and their children are from some stranger. Now in a month he will devour them and their wealth.

8 Blow the cornet in Gibeah, and the trumpet in Ramah. Shout in Beth-aven: The enemy is behind you, O Benjamin.

9 Ephraim will be devastated in the day of rebuke. I have made known among the tribes of Israel what will happen.

10 The princes of Judah are like those who move the boundaries to steal land. Therefore I will pour out my anger on them like water.

11 Ephraim is oppressed, and broken in judgment, because he willingly walked after the commandment of man.

12 Therefore I will be like a moth [that eats clothes] to Ephraim, and like rottenness to the house of Judah.

13 When Ephraim saw his sickness, and Judah his wound, then Ephraim went to Assyria, and sent to king Jareb for help. But he will not heal you or cure you of your wound.

14 For I will be like a lion to Ephraim, and like a young lion to the house of Judah. I, even I, will tear and go away. I will carry away, and no one will take away my prey.

15 I will go and return to my place, until they acknowledge their offence and seek my face. In their affliction they will seek me earnestly.

Hosea 6

1 Come, and let us return to Yahweh. For he has torn, but he will heal us. He has smitten, but he will bind up our wounds.

2 After two days he will revive us. On the third day he will raise us up, and we will live in his sight.

3 Then we will know, if we endeavour to know Yahweh. His going forth is prepared as the morning, and he will come to us like the rain, like the latter rain that waters the earth.

4 What will I do to you, O Ephraim. What will I do to you, O Judah. For your goodness is like a morning cloud, like the dew that quickly vanishes.

5 Therefore I will strike them with the prophets, I will kill them with the words of my mouth. For my judgments will go forth like the light.

6 For I desire the search for obedience and not sacrifices. I desire the knowledge of God more than burnt offerings.

7 But they have transgressed the covenant like Adam did. They have acted treacherously against me.

8 Gilead is a city of evildoers, and is polluted with blood.

9 And as troops of robbers wait for a man, so the company of priests murder in the way by consent. For they commit lewdness.

10 I have seen horrible things in the house of Israel. There is the whoredom of Ephraim, and Israel is defiled.

11 For you also, O Judah, a harvest is prepared, when I bring back the captivity of my people.

Hosea 11

1 When Israel was a child, then I loved him, and called my son out of Egypt.

2 But they turned away from those who called them [that is to say, from the prophets]. They sacrificed to the Baalim, and burned incense to idols.

3 I guided the steps of Ephraim, taking them by their arms, but they did not understand that I was healing them.

4 I led them with ropes, but they were ropes of love. I was to them as one who takes off the yoke on their jaws, in order to give them food.

5 They will not return to the land of Egypt. But the Assyrian will be their king, because they have refused to return to me.

6 And the sword will come against their cities, and will consume the bars of their gates, and devour them, because of their own counsels.

7 For my people desire to turn away from me. They are called to the Most High, but none of them exalts him.

8 What will I do to you, Ephraim. How will I deliver you, Israel. Will I make you like Admah. Will I make you like Zeboiim. My heart is troubled within me, my compassions are kindled together.

9 I will not execute the fierceness of my anger, I will not destroy Ephraim. For I am God, and not a man. I am the holy one in your midst, and I will not come in fury.

10 They will walk after Yahweh, who will roar like a lion. For he will roar, and the children will come trembling from the west.

11 They will come out of Egypt trembling like a bird, like a dove out of the land of Assyria. And I will make them dwell in their houses, says Yahweh.

12 Ephraim surrounds me with falsehood, and the house of Israel with deceit. And Judah still has no restraint before God, before the faithful holy one.

Hosea 12

1 Ephraim feeds himself with the wind, and follows the east wind [that is to say, they are wasting their time since they do not conform to my teaching]. Every day they multiply lies and violence. They make a covenant with Assyria, and oil is carried into Egypt.

2 Yahweh has also a controversy with Judah. Yahweh will punish Jacob according to his ways, he will recompense Jacob according to his doings.

3 In the womb Jacob grabbed his brother by the heel, and in his strength he fought with God.

4 Jacob fought with the angel, and prevailed. And Jacob wept, and made supplication to him. And he found him in Bethel, and there he spoke concerning us.

5 It was Yahweh the God of the armies, his name is Yahweh.

6 Therefore turn to your God. Keep mercy and justice, and hope continuously in your God.

7 Ephraim is a merchant who has false scales in his hand, he loves to deceive.

8 And Ephraim said: What is certain is that I am becoming richer. I have made me a fortune, and it is entirely the product of my work. No one will know about my crimes. No one will know about my sins.

9 But I am Yahweh your God from the land of Egypt. I will make you dwell in tents again, as in the days of the solemn feast.

10 I have spoken to the prophets, and I have multiplied visions. I have shown the prophets what things are going to look like.

11 But there is iniquity in Gilead. Surely they have become worthless. They sacrifice bullocks in Gilgal, and their altars are like heaps of stones in the furrows of the fields.

12 Jacob fled into the land of Syria, and Israel worked there to get a wife, and he kept sheep to get another wife.

13 And Yahweh used a prophet to bring Israel out of Egypt, he used a prophet to preserve Israel.

14 Ephraim has angered Yahweh bitterly. Therefore the [innocent] blood that he has poured will be brought on him, his Lord will make him bear his shame.

Hosea 13

1 When Ephraim spoke, there was trembling. He exalted himself in Israel, but he has sinned through Baal and has died.

2 And now they sin more and more. They have made molten images with their silver, idols of their own invention, the work of craftsmen. And they say of those things: Let the men sacrifice there and kiss the calves.

3 Therefore they will be like the morning cloud, and like the dew that quickly vanishes, like the chaff that is driven by the whirlwind out of the threshing floor, like the smoke that goes out of the chimney.

4 But I am Yahweh your God since the time when you were in the land of Egypt. You had not known another God besides me, and there is no savior besides me.

5 I knew you in the wilderness, in a dry land.

6 And they have been fed in their pastures, and they have been satisfied. And their hearts have become proud when they were satisfied. Therefore they have forgotten me.

7 Therefore I will be like a lion to them, I will watch them on the road like a leopard.

8 I will meet them while being like a bear that has been robbed of her cubs, and I will rend their chests to uncover their hearts, and I will devour them like a lioness. The wild beasts will tear them into pieces.

9 O Israel, what causes your ruin is that you have been against me, against the one who could help you.

10 And now where is your king. Let him save you in all your cities. Where are your judges to whom you had said: Give me a king and princes.

11 I gave you a king in my anger [in the day when the people had asked for a king to be established over them], and I will take him away in my fury.

12 The iniquity of Ephraim is wrapped up, his sin is placed for judgment.

13 The pain of a woman giving birth will come on him, for he has been an unwise son. He should not have stayed in the place of the breaking forth of children.

14 Should I ransom them from the power of Sheol. Should I redeem them from death. O death, where are your plagues. Where is your destruction. For repentance is hidden from my eyes.

15 Ephraim may be fruitful among his brothers, but the east wind will come, and the breath of Yahweh will rise from the wilderness, and it will dry up its springs, and it will dry up its fountains. They will plunder the treasury of all precious things.

16 Samaria will be punished because she has rebelled against her God. They will fall by the sword. Their little ones will be dashed in pieces, and their pregnant women will have their bellies ripped open.

Hosea 14

1 O Israel, return to Yahweh your God. For you have fallen by your iniquity.

2 Bring words with you, and return to Yahweh. Say to him: Forgive all iniquities, and receive us graciously. We offer you the obedience of our lips instead of bullocks.

3 The Assyrian will not save us. We will not ride on horses to look for help, and we will no longer say to the work of our hands, 'You are our gods'. For the fatherless finds mercy in you.

4 I will heal their rebellion, and I will show them my love without limits. For my anger will turn away from them.

5 I will be like the dew to Israel. He will blossom like the lily, and take root like the trees of Lebanon.

6 His branches will spread, and his beauty will be like the olive tree, and his smell will be like Lebanon.

7 They will return and dwell under his shadow. They will revive like the wheat, and blossom like the vine. Their scent will be like the wine of Lebanon.

8 Ephraim will say, 'What have I to do any more with idols'. I will hear him, and I will look at him. I am like a green fir tree, and it is from me that you receive your fruit.

9 Whoever is wise, let him understand these things. Whoever is prudent, let him know them. For the ways of Yahweh are righteous, and the honest persons will walk in them, and the transgressors will fall there.

Joel

Joel 1

1 The word of Yahweh that came to Joel the son of Pethuel. [This happened after the abominations that the people committed in the days of Manasseh king of Judah, and before the destruction of the city that took place in the days of Zedekiah king of Judah.]

2 Hear this, you old men. Give ear, you all the inhabitants of the land. Has anything like this happened in your days, or in the days of your fathers.

3 Tell it to your children, and let your children tell it to their children, and their children to the next generation.

4 What the destructive caterpillar has left, the locust has devoured. And what the locust has left, the geometer moths has devoured. And what the geometer moths has left, the scorpionfly has devoured.

5 Awake, you drunkards, and weep. Wail, you all the drinkers of wine, because the new wine will be taken away from your mouths.

6 For a nation will come against my land, mighty and without number [innumerable]. He has the teeth of a lion, and the jaws of a great lion.

7 He ravages my vineyard, and breaks my fig tree in pieces. They strip it and cut it down, and its branches turn white.

8 Lament like a virgin who puts on sackcloth to mourn the husband of her youth.

9 Mourn, you the priests who minister before Yahweh, because the meal offerings and the drink offerings will cease from the house [temple] of Yahweh.

10 The fields are desolate, and the land is grieved. For the grain is destroyed, and the new wine is dried up, and the oil is dried up.

11 Be ashamed, you plowmen. Wail, you vinedressers. Do it because of the wheat and the barley, for the harvest of the field is ruined.

12 The vine is dried up, and the fig tree languishes. The pomegranate tree, the palm tree, the apple tree, all the trees of the field have withered. Joy has ceased from among the sons of men.

13 Gird yourselves with sackcloth and lament, you the priests. Wail, you who minister at the altar. Come and spend the night in sackcloth, you the ministers of my God. For meal offerings and drink offerings will cease from the house [temple] of your God.

14 Proclaim a fasting, call a solemn assembly. Gather the elders and all the inhabitants of the land into the house [temple] of Yahweh your God, and cry out to Yahweh.

15 Alas, because of the day. For the day of Yahweh is near, and it comes like a destruction from the Almighty.

16 [And the priests will say:] Is not the food taken away before our eyes. Have not joy and gladness been cut off from the house of our God. [These priests will be dismayed because of the loss of all the offerings that they should have received from the people as required by the law given by Moses.]

Joel 2

1 Blow the trumpet in Zion, and shout on my holy mountain. Let all the inhabitants of the land tremble. For the day of Yahweh is coming, for it is near.

2 A day of darkness and of gloominess, a day of clouds and of thick darkness. It comes like the morning that spreads over the mountains. It is a great people who come, a strong people such as there has not been the likeness before, and there will not be the likeness after it during the years of many generations.

3 There is a devouring fire before them, and behind them a burning flame. The land is like the garden of Eden before them, and behind them it will become a terrible wilderness. Nothing will escape them.

4 Their appearance is like the appearance of horses, and they run like horsemen.

5 Their noise is like the noise of chariots leaping on the tops of the mountains, like the crackling of a flame of fire when it devours the stubble, like a mighty army preparing for battle.

6 The peoples will be in anguish before them, and all faces will turn pale.

7 They rush forward like mighty warriors, and they climb the walls like warriors. Each one goes on his own way, without straying from his path.

8 They do not push one another, and each one walks in his own path. They rush through the arrows without stopping their march.

9 They will spread throughout the city, and run on the wall, and climb on the houses, and enter through the windows like a thief.

10 The earth trembles before them, and the heavens shakes. The sun and the moon are darkened, and the stars withdraw their shining.

11 And Yahweh utters his voice before his army. For his army is very great, and he who executes his word is mighty. For the day of Yahweh is great and very terrible. Who can withstand it.

12 Therefore return to me with all your hearts now, says Yahweh, with fasting, and with weeping, and with mourning.

13 Rend your hearts and not your garments, and return to Yahweh your God. For he is gracious and merciful, slow to anger and of great kindness. He can repent of an evil that he intends to do.

14 Who knows if he will not repent and turn away from the evil that he has planned, and leave a blessing behind him. Then you would have enough food to willingly offer the meal offerings and drink offerings to Yahweh your God.

16 Gather the people, and sanctify the assembly. Gather the old men, and gather the children, and even the sucklings. Let the bridegroom come out of his place, and the bride out of her chamber.

17 Let the priests, the ministers of Yahweh, weep between the porch and the altar, and let them say: Spare your people, O Yahweh. Do not give your heritage to reproach, do not cause the nations to rule over your people. Why should they say among the peoples, 'Where is their God'.

18 Then Yahweh will be jealous for his land, and will spare his people.

19 And Yahweh will answer and say to his people: Behold I will send you grain, and new wine, and oil, and you will be satisfied. And I will not make you a subject of reproach among the nations. [I will be patient.]

21 Do not be afraid, O land, be glad and rejoice. For Yahweh will do great things in a certain future.

22 Do not be afraid, you the beasts of the field. For the pastures of the wilderness will be green, and the trees will bear their fruit. The fig tree and the vine will yield their strength.

23 And you, children of Zion, be glad and rejoice in Yahweh your God. For he will give you the rain in its season. He will send you the early and the latter rain, as in the beginning.

24 The threshing floors will be filled with grain, and the vats will overflow with new wine and oil.

25 And I will restore to you the years that have been eaten by the caterpillar, and the locust, and the geometer moths, and the scorpionfly, my great army that I will have sent among you.

26 And you will eat and be satisfied, and you will praise the name of Yahweh your God who has done wonders for you. And my people will never be ashamed.

27 And you will know that I am in the midst of Israel. I am Yahweh your God, and there is no other [god], and my people will never be ashamed.

28 Afterward I will pour out my spirit on all flesh, and your sons and your daughters will prophesy. Your old men will have dreams, and your young men will see visions.

29 In those days I will pour out my spirit even on servants, both men and women.

30 Before that I will show wonders in the sky and on the earth: blood, and fire, and pillars of smoke.

31 The sun will be turned into darkness, and the moon into blood, before the coming of the great and terrible day of Yahweh.

32 And after that, everyone who will call on the name of Yahweh will be saved. Salvation will originate on mount Zion and in Jerusalem, as Yahweh has said, among the remnant whom Yahweh will call.

Amos

Amos 1

1 The words of Amos, one of the shepherds from the city Tekoa. He had this revelation concerning Israel in the days of Uzziah [also called Azariah] king of Judah, and in the days of Jeroboam the son of Joash king of Israel, two years before the earthquake.

2 And he said: Yahweh will roar from Zion, and utter his voice from Jerusalem. The dwelling places of the shepherds will mourn, and the top of Carmel will wither.

3 Thus says Yahweh: Because of three transgressions of Damascus, and even four, I will not revoke the punishment. For they have trodden Gilead with iron sledges.

4 Therefore I will send a fire into the house of Hazael, and it will devour the palaces of Ben-hadad.

5 And I will break the bars [of the gates] of Damascus, and I will cut off the inhabitants from the plain of Aven, and him who holds the scepter from Beth-eden. And the people of Syria will go into captivity to Kir, says Yahweh.

6 Thus says Yahweh: Because of three transgressions of Gaza, and even four, I will not revoke the punishment. For they have carried away a multitude of captives to deliver them to Edom.

7 Therefore I will send a fire on the walls of Gaza, and it will devour its palaces.

8 And I will cut off the inhabitants from Ashdod, and him who holds the scepter from Ashkelon. And I will turn my hand against Ekron, and the remnant of the Philistines will perish, says the Lord Yahweh.

9 Thus says Yahweh: Because of three transgressions of Tyre, and even four, I will not revoke the punishment. For they have delivered up the whole captivity to Edom, and have not remembered the brotherly covenant.

10 Therefore I will send a fire on the walls of Tyre, and it will devour its palaces.

11 Thus says Yahweh: Because of three transgressions of Edom, and even four, I will not revoke the punishment. For he has pursued his brother with the sword, having extinguished his compassion. For his anger burns continually, and he keeps his fury forever.

12 Therefore I will send a fire on Teman, and it will devour the palaces of Bozrah.

13 Thus says Yahweh: Because of three transgressions of the children Ammon, and even four, I will not revoke the punishment. For they have ripped open the bellies of the pregnant women of Gilead, in order to enlarge their territory.

14 Therefore I will kindle a fire on the walls of Rabbah, and it will devour its palaces, with shouting in the day of battle and with a tempest in the day of the whirlwind.

15 And their king will go into captivity, he and his officials with him, says Yahweh.

Amos 2

1 Thus says Yahweh: Because of three transgressions of Moab, and even four, I will not revoke the punishment. For he has burned the bones of the king of Edom into lime.

2 Therefore I will send a fire on Moab, and it will devour the palaces of Kerioth. And Moab will die in a tumult, with shouts and with the sound of a trumpet.

3 And I will cut off the judge from among them, and I will kill all their leaders with him, says Yahweh.

4 Thus says Yahweh: Because of three transgressions of Judah, and even four, I will not revoke the punishment. For they have despised the law of Yahweh and have not kept his commandments, and their falseness have caused them to err in the ways in which their fathers had walked.

5 Therefore I will send a fire on Judah, and it will devour the palaces of Jerusalem.

6 Thus says Yahweh: Because of three transgressions of Israel, and even four, I will not revoke the punishment. For they have sold the righteous for silver, they have sold the poor for the price of a pair of sandals.

7 They pant to see the dust of the earth on the heads of the poor, and they pervert the justice due to the afflicted. Fathers and sons have sexual relations with the same woman, and they thus profane my holy name.

8 And they go beside every of the altars [that they have built everywhere despite my ban], and there they lay themselves down on garments taken as pledge [from the poor]. And they drink the wine paid for with the money given by those who have been fined in the house of their gods.

9 I had destroyed the Amorite before them, whose height was like the height of the cedars and who were as strong as the oaks. I had destroyed their fruit above and their roots below.

10 I had brought you up from the land of Egypt, and led you forty years in the wilderness, to possess the land of the Amorite.

11 And I raised up prophets from among your sons [and your daughters], and Nazirites from among your young men. Is it not thus, O children of Israel. It is Yahweh your God who is asking you this question.

12 But you gave the Nazirites wine to drink, and you commanded the prophets by saying: Do not prophesy.

13 Behold I will crush you, as a cart laden with sheaves crushes the ground.

14 The swift will not escape, and the strong will not resist, and the mighty will not save his life.

15 He who handles the bow will not resist, and he who is swift of foot will not escape, and he who rides the horse will not save his life.

16 The bravest of warriors will flee naked in that day, says Yahweh.

Amos 3

1 Hear this word that Yahweh has spoken against you, O children of Israel, against the whole family that I brought out of the land of Egypt.

2 I have chosen you, you only, out of all the families of the earth. Therefore I will punish you for all your iniquities.

3 Can two persons walk together if they have not agreed to do so.

4 Does a lion roar in the forest when he is looking for a prey. Does a young lion cry out from his den when he want to find something to eat.

5 Can a bird fly into a snare on the ground if no food is placed there for him. Will a good trap placed on the ground be triggered without catching anything.

6 Can a trumpet be sounded in a city and not frighten the people. Can evil befall a city when Yahweh has not commanded it.

7 Surely the Lord Yahweh does nothing without revealing his secret to his servants the prophets.

8 When the lion roars, the people nearby are frightened. When the Lord Yahweh speaks, a prophet must prophesy.

9 Proclaim it in the palaces of Ashdod and in the palaces of the land of Egypt, and say: Come together on the mountains of Samaria and see the great confusion in its the midst, and the oppression in its midst.

10 They accumulate in their palaces the goods obtained through violence and theft.

11 Therefore thus says the Lord Yahweh: And adversary will surround the land and destroy your strength, and your palaces will be plundered.

12 Thus says Yahweh: As a shepherd may take out only two legs or a piece of an ear of a sheep from the mouth of a lion, so only a remnant of the children of Israel who live in Samaria will not be directly affected by the destruction that is to come.

13 Listen and declare this to the house of Jacob, says the Lord Yahweh the God of armies.

14 In the day that I will punish Israel for their transgressions, I will strike the altars of Bethel. The horns of the altar will be broken and will fall on the ground.

15 And I will smite the winter houses and the summer houses. And the ivory palaces will perish, and the great houses will be destroyed, says Yahweh.

Amos 4

1 Hear this word, you heifers of Bashan who are on the hill country of Samaria, who oppress the poor and crush the needy, and who say to your husbands: Bring, and let us drink.

2 The Lord Yahweh has sworn by his holiness: Behold the days are coming on you when you will be taken away with hooks, and your offspring with fishhooks.

3 And you will go out through the breaches, every one straight before her, and you will throw yourselves on the pile of dead bodies, says Yahweh.

4 Go to Bethel and sin. Go to Gilgal and sin more. Offer there your sacrifices every morning, and your tithes every three days. [Now the house built by Solomon to bear the name of Yahweh is not located in those places, but rather in Jerusalem in the kingdom of Judah. And as for the people who are not in the territory of the kingdom of Judah, but rather in the territory of the kingdom of Israel, some of them think that they have no choice and therefore they go to make their offerings in those places which they consider to be acceptable alternatives in the eyes of Yahweh. But Yahweh is not only offended by the fact that they go to those places, but also by their behavior when they go there since they multiply offerings for reasons that are not honorable in his eyes. For what is important in the eyes of Yahweh is why a person is doing what he is doing and not what that person is doing.]

5 You offer your peace offerings with leaven [as it is requested for the peace offerings of gratitude] and you proclaim it [to everyone in the hope that they will admire you for the love that you show toward me in this way]. And you make proclamations when you offer your freewill offerings. You act thus because what is important for you is the way others look at you, O children of Israel, says the Lord Yahweh.

6 Therefore I have given you cleanliness of teeth [that is say, very little food] into all your cities, and want of bread into all your dwellings. And nevertheless you have not returned to me, says Yahweh.

7 And I have also withheld the rain from you, when there were yet three months to the harvest. I caused rain to fall on one city, while causing another city to receive no rain. One piece of field received rain, and another piece of field withered away because of the lack of rain.

8 Therefore two or three cities went to another city in order to drink water, but they were not satisfied. And nevertheless you have not returned to me, says Yahweh.

9 And I have smitten you with mildew and blight. Your many gardens, and your vineyards, and your fig trees, and your olive trees, have been devoured by locusts. And nevertheless you have not returned to me, says Yahweh.

10 And I have sent the pestilence among you, as I had done in Egypt [to those who were oppressing your fathers]. I have killed your young men with the sword, and have taken away your horses. I have made the stench of your camp to rise up even into your nostrils. And nevertheless you have not returned to me, says Yahweh.

11 And I have overthrown some of you, like Sodom and Gomorrah which God destroyed. And you have become like a burning stick plucked from the fire. And nevertheless you have not returned to me, says Yahweh.

12 Therefore I will do something more extreme against you, O Israel. And since I will do something more extreme against you, therefore prepare yourselves for the meeting with your God, O Israel.

13 For lo, this is the one who forms the mountains and creates the wind, the one who tells to a man what are the true thoughts of another man, the one who turns the morning into darkness, the one who walks on the high places of the earth. His name is Yahweh the God of armies.

Amos 5

1 Listen to this word, this lamentation that I pronounce on you, O house of Israel.

2 The virgin Israel has fallen, and she will no more rise. She has been cast down on her land, and there is no one to raise her up.

3 For thus speaks the Lord Yahweh: The city that went out by a thousand will keep only one hundred. And the one that went forth by a hundred will only keep ten from the house of Israel.

4 For thus speaks Yahweh to the house of Israel: Seek me, and you will live.

5 Do not seek Bethel, do not go to Guilgal, do not go to Beersheba. For Gilgal will go into captivity, and Bethel will be annihilated.

6 Seek Yahweh, and you will live. Lest he break out like fire in the house of Joseph and devour it, and there be no one to quench it in Bethel.

7 You who turn justice into wormwood, and cast down fairness to the ground.

8 Seek the one who created the Pleiades and Orion. He turns the shadow of death into morning, and he obscures the day to make it the night. He calls the waters of the sea, and spreads them on the surface of the earth. Yahweh is his name.

9 He strengthens the destroyer against the mighty, and the ruin comes on the fortresses.

10 For you hate him who rebukes in the gate, and you abhor him who speaks uprightly.

11 You trample the poor, and you extort wheat from them. Therefore you have built houses of hewn stones, but you will not dwell in them. You have planted pleasant vineyards, but you will not drink of their wine.

12 For I know your many transgressions, and your great sins. You oppress the honest, and you take bribes, and you violate the right of the poor in the gate.

13 Therefore he who is prudent will keep silence in such a time. For it is an evil time.

14 Seek good and not evil, so that you may live. For then Yahweh the God of armies will be with you as you say.

15 Hate what is evil and love what is good, establish justice in the gate. And maybe Yahweh the God of armies will then have mercy on the remnant of Joseph.

16 Therefore thus says Yahweh the God of the armies, the Lord: There will be wailing in all streets, and they will say in the highways, 'Alas, alas'. And they will call the plowman to mourn, and those who are skilful in lamentations to wail.

17 And there will be lamentations in all vineyards. For I will pass through the midst of you, says Yahweh.

18 Woe to those who desire the day of Yahweh. What are you expecting from it. The day of Yahweh will be darkness and not light.

19 You will be like a man who flees from a lion and who meets a bear. Or a man who goes into his house and leans on his hand against the wall, and is bitten by a snake.

20 Will not the day of Yahweh be darkness and not light. Even very dark without any brightness.

21 I hate and despise your feasts, I take no delight in your solemn assemblies.

22 When you offer me your burnt offerings and your meal offerings, I take no pleasure from it. And concerning the fattened beasts that you offer for your peace offerings, I do not look at them.

23 Take away from me the noise of your songs. For I do not listen to the melody of your lute.

24 But let justice flow like waters, and righteousness like a stream that never becomes dry.

25 Have you given me sacrifices and offerings during the forty years of the wilderness, O house of Israel.

26 But you have borne Sakkuth your king, and Chiun your images, the star of your god, which you made for yourselves.

27 Therefore I will cause you to go into captivity beyond Damascus, says Yahweh whose name is the God of armies.

Amos 6

1 Woe to those who enjoy life in Zion, and those who feel so safe on the hill country of Samaria. They are the leaders of my people, and the house of Israel seeks counsel from them, and this people considers itself as the most privileged of the nations.

2 Go to Calneh and see. And then go from there to Hamath the great and see, and then go down to Gath of the Philistines and see. Is one of your two kingdoms more prosperous than one of those cities. Is their territory larger than your territory.

3 You think that the day of evil is far away, and you cause the seat of violence to come near. [That is to say, you take pleasure in despising fairness.]

4 You lie on ivory beds, and stretch yourselves on your couches. You eat tender young lambs from the flock, and young calves from the stall.

5 You play the lute in an eccentric way, and you think that you are as skilled as David regarding musical instruments.

6 You drink wine in fancy cups, and you search the finest cosmetic ointments for your bodies, and you do not feel sorrow concerning the affliction of Joseph.

7 Therefore you will be taken captive with the first captives. The happiness of those who indulge in futile pleasures will not last.

8 The Lord Yahweh has sworn by himself, Yahweh the God of armies has said: I abhor the pride of Jacob, and I hate the eccentricity of his palaces. Therefore I will deliver up the city and all that is in it.

9 And if ten men remain in a house at that time, then they will die.

10 And the uncle of a dead man will come to bring the corpse out of the house and burn it, and he will say the one who will be hiding at the back of the house, 'Is there still anyone with you'. And the man will answer, 'No one'. And the other will say, 'Hold your peace, for it is not the time to mention the name of Yahweh'.

11 For behold, Yahweh has commanded. He will bring down the great house in ruins, and the small house in heaps.

12 Do horses run on a rock. Do one plow there with oxen. For you have turned the pleasure of righteousness into bitterness, and the fruit of righteousness into wormwood.

13 You rejoice in futilities, and you say: Have we not gotten power by our own strength.

14 Therefore behold, I will raise up against you a nation, O house of Israel, says Yahweh the God of armies. And they will oppress you from the entrance of Hamath to the brook of the wilderness.

Amos 7

1 The Lord Yahweh showed me this vision. And behold, he was forming a swarm of locusts as the late crop was starting to come up. And lo, it was the late crop after the hay had been cut to pay the king’s tribute.

2 And when they had completely devoured the grass of the land, then I said: O Lord Yahweh, I beseech you to forgive. How will Jacob survive. For he is so weak.

3 And Yahweh repented concerning of this. It will not happen, says Yahweh.

4 And the Lord Yahweh showed me this vision. And behold, the Lord Yahweh proclaimed a punishment by fire. And the fire devoured the ocean and was beginning to eat up the land.

5 Then I said: O Lord Yahweh, I beseech you to cease. How will Jacob survive. For he is so weak.

6 And Yahweh repented concerning this. This also will not happen, says the Lord Yahweh.

7 And he showed me this vision. And behold, the Lord stood on a wall made by a plumbline, with a plumbline in his hand.

8 And Yahweh said to me, 'Amos, what do you see'. And I answered, 'A plumbline'. Then the Lord said: Behold I will set a plumbline in the midst of my people Israel. I will not spare them anymore.

9 And the high places of Isaac [the son of Abraham and the father of Jacob] will be desolate, the sanctuaries of Israel will be destroyed. And I will rise against the house of Jeroboam with the sword. [Now Yahweh is speaking of the house of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, namely his legacy of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, because it is because of him that the people of the kingdom of Israel have turned away from the commandments given by Moses for several generations.]

10 Then Amaziah the priest of Bethel sent to Jeroboam [the son of Joash] king of Israel by saying: Amos has conspired against you in the midst of the house of Israel. The land is not able to bear all his words.

11 For Amos has spoken thus: Jeroboam will die by the sword, and Israel will be carried away captive out of their land.

12 And Amaziah said to Amos: O you the seer, go and flee to the land of Judah, and eat your bread there, and prophesy there.

13 Do not prophesy any more at Bethel, because it is a royal sanctuary and a royal house.

14 Then Amos answered and said to Amaziah: I am not like the other prophets [to whom Yahweh speaks at any time and who can make it their profession], and I am not a son of a prophet [that is to say, a disciple who studies to become a prophet - under the guidance of a leader in those days]. But I am a shepherd, and a gatherer of wild figs.

15 And Yahweh took me from following the flock, and Yahweh said to me: Go and prophesy to my people Israel.

16 Now therefore hear the word of Yahweh, you who say: Do not prophesy against Israel, do not speak against the house of Isaac [the son of Abraham and the father of Jacob, Jacob being Israel].

17 Therefore thus says Yahweh: Your wife will be a whore in the city, and your sons and your daughters will fall by the sword, and your land will be divided by line [by others who will possess it]. And you will die in a foreign land, and Israel will surely be carried captive out of his land.

Amos 8

1 The Lord Yahweh showed me this vision. And behold, there was a basket of summer fruit.

2 And he said, 'Amos, what do you see'. And I replied, 'A basket of fruit'. Then Yahweh said to me: The end has come for my people Israel. I will no longer ignore their sins.

3 And the songs of their temple will be wailings in that day, says the Lord Yahweh. And they will cast a multitude of corpses everywhere with silence.

4 Hear this, O you who devour the poor and who cause the needy of the land to perish.

5 You say: When will the new moon be over, so that we may sell grain. When will the sabbath end, so that we may open the barns. We will make the ephah smaller, we will make its price higher, and we will alter the scales to deceive.

6 Then we will buy the poor for silver, and the needy for a pair of shoes. And we will sell the waste of wheat.

7 Yahweh has sworn, he who is the glory of Jacob: Surely I will never forget any of their deeds.

8 Will not the land tremble for this. Will not every of its inhabitants mourn for this. The land will rise up wholly like a river, it will rise and fall like the river of Egypt.

9 In that day, says the Lord Yahweh, I will cause the sun to go down at noon and I will darken the land in broad daylight.

10 And I will turn your feasts into mourning, and all your songs into lamentation. And I will bring sackcloth on every waist, baldness on every head. I will make the land mourn as for an only son, and its end will be like a bitter day.

11 And behold, the days are coming, says the Lord Yahweh, when I will send a famine in the land. Not a famine of bread or a thirst for water, but a hunger and a thirst to hear the words of Yahweh.

12 And they will wander from sea to sea, and from the north to the east, and will run backward and forward to seek the word of Yahweh, and will not find it.

13 The beautiful virgins and young men will faint with thirst in that day.

14 They swear by the sin of Samaria, and say, 'As your god is alive, O Dan' or 'As the manner of Beersheba is alive'. But they will fall, and will never rise up again [namely those false gods].

Amos 9

1 I saw the Lord standing on the altar, and he said: Smite the tops of the columns and shake them to the ground. Cause them to fall in pieces on the heads of everyone. And I will kill the survivors with the sword. Not one of them will be able to escape by fleeing, not one of them will escape.

2 Though they dig to the deep of the earth, my hand will pluck them out. Though they climb up to heaven, I will bring them down.

3 Though they hide themselves in the top of Carmel, I will search them and bring them out from there. Though they hide from my sight in the depths of the sea, I will command the snake to bite them there.

4 Though they go into captivity before their enemies, I will command the sword and it will kill them there. I will set my eyes on them for evil and not for good.

5 For the Lord Yahweh the God of armies will touch the land, and the land will melt, and all the people who dwell there will mourn. The land will rise up wholly like a river and will fall, like the river of Egypt.

6 He has built his dwelling place in the heavens, and has put his vault on the earth on the earth. He calls for the waters of the sea, and pours them out as rain on the face of the earth. Yahweh is his name.

7 Are you not like the Ethiopians to me, O children of Israel, says Yahweh. Have I not brought Israel out of the land of Egypt, and the Philistines out of Caphtor, and the Syrians out of Kir.

8 Behold the eyes of the Lord Yahweh are on the sinful kingdom, and I will destroy it from the face of the earth. Nevertheless I will not utterly destroy the house of Jacob, says Yahweh.

9 For lo, I will give command and I will scatter the people of Israel among all nations. But it will be like someone sifting flour. The flour is shaken through a sieve, and the good flour falls through while the bad lumps are caught.

10 For all the sinners of my people will die by the sword, those who say: Evil will neither meet us nor come near us.

11 In that day I will raise up the tabernacle of David that has fallen down, and close its breaches. And I will raise up its ruins, and I will build it as it as in the days of old.

12 So that they may possess [through their legacy] the remnant of Edom and of all the nations, those on whom my name is called, says Yahweh who does these things.

13 Behold the days come, says Yahweh, when workers will still be harvesting while it is time to plow the fields again, and they will still be trampling the grapes while it is time for a new crop. And the mountains will drop sweet wine, and all the hills will melt.

14 I will bring back the captivity of my people Israel, and they will rebuild the devastated cities and inhabit them, and they will plant vineyards and drink their wine, and they will make gardens and eat their fruit.

15 I will plant them on their land, and they will no more be plucked up out of their land that I have given them, says Yahweh your God.

Jonah

Jonah 1

1 The word of Yahweh came to Jonah the son of Amittai in the following words. [Jonah lived in the days of Jeroboam the son of Joash king of Israel.]

2 Arise and go to Nineveh, that great city, and cry out against it. For their wickedness has come up before me.

3 But Jonah arose to flee to Tarshish, away from the presence of Yahweh. So he went down to Joppa, and found a ship going to Tarshish. And he paid the fare, and went down into it to go with the passengers to Tarshish, away from the presence of Yahweh.

4 But Yahweh sent a strong wind on the sea, and a great tempest arose on the sea, and the ship was about to be broken.

5 Then the mariners were afraid, and every man cried to his god. And they threw into the sea the things that were on the ship, to make it lighter. But Jonas had gone down to the bottom of the ship, and had laid down, and had quickly fallen asleep.

6 Therefore the shipmaster came to him and said: Why are you sleeping. Get up and call on your God. Perhaps he will remember us and we will not perish.

7 And they said to each other: Come, and let us cast lots to know the one because of whom this disaster has come on us. So they cast lots, and the lot fell on Jonah.

8 Then they said to Jonah: Tell us the reason why this disaster has befallen us. What is your occupation. Where do you come from. What is your country. And of what people are you.

9 And Jonah answered them: I am a Hebrew, and I fear Yahweh the God of heaven who has made the sea and the dry land.

10 Then the men were greatly afraid, and they said to Jonah, 'Why have you done this thing'. For the men knew that Jonah was fleeing from the presence of Yahweh, because Jonah had told them so.

11 Then they said to Jonah: 'What will we do to you, so that the sea may calm down for us'. For the sea was becoming more and more tempestuous.

12 And Jonah answered them: Take me and throw me into the sea, and the sea will become calm for you. For I know that this great tempest has come on you because of me.

13 But the men did not want to do it. And they tried to row the ship back in order to reach land, but they could not. For the sea was becoming more and more tempestuous against them.

14 Therefore they cried out to Yahweh and said: We beseech you, O Yahweh, we beseech you, do not make us perish for the life of this man. Do not bring innocent blood on us. For you have done as it pleased you, O Yahweh.

15 Then they took Jonah and threw him into the sea, and the sea ceased to be agitated.

16 Then the men feared Yahweh exceedingly, and they offered a sacrifice to Yahweh, and made vows.

17 Now Yahweh had prepared a great fish to swallow up Jonah, and Jonah was in the belly of the fish for three days and three nights.

Jonah 2

1 And Jonah prayed to Yahweh his God with the following words while he was in the belly of the fish. [Jonah said these words when he realized that he was still alive.]

2 I called on Yahweh in my distress, and he answered me. I cried out of the womb of hell, and you heard my voice.

3 For you have cast me into the depth, into the heart of the seas, and the floods have surrounded me. All your waves and your billows have passed over me.

4 Then I have said: I am driven out of your sight [that is to say, I will die and thus leave the world of the living]. Nevertheless I will look again at your holy temple [that is to say, I will not forget you and I will search for your dwelling place in the heaven].

5 The waters surrounded me closely and reached my soul. The depths were closing in on me, and the seaweeds were wrapped around my head.

6 I went down to the bottoms of the mountains, and the bars of the earth were enclosing me forever. But you have brought me up alive from the pit, O Yahweh my God.

7 I remembered Yahweh when my soul was fainting within me, and my prayer came to you into your holy temple [in the heaven].

8 Those who cling to worthless things are forsaking their own mercy.

9 As for me, the sacrifices that I will offer you are the thanksgiving of my voice, and I will fulfill my vows when I make them. Salvation comes from Yahweh.

10 And Yahweh spoke to the fish, and it vomited Jonah on the dry land.

Jonah 3

1 And the word of Yahweh came to Jonah the second time in the following words. [The second time concerning the events described in this book.]

2 Arise and go to Nineveh, that great city, and preach there the message that I have commanded you.

3 So Jonah arose and went to Nineveh, according to the word of Yahweh. Now Nineveh was a very large city, and a person had to walk for three days just to cross it.

4 And Jonah began to preach when he entered the city to fulfill the first day of his mission, and he was speaking aloud and saying the following thing: Forty days more, and Nineveh will be destroyed.

5 And the people of Nineveh believed God, and proclaimed a fasting. And they put on sackcloth, from the greatest of them to the least of them.

6 For the words of Jonah reached the king of Nineveh, and the king arose from his throne, and took off his robe, and covered himself with sackcloth, and sat in ashes.

7 And he caused this proclamation to be published throughout Nineveh, by the counsel of the king and his nobles: Let neither man nor beast, neither ox nor sheep, taste anything. Let them not eat or drink water.

8 But let them put on sackcloth, both man and beast, and let them cry mightily to God. Yes, let them turn away every one from his evil way and from the violence of his hands.

9 Who can tell if God will not turn and repent, and turn away from his fierce anger, so as not to destroy us.

10 And God saw that they were acting thus, and were turning away from their evil way. And God repented of the evil he had intended to do to them, and he did it not.

Jonah 4

1 And the thing displeased Jonah exceedingly, and he was angry.

2 And Jonah prayed to Yahweh and said: O Yahweh, is this not what I said to myself when I was still in my own country. This is why I had hastened to flee to Tarshish. For I knew that you are a gracious and merciful God, slow to anger and of great kindness, and you repent from evil [when the culprit changes his behavior].

3 Now therefore, O Yahweh, I beseech you to take my life from me. For it is better for me to die than to live. [Now Jonah is disgusted with life because the people of Nineveh will have no proof that he was telling the truth if absolutely no evil happens to anyone. It must be known that Jonah is in a very complicated situation, because Yahweh had granted Moses the possibility of performing three different miracles in the presence of the children of Israel in order to convince them, after Moses had said to Yahweh, 'Behold they will not believe me and they will not listen to my voice. For they will say, Yahweh has not appeared to you'.]

4 And Yahweh said to Jonah: Are you right to be angry concerning this thing.

5 Then Jonah went out of the city, and sat on the east side of the city. He made for himself a booth there, and sat under it in order to wait and to see what will happen to the city.

6 And Yahweh God prepared a gourd plant, and caused it to come up over Jonah, in order to give shade over his head and to deliver him from his grief. And Jonah was very glad concerning the gourd plant.

7 But God prepared a worm when the morning rose the next day, and it did bite the gourd plant which then withered.

8 And God caused a hot east wind to blow when the sun was high in the sky. And the sun became so hot on the head of Jonah that he was about to faint. Then Jonah desired the death of his own body and said: it is better for me to die than to live.

9 And God said to Jonah, 'Are you right to be angry concerning the gourd plant'. And Jonah replied: I am right to be angry even to the death. [Now Jonah is not perfect like any ordinary human being, since he has not chosen to ask God to explain to him what he does not understand.]

10 Then Yahweh said: You have pity on the gourd that you neither planted nor made grow. It came up in a night, and perished in a night.

11 And you think that I should not have pity on Nineveh, that great city in which there are more than one hundred and twenty thousand people who cannot discern between their right hands and their left hands, and in which there are also many cattle.

Micah

Micah 1

1 The word of Yahweh that came to Micah the Morashtite in the days of Jotham, and of Ahaz, and of Hezekiah, kings of Judah, and which are prophecies concerning Samaria and Jerusalem.

2 Hear, you all peoples. Pay attention, O earth, and all that is in you. Let the Lord Yahweh be witness against you, the Lord himself from his holy temple.

3 For behold, the Lord will come forth out of his place. He will come down and tread on the high places of the earth.

4 And the mountains will melt under him, and the valleys will split, like wax before the fire, like water flowing on a slope.

5 And all this will happen because of the transgression of Jacob, and because of the sins of the house of Israel. What is the transgression of Jacob if not Samaria. What are the high places of Judah if not Jerusalem.

6 Therefore I will make Samaria like a heap of stones of the field, a place to plant vineyards. I will pour down its stones into the valley, and I will uncover its foundations.

7 And all its graven images will be broken to pieces, and all its gifts will be burned with fire, and I will devastate all its idols. For she got it as the hire of a whore, and they will return to the hire of a whore.

8 Therefore I will lament and wail [says Micah]. I will go barefoot and naked, and I will cry like a jackal, and I will wail like an ostrich.

9 For the wounds of Samaria are incurable, and it will come to Judah and reach the gate of my people, even to Jerusalem.

10 Do not declare it in Gath, do not weep in Acco. Roll yourself in the dust at Beth Ophrah.

11 You who dwell at Shaphir, go on your way naked and ashamed. The inhabitant of Zaanan will not come forth in the mourning of Bethezel. The enemy will receive from you for his standing.

12 For the inhabitants of Maroth wait anxiously for good, but evil has come down from Yahweh to the gate of Jerusalem.

13 Harness the horses to your chariot, O inhabitant of Lachish. You have been the first cause of sin to the daughter of Zion, for the transgressions of Israel are traceable to you.

14 Therefore you will give presents to Moresheth-gath. The houses of Achzib will be a deceitful thing to the kings of Israel.

15 I will bring you a new master, O inhabitant of Mareshah. The glory of Israel will depart to Adullam.

16 Shave yourself, cut off your hair for the sake of your beloved children. Enlarge your baldness like an eagle, for they are going into captivity from you. [Concerning the kingdom of Israel, its destruction is inevitable since the transgression of the first king who was Jeroboam the son of Nebat. And concerning the kingdom of Judah, its destruction is announced before the days of king Manasseh the son of Hezekiah but this is also inevitable because the introduction of a house of God which is established in Jerusalem in those days is a response given to a transgression. Yahweh who is the holy spirit of Elohim said that he himself is the only Elohim, and thus he had announced to Abraham that his descendants will be slaves of a foreign people before being freed to take possession of the promised land.]

Micah 4

1 But it will happen in the last days that the mountain of the house of Yahweh will be established on the top of the mountains, and will be exalted above the hills, and peoples will flow to it.

2 And many nations will go and say: Come, and let us go up to the mountain of Yahweh, to the house of the God of Jacob. And he will teach us his ways, and we will walk in his paths. For the law will go forth out of Zion, the word of Yahweh will go forth from Jerusalem [and will spread throughout the whole world].

3 He will judge between many peoples, and he will decide concerning strong nations afar off. They will turn their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning hooks. A nation will no longer lift up the sword against another nation, and they will no longer learn to do war.

4 But they will sit every man under his vine and under his fig tree, and no one will make them afraid. For the mouth of Yahweh the God of armies has spoken it.

5 For all the peoples were walking every one in the name of his god, but in those days we will walk in the name of Yahweh our God forever and ever.

6 In that day, says Yahweh, I will gather the lame, and I will gather those who were driven away and those whom I had afflicted.

7 And I will make of the lame a remnant, and of those who were driven out a mighty nation. And Yahweh will reign over them in mount Zion from henceforth and forever.

8 And you, O tower of the flock, the strong hold of the daughter of Zion, it will come to you. The first dominion will come, the kingdom of the daughter of Jerusalem.

9 And now why do you cry out so loudly. Is there no king in you. Have you lost your wise counselors. For it appears that you have been seized by pangs like a woman giving birth.

10 Be in pain and groan like a woman giving birth, O daughter of Zion. For now you will leave the city, and you will dwell in the field, and you will even go to Babylon. But you will be rescued there, for Yahweh will redeem you there from the hand of your enemies.

11 Now many nations have gathered against you by saying, Let it be defiled, and let our eyes be satisfied in Zion.

12 But they do not know the thoughts of Yahweh, they do not understand his counsel. For he has gathered them like the sheaves to the threshing floor.

13 Arise and thresh, O daughter of Zion. For I will make your horn like iron, and I will make your hoofs like brass, and you will crush many peoples. And I will dedicate their riches to Yahweh, and their wealth to the Lord of the whole earth.

Micah 5

1 Now gather your troops, O daughter of troops. They are besieging us, they are striking the judge of Israel on the cheek with a rod.

2 And you, Bethlehem Ephrathah which is little among the thousands of Judah, out of you will come forth to me the one who will be the ruler in Israel, whose goings forth have been from of old, from everlasting.

3 Therefore he will give them up until the time that she who is to bear gives birth, and the remnant of his brothers will return to the children of Israel.

4 And he will stand, and will feed in the strength of Yahweh, in the majesty of the name of Yahweh his God. And they will dwell, for now he will be exalted to the ends of the earth.

7 And the remnant of Jacob will be among many peoples like dew from Yahweh, like showers on the grass. They do not wait for man, they do not hope in the children of men.

8 And the remnant of Jacob will be among the nations, among many peoples, like a lion among the beasts of the forest and like a young lion among the flocks of sheep. When he passes by, he tramples and tears in pieces, and no one can rescue.

9 Your hand will be lifted up against your adversaries, and all your enemies will be cut off [O Yahweh].

10 In that day, says Yahweh, I will cut off your horses from among you and destroy your chariots.

11 I will cut off the cities of your land, and will overthrow all your strongholds.

12 And I will cut off witchcrafts from your hand, and you will have no more soothsayers.

13 I will cut off your graven images and your pillars from among you, and you will no longer worship the work of your hands.

14 And I will cut off your groves from among you. So I will destroy your cities.

15 And I will execute vengeance in anger and fury on the nations that have not listened.

Micah 6

1 Hear now what Yahweh says: Arise and plead before the mountains, and let the hills hear your voice.

2 Hear the controversy of Yahweh, O mountains, and you the strong foundations of the earth. For Yahweh has a controversy with his people, and he will contend with Israel.

3 O my people, what have I done to you. How have I wearied you. Answer me.

4 For I brought you up from the land of Egypt, and redeemed you from the house of bondage. And I sent before you Moses, and Aaron, and Miriam.

5 O my people, remember now what Balak king of Moab had planned, and what Balaam the son of Beor answered him. Remember also all the events that took place from the time when the congregation was camping at Shittim to the time when your fathers reached Gilgal [just after crossing the Jordan under the leadership of Joshua], and understand the righteousness of Yahweh. [Now it was at Shittim that the Midianite girls came to seduce the males among the children of Israel, in the hope that Yahweh would destroy a part of his people for this abandonment. And shortly afterward Moses avenged the children of Israel for this intention of the Midianites. And shortly afterward two tribes and half a tribe of the twelve tribes of Israel wished not to go and possess a part of the promise land on the other side of the Jordan with the other children of Israel, because they saw that their cattle which they had acquired during the war could flourish in the place where they were, and it was granted to them.]

6 With what will I come before Yahweh, to bow myself before the Most High God. Will I come before him with burnt offerings made of yearling calves.

7 Will Yahweh be pleased with thousands of rams, or with ten thousand rivers of olive oil. Will I give my firstborn for my transgression, the fruit of my body for the sin of my soul.

8 He has shown you what is good, O man. And what does Yahweh require of you except to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with your God.

9 The voice of Yahweh cries to the city, and the wise man will see your name. Hear the rod, and him who has appointed it.

10 Are there still treasures of wickedness in the house of the wicked, and the small ephah that is a curse.

11 Can a merchant be guiltless when he alters the scales or the weights that he owns.

12 For the rich people of the land are full of cruelty, and its inhabitants speak falsely, and their tongue is deceitful in their mouth.

13 Therefore I will smite you grievously. I will destroy you because of your sins.

14 You will eat and not be satisfied, and your humiliation will be in the midst of you. You will protect your own, but I will deliver those whom you have protected to the sword.

15 You will sow, but you will not reap. You will tread the olives, but you will not get any oil. You will crush your grapes, but you will not get enough juice to have wine to drink.

16 For you have kept the statutes of Omri and all the works of the house of Ahab, and you walk in their counsels. Therefore I will make you a desolation, and I will make your inhabitants a subject of hissing, and you will bear the reproach of my people [that is to say, you who are the culprits among my people].

Micah 7

1 Woe is me, for I am like when they have gathered the summer fruits, like the gleaning of grapes after the vintage. There are no clusters to eat, nor the first fruits that my soul desires.

2 The good man has perished from the earth, and there is no one righteous among men. They all lie in wait for blood, each hunts his brother with a net.

3 Their hands are skillful in doing evil. The leaders demands bribes, and the judges judge for a reward, and the one who is great utters the evil desire of his soul. So they wrap it up.

4 The best among them is like a brier, the most righteous is worse than a thornbush. The day of your watchmen has come, for your punishment. Now they will be confused.

5 Do not trust a neighbor, do not confide in a friend. Guard the doors of your mouth before her who lies in your bosom.

6 For the son dishonors the father, and the daughter rises up against her mother, and the daughter in law against her mother in law. The enemies of a person are those of his own house.

7 Therefore I will look to Yahweh, I will wait for the God of my salvation. My God will hear me.

8 Do not rejoice against me, O my enemy. For although I fall, I will rise up again. Although I sit in darkness, Yahweh will be a light to me.

9 I will bear the indignation of Yahweh because I have sinned against him, until he pleads my cause and executes judgment for me. He will bring me forth to the light, and I will see his righteousness.

10 Then enemy will see it and will be covered with shame, the one who was saying to me, 'Where is Yahweh your God. Let us rejoice in his sight while you are trampled underfoot like the mire of the streets'.

11 In the day when your walls will be rebuilt, in that day your borders will be extended.

12 In that day they will come to you from Assyria and from the cities of Egypt. They will come from Egypt and from the other side of the river Euphrates, and from sea to sea, and from mountain to mountain.

13 But before that the land will be desolate because of its inhabitants, because of the fruit of their doings.

14 And afterward [O Yahweh], you will shepherd your people with your rod, the flock of your heritage who dwell solitarily in the forest in the midst of Carmel. Let them feed in Bashan and Gilead, as in the days of old.

15 As in the day when they came out of the land of Egypt, I will show them marvellous things.

16 The nations will see it, and will be ashamed because of the power of my people. They will lay their hands on their mouths, and their ears will be deafened.

17 They will lick the dust like a serpent, like the creeping things of the earth. They will be terrified out of their strongholds, and they will come with fear to Yahweh our God, and will fear because of you.

18 Who is a God like you, who forgives iniquity in order to forget the transgression of the remnant of his heritage. He does not retain his anger forever, because he delights in mercy.

19 He will again have compassion on us. He will tread our iniquities under his feet, and cast all their sins into the depths of the sea.

20 You will show faithfulness to Jacob, kindness to Abraham, as you had sworn to our fathers in the days of old.

Habakkuk

Habakkuk 1

1 This is the oracle revealed to Habakkuk the prophet.

2 How long, O Yahweh. I have cried out, but you have not wanted to hear. I have cried out to you concerning violence, but you do not want to help.

3 Why do you show me iniquity, and cause me to contemplate injustice. For oppression and violence are before me. There are discord, and strife arises.

4 Therefore the law is ignored, and justice has no power [since you do not want to intervene]. For the wicked triumphs over the righteous, and therefore wicked judgments are executed. [Says Habakkuk.]

5 Look among the nations and observe, and marvel wonderfully. For I will do in your days a work that you will not believe, although it is told you. [Says Yahweh.]

6 For lo, I will raise up the Chaldeans, a furious and impetuous people, who will march through vast lands to take possession of dwelling places that are not theirs.

7 They are terrible and formidable. Their judgment and their dignity proceed from themselves.

8 And their horses are swifter than leopards, more fierce than the wolves in the evening, and their horsemen advance with pride. Their horsemen come from afar, and they fly like an eagle that hasten to devour.

9 They come for plunder. Their eyes are greedy, and they gather captives like the sand.

10 This people mocks the kings, and the princes are an object of derision to him. He derides every stronghold, for he will heap dust and conquer it.

11 Therefore his ardor increases, and he continues his march while acting wickedly. It is his own strength that he considers to be his God.

12 Are you not from everlasting, O Yahweh my God, my holy one. We will not die [that is to say, we the people of Yahweh will not be completely eradicated]. O Yahweh, you have established this people [of the Chaldeans] to execute your judgments. O mighty God, you have established them to execute your punishments. [Says Habakkuk.]

13 Your eyes are too pure to to see evil [without deciding on a response], you cannot approve wickedness. Why should you look on the transgressors and remain silent, when the wicked devours the one who is more righteous than he.

14 [And concerning this people whom you are going to raise up], should they act towards men like a person acts toward the fishes of the sea or toward creeping things that have no master. [Now the prophet Habakkuk is questioning Yahweh about something that he does not understand.]

15 He takes up all of them with the hook, or he catches them in his net and gathers them into his drag. Therefore he rejoices and is glad.

16 Therefore he sacrifices to his net, and he burns incense to honor his drag, because it is thanks to these things that his portion is fat and his food is plentiful.

17 Will he then continually cast his net, and slaughter the nations without pity. [How can you allow that people to behave this way.]

Habakkuk 2

1 I was at my watch, and I stood on the tower. I watched to see what Yahweh would say to me, what he would answer me concerning my desire to understand.

2 And Yahweh answered me and said: Write the prophecy. Engrave it clearly on tablets so that it may be read easily.

3 For it is a prophecy whose time has already been set. It is near its end and will not lie. Wait for it, although it may delay. For it will surely be fulfilled, it will not last forever. [Write the following sentence.]

4 Behold his soul has swelled up, it is not straight in him, but the righteous will live by his faith.

5 As wine can trick a person, so the pride of a strong man can fool him. He widens his mouth like hell, he is as insatiable as death. He gathers all nations to himself, he heaps all peoples to himself.

6 Will he not become a subject of mockery, a parable and a taunting proverb to all. They will say: Woe to him who hoards what is not his. How long can he continue like this. Woe to him who increases his debts.

7 Will your creditors not suddenly rise up to bite you. Will there not arise one who will humble you and make you his prey.

8 Because you have plundered many nations, all the remnant of the peoples will plunder you. You have killed many people and destroyed lands and cities, and all the inhabitants who were there.

9 Woe to him who gathers wicked gain for his house, to set his nest on high and thus hide himself from the hand of evil. [That is to say, the one who believes himself to be safe from want through the possession of wealth which he obtains in a morally despicable way.]

10 You have thus brought shame on your house, by destroying many peoples. You have sinned against you soul.

11 For the stone cries out from the wall, and the beam out of the timber will answer it.

12 Woe to him who builds a town with blood, who establishes a city by iniquity.

13 Behold when Yahweh the God of armies has purposed it, the peoples labor for the fire and the nations weary themselves for vanity.

14 For the earth will be filled with the knowledge of the glory of Yahweh, like the bottom of the sea is entirely covered with water.

15 Woe to him who makes his neighbor drink [in order to be able to take advantage of him when he is drunk], you who pour out your wineskin and make him drunk in order to access his private parts.

16 You will be filled with shame rather than glory. You too, drink and strip yourself naked. For the cup from the right hand of Yahweh will be turned toward you, and shame will become your glory.

17 For the violence that you did in Lebanon will return to you, and the retribution for all the beasts that you have taken away from there. You will be afraid because of the bloodshed and the violence done to the land, to the city and to all its inhabitants.

18 What is the advantage given by a graven image, what is the justification of one who desires to possess it. What is the advantage given by a molten image which teaches falsity, so that one can desire to possess it and to trust in it. Are they not dumb idols.

19 Woe to him who says to the wood, 'Awake', or who says to the dumb stone, 'Arise'. Will those things teach you. Behold it is covered with gold and silver, but there is no breath in it to move it.

20 Yahweh is in his holy temple, let all the earth keep silence before him.

Habakkuk 3

Haggai

Haggai 1

1 In the second year of king Darius, on the first day of the sixth month, the word of Yahweh came in the following words by Haggai the prophet, to Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel and governor of Judah, and to the high priest Joshua the son of Jehozadak.

2 Thus speaks Yahweh the God of armies: This people says, 'The time has not come, the time to rebuild the house of Yahweh'.

3 Then the word of Yahweh came to them through Haggai the prophet in the following words.

4 Is it time for you to dwell in your paneled houses, while this house is destroyed.

5 Now therefore, thus says Yahweh the God of armies: Consider your ways.

6 You sow much, but you reap little. You eat, but you do not have enough. You drink, but you are not satisfied. You are clothed, but you are not warm. And the hired servant put his wages into a bag that has holes.

7 Thus says Yahweh the God of armies: Consider your ways.

8 Go up to the mountain, and bring wood, and build the house. And I will take pleasure in it, and I will be glorified, says Yahweh.

9 You expected much, and lo, you got little. And when you brought it home, I blew on it. What motivated me to act thus, says Yahweh the God of armies. It is because of my house, for it is destroyed while you run every man to his own house.

10 Therefore the heavens have withheld their dew from you, and the earth has withheld its produce.

11 And I called for a drought on the land, and on the mountains, and on the grain, and on the new wine, and on the oil, and on whatever the earth yields, and on men and on cattle, and on all the labor of the hands.

12 Then Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, and the high priest Joshua the son of Jehozadak, and all the remnant of the people, they heard the voice of Yahweh their God through the words of Haggai the prophet, as Yahweh their God had sent him. And the people were afraid of Yahweh.

13 Then Haggai the messenger of Yahweh for the message of Yahweh to the people spoke and said: I am with you, says Yahweh.

14 And Yahweh stirred up the spirit of Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel and governor of Judah, and the spirit of the high priest Joshua the son of Jehozadak, and the spirit of all the remnant of the people, and they came and worked in the house of their God who is Yahweh the God of armies.

15 So the began this work on the twenty fourth day of the sixth month, in the second year of king Darius.

Haggai 2

1 On the twenty first day of the seventh month [in the seventh year of king Darius], the word of Yahweh came through Haggai the prophet in the following words.

2 Speak now to Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel and governor of Judah, and to the high priest Joshua the son of Jehozadak, and to the remnant of the people, and say to them the following thing.

3 Who is left among you who had seen this house in its former glory. And how do you see it now. Does it not seem like nothing to you, in the appearance that it has now.

4 Now be strong, O Zerubbabel, says Yahweh. And be strong, O the high priest Joshua the son of Jehozadak. And be strong, you all the people of the land, says Yahweh, and do the work. For I am with you, says Yahweh the God of armies.

5 I remain faithful to the covenant that I made with you when you came out of Egypt, and my spirit is among you. Do not be afraid.

6 For thus says Yahweh the God of armies: Yet a little while, and I will shake the heavens and the earth, and the sea, and the dry land.

7 And I will shake all nations, and the treasures of all nations will come, and I will fill this house with glory, says Yahweh the God of armies.

8 The silver is mine, and the gold is mine, says Yahweh the God of armies.

9 The glory of this last house will be greater than that of the first, says Yahweh the God of armies, and in this place I will give peace, says Yahweh the God of armies.

10 On the twenty fourth day of the ninth month, in the seventh year of Darius, the word of Yahweh came through Haggai the prophet in the following words.

11 Thus says Yahweh the God of armies: Ask now the priests the following question concerning the law.

12 If someone is carrying consecrated meat in the skirt of his garment, and if this skirt touches any bread, or meat, or wine, or oil, or any other food, then will it be sanctified. And the priests answered and said, 'No'.

13 Then Haggai said, 'If someone who is defiled by a dead body touches any of those things, then will it be unclean'. And the priests answered and said, 'It will be unclean'.

14 Then Haggai spoke again and said: So is this people, and so is this nation before me, says Yahweh. And so are all the works of their hands, and the things that they offer here are unclean.

15 And now, consider carefully what has happened from the time when a stone had not yet been laid on another stone in the temple of Yahweh until this day.

16 Through all that time, there were only ten measures of grain when they hoped to get twenty measures of grain from a heap. And there were only twenty vessels when they hoped to get fifty vessels from the winepress.

17 And I have smitten all the work of your hands with blasting, and with mildew, and with hail.

18 Consider carefully what has happened until this day, until the twenty fourth day of the ninth month, since the day that the foundation of the temple of Yahweh was laid. Consider it carefully.

19 Are there still seeds in the barns. Even the vine, and the fig tree, and the pomegranate tree, and the olive tree, have not yielded their produce. And now, from this day forward I will bless you.

20 And the word of Yahweh came again to Haggai on the twenty fourth day of the month in the following words.

21 Speak to Zerubbabel the governor of Judah and say: I will shake the heavens and the earth.

22 And I will overthrow the throne of kingdoms, and I will destroy the strength of the kingdoms of the nations. I will overthrow the chariots and those who ride in them, and the horses and their riders will fall, every one by the sword of his brother.

23 In that day, says Yahweh the God of armies, I will take you, O my servant Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, says Yahweh, and I will make you as a signet. For I have chosen you, says Yahweh the God of armies.

Zechariah

Zechariah 1

1 In the eighth month of the second year of Darius, the word of Yahweh came to the prophet Zechariah the son of Berechiah the son of Iddo in the following words.

2 Yahweh has been very displeased with your fathers.

3 Therefore say to them, Thus says Yahweh the God of armies: Return to me, says Yahweh the God of armies, and I will return to you, says Yahweh the God of armies.

4 Do not be like your fathers, to whom the former prophets had cried out by saying, 'Thus says Yahweh the God of armies: Turn away from your evil ways and from your evil deeds'. For they did not want to obey or to pay attention to me, says Yahweh.

5 And now where are your fathers. And do the prophets live forever [in the flesh].

6 But concerning my words and my statutes which I commanded my servants the prophets, have they not reached your fathers [after I had done all the destruction that I did]. And they have turned and have said: Yahweh the God of armies has done to us as he had purposed to do, according to our ways and according to our doings.

7 On the twenty fourth day of the eleventh month, which is the month Shebat, in the second year of Darius, the word of Yahweh came to the prophet Zechariah the son of Berechiah the son of Iddo in the following words.

8 I saw in [a vision] in the night, and behold, a man was riding on a red horse, and he stood among the myrtle trees that were in the bottom. And behind him there were horses, speckled and white.

9 Then I said, 'O my lord, what are these horses for'. And the angel who spoke with me said to me: I will show you what these horses are for.

10 And the man who stood among the myrtle trees spoke and said: These are the ones whom Yahweh has sent to walk to and fro through the earth.

11 And they spoke to the angel of Yahweh who was standing among the myrtle trees and said: We have walked to and fro through the earth, and behold, all the earth is quiet and at peace.

12 Then the angel of Yahweh spoke and said: O Yahweh the God of armies, how long will you not have compassion on Jerusalem and on the cities of Judah, against which you have been angry these seventy years.

13 And Yahweh answered the angel who spoke with me with kind words and comfortable words.

14 Then the angel who spoke with me said to me, Cry out and say, Thus says Yahweh the God of armies: I am jealous for Jerusalem and for Zion with a great jealousy.

15 And I am very angry with the proud nations. For I was only a little displeased, and they contributed to aggravate the affliction.

16 Therefore thus says Yahweh: I will return to Jerusalem with compassion. My house will be rebuilt there, says Yahweh the God of armies, and the measuring line will be stretched over Jerusalem.

17 Cry out again and say, Thus says Yahweh the God of armies: My cities will again be full of good things. Yahweh will again comfort Zion, and will again choose Jerusalem.

18 Then I lifted up my eyes and looked, and behold, there were four horns.

19 And I said to the angel who spoke with me, 'What do these horns mean'. And he said to me: These are the horns that have scattered Judah, and Israel, and Jerusalem.

20 Then Yahweh showed me four smiths.

21 And I said, 'What have they come to do'. And he spoke and said: These are the horns that have scattered Judah, so that no man did lift up his head. And these smiths have come to terrify them [that is to say, to remove them from power], and to cut down the horns of the nations that have raised their horns against the land of Judah to scatter it. [Now the reason is not that they had acted in this way toward Judah, but the reason is that they should not continue to act in this way. And it seems that these are the events that have already begin to occur.]

Zechariah 2

1 Then I lifted my eyes and looked, and behold, a man with a measuring line in his hand.

2 And I said, 'Where are you going'. And he said to me: I will measure Jerusalem, to see how wide it will be and how and long it will be.

3 And behold, the angel who spoke with me went forward, and another angel went out to meet him.

4 And he said to him: Run, speak to this young man and say, 'Jerusalem will be inhabited like a village without walls, because of the multitude of men and livestock who will be there'.

5 For I will be to it a wall of fire all around, says Yahweh, and I will be its glory within it.

6 Ho, ho, come forth, and flee from the land of the north, says Yahweh. For I have scattered you to the four winds of the heaven, says Yahweh.

7 Escape, O Zion, you who dwell with the daughter of Babylon.

8 For thus has said Yahweh the God of armies, after he has sent me on a glorious mission to the nations that are plundering you [you who want to please him now, and not your fathers who had refused to listen to him]. For whoever touches you touches the apple of his eye.

9 For behold, I will stretch out my hand against them, and they will be a spoil to those who served them, and you will know that Yahweh the God of armies has sent me.

10 Shout and be glad, O daughter Zion. For lo, I come and I will dwell in your midst, says Yahweh.

11 And many nations will join themselves to Yahweh in that day, and will become my people. And I will dwell in your midst, and you will know that Yahweh the God of armies has sent me to you.

12 And now, Yahweh will possess Judah as his portion in the holy land, and he will choose Jerusalem again. [For the word of Yahweh will go forth from there to spread throughout the whole earth.]

13 Let all flesh be silent before Yahweh. For he has arisen from his holy place.

Zechariah 3

1 And he showed me Joshua the high priest standing before the angel of Yahweh, and Satan standing at his right hand to resist him. [Now this Joshua is alive in the flesh on the day when Zechariah is having this vision, and he is the son of Jehozadak as it is mentioned by Haggai the prophet.]

2 And Yahweh said to Satan: May Yahweh rebuke you, O Satan. Yes, may Yahweh who has chosen Jerusalem rebuke you. Is not this man like a burning stick plucked from the fire.

3 Now Joshua was clothed with filthy garments, and he was standing before the angel.

4 Then the angel spoke and said to the other angels who were standing before him, 'Take off the filthy garments from Joshua'. And he said to Joshua: Behold I have taken away your iniquity, and I will clothe you with fine garments.

5 And I said, 'Let them set a beautiful diadem on his head'. So they set a beautiful diadem on his head, and clothed him with garments, and the angel of Yahweh was standing there.

6 And the angel of Yahweh spoke to Joshua and said the following thing.

7 Thus says Yahweh the God of armies: If you walk in my ways, and keep my service, then you will judge my house [temple], and you will also keep my courtyards, and I will give you access among these [angels] who are standing here.

8 Hear now, O Joshua the high priest, you and your companions who are sitting [here] before you. For they are men who will serve as signs. For behold, I will bring forth my servant the Branch.

9 For lo, concerning the stone that I have set before Joshua, there are seven eyes on this stone. And behold, I will engrave what is to be engraved on it, says Yahweh the God of armies, and I will take away the iniquity of this land in one day. [Now this was fulfilled on the day of the resurrection of Jesus of Nazareth.]

10 In that day, says Yahweh the God of armies, you will invite every man his neighbor under the vine and under the fig tree. [Now it is said 'in that day' and not 'on that day', and the notion of day in the eyes of Yahweh is not trivial.]

Zechariah 4

1 And the angel who talked with me came again and awoke me, as a man who is awakened from his sleep.

2 And he said to me, 'What do you see'. And I replied: I have looked, and behold, there is a candlestick all of gold. It has seven lamps on it, and a bowl on its top, and there are seven tubes coming from the bowl to give oil for the lamps that are on the candlestick, each lamp having its tube.

3 And there are two olive trees beside it, one on the right side of the bowl and the other on its left side.

4 And I spoke again and said to the angel who was talking with me: What do these things mean, my lord.

5 Then the angel who was talking with me answered me and said to me, 'Do you not know what these things mean'. And I said, 'No, my lord'.

6 Then he answered and spoke to me by saying: The following is the word of Yahweh to Zerubbabel: Not by strength nor by power, but by my spirit, says Yahweh the God of armies.

7 Who are you before Zerubbabel, O great mountain. You will appear as a plain before him. He will lay the cornerstone and the people will shout: Grace, grace to it.

8 Moreover the word of Yahweh came to me in the following words.

9 The hands of Zerubbabel have laid the foundation of this house, and his hands will finish it. And you will know that Yahweh the God of armies has sent me to you.

10 For those who despised the day of small things will rejoice when they see the plummet in the hand of Zerubbabel. These seven are the eyes of Yahweh running to and fro throughout the whole earth.

11 Then I spoke and said to him: What is the meaning of these two olive trees that are on right side and on the left side of the candlestick.

12 And I spoke again and said to him: What is the meaning of the two olive branches from which golden oil are flowing into two golden tubes.

13 And he answered me and said, 'Do you not know what they mean'. And I said, 'No, my lord'.

14 Then he said: These are the two anointed ones who stand before the Lord of the whole earth.

Zechariah 5

1 Then I lifted up my eyes again and looked, and behold, a flying scroll.

2 And he said to me, 'What do you see'. And I answered: I see a flying scroll. It is twenty cubits long and ten cubits wide.

3 Then he said to me: This is the curse that is going forth over the whole the land. For every one who steals will be cut off according to what is written on one side, and every one who swears [with evil intentions] will be cut off according to what is written on the other side.

4 I am pouring it out, says Yahweh the God of armies, and it will enter the house of the one who steals and the house of the one who swears falsely in my name. And it dwell in the midst of his house, and it will consume that house with its timber and its stones.

5 Then the angel who was talking with me went forth and said to me: Lift up now your eyes, and see what is this that goes forth.

6 And I answered, 'What is it'. And he said, 'This is the ephah that goes forth'. And he added, 'This is their iniquity throughout the whole land'.

7 And behold, there was lifted up a lump of lead, and a woman was sitting in the midst of the ephah.

8 And he said, 'This is iniquity'. And he cast her down into the midst of the ephah, and threw the lump of lead on the opening.

9 Then I lifted my eyes and looked, and behold, there came two women, and the wind blew through their wings. They had wings like the wings of a stork, and they lifted up the ephah between the earth and the heaven.

10 Then I said to the angel who was talking with me: Where are they carrying the ephah.

11 And he said to me: They are going to build it a house in the land of Shinar. And it will be prepared, and set there in her own place.

Zechariah 6

1 And I lifted up my eyes again and looked, and behold, four chariots were coming out from between two mountains, and the mountains were mountains of brass.

2 The first chariot was pulled by red horses, and the second chariot was pulled by black horses.

3 And the third chariot was pulled by white horses, and the fourth chariot was pulled by red speckled horses.

4 Then I spoke and said to the angel who was talking with me: What is this, my lord.

5 And the angel answered and said to me: These are the four winds of heaven, coming out from where they stood before the Lord of the whole the earth.

6 Now the black horses went toward the north country, and the white ones followed them, and the speckled ones went toward the south country.

7 And the red ones came forth and asked to walk to and fro throughout the earth. And the angel said to them, 'Go and walk to and fro throughout the earth'. So they walked to and fro throughout the earth.

8 Then he called and spoke to me by saying: Behold those who have gone toward the north country have quieted my spirit in the north country.

9 And the word of Yahweh came to me [some time after the previous vision] in the following words.

10 Take gifts from the captives who have come recently from Babylon. Take it of Heldai, and of Tobijah, and of Jedaiah, and you will go on the same day to the house of Josiah the son of Zephaniah.

11 Use the silver and gold to make a crown, and put it on the head of the high priest Joshua the son of Jehozadak.

12 And you will say to him, Thus speaks Yahweh the God of armies: Behold a man whose name is the Branch will sprout from his place and will build the temple of Yahweh.

13 He will build the temple of Yahweh, and he will bear the glory. He will sit and rule on his throne, and he will be a priest on his throne, and there will be perfect harmony between them both [that is to say, between his two functions of king and of priest].

14 And you Zechariah, regarding the crown that you have made and in which have participated Heldai, and Tobijah, and Jedaiah, and Josiah the son of Zephaniah, it will be place in the temple of Yahweh for a memorial [and thus it will honor those men who have contributed to its making].

15 And those who are far off will come and work in the temple of Yahweh, and you will know that Yahweh the God of armies has sent me to you. This will happen if you obey the voice of Yahweh your God.

Zechariah 7

1 In the fourth year of king Darius, the word of Yahweh came to Zechariah on the fourth day of the ninth month which is the month Chislev. [Now the house of Yahweh is under construction at that time, since this construction was completed in the sixth year of the reign of king Darius.]

2 For the people of Bethel had sent to the house of God Sharezer and Regem-melech, and their men, to intreat the favor of Yahweh. [Now the prophet Haggai made it clear in his writings that Yahweh was angry with the people as long as the house of Yahweh was not completely finished and beautified.]

3 And to say to the priests of the house of Yahweh the God of armies, and to the prophets: Should I weep and isolate myself in the fifth month, as I have done these many years.

4 Then the word of Yahweh the God of armies came to me in the following words.

5 Speak to all the people of the land, and to the priests, and say to them: When you fasted and wept in the fifth month and in the seventh month, even those seventy years, were you fasting for me. Were you doing it with the intention of giving me pleasure.

6 And when you eat and drink [during the other days when you are not fasting], are you not the ones eating and drinking.

7 Do you not know the words that Yahweh spoke through the former prophets, when Jerusalem was inhabited and in prosperity. The cities all around Jerusalem were inhabited, and the south, and the plain.

8 And the word of Yahweh came to Zechariah in the following words.

9 Thus had spoken Yahweh the God of armies: Execute true justice, and show mercy and compassion every man to his brother.

10 Do not oppress the widow, nor the fatherless, nor the stranger, nor the poor. And let none of you plan evil against his brother in your heart.

11 But they refused to listen. They had rebellious shoulders, and they hardened their ears so as not to hear.

12 Yes, they made their hearts as hard as diamonds so as not to listen to the law, and so as not to hear the words that Yahweh the God of armies was sending to them by his spirit through the former prophets. Therefore there came a great wrath from Yahweh the God of armies.

13 Since they had not wanted to listen when he was crying out, therefore I did not want to pay attention when they were weeping, says Yahweh the God of armies.

14 So I scattered them with a whirlwind among all the nations whom they did not know. And the land was desolate behind them, and there was no one to come or go there, because they caused the pleasant land to become a desolation.

Zechariah 8

1 Afterward the word of Yahweh the God of armies came to me in the following words. [Now these words are consistent with those of the prophet Haggai if we assume that they were revealed in the seventh year of king Darius.]

2 Thus says Yahweh the God od armies: I am jealous for Zion with a great jealousy, and I am jealous for her with a great fury [and that is why I destroyed it when there were transgressions].

3 Thus says Yahweh: I have returned to Zion, and I will dwell in the midst of Jerusalem. Jerusalem will be called the city of truth [now that I have come back to dwell there], and the mountain of Yahweh the God of armies will be called the holy mountain.

4 Thus says Yahweh the God of armies: Old men and old women will again sit in the streets of Jerusalem, every man with his staff in his hand because of his great age.

5 And the streets of the city will be full of boys and girls playing in the streets.

6 Thus says Yahweh the God of armies: If it seems marvelous in the eyes of the remnant of this people in these days, should it also be marvelous in my sight. Says Yahweh the God of armies.

7 Thus says Yahweh the God of armies: Behold I will save my people from the east country and from the west country.

8 And I will bring them, and they will dwell in the midst of Jerusalem. And they will be my people, and I will be their God in truth and in righteousness.

9 Thus says Yahweh the God of armies: Strengthen your hands, you who hear in these days these words from the mouth of the prophets who have appeared in the day [namely the days] when the foundation of the house of Yahweh the God of armies has been laid, when the people has begun to rebuild the temple. [Now in the sight of Yahweh the notion of day does not always designate a single day but very often a period of time.]

10 For before these days there was no wage for man, nor wage for beast. There was no peace for those who came in and went out because of the affliction. For I have set all men every one against his neighbor.

11 But now I will not be with the remnant of this people as I was in the former days, says Yahweh the God of armies.

12 For the seed will flourish, and the vine will yield its fruit, and the ground will give its produce, and the heavens will send down their dew. I will cause the remnant of this people to enjoy all these things.

13 Just as you have been a curse among the nations, O house of Judah and house of Israel, so I will save you and you will be a blessing. Do not be afraid, but let your hands be strong.

14 For thus says Yahweh the God of armies: I thought to harm you when your fathers provoked me to anger, says Yahweh the God of armies, and I did not repent.

15 In the same way I have purposed in these days to do good to Jerusalem and to the house of Judah. Do not be afraid.

16 Here is what you have to do: Let everyone speak uprightly to his neighbor [that is to say, do not seek to mislead anyone without having publicly acceptable justifications in your heart], execute the judgment of truth and peace in your gates.

17 And let no one plan evil in his heart against his neighbor, and do not love false oaths. For all these things are the things that I hate, says Yahweh.

18 And the word of Yahweh the God of armies came to me in the following words.

19 Thus says Yahweh the God of armies: The fasting of the fourth month, and the fasting of the fifth month, and the fasting of the seventh month, and the fasting of the tenth month, will be to the house of Judah joy and gladness, and cheerful feasts. But you have to love truth and peace.

20 Thus says Yahweh the God of armies: Peoples and inhabitants of many cities will come again.

21 And the inhabitants of one city will go to another by saying: Let us go speedily to entreat the favor of Yahweh, to seek Yahweh the God of armies. And others will hear it and say: I will go also.

22 And many peoples and strong nations will come to seek Yahweh the God of armies in Jerusalem, to entreat the favor of Yahweh.

23 Thus says Yahweh the God of armies: In those days ten men from all the languages of the nations will take hold of a Jew by the hem of his garment by saying: We will go with you, for we have heard that God is with you. [Now these words are consistent with those of the prophet Haggai if we assume that they were revealed in the seventh year of king Darius.]

Zechariah 12

1 The burden of the word of Yahweh concerning Israel [that is to say, concerning those who hold to the law given to the children of Jacob and who are in this way the spiritual children of those who were called Israel when the exact identity of Yahweh had not yet revealed]. Thus says Yahweh who stretched out the heavens and laid the foundations of the earth, and formed the spirit of man within him.

2 Behold I will make Jerusalem a cup of trembling for all the surrounding peoples, when they will be in the siege both against Judah and against Jerusalem.

3 In that day I will make Jerusalem a burdensome stone for all peoples. All those who will lift it up will be torn, although all the peoples of the earth will be gathered together against it.

4 In that day, says Yahweh, I will smite every horse with astonishment, and its rider with madness. And I will open my eyes on the house of Judah, when I smite every horse of the peoples with blindness.

5 And the leaders of Judah will say in their hearts: The inhabitants of Jerusalem are our strength in Yahweh the God of armies their God.

6 In that day I will make the leaders of Judah like a hearth of fire among the wood, like a flaming torch among the sheaves. And they will devour all the surrounding peoples, on the right hand and on the left. And the inhabitants of Jerusalem will dwell in their place, in Jerusalem.

7 Yahweh will also save the tents of Judah first, so that the glory of the house of David and the glory of the inhabitants of Jerusalem do not be magnified above Judah. [That is to say, Yahweh must not give the impression that he has a preference for the house of David and for the inhabitants of Jerusalem over the other persons who live in the territory of Judah.]

8 In that day Yahweh will defend the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and the feeble among them in that day will be like David. And the house of David will be like God, like the angel of Yahweh before them. [That is to say, those who are the descendants of David will be like gods and will be distinguished from the other inhabitants of Jerusalem who will be as strong as David, because the children of Israel will know exactly what they are worshipping. When a first king had not been established over Israel, in the days of the judges whom the spirit of Yahweh was choosing in different tribes of Israel, Gideon had told the people that he did not want to establish a kingdom in Israel for himself and for his children because it is Yahweh who must be the king of Israel. But after those days there came the judge Samuel who established Saul as the first king at the request of the people, and David became the second king of Israel because he feared Yahweh, and we think that things have changed since David our great leader whose children deserve to be like gods. Now we know exactly what we are worshipping.]

9 In that day I will seek to destroy all the nations that come against Jerusalem.

10 Then I will pour out the spirit of grace and of supplication on the house of David and on the inhabitants of Jerusalem. And they will look on me, the one whom they have pierced. And they will lament for him, as one mourns for his only son, and they will be in bitterness for him as one is in bitterness for his firstborn.

11 In that day there will be a great mourning in Jerusalem, like the mourning for Hadadrimmon in the valley of Megiddon.

12 And the land will mourn, every family separately. The family of the house of David separately, and their wives separately. The family of the house of Nathan separately, and their wives separately.

13 The family of the house of Levi separately, and their wives separately. The family of Shimei separately, and their wives separately.

14 And all the other families, every family separately, and their wives separately.

Zechariah 13

1 In that day a fountain will be opened for the house of David and for the inhabitants of Jerusalem, for sin and for uncleanness.

2 In that day, says Yahweh the God of armies, I will cut off the names of the idols from the land and they will no longer be remembered. And I will cause the prophets and the unclean spirits to depart from the land.

3 And if anyone prophesies again, then his father and his mother who begot him will say to him, 'You will not live, because you speak lies in the name of Yahweh'. And his father and his mother who begot him will stab him when he prophesies.

4 In that day the prophets will be ashamed every one of his visions when he prophesies, and they will no longer wear a eye-catching garment to deceive.

5 And every one of them will say: I am not a prophet, I am a plowman. For I was bought from my youth.

6 And if anyone asks him, 'Where did these wounds on your hands come from'. Then he will say, 'I received them in the house of my friends'.

7 Arise, O sword, against my shepherd and against the man who is my companion, says Yahweh the God of armies. Smite the shepherd, and let the sheep be scattered, and I will turn my hand on the powerless.

8 And throughout all the land, says Yahweh, two thirds will be cut off and will die, and the other third will remain.

9 And I bring that third part into the fire, and I will refine them as silver is refined, and I will test them as gold is tested. An they will call on my name, and I will answer them. I will say, 'It is my people', and they will say, 'Yahweh is my God'.

Zechariah 14

1 Behold the day of Yahweh is coming, and your spoil will be divided in your midst.

2 For I will gather all the nations to battle against Jerusalem. The city will be captured, and the houses will be plundered, and the women will be raped. Half the city will go into captivity, and the remnant of the people will not be cut off from the city.

3 Then Yahweh will go forth and will fight against those nations, as when he fought in the day of battle.

4 And in that day his feet will stand on the mount of Olives, which is before Jerusalem on the east. And the mount of Olives will split in two parts, and there will be a very large valley from the east and to the west. And half of the mountain will move toward the north, and the other half will move toward the south.

5 And you will flee to the valley of the mountains, and the valley of the mountains will reach as far as Azel. Yes, you will flee as you fled before the earthquake in the days of Uzziah king of Judah. And Yahweh my God will come, and all the holy ones with you.

6 In that day there will neither be light nor darkness, nor cold, nor hot.

7 It will be a day known to Yahweh. There will be neither day nor night, but in the evening time there will be light.

8 In that day living waters will flow and go out from Jerusalem. Half of them will flow toward the eastern sea, and half of them will flow toward the uttermost sea, both in summer and in winter.

9 And Yahweh will be king over all the earth. In that day Yahweh will be the only Lord, and his name will be the only name.

10 The whole land will become like a plain, from Geba to Rimmon, toward the south of Jerusalem. And Jerusalem will be lifted up and will remain in its place, From Benjamin's gate to the place of the first gate, to the corner gate, and from the tower of Hananel to the king's winepresses.

11 And men will dwell in it, and there will be no more desolation. Jerusalem will be safe.

12 And this will be the plague with which Yahweh will smite all the peoples who have fought against Jerusalem: their flesh will rot while they stand on their feet, and their eyes will rot in their sockets, and their tongue will rot in their mouths.

13 In that day Yahweh will cause a great turmoil among them. And every one will take the hand of his neighbor, and his hand will rise up against the hand his neighbor.

14 And Judah will also fight at Jerusalem, and they will gather the wealth of all the surrounding nations: gold, and silver, and a great abundance of clothing.

15 And the plague will also strike the horses, and the mules, and the camels, and the donkeys, and all the animals that will be in those camps like that plague.

16 And everyone who will remain from all the nations that came against Jerusalem will go up from year to year to worship the king, Yahweh the God of armies, and to celebrate the feast of tabernacles.

17 Whoever of all the families of the earth does not come up at Jerusalem to worship the king Yahweh the God of armies, the same will have no rain on them.

18 And if the family of Egypt does not go up, and come not, they will have no rain on them. And there will a plague with which Yahweh will smite all the nations that do not come up to celebrate the feast of tabernacles.

19 Thus will be the punishment of Egypt, and the punishment of all the nations that do not come up to celebrate the feast of tabernacles.

20 In that day it will be written on the bells of the horses, 'Holiness to Yahweh'. And the pots in the house of Yahweh will be like the bowls before the altar.

21 Yes, every pot in Jerusalem and in Judah will be holy to Yahweh the God of armies. And all those who offer sacrifices will come and take them to cook meat in them. And in that day there will be no more merchants buying and selling things in the house of Yahweh the God of armies.

Malachi

Malachi 1

1 The burden of the word of Yahweh to Israel by Malachi.

2 I have loved you, says Yahweh. And nevertheless you say: How do you show us your love.

3 Is not Esau the brother of Jacob, says Yahweh. And nevertheless I have loved Jacob, and I have hated Esau. I made his mountains desolate, and gave his heritage to the jackals of the wilderness.

4 Edom may say, 'We are destroyed, but we will raise up the ruins'. But Yahweh the God of armies says the following thing: Let them build, but I will destroy. And they will be called the land of wickedness, a people against whom Yahweh is angry forever.

5 And your own eyes will see it, and you will say: Yahweh is great beyond the borders of Israel.

6 A son honors his father, and a servant his master. Therefore if I am a father, then where is the honor that is due to me. And if I am a master, then where is the fear of me. Consider those questions from Yahweh the God of armies, O you the priests who despise my name and who say: In what way have we despised your name.

7 You offer unclean food on my altar [instead of rejecting the children of Israel who come to you with such offerings to ask you to practice the rituals of the law given by Moses], and you say, 'In what way have we polluted you'. You have done it by saying [in your hearts]: The table of Yahweh is contemptible [because this God does not deserve to receive food of very good quality].

8 When you offer a blind animal for a sacrifice, is it not evil [O children of Israel]. When you offer a lame or disabled animal, is it not evil. Will your governor receive you well if you offer it now to him. Will he welcome you. Says Yahweh the God of armies.

9 And you come to me with those things and you say, 'We are now going to entreat God so that he may be favorable to us'. But is this God going to look at you with a good eye. Says Yahweh the God of armies.

10 Who among you will shut the doors [of the temple that has been built to bear my name]. I have not yet chosen that person but I am beginning to desire that it will happen so that you no longer light the fire on my altar in vain [since you offer me things that disgust me]. I have no pleasure in you, says Yahweh the God of armies, and the offerings of your hand are not acceptable to me.

11 For my name is great among the nations from the rising of the sun to its going down, and in many places they burn incense to honor my name and they make offerings that come from the good will of their hearts. For my name is great among the nations, says Yahweh the God of armies.

12 But you profane it by saying [in your hearts]: The table of Yahweh is contemptible and is worthy of being polluted by the poor quality of the food that we offer there.

13 And you say [concerning these rituals that I commanded you to do by the hand of my servant Moses], 'Behold it causes us such a weariness'. And you despise it, says Yahweh the God of armies. And concerning the offerings which you bring, you bring what has been taken from other by violence, or what is lame, or what is sick. Should I accept those things from your hands. Says Yahweh.

14 Cursed be the deceiver who has in his flock a [big] healthy male, and who dedicates and sacrifices to Yahweh a poor quality beast [that is to say, a beast that does not have much flesh]. For I am a great king, says Yahweh the God of armies, and my name is awesome among the nations.

Malachi 2

1 And now, O you the priests, the following warning concerns you.

2 If you do not listen, if the desire of your heart is not to give glory to my name, says Yahweh the God of armies, then I will send a curse on you to curse your blessings. Yes, I have cursed the other priests in the past because you do not take it to heart.

3 Behold I will destroy your seed and throw dung on your faces, the dung of your solemn feasts, and you will be carried away with it.

4 And you will know that I have given you this warning so that my covenant with Levi may stand, says Yahweh the God of armies.

5 My covenant with him was for life and for peace. And I gave him the service that he must do for me in order to reward the fear that he had of me, since he was afraid before my name.

6 The law of truth was in his mouth, and iniquity was not found on his lips. He walked with me in peace and in uprightness, and he turned many away from iniquity.

7 For the lips of a priest should keep knowledge, since the people should seek the law at his mouth. For he is a messenger of Yahweh the God of armies.

8 But you have strayed from the way, and you have caused many to stumble in the law. You have corrupted the covenant of Levi, says Yahweh the God of armies.

9 Therefore I also have made you contemptible and vile before all the people, because you have not kept my ways and have shown favoritism when interpreting the law.

10 Do we not all have one father. Is it not one God who created us. Why then do we act treacherously every man against his brother, profaning thus the covenant of our fathers.

11 Judah had acted treacherously, and an abomination had been committed in Israel and in Jerusalem. For Judah had profaned the holiness of Yahweh which he loved [that is to say, his holy temple], and had married the daughter of a foreign god [that is to say, they had chosen to follow false gods].

12 Yahweh will cut off the man who does this, whether the initiator or the follower. He will be cut off from the tents of Jacob, even if he brings an offering to Yahweh the God of armies.

13 And it is what you are doing again: You cover the altar of Yahweh with the tears of your eyes, insomuch that he no longer regards your offering and refuses the things from your hands.

14 And you say, 'Why'. It is because Yahweh has been witness between you and the wife of your youth. You have acted treacherously against her [by rejecting her], although she is your companion and your wife by covenant.

15 No one has done such a thing with a remnant of understanding. Only one has done it, and why had he done it. It was because he sought the offspring that God had promised him. Therefore take care of your spirit, and let no one act treacherously against the wife of his youth. [Now the person of whom Yahweh is talking about in this declaration is not necessarily a character known in the holy scriptures.]

16 For I hate it when a person rejects others without having publicly acceptable justification in his heart, says Yahweh the God of Israel, and I hate it when a person covers his garment [and thus his soul] with the violence done to others, says Yahweh the God of armies. Therefore take care of your spirit, and do not act treacherously.

17 You weary Yahweh with your words [that is to say, many among the people], and you say, 'How have we wearied him'. It is when you say, 'Everyone who does evil is good in the sight of Yahweh, and he delights in them', or when you say, 'Where is the God of the concept of justice'.

Malachi 3

1 Behold I will send my messenger, and he will prepare the way before me. And the Lord whom you seek will suddenly come to his temple, the messenger of the covenant that you desire. Behold he comes, says Yahweh the God of armies.

2 Who can endure in the day of his coming [that is to say, in the days after he has accomplished his mission]. Who will stand when he will have appeared. For he will be like the fire of a refiner, like the soap of a clothes washer.

3 He will sit as a refiner and a purifier of silver, and he will purify the sons of Levi. He will refine them like gold and silver are refined, and they will present offerings to Yahweh in righteousness.

4 Then the offerings of Judah and Jerusalem will be pleasant to Yahweh, as in the days of old, as in the ancient years.

5 And I will come near to you for judgment, and I will be a swift witness against the sorcerers, and against the adulterers, and against those who swear falsely, and against those who withhold the wages of the hireling, and against those who oppress the widow and the fatherless, and against those who defraud the sojourner, against all those who do not fear me, says Yahweh the God of armies.

6 For I am Yahweh, I do not change. Therefore you the [true spiritual] children of Jacob will not be consumed.

7 Since the days of your fathers you have turned away from my ordinances, and have not kept them. Return to me, and I will return to you, says Yahweh the God of armies. But you say, 'In what way have we distanced ourselves from you'.

8 Should a man rob God. And nevertheless you have robbed me. But you say, 'In what way have we robbed you'.

9 In the tithes and in the offerings due to me. You are cursed with a curse because you have robbed me, even this whole nation.

10 Bring all the tithes into the storehouse, so that there may be food in my house [for my servants the Levites]. Test me now in this thing, says Yahweh the God of armies, and see if I will not open the windows of heaven for you to pour out a blessing without measure.

11 And I will rebuke the devourer for your sakes, and he will not destroy the fruits of your ground. And the vine will surely yield its fruit in your fields, says Yahweh the God of armies.

12 And all nations will call you blessed, for you will be a delightsome land, says Yahweh the God of armies.

13 Your words have been harsh against me [that is to say, you who are among those who desire to please me], says Yahweh. And you say, 'What have we said against you'.

14 You have said: It is vain to serve God. What profit have we obtained by striving to obey all his commandments of which we are aware and by walking mournfully before Yahweh the God of armies.

15 And now we see the happiness of proud people. Yes, those who commit wickedness prosper. They transgress against God and they escape his anger.

16 So those who fear Yahweh spoke to one another. And Yahweh paid attention and listened, and a book of remembrance was written before him for those who fear Yahweh and honor his name.

17 They will be mine, says Yahweh the God of armies, my own possession in the day when I will set them apart. And I will spare them, as a man spares his son who serves him.

18 And you will again see the difference between the righteous and the wicked, between those who serve God and those who do not serve him.

Malachi 4

1 For behold, the day is coming and it will burn like a furnace. All the proud and all those who act wickedly [among my people who are called by my name now] will be punished. The day that comes will burn them up, says Yahweh the God of armies, and it will leave them neither root nor branch.

2 But for you who fear my name, the sun of righteousness will arise with healing under its wings. And you will go out and leap like calves freed from their stalls.

3 And you will trample the wicked. For they will be like ashes under the soles of your feet in the day that I do this, says Yahweh the God of armies. [Now this must have happened after the first disciples of Jesus, in the period of the destruction of the house of Yahweh which has never rebuilt to this day. But this will not be the main occasion because even in those days an acceptable level of knowledge of the teaching of Jesus Christ will not yet be reached by the Romans who will destroy the temple of Yahweh because of a rebellion, as the rebellion of Zedekiah the last king of Judah had caused the destruction of the temple built by Solomon king of Israel.]

4 Remember the law of my servant Moses, which I commanded him at Horeb for all Israel, concerning the statutes and the judgment.

5 Behold I will send you Elijah the prophet before the coming of the great and dreadful day of Yahweh.

6 And he will turn the hearts of the fathers to the children, and the hearts of the children to their fathers, lest I come and smite the land with a curse.

3 Rommel

3 Rommel 1

1 Preface to the Testament of Jesus Christ, first part.

2 Until now it is not obvious to differentiate between Yahweh and his angels (Genesis 16:11-13 - 28:12-13 - 31:11-13 - Exodus 33:8-23 - Joshua 5:13-15 - Judges 2:1-5 - 5:23 - 6:11-13,14-22 - 13:1-25 - Zechariah 3:1-7 - 4 Rommel 4:6). And the biblical characters are aware that what they call God is a multitude of angels (Genesis 18:1-2 - 19:1 - 32:1-2) who are completely united in their purpose (Deuteronomy 6:4 - Jeremiah 9:23-24 - 23:23-24).

3 And everything in the universe happens by the hand of the one God (Deuteronomy 32:39 - Exodus 18:14-24 - 1 Kings 22:31-33 - 2 Chronicles 18:30-32 - 2 Kings 5:1 - 24:1-4 - 25:1-7 - Ezekiel 12:1-16 - Isaiah 45:5-7 - Amos 9:7 - Jeremiah 52:1-3).

4 How could a good and merciful God ask Abraham to kill his child (Genesis 22:1-18). [Now Abraham have not behaved like an atheist who wants to live according to his own moral standards, but like a man who believes in the existence of a God of justice whose ways are not easy to understand and who can intervene as he pleases in the world in order to accomplish his secret objectives. The exact knowledge of the identity and requirements of the God of justice will come into the world later through Jesus Christ.]

5 This God who considers only the information available to each person (Genesis 20:1-6 - Numbers 14:22-23 - Deuteronomy 11:1-9 - 31:9-13 - John 15:22 - Luke 10:1-12,13-15), wants to know if this Abraham truly believes him to be almighty (Genesis 17:1).

6 And Abraham already knows a number of things about the origin of this child (Genesis 15:1-6 - 18:1-15 - 21:1-4) and also the events of Sodom and Gomorrha (Genesis 18:16-33).

7 And it is through the coming of Jesus of Nazareth that the exact identity of God will be revealed (Romans 16:24-27 - Acts 2:14-36 - Colossians 1:26-27).

8 The name of an entity is not any literal expression but the knowledge of the precise object which is designated, in other words the abstract concept that it represents (Exodus 2:16-18 - 3:1 - 6:1-3 - Genesis 31:44-49 - Leviticus 20:1-3 - 22:1-3 - Jeremiah 34:13-16 - Ezekiel 20:39 - Numbers 13:16 - Deuteronomy 3:9 - 10:20 - 14:22-23 - John 17:25-26 - Acts 2:21 - 4:12 - 4 Rommel 4:12 - 11:29-30).

9 Moreover different things can be called by the same name as we see with Goshen in Egypt (Genesis 45:9-10 - 47:1-6 - Exodus 8:22 - 9:26) and Goshen in the territory under the control of Israel (Joshua 11:16). Moreover there are two Mephibosheth in the family of Saul (2 Samuel 21:7-8) and there are two Goliath in Gath (1 Samuel 17:4 - 2 Samuel 21:19).

10 The word God is a holy trinity which designates indifferently the Father or the Son or the holy spirit (4 Rommel 11:17-18). They are three completely distinct identities and at each occurrence of an implicit or explicit reference to God in a sentence of a biblical verse, only one of these identities is implicitly designated (4 Rommel 4:15-17) and it may happen that all three appear distinctly in a same biblical verse (Luke 10:21 - John 14:26 - 15:26 - 2 Corinthians 13:14). So we have the Father of all creation (Jeremiah 32:17-19), and the Son who is the information created in the world by Jesus of Nazareth (John 2:19-21 - It is alluded to the temple in this reference, namely the temple of God), and the holy spirit who is the father of Jesus of Nazareth according to the flesh (Luke 1:35) and also the spiritual father of all those who accept a new birth of their minds in order to become spiritual children of Jesus of Nazareth (John 8:26-27,28-29 - 4 Rommel 11:24-25) and in this way the spiritual children of the patriarch Jacob because he is present as a model in the genealogy of the teaching transmitted by Jesus de Nazareth. [Jacob was renamed Israel by the angels of the holy spirit during his life in the flesh.]

11 And because human beings are made in the image of God (Genesis 1:27), they have the right to change their minds when new information comes to their attention (1 Samuel 2:30 - 4 Rommel 10:14-16). [But at a time when the exact identity of God was still unknown, that is to say before Jesus Christ, even new information could not justify a change of mind concerning an oath that was made to Yahweh himself (Jeremiah 34:1-7,8-22 - Deuteronomy 23:21-23).]

12 God the Father does not change his mind but the holy spirit and his angels can change their minds and repent (Genesis 6:5-6 - Exodus 32:14 - Jonah 3 - Jeremiah 18:1-10,11-13 - 26:1-6,7-15 - 36:1-4) because they only consider the information actually accumulated up to the present moment (Deuteronomy 31:21 - 1 Kings 2:19-23). This is how changes were made to the territory that was allocated by lot to the tribe of Judah (Numbers 26:52-56 - Joshua 14:1-5 - 15:1 - 19:1,9 - Proverbs 16:33).

13 But God the Father does not allow any of the words of the holy spirit, the holy one of Israel, to remain without any effect (1 Samuel 13:13-14 - 15:28-29 - 1 Kings 8:56 - 12:15 - Isaiah 55). Indeed, in the final state of the universe we will no longer be made of flesh and blood hence the effectiveness of the flood (Genesis 6:5-8), and his threat on the destruction of the people that he addressed to Moses was accomplished by the fact that Jesus Christ put an end to the twelve tribes by uniting all humanity (Exodus 32:14), and his threat against the inhabitants of Nineveh caused a change in their behavior (Jonah 3).

14 And those who asked by themselves to become servants of the God of Israel [and therefore renounced their idolatry practices] escaped a destruction that had been ordered and they were even defended (Joshua 9 - 10), while the others were destroyed by Joshua himself when he still had the strength to wage war against those of their enemies who have not been protected by God (Exodus 23:27-33 - Joshua 11:18-23 - 13:1-8 - 15:63 - 16:10 - 17:12-13).

15 In the same way that the children of Jacob clung to Yahweh only during certain periods (Judges 2), one can think that some of the nations who lived in their midst had a similar behavior in their relations with the holy spirit (Deuteronomy 20:10-12 - Joshua 21:43-45 - 23:1-16 - Numbers 33:50-56).

16 The holy spirit is an unchanging notion (Genesis 41:37-39 - Numbers 11:24-29 - 24:1-4 - 1 Samuel 16:13-14 - Psalms 51:10-12 - Acts 28:25-29 - 2 Peter 1:21 - Luke 1:8-15,41-42,67-75), but the words of his angels and the laws that they enunciate are circumstantial and are based solely on available knowledge and technology (Job 39:1-2 - Amos 3:6 - Ezekiel 20:23-25 - Acts 7:51-53). And God the Father is the originator of everything that happens (Job 38:39-41). The book of Job is only about God the Father on the one hand, and on the other hand about his holy spirit which expresses itself through two of the characters (Job and Elihu) and also through the angel who speaks in the conclusion of the book.

17 The goal of life is obedience to the holy spirit and to transmit this teaching there have been many prophets including David (1 Chronicles 29:10-19), the main role being that of Jesus of Nazareth who is called the Son of man or the Son of God (1 John 5:10-13,20-21 - John 10:33-36 - John 3:16 -

Isaiah 40 - 4 Rommel 11:31 - 12:41-44,45-47 - Acts 14:8-20 - 17:22-34 - 2 Corinthians 13:14). [It is not essential to seek to prove that Jesus has really exists and has said what he is supposed to have said. For one can simply affirm that the person who is at the origin of the final form of all the books of the bible is God the creator of all things because this person deserves that we obey to the only useful teaching which is transmitted (this person is for us a father - 4 Rommel 6:22-23 - 11:24-25 - 5 Rommel 5:42-43), and the bible tells us that it is the holy spirit who is the author of each unadulterated book (3 Rommel 1:16). The notion of holy spirit does not change over time because it is only a matter of knowing why you do what you do and not what you do, for the holy spirit only considers the information that is available to each person in real time (Malachi 3:1-6,7-18 - 4 Rommel 12:70 - Galatians 4:1-12 - Luke 18:15-17,18-22,28-30 - 1 Corinthians 14:20 - Philippians 4:8), and all offenses against the holy spirit must have consequences by receiving a proportional punishment even if they are committed before the reception of the exact knowledge of God (Exodus 23:1-9 - Deuteronomy 1:16-17 - 4 Rommel 3:12 - 7:33 - 4 Rommel 14:1-4), but we can distinguish two categories of people who have a form of holy spirit within them. On the one hand there are those who want to do what is good but do not know exactly what to do because they are ignorant of the exact message of the Jesus Christ, and since the beginning of humanity this form of holy spirit can exist in certain persons regardless of their genealogies and the beliefs of their communities, and those who had received the law of Moses simply witnessed certain events that justify that they had to trust that law and transmit it to their spiritual children who are mostly their children according to the flesh in those days (Numbers 15:13-16,29-31 - Exodus 12:48-49 - Leviticus 24:17-22 - Deuteronomy 4:9-10), and this has always been the procedure even before the law of Moses (3 Rommel 1:4-6 - Genesis 17:1-13,23-27 - Romans 4:1-13 - 4 Rommel 12:24-25), and on the other hand there are those to whom the exact message of Jesus Christ has been declared and who no longer have any excuse if they do not do what is good since it is no longer allowed to have doubts about the exact identity of God (4 Rommel 12:14-15). For it is natural for a person to have doubts when that person has not yet received the exact understanding of the message of Jesus Christ. # For example Manasseh became king when he was still a teenager, and he did not think that the glory of Hezekiah his father (2 Kings 18:1-7 - 2 Chronicles 32:32-33) had come from the desire to please Yahweh by conforming to all the subtleties and nuances of the law of Moses (2 Chronicles 33:1-10). But Manasseh eventually changed his mind (2 Chronicles 33:11-20). There is another person who had doubts, and he died according to the flesh without changing his mind since we do not have the memory of his repentance, and it is Ahaz the father of Hezekiah (2 Kings 16:1-20 - 2 Chronicles 28:1-8,16-25). # Another example is Solomon when he was old, since his many foreign wives caused him to have doubts about how he was supposed to serve Yahweh, Yahweh being the God of all flesh (Numbers 16:20-22 - 27:15-16 - Jeremiah 32:26-27) who had prophets outside the tribes of Israel like Balaam (Numbers 22 - Now the name Yahweh must not have been known by Balaam since it was not given until the days of Moses, but it is Moses who is supposed to have rewritten the story of Balaam - Numbers 22:18 - and the name of an entity is simply an abstract concept - 3 Rommel 1:8 - Daniel 4:8 - Malachi 2:17 - In addition, the word God which appears in the modern translations of the Old Testament is a translation of the word Elohim of the ancient Hebrew, and Elohim is the one who causes all things to happen, and Yahweh is simply the holy spirit of Elohim who has imposed the trinity in his holy scriptures by saying that he himself is Elohim and the only Elohim). But the doubts of Solomon were not a form of holy spirit but rather a transgression because of what he already knew (Exodus 21:28-29 - 1 Chronicles 28:9 - 1 Rommel 1:36). #

Another example is Gideon and his father. For Gideon was one of the children of Israel from whom Yahweh also raised up prophets (Judges 6:1-10), and Gideon simply had some knowledge of the history of his people, of how God had formed his people, and Gideon became a prophet because he had a conversation with the angels of Yahweh (Judges 6:11-17,18-24,33-40 - 4 Rommel 4:8). And one can think that the father of Gideon also had some doubts about the proper way to worship the God of all the peoples of the earth, a God who had prophets outside the tribes of Israel like Job (3 Rommel 1:27), since the father of Gideon owned a place of worship for Baal (Judges 6:25-32). Now the doubt of Zacharias the father of John the Baptist was not a form of holy spirit but rather a transgression (Luke 1:5-20), since Zacharias was in the temple of Yahweh at the time of his vision, in front of the only altar of incense which is inside the holy place and before the most holy place.]

18 Jesus of Nazareth is the only perfect human being (1 Timothy 2:5 - John 8:23 - Philippians 2:1-11).

19 The holy spirit is found primarily in the books of Proverbs and Ecclesiastes, and it is this spirit that was on all the prophets of God but the distributed gifts vary (4 Rommel 12:47-49).

20 Balaam the prophet was always waiting for the angels of God to interact with him (Numbers 22:5-13 - 23:1-6,13-17) and later he was temporarily overwhelmed by the purity of the spirit and then he prophesied without the perceptible intermediary of the angels (Numbers 24:1-4).

21 However Balaam was not perfect like any ordinary human being (1 Rommel 3:20) and was seduced at a time which was not specified (Numbers 25 - 31:7-16). At a time when the exact identity of God is still unknown, the intention was to distance the people of Israel from the commandments of Yahweh in the hope that Yahweh will destroy a part of them for this abandonment. Consequently the response was proportional to the fault. And Balaam had already offended God before this event because he had consulted God twice for the same reason without having received any new additional information (Numbers 22:14-19 - 2 Peter 2:15-16), since the only additional information was that he was offered an increase in his reward for accomplishing the same mission. [Now David consulted God twice for a same reason without having any new information at his disposal, but he certainly did not do it by the same method (1 Samuel 23:1-6) since he was not recognized as a prophet in his time according to the definition of a prophet in his time (2 Samuel 24:11 - 1 Chronicles 21:9 - 2 Chronicles 29:25 - 1 Samuel 9:9 - 2 Samuel 24:16-19 - 1 Chronicles 21:15-21 - 4 Rommel 4:8). For David could sometimes receive messages through dreams (1 Samuel 28:6,15), and it was known in his time that a person can express himself through the spirit of Yahweh by doing what is pleasing to Yahweh, even if that person does not have regular conversations with the angels of Yahweh (2 Samuel 7:1-3 - 23:1-2 - 1 Chronicles 17:1-2 - 3 Rommel 1:16). Now Solomon the son of David was a prophet since the angels of Yahweh have explicitly spoken with Solomon twice (1 Kings 3:5,15 - 9:1-2 - 11:9-10 - 2 Chronicles 1:6-7 - 7:11-12), but Yahweh have also spoken to Solomon through other prophets (1 Kings 6:9-14 - 11:11-12), because in reality the prophets are ordinary persons who have the will to do what is right according to the information at their disposal (Ecclesiastes 7:28-29) but who are not as perfect as Jesus Christ (1 Kings 13:1-10,11-19,20-24,25-32 - 1 Rommel 3:20).]

22 For every person who allows oneself to be overwhelmed by the spirit speaks the words of the spirit (Ecclesiastes 12:10-14), even a woman like Miriam the sister of Moses (Exodus 2:1-10 - 1 Chronicles 6:1-3 - Exodus 15:20-21 - Micah 6:3-5) and others (Genesis 16:7-13 - Judges 4:4-9 - 2

Kings 22:12-15 - Nehemiah 6:14 - Galatians 3:28). That is why there may be favorable circumstances for the flourishing of the spirit [such as listening to soothing music that is either wordless or whose words are meaningful and without sadness (2 Kings 3:14-16), or engaging in activities that are not designed to excel through physical effort]. Thus there have been schools to learn to behave constantly in a manner pleasing to the spirit at a time when the exact identity of God was unknown, and the complex commandments of Moses which also concerned the functions of the tribe of Levi in Israel was still in force (1 Kings 20:35,38 - 2 Kings 2:1-3 - 4:38-41 - 9:1-10). Such a school is open to all, absolutely everyone, while it is only the genealogy that allows one to belong to the family of the sons of Aaron who are the only ones who can become priests among all the members of the tribe of Levi and even among all the children of Israel according to the law given by Moses (Jeremiah 4:9 - 5:31 - 6:13 - 13:13 - 23:33-34 - 26:4-8 - 28:1-17 - 32:32 - 2 Samuel 23:1-2 - 3 Rommel 1:19-20 - 1 Samuel 28:6,15 - 1 Rommel 3:11-12). The distinction between being a prophet (Deuteronomy 18:15-19,20-22 - 4 Rommel 12:47-49 - Isaiah 1:1-4) and being a priest (Exodus 29:29-30 - Numbers 18:1-7,8-20,21-24,25-32) is further emphasized in 2 Kings 22:8-15 and in Haggai 1:1-12,13-14 - 2:1-5,10-15,20-23, and the function of the high priest Joshua (Ezra 3:8-9 - 5:1-2 - Haggai 1:1-4) is clarified in a vision of the prophet Zechariah (Zechariah 3:1-8 - 4:6-10) and out of that vision by the word of Yahweh given to the same prophet Zechariah (Zechariah 6:9-13). This distinction between priests and prophets is also highlighted in Jeremiah 29:20-33 which contains a letter sent from Babylon to Jerusalem for the priests who serve in the house of Yahweh (Deuteronomy 16:18-20 - 17:8-13), since Jeremiah the prophet is not such a priest despite the fact that he is the son of a priest who has lived in the land of the tribe of Benjamin (Jeremiah 1:1-10). And we also see the humor of Yahweh when we compare the content of Haggai 1:12-14 - 2:1-5 and that of John 11:45-51. [Paul does not say that a woman should not have responsibilities in society (Romans 16:1-2,12-15 - Galatians 3:28) but he recommends that they should not be teachers of the exact knowledge of God's behavior in a context where structured assemblies are created (4 Rommel 6:33-35 - 11:22 - 1 Corinthians 11:34 - Romans 13:8-10 - Galatians 5:13-14) for the purpose of facilitating the acquisition of the holy spirit by the propagation of the Hebrew scriptures which are not accessible to most people in those days (1 Corinthians 14:34-38 - 1 Timothy 2:9-15). There may be exceptions but Paul prefers that this not be the case because in a general way the intentions of the one who teaches and of some of those who listen will not necessarily be sincere (3 Rommel 1:44).]

23 Some people may have particular abilities with more or less regularity either through the holy spirit (Exodus 31:1-5 - 35:30-35 - Numbers 23:1-7,13-18 - 1 Samuel 9:14-19 - 2 Kings 5:1-8 - 6:8-12 - Daniel 5:11-12), or only by the will of God the Father who wants to accomplish his purposes (Exodus 22:18 - Leviticus 19:31 - 20:6-7,26-27 - Deuteronomy 13:1-5 - 18:9-14 - 1 Samuel 16:13-16).

24 He who obeys God is a child of God, and he who does not obey him is not his child (Romans 8:14). Each one must constantly consider that everything around oneself is a distraction and cling only to the holy spirit (1 John 2:15-17), in other words each person must focus on why he does what he does and not on what he does (Luke 4:1-13).

25 It is not what we do that interests God, since we have the right to do whatever we want (1 Corinthians 3:21-23 - Job 35:1-8 - 1 John 2:24-26,27-29 - Luke 11:52), but only the reasons why we do it (4 Rommel 1:8-9 - 8:13-15 - 4 Rommel 2:60 - Genesis 12:9-20 - 20:1-13 - 26:1-11 - 37:1-36 - 42:1-26 - 43:1-15 - 44:1-13 - Job 32:1-3 - Joshua 22:22-29 - Ruth 3:1-14 - 1 Samuel 18:25 - 21:10-15 - 1 Kings 3:16-25 - 2 Kings 2:15-18 - 3:26-27 - 4:13-23,24-26,27-28 - 5:15-19 - 20:1-11 - 2 Samuel 12:15-20,21-23 - 14:1-4,18-21 - 15:30-37 - 16:15-19 - 1 Chronicles 12:16-17 - Luke 11:37-41 - 2 Samuel 22:27-28 - Ezra 7:8-10 - 8:21-23,24-34 - Nehemiah 4 - Jeremiah 38:14-16,24-28 - 4 Rommel 2:27-28 - 12:50-52 - 1 Corinthians 9:19-27 - 5 Rommel 5:48-50). God only wants to know whether a person's motivation is PUBLICLY justifiable in the mind of that person, or whether that person is aware of being unable to justify himself in a situation that would require it and in the presence of a being who knows everything (Luke 4:40-41 - 9:20-22 - 22:54-62 - John 17:11-12). Moses wonders how God will accomplish what he has declared (Numbers 11:21-23) while the officer of Jehoram king of Israel affirms that God will not be able to accomplish the word that he has spoken by the prophet Elisha (2 Kings 7:17-20). And at a time when the exact identity of God is still unknown, Solomon specifies that he does not want to build a house to make Yahweh live there but only to carry out the commandments that Yahweh gave to Moses (2 Chronicles 2:4-6). For the God of Israel only considers the information available to each person (Genesis 20:1-6 - Numbers 14:22-23 - Deuteronomy 11:1-9 - 31:9-13 - John 15:22 - Luke 10:1-12,13-15). It is the quality of the justification within the hearts that makes the difference between the events described in Numbers 13:1-33 - 14:1-21,22-39 - Deuteronomy 1:19-40 and in Numbers 14:40-45 - Deuteronomy 1:41-46 and in Numbers 32:1-23.

26 Certain communities in the past like the Egyptians could know the notion of eternal life but without knowing the right procedure to truly continue to exist in the hearts of humans (4 Rommel 12:60-61 - John 21:15-17 - 2 Corinthians 4:12-18 - 1 Timothy 3:16).

27 The law of Moses was not known before him (Exodus 30:12-16 - 34:19-25 - Leviticus 25:23-34 - Numbers 15:22-23 - Ezekiel 20:10-14 - Nehemiah 9:7-14). And each community had its own habits for it is evident that Job did not belong to the tribes of Israel (Deuteronomy 12:13-14 - Job 1:1-5 - 42:7-9,12-15 - Numbers 27:1-11 - Genesis 34:14-17 - Judges 14:10). And the promises made to Abraham were formulated before the circumcision which rewarded his integrity (Genesis 12:1-4 - Genesis 17:10-14,22-27 - Romans 4:13).

28 The only message of the Bible is that it was Jesus Christ who clearly revealed the existence and exact knowledge of the concept of eternal life to all those who could still doubt it (John 3:16 - Luke 17:20-21 - 1 Corinthians 15:1-11 - 1 Peter 1:24-25 - 1 John 1:1-4). For he was resurrected and he no longer died after that, he lives in the hearts of all his disciples in accordance with all his words in the gospel of John (Galatians 2:20-21 - Ephesians 1:22-23 - 2 Corinthians 5:17-18 - 3 Rommel 2:15).

29 He does not live in the body of one who is not his disciple (Romans 8:9 - 2 Corinthians 13:5).

30 And he also revealed the right way to find an admirable place in eternal life, that is by following his example and constantly clinging to the holy spirit (Leviticus 7:11-18 - 19:5-6 - 22:29-30 - Amos 4:1-5 - Leviticus 10:1-7,16-20 - Numbers 10:29-33 - 32:1-5,16-23 - 2 Corinthians 3:12-18 - 1 Samuel 4:1-22 - 7:1-17 - 1 Chronicles 21:28-30 - Joshua 22 - Colossians 1:24-29 - John 5:39-40 - Luke 7:23-30,31-35).

31 The patriarchs dedicated to God each of the places where they met his angels (Genesis 12:6-9 - 26:24-25 - 28:16-22 - 35:6-7,8-15). And later Moses built a house for God, a movable structure made according to the plans shown to him by God (Exodus 25:1-9). This is the tabernacle [the dwelling] which contained the ark of the covenant in which were placed the ten commandments written on tablets of stones (Exodus 25:16,21). And the tabernacle was created only to be an answer to the transgression of the people who have made a god that they could see with their eyes while Moses had gone to the mountain (1 Rommel 3:16).

32 And by disobeying Moses' command not to add or subtract anything from the laws (Deuteronomy 4:1-2 - 1 Samuel 30:9-10,11-25 - 1 Rommel 3:28-29), David replaced the tabernacle with a fixed house which was to be different at least in the structure of the openings (Exodus 26:1-6,7-15 - 1 Kings 6 - 2 Chronicles 3–4). And we see that Solomon who actually built this temple has celebrated the creation of God in the courtyard according the plans given to him by his father David who is the first to have wanted to make the ark of God dwell in a more comfortable structure (2 Samuel 7:1-3 - 1 Kings 8:17-20 - 1 Chronicles 28:9-21 - 2 Chronicles 4:1 - Exodus 38:1-2). Solomon made a container called the sea which rested on representations of bulls, although Moses was asked for a simple basin for washing with its base (Exodus 30:17-21 - 1 Kings 7:23-26 - 2 Chronicles 4:1-6). And Solomon made ten tables for the showbreads and ten candlesticks (1 Kings 7:48 - 1 Chronicles 23:27-30 - 28:15-16 - 2 Chronicles 4:7-8,19-20) that did not continue to exist in the same number (1 Kings 14:23-27), although it had been asked to Moses to make only one table for the showbreads (Exodus 25:23-30 - Numbers 4:4-8 - 1 Samuel 21:1-6 - 1 Chronicles 9:32 - Luke 6:4) and only one candlestick (Exodus 25:31-40 - Numbers 4:9-10). And Solomon made two special pillars used only for the decoration and who each had received a name as if it were a man (Jachin and Boaz) after their tops had been cluttered with several ornaments (1 Kings 7:13-22 - 2 Chronicles 3:15-17). And in this context of freedom (1 Kings 7:40-45 - 2 Kings 16:7-18), Solomon had an impressive throne made to visually describe the severity of his impartial judgment (1 Kings 7:7-8 - 10:18-20 - 2 Chronicles 9:17-19). [Kings do not come from the tribe of Levi which contains the priests the descendants of Aaron, and the throne of Solomon (1 Kings 7:1-12) cannot be located in the house of God which is created solely for the work of the priests and the other Levites (1 Rommel 3:22-23,30-32)]

33 What is to be remembered about the queen of Sheba (1 Kings 10:1-13 - 2 Chronicles 9:1-12) are not the details of the things that entice the eyes, because everything has been carried away by the wind from the reign of Rehoboam who was the immediate successor of Solomon his father (1 King 14:25-27) until the destruction of the kingdom of Judah (not the whole population but the social organization - 2 Kings 25:1-7 - Hosea 13:11). For what is to be remembered is the spirit of justice through which Solomon had consideration even for his servants, because it is only the works of the spirit of justice that endure eternally (4 Rommel 1:24). That is why the queen of Sheba said in other words: 'God wants to give an eternal legacy to this people Israel who currently live in this territory, because he loves them. Consequently, God has established a king over them who has enough intelligence to induce his people to make righteous judgments in all disputes that may arise'. It is the message that the prophet Isaiah gave in the time of some evil and good kings of the kingdom of Judah (Isaiah 1). And it is also the message that the prophet Zechariah gave to those who had just returned to the land of Judah from Babylon where the people had been taken captive during the destruction of the kingdom of Judah, a people who have rebuilt the house of God [this second house

will be destroyed nearly forty years after the death of Jesus of Nazareth who therefore lived under the law of Moses (4 Rommel 12:50-51)] but no longer established a kingdom (Zechariah 8 - 3 Rommel 2:18). Indeed, if one wishes to obtain a place of any nature in eternity, possibly after the death of the flesh (2 Kings 20:1-3 - Jeremiah 22:1-9,13-19), one must not seek to understand the intentions of God but one must only be satisfied with acting continuously with fairness (Proverbs 3:1-7 - 4 Rommel 11:23 - 12:62-65 - Psalms 45:6-7 - 89:14-18 - Luke 1:67-75,76-79 - 11:29-36 - 1 Peter 1:24-25 - 1 Rommel 3:14).

34 And later Ezekiel gave complete laws for a fixed house dedicated to God, contradicting Moses on several aspects (Ezekiel 43:10-12) and even on the offerings that must be made to God. [Now it is only the obligatory part of burnt offerings, and burnt offerings are not eaten (4 Rommel 13). For there is no fixed date in advance for the sacrifices that are eaten, and they are not affected by Ezekiel's changes (4 Rommel 7:13-20,21-24)].

35 And according to Ezekiel we will no longer observe a grouping of the territories attributed to the tribes of Reuben and Gad and to a part of the tribe of Manasseh (Numbers 32:28-33 - 34:1-12,13-15 - Joshua 1:12-15 - 14:1-5 - 17:1-6 - 18:5-7 - Ezekiel 47:21-23 - 48:1-8,22-29). Simeon was formerly a neighbor of Judah (Joshua 19:1,9) but according to Ezekiel, his new neighbors must be Benjamin and Issachar (Ezekiel 48:24-25). Nevertheless a continuity is observed through the proximity of Manasseh and Ephraim which are two distinct benedictions within Joseph (Ezekiel 48:4-6). But previously, some could have cities that belonged to them in the territory of others and this was not just about the first two sons of Joseph (Joshua 16:4-9 - 17:7-11). And Levi had no territory but only cities in the territories of everyone from the beginning (Deuteronomy 10:8-9 - 18:1-2 - Numbers 35:1-8), but it will no longer be the case (Ezechiel 48:8-22).

36 There is a remarkable quote that comes from the Babylonian Talmud which would have been designed nearly four centuries after Jesus Christ, the second work of its kind after the Jerusalem Talmud which would have been designed a few decades after Jesus Christ [and which consequently is more perverse because of the context of persecution, the rejection of christianity and the destruction of the jewish temple, the destruction of that second jewish temple having taken place because they revolted against the authority of the Romans in the same way that the revolt of Zedekiah the last king of Judah against the authority of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon had caused the destruction of the first temple built by Solomon king of Israel]. Each Talmud is an association of the Mishnah and its comments by some people, and a set of comments is called Gemara. And the Mishnah is established after Jesus Christ and is presumed to be an oral law continuously transmitted for generations and absolutely necessary for the understanding of the jewish torah, namely the Hebrew Bible called Tanakh which contains the Torah of Moses called the Torah [since the meaning of the word torah is teaching or doctrine or instruction]. This quote says: David and Job and Ezekiel have described the length of the Torah without putting a number to it. [For when we read the scriptures concerning these three persons, we find that there seem to be contradictions and consequently what is interesting is not what they do but solely the reasons why they do it: # In the book of Job, people who were content to defend God's cause, without regard for the context in which they were found, have been accused at the end of the book (Job 32:2-3 - 42:7-8). # And David, who may have drawn inspiration from the subtleties of the writings of Moses (Numbers 32:1-23 - 1 Rommel 3:28-29), takes initiatives that go beyond the law given by Moses

(Deuteronomy 4:1-2 - 1 Samuel 30:9-10,11-25 - 2 Samuel 7:1-3 - 1 Chronicles 21:28-30 - 4 Rommel 6:32 - 1:15-16). # And Ezekiel modifies the things that Moses commanded to be offered to God alone (4 Rommel 13), and also the structure of God's temple (Ezekiel 43:10-12) which had already been modified by David (1 Chronicles 28:9-19) compared to the plans given by Moses (Exodus 26:1-6,7-15 - 1 Kings 6 - 2 Chronicles 3–4).]

37 And Ezekiel is the only and unique prophet after Moses (Genesis - Exodus - Leviticus - Numbers - Deuteronomy) who enunciated new laws for the family of Jacob named Israel (Ezekiel 40 – 48), since all the other prophets simply made known the promises of God which concerned certain intervals of time of the future in relation to the time of their proclamation, knowing that David was not recognized as a prophet in his time according to the definition of a prophet in his time (2 Samuel 24:11 - 1 Chronicles 21:9 - 2 Chronicles 29:25 - 1 Samuel 9:9 - 2 Samuel 24:16-19 - 1 Chronicles 21:15-21 - 4 Rommel 4:8). However, in order to bear witness to significant events that can be useful in instructing others about what behaviors they should or should not have in their relationship with God, certain commemorations were instituted (Judges 11:30-40 - 2 Kings 25:8-10 - Zechariah 7:1-5 - Esther 9:20-32 - John 10:22-24) for the people who were united by the desire for a rigorous practice of the law of Moses. For some of them have even left their lands which had been given to them by Yahweh (Numbers 36 - Ezekiel 46:16-18), and have gone to dwell where they would have the opportunity to practice the commandments of which they had knowledge (2 Chronicles 11:1-12,13-17 - 15:8-9). [And concerning the different ways of bearing witness to an event, there were circumstantial habits that were initiated in particular contexts in order to bear witness to certain oaths (Ruth 4:7-8). And in a more distant past, some communities had a special way of ensuring that a promise would not be easily forgotten by the mind of the one who made it (Genesis 24:1-4,7-9 - 47:29-31). And the reason of the realization of a fasting in the ninth month of the fifth year of the reign of Jehoiakim king of Judah has not been indicated (Jeremiah 36:5-10). And we see that during the days of Jesus Christ, women have a certain habit (Luke 7:36-39 - John 12:1-2,3-8).]

38 For the writings of Moses do not contradict each other (Genesis 7:17-24 - 8:1-5). However, according to the nature of Yahweh who is mischievous and without wickedness, different details are sometimes provided elsewhere (Genesis 42:6-17 - 43:1-7 - Leviticus 4:13-14 - Numbers 15:24-26 - Deuteronomy 1:42-46 - Judges 11:14-17 - Numbers 20:14-21 - 2 Samuel 4:6,7 - 1 Chronicles 8:29-32 - 9:35-38 - 1 Samuel 25:28-31 - 1 Chronicles 11:1-3 - 1 Chronicles 16:1-7 - 2 Chronicles 29:25) and this reveals the flexibility of the commandments since everyone simply has to do his best.

39 For instance, it was previously recommended that six cities of refuge be established to shelter those who have committed justifiable murder (Numbers 35:6-7), and three of these cities were before the Jordan (Numbers 34:13-15 - 35:9-15 - Deuteronomy 4:20-22,41-49) outside the land of Canaan. However during the summary speeches which were given at the end of the journey of the children of Jacob in the wilderness, from the eleventh month of the fortieth and final year (Exodus 7:7 - Numbers 20:22-29 - 26:63-65 - 33:36-39 - Deuteronomy 1:1-5 - 3:18-29 - Numbers 27:12-14 - 33:47-48 - Deuteronomy 32:48-52 - 34:1-5) when the ark of the covenant of God had not yet entered the territory of the Canaanites neither by the river Jordan nor by the mountains (Numbers 14:40-45 - Joshua 3:1-4), it is specified that if the people are obedient to God then they will add three more cities of refuge to accommodate innocent murderers (Deuteronomy 19:1-10). [The logic remains unchanged in the improbable hypothesis where Numbers 35:1-8 would have been stated after Deuteronomy 19:1-10]

40 But the exact identity of the holy spirit could not be known while the hereditary tribe of Levi remained, since these children of Jacob were the only ones authorized to serve in the house of Yahweh (Numbers 3:14-16,39-41,42-51 - 8:22-26 - Deuteronomy 10:5-9 - 18:1-8 - Nehemiah 8:6-12).

41 For if God owns a house, then who is authorized to perform a function in it and what is the particular service that is rendered to God (Deuteronomy 12:1-12,13-14 - 14:22-27,28-29).

42 Even during a time when they actually have livestock available in the wilderness, continuous morning and evening burnt offerings (Exodus 29:38-42,43-46) cannot be made until the tabernacle is installed (Acts 7:38-42,43-45). For this tabernacle is dismantled and carried whenever the congregation moves (Exodus 40:36-38 - Numbers 4:1-33,49 - 9:15-23 - Deuteronomy 1:32-33 - Numbers 33:1-49).

43 And in accordance with the words of the prophet Isaiah (Isaiah 66:1-2) spoken long before Ezekiel (Isaiah 1:1 - Ezekiel 1:1-3) and after David who is the second king of Israel, Jesus of Nazareth revealed that the house of God is the body of the human being (and even living beings).

44 One gets the impression that the book Song of songs of Solomon gives importance to physical appearances (Song of songs 4 - 5) but this is only to serve as a comparison (John 3:26-29,30-36 - 2 Corinthians 11:1-3 - Luke 13:18-21 - Ezekiel 16:1-43), since the desires of the flesh are used to describe the quality of the relationship between God or more precisely the Son of God on the one hand (since it is obvious that the bridegroom described is not Solomon - Song of songs 1:1 - 8:11-12), and on the other hand each of his disciples who is for him a bride (John 13:33-35 - 14:15 - Psalms 119:1-37,67-77,135-142).

45 We are currently on the sixth day of creation. And the holy sabbath of God is Jesus Christ, for the one who attaches oneself only to the spirit has no need of any other initiative and must simply bear in patience and humility one's own ancient sins and those of one's genealogy (Exodus 34:5-7 - 1 Peter 5:6-9 - 2 Corinthians 11:23-33 - Acts 22:1-21,22-24).

46 Now I do not know which biblical writings influenced the early Christian apologist and philosopher Justin Martyr the most, but I note that his teaching is that of a person who could have had a great confidence in the thirteen epistles of the apostle Paul and the two epistles of Peter, and who knew that Jesus Christ did not impose the creation of structures whose sole purpose is to worship him, but who did not succeed in identifying the exact definition of eternal life (1 Rommel 3:2). It is said that Justin Martyr was born less than seventy years after the death of Jesus Christ, and Justin teaches as a person who knows that Jesus Christ has existed, and has put an end to the various laws given by Moses to the children of Jacob, and has revealed the purpose of life. For Justin has said the following things which I think I did not alter the meaning.

47 # The new law requires a perpetual sabbath. As for you, you think that you are godly because you idle for one day each week, without understanding why these things had been commanded to you. (Dialogue with Trypho the Jew, chapter 12) # Moreover, all those righteous men already mentioned [that is to say, Enoch, Noah, Melchizedek, Abraham], though they kept no sabbaths, were pleasing to God. And after them Abraham with all his descendants until Moses, under whom your nation appeared unrighteous and ungrateful to God, making a calf in the wilderness. This is why, accommodating himself to that nation, God enjoined them also to offer sacrifices, as if to his name, in order that you might not serve idols. However you have not observed those precepts, and you have sacrificed your children to demons. And you were commanded to keep sabbaths in order to retain the memorial of God, since his word makes this announcement by saying in Ezekiel 20:12, 'So that you may know that I am God who sanctifies you'. (Dialogue with Trypho the Jew, chapter 19) # For you are not distinguished in any other way than by the fleshly circumcision, as I remarked previously. For Abraham was declared by God to be righteous, not on account of circumcision, but on account of faith. For before he was circumcised the following statement was made regarding him, 'Abraham believed God, and it was accounted to him for righteousness', Genesis 15:6. And we, therefore, in the uncircumcision of our flesh, believing God through Christ, and having that circumcision which is of advantage to us who have acquired it — namely, that of the heart — we hope to appear righteous before and well-pleasing to God, since already we have received His testimony through the words of the prophets. And, further, God will be slandered unless you acknowledge that you were commanded to observe the Sabbath, and to present offerings, and that the Lord submitted to have a place called by the name of God, in order that, as has been said, you might not become impious and godless by worshipping idols and forgetting God, as indeed you do always appear to have been. Now, that God enjoined the ordinances of Sabbaths and offerings for these reasons, I have proved in what I previously remarked. But for the sake of those who came today, I wish to repeat nearly the whole. (Dialogue with Trypho the Jew, chapter 92)

48 # But since sensation remains for all who have ever lived, and eternal punishment is reserved (that is, for the wicked), see that you do not neglect to be convinced and believe that these things are true. For let even necromancy, and the divinations which you practice by immaculate children, and the evocation of departed human souls, and those who are called among the magi, dream senders and assistant spirits (familiars), and all that is done by those who are skilled in such matters, let these things persuade you that even after death souls are in a state of sensation... We expect to receive again our own bodies, though they be dead and cast into the earth, for we maintain that with God nothing is impossible. (The First Apology, chapter 18) # But lest some should, without reason, and for the perversion of what we teach, maintain that we say that Christ was born one hundred and fifty years ago under Cyrenius, and subsequently, in the time of Pontius Pilate, taught what we say he taught. And lest they cry out against us as though all men who were born before him were irresponsible. Let us anticipate and solve the difficulty. We have been taught that Christ is the firstborn of God, and we have declared above that he is the Word of whom every kind of men were partakers. And those who lived reasonably are Christians, even though they have been thought atheists, like Socrates and Heraclitus among the Greeks, and men like them. (The First Apology, chapter 46) # For I myself, when I discovered the wicked disguise which the evil spirits had thrown around the divine doctrines of the Christians, to turn aside others from joining them, I laughed both at those who framed these falsehoods, and at the disguise itself, and at popular opinion, and I confess that I both boast and with all my strength strive to be found a Christian. Not because the teachings of Plato are different from those of Christ, but because they are not in all respects similar, as neither are those of the others, Stoics, and poets, and historians. For each man spoke well in proportion to the share that he had of the spermatic word, seeing what was related to it. But they who contradict themselves on the more important points appear not to have possessed the heavenly wisdom, and the knowledge which cannot be spoken against. Whatever things were rightly said among all men, are the property of us Christians. For next to God, we worship and love the Word who is from the unbegotten and ineffable God. (The Second Apology, chapter 13)

49 # Hence we are called atheists. And we confess that we are atheists, so far as gods of this sort are concerned, but not with respect to the most true God, the Father of righteousness and temperance and the other virtues, who is free from all impurity. But both him, and the Son (who came forth from him and taught us these things, and the host of the other good angels who follow and are made like to him), and the prophetic Spirit, we worship and adore, knowing them in reason and truth, and declaring without grudging to every one who wishes to learn, as we have been taught. (The First Apology, chapter 6) # Our doctrines, then, appear to be greater than all human teaching. Because Christ, who appeared for our sakes, became the whole rational being, both body, and reason, and soul. For whatever either lawgivers or philosophers uttered well, they elaborated by finding and contemplating some part of the Word. But since they did not know the whole of the Word, which is Christ, they often contradicted themselves. And those who by human birth were more ancient than Christ, when they attempted to consider and prove things by reason, were brought before the tribunals as impious persons and busybodies [Now a busybody is a body that is inhabited by evil spirits]. And Socrates, who was more zealous in this direction than all of them, was accused of the very same crimes as ourselves. For they said that he was introducing new divinities, and did not consider those to be gods whom the state recognized. But he cast out from the state both Homer and the rest of the poets, and taught men to reject the wicked demons and those who did the things which the poets related. And he exhorted them to become acquainted with the God who was to them unknown, by means of the investigation of reason. And he said, 'It is not easy to find the Father and Maker of all things, and it is not safe to declare him to all after having found him'. But our Christ has done these things through his own power. For no one trusted in Socrates so as to die for this doctrine, in spite of the fact that Christ was partially known even by Socrates since Christ was and is the Word who is in every man, and who foretold the things that were to come to pass, and who foretold it both through the prophets and by his own person when he was teaching while being animated by the same passions. But concerning Christ, not only philosophers and scholars believed, but also artisans and people entirely uneducated, despising both glory, and fear, and death. For he is a power of the ineffable Father, not the mere instrument of human reason. (The Second Apology, chapter 10)

50 What sober-minded man, then, will not acknowledge that we are not atheists, worshiping as we do the Maker of this universe, and declaring, as we have been taught, that he has no need of streams of blood and libations and incense. We praise him to the utmost of our power by the exercise of prayer and thanksgiving for all things wherewith we are supplied, as we have been taught that the only honor that is worthy of him is not to consume by fire what he has brought into being for our sustenance, but to use it for ourselves and for those who are in need, and to do it with gratitude to him, by offering thanks with invocations and hymns for our creation, and for all the means of health, and for the various qualities of the different kinds of things, and for the changes of the seasons. And to present supplications before him in order to live in incorruption through faith in him. Our teacher of these things is Jesus Christ, who also was born for this purpose, and was crucified under Pontius Pilate, procurator of Judea, in the times of Tiberius Caesar. And we reasonably worship him, having learned that he is the Son of the true God himself, and holding him in the second place, and the prophetic Spirit in the third place, as we will prove. For they proclaim our madness to consist in this, that we give to a crucified man a place second to the unchangeable and eternal God, the creator of all things. It is because they do not discern the mystery that is herein, to which, as we make it plain to you, we pray you to give heed. (The First Apology, Chapter 13)

51 # Trypho: Be assured that all our nation waits for Christ, and we admit that all the Scriptures which you have quoted refer to Him. Moreover, I do also admit that the name of Jesus, by which the the son of Nave (Nun) was called, has inclined me very strongly to adopt this view. But whether Christ should be so shamefully crucified, this we are in doubt about. For whosoever is crucified is said in the law to be accursed, so that I am exceedingly incredulous on this point. It is quite clear, indeed, that the Scriptures announce that Christ had to suffer. But we wish to learn if you can prove it to us whether it was by the suffering cursed in the law. (Dialogue with Trypho the Jew, chapter 89) # Trypho: Those who affirm him to have been a man, and to have been anointed by election, and then to have become Christ, appear to me to speak more plausibly than you who hold those opinions which you express. For we all expect that Christ will be a man born of men, and that Elijah when he comes will anoint him. But if this man appear to be Christ, he must certainly be known as man born of men. But from the circumstance that Elijah has not yet come, I infer that this man is not He [the Christ]... Trypho: This statement also seems to me paradoxical, namely the fact that the prophetic Spirit of God, who was in Elijah, was also in John... Justin: Do you not think that the same thing happened in the case of Joshua the son of Nun, who succeeded to the command of the people after Moses, when Moses was commanded to lay his hands on Joshua, and God said to him, 'I will take of the spirit which is in you, and put it on him'... Trypho: Certainly... Justin: As therefore, while Moses was still among men, God took of the spirit which was in Moses and put it on Joshua, even so God was able to cause the spirit of Elijah to come on John. And therefore, as Christ at his first coming appeared inglorious, even so the first coming of the spirit, which remained always pure in Elijah like that of Christ, might be perceived to be inglorious. (Dialogue with Trypho the Jew, chapter 19 - Numbers 27:15-17,18-20,21-23 - Deuteronomy 34:7-9)

52 Now I have a different interpretation regarding the connection between John the Baptist and Elijah (4 Rommel 2:62-65 - 14:12), and I specify the only purpose of prayer (4 Rommel 6:36). And regarding water baptism (4 Rommel 6:39-43), I assert that it is impossible that the authors of the epistles of Paul and Peter and John have declared that the name of the creator was too holy to be uttered since their only message is that it is enough to know Jesus to know God. However, because of the nuances contained in the writings of these apostles, it is possible that the one who wrote the content of the five previous verses also wrote the following things about water baptism, but this is difficult to understand and what is intriguing is that he does not specify how a person obtains the right to baptize others.

53 I will also relate the manner in which we dedicated ourselves to God when we had been made new through Christ. Lest, if we omit this, we seem to be unfair in the explanation we are making. As many as are persuaded and believe that what we teach and say is true, and undertake to be able to live accordingly, are instructed to pray and to entreat God with fasting, for the remission of their sins that are past, we praying and fasting with them. Then they are brought by us where there is water, and are regenerated in the same manner in which we were ourselves regenerated. For, in the name of God, the Father and Lord of the universe, and of our Savior Jesus Christ, and of the Holy Spirit, they then receive the washing with water. For Christ also said, 'Except you are born again, you will not enter into the kingdom of heaven'. Now, that it is impossible for those who have once been born to enter into the wombs of their mothers, is manifest to all. And how those who have sinned and repent will escape their sins, is declared by Isaiah the prophet, as I wrote above. He thus speaks: 'Wash you, make you clean, put away the evil of your doings from your souls, learn to do well, judge the fatherless, and plead for the widow. And come and let us reason together, says the Lord. And though your sins be as scarlet, I will make them white like wool. And though they be as crimson, I will make them white as snow. But if you refuse and rebel, then the sword will devour you. For the mouth of the Lord has spoken it'. And for this [rite] we have learned from the apostles the following reason. At our birth we were born without our own knowledge or choice, by our parents coming together, and were brought up in bad habits and wicked training. So the rite is done so that we may not remain the children of necessity and of ignorance, but may become the children of choice and knowledge, and may obtain in the water the remission of sins formerly committed. Therefore the first thing that is pronounced over him who chooses to be born again and has repented of his sins, is the name of God the Father and Lord of the universe. For he who leads to the laver the person that is to be washed calls him by this name alone. For no one can utter the name of the ineffable God, and if any one dare to say that there is a name then he raves with a hopeless madness. And this washing is called illumination, because they who learn these things are illuminated in their understandings. And the second thing that is pronounced is the name of Jesus Christ, who was crucified under Pontius Pilate. And the third thing that is pronounced is the name of the Holy Spirit who through the prophets foretold all things about Jesus. And then he who is illuminated is washed. (The First Apology, Chapter 61) ... Old Man: But I do not say, indeed, that all souls die. For that were truly a piece of good fortune to the evil. What then? The souls of the pious remain in a better place, while those of the unjust and wicked are in a worse, waiting for the time of judgment. Thus some which have appeared worthy of God never die, but others are punished so long as God wills them to exist and to be punished... Justin: Is what you say, then, of a like nature with that which Plato in Timaeus hints about the world, when he says that it is indeed subject to decay, inasmuch as it has been created, but that it will neither be dissolved nor meet with the fate of death on account of the will of God? Does it seem to you the very same can be said of the soul, and generally of all things? For those things which exist after God, or will at any time exist, these have the nature of decay, and are such as may be blotted out and cease to exist. For God alone is unbegotten and incorruptible, and therefore He is God, but all other things after Him are created and corruptible. For this reason souls both die and are punished. Since, if they were unbegotten, they would neither sin, nor be filled with folly, nor be cowardly, and again ferocious. Neither would they willingly transform into swine, and serpents, and dogs, and it would not indeed be just to compel them, if they be unbegotten. For that which is unbegotten is similar to, equal to, and the same with that which is unbegotten; and neither in power nor in honor should the one be preferred to the other, and hence there are not many things which are unbegotten. For if there were some difference between them, you would not discover the cause of the difference, though you searched for it. But after letting the mind ever wander to infinity, you would at length, wearied out, take your stand on one Unbegotten, and say that this is the Cause of all. Did such escape the observation of Plato and Pythagoras, those wise men who have been as a wall and fortress of philosophy to us? (Dialogue with Trypho the Jew, chapter 5).

54 Now Justin Martyr has clearly indicated several times in the excerpts not concerning water baptism that he was saying things as they had been taught to them. So I think there are relevant things that we do not have in the form of writings from their authors but that had been said and taught either by the apostles (Acts 20:17-21 - 28:16-31), or by the disciples of the apostles (2 Timothy 2:1-7), or by other persons who had a better knowledge of the events of the life of Jesus Christ. And I think that among those relevant statements whose true authors we do not know is the introduction to the Epistle to the Hebrews, an epistle which contains many lies (4 Rommel 2:24-25 - 5 Rommel 9:5-18) but where the following thing is said: After having spoken in the past to our fathers through the prophets at various times and in various ways. God has spoken to us in these last days through his Son, whom he has appointed heir of all things and by whom he also made the worlds. And the Son, being the brightness of the glory of the God and the very image of the substance of God, and upholding all things by his mighty word, has made the purification of sins and has gone to sit down at the right hand of the Majesty in the highest places. For he is so much better than angels that he has obtained a name that is more excellent than theirs (Hebrews 1:1-4).

55 Indeed, some authors may draw inspiration from knowledge that was proclaimed before them and whose full meaning they do not necessarily understand [For example, when Justin writes 'And after them Abraham with all his descendants until Moses, under whom your nation appeared unrighteous and ungrateful to God, making a calf in the wilderness. This is why, accommodating himself to that nation, God enjoined them also to offer sacrifices, as if to his name, in order that you might not serve idols', and he adds 'And, further, God will be slandered unless you acknowledge that you were commanded to observe the Sabbath, and to present offerings, and that the Lord submitted to have a place called by the name of God, in order that, as has been said, you might not become impious and godless by worshipping idols and forgetting God, as indeed you do always appear to have been', it is obvious that those who designed these explanations had understood that the name of God is not a literal expression but the knowledge of the behavior that must be adopted to be pleasing to him (Psalms 91:14 - 1 Kings 5:5 - 8:17-19,27-30 - 1 Chronicles 29:16 - 2 Chronicles 2:4-6 - Deuteronomy 12:8-12,13-18 - Luke 19:35-38 - John 12:12-13). But Justin did not understand it that way, since he continued to suppose that there is a name of God which is too holy to be pronounced. Moreover, Justin wrote 'And for this [rite] we have learned from the apostles the following reason. At our birth we were born without our own knowledge or choice, by our parents coming together, and were brought up in bad habits and wicked training. So the rite is done so that we may not remain the children of necessity and of ignorance, but may become the children of choice and knowledge', and this seems authentic to me because each apostle is free to invent his own method for teaching the knowledge of Christ (1 Corinthians 3:1-8,9-15 - 4:1-6), but Justin has continued this statement by adding 'and may obtain in the water the remission of sins formerly committed', and I think that it is his personal initiative and that the apostles cannot have said this thing because it is not true]. This is what Justin Martyr thinks of the Greek philosopher Plato since he wrote the following thing.

56 And the physiological discussion concerning the Son of God in the Timaeus of Plato, where he says, 'He placed him crosswise in the universe', he borrowed in like manner from Moses. For in the writings of Moses it is related how at that time, when the Israelites went out of Egypt and were in the wilderness, they fell in with poisonous beasts, both vipers and asps, and every kind of serpent, which slew the people. And that Moses, by the inspiration and influence of God, took brass, and made it into the figure of a cross, and set it in the holy tabernacle, and said to the people, 'If you look to this figure, and believe, you will be saved thereby'. And when this was done, it is recorded that the serpents died, and it is handed down that the people thus escaped death. Which things Plato reading, and not accurately understanding, and not apprehending that it was the figure of the cross, but taking it to be a placing crosswise, he said that the power next to the first God was placed crosswise in the universe. And as to his speaking of a third, he did this because he read, as we said above, that which was spoken by Moses, 'that the Spirit of God moved over the waters'. For he gives the second place to the Logos which is with God, who he said was placed crosswise in the universe. And the third place to the Spirit who was said to be borne on the water, saying, 'And the third around the third'. And hear how the Spirit of prophecy signified through Moses that there should be a conflagration. He spoke thus: 'Everlasting fire will descend, and will devour to the pit beneath'. It is not, then, that we hold the same opinions as others, but that all speak in imitation of ours. Among us these things can be heard and learned from persons who do not even know the forms of the letters, who are uneducated and barbarous in speech, though wise and believing in mind. Some, indeed, even are maimed and deprived of eyesight, so that you may understand that these things are not the effect of human wisdom, but are uttered by the power of God. (The First Apology, Chapter 60 - 4 Rommel 6:24)

57 And the holy Spirit of prophecy taught us this, telling us by Moses that God spoke thus to the man first created: 'Behold, before thy face are good and evil: choose the good'. And again, by the other prophet Isaiah, that the following utterance was made as if from God the Father and Lord of all, 'Wash you, make you clean. Put away evils from your souls, learn to do well, judge the orphan, and plead for the widow. And come and let us reason together, says the Lord. If your sins are like scarlet, then I will make them white as wool. And if they are red like as crimson, then I will make them white as snow. For if you are willing and obey me, then you will eat the good of the land. But if you do not obey me, then the sword will devour you. For the mouth of the Lord has spoken it'. And that expression, 'The sword will devour you', does not mean that the disobedient will be kill by the sword, but the sword of God is a fire of which those who choose to act wickedly become the fuel. Therefore he says, 'The sword will devour you, for the mouth of the Lord has spoken it'. And if He had spoken concerning a sword that cuts and at once despatches, He would not have said, will devour. And so, too, Plato, when he says, 'The blame is his who chooses, and God is blameless', took this from the prophet Moses and uttered it. For Moses is more ancient than all the Greek writers. And whatever both philosophers and poets have said concerning the immortality of the soul, or punishments after death, or contemplation of heavenly things, or doctrines of the like kind, they have received such suggestions from the prophets as have enabled them to understand and interpret these things. And hence there seem to be seeds of truth among all men, but they are charged with not accurately understanding [the truth] when they assert contradictories. (The First Apology, Chapter 44)

3 Rommel 2

1 Preface to the Testament of Jesus Christ, second part.

2 Jesus has prayed only to strengthen himself (4 Rommel 6:36) and he has spoken out loud so that we may trust the holy spirit and know how to strengthen ourselves (John 11:40-42 - 17:13-15 - Luke 11:1-4,13).

3 When we come into the world, we do not know how to behave in order to archive our own goal without this being followed by any unpleasant surprise through cause and effect relationships. [For each person is free to set his own goals (John 1:35-39 - 16:23-24 - Proverbs 24:17-18 - 2 Thessalonians 3:1-5,6-16 - 2 Peter 2:9-19 - 4 Rommel 12:24-25 - Luke 6:31). Ezra returned to Jerusalem in the seventh year of king Artaxerxes (Ezra 7:1-7,8-10) several decades after the completion of the reconstruction of the house of Yahweh (Ezra 6:15-18), but the will to rebuild the wall of Jerusalem is an initiative of Nehemiah who returned to the promised land in the twentieth year of king Artaxerxes (Nehemiah 1:1-11 - 2:1-20 - 8:1-6 - 13:1-6). And even among the apostles of Christ who are filled with the Holy Spirit, each one can have his own opinion concerning the solution that is suitable in a particular context to achieve the only objective which is the glorification of the God of Israel (Acts 9:17-20 - 11:19-22,23-26 - 13:1-4 - 15:35-41 - Romans 14:1-5,6-13 - John 3:8 - 2 Timothy 3:16-17).]

4 Perhaps we must trust people who are rich, or old people, or very strong people, or our parents regardless of our age (2 Chronicles 21:1-5 - Judges 9:1-5 - 1 Kings 12:10 - Job 32:1-10 - 2 Chronicles 15:16-17 - 22:8-12 - 2 Kings 6:24-29,30-31 - Isaiah 2:22).

5 Maybe we have to lie to everyone when there is no constraint and simply to protect our privacy or for fun (Judges 1:22-26 - Zechariah 8:16-17 - 1 Samuel 25:14-38 - 2 Samuel 13:10-20 - 2 Kings 5:15-27 - John 3:20-21 - Isaiah 5:8-16).

6 Maybe we have to make human sacrifices (Jeremiah 7:31 - 32:35 - Judges 11:30-40 - Deuteronomy 23:21-23 - Leviticus 27:28-29 - Ezekiel 20:25-26,30-31), or call on the dead to ask them what our behavior should be among those who are alive (1 Samuel 28:11-15), or carefully observe the brightness of the night and the configuration of the most visible stars (2 Kings 21:6) in order to achieve our own goals with a lasting satisfaction (Jeremiah 9:23-24 - Habakkuk 2 - Isaiah 5:21-24).

7 There is only one solution which is completely revealed by Jesus of Nazareth (2 Chronicles 9:7-8 - 1 Peter 1:18-25 - John 3:16 - Colossians 1:21-23) who created the following information in the world.

8 While I am with you, you see what spirit I am animates with but you do not yet understand. The jews have a special day of the week that they call the sabbath, but I do not worry about it (John 5:16-18).

9 The holy spirit has nothing to do with any periodic or genealogical law (John 15:22-27). The only important thing is to be concerned about the well-being of others in a global way without necessarily focusing on certain people in particular.

10 The holy spirit has nothing to do with any commandment (4 Rommel 6:25). The only important thing is to be sincerely concerned about the well-being of others in a global way without necessarily focusing on certain people in particular, even not on oneself.

11 Moses does not know the exact identity of God and when he addresses prayers to the angels for the cause of the people, this above all allows God to examine the mind of Moses. And the holy spirit and we ourselves see that Moses is a pleasant man (Exodus 32:30-35 - Deuteronomy 9:7-23,24-29 - 1 Corinthians 2:9-10). And Yahweh could indeed destroy the people whose behavior offended him and use only Moses and a few others like Joshua, and the children who were among the people and who could not be considered to be completely guilty because of their young ages, to establish the inheritance of Abraham and Isaac and Jacob, but that would not have given importance to the miracles which he performed in Egypt to free the descendants of Jacob (Deuteronomy 32:26-28 - Ezekiel 20:6-14) and all those who joined them (Exodus 12:37-38). Jonah did not know the exact definition of eternal life but just a vague idea of what it is (Job 14:10-15 - 1 Rommel 1:33), and he would prefer that God send someone else to make a fool of himself by announcing a real disaster that will never happen (Jonah 1:1-3 - 4:1-4). It is possible that the angels have already used him in this way a number of times, and it is for this reason that Jonah had fled, but we can think that Jonah is not perfect (Jonah 4:5-11 - 1 Rommel 3:20) as Moses was not perfect (1 Rommel 3:7).

12 It is when I will be killed and resurrected that you will truly understand my message (John 12:32-34 - 19:14-16 - Daniel 7:13-15).

13 I bear witness to the power of the holy spirit who is my father and the father of all my brothers (Luke 12:11-12). And those whose father he is not are destined to live in the pleasures of the world and to disappear without leaving anything really interesting or useful in the world. If all their works are not destroyed over time, what remains will have at best a secondary use.

14 I am the way and the truth and the life, and I give you a unique commandment (John 13:34-35 - 14:1-7).

15 If you obey then I (Luke 21:14-15 - John 14:18-21) and my father (Luke 12:11-12 - John 14:15-17,22-26) will live in your body. You will be the temple of God in the same way that my body is the temple of God (John 2:19-21).

16 Give up all the rituals and tricks that you learned from your parents or neighbors or that you yourself invented (Jeremiah 16:19-21 - 1 Thessalonians 4:1-8), and attach yourself only to me alone, to what I taught you, to my only commandment, and teach this to everyone (Numbers 27:15-17 - John 10:1-16).

17 The jewish people desire a prince who is submitted to God by a high priest fully engaged in service in the temple of God (Numbers 27:18-23 - Judges 17:6-13 - 18:13-20 - Ezekiel 37:21-23,24-25,26-28), a temple of God built by the hand of man (Ezekiel 43:10-12 - 44:1-5 - 46:1-3,8-10 - Isaiah 6). I am this prince and this high priest and this temple of God, and my disciples are a kingdom of priests to God the Father and to God the holy spirit (Exodus 19:1-9).

18 Concerning the prophecies about the return of a few selected individuals from the families of the tribes that were scattered more than a century before Ezekiel, they were fulfilled after Ezekiel when a part of the tribe of Judah returned from Babylon to build the second temple. And since these returns there has been no king in Israel (Joshua 23 - 2 Kings 17:1-23 - 25:1-22 - 1 Chronicles 5:10,18-26 - Amos 9:7-15 - Jeremiah 3:1-16 - 23:5-8 - 25:9-12 - 30:1-24 - 32:25-44 - Ezekiel 16:44-55,56-59,60-61,62-63 - 20:27-44 - 34:11-24 - Nehemiah 6:1-9,10-14 - Luke 1:26-35 - John 19:28-30). The word of Yahweh was given by Zechariah during the rebuilding of the house of Yahweh by children of Israel who had already returned from captivity from Babylon and perhaps from elsewhere (Zechariah 8:1-15 - Ezra 6:14), and other children of Israel returned voluntarily to the promised land from Babylon and perhaps from elsewhere later in the seventh year of one of the kings of Persia surnamed Artaxerxes (Ezra 7:1-10 - 8:1-14,15-36), and Nehemiah took the initiative to return to rebuild the wall of Jerusalem later in the twentieth year of that same king of Persia (Nehemiah 1:1-11 - 2:1-9) since Ezra is a contemporary of Nehemiah (Nehemiah 8:1-6). And Ezekiel even provided that foreigners could own plots of land that will be their inheritance when the prince comes (Ezekiel 47:13-14,21-23 - 1 Rommel 3:49). [Now the rebuilding of the house of God was completed in the sixth year of Darius king of Persia whose kingdom included Jerusalem (Ezra 6:15-18), and this Darius continued to reign for nearly thirty years after this event, and after that there was a Persian king surnamed Ahasuerus who reigned for nearly twenty years (Esther 2:16-17 - 3:7-8 - 9:1-2), and after that there was the king surnamed Artaxerxes who gave permissions to Ezra and Nehemiah.]

19 You are free to use your imagination to create different forms of schools of faith to attract the attention of different populations who have varying traditions, but the message must be the same (1 Corinthians 3:9-15).

20 In the flesh you will die as I will die, but if you persevere then I promise you that in spirit you will live in the same way that I will be eternally alive, and some of you will have the privilege of witnessing my resurrection (Acts 10:39-43). And they will be continuously alive through this information that they will transmit to you (John 17:24).

21 Therefore dwell in me and sin no more (Ephesians 4:17-32 - John 3:16-18 - Isaiah 59).

22 When a community is rejected by God, it is not individuals who are rejected but the practices that characterize the existence of these communities and constitute their inheritance (Deuteronomy 23:1-6 - Ruth 1:4,16 - Judges 11:1-11 - 2 Kings 10:28-31 - 14:23-27 - 4 Rommel 2:26 - 11:31).

23 Indeed the inheritance of the knowledge of God that comes from Abraham and from one of his sons named Isaac (Genesis 16:1-16 - 18:9-14 - 21:1-5 - 25:1-6), was integrally transmitted to Jacob (Genesis 28:10-15 - 35:9-12) by excluding his twin brother Esau (Genesis 25:21-26 - Malachi 1:1-3 - Ezekiel 33:23-29). And this inheritance is me (Genesis 12:1-4 - 18:18-19 - 22:15-18 - John 8:19-25 - Colossians 2:1-3).

24 After this clarification of the teaching of Jesus, I want to tell that it is important to make the link between all the writings of the same author, at least in the same book, to understand the meaning given to the words used.

25 For example poverty (Luke 6:20 - 12:16-21 - 18:18-22,23-27,28-30 - 5 Rommel 7:2), or anger (Proverbs 19:11 - 29:11 - Ecclesiastes 7:9 - Philippians 4:5 - Proverbs 13:24 - 22:6 - Luke 18:15-17 - 19:45-48 - John 2:13-17 - 2 Corinthians 7:8-12 - Ephesians 4:26), or killing (Exodus 20:13 - 21:12-14 - Leviticus 24:17-22 - Numbers 35:9-34 - Deuteronomy 5:17 - 19:1-13,16-21), and also educational depictions such as the writing of the ten commandments on an artistically worked thing (Exodus 20:4 - 25:16-17,18-22 - 26:1,31 - Deuteronomy 5:8 - 6:6-9 - 11:18-20 - Joshua 4:1-9,20-24 - Leviticus 8:5-9 - Judges 17:1-5). And Solomon had an impressive throne made to visually describe the severity of his impartial judgment (1 Kings 7:7-8 - 10:18-20 - 2 Chronicles 9:17-19).

26 Old forms of master-slaves relationships where the one is supposed to continuously provide day and night for all the needs of the other have evolved (Exodus 21:5-6 - Deuteronomy 28:68 - Leviticus 19:20). For it is God the Father who afflicts the ones possibly through others (Ruth 1:20 - Jeremiah 27:1-8).

27 And with abuses and revolts and regulations, these relationships take new forms between employees and employers (Galatians 3:28 - Colossians 3:18-25 - 1 Peter 2:17-20). But as with obedience to parents, the holy spirit defines the limits of all things (Ephesians 6:1-9 - 1 Kings 2:19-23 - 15:11-14).

28 Moses' pedagogy was temporary and with a family character (Galatians 3:19-26). For it was a pedagogy in which everyone simply had to do his best (Leviticus 4:27-32 - 5:5-11 - 12:8 - 14:9-11,21-23,31-32 - 27:8).

29 And it was not genealogy that was rejected in this pedagogy set forth by the angels of Yahweh (Genesis 17:10-14 - Deuteronomy 20:1,10-15 - 21:10-17 - Isaiah 56:3-8 - Judges 1:16 - 2 Samuel 15:13-22 - 1 Kings 11:1-3 - 14:21,31 - 2 Chronicles 12:13) but only idolatrous practices (Genesis 15:16 - Exodus 23:27-33 - Deuteronomy 20:15-18 - 1 Kings 11:4-10 - 4 Rommel 6:26-29,30-32).

30 But the message of Jesus Christ is universal and permanent (Ephesians 2:11-22) as manifested in the following prayer.

31 Lord Jesus Christ, you have taught me that all human beings are equal in your sight and that the only thing that you ask is the spirit of righteousness in the hearts (1 Corinthians 5:6-8 - Colossians 3:11).

32 Everything in the universe belongs to you, and we each have the right to do whatever we want (2 Samuel 7:1-3 - 1 Chronicles 17:1-2 - Psalms 132:1-10) but only to serve you (1 Corinthians 3:21-23 - Colossians 3:17).

Luke

Luke 1

1 In view of the fact that many have undertaken to write a narrative of those things of which we are completely convinced that they have occurred among us.

2 According to what has been transmitted to us by those who were eyewitnesses from the beginning and who became ministers of the word.

3 It has seemed good to me also, having thoroughly searched out all these things from the events of their beginning, to present them to you in writing and in an orderly manner, very excellent Theophilus.

4 So that you may know the certainty of those things which have been taught to you.

5 In the days of Herod king of Judea, there was a priest named Zacharias who was of the division of Abia. And his wife was of the daughters of Aaron, and her name was Elisabeth.

6 Both of them were righteous before God, keeping all the commandments and ordinances of the Lord blamelessly.

7 And they had no child because Elisabeth was barren, and they were both now advanced in age.

8 Now he was performing his duty as a priest before God according to the order of his division.

9 And the custom of the priests in those days was to distribute tasks by choosing by lot the one who should perform a certain task, and Zacharias was chosen at that time to burn incense into the temple of the Lord.

10 And the whole multitude of the people were praying outside at the time of incense.

11 Then an angel of the Lord appeared to Zacharias and was standing on the right side of the altar of incense.

12 And when Zacharias saw him, then Zacharias was troubled and seized with fear.

13 And the angel said to him: Do not be afraid, Zacharias. For your prayer has been heard, and your wife Elisabeth will bear you a son, and you will call his name John.

14 He will be a source of joy and gladness for you, and many will rejoice at his birth.

15 For he will be great in the sight of the Lord. He will drink neither wine nor strong drink, and he will be filled with the holy spirit even from his mother's womb.

16 And he will turn many of the children of Israel to the Lord their God.

17 He will walk before God in the spirit and power of Elijah, to turn the hearts of the fathers to the children, to cause the disobedient to walk in the wisdom of the righteous, to prepare for the Lord a people well disposed.

18 Then Zacharias said to the angel: How will I know this. For I am an old man, and my wife is well advanced in years.

19 And the angel answered and said to him: I am Gabriel, and I stand in the presence of God. I have been sent to speak to you, and to bring you this good news.

20 And behold, you will be mute and unable to speak until the day that these things will happen, because you have not believed my words which will be fulfilled in their time.

21 Meanwhile, the people were waiting for Zacharias outside and were surprised that he was staying so long in the temple.

22 And Zacharias could not speak to them when he came out, and they understood that he had seen a vision in the temple. He was making signs to them, but he was mute.

23 And Zacharias departed to his own house when the days of his service were completed.

24 And after some time, his wife Elisabeth became pregnant.

25 And she hid herself for five months by saying: The Lord has done this thing for me in order to take away my reproach among men, because he has seen my affliction in the days when he looked at me.

26 And in the sixth month, the angel Gabriel was sent from God to a city of Galilee called Nazareth.

27 He was sent to a virgin whose name was Mary, and who was engaged to a man named Joseph from the house of David.

28 And the angel came to her and said: Greetings, you who are highly favored. The Lord is with you, and you are blessed among women.

29 And Mary saw him, and was troubled by these words, and wondered what kind of greeting that could mean.

30 And the angel said to her: Do not be afraid, Mary. For you have found favor with God.

31 And behold, you will conceive in your womb and bear a son, and you will call his name Jesus.

32 He will be great and will be called the Son of the Most High, and the Lord God will give to him the throne of his father David.

33 He will reign over the house of Jacob forever, and of his kingdom there will be no end.

34 Then Mary said to the angel: How will this be, since I have no intimate relations with a man.

35 And the angel answered and said to Mary: The Holy Spirit will come on you, and the power of the Most High will cover you. Therefore also the holy thing to which you will give birth will be called the Son of God.

36 And lo, your relative Elisabeth has also conceived a son despite her advanced age. She who was called barren is now in her sixth month.

37 For nothing will be impossible with God.

38 Then Mary said, 'Behold I am the handmaid of the Lord. Let it be done to me according to your word'. And the angel departed from her.

39 And Mary arose in those days, and went with haste into the hill country, to a city of Judah.

40 And she entered the house of Zacharias, and greeted Elisabeth.

41 And as soon as Elisabeth heard the greeting of Mary, the baby leaped in the womb of Elisabeth and she was filled with the holy spirit.

42 And she cried out with a loud voice and said: You are blessed among all women, because the fruit of your womb is blessed.

43 How is it given to me that the mother of my Lord should come to me.

44 For lo, as soon as the voice of your greeting sounded in my ears, the babe leaped in my womb for joy.

45 Blessed is she who has believed. For the things that have been spoken to her from the Lord will be accomplished.

46 And Mary said: My soul highly praises the Lord.

47 And my spirit rejoices in God my savior.

48 For he has looked on the lowliness of his handmaid. For behold, from now on all generations will call me blessed.

49 For the Almighty has done great things for me. Holy is his name.

50 And his mercy is from generation to generation on each of those who fear him.

51 He has shown strength with his arm, and he has scattered those who are proud in the imagination of their hearts.

52 He has brought down the mighty from their thrones, and has lifted up the lowly.

53 He has filled the hungry with good things, and has sent the rich away empty.

54 He has upheld his servant Israel, in order to remember his covenant.

55 In accordance with what he had spoken to our fathers, concerning Abraham and his [spiritual] children forever.

56 Now Mary stayed with Elisabeth for about three months, and then she returned to her own house.

57 And the time came for Elisabeth to give birth, and she gave birth to a son.

58 And her neighbors and her relatives heard that the Lord had shown mercy toward her, and they rejoiced with her.

59 And on the eighth day they came to circumcise the child, and they called him Zacharias according to the name of his father.

60 But his mother answered and said: Not so, for he will be called John.

61 And they said to her: There is no one among your relatives who is called by this name.

62 And they made signs to his father, to know what is the name that he wanted to give to the baby.

63 And Zacharias asked for a writing tablet, and wrote, 'His name is John'. And everyone was amazed.

64 And Zacharias opened his mouth immediately, and his tongue was loosed, and he spoke and praised God.

65 Then fear came on all those who lived around that place, and they talked about all these things throughout all the hill country of Judea.

66 And all those who heard these things kept them in their hearts by saying: What kind of child will this child be. For the hand of the Lord is surely with him.

67 And his father Zacharias was filled with the holy spirit, and he prophesied with the following words.

68 Blessed be the Lord, the God of Israel, for he has visited and redeemed his people.

69 He has raised up the horn of salvation in the house of his servant David, for all his people.

70 In accordance with what he had said through the mouths of his holy prophets since ancient times.

71 He has given us a savior who will deliver us from our enemies, from the hand of all those who hate us.

72 Thus he remembers his holy covenant and he fulfills the mercy promised to our fathers.

73 According to the oath that he swore to our father Abraham.

74 To whom he promised that he will allow us to serve him without fear, after we will have been delivered out of the hand of those who want to hurt us.

75 To serve him by walking before him in righteousness and in holiness during all the days of our lives.

76 And you, baby, you will be called the prophet of the Most High. For you will go before the face of the Lord to prepare his ways.

77 In order to give his people the knowledge of salvation, a knowledge that will come from the forgiveness of their sins.

78 Because of the entrails of the mercies of our God, by which the rising sun has visited us from on high.

79 To give light to those who sit in darkness and in the shadow of death, to guide our feet into the way of peace.

80 And the child grew and became strong in spirit, and he was in the wilderness until the day when he presented himself to Israel.

Luke 2

1 In those days a decree was issued by Caesar Augustus, ordering a census throughout his whole empire.

2 This first census took place while Quirinius was governor of Syria.

3 So all went to be registered, every one to his own city.

4 And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, to go to Judea, to the city of David which is called Bethlehem. For Joseph was of the house and lineage of David.

5 He went there to be registered, and he went there with Mary his betrothed who was pregnant.

6 And the time came for Mary to give birth while they were there.

7 And she gave birth to her firstborn son. And she wrapped him in swaddling clothes and laid him in a manger, because there was no room for them in the guest house.

8 Now there were shepherds in the same region, keeping watch over their flocks by night in the fields.

9 And lo, an angel of the Lord stood near them, and the glory of the Lord shone around them, and they were greatly afraid.

10 Then the angel said to them: Do not be afraid. For behold, I bring you a good news which will be a subject of great joy for all the people.

11 For a savior is born for you today in the city of David. He is the Christ, the Lord.

12 And the following thing will be a sign for you. You will find the baby wrapped in swaddling clothes, and laid in a manger.

13 And suddenly, there was with the angel a multitude of other heavenly beings who were praising God with the following words.

14 Glory to God in the highest places, and peace on the earth toward the persons with whom he is pleased.

15 And when the angels had gone away from them to return into the heavenly places, then the shepherds said one to another: Let us go to Bethlehem now, in order to see this thing that has happened and that the Lord has made known to us.

16 So they went with haste, and found both Mary and Joseph, and the baby laid in the manger.

17 And when they had seen it, then they proclaimed all around them what had been told them [by the angel] concerning that baby.

18 And all those who heard it were astonished at what the shepherds said.

19 And Mary kept all those words, and pondered them in her heart.

20 And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all the things that they had heard and seen, and which was in accordance with what had been told them [by the angel].

21 And the eighth day came when the baby was to be circumcised, and then his name was called Jesus in accordance with the name that the angel had given him before he was conceived in the womb.

22 And when the days the purification of Mary were completed in accordance with the law of Moses, then Joseph and Mary brought Jesus to Jerusalem to present him to the Lord.

23 They acted thus according to what is written in the law of the Lord: Every firstborn male will be consecrated to the Lord.

24 And also to offer there a sacrifice [for the purification of Mary] according to what is said in the law of the Lord: Two turtle doves or two young pigeons [for the woman who is too poor to offer a lamb].

25 And behold, there was a man in Jerusalem whose name was Simeon. This man was righteous and devout, and he was waiting for the consolation of Israel [that is to say, the Christ who is announced by several authors in the scriptures and who will reign over all Israel], and the holy spirit was on him.

26 And God had revealed to Simeon by the holy spirit that he will not see death before having seen the Christ of the Lord.

27 And Simeon came into the temple by the will of the [holy] spirit, and he was there when the parents brought in the baby Jesus in order to act following his birth according to what was required by the law.

28 And Simeon took the baby Jesus in his arms, and blessed God, and said the following thing.

29 Lord, now you are letting your servant depart in peace in accordance with your word [that you have spoken to him].

30 For my eyes have seen your salvation [in accordance with the promise that you have made to me].

31 The salvation that you have prepared in the sight of all peoples.

32 A light to enlighten the Gentiles, and the glory of your people Israel.

33 And Joseph and the mother of Jesus were marvelling at those things that were spoken of the baby Jesus.

34 And Simeon blessed them, and said to Mary the mother of Jesus: Behold this child is appointed for the falling and the rising of many in Israel, and to be a sign that will be spoken against.

35 And a sword that will pierce through your own soul, and a message that will expose the thoughts of many hearts.

36 Now there was a prophetess called Anna, who was the daughter of Phanuel and from the tribe of Asher. She was of a great age.

37 She had lived with a husband for seven years from her virginity, and now she was a widow and was eighty four years old. She was staying in the temple, and was worshipping God with fastings and prayers night and day.

38 She came at the same hour, and gave thanks to God, and spoke of Jesus to all those who were waiting for the redemption of Jerusalem.

39 And when they had performed all that was required by the law of the Lord, then Joseph and Mary returned into Galilee to their own city which was Nazareth.

40 And the baby grew and became young teenager, and was filled with wisdom, and the grace of God was with him.

41 Now the parents of Jesus went to Jerusalem every year for the feast of Passover.

42 And when Jesus was twelve years old, they went to Jerusalem for that feast as usual.

43 And they set out to return home when the days of the feast were over, but the boy Jesus remained in Jerusalem without either Joseph or Mary noticing it. [Since the child was very independent and very wise, they did not think that he could not follow them.]

44 They were thinking that he was with their traveling companions, and they went a day's journey. Then they looked for him among their relatives and acquaintances.

45 And when they did not find him, then they returned to Jerusalem to look for him.

46 And after three days, they found him in the temple. Jesus was sitting among the teachers, listening to them and asking them questions.

47 And all those who heard him were amazed at his understanding and his answers.

48 And when his parents saw him, they were astonished. And his mother said to him: Son, why have you acted toward us in this way. Behold your father and I have been looking for you with sorrow in the heart.

49 Then Jesus said to them: Why were you looking for me. Did you not know that I have to take care of the business of my father.

50 But they did not understand the answer that Jesus gave them.

51 Then Jesus went down with them to Nazareth, and he was subject to them. And his mother kept all these things in her heart.

52 And Jesus increased in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and men.

Luke 3

1 Now in the fifteenth year of the reign of Tiberius Caesar, while Pontius Pilate was governor of Judea, and Herod was tetrarch of Galilee, and his brother Philip was tetrarch of Ituraea and of the region of Trachonitis, and Lysanias was tetrarch of Abilene.

2 In the days when Annas and Caiaphas were high priests [in the temple od the Lord], the word of God came to John the son of Zacharias in the wilderness.

3 And John went throughout all the region around the Jordan, preaching the baptism of repentance for the remission of sins. [Now the person who was baptized was committing to no longer willingly and publicly unjustifiably cause any harm to anyone, after having acknowledged to the victims the unjustifiable offenses committed in the past. For the law of the Lord given to Moses indicates that forgiveness for a sin committed by offending someone else is obtained by interacting with the victim to acknowledge the wicked deed that has been done, and the law adds that this must be done in the presence of a priest who is by definition a descendant of Aaron, and John absolutely does not call into question the law of Moses. For what John asks the people is not to seek to do good only according to the quantities prescribed in the law, but to take personal initiatives for well being to others.]

4 As it is written in the book of the words of Isaiah the prophet: The voice of someone is shouting, Prepare the way of the Lord in the wilderness, make his paths straight.

5 Every valley will be filled, and every mountain and hill will be brought low. What is crooked will be made straight, and the rough places will be made smooth.

6 And all flesh will see the salvation of God.

7 So John was saying to the crowds who were coming to be baptized by him: You generation of vipers, who has taught you to flee from the wrath to come.

8 Bring forth therefore fruits worthy of repentance, and do not begin to say within yourselves, 'We have Abraham as our father'. For I tell you that God is able to raise up children to Abraham from these stones.

9 Even now the axe is laid at the root of the trees. Therefore every tree that does not bring forth good fruit will be cut down, and thrown into the fire.

10 And the crowds were asking him: What then should we do.

11 And John answered and said to them: Whoever has two coats, let him give one of them to him who has none. And whoever has food, let him do likewise.

12 And tax collectors also came there to be baptized, and they said to John: Teacher, what will we do.

13 And John answered them: Do not require anything beyond what you have been commanded.

14 And soldiers also asked him by saying, 'And we, what should we do'. And he said to them: Do not extort anyone, and do not accuse anyone falsely, and be content with your wages.

15 And the people were waiting, and all were musing in their hearts about John, wondering if John was the Christ or not.

16 And John said to them all: Indeed I baptize you with water, but there is someone who is mightier than I and who is coming. I am not worthy to untie the lace of his sandals, and he will baptize you with the Holy Spirit and with fire.

17 He has his fan in his hand, and he will clear his threshing floor and gather the wheat into his barn, and he will burn the chaff with an unquenchable fire.

18 This is how John was preaching to the people, and he also exhorted them with many other words.

19 But John also rebuked Herod the tetrarch for Herodias the wife of Philip who was the brother of Herod, and for all the evils that Herod had done.

20 Therefore Herod increased the number of his wicked deeds by imprisoning John.

21 Now when all the people were being baptized by John, Jesus also came. And while Jesus was praying there after having been baptized, the heaven was opened.

22 And the Holy Spirit came down on Jesus in a bodily form, like a dove. And a voice from heaven said: You are my beloved son, in you I am well pleased.

23 And Jesus himself was about thirty years old when he began to teach, being the son of Joseph as men supposed, Joseph the son of Heli.

24 The son of Matthat, the son of Levi, the son of Melchi, the son of Jannai, the son of Joseph.

25 The son of Mattathias, the son of Amos, the son of Nahum, the son of Esli, the son of Naggai.

26 The son of Maath, the son of Mattathias, the son of Semein, the son of Josech, the son of Joda.

27 The son of Joanan, the son of Rhesa, the son of Zerubbabel, the son of Shealtiel, the son of Neri.

28 The son of Melchi, the son of Addi, the son of Cosam, the son of Elmadam, the son of Er.

29 The son of Jesus, the son of Eliezer, the son of Jorim, the son of Matthat, the son of Levi.

30 The son of Simeon, the son of Judas, the son of Joseph, the son of Jonam, the son of Eliakim.

31 The son of Melea, the son of Menna, the son of Mattatha, the son of Nathan, the son of David.

32 The son of Jesse, the son of Obed, the son of Boaz, the son of Salmon, the son of Nahshon.

33 The son of Amminadab, the son of Arni, the son of Hezron, the son of Perez, the son of Judah.

34 The son of Jacob, the son of Isaac, the son of Abraham, the son of Terah, the son of Nahor.

35 The son of Serug, the son of Reu, the son of Peleg, the son of Eber, the son of Shelah.

36 The son of Cainan, the son of Arphaxad, the son of Shem, the son of Noah, the son of Lamech.

37 The son of Methuselah, the son of Enoch, the son of Jared, the son of Mahalaleel, the son of Cainan.

38 The son of Enos, the son of Seth, the son of Adam, the son of God.

Luke 4

1 And Jesus was full of the Holy Spirit, and he returned from the Jordan, and he was led by the spirit in the wilderness.

2 And he was tempted there by the devil during forty days. He ate nothing during those days, and he was hungry when they were completed.

3 Then the devil said to him: If you are the Son of God, then command this stone to become bread.

4 And Jesus answered him and said: It is written, 'Man will not live by bread only, but by every word of God'.

5 Then the devil lifted him up into a high mountain, and showed him all the kingdoms of the world in a moment of time.

6 And the devil said to him: I will give you all this power, the glory of these kingdoms. For it has been given to me, and I give it to whomever I want.

7 Therefore everything will be yours if you worship me.

8 And Jesus answered and said to him: Get away from me, Satan. For it is written, 'You will worship the Lord your God, and he is the only one whom you will serve'.

9 Then the devil brought him to Jerusalem, and set him on a pinnacle of the temple, and said to him: If you are the Son of God, then throw yourself down from here.

10 For it is written: He will give orders to his angels to keep you.

11 And they will bear you up continuously in their hands, lest you dash your foot against a stone.

12 And Jesus answered and said to him: It is written, 'You will not tempt the Lord your God'.

13 After the devil had tempted Jesus in all these ways, the devil departed from Jesus until an opportune time.

14 And Jesus returned by the power of the spirit into Galilee, and his fame spread throughout all the surrounding region.

15 For he taught in their synagogues, and everyone praised him.

16 And he came to Nazareth where he had been brought up, and he entered the synagogue on the sabbath day according to his custom, and he stood up to read.

17 And they gave him the scroll of the prophet Isaiah. And he opened it, and found the place where the following thing was written.

18 The spirit of the Lord is on me, because he has anointed me to preach the good news to the powerless. He has sent me to heal those who have a broken heart, to proclaim liberty to the captives and recovery of sight to the blind, to set at liberty those who are oppressed.

19 To publish a year of grace from the Lord.

20 Then he rolled up the scroll, and gave it back to the attendant, and sat down. And all those who were in the synagogue were staring at him.

21 Then he began to say to them: Today this scripture has been fulfilled in your ears.

22 And all were bearing him witness, and were astonished at the gracious words that came from his mouth. And they were saying: Is not this the son of Joseph.

23 Then Jesus said to them: You will surely tell me this proverb, 'Physician, heal yourself. Do here in your country everything we have heard that you have done in Capernaum'.

24 And he added: Truly I say to you, no prophet is accepted in his own country.

25 Truly I say to you, there were many widows in Israel in the days of Elijah, when there was a great famine throughout all the land, when the heavens were shut up for three years and six months.

26 And nevertheless Elijah was not sent to any of them, but to a woman who was a widow in Zarephath a city of Sidon.

27 And there were many lepers in Israel in the time of Elisha the prophet, and nevertheless none of them was cleansed except Naaman the Syrian.

28 Then they were all filled with wrath in the synagogue when they heard these things.

29 And they got up, and drove him out of the city, and led him to the edge of the hill on which their city was built, in order to throw him down headlong.

30 But Jesus went through the midst of them, and went his way.

31 And Jesus went down to Capernaum, a city of Galilee, and there he was teaching them on the sabbath day.

32 And they were astonished at his teaching, for he was speaking with authority.

33 Now there was in the synagogue a man who had the unclean spirit of a demon. And that man cried out with a loud voice the following words to Jesus.

34 Oh, what have we to do with you, Jesus of Nazareth. Have you come to destroy us. I know who you are, you are the holy one of God.

35 And Jesus rebuked him by saying: Be silent and come out of him. And the demon threw that man in the midst of the assembly, and came out of him without harming him.

36 And fear came on all of them in the assembly, and they said to one another: What is this. He commands unclean spirits with authority and power, and they come out.

37 And his fame spread throughout all the surrounding areas.

38 And Jesus left the synagogue, and went to the house of Simon. And the mother of the wife of Simon had a severe fever, and they begged him for health.

39 Then Jesus stood over her, and rebuked the fever, and it left her. And she arose immediately, and served them.

40 And at the sunset, all those who had anyone sick with various diseases brought them to Jesus. And he laid his hands on each of them, and healed them.

41 And demons also came out of many of the people, crying out and saying, 'You are the Son of God'. But Jesus rebuked them and did not allow them to speak, because they knew that he was the Christ. [Now the Jewish people are waiting for the coming of a great prophet who is announced not only by the patriarch Jacob in the blessing that he pronounced concerning his son Judah, but also by the prophets Daniel and Ezekiel among others. And Jesus does not want people to listen to the exact explanations about his identity because he knows that others will not believe for a long time that it is true, and Jesus does not want other persons to be accused of having blasphemed when the Jewish leaders will accuse him himself of having blasphemed. While he is still alive in the flesh, he only wants to convince those who can be convinced that he is a prophet who acts in the name of the God of Moses.]

42 And when the light of day came, he left and went into a desert place. And the crowd of people sought him, and came to him, and wanted to detain him in order to prevent him from leaving them.

43 But he said to them: I have to preach the good news of the kingdom of God to other cities also, because that is why I have been sent.

44 And Jesus preached in the synagogues of Galilee.

Luke 5

1 Now Jesus was near the lake of Gennesaret, and the people crowded around him to hear the word of God.

2 And Jesus saw two boats on the shore. The fishermen had gone out of them, and were washing their nets.

3 And Jesus got into one of the boats, which belonged to Simon, and asked him to push the boat a little so that it would float close to the shore. Then Jesus sat down, and taught the crowd from the boat.

4 And when he had finished speaking, he said to Simon: Move the boat towards the deep waters, and let down your nets for a catch.

5 And Simon answered and said to him: Master, we have toiled all night and have taken nothing. Nevertheless I will let down the net because of your word.

6 And when they had done so, they inclosed a great multitude of fishes, and their net was breaking.

7 And they beckoned to their companions who were in the other boat, to come and help them. And their companions came, and filled both boats so full that they began to sink.

8 Now when Simon Peter saw this thing, he fell down at the knees of Jesus and said: O Lord, depart from me. For I am a sinful man.

9 For Simon and all those who were with him were terrified, because of the great numbers of the fishes that they had taken.

10 So were James and John, the sons of Zebedee who were with Simon. Then Jesus said to Simon: Do not be afraid. From now on you will be a fisher of men.

11 And when they had brought the boats to land, they left everything and followed Jesus.

12 Now Jesus was in one of the cities, and behold, there was a man full of leprosy. And when he saw Jesus, he fell on his face and begged Jesus by saying: Lord, you can make me clean if you want it.

13 And Jesus stretched out his hand, and touched him, and said, 'I want it, be clean'. And immediately the leprosy departed from him.

14 And Jesus commanded him to tell it to no one, and said: But go and show yourself to the priests, and offer for your cleansing the things that Moses has commanded [in the law], and it will serve as a testimony to those priests [to let them know that you have been healed by the God who gave that law which they have received through Moses].

15 But the fame of Jesus spread more and more, and great multitudes came together to hear him and to be healed of their infirmities by him.

16 And Jesus [often] withdrew himself into the wilderness, in order to pray.

17 Now it happened one day that Jesus was teaching the people, and Pharisees and doctors of the law were sitting there. They had come from every village of Galilee and of Judea, and from Jerusalem, and the power of the Lord was on Jesus to heal the sick.

18 And behold, some people were carrying a paralytic on a bed. They were trying to bring him in, in order to lay him before Jesus.

19 And when they could not find a way to bring him inside because of the crowd, then they went up to the roof and let him down through an opening, him and his bed, in order to put him into the midst of the assembly who were before Jesus.

20 And Jesus saw their faith [since they were acting thus], and he said: Man, your sins are forgiven.

21 Then the scribes and the Pharisees began to reason and they say: Who is this who speaks blasphemies. Who can forgive sins except God alone.

22 And Jesus, perceiving their reasonings, answered them and said: Why do you have this thought in your hearts. [That is to say: Why are you assuming that I should not have the power to forgive the sins of a person, and even of a person whom I have never met before. Why are you assuming that I am not in the bosom of God and that I do not know his secrets.]

23 What is easier to say: 'Your sins are forgiven' or 'Get up and walk'.

24 And now, in order to let you all know that the Son of man has authority on earth to forgive sins, I say now the following thing to this person who is paralytic: Get up, and take up your bed, and go to your house.

25 And immediately the paralytic man got up before them, and took the bed on which he had been laid, and went to his house while praising God.

26 And they were all amazed, and they praised God. And they were filled with fear, and they were saying: We have seen strange things today.

27 And after these things Jesus went forth, and he saw a tax collector whose name was Levi and who was sitting at the tax booth. And Jesus said to him: Follow me.

28 And Levi forsook everything, and got up, and followed Jesus.

29 Then Levi made a great feast in his own house for Jesus, and there were a great company of tax collectors and of others who were sitting with them at the feast.

30 And the Pharisees [who are people who claim to distinguish themselves by a strict observance of the law] and their teachers of the law murmured against the followers of Jesus and said: Why do you eat and drink with tax collectors and sinners.

31 And Jesus answered and said to them: Those who are in health have no need of a physician, but those who are sick.

32 I have not come to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance.

33 Then they said to Jesus: The disciples of John often make fasting, and make prayers, and the disciples of the Pharisees act likewise, but your disciples eat and drink every day.

34 And Jesus said to them: Should you cause the wedding guests to be sad and to make fasting while the bridegroom is still with them.

35 The days will come when the bridegroom will be taken away from them, and then they will make fasting in those days.

36 And Jesus told them this parable: No one tears a piece from a new garment to put it on an old garment. For he will have damaged the new garment, and the piece that he will have taken from it will not be suitable for the old garment.

37 And no one puts a new wine into an old wineskins, lest the new wine burst the skins and be spilled, and the skins be ruined. [That is to say, such a thing is not done for fear that the taste of the new wine will be ruined by the smell of the old wineskins.]

38 Therefore a new wine must be put into new wineskins.

39 And a person who is used to drinking an old wine will not desire a new wine. For he says: The old is better.

Luke 6

1 Now on a sabbath day called the second-first, it happened that Jesus was crossing fields of grain. And his disciples plucked the ears, and rubbed them in their hands, and ate them.

2 And some Pharisees said to them: Why do you do what is not lawful to do on the sabbath days.

3 And Jesus answered them and said: Have you not read what David had done when he was hungry, him and those who were with him.

4 David entered the house [temple] of God, and took the showbreads [which he asked from the hand of Ahimelech the priest], and ate of it, and gave of it to those who were with him, although those things can only be eaten by priests according to the law [since it is a food that is prepared to be placed for a certain time in the holy place of the sanctuary and to be renewed regularly].

5 And Jesus said to them: The Son of man is Lord even of the sabbath.

6 Now Jesus entered the synagogue on another day of sabbath and taught, and there was in that place a man whose right hand was withered.

7 And the scribes [who are the teachers of the law given by Moses to Israel] and the Pharisees [who are those who strive to live according to the law] were watching Jesus, to see if he would heal that sick man on the sabbath day. It was in order to find an accusation against him.

8 But Jesus knew their thoughts, and he said to the man whose hand was withered, 'Get up, and stand there in the middle of the assembly'. And that man arose and stood.

9 Then Jesus said to them: I ask you if it is lawful on the sabbath days to do good to a person or to harm a person, to save a life or to destroy a life.

10 And Jesus walked his gaze over them all, and then he said to the sick man, 'Stretch forth your hand'. And the man did so, and his hand was healed.

11 Then they were filled with madness, and they communed one with another to find out what they will do to Jesus.

12 In those days Jesus went to a mountain to pray, and he spent the whole night praying to God.

13 And when the day appeared, then he called his disciples. And he chose twelve from among them, to whom he gave the name of apostles.

14 Simon whom he named Peter, and Andrew his brother, and James, and John, and Philip, and Bartholomew.

15 And Matthew, and Thomas, and James the son of Alphaeus, and Simon who was called Zealot.

16 And Judas the son of James, and Judas Iscariot who became a traitor.

17 And Jesus went down with them, and stood in the plain. There were in that place a crowd of his disciples, and also a multitude of people who had come from all Judea and Jerusalem, and from the sea coast of Tyre and Sidon. They had come to hear Jesus, and to be healed of their diseases.

18 Those who were tormented by unclean spirits were healed.

19 And all the multitude sought to touch him, because a power went forth out of him and healed them all.

20 Then Jesus lifted up his eyes on his disciples, and said: Blessed are you who are poor. For the kingdom of God is yours. [Now Jesus is speaking of poverty in personal wisdom and not in material goods.]

21 Blessed are you who are now hungry [for justice], for you will be satisfied. Blessed are you who weep now [because of injustice], for you will laugh.

22 Blessed are you when men hate you [without cause], when they separate you and insult you [without cause], and sully your name to make it a subject of disgust while you are acting out of love for the Son of man.

23 Rejoice in that day and be glad. For behold, your reward is great in the heaven. For this is how their fathers have acted toward the prophets.

24 But woe to you who are rich [that is to say, those who place their hope in their possession]. For you have your consolation.

25 Woe to you who are full [that is to say, those who are not afflicted by the injustices that they either cause or observe], because you will be hungry. Woe to you who laugh now, because you will be in mourning and in tears.

26 Woe to you when all men speak well of you. For this is how their fathers have acted toward the false prophets.

27 But I say the following thing to you who are listening. Love your enemies, do good to those who hate you. [That is to say, seek the good of all without planning discrimination.]

28 Bless those who curse you, and pray for those who hurt you. [Now each person must give a proportional response to each offense that is made against him, but this may simply consist of distancing oneself in a certain way, depending on the nature of the offense.]

29 If someone slaps you on one cheek, then offer also the other [that is to say, takes your distance in a certain way but do not be obsessed with the desire to make particular discrimination when you meditate on the achievements that you want to accomplish]. If someone takes your cloak, then do not prevent him from taking your coat also [that is to say, do not be preoccupied with an offense so as to no longer desire to carry out other accomplishments].

30 Give to everyone who asks you [that is to say, do not plan particular discrimination in your heart], and do not claim your good from the one who takes it [that is to say, if you can survive the loss of a good then do not make it an obsession].

31 Whatever you want people to do to you, do the same to them.

32 If you love only those who love you, then what have you done that is appreciable. Sinners also love those who love them.

33 If you do good only to those who do good to you, then what have you done that is appreciable. For even sinners act in this way.

34 And if you lend only to those from whom you hope to receive, then what have you done that is appreciable. Sinners also lend to sinners, in order to receive in the same way.

35 But love your enemies, and do good without discrimination, and lend to others without doing so with the intention of earning more. And your reward will be great, and you will be children of the Most High. For he is kind to the ungrateful and the wicked.

36 Therefore be merciful, as your Father also is merciful.

37 Judge not, and you will not be judged. Condemn not, and you will not be condemned. Forgive, and you will be forgiven.

38 Give, and it will be given to you. Good measure, pressed down, shaken together, and running over, will be put into your bosom. For it will be measured to you with the measure that you use.

39 And Jesus also told them this parable: Can a blind man lead a blind man. Will they not both fall into the ditch.

40 The disciple is not above his teacher, but whoever wants to be a perfect disciple will be like his teacher. [Now this is only true because of the perfection of this particular teacher.]

41 Why do you look for the speck that is in the eye of your brother, but do not notice the beam that is in your own eye. [That is to say, you cannot change a person but only inform him of what is good and continue on your own way.]

42 How can you say to your brother, 'Brother, let me take out the speck that is in your eye', when you do not see the beam that is in your own eye. You hypocrite, cast out first the beam out of your own eye, and then you will see clearly concerning the speck that is in the eye of your brother.

43 For a good tree does not bring forth bad fruits, and a bad tree does not bring forth good fruits. [Now the fruits produced by a person are not his descendants but his deeds.]

44 For each tree is known by its own fruits. For people do not gather figs from thorns, and they do not gather grapes from thistles.

45 A good person brings forth good things out of the good treasure of his heart, and an evil person brings forth evil things out of the evil treasure of his heart. For it is out of the abundance of the heart that the mouth speaks.

46 Why do you call me 'Lord, Lord', and do not do the things that I say.

47 Everyone who comes to me, and hears my words, and puts them into practice, I will show you to whom he is like.

48 He is like a man who was building a house, and dug deep, and laid the foundation on a rock. And when floods came, the waters beat against that house but could not shake it because it had been well built.

49 But he who hears my words and does not put it into practice is like a man who built a house on the ground without a foundation. And when floods came and the waters beat against it, then that house fell easily and its destruction was great.

Luke 7

1 After having finished to say all these things to the people, Jesus went into Capernaum.

2 And in that place there was an officer of the Roman army whose servant was sick and about to die, and that servant was loved by his master the officer of the army.

3 And when he heard of Jesus, he sent some elders of the Jews to beseech Jesus to come and heal his servant.

4 So they came to Jesus, and they implored him by saying: This Roman officer deserves that you do this thing for him.

5 For he loves our nation, and he has built the synagogue for us [that is to say, he has financed the construction].

6 Then Jesus went with them. And when Jesus was still a little away from the house, while he was getting closer, the Roman officer sent his friends to Jesus to tell him the following thing: Lord, do not give yourself so much trouble. For I am not worthy that you enter under my roof.

7 It is also for this reason that I have sent some elders of the Jews to you to make this request, because I did not feel worthy to come closer to you. Therefore now, say a word and my servant will be healed.

8 For I am subjected to superiors, but I have soldiers under my orders. And I say to one, 'Go', and he goes, and to another, 'Come', and he comes, and to my servant, 'Do this', and he does it. [That is to say, I do not want my mind to have the feeling of having acted in this way toward you, because I think that you must be the Lord who has been announced by the creator of all things, the Christ of the God of the Jews.]

9 When Jesus heard these words, he felt admiration for that Roman officer. And Jesus turned toward the crowd that was following him, and said: I tell you that I have not found such a great faith, not even in Israel [and not even among you who are walking behind me].

10 And when those who had been sent to Jesus by the Roman officer returned to the house, they found that the sick servant was healed.

11 And Jesus went to a city called Nain on the next day. And many of his disciples went with him, and also a great multitude.

12 Now when he was near the gate of the city, behold there were people who were carrying a dead man to bury him. This dead man was the only son of his mother, and she was a widow, and there were many inhabitants of the city who were walking around her to comfort her.

13 And when the Lord saw her, he had compassion on her and he said to her: Weep not.

14 And Jesus came near, and touched the bier, and those who were carrying it stopped. And Jesus said: Young man, I say to you, Get up.

15 And the man who was dead get up and sat down, and began to speak. And Jesus gave him to his mother.

16 Then fear came on all the people who were there, and they glorified God by saying: A great prophet has been sent among us, God has visited his people.

17 And this report concerning Jesus went forth throughout all Judea, and throughout all the regions around.

18 And the disciples of John told him of all these things.

19 And John called two of his disciples, and sent them to Jesus to tell him: Are you the one who was supposed to come, or should we wait for another. [Now John knows that Jesus is the one who will baptize the people with the Holy Spirit, but John is wondering if these few isolated miracles that Jesus performs will also make him the one who will liberate all Israel whose territory is now inside the Roman Empire after having been inside the Greek Empire and after having been inside the Persian Empire.]

20 And when those men came to Jesus, they said: John the Baptist has sent us to you by saying, 'Are you the one who was supposed to come, or should we wait for another'.

21 And at that same hour Jesus healed many persons of their diseases, and of their infirmities, and of evil spirits, and Jesus restored the sight of many who were blind.

22 Then Jesus answered and said to them: Go and tell John the things that you have seen and heard. The blind see, and the lame walk, and the lepers are purified, and the deaf hear, and the dead are raised up, and a good news is announced to the powerless.

23 Blessed be the one who will not think to have made a bad choice when he puts his trust in me.

24 And when the messengers of John had gone, then Jesus began to say to the crowd concerning John: What have you gone to see into the wilderness. Was it a reed swaying in the wind.

25 But what have you gone to see. Was it a man dressed in precious clothes. Behold those who wear magnificent clothes, and live delicately, are in the courtyards of the king.

26 But what have you gone to see. Was it a prophet. Yes, I say to you, and much more than a prophet.

27 This is he of whom it is written: Behold I send my messenger before your face, he will prepare your way before you.

28 I say to you, among those born of women there is no one greater than John. And nevertheless the least in the kingdom of God is greater than he.

29 And all the people who have heard him, among whom were tax collectors, have been justified by God by letting themselves be baptized with the baptism of John. [That is to say, they have been justified because they have been convinced of the good quality of the message of John.]

30 But the Pharisees [who are those who strive to live according to the law] and the teachers of the law, by refusing to be baptized by him [because they did not recognize the good quality of his message], have made the counsel of God of none effect in their own eyes.

31 And the Lord [Jesus] said: To what will I liken the men of this generation. What do they look like.

32 They are like children sitting in the marketplace, and talking to one another by saying: We have played the flute for you, but you have not danced. We have howled for you, but you have not wept.

33 For John the Baptist have come, and he neither eats bread nor drinks wine, and you say: He has a demon.

34 And the Son of man have come, and he eats and drinks, and you say: Behold a glutton and a great wine-drinker, and a friend of tax collectors and of sinners.

35 But wisdom will be justified by all her children.

36 And one of the Pharisees asked Jesus to eat with him. And Jesus went into the house of the Pharisee, and sat down to at the table.

37 And behold, there was a sinful woman in the city. And when she knew that Jesus was sitting [or was going to sit] at table in the house of the Pharisee, then she brought an alabaster box of ointment. [Now she has brought this object with good intention in her heart, according to the knowledge that she possessed at that time. And it appears that some women used to honor worthy men in this way in those days. For later, during his last journey to Jerusalem in the account of the gospel of John, another woman who is not a great sinner will behave similarly toward Jesus. But that woman will not be weeping, because she will not suspect that Jesus will soon suffer, whereas this woman will weep because of her sins and the faith that she has in the fact that Jesus is a great prophet of the Jewish people.]

38 And she stood behind Jesus at his feet, and she was weeping. And she began to wet his feet with her tears, and she wiped them with the hairs of her head, and she kissed his feet, and she anointed them with the ointment.

39 And the Pharisee who had invited Jesus was seeing this, and he thought in himself: If this man were a prophet, then he would have known who is this woman who is touching him and of what kind she is. For she is a sinner.

40 And Jesus spoke and said to that Pharisee, 'Simon, I have something to say to you'. And Simon the Pharisee replied, 'Teacher, speak'.

41 And Jesus said: There was a certain creditor who had two debtors. The one owed five hundred pence, and the other fifty. And because they had nothing to pay, he forgave them both.

42 In your opinion, which of those two culprits will love the creditor the most.

43 And Simon answered and said, 'I suppose that it is the one to whom he has forgiven the most'. And Jesus said to him, 'You have judged correctly'.

44 Then Jesus turned toward the woman and said to Simon: Do you see this woman. I have entered your house, and you have not given me water to wash my feet. But she has wetted my feet with her tears, and has wiped them with the hairs of her head.

45 You have not given me a kiss. But since the time that I came in, she has not ceased to kiss my feet.

46 You have not anointed my head with oil. But she has anointed my feet with ointment.

47 Therefore I say the following thing to you. Her many sins are forgiven, because she has loved much. But to whom little is forgiven, the same loves little.

48 And Jesus said to the woman: Your sins are forgiven.

49 And those who were at the table with him began to say within themselves: Who is this man who [not only performs miracles but] even forgives sins.

50 And Jesus said to the woman: Your faith has saved you. Go in peace.

Luke 8

1 After this, Jesus went from town to town and from village to village, preaching and proclaiming the good news of the kingdom of God.

2 The twelve were with him, and also some women who had been healed of evil spirits and infirmities. Among those women were Mary who was called Magdalene, from whom seven demons had gone out.

3 And Joanna the wife of Chuza, Chuza being the steward of Herod, and Susanna, and many others. Those women were using their own money to help Jesus and his apostles.

4 Now people from various cities had come to Jesus, and a large crowd had gathered, and he spoke the following parable.

5 A sower went out to sow his seed. And as he sowed, some fell on the side, and it was trampled underfoot, and the birds of the air devoured it.

6 And some fell on the stones, and it withered as soon as it grew because it had no moisture.

7 And some fell among thorns, and the thorns grew up with it, and choked it.

8 And some fell on the good soil, and it grew up, and it produced a hundredfold of fruit. And when Jesus had spoken these words, he cried out: Whoever has ears to hear, let him hear.

9 Then his disciples asked him what is the meaning of this parable.

10 And Jesus said: It has been given to you to know the mysteries of the kingdom of God. But those things are spoken to the others in parables, so that they may look but not see, and hear but not understand.

11 Here is the meaning of this parable: The seed is the word of God.

12 The seed that fall on the side are for the people who hear the word, but the devil comes and takes away the word from their hearts so that they may not believe and be saved.

13 And the seed that fall on the stones are for the people who hear the word and receive it with a real joy, but they have no root. They believe for a while, but in the time of temptation they go astray.

14 And the seed that fall among thorns are for the people who hear the word and keep it, but their concerns are superficial because they are choked by worries, and by riches and by the pleasures of life, and they bring no fruit to perfection.

15 And the seed that fall on the good ground are for the people who hear the word with an honest and good heart, and they hold it fast, and they bring forth fruit with patience.

16 No man, after lighting a lamp, covers it with a vessel or puts it under a bed. But he places it on a lampstand, so that those who enter may see the light.

17 For there is nothing hidden that will not be made manifest, and there is nothing secret that will not be known and brought to light.

18 Therefore take heed of how you listen. For to him who has, more will be given [that is to say, the fruits of the one who has the light of the knowledge of God within himself will be multiplied]. But to him who does not have [the light of the knowledge of God within himself], even what he thinks that he has will be taken away from him.

19 Then the mother and the brothers of Jesus came to him, but they could not approach him because of the crowd.

20 And some people said to Jesus: Your mother and your brothers are outside, and they desire to see you.

21 And Jesus answered and said: My mother and my brothers are those who hear the word of God and who put it into practice.

22 On one of those days, Jesus went into a ship with his disciples. And he said to them, 'Let us go over to the other side of the lake'. And they launched the ship.

23 And while they were sailing, Jesus fell asleep. And there came a storm of wind on the lake, and the ship was filling with water, and they were in jeopardy.

24 Then they came to Jesus, and they awakened him by saying: Master, master, we are perishing. And Jesus awoke, and he rebuked the wind and the waves of water, and the storm ceased, and the lake became calm.

25 Then Jesus said to them, 'Where is your faith'. And they were seized with fear and wonder, and said to one another, 'Who is this man who commands even the winds and the waters, and to whom they obey'.

26 And they sailed to the region of the Gerasenes, which is opposite Galilee.

27 And when Jesus went out of the ship to the land, a man from that town came toward him. That man had demons inside him, and had not worn clothes for a long time, and lived not in a house but in tombs.

28 And when he saw Jesus, he cried out and fell down before Jesus, and said with a loud voice: What have I to do with you, Jesus, you the son of the Most High God. I beseech you, do not torment me.

29 For Jesus had commanded the unclean spirit to come out of that man who had been possessed for a long time. The people had bound him in chains and had kept him in fetters, but he had broken it and had been led by the demon into the wilderness.

30 And Jesus asked him, 'What is your name'. And he replied, 'Legion'. For many demons had entered into him.

31 And they begged Jesus not to command them to go out and enter the abyss.

32 Now there was a large herd of pigs feeding on the mountain. And the demons begged Jesus to allow them to enter the pigs, and Jesus gave them permission.

33 Then the demons came out of that man, and entered the pigs. And the herd rushed down the steep slopes into the lake, and were drowned.

34 And the herdsmen saw what had happened, and they fled, and they went and told it in the city and in the countryside.

35 Then the people came to see what had happened, and they came to Jesus. And they found that the man from whom the demons had gone out was sitting at the feet of Jesus, and that he was clothed and in his right mind. Then they were terrified.

36 And those who had seen what had happened told them how the man who was possessed by the demons had been healed.

37 Then the whole multitude from the country of the Gerasenes and its surroundings begged Jesus to depart from them. For they were greatly afraid. Then Jesus entered into the ship and returned.

38 And concerning the man from whom the demons had gone out, he begged Jesus to accept him among those who follow him wherever he goes, but Jesus sent him away by saying the following thing: Return to your house, and declare the great thing that God has done for you.

39 And that man went his way, and proclaimed throughout the whole city the great thing that Jesus had done for him.

40 And when Jesus returned to Galilee, a crowd welcomed him. For they were waiting for him.

41 And behold, there came a man named Jairus who was a leader of the synagogue. And he fell down at the feet of Jesus, and begged him to come into his house.

42 For he had an only daughter, about twelve years old, and she was dying.

43 And while Jesus was going there, the crowd thronged all around him. And there was in that crowd a woman who had been suffering from an issue of blood for twelve years. She had spent all her money on physicians, but no one had been able to heal her.

44 And she came behind Jesus, and she touched the border of the garment of Jesus. And immediately her issue of blood was stanched.

45 And Jesus said, 'Who is the person who has touched me'. And while everyone was denying it, then Peter and those with him said: Master, the multitude press you and crush you, and you say, 'Who is the one who has touched me'.

46 But Jesus answered: Someone has touched me [having pure thoughts in the heart]. For I have perceived that a power has gone out of me.

47 And the woman understood that what she had done had not gone unnoticed, and she came trembling, and she fell down before Jesus. And she declared in the presence of all the people the reason why she had touched him, and how she had been healed immediately.

48 And Jesus said to her: Daughter, your faith has healed you [and has saved you]. Go in peace.

49 And while Jesus was still speaking, someone came from the house of the leader of the synagogue where Jesus was going, and said: Your daughter is dead, do not trouble the master anymore.

50 But when Jesus heard this thing, he said to the leader of the synagogue: Do not be afraid. Only believe, and she will be restored.

51 And when Jesus came into the house, he allowed no one to go in with him except Peter, and James, and John, and the father and the mother of the young girl.

52 And all those who were at that place before the arrival of Jesus were weeping and lamenting over the girl. And Jesus said to them: Do not weep. She is not dead, but asleep.

53 And they laughed at him, because they knew that the girl was dead.

54 But Jesus took her by the hand and said: Little girl, get up.

55 And her spirit returned to her, and she rose up immediately. And Jesus commanded to give her something to eat.

Luke 9

1 Now Jesus called his twelve disciples together, and gave them the power to heal diseases and the power to cast out demons from people.

2 And he sent them to preach the kingdom of God, and to heal the sick.

3 And he said to them: Take nothing for your journey, neither staff, nor bag, nor bread, nor money. And do not carry two tunics.

4 Wherever you enter a house, stay there and depart from there.

5 And if they do not receive you in a town, then go out of that town and shake off the dust from your feet for a testimony against them.

6 So they departed, and went from village to village, preaching the good news and healing people everywhere.

7 Now Herod the tetrarch heard of all that was done by Jesus, and he was perplexed. For some were saying that John had risen from the dead.

8 And others were saying that Elijah had appeared, and others were saying that one of the ancient prophets had risen.

9 And Herod said, 'I have beheaded John. Who then is this one of whom I hear such things'. And Herod desired to see him.

10 And when the apostles had returned, they told Jesus all that they had done. Then Jesus took them with him, and they went to a solitary place belonging to the city called Bethsaida.

11 And the crowds perceived it, and they followed him. And Jesus received them, and spoke to them concerning the kingdom of God. And he also healed those who needed to be healed.

12 And late in the afternoon, the twelve apostles came to Jesus and said to him: Send the multitude away, so that they may go into the surrounding villages and towns to lodge and get food. For we are here in a deserted place.

13 But Jesus said to them, 'Give them something to eat yourself'. And they replied, 'We cannot do it because we have only five loaves and two fishes, unless we ourselves go and buy food for all this people'.

14 They answered thus because there were about five thousand persons in that place. And Jesus said to his disciples: Cause them to sit in groups of fifty.

15 And they did so, they caused the whole multitude sit down.

16 Then Jesus took the five loaves and the two fishes, and looked up to the sky, and blessed that food. Then he broke them and gave them to the disciples, to lay it before the multitude.

17 And all the people ate and were satisfied, and they took up twelve baskets full of the leftover fragments of that food.

18 Now it happened one day that Jesus was praying alone, and his disciples were near him. And Jesus asked them the following thing: What do people think about who I am.

19 And they answered and said: Some say John the Baptist, and others say Elijah, and others say that one of the ancient prophets has risen.

20 And Jesus said to them, 'And you, who do you think I am'. And Peter answered and said, 'The Christ of God'.

21 And Jesus strictly ordered them not to tell this thing to anyone. [Now the Jewish people are waiting for the coming of a great prophet who is announced not only by the patriarch Jacob in the blessing that he pronounced concerning his son Judah, but also by the prophets Daniel and Ezekiel among others. And Jesus gives this prohibition to his disciples because he knows that all the people will not believe in that word of his disciples who are constantly close to him, and Jesus does not want his disciples to be accused of having blasphemed when the Jewish leaders will accuse him himself of having blasphemed. While he is still alive in the flesh, he only wants to convince those who can be convinced that he is a prophet who acts in the name of the God of Moses.]

22 And Jesus say to them: The Son of man must suffer many things, and be rejected by the elders and the chief priests and the scribes, and be killed, and be raised up on the third day.

23 Then Jesus said to them all: If anyone wants to come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me.

24 For whoever wants to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for my sake will save it.

25 And what will be the profit for a person if he gains the whole world but destroys or loses his own life.

26 For whoever will be ashamed of me and of my words, the Son of man will also be ashamed of that person when he comes in his own glory, in the glory of the Father and of the holy angels.

27 Truly I say to you, there are some standing here who will not taste death without having seen the kingdom of God. [That is to say, some of you who are here now will not die according to the flesh without having seen what the kingdom of God looks like. Now this word of Jesus has been accomplished a few days later.]

28 About eight days after he had said those words, Jesus took with him Peter, and John, and James, and they went up into a mountain to pray.

29 And while Jesus was praying, the appearance of his face changed, and his garment became dazzling white.

30 And behold, two men were talking with Jesus.

31 It was Moses and Elijah who appeared in glory, and who were talking about his departure which he was soon to accomplish at Jerusalem.

32 Now Peter and his companions were asleep. But they awakened, and they saw the glory of Jesus and the two men who were standing with him.

33 And while those men were leaving Jesus, Peter said to Jesus, 'Master, it is good for us to be here. Let us make three tents: one for you, and one for Moses, and one for Elijah'. Peter did not know what he was saying.

34 And while he was saying those words, a cloud came and overshadowed them, and the disciples were terrified when they saw those men entering the cloud.

35 And a voice came from the cloud by saying: This is my beloved son. Listen to him.

36 And when the voice stopped, the disciples saw that Jesus was alone. And the disciples keep silent, and told no man in those days any of these things which they had seen.

37 And on the next day, when they had come down from the mountain, a great crowd come to Jesus.

38 And behold, a man from the crowd cried out and said: Master, I beseech you to look at my son. For he is my only child.

39 And lo, it happens that an evil spirit seizes my son, and he suddenly cried out. And the spirit causes him lose all control, and causes him foam at the mouth, and hardly moves away from him after he has been bruised.

40 And I have besought your disciples to cast out this spirit, but they have not been able to do it.

41 Then Jesus answered and said: O faithless and perverse generation, how long will I be with you and bear you. Bring your son here.

42 And while that son was approaching, the demon threw him to the ground and shook him severely. But Jesus rebuked the unclean spirit, and healed the boy, and gave him back to his father.

43 And all the people were astonished at the great power of God.

44 And while everyone was marveling at all the things that Jesus had done, he said to his disciples: Let the following words sink into your ears, 'The Son of man will be given into the hands of men'.

45 But the disciples did not understand the meaning of those words. For it was hidden from them, so that they could not understand it. And they were afraid to ask Jesus to explain it to them.

46 Now a discussion arose among them, and it was a question of knowing which of them should be the greatest.

47 And Jesus saw the thoughts of their hearts, and he took a child whom he placed near himself.

48 And Jesus said to them: Whoever receives this little child in my name receives me, and whoever receives me receives the one who has sent me. For he who is least among you all, the same is the one who is great. [Now Jesus has said that the least among his apostles is the one who is great because their only goal must be to teach the exact knowledge of the will of God, and these apostles must have no other purpose among men.]

49 And John answered and said: Master, we had seen someone casting out demons in your name, and we had forbidden him to act thus because he does not belong to our group.

50 And Jesus said to him: Do not forbid it, for whoever is not against you is for you.

51 Now when the time drew near for him to be taken up into heaven, Jesus decided to go to Jerusalem.

52 And he sent messengers ahead of him, and they went and entered a village of the Samaritans, to prepare a place for him.

53 But the people there did not want to welcome Jesus, because he was going toward Jerusalem.

54 And when his disciples James and John saw this, they said: Lord, do you want us to command fire to come down from heaven and consume them, like the prophet Elijah had done in his time.

55 And Jesus turned toward them and rebuked them by saying: You do not know what is this spirit that drives you to think in this way [that is to say, you do not understand that it is not the right thing to do].

56 For the Son of man has not come to destroy the lives, but to save them. And they went to another village.

57 And while they were on the road, a certain man said to Jesus: I will follow you wherever you go.

58 And Jesus said to him: Foxes have holes, and birds of the air have nests, but the Son of man has no place to lay his head.

59 And Jesus said to another, 'Follow me'. But he said to Jesus, 'Lord, allow me to go first to bury my father'.

60 And Jesus said to him: Let the dead bury their dead. As for you, go and preach the kingdom of God.

61 And another said: I will follow you, Lord. But allow me first to go and say goodbye to those who are at my house.

62 And Jesus said to him: No one who puts his hand to the plow and looks back is fit for the kingdom of God.

Luke 10

1 After these things, the Lord appointed seventy other disciples, and sent them ahead of him two by two into every town and place where he himself was about to come.

2 And he said to them: The harvest is plentiful, but the workers are few. Pray therefore the Lord of the harvest to send workers into his harvest.

3 Go your ways. Behold I am sending you forth like lambs among wolves.

4 Do not carry purse, nor bag, nor shoes. And do not greet anyone on the way.

5 Into whatever house you enter, you will say first: Peace be to this house.

6 And if a child of peace is found there, then your peace will rest on him. If not, then it will return to you.

7 And you will stay in a house that receives your peace, and you will eat and drink whatever they give you. For the worker deserves his wage. Do not go from house to house.

8 In whatever town you enter, if they receive you then you will eat whatever is set before you.

9 And you will heal the sick who are there, and you will say to them: The kingdom of God has come near to you.

10 But whatever town you enter and they do not receive you, go out into its streets and say the following thing.

11 We wipe even the dust from your city which has clung to our feet. But know that the kingdom of God has come near to you.

12 I say to you, it will be more bearable for Sodom in that day than for that town.

13 Woe to you, Chorazin. Woe to you, Bethsaida. For if the miracles that have been performed among you had been performed in Tyre and Sidon, then they would have repented long ago by sitting in sackcloth and ashes.

14 Therefore it will be more bearable for Tyre and Sidon at the judgment than for you.

15 And you, Capernaum, you are exalted to heaven but you will be thrust down to hell.

16 Whoever listens to you listens to me, and whoever rejects you rejects me, and whoever rejects me rejects the one who has sent me.

17 And the seventy returned with joy and said: Lord, even the demons obeyed us because of your name.

18 And Jesus said to them: I have seen Satan falling like lightning from the sky.

19 Behold I have given you authority to tread on serpents and scorpions, and over all the power of the enemy. And nothing can harm you in any way.

20 Nevertheless do not rejoice that the evil spirits obeyed you, but rejoice that your names are written in heaven.

21 At that very moment, Jesus rejoiced in the Holy Spirit and said: I praise you, O Father, Lord of the heaven and the earth, that you have hidden these things from the wise and learned, and have revealed them to babies [that is to say, to those who do not obey their own wisdom and who act out of simplicity]. Yes, Father, because this is how it has seemed good in your sight.

22 All things have been given to me by my Father. And no one knows who the Son is, except the Father. And no one knows who the Father is, except the Son and anyone to whom the Son chooses to reveal it.

23 And Jesus turned toward his disciples, and said to them privately: Blessed are the eyes that see what you see.

24 For I tell you that many prophets and kings have desired to see the things that you see, and have not seen them. And they have desired to hear the things that you hear, and have not heard them.

25 And behold, a certain lawyer stood up and tests Jesus by saying: Teacher, what must I do to inherit eternal life.

26 And Jesus said to him: What is written in the Law. How do you read it.

27 And he answered and said: You will love the Lord your God with all your heart, and with all your soul, and with all your strength, and with all your thought, and you will love your neighbor as yourself.

28 And Jesus said to him: You have answered correctly. Do this, and you will live.

29 But he wanted to justify himself, and he said to Jesus: And who is my neighbor.

30 And Jesus answered an said: A man was going down from Jerusalem to Jericho, and he fell among robbers. And they stripped him of his clothes, and beat him, and departed, leaving him half dead.

31 And it happened that a priest was going by that road, and the priest saw the wounded man, and he passed by on the other side.

32 A there was also a Levite who came to the place, and the Levite saw the wounded man, and he passed by on the other side.

33 And there was a certain Samaritan who was traveling, and the Samaritan came to that place and saw the wounded man, and he was moved with compassion.

34 And the Samaritan came to him, and bandaged his wounds, pouring on them oil and wine. Then the Samaritan put the wounded man on his own beast, and brought him to an inn where he took care of him.

35 And on the next day the Samaritan took out two pence and gave them to the innkeeper, and said: Take care of him. And whatever you spend more, I will repay you when I return.

36 And now in your opinion, which of these three persons has been a neighbor to the one who fell among the robbers.

37 And the lawyer said, 'It is the one who has shown mercy on him'. And Jesus said to the lawyer, 'Go and do likewise'.

38 Now Jesus and his disciples were traveling, and he entered a certain town, and a certain woman named Martha received him into her house.

39 And she had a sister named Mary, and Mary sat at the feet of Jesus and was listening to his words.

40 And Martha was busy with various household tasks, and therefore she came to Jesus and said: Master, do you not care that my sister has left me alone to serve. Order her therefore to help me.

41 And Jesus answered her by saying: Martha, Martha, you are anxious and upset about many things.

42 One thing is necessary [and it is to perfect one's knowledge of the will of God]. Mary has chosen that good part, which will not be taken away from her.

Luke 11

1 One day Jesus was praying in a certain place, and he ceased after a certain time. Then one of his disciples said to him: Lord, teach us to pray, as John also taught his disciples to do it.

2 And Jesus said to them: Say the following thing when you pray. Father, may your name be sanctified [by all the peoples]. May your reign come, for your will is done on earth as it is in heaven.

3 Give us our daily bread every day.

4 And forgive us our sins, as we too forgive every one who has offended us. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil.

5 And Jesus said to them: If one of you has a friend, and goes to him in the middle of the night to tell him the following thing.

6 Friend, I want you to lend me three loaves. For one of my friends has come to my house from a trip, and I have nothing to offer him to eat.

7 And if the one to whom this thing is asked desire to answer by saying: Do not trouble me, the door is already closed. My children and I are in bed, and I cannot get up to give you breads.

8 Then I say to you, despite the fact that he does not want to get up and give what is asked of him, he will do it anyway because it is his friend who is bothering him. Therefore he will give what he has the possibility to give him.

9 And I say to you the following thing. Ask, and it will be given you. Seek, and you will find. Knock, and it will be opened to you.

10 For every one who asks receives, and the one who seeks finds, and it is opened to the one who knocks.

11 Who is the father who will give a stone to his son when that son has asked his father for bread. And who is the one who will give a snake to his son who is asking for a fish.

12 Will he give a scorpion if he is asked for an egg.

13 If then, being wicked as you are, you know how to give good things to your children, how much more will your heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to those who ask him for it.

14 Now it happened that Jesus was casting a demon who had made a man unable to speak. And when the demon had gone out, the mute man spoke and the crowd marvelled.

15 But some of them said: He casts out demons from people by the power of Beelzebub who is the chief of the demons.

16 And others wanted to trap Jesus, and they asked him for a sign from heaven. [For they thought that since he must be performing miracles by using the power of Satan, he can only act on evil spirits and he cannot perform another kind of miracle.]

17 But Jesus knew their thoughts, and he said to them: Every kingdom divided against itself will be destroyed, and a family whose members fight against each other will break apart.

18 So if Satan is divided against himself, then how will his kingdom stand. For you say that I cast out demons by the power of Beelzebub.

19 And if I cast out demons by the power of Beelzebub, then by whom do your sons cast them out. Therefore they will be your judges. [Now when Jesus mentions their sons here, he is speaking of the seventy disciples whom he recently sent to perform miracles in his name, and also of all those who will become his disciples later and who will perform miracles in his name after the death of his body.]

20 But if it is by the finger of God that I am able to cast out demons, then the kingdom of God has come to you.

21 When a strong and well armed man keeps his house, what he owns is safe.

22 But if another man who is stronger than he come against him, then this stronger man will prevail over the first, and will take all his weapons in which he trusted, and will distribute his spoils.

23 The one who is not with me is against me, and the one who does not gather with me scatters.

24 When an unclean spirit has come out of a man, that spirit goes through arid places to seek rest. And if he does not find a place a rest, then he says: I will go back to my house from which I have come out.

25 And when he has come, if he finds it swept and garnished, then he goes and takes seven other spirits more evil than himself, and they come inside and dwell there.

26 And the last condition of that man is worse than the first.

27 And while Jesus was speaking those things, a certain woman of the crowd lifted up her voice and said to him: Blessed is the womb that has borne you, and the nipples that you have sucked.

28 And Jesus answered ans said: Blessed be rather those who hear the word of God, and who keep it [in order to practice it].

29 The crowd grew larger and larger, and Jesus began to say: This is a wicked generation. They seeks a sign [despite everything that they have seen me do and everything that they have heard that I have done], but no sign will be given them except the sign of Jonah the prophet.

30 For just as Jonah was a sign to the Ninevites, so the Son of man will be to this generation.

31 The queen of the south will rise up in the judgment with the people of this generation and will condemn them. For she came from the ends of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon, and behold, what is here is greater than Solomon.

32 The men of Nineveh will stand up in the judgment with this generation, and will condemn it. For they repented at the preaching of Jonah, and behold, what is here is greater than Jonah.

33 No man lights a lamp in order to put it in a secret place or under a bushel basket, but on a lampstand so that those who enter may see the light.

34 Your eye is the lamp of your body. When your eye is in good condition, your whole body is illuminated. But when your eye is in bad condition, your body is in darkness.

35 Beware therefore that the light that is in your heart be not darkness.

36 If therefore your whole body is full of a good light from your heart, having no part in darkness, then you will walk in the light like when the bright light of a lamp illuminates everything where you are.

37 And while Jesus was speaking, a certain Pharisee asked him to dine with him. And Jesus went in, and sat down at table.

38 And when the Pharisee saw it, he was surprised that Jesus had not first washed his hands before the meal.

39 And the Lord said to him: You the Pharisees, you clean the outside of the cup and of the platter, but you are full of extortion and wickedness inside your hearts.

40 You are foolish. Did not the one who made the outside also make the inside.

41 Give alms of those things that are inside the heart [instead of seeking approval in the eyes of others through appearances], and behold, all things will be clean for you.

42 Woe to you, Pharisees. For you tithe mint and rue and every herb, but you neglect the justice and the love of God. Those are the things that you should have done first, without omitting the others.

43 Woe to you, Pharisees. For you love the best seats in the synagogues, and greetings in the marketplaces.

44 Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites. For you are like tombs that do not appear to be what they are, and on which people walk without being aware of it.

45 Then one of the lawyers spoke and said to Jesus: Teacher, you insult us also by saying these thing.

46 And Jesus answered and said: Woe to you also, lawyers. For you load men with burdens that are grievous to bear, and you yourselves do not touch them with one of your fingers.

47 Woe to you. For you build the tombs of the prophets whom your fathers have killed.

48 You thus bear witness to the works of your fathers and approve them. For they have killed the prophets, and you build their tombs.

49 Therefore the wisdom of God said: I will send them prophets and apostles, and they will kill some and persecute others.

50 So that the blood of all the prophets which was shed since the creation of the world may be required of this generation.

51 From the blood of Abel to the blood of Zechariah who was killed between the altar and the temple. Truly I say to you, it will be required of this generation.

52 Woe to you, lawyers. For you have taken away the key of knowledge. You have not entered yourselves, and you have hindered those who were entering.

53 And as Jesus said these things to them, the scribes and the Pharisees began to urge him vehemently, to make him speak many things.

54 And they were setting traps for him, trying to catch something from his mouth in order to be able to accuse him.

Luke 12

1 Meanwhile, an innumerable multitude of people had gathered together and were trampling one another. And Jesus began to say to his disciples: Beware above all of the leaven of the Pharisees, which is hypocrisy.

2 For there is nothing covered that will not be revealed, nor concealed that will not be made known.

3 Therefore whatever you have spoken in darkness will be heard in the light, and what you have whispered in private rooms will be proclaimed on the housetops.

4 And I say to you, my friends: Do not be afraid of those who kill the body, and are not able to do anything more after that.

5 For I will show you the one whom you should fear. Fear the one who has the power to cast you into hell after he has killed your body. Yes, I say to you, he is the one whom you must fear.

6 Are not five sparrows sold for two pennies. And nevertheless not one of them is forgotten in the sight of God.

7 Even the hairs of your head are all numbered. Therefore do not be afraid, you are more valuable than many sparrows.

8 And I say to you, whoever will confess me before men, the Son of man also will confess him before the angels of God.

9 But whoever will deny me before men will be denied before the angels of God.

10 And whoever will speak a word against the Son of man, it will be forgiven him. But whoever will blaspheme against the Holy Spirit, the same will not be forgiven.

11 When they bring you before the synagogues, or before the rulers and the authorities, do not worry about how you will react or what you will say.

12 For the Holy Spirit will teach you at that very moment what you ought to say.

13 And someone in the crowd said to Jesus: Teacher, tell my brother to share with me the inheritance that we have received from our deceased parent.

14 And Jesus said to him: Man, who has appointed me to be a judge or a divider among you. [I am here now in the flesh to teach you to obey the Holy Spirit, and I do it by showing you how I too am obeying the Holy Spirit.]

15 Then Jesus said to them: Take heed, and beware of covetousness. For the life of a person does not consist of his riches.

16 And Jesus told them this parable: The ground of a certain rich man produced plentifully.

17 And he reasoned within himself by saying: What will I do. For I have not enough room to store all my harvest.

18 And he said: I will do the following thing. I will pull down my barns, and build bigger ones, and there I will store all my harvest and all my goods.

19 And I will say to my soul: Soul, you have plenty of goods laid up for many years. Take your rest, eat and drink, and be merry.

20 But God said to him: You are foolish. This very night your life will be taken away from your body. And what you have prepared, for whom will it be.

21 So is the one who lays up riches only for himself, and is not rich for God.

22 Then Jesus said to his disciples: Therefore I say to you, do not worry about your life concerning what you will eat, or about your body concerning what you will wear.

23 The life is more than food, and the body more than clothing.

24 Consider the ravens. They neither sow nor reap, and they have neither storeroom nor barn, and nevertheless God feeds them. And now, you are more valuable than the birds.

25 And which one of you, being anxious, can add a cubit to the measure of his life.

26 If then you cannot do even the least thing, why do you worry about the remnant.

27 Consider the lilies, how they grow. They neither toil nor spin, and I say to you that even Solomon in all his glory has not been clothed like one of these.

28 If God clothes thus the grass which is today in the field and tomorrow is cast into the oven, then does he not have more reason to clothe you [properly at the appropriate time], O you of little faith.

29 Therefore do not seek what you will eat or what you will drink, and do not be anxious.

30 For the people of the world are those who seek such things, and your Father knows when you need them.

31 Rather seek the kingdom of God, and all these things will be given to you on the top.

32 Do not be afraid, little flock, for it is your Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom.

33 Sell what you have, and give alms. Make for yourselves purses that do not wear out, a treasure in the heaven so that it may endure forever, where no thief comes near and no moth destroys.

34 For where your treasure is, there also your heart will be.

35 Let your waists be girded, and your lamps lit.

36 And be yourselves like men who are waiting for their master to return from the wedding, in order to open the door immediately as soon as he comes and knocks.

37 Blessed are those servants whom the Lord will find awake when he comes. Truly I say to you, he will gird himself, and will make them sit down to eat, and will come forth and serve them.

38 Whether he comes in the second watch or in the third watch, blessed are those servants whom he finds watching.

39 And now understand the following thing. If the master of a house knows at what moment the thief will come, then he will watch and not allow his house to be broken into.

40 Therefore be ready at all times [since you do not know the day and hour]. For the Son of man will come at a time that you will not expect.

41 And Peter said to Jesus: Master, have you spoken this parable for us [who are your close disciples] or for all the people [of the twelve tribes].

42 And the Lord said: Who then is the faithful and wise steward whom his master will set over his household, to give them their portion of food at the proper time.

43 Blessed is that servant whom his master, when he comes, will find so doing.

44 Truly I say to you, the master will set that servant over all his possessions.

45 But if that servant says to himself, 'My master is delaying his coming', and begins to beat the menservants and the maidservants, and to eat and drink in order to get drunk.

46 Then the master of that servant will come on a day when he does not expect, and at an hour that he does not know, and will tear him to pieces, and will give him his portion with the unfaithful.

47 And that servant who knew the will of his master, and have neither prepared himself nor done according to that will, will be beaten with many lashes.

48 But the one who did not know the will of his master and who has done things worthy of punishment will be beaten with few lashes. For much will be required from the one to whom much is given, and it will be asked more from the one to whom more has been entrusted.

49 I have come to put a fire on the earth. And what have I to desire, if it has already been kindled.

50 There is a baptism with which I must be baptized, and I eagerly await the right time.

51 Do you think that I have come [in the flesh] give peace on the earth. No, I tell you, but rather division.

52 For from now on five in one house will be divided, three against two, and two against three.

53 The father against his son, and the son against his father. The mother against her daughter, and the daughter against her mother. The mother in law against her daughter in law, and the daughter in law against her mother in law.

54 Then Jesus said to the people: When you see a cloud rising from the west, you immediately say, 'The rain is coming'. And so it is.

55 And when you see the south wind blowing, you say, 'There will be an overwhelming heat'. And so it is.

56 Hypocrites. You know how to discern the face of the earth and the sky. How is it that you do not discern this time.

57 And why do you not discern by yourselves what is right.

58 When you go with your adversary before the magistrate, try on the way to free yourself from him. Lest he drag you before the judge, and the judge hand you over to the officer, and the officer cast you in prison.

59 I say to you, you will not get out of there until you have paid the very last penny.

Luke 13

1 In those days, some people who were there told Jesus about the Galileans whose blood had been mingled with their sacrifices by Pilate. [It was while they were offering sacrifices that the men of Pilate came and killed them.]

2 And Jesus answered and said to them: Do you think that those Galileans who have suffered in this way were greater sinners than all the other Galileans.

3 No, I say to you. But you will all perish likewise unless you amend your lives.

4 Or do you think that those eighteen people who have been killed when the tower fell on them in Siloam were greater sinners than all the other inhabitants of Jerusalem.

5 No, I say to you. But you will all perish likewise unless you amend your lives.

6 And Jesus spoke this parable: A certain man had a fig tree planted in his vineyard. And he came to look for its fruit, but found none.

7 Then he said to the vinedresser: Behold these three years I have been coming to look for the fruit of this fig tree, and I have found none. Now therefore, cut it down. For why should it occupy the ground unnecessarily.

8 And the vinedresser said to him: Lord, allow it to stay this year also. I will dig around it, and dung it.

9 Perhaps it will bear fruit after I have done this thing. If not, then it will be cut down.

10 Now Jesus was teaching in one of the synagogues on a sabbath day.

11 And behold, And there was in that place a woman who had been possessed by a spirit of infirmity for eighteen years. Her body was always bent, and she could not straighten up at all.

12 When Jesus saw her, he called her to him and said to her: Woman, you are freed from your infirmity.

13 And he laid his hands on her, and immediately she straightened up and praised God.

14 And the ruler of the synagogue, being moved with indignation because Jesus had healed a sick on a sabbath day, spoke and said to the crowd: There are six days in which men ought to work. Come therefore during those days to be healed, and not on a sabbath day.

15 And the Lord [Jesus] answered him by saying: Hypocrite. Does not each of you untie his ox or his donkey on a sabbath day and lead it away to watering.

16 And this woman who is a daughter of Abraham and whom Satan had bound, and lo, for eighteen years, should she not have been freed from her bonds as soon as possible even if it is on a sabbath day. [Now the sabbath day was given only in the law received by Moses and for two different reasons, when the ten commandments were enunciated a few months after the people left Egypt in the book of Exodus, and when these ten commandments were summarized in the fortieth and final year of their journey through the wilderness in the book of Deuteronomy. This sabbath day was not mentioned in the biblical accounts that describe the lives of the patriarchs from Adam to Jacob, nor in the events that concerned the children of Israel before their arrival in the wilderness. So the sabbath day was not known to Abraham, just as the fact of having to perform circumcision on the eighth day on each male child was not known to Abraham, since Abraham circumcised himself at the age of ninety nine and circumcised his son Ishmael at the age of thirteen. And Abraham took another wife who bore him six other male children after Isaac was born to him by his wife Sarah, and Isaac became the father of the twin brothers Esau and Jacob, Jacob being the one whose name was changed to Israel and whose twelve children according to the flesh were the fathers according to the flesh of the twelve tribes of Israel. All these remarks make us understand that the expression 'daughter of Abraham' that Jesus used is heavy with meaning.]

17 And when Jesus spoke those words, all his adversaries were ashamed while the crowd were rejoicing for all the glorious things that he had done.

18 Then Jesus spoke and said: What is the kingdom of God like. And to what will I liken it.

19 It is like a grain of mustard seed that a man has taken and has sown into his garden, and which has grown and has become a great tree, and the birds of the air came to live in its branches.

20 And Jesus spoke again and said: To what will I liken the kingdom of God.

21 It is like leaven that a woman has taken and has put in three measures of meal, and which has had its effect until all the dough had risen.

22 And Jesus went through towns and villages on his way to Jerusalem, and he was teaching.

23 And someone said to him: Lord, will there be only a few people who will be saved.

24 And Jesus said to them: Strive to enter by the narrow gate. For I say to you, many will seek to enter and will not be able.

25 And at the time when the master of the house gets up and shuts the door, you will begin to stand outside and knock at the door by saying, 'Lord, Lord, open to us'. And he will answer and say to you, 'I do not know where you are from'.

26 Then you will begin to say: We ate and drank in your presence, and you taught in our streets.

27 And he will say: I tell you, I do not know where you are from. Depart from me, you all the workers of iniquity.

28 There will be weeping and gnashing of teeth when you see Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, and all the prophets, in the kingdom of God, while you yourselves are thrown out.

29 And they will come from the east and the west, and from the north and the south, and they will sit down in the kingdom of God.

30 And behold, there are last who will be first, and there are first who will be last.

31 On that same day, some Pharisees came to Jesus and said: Go away, do not stay here. For Herod wants to kill you.

32 And Jesus answered them and said: Go and tell that fox, 'Behold I will cast out demons and heal the sick today and tomorrow, and I will be ready on the third day'.

33 Nevertheless I must walk today, and tomorrow, and the next day. For it is not appropriate for a prophet to perish outside Jerusalem.

34 O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, which kills the prophets and stones those who are sent to you. How often I have wanted to gather your children, as a hen gathers her brood under her wings, and you have refused.

35 Behold your house will be left to you. And truly I say to you, you will not see me until the time comes when you say: Blessed is the one who comes in the name of the Lord.

Luke 14

1 And it happened on a sabbath day that Jesus entered the house of one of the leaders of the Pharisees in order to have a meal, and the Pharisees were watching him.

2 And behold, there was a hydropic man in front of Jesus.

3 And Jesus spoke and said to the lawyers and to the Pharisees: Is it lawful to heal a sick person on a sabbath day.

4 And they kept silent. Then Jesus stretched out his hand on that man, and healed him, and let him go.

5 Then Jesus said to them: Which of you, if his donkey or his ox falls into a well, will not try to get it out of there immediately even on a sabbath day.

6 And they could not answer anything.

7 Then Jesus spoke a parable to the guests, seeing that they were looking for seats located before the others to sit there. And Jesus told them the following.

8 When you are invited by someone to a wedding, do not choose by yourself to sit on the most remarkable seats.

9 Lest there be among the guests a person more honorable than you, and the one who has invited both of you comes to tell you, 'Give this seat to this person'. For you would then be ashamed to go take a lower place.

10 But when you are invited, go and sit down in the lowest place. In this way, if the one who has invited you comes and tells you, 'My friend, go up to occupy a higher seat', then you will be honored in the eyes of all those who will be in that place with you.

11 For whoever exalts himself will be lowered, and whoever humbles himself will be exalted.

12 Then Jesus said to the one who had invited him: When you give a dinner or a supper, do not invite your friends, nor your brothers, nor your kinsmen, nor rich neighbors, lest they invite you also in order to repay you.

13 But when you give a feast, invite the poor, and the maimed, and the lame, and the blind.

14 And you will be blessed because they cannot repay you. For this deed will be returned to you at the resurrection of the righteous.

15 Those who were at the table with Jesus heard those words, and one of them said to Jesus: Blessed is the one who will have a meal in the kingdom of God.

16 And Jesus said to him: A certain man gave a great supper, and he invited many people.

17 And he sent his servant at the supper time to say to the guests: Come now. For all things are now ready.

18 But they all began to make excuses. The first said to him: I have bought a field, and I must go to see it. Please excuse me.

19 And another said: I have bought five pairs of oxen, and I must go to try them. Please excuse me.

20 And another said: I have married a wife, and therefore I cannot come.

21 So the servant returned to his master, and reported those answers to him. Then the master of the house became angry, and said to his servant: Go promptly in the streets and lanes of the city, and bring here the poor, and the maimed, and the blind, and the lame.

22 And the servant said: Lord, what you have ordered has been done, and there is still room.

23 And the master said to the servant: Go out into the highways and hedges, and compelled those whom you will find to come inside, so that my house may be filled.

24 For I say to you, none of those men who had been invited first will taste of my supper.

25 Now a great crowd went with Jesus on the road, and Jesus turned and said the following thing to them. [For they were walking behind Jesus.]

26 If a person comes to me, and does not hate his own father, and his mother, and his wife, and his children, and his brothers, and his sisters, and even his own life, then he cannot be my disciple.

27 And whoever does not carry his own cross to follow me, the same cannot be my disciple.

28 Which of you, if he wants to build a tower, does not sit first to calculate the cost and see if he has enough to finish the work.

29 Lest he is unable to have the work completed after having laid the foundations, and the people make fun of him when they see the unfinished and unusable work.

30 For they will say: This man has done a useless work since he has not been able to finish what he has started or even to progress enough in his work.

31 What king, if he wants to make war against another king, does not sit down first to examine whether he is able to walk with ten thousand men to meet the one who comes to attack him with twenty thousand.

32 If he cannot, then when the enemy is still at a great distance, he sends an embassy and express his desire to make peace.

33 In the same way, whoever does not forsake everything that he has [by making his desire to follow me the only concern of his heart], the same cannot be my disciple.

34 Salt is a good thing. But if the salt loses its flavor, then with what will it be seasoned.

35 It is fit neither for the soil nor for the manure, and it must be thrown outside. Whoever has ears to hear, let him hear.

Luke 15

1 Now all the tax collectors and sinners were approaching Jesus to hear him.

2 And the Pharisees and scribes were grumbling by saying: This man welcomes sinners, and eats with them.

3 Then Jesus told them the following parable.

4 If one of you has a hundred sheep, and he loses one of them, then will he not leave the ninety nine in a safe place to go after the lost one until he finds it.

5 And when he has found it, he lays it on his shoulders with joy.

6 And when he comes home, he calls together his friends and neighbors and says to them: Rejoice with me. For I have found my sheep which was lost.

7 I say to you, in the same way there will be joy in heaven for one sinner who repents, more than for ninety nine righteous persons who need no repentance.

8 If a woman has ten pieces of silver, and she loses one piece, then will she not light a lamp, and sweep the house, and search diligently until she finds it.

9 And when she has found it, she calls together her friends and neighbors and says: Rejoice with me, for I have found the piece which I had lost.

10 I say to you, in the same way there will be joy in the presence of the angels of God concerning a single sinner who repents.

11 And Jesus said moreover: A certaine man had two sons.

12 And the younger one said to his father, 'Father, give me the portion of your goods that falls to me'. And the father divided his goods among his sons.

13 And a few days later, the younger son gathered everything together and went to a distant country, and there he squandered his wealth by living in a disorderly manner.

14 And when he had spent everything, a severe famine arose in that country, and he began to be in need.

15 Then he went and worked for one of the inhabitants of that country, and that person sent him into his fields to feed pigs.

16 And he longed to fill his belly with the husks that the pigs were eating, but no one gave him any.

17 Then he realized that what he was doing was not the best thing to do to improve his difficult situation which had been caused by his foolish behavior. For he said to himself: The many hired servants of my father each have enough bread to eat, and I am dying of hunger here.

18 I will arise and go to my father, and I will say to him: Father, I have sinned against the heaven, and in your sight.

19 I am no longer worthy to be called your son. Act toward me like toward one of your hired servants.

20 So he arose and went to his father. And when he was still at a certain distance, his father saw him and was moved with compassion. And his father ran, and fell on his neck, and kissed him.

21 And the son said to him: Father, I have sinned against the heaven, and in your sight. I am no longer worthy to be called your son.

22 Then the father said to his servants: Bring forth the best robe, and put it on him. And put a ring on his hand, and shoes on his feet.

23 And bring the fattened calf, and kill it, and let us eat and be merry.

24 For my son who is here was dead, and is alive again. He was lost, and is found.

25 And they began to rejoice, while the elder son was in the field. And when the elder son was coming back and was approaching the house, he heard music and dancing.

26 And he called one of his servants, and asked him what those things meant.

27 And the servant said to him: Your brother has come back, and your father has killed the fattened calf because he was happy that your brother was safe and sound.

28 Then the elder son became angry and did not want to go in. Therefore his father came out, and entreated him to come in.

29 But he answered and said to his father: Lo, these many years I have served you without ever transgressing your commands, and you never gave me a young goat to use it to rejoice with my friends.

30 And when your son my brother came back, the one who has devoured your goods with prostitutes, you have killed the fattened calf to honor him.

31 And his father answered him and said: My son, you are always with me, and all that I have is yours.

32 But we had to be glad and rejoice, because your brother who is here was dead, and is alive again. He was lost, and is found.

Luke 16

1 Jesus also said to his disciples: There was a certain rich man who had a steward, and it was said to that rich man that his steward was wasting his goods.

2 And he called his steward and said to him: What is this that I hear concerning you. Give an account of your stewardship, for you will no longer manage my goods.

3 Then the steward said within himself: What will I do, since my master takes away the stewardship from me. I do not have the strength to cultivate the soil, and I would feel a great shame if I have to become a beggar.

4 I know what I will do, so that people may receive me into their houses when I am dismissed from my stewardship.

5 Then he called each of the debtors of his master, and he said to the first: How much do you owe my master.

6 And he answered, 'One hundred measures of oil'. And the steward said to him, 'Take your note, and sit down quickly, and write fifty'.

7 Then the steward said to another, 'How much do you owe'. And he replied, 'A hundred measures of wheat'. And the steward said to him, 'Take your note and write eighty'.

8 And the master commended the unfaithful steward for having acted prudently. For the children of this world are more prudent towards their fellow men than the children of light. [Now this story does not specify the exact relationship between the rich man and his steward, nor how much the steward knew about the origin of this wealth which could have come from a form of oppression of others when we read the advice that Jesus is going to give below, nor what was the impact of that deed of the steward on the amount of the possessions of his master. For the debtors who have acted according to what the steward told them could only maintain a good conscience if they were aware of the special rights that the steward had over the management of those goods, and they certainly acted with a good conscience since the rich man was aware of what happened.]

9 And I say to you the following thing. Make for yourselves friends with the riches of unrighteousness, so that those friends may receive you into everlasting dwellings when those riches fail.

10 He who is faithful in a little is faithful also in much, and he who is unrighteous in a little is unrighteous also in much.

11 If then you have not been faithful in the unrighteous riches, then who will entrust you with the true treasure.

12 And if you have not been faithful in what belongs to someone else, then who will give you that which is your own.

13 No servant can serve two masters. For either he will hate the one and love the other, or he will be devoted to the one and not care about the other. You cannot serve God and riches.

14 And the Pharisees who were lovers of money heard all those words also, and they mocked Jesus.

15 And Jesus said to them: You strive to be appreciated in the appearances that people see of you, but God knows your hearts. For what seduces the eyes of a person and enter his heart in this way is an abomination in the sight of God.

16 The Law and the prophets have endured until John. And since that time the kingdom of God is proclaimed [by myself], and everyone uses violence to enter it.

17 It is easier for the heaven and the earth to pass away than for one tittle of the law to fail.

18 Whoever divorces his wife and marries another commits adultery, and whoever marries a woman who has divorced from her husband commits adultery.

19 There was a certain rich man, and he was always clothed in purple and fine linen, and he lived sumptuously and delicately every day.

20 And there was also a certain beggar named Lazarus who often stayed at the gate of the rich man, and his body was full of sores.

21 And he was desiring to be fed with the crumbs that fell from the table of the rich man, and the dogs was coming and licking his sores.

22 And the beggar died, and he was carried by the angels into the bosom of Abraham. And the rich man also died, and was buried.

23 And while the rich man was in torments in hell, he lifted up his eyes and saw Abraham afar off, and Lazarus in his bosom.

24 Then he cried out and said: Father Abraham, have mercy on me, and send Lazarus so that he may dip the tip of his finger in water and cool my tongue. For I am in agony in this flame.

25 And Abraham replied: Son, remember that in your lifetime you received your pleasures, and that Lazarus in his lifetime received pain. And now he is comforted here, and you are in agony.

26 Moreover there is a great abyss set between us and you, so that no one may pass neither from here to you nor from there to us.

27 And the rich man said: I beseech you then, father Abraham, to send Lazarus to the house of my father.

28 For I have five brothers, and Lazarus may warn them so that they may not come also into this place of torment.

29 And Abraham said to him: They have Moses and the prophets. May your brothers listen to them.

30 And he said: No, father Abraham. But if someone goes to them from the dead, then they will amend their lives.

31 And Abraham said to him: If they do not listen to Moses and the prophets, then they will not be persuaded even if someone rises from the dead.

Luke 17

1 Then Jesus said to his disciples: It is impossible for offenses not to occur, but woe to him by whom they come.

2 It is would be better for him if a great millstone were hung around his neck and he were thrown into the sea, rather than that he should cause one of these little ones to stumble.

3 Take heed to yourselves. If your brother sins against you, then rebuke him. And if he repents, then forgive him.

4 And if he sins against you seven times in one day, and turns to you seven times and says, 'I repent', then you will forgive him.

5 And the apostles answered and said to the Lord: Increase our faith.

6 And the Lord said: If your faith was as big as a grain of mustard seed, then you could say to this sycamore tree, 'Uprooted yourself and plant yourself in the sea', and the tree would obey you.

7 If one of you have a servant who is plowing or feeding sheep, will he say the following thing as soon as that servant comes in from the fields: Come quickly and sit down to eat.

8 Will he not instead say to that servant: Prepare my supper, and gird yourself, and serve me. And when I have eaten and drunk, then you will eat and drink.

9 Should he thank that servant with more than politeness only because that servant has done his duty which was commanded to him.

10 Similarly, when you have done everything that has been commanded to you [by the Holy Spirit of God in a certain situation], then you should say: We are unprofitable servants, we have done that which was our duty to do.

11 And Jesus was on his way to Jerusalem, and he went from Galilee to Samaria.

12 And he entered a certain village, and ten lepers met him there.

13 They were standing at a certain distance from Jesus, and they lifted up their voices and said: Jesus, master, have mercy on us.

14 And when Jesus saw them, he said to them: Go and show yourselves to the priests. [Now Jesus told them this thing so that it would be known that he was acting for the same God who gave the law to Moses.]

15 And they have been healed while they were going. Then one of them, seeing that he was healed, returned to Jesus while praising God with a loud voice.

16 And he fell on his face at the feet of Jesus, and gave thanks. He was a Samaritan.

17 And Jesus spoke and said: Have not the ten been healed. And where are the other nine.

18 How is it that none of them has thought to give glory to God for the healing that he has received except this stranger. [Now Jesus is making us understand that giving glory to God for a benefit also consists of thanking the persons whom God has used to provide us with this benefit.]

19 Then Jesus said to him: Get up and go, your faith has saved you. [That is to say, your body has been healed like the bodies of the others nine persons who have not come back to thank the one who has caused this healing, but your faith that you have shown by coming back to me has saved your soul.]

20 And it happened that the Pharisees questioned Jesus to know at what time the kingdom of God will come. And Jesus answered them and said: The kingdom of God does not come in a way to catch the eye [that is to say, to attract attention].

21 They will not say, 'Lo, it is coming in this place', or 'Lo, it has come in that place'. For behold, the kingdom of God is among you.

22 And Jesus said to the disciples: The days will come when you desire to see one of the days of the Son of man, and you will not see it.

23 And they will say to you, 'Behold he is here', or 'Behold he is there'. Do not go there, do not follow them.

24 For the Son of man will be in his day like the lightning that flashes and shines from one end of the sky to another.

25 But first he must suffer many things and be rejected by this generation.

26 And what happened in the days of Noah will also happen in the days of the Son of man.

27 The men were eating, and drinking, and marrying, and marrying their children, until the day when Noah entered the ark. For the flood came, and destroyed them all.

28 It will also be like what happened in the days of Lot. The men were eating, and drinking, and buying, and selling, and planting, and building.

29 But in the day that Lot went out of Sodom, a rain of fire and sulfur fell from the sky, and destroyed them all.

30 It will be in the same way in the day that the Son of man will appear.

31 In that day, the one who will be on the housetop and who will have his belongings in the house must not go down to take them. Likewise, the one who will be in the fields must not go back.

32 Remember the wife of Lot.

33 Whoever will seek to save his life will lose it, and the one whose main concern will not be to preserve his life in his physical body will save his soul.

34 I say to you, in that night there will be two persons on one bed but one will be taken while the other will be left.

35 There will be two women grinding together, but one will be taken while the other will be left.

36 There will be two men who will be in the field, but one will be taken while the other will be left.

37 And the disciples said to Jesus, 'Where will this happen, Lord'. And Jesus said to them, 'Where a dead body is, it is also there that the eagles gather together'.

Luke 18

1 And Jesus spoke the following parable to them, in order to show that it is good to pray continuously and never stop. [That is to say, we must never succumb to the temptation to act in a publicly unjustifiable manner, but rather we must pray continuously for the restoration of the rights of all those who are unjustly oppressed. For the fact of praying allows us to remember the existence of the living God whose only will is that we never act in a publicly unjustifiable manner.]

2 There was in a certain city a judge who did not fear God, and who had no regard for anyone.

3 There was also in that city a widow who came to tell him: Give me justice against my adversary.

4 For a long time he refused. But afterward he said within himself: Despite the fact that I do not fear God and that I have no regard for anyone, nevertheless I will give justice to this woman.

5 For after that she will no longer come to disturb my peace.

6 And the Lord [Jesus] said: Hear what the unrighteous judge says.

7 And do you not think that God will do justice to his elect, to those who cry to him day and night while continuously behaving in a way that is pleasing to him. Will he delay in carrying out a plan towards them to accomplish the salvation of their souls.

8 I say to you, he will not delay in doing them justice. But when the Son of man comes, will he find faith on the earth.

9 And Jesus also spoke the following parable for those who are convinced in themselves that they are righteous, and believe themselves superior to others in this way.

10 Two men went up to the temple to pray. One was a Pharisee, and the other a publican.

11 And the Pharisee stood and prayed within himself in the following way: O God, I thank you because I am not like the other men who are extortioners, or unjust, or adulterers, or even like this publican.

12 I do fasting twice every week, and I give the tithe of all my income.

13 And the publican was standing at a distance, and did not even dare to lift up his eyes toward the sky. And he was hitting his chest and saying: O God, be merciful to me because I am a sinner.

14 I say to you, this publican went down to his house justified, rather than the Pharisee. For anyone who exalts himself will be lowered, and the one who humbles himself will be exalted.

15 Some people brought their little children to Jesus, so that he could touch them. And when the disciples saw that, they told people not to do this thing.

16 And Jesus called them to him by saying: Let the little children come to me, do not stop them from doing it. For the kingdom of God is for those who resemble them.

17 Truly I say to you, whoever will not receive the kingdom of God as a little child will not enter it. [For a little child accepts a useful teaching with simplicity, and it is how one must behave if one wants to put the word of God into practice. A small child begins by imitating the useful thing he is asked to imitate in order to receive a reward, but those who do not have that spirit begin by discussing it while wondering if it is the right thing to do.]

18 Then a certain leader questioned Jesus by saying: Good teacher, what should I do to inherit eternal life.

19 And Jesus said to him: Why are you calling me good. God [the creator of all things] is the only one who is [truly] good.

20 You know the commandments: do not commit adultery, do not kill, do not steal, do not say any false testimony, honor your father and your mother.

21 And the leader said: I have practiced all these things since my youth.

22 And when Jesus heard this answer, he said to that man: There is one more thing that you must do. Sell everything that you have, and give the money to those who are poor, and come to follow me [like my disciples who are now with me and who go wherever I go]. And then you will have a treasure in the heaven. [Now there are two reasons why it is evident that Jesus has said this thing with a certain mischief. The first reason is that Jesus is simply reacting to the response that he has received from that man, and the second reason is that such a request will no longer make sense for those who will want to inherit eternal life when Jesus is no longer present in the flesh.]

23 And when that man heard those words, he became heartbroken. For he was very rich.

24 And Jesus saw that he had become heartbroken, and Jesus said: It will be very hard for those who have riches to enter the kingdom of God.

25 It is certainly easier for a camel to go through the hole of a needle than for a rich man to enter the kingdom of God.

26 And the people heard those words of Jesus, and they said: Who then can be saved. [For we know that our ancestor Abraham was very rich and had multiple servants, and he was chosen by God and received the promises that we know. Therefore we did not think that wealth could constitute such a great obstacle for those who seek the love of God.]

27 And Jesus answered and said: The things that are impossible with men are possible with God.

28 Then Peter said: Lo, we have left everything and have followed you.

29 And Jesus said to them: Truly I say to you, there is no one who has left house, or wife, or brothers, or parents, or children, for the sake of the kingdom of God, and who will not receive much more in this world.

30 And such a person will also receive everlasting life in the world to come.

31 Then Jesus called the twelve apostles to him and said to them: Behold we are going up to Jerusalem, and everything that are written by the prophets concerning the Son of man will be accomplished.

32 For he will be delivered to the Gentiles, and they will mock him, and insult him, and spit on him.

33 And after having whipped him, they will put him to death. But he will arise again on the third day.

34 But they understood nothing of those words. They considered those words to be a hidden message, and they could not grasp the meaning of what Jesus said to them.

35 And when Jesus was approaching Jericho, a certain blind man was sitting on the roadside and was begging.

36 And that man heard and understood that a crowd was walking near him, and he asked what it meant.

37 And they told him that it was Jesus of Nazareth who was passing by.

38 And that man cried out and said: Jesus, you the son of David, have pity on me.

39 And those who were walking before Jesus rebuked that man in order to silence him, but he shouted more and more: O son of David, have pity on me.

40 And Jesus stood still, and commanded to bring that man before him. And when that man had come near, Jesus asked him the following thing: What do you want me to do for you.

41 And the man answered: Lord, I desire to receive my sight.

42 And Jesus said to him: Receive your sight, your faith has saved you.

43 And immediately he received his sight, and followed Jesus while praising God. And when all the people saw this thing, they praised God.

Luke 19

1 And Jesus entered Jericho, and he was passing through the town.

2 And behold, there was a rich man named Zacchaeus. He was a chief of the tax collectors.

3 And Zacchaeus was trying to see who Jesus was, but he could not because of the crowd. For Zacchaeus had a small stature.

4 Therefore Zacchaeus ran ahead and climbed a sycamore tree, in order to see Jesus. For Jesus was about to pass on that way.

5 And when Jesus came to that place, he looked up and said to him: Zacchaeus, hurry up and get down. For I must stay at your house today.

6 And Zacchaeus hurried down, and received Jesus joyfully.

7 And the crowd saw this, and they began to grumble by saying: He has gone to stay with a sinful man.

8 And Zacchaeus stood before the Lord and said to him: Behold, Lord, I give half of what I have to the poor, and if I have taken something from someone without justification then I will return fourfold. [Now this is not exactly what the law given by Moses asks to do. For the law of Moses does not specify exactly what to give to the poor but it does say that one must give a tenth of one's income to the members of the tribe of Levi, and that every three years one must share a tenth of one's income with the poor, and that if one wrongs a person then one must restore the entire damage by adding a fifth in the presence of a priest who is a descendant of Aaron.]

9 And Jesus said to him: Today salvation has come to this house, because this man is also a son of Abraham.

10 For the Son of man has come to seek and to save that which was lost.

11 And the crowd was listening to those words, and Jesus spoke the following parable because he was near Jerusalem and because the people thought that the kingdom of God would appear immediately.

12 Therefore Jesus said: A certain nobleman went into a far country in order to receive for himself a kingdom, and to return.

13 And he called ten of his servants, and gave them ten pieces of gold, and said to them: Work with this money that I give you, until my return.

14 But his fellow citizens hated him, and sent an ambassador after him to say: We do not want this man to reign over us.

15 And when he returned, having received the kingdom, he called to him the servants to whom he had given the money. And he asked each of them to make an account, so that he might know what each had gained.

16 And the first came and said: Lord, your piece of gold has become ten pieces of gold.

17 And the king answered that servant and said: Well done, good servant. Since you have been faithful in a very small thing, I give you authority over ten cities.

18 And the second came and said: Lord, your piece of gold has become five pieces of gold.

19 And the king answered that servant and said: I make you ruler over five cities.

20 And another came and said: Lord, here is your piece of gold. I had kept it in a napkin.

21 For I was afraid of you, because you are an austere man. You take up what you have not laid down, and you reap what you have not sown.

22 Then the king answered that servant and said: I judge you by your own words, you wicked servant. You knew that I am an austere man, taking up what I have not laid down and reaping what I have not sown.

23 Why then have you not put my money in a bank. For I would have received it now with interest.

24 And the king said to those who stood near: Take from him the piece of gold, and give it to the one who has ten pieces of gold.

25 And they said to the king: Lord, he already has ten pieces of gold [and therefore that will make eleven pieces of gold for him].

26 And the king answered and said: I say to you, more will be given to him who has. But to him who does not have, even what he has will be taken away from him.

27 And now, bring here my enemies who have not wanted me to reign over them, and kill them before me.

28 And when Jesus had spoken those words, he went ahead of the crowd and went up to Jerusalem. [Now Jesus knew that he had to be killed there.]

29 And when he came near Bethphage and Bethany, at the mountain called the mount of Olives, Jesus sent two of his disciples by saying them the following thing.

30 Go into the village there beside you. And while you will enter the village, you will find a young donkey which is tied and on which no man has ever sat. Untie it and bring it here.

31 And if anyone asks you, 'Why are you untying it', then you will say, 'The Lord has need of it'.

32 So those who had been sent went away, and found that the things was as Jesus had told them.

33 And while they were untying the donkey, its owners said to them: Why are you untying the donkey.

34 And they answered and said: The Lord has need of it.

35 And they brought the young donkey to Jesus, and threw their garments on the donkey, and put Jesus on it.

36 And while Jesus was riding the donkey, people were spreading their clothes on the road.

37 And when he was now approaching Jerusalem, at the descent of the mount of Olives, the whole multitude of the disciples began to rejoice and praise God with a loud voice for all the miracles that they had seen.

38 And they were saying: Blessed is the king who comes in the name of the Lord. Peace in heaven, and glory in the highest places.

39 Then some of the Pharisees who were in the crowd said to Jesus: Teacher, rebuke your disciples.

40 And Jesus answered and said: I tell you, if these persons keep silent then the stones will cry out.

41 And when they were near the city, Jesus looked at it and lamented over it with the following words.

42 If you had known today the things that belong to your peace, you the inhabitants. But now they are hidden from your eyes.

43 For the days will come on you, when your enemies will surround you with trenches. They will surround you, and press you in on every side.

44 And they will destroy you and your children within you, and will not leave in you one stone on another, because you have not known the time of your visitation.

45 And Jesus entered the temple and began to drive out those who were selling things and those who were buying things.

46 And Jesus was saying to them: It is written, 'My house will be a house of prayer'. But you have made it a den of thieves.

47 And Jesus taught daily in the temple. And concerning the chief priests, and the scribes, and the leaders of the people, they were seeking to destroy him.

48 But they did not know how to do this without putting themselves in danger. For all the people were listening to Jesus with admiration.

Luke 20

1 One of those days, while Jesus was teaching the people in the temple and preaching the gospel, the chief priests came to him, and also the scribes and the elders.

2 And they said to Jesus: Tell us by what authority you are doing these things, or who has given you this authority.

3 And Jesus answered and said to them: I will also ask you one question. Tell me the following thing.

4 The baptism of John, was it from heaven or from men.

5 And they reasoned with each other by saying: If we answer, 'From heaven', then he will say, 'Why did you not believe him'.

6 But if we say, 'From men', then all the people will stone us because they are convinced that John was a prophet.

7 Therefore they [came to him and] answered that they did not know from whom it was.

8 And Jesus said to them: I also, I will not tell you by what authority I do these things.

9 Then Jesus began to speak the following parable to the people this parable: A certain man planted a vineyard, and leased it to tenants, and went to a far country to stay there for a long time.

10 And at harvest time, he sent a servant to the tenants, so that they might give him some of the produce of the vineyard. But the tenants beat that servant, and sent him away empty-handed.

11 And he sent another servant. And they beat that servant also, and insulted him, and sent him away empty-handed.

12 And he sent a third servant. And they wounded him, and cast him out.

13 Then the lord of the vineyard said: What will I do. I will send my beloved son. They may revere him when they see him.

14 But when the tenants saw him, they reasoned one with another by saying: This is the heir. Let us kill him, so that the inheritance may be ours.

15 So they threw him out of the vineyard, and killed him. Now what will the lord of the vineyard do to them.

16 He will come and destroy those tenants, and give the vineyard to others.

17 And when they heard those words of Jesus, they said, 'God forbid'. And Jesus looked at them and said: What then is this that is written, 'The stone that the builders have rejected has been made the head of the corner'.

18 Whoever falls on this stone will be broken to pieces, and it will crush to pieces whoever it falls on.

19 And the chief priests and the scribes sought to lay hands on him in that very hour, because they had perceived that Jesus had spoken this parable against them. But they feared the crowd.

20 And they watched Jesus and sent forth spies who pretended to be righteous, in order to lay traps before Jesus and catch some of his words, and thus be able to deliver him to the power and authority of the governor.

21 And the spies spoke to Jesus and said: Teacher, we know that you speak and teach justly. You do not let yourself be influenced by the appearance of people, but you teach the way of God truthfully.

22 Is it lawful for us to give tribute to Caesar or not.

23 And Jesus perceived their craftiness, and said to them: Show me a denarius. To whom belongs the image and the inscription that are engraved on it.

24 And they answered and said: Caesar.

25 Then Jesus said to them: Give back to Caesar the things that are from Caesar, and to God the things that are from God.

26 And they were astonished at his answer, and they remained silent. For they could not reproached Jesus for that answer which he had spoken before the people.

27 And some of the Sadducees came to Jesus to ask him a question. In those days the Sadducees are a part of those who affirm, among other things, that there will be no resurrection of the dead at the end of time. So they spoke and said the following thing.

28 Teacher, Moses commanded us that if a man dies while he has a wife and has no children, and if he has a brother who is alive, then that brother should take the widow and have children with her to preserve the name of his dead brother.

29 Now there were seven brothers. And the first took a wife, and he died childless.

30 And the second took the widow, and he died childless.

31 And the third took her, and it happened in the same way until the seventh who took her and died childless.

32 And the woman also died afterward.

33 And now, who among those brothers will take her for his wife in the resurrection. For each of the seven had her for wife.

34 And Jesus answered and said to them: The children of this world marry, and are given in marriage.

35 But those who are found worthy to enjoy that world, and the resurrection from the dead, will neither marry nor be given in marriage.

36 For they can no longer die. For they are equal to the angels, and are sons of God, being children of the resurrection.

37 The fact that the dead are raised is revealed even by Moses in his vision at the bush, when he called the Lord the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob.

38 For he is not the God of the dead, but of those who are alive. For all are alive in his sight.

39 Then some of the scribes spoke and said: Teacher, you have spoken well.

40 And after that, they no longer dared to ask him any question.

41 And Jesus said to them: How can people say that Christ is the son of David.

42 David himself says the following thing in the book of Psalms.

43 The Lord said to my Lord: Sit at my right hand, until I make your enemies your footstool.

44 Since David calls him Lord, how then is he his son.

45 Then Jesus said the following thing to his disciples, in the audience of all the people.

46 Beware of the scribes, who love to wear long robes in the sight of the people and to be greeted in the marketplaces, who seek the best positioned seats in the synagogues and the first places at feasts.

47 Those who devour the houses of the widows and make long prayers. They will be condemned more strictly.

Luke 21

1 And Jesus looked up, and saw the rich people putting their gifts into the treasury. [That is to say, people were putting gifts into a box that had been set there for this purpose. Such a box had already existed from a certain time during the existence of the first temple of the Lord built by Solomon, when king Joash the grandson of queen Athaliah wanted to receive money from the people to be able to carry out repairs in the temple of the Lord.]

2 And Jesus also saw a certain poor widow putting there two small coins.

3 And Jesus said: Truly I say to you, this poor widow has put in more than all the other persons.

4 For all the others have put in gifts of their superfluity, while it is of her penury that she has put in all that she had to live.

5 Now some were talking about the temple, concerning the beautiful stones with which it was adorned and the consecrated things.

6 And Jesus said: Concerning those things that catch your attention, the days will come when there will not be left one stone on another that will not be thrown down.

7 And they asked Jesus by saying: Teacher, when will this happen. And what will be the sign that it is about to take place.

8 And Jesus said: Be careful not to be deceived. For many will come in my name by saying, 'I am Christ' or 'the time is near'. Do not follow them.

9 And when you hear of wars and seditions, do not be terrified. For these things must take place first, but the end will not follow immediately.

10 Then Jesus said to them: Nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom.

11 There will be great earthquakes, and pestilences and famines in various places. And there will be fearful sights and great signs from the sky.

12 But before all these things, they will lay their hands on you and persecute you. They will deliver you up to the synagogues and into prisons, they will bring you before kings and rulers for the sake of my name.

13 And it will happen to you for a testimony.

14 So put into your hearts not to meditate in advance on how you will respond.

15 For I will give you a mouth and wisdom that all your adversaries will not be able to withstand or gainsay.

16 And you will be betrayed by your parents, and your brothers, and your kinsmen, and your friends, and they will cause some of you to be put to death.

17 And you will be hated by all men for the sake of my name.

18 But not a hair of your head will perish.

19 By your patience you will save your souls.

20 When you see Jerusalem surrounded by armies, then know that its desolation is near.

21 Then let those who are in Judea flee to the mountains, and let those who are in Jerusalem depart from there, and let those who are in the countryside not enter the city.

22 For those days will be days of vengeance, so that all that is written may be fulfilled.

23 Woe to those who are pregnant and to those who are nursing babies in those days. For there will be a great distress in the land, and wrath on this people. [Now this will be at the time of the destruction of this temple which has been built to bear the name of the Lord.]

24 And they will fall by the edge of the sword, and will be led captive into all nations, and Jerusalem will be trampled underfoot by the nations, until the times of the nations are fulfilled.

25 And there will be signs in the sun, and in the moon, and in the stars. And there will be distress and perplexity among the nations on the earth. The sea and the waters will roar. [Now this will be at the end of time.]

26 And the hearts of the peoples will faint with fear because of what is coming in the world. For the powers of the heavens will be shaken.

27 And then they will see the Son of man coming in a cloud with power and a great glory.

28 When these things begin to happen, look up and lift up your heads. For your redemption is drawing near.

29 And Jesus spoke the following parable to them: Look at the fig tree, and all the trees.

30 when they sprout, you see it and you know for yourselves that summer is now near.

31 In the same manner, when you see those things happening, know that the kingdom of God is near.

32 Truly I say to you, this generation will not pass away until all these things have taken place. [Now Jesus said elsewhere that the only sign that will be given to this generation is that of the prophet Jonah, and he said elsewhere that the law and the prophets have endured until John, and therefore he is saying here that until the end of time the peoples will have to content themselves with believing without evidence as was the case of the population of the city of Nineveh to whom the prophet Jonah had preached.]

33 The sky and the earth will pass away, but my words will not pass away.

34 Take heed to yourselves, lest your hearts be overwhelmed with carousing, or drunkenness, or anxieties of this life, and that day come on you suddenly. [That is to say, either that day of the end of time or simply the day of the end of your life in your physical body. For it is evident that some of those who are listening to these words of Jesus will die according to the flesh before all the events previously announced by Jesus are fulfilled, such as the destruction of the temple of the Lord, and the wars, and the earthquakes, and the famines. But Jesus also said previously that in the eyes of God those who are dead according to the flesh are alive in another form, like Abraham and Isaac and Jacob.]

35 For it will come like a snare on all those who dwell on the face of the whole earth.

36 Watch therefore, and pray continuously, so that you may be accounted worthy to escape all these things that will happen and to stand before the Son of man. [That is to say, you must continuously pray for the strength not to behave in a way that is contrary to the teachings that I have given you and and whose meaning you do not yet fully understand.]

37 In those days Jesus was teaching in the temple every day, and he was going to spend the night on the mountain that is called the mount of Olives.

38 And all the people were coming to the temple area early in the morning, in order to listen to Jesus.

Luke 22

1 Now the feast of unleavened bread which is called the Passover was approaching.

2 And the chief priests and the scribes were looking for a legally acceptable way to kill Jesus. For they feared the people [who loved Jesus and who could prevent them from arresting him, and who could avenge his blood if they did not act with precautions].

3 Then Satan came into Judas. This Judas was called Iscariot, and he was one of the twelve.

4 Therefore Judas went and communed with the chief priests and the captains of the temple guard, to find out how he could deliver Jesus to them.

5 And they were delighted with the initiative of Judas, and they agreed to give him money.

6 And Judas accepted, and he was looking for the opportunity to deliver Jesus to them by avoiding upsetting the crowd that remained near Jesus most of the time.

7 And the day of unleavened bread came, when the [victims of the] passover were to be sacrificed.

8 And Jesus sent Peter and John by saying: Go and prepare the passover, so that we may eat it.

9 And they said to Jesus: Where do you want us to prepare it.

10 And Jesus said to them: Behold when you enter the city, you will meet a man carrying a pitcher of water. Follow him into the house where he goes.

11 And you will say to the master of the house: The Master says to you, 'Where is the guest room where I will eat the passover with my disciples'.

12 And he will show you a large upper room. It will be furnished, and you will prepare the passover there.

13 So they went, and they found everything just as Jesus had said to them, and they prepared the passover.

14 And when the hour had come, Jesus sat down, and the twelve apostles with him.

15 And Jesus said to them: I have earnestly desired to eat this passover with you before I suffer.

16 For I say to you, I will not eat of it again until it is fulfilled in the kingdom of God. [Now this does not mean that he will eat of it again from a certain point in the future, but simply that he will not eat of it again until the end of time.]

17 And Jesus took the cup, and gave thanks, and said: Take this, and share it among yourselves.

18 For I say to you, I will not drink of the fruit of the vine until the kingdom of God comes. [Now the kingdom of God is already in the midst of the people according to words that Jesus spoke before. But this kingdom of God must still come at two particular times, namely at the death and resurrection of Jesus and at the end of time.]

21 And behold, the hand of the one who betrays me is with me at this table.

22 For the Son of man indeed goes as it has been determined, but woe to that man by whom he is betrayed.

23 Then they began to wonder among themselves who was the one among them who should do such a thing.

24 And a dispute arose among the apostles, as to which of them should be accounted the greatest.

25 And Jesus said to them: The kings of the Gentiles have lordship over them, and everyone who is established to have authority over a certain group of people wants to be called benefactors.

26 But it will not be so with you. Let the greatest among you be like the least. For the one who leads among you should be like one who serves. [Now Jesus has said these words to his apostles because their only goal must be to teach the exact knowledge of the will of God, and these apostles must have no other purpose among men.]

27 For who is greater, the one who sits at the table or the one who serves. Is it not the one who sits at the table. And nevertheless I am among you as the one who serves.

28 You are the ones who have persevered with me in my trials.

29 Therefore I assign the kingdom to you, just as my Father assigned it to me. [That is to say, you are the ones who will make known to others what I have done and what I have said, and you will also explain to them what to remember from my message.]

31 And the Lord said: Simon, Simon, Satan asked to have you in order to pierce you all over.

32 But I have prayed for you, so that your faith may not fail. And when you are converted, strengthen your brothers.

33 And Peter said to him: Lord, I am ready to go with you both to prison and to death.

34 And Jesus said: I tell you, Peter, the rooster will not crow this day until you have denied three times that you know me.

35 And Jesus said to them, 'When I have sent you without purse, and bag, and shoes, did you lack anything'. And they answered, 'Nothing'.

36 Then Jesus said to them: And now, let the one who has a purse take it, and let the one who has a bag do likewise. And whoever does not have a sword, let him sell his garment and buy a sword.

37 For I say to you, the following thing that is written must be fulfilled in me, 'He was numbered among the transgressors'. For what is happening to me has a purpose.

38 And they said, 'Lord, behold there are two swords here'. And Jesus said to them, 'That will be enough'.

39 And Jesus came out, and he went to the mount of Olives according to his custom. And his disciples also followed him.

40 And when he arrived at the place, he said to them: Pray, so as not to succumb to temptation.

41 And Jesus withdrew from them, and he went to a distance that was about a stone’s throw, and he knelt down and prayed.

42 And he said: Father, if you are willing, remove this cup from me. Nevertheless, let not my will be done but yours.

45 And when Jesus rose up from his prayer, he came to the disciples and found them asleep from sorrow.

46 And Jesus said to them: Why are you sleeping. Get up and pray, so as not to succumb to temptation.

47 And while Jesus was still speaking, behold a company came. Judas who was one of the twelve was walking ahead of them, and he approached Jesus to kiss him.

48 And Jesus said to him: Judas, are you betraying the Son of man with a kiss of friendship.

49 And when the disciples who were with Jesus saw what was going to happen, they said: Lord, should we smite with the sword.

50 And one of them smote the servant of the high priest, and cut off his right ear.

51 Then Jesus answered and said to his disciples, 'Do not do more'. And Jesus touched the ear of that man, and healed him.

52 Then Jesus said the following thing to those who had come against him, namely the chief priests, and the captains of the temple guard, and the elders: You have come out as if against a thief, with swords and sticks.

53 I was with you every day in the temple, and you have not stretched forth your hands against me. But now it is your hour, and the power of darkness.

54 And they seized Jesus, and led him away, and brought him to the house of the high priest. And Peter followed them while staying at a certain distance.

55 And when they had kindled a fire in the middle of the courtyard, and had sat down, Peter also sat among them.

56 A a certain maid saw Peter who had sat near the fire, and she looked intently at him, and she said: This man was also with him [that is to say, he was also with Jesus].

57 But Peter denied it by saying: Woman, I do not know him.

58 A little while later, another saw Peter and said, 'You also are one of them'. But Peter said: Man, I am not one of them.

59 And about an hour later, another confidently affirmed by saying: Certainly this man was also with him [that is to say, he was also with Jesus]. For he is also a Galilean.

60 And Peter said, 'Man, I do not know what you are talking about'. And immediately, while he was still speaking, a rooster crowed.

61 And the Lord turned and looked at Peter. And Peter remembered the word of the Lord who had said to him: Before the rooster crows today, you will deny me three times.

62 And Peter went out, and wept bitterly.

63 The men who guarded Jesus mocked him and beat him.

64 And they covered his face, and smote him, and questioned him by saying: Prophesy and tell us who is the one who has smitten you.

65 And they used many other insults against him.

66 And as soon as it was day, the elders of the people gathered together, with the chief priests and the scribes, and Jesus was led before their assembly.

67 And they said to Jesus, 'If you are the Christ, tell us'. And Jesus said to them, 'If I tell you, then you will not believe it'.

68 And if I ask you questions, then you will neither answer nor let me go.

69 From now on the Son of man will sit at the right hand of the power of God.

70 Then they all said, 'Are you then the Son of God'. And Jesus said to them, 'You say it, I am he'.

71 Then they said: What other testimony do we need. We ourselves have heard it from his own mouth.

Luke 23

1 And they all got up and brought Jesus before Pilate.

2 And they began to accuse Jesus by saying: We found this man who was perverting our nation, and was forbidding them to pay tribute to Caesar. He was saying that he himself is Christ, and thus a king [since our nation is waiting for a king who will be called Christ].

3 And Pilate questioned Jesus by saying, 'Are you the King of the Jews'. And Jesus answered him and said, 'You have said it'.

4 Then Pilate said to the chief priests and to the crowd: I find no crime in this man.

5 But they persisted more fiercely and said: He is stirring up the people by teaching throughout all Judea, from where he began in Galilee to this place.

6 And when Pilate heard the word Galilee, he asked if that man was a Galilean.

7 And when Pilate knew that Jesus was under the jurisdiction of Herod, Pilate sent him to Herod who was also at Jerusalem in those days.

8 And Herod was exceedingly glad when he saw Jesus. For Herod had the desire to see him for a long time, because of all that he had heard about Jesus, and he was hoping to see Jesus performing a miracle.

9 And Herod asked several questions to Jesus, but Jesus gave him no answer.

10 And the chief priests and the scribes were there, and they were vehemently accusing Jesus.

11 And Herod and his men treated Jesus with contempt. And they mocked Jesus, and clothed him in a dazzling robe, and sent him back to Pilate.

12 And Pilate and Herod became friends on that same day. For there was enmity between them before this event.

13 Then Pilate called together the chief priests, and the Jewish leaders, and the people.

14 And Pilate said to them: You have brought this man to me and have said that he stirs up the people. And behold, I have examined him before you, and I have found him guilty of none of the things of which you accuse him.

15 And Herod also has found no guilt in him, since Herod has sent him back to us. And behold, this man has not done a thing that is worthy of death.

16 Therefore I will release him after having chastised him.

17 For he used to release a prisoner who was one of theirs at each Passover feast.

18 Then they all cried out together by saying: Kill this man, and release Barabbas to us.

19 Now this man called Barabbas had been imprisoned for a sedition that had taken place in the city, and for murder.

20 Then Pilate spoke to them again, desiring to release Jesus.

21 But they shouted by saying: Crucify him, crucify him.

22 And Pilate said to them the third time: What evil has he done. I have found nothing worthy of death in him, and therefore I will release him after having chastised him.

23 But they insisted with loud voices, demanding that Jesus be crucified. And their voices and the voices of the chief priests prevailed.

24 Therefore Pilate decided to grant their demand.

25 And Pilate released the one who had been imprisoned for sedition and murder, the one whom they desired, and Pilate delivered Jesus to their will.

26 And when they were leading him away, they seized a certain Simon of Cyrene who was coming in from the fields, and they laid the cross on him to carry it behind Jesus.

27 And Jesus was followed by a great multitude of people, including women who were crying and lamenting over him.

28 And Jesus turned toward them and said: Daughters of Jerusalem, do not weep for me, but weep for yourselves and for your children.

29 For behold, the days are coming when they will say: Blessed are the barren, and the wombs that have not borne children, and the breasts that never gave suck.

30 Then they will begin to say to the mountains, 'Fall on us', and to the hills, 'Cover us'.

31 For if these things are done to a green tree, then what will be done to the dry tree.

32 And there were two other men who were malefactors and whom they were leading with Jesus to be put to death.

33 And when they came to the place that is called Calvary, they crucified Jesus there, and the two malefactors, one on the right hand of Jesus and the other on the left.

34 Then Jesus said: Father, forgive them. For they know not what they are doing.

35 And some cast lots, and divided the garments of Jesus among themselves, and the people were watching. And the Jewish leaders mocked Jesus by saying: He has saved others [from their infirmities]. Let him save himself now if he is the Christ, the chosen of God.

36 And the soldiers also mocked Jesus, and they came to him to give him vinegar.

37 And they said to Jesus: If you are the King of the Jews, then save yourself.

38 And there was the following inscription [placed on the cross] above Jesus, and it was written in Greek and in Latin and in Hebrew: THIS IS THE KING OF THE JEWS.

39 And one of the malefactors who were crucified cried out insults to Jesus by saying: Are you not the Christ. Save yourself and save us.

40 But the other answered and rebuked him by saying: Do you not fear God. All of us will die soon.

41 And for us this punishment is fair, since we receive the due reward of our deeds, while this man has done nothing wrong.

42 And he said to Jesus: Lord, remember me when you come into your kingdom.

43 Then Jesus said to him: Truly I say to you, today you will be with me in paradise.

44 Now it was about the sixth hour, and there came a darkness over all the land until the ninth hour.

45 The sun was darkened, and the veil of the temple was torn in the middle.

46 And Jesus cried out with a loud voice and said, 'Father, I put my life in your hands'. And when he had spoken thus, he breathed his last breath.

47 And when the centurion saw what had happened, he praised God by saying: Surely this man was righteous.

48 And all the people who had gathered in that place saw what had happened, and they returned while smiting their chests.

49 And all those who knew Jesus, including the women who had accompanied him from Galilee, stood at a distance and were watching these things.

50 And behold, there was a certain man named Joseph who was a counselor. He was a good and righteous man.

51 He had not consented to the counsel and the deed of the other Jewish leaders concerning Jesus. He was from Arimathea, a city of the Jews [inside the promised land which was possessed by the Romans in those days], and he also was waiting for the kingdom of God [like the other Jews in those days].

52 And he went to Pilate, and asked for the body of Jesus.

53 And he took it down, and wrapped it in linen cloth, and laid it in a tomb that was hewn in a rock and where no one had ever been laid before.

54 It was a day of the preparation, and the sabbath was about to begin.

55 And the women who had come with Jesus from Galilee followed Joseph, and they saw the sepulcher and how the body of Jesus was laid there.

56 And they returned, and prepared spices and ointments. And they rested on the sabbath day, according to the commandment of the law [given by Moses who was a man of God].

Luke 24

1 And they came to the sepulcher on the first day of the week, early in the morning, and they had with them the spices that they had prepared.

2 And they found the stone rolled away from the sepulcher.

3 And when they entered, they did not find the body of the Lord Jesus.

4 And while they were puzzled concerning this thing, behold two men in dazzling garments were standing near them.

5 And the women were frightened and bowed their faces to the ground. And the angels said to them: Why do you seek among the dead the one who is alive.

6 He is not here, for he has risen. Remember what he had spoken to you when he was still in Galilee.

7 When he said: The Son of man must be delivered into the hands of sinful men, and be crucified, and he will arise again on the third day.

8 And the women remembered the words of Jesus.

9 And they returned from the sepulcher, and told all these things to the eleven apostles and to all the other followers.

10 And the women who told these things to the apostles were Mary Magdalene, and Joanna, and Mary the mother of James, and the other women who were with them.

11 But they considered that these words of the women had a frivolous purpose, and did not believe them.

12 However Peter arose and ran to the sepulcher, and looked in, and saw nothing except the linen cloths laid there. Then he departed, wondering what had happened.

13 And behold, on that same day two followers were going to a village called Emmaus which was about seven miles from Jerusalem.

14 And they were talking about all these things which had happened.

15 And while they communed and questioned together, Jesus himself came near and walked with them.

16 But their eyes were prevented from recognizing Jesus.

17 What is the subject of this discussion that you are having and which makes you sad while you walk.

18 And one of them, named Cleopas, answered Jesus and said: Are you the only one who have been in Jerusalem and who does not know what has happened there in these days.

19 And Jesus said to them, 'What has happened'. And they said to him: It is about Jesus of Nazareth who was a powerful prophet in deeds and words before God and all the people.

20 And the chief priests and our rulers have delivered him to be condemned to death, and have crucified him.

21 We had hoped that he was the one who should redeem Israel. But all this happened, and today is the third day since these things have happened.

22 Moreover certain of the women who were his followers like us have amazed us, after they have gone early in the morning to his sepulcher.

23 For they have come back and said that they have not found his body, and that angels have appeared to them and have said to them that he is alive.

24 And some of those who were with us went to the sepulcher and found it just as the women had said, but they did not see him.

25 Then Jesus said to them: O foolish men, and slow of heart to believe all that the prophets have spoken.

26 Should not Christ suffer these things, and enter into his glory.

27 Then he began to explain to them the things that had been written about himself in all the scriptures, beginning with Moses and continuing with the other prophets.

28 And when they were near the village where they were going, he seemed to want to go further.

29 But they urged him by saying: Stay with us, for the day is already advanced, and the evening approaches. And he went in to stay with them.

30 And while he was at table with them, he took bread and gave thanks. Then he broke it and gave it to them.

31 Then their eyes were opened [in relation to the fact that something was preventing them from recognizing him], and they recognized him, but he vanished from their sight.

32 And they said one to another: Did not our hearts burn within us while he talked with us on the road and while he explained the scriptures to us.

33 And they rose up that very hour, and returned to Jerusalem, and found the eleven apostles gathered together with the other followers who were with them.

34 The apostles and the other followers were saying: The Lord is risen indeed, and has appeared to Simon.

35 And the two who had just arrived told what had happened to them on the road, and how they had recognized Jesus when he broke the bread.

36 And while they were speaking these things, Jesus himself stood among them and said to them: Peace be with you.

37 And they were bewildered and afraid, and thought they were seeing a spirit.

38 Then Jesus said to them: Why are you troubled. Why do these thoughts arise in your hearts.

39 Look at my hands and my feet, it is I myself. Touch me and see, for a spirit does not have flesh and bones as you see that I have.

40 And when Jesus had spoken thus, he showed them his hands and his feet.

41 And while they were still having trouble believing that this was really happening, and were overwhelmed by the astonishment and joy, Jesus said to them: Do you have anything here to eat.

42 And they brought him a roasted fish and a honeycomb.

43 And he took it, and ate it before them.

44 Then he said to them: This is what I told you while I was still with you, that everything written about me in the law of Moses, and in the prophets, and in the Psalms, must be fulfilled.

45 Then he opened their minds so that they might understand the scriptures.

46 And he said to them: Thus it is written that the Christ will suffer, and arise from the dead on the third day.

47 And that repentance and remission of sins will be preached in his name to all nations, beginning at Jerusalem.

48 You are witnesses of these things.

49 And behold, I will send the promise of my Father on you. But you must remain in the city until you are endued with the power from on high.

50 Afterward Jesus led them to Bethany, and lifted up his hands, and blessed them.

51 And while he was blessing them, he departed from them and was carried up into the heaven.

52 And they worshiped him, and returned to Jerusalem with great joy.

53 And they were continually in the temple, praising and blessing God.

John

John 1

1 In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God.

2 This thing was in the beginning with God.

3 All things have been made by it, and none of the things that have been made has been made without it.

4 In it was life, and that life was the light of human beings.

5 And the light shines in the darkness, and the darkness did not comprehend it.

6 There was a man sent from God, whose name was John.

7 That man came to serve as a witness, to bear witness to the light, so that all men may believe through him.

8 He was not the light, but he was sent to bear witness to the light.

9 That light being the true light which enlightens every man who comes into the world.

10 And it has come in the world, and the world has been made by it, but the world did not know it.

11 And it has come to its own people, and its own people has not received it.

12 But to all those who receive it, to those who believe in the power of its name, it gives the prerogative to become children of God.

13 Indeed, through the ultimate renewal of their moral principles they are not born of blood, nor of the will of the flesh, nor of the will of man, but of God [that is to say, the holy spirit of God].

14 For the Word has been made flesh, and has dwelt among us. He was full of grace and truth, and we have admired his glory, the glory of the only begotten Son of the Father.

15 John bore witness to him, and cried out by saying: This is the one of whom I said, 'He who comes after me has preceded me. For he was before me'. [That is to say, my teaching consists of properly applying the law given by Moses, by taking initiative to seek the good of others rather than limiting oneself to the quantity and quality of offerings prescribed by law, whereas he will teach you a greater knowledge that I myself do not know exactly, like the one that existed before Moses at the time of Job.]

16 And we have all received from his fullness, and grace for grace.

17 For the law was given through Moses, but grace and truth came through Jesus Christ.

18 No man has ever seen God. The only begotten Son, who is in the bosom of the Father, has declared him.

19 Here is the testimony of John, when the Jews sent priests and Levites from Jerusalem in order to ask him, 'Who are you'.

20 He declared what he knew, and did not deny it. He declared it by saying: I am not the Christ.

21 And they asked him, 'What then. Are you Elijah'. And he said, 'I am not'. And they said, 'Are you a prophet'. And he answered, 'No'.

22 Then they said to him: Tell us who you are, so that we can give an answer to those who have sent us. What do you say about yourself.

23 And he answered: I am the voice of the one who cries out in the wilderness, 'Make straight the way of the Lord', as the prophet Isaiah said.

24 Now those who had been sent to John were some of the Pharisees.

25 And they questioned him by saying: Why then do you baptize, if you are neither the Christ, nor Elijah, nor a prophet. [That is to say, Why do you take the initiative to practice among the people a ritual that has not been ordered by the law of which we are aware.]

26 And John answered them by saying: I baptize with water, but there is among you someone whom you do not know.

27 He is coming after me but he was before me, and I am not worthy to untie the lace of his sandals. [That is to say, he is coming after me, but he will teach you a message that I do not know and that is older and more important than the message that I am teaching you. Therefore, he is so much greater than me that I am unworthy to untie the laces of his shoes.]

28 These things occurred in Bethany, beyond the Jordan, where John was baptizing.

29 And on the next day, John said the following thing when he saw Jesus coming toward him: Behold the Lamb of God, for he will take away the sin of the world.

30 This is he of whom I said, 'After me comes a man who has preceded me. For he was before me'.

31 I did not know him, but I have come to baptize with water so that he may be revealed to Israel.

32 And John bore witness to Jesus by saying: I saw the Spirit descending from heaven in the form of a dove, and it rested on him.

33 I did not know him, but the one who sent me to baptize with water said to me: The one on whom you will see the Spirit descending and resting on him, the same is the one who baptizes with the Holy Spirit.

34 And I have seen, and have borne witness that he is the Son of God.

35 And on the next day, John was standing there with two of his disciples.

36 And John looked at Jesus who was walking there, and said: Behold the Lamb of God.

37 And the two disciples heard him speak these words, and they followed Jesus.

38 And Jesus turned toward them, and saw them following him, and said to them, 'What are you looking for'. And they said to him, 'Rabbi [that is to say, Teacher], where do you dwell'.

39 And Jesus said to them, 'Come and see'. And they went, and they saw where he was dwelling, and they stayed with him that day. It was about the tenth hour.

40 One of the two who heard the words of John and followed Jesus was Andrew, the brother of Simon Peter.

41 He was the first to find his own brother Simon and to say to him: We have found the Messiah [that is to say, we have found Christ].

42 And he brought him to Jesus. And Jesus looked at him and said: You are Simon the son of Jonh. You will be called Cephas [that is to say, Peter].

43 And on the next day, Jesus wanted to go to Galilee, and he found Philip. And Jesus said to him: Follow me.

44 Now Philip was from Bethsaida, the city of Andrew and Peter.

45 And Philip found Nathanael, and said to him: We have found the one about whom it is written in the law given by Moses and in the writings of the prophets. It is Jesus of Nazareth, the son of Joseph.

46 And Nathanael said to him, 'Can anything good come out of Nazareth'. And Philip answered him by saying, 'Come and see'.

47 And when Jesus saw Nathanael coming toward him, Jesus said of him: Here is a true Israelite, for there is no guile in him.

48 And Nathanael said to Jesus, 'How do you know me'. And Jesus answered and said to him, 'Before Philip called you, when you were under the fig tree, I saw you'.

49 And Nathanael answered and said to Jesus: Rabbi, you are the Son of God, you are the King of Israel.

50 And Jesus answered and said to him: You believe just because I have told you that I saw you under the fig tree [and that there is no guile in you]. You will see greater things than these things. [Now Nathanael believes that Jesus is a prophet because of these two revelations, but it is necessarily something else that makes him believe that Jesus is the Christ awaited by the people of Israel. And we must think that he has been informed by Philip, who himself could have been informed by those who already followed Jesus, of the fact that John gave a particular testimony concerning Jesus.]

51 And Jesus spoke again and said to him: Truly, truly, I say to you, henceforth you will see the heaven open, and the angels of God ascending and descending on the Son of man.

John 2

1 Three days later, there was a wedding in Cana of Galilee and the mother of Jesus was there.

2 And Jesus was also invited to the wedding with his disciples.

3 Now when there was no more wine, the mother of Jesus said to him: They have no more wine.

4 And Jesus said to her: Woman, what have I to do with you. My hour has not yet come.

5 And his mother said to the servants: Do whatever he tells you.

6 Now there were in that place six stone waterpots that were used by the Jews for the purification of their bodies, each containing two or three jugs.

7 And Jesus said to them, 'Fill the waterpots with water'. And they filled them to the brim.

8 Then Jesus said to them, 'Now take some of the contents from these containers and bring it to the ruler of the feast'. And they did so.

9 And the ruler of the feast tasted the water that had been turned into wine. And he did not know where it came from, while the servants who had drawn the water knew it.

10 And he called the bridegroom and said to him: Everyone serves the good wine first, and then the bad is served when the guests have already drunk well. And you, you have kept the good wine until now.

11 This was the first of the miracles that Jesus performed [in the sight of his disciples], it was at Cana in Galilee. He manifested his glory, and his disciples believed in him. [That is to say, his disciples believed that he is the Christ awaited by the people of Israel.]

12 After that, Jesus went down to Capernaum, he and his mother, and his brothers, and his disciples, and they stayed there only a few days.

13 For the Passover of the Jews was near, therefore Jesus went up to Jerusalem.

14 And he found that those who were selling oxen, and sheep, and doves, and the changers of money, were sitting there in the temple.

15 Then he made a whip out of small cords, and drove them all out of the temple with the sheep and the oxen. He scattered the coins of the changers of money, and overturned the tables.

16 And he said to those who were selling doves: Take these things away. Do not make of the house of my father a house of merchandise.

17 And his disciples remembered that it was written: The Zeal for your house has devoured me.

18 Then the Jews answered and said to him: What sign are you showing us, seeing that you have done this thing.

19 And Jesus answered and said to them: Destroy this temple, and in three days I will raise it up.

20 Then the Jews said: It took forty six years to build this temple [that is to say, the duration of the renovation which is in progress], and you will raise it up in three days.

21 But he was speaking of the temple of his body.

22 Therefore when he had risen from the dead, his disciples remembered that he had said this thing, and they believed the scripture and the word that Jesus had spoken.

23 And while Jesus was in Jerusalem at the Passover, during the feast, many believed in his name when they saw the miracles that he was performing. [That is to say, many believed that he has been sent by God to give a message to his people Israel.]

24 But Jesus did not trust them, because he knew them all.

25 For he did not need anyone to give him any testimony about any person. For he himself knew what was in man.

John 3

1 Now there was a man named Nicodemus, He was one of the Pharisees, and an important leader among the Jews.

2 He came to Jesus by night, and said to him: Rabbi, we know that you are a teacher sent from God. For no one can do these miracles that you do unless God is with him.

3 And Jesus answered and said to him: Truly, truly, I say to you, if a person is not born again then he cannot see the kingdom of God.

4 And Nicodemus said to him: How can a person be born when he is old. Can he go back into the womb of his mother and be born.

5 And Jesus answered: Truly, truly, I say to you, if a person is not born of water and of the Spirit then he cannot enter the kingdom of God.

6 What is born of the flesh is flesh, and what is born of the Spirit is spirit.

7 Do not marvel that I have said to you: You must be born again.

8 The wind blows where it wishes. You hear its sound, but you do not know where it comes from or where it goes. It is the same for everyone who is born of the Spirit.

9 And Nicodemus answered and said to him: How can these things be.

10 And Jesus answered and said to him: You are a teacher of Israel, and you do not know these things.

11 Truly, truly, I say to you, we speak what we know and we bear witness to what we have seen. But you do not receive our testimony.

12 If you do not believe when I told you of earthly things, then how will you believe if I tell you of heavenly things.

13 No one has ascended into heaven except the one who came down from heaven, the Son of man who is in heaven. [That is to say, the very definition of heaven is the dwelling place of the Son of man.]

14 And as Moses lifted up the serpent [made of brass] in the wilderness, so must the Son of man be lifted up.

15 So that whoever believes in his message does not perish, but gets eternal life.

16 For God has loved the world so much that he has given his only begotten Son, so that whoever believes in his message does not perish but gets everlasting life.

17 For God has not sent his Son into the world to condemn the world, but in order to save the world through him.

18 Whoever believes in his message is not condemned. But whoever does not believe is condemned already, because he has not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God.

19 And the judgment is that the light has come into the world, but people have loved darkness rather than light because their deeds were evil.

20 For every one who does evil hates the light, and does not come to the light, lest his deeds will be discovered. [That is to say, he must keep secret a part of the reasons that are the real justifications of his behavior, even in circumstances where everyone must clearly explain all his motivations.]

21 But whoever acts truthfully comes to the light, so that his deeds may be discovered, because they have been done in God. [Now this does not mean that he exposes his intentions to everyone in all circumstances, but in everything that he does he has within himself a justification that he knows is publicly acceptable.]

22 After these things, Jesus and his disciples went into the land of Judea. And he stayed there with them, and baptized.

23 And John also was baptizing at Znon near Salim, because there was a lot of water there. And people were coming there, and were baptized.

24 For John had not yet been put in prison.

25 And there arose a dispute between the Jews and the disciples of John, concerning purification.

26 And they came to John and said to him: Rabbi, the one who was with you beyond the Jordan, and to whom you have borne witness, behold he is baptizing and all the people are going to him.

27 And John answered and said: A man can receive nothing, except what has been given him from heaven.

28 You yourselves are my witnesses that I have said: I am not the Christ, but I have been sent before him.

29 The one who owns the bride is the bridegroom. But the friend of the bridegroom, who stands there and hears him, rejoices greatly because of the voice of the bridegroom. Therefore this joy that I have is made full.

30 He must increase, and I must decrease.

31 He who comes from above is above all. He who is of the earth is of the earth, and he talks about the things of the earth, and he who comes from heaven is above all.

32 He bears witness to what he has seen and heard, and no one receive his testimony.

33 He who has received his testimony has certified that God is true.

34 For he whom God has sent speaks the words of God, because God does not give him the Spirit by measure.

35 The Father loves the Son, and has put all things into his hand.

36 Whoever believes in [the message of] the Son has everlasting life. And whoever does not obey the Son will not see life, because the wrath of God remains on him.

John 4

1 And the Lord knew that the Pharisees had heard that he was making and baptizing more disciples than John.

2 Now Jesus himself was not baptizing, for it was his disciples who were doing it.

3 And he left Judea, and returned to Galilee.

4 On the way to Galilee, he had to go through the country of Samaria.

5 And he came to a city of Samaria called Sychar, near the parcel of ground that Jacob gave to his son Joseph.

6 And the well of Jacob was there. And Jesus was tired because of his journey, and he sat near the well. It was about the sixth hour.

7 And a woman of Samaria came there to draw water, and Jesus said to her: Give me a drink.

8 For his disciples had gone away into the city, in order to buy food.

9 And the woman of Samaria said to him: How is it that you, being a Jew, are asking me to give you a drink, I who am a woman of Samaria.

10 She said this because Jews do not interact with Samaritans [since Jews consider that Samaritans have perverted the law given by Moses and have become idolaters]. And Jesus answered and said to her: If you knew the gift of God, and if you knew who is the one who has said to you, 'Give me a drink', then you would have asked of him, and he would have given you the water of life.

11 Then the woman said to him: Sir, you have nothing to draw from, and the well is deep. Where then will you find that water of life.

12 Are you greater than our father Jacob who gave us the well. And he himself drank from it, and also his children and his cattle.

13 And Jesus answered and said to her: Whoever drinks of this water will still be thirsty after a while.

14 But whoever drinks of the water that I will give him will never be thirsty again. For the water that I will give him will become in him a well of water springing up into everlasting life.

15 And the woman said to him: Sir, give me of that water. And thus I will not be thirsty again, and I will no longer come here to draw water.

16 And Jesus said to her: Go and call your husband, and come here.

17 And the woman answered and said to him, 'I have no husband'. And Jesus said to her: You have spoken well when you have said, 'I have no husband'.

18 For you have had five husbands, and the one whom you have now is not your husband. You have spoken truly concerning this thing.

19 And the woman said to him: Sir, I see that you are a prophet.

20 Our fathers worshipped on this mountain. But you the Jews, you say that the place where the people [of the children of Jacob] must worship is in Jerusalem.

21 And Jesus said to her: Woman, believe me, the hour is coming when you will worship the Father neither on this mountain nor in Jerusalem.

22 You worship what you do not know, while we worship what we know. For salvation comes from the Jews.

23 But the hour is coming, and it is already the time, when the true worshipers will worship the Father in spirit and truth. For it is such worshipers that the Father desires.

24 God is a spirit, and those who worship him must worship in spirit and truth.

25 And the woman said to him: I know that the Messiah will come, the one who is called Christ. He will tell us all things when he comes.

26 And Jesus said to her: I am that person, I who speak to you.

27 And the disciples of Jesus arrived, and they were amazed that he was speaking with a woman. But none of them said, 'What are you asking' or 'Why are you talking with her'.

28 And the woman left her waterpot, and went into the city to announce what had happened.

29 And she said to the people: Come to see a man who has told me all things that I ever did. Is not he the Christ.

30 Then they went out of the city, and came to Jesus.

31 Meanwhile, his disciples urged him to eat by saying: Master, eat.

32 But he said to them: I have a food to eat, and you do not know what it is.

33 Then the disciples said to one another: Has anyone brought him something to eat.

34 And Jesus said to them: My food is to do the will of the one who has sent me, and to finish his work.

35 Do you not say after planting a certain seed, 'We must still wait four months, and then the time of harvest will come'. And behold, I say to you, open your eyes and see the fields which are already ripe for harvest.

36 He who reaps receives a reward, and gathers fruit for eternal life, so that both he who had sown and he who reaps may rejoice together.

37 For in this the saying is true: One sows, and another reaps.

38 I have sent you to reap what you have not labored [when you were baptizing the people with the baptism of John in my presence]. Others had labored, and you have entered into their labors.

39 Now many of the Samaritans from that city believed in Jesus because of the following declaration of the woman: He has told me all things that I ever did.

40 Therefore when the Samaritans came to him, they begged him to stay with them. And he stayed there two days.

41 And many more believed because of the things that he was telling them.

42 And they said to the woman: It is no longer because of what you have said that we believe. For we have heard him ourselves, and we know that he is indeed the savior of the world.

43 And after two days, Jesus departed from there and went to Galilee.

44 And Jesus himself said that a prophet is not honored in his own country. [For the Samaritans understood with simplicity that his message was worthy of being received and deserved to be universal, while it is not even mentioned that he has performed any miracle among them. But concerning the Jews, they hope to see successions of miracles and have difficulty accepting the message even after having seen miracles.]

45 And when he arrived in Galilee, he was welcomed by the Galileans who had seen all the things that he had done at Jerusalem during the feast [of the Passover]. For they also had gone to the feast.

46 And Jesus returned to Cana of Galilee, where he had turned the water into wine.

47 Now there was a certain nobleman in Capernaum, and his son was sick. And when he heard that Jesus had come from Judea to Galilee, he went to Jesus and begged him to come down and heal his son. For that son was at the point of death.

48 And Jesus said to him: Unless you [the Jewish people] see signs and wonders, you will not believe.

49 And the nobleman said to him: Sir, [I beseech you to] come down before my son dies.

50 And Jesus said to him, 'Go your way. Your son lives'. And the man believed the word that Jesus had spoken to him, and he went his way.

51 And while he was on the way to his house, his servants came to meet him and to say to him: Your son lives.

52 And he asked them when his son had started to feel better. And they told him: The fever left him yesterday at the seventh hour. [Now we see that Jesus is right in saying that these Jews need miracles to believe. For the noble man is not satisfied with knowing that his son is healed, since he wants to know when the healing of his son took place in order to evaluate the power of Jesus through his rapidity to fulfill his word. This father would therefore have felt a disappointment if the healing of his son had occurred only while he was on the way to his house.]

53 And the father recognized that it happened at that hour in which Jesus had said to him, 'Your son lives'. And he believed, and so did all his household.

54 It was the second miracle that Jesus performed in Galilee, and it happened after he had come back from Judea [where he had done other miracles].

John 5

1 Afterward, there was a feast of the Jews and Jesus went up to Jerusalem. [Much time had passed since the feast of the Passover which was mentioned previously.]

2 And in Jerusalem, near the place of the sheep, there is a pool whose name in Hebrew is Bethesda and which has five porches.

3 And a multitude of sick persons was staying under those porches, and there were among them blind, and lame, and paralytic. They were waiting for the water to be stirred by itself.

4 For an angel came down from time to time into the pool to stir up the water, and the first one who entered into the pool after the water had been stirred was healed of whatever disease he had.

5 Now there was in that place a certain man who had been sick for thirty eight years.

6 And Jesus saw him lying there, and knew that he had been sick for a very long time. And Jesus said to him: Do you want to be healed.

7 And the sick man answered him and said: Sir, I have no one to put me into the pool when the water is stirred up. And whenever I am going down, there is someone else who steps down before me.

8 And Jesus said to him: Arise, and take up your bed, and walk.

9 And the man was immediately healed, and he took his bed and walked. It happened on a sabbath day.

10 Then the Jews said to the one who had been healed: It is a sabbath day, it is not lawful for you to carry your bed.

11 And he answered them and said: The one who has healed me has said to me, 'Take up your bed and walk'.

12 And they questioned him by saying: Who is the man who has said to you, 'Take up your bed and walk'.

13 But the one who had been healed did not know who it was. For Jesus had gone away from the crowd that was there.

14 After this, Jesus found him in the temple and said to him: Behold you have been healed. Do not sin anymore, lest something worse happen to you.

15 And the man went and told the Jews that it was Jesus who had healed him.

16 Therefore the Jews were persecuting Jesus, and they were trying to kill him, because he was doing these things on a sabbath day.

17 And Jesus answered them and said: My Father has been working until now, and I work also.

18 Therefore the Jews sought even more to kill him. For not only he was breaking the sabbath, but he was also calling God his Father, making himself equal with God.

19 And Jesus answered and said to them: Truly, truly, I say to you, the Son cannot do anything of himself. He only does what he sees the Father doing. For whatever the Father does, the Son also does likewise.

20 For the Father loves the Son, and shows him everything that he himself does. And he will show him greater works than these, so that you may be amazed.

21 For just as the Father raises the dead by giving them life, so the Son gives life to whomever he wants.

22 For the Father judges no one, but he has given all judgment to the Son.

23 For everyone should honor the Son just as they honor the Father. The one who does not honor the Son does not honor the Father who has sent him.

24 Truly, truly, I say to you, if a person hears my word and believes in the one who has sent me, then that person has everlasting life. He will not come into condemnation, for he has passed from death to life.

25 Truly, truly, I say to you, the hour is coming, and it is already the time, when the dead will hear the voice of the Son of God. And those who hear will live.

26 For as the Father has life in himself, so he has given to the Son to have life in himself.

27 And he has also given him authority to execute judgment, because he is the Son of man.

28 Do not marvel at this. For the hour is coming in which all those who are in the graves will hear his voice.

29 And they will come forth, and those who have done good will be raised to life, and those who have done evil will be raised to condemnation.

30 I cannot do anything on my own. I judge in accordance with what I hear, and my judgment is righteous. For I do not seek my own will, but the will of the one who has sent me.

31 If I am the only one to bear witness to my message, then my testimony is not true.

32 There is another who bears witness to me, and I know that the testimony that he gives concerning me is true.

33 You have sent to John, and he has borne witness to the truth.

34 My message does not depend on a testimony that a man gives concerning me, but I remind you of what John has said so that you may [believe and] be saved.

35 John was a lamp that burns and shines, and you have rejoiced in his light for a while.

36 And I have a greater testimony than that of John. For the works that the Father has given me to accomplish, the very works that I do, bear witness to me that it is the Father who has sent me.

37 For the Father who has sent me is bearing witness to me in this way. You have never heard his voice, and you have not seen his form.

38 And his word does not dwell in you, because you do not believe in the one whom he has sent.

39 You study the scriptures carefully because you think that it will allow you to obtain eternal life. And now, those same scriptures bear witness to me.

40 And you do not want to come to me in order to have life.

41 I do not receive glory from men [now that I am alive in the flesh].

42 But I know that you do not have the love of God in you.

43 I have come in the name of my Father, and you do not receive me. If another comes in his own name, then you will receive him.

44 How can you believe. For you love to receive glory from one another, and do not seek the glory that comes from God alone.

45 Do not think that I will accuse you before the Father. The one who accuses you is Moses, the one in whom you trust. [You are offended when I do a work on a sabbath day, and your concern is not to judge the nature of the work that I do. And yet Moses taught you in the law that you must not condemn every murderer, but that you must seek to understand whether the person acted willfully with malice or unwillingly without malice. Your heart does not accept that what I do is good because you do not have within you the true love of God which consists first of all in loving one's neighbor as oneself.]

46 For if you [truly] believed Moses, then you would have believed me. For he wrote about me.

47 But if you do not believe his writings, then how will you believe my words.

John 6

1 Afterward, Jesus went over the sea of Galilee which is the sea of Tiberias.

2 And a great multitude followed him, because they saw the miracles that he was performing on the sick.

3 And Jesus went up on a mountain, and there he sat with his disciples.

4 Now the Passover, a feast of the Jews, was near.

5 And Jesus lifted up his eyes, and saw the large crowd that had come to him. And he said to Philip: Where are we going to buy bread to be able to feed this people.

6 Jesus said this thing to probe Philip, for he himself knew what he was going to do.

7 And Philip answered him: Even if two hundred denarii were available to buy bread, it would not be enough for everyone to have a little.

8 Then one of his disciples, Andrew the brother of Simon Peter, said the following thing to Jesus.

9 There is a young man here who has five barley loaves and two fishes. But what can this food be used for if such a large crowd has to be fed.

10 And Jesus said, 'Have the crowd sit down'. Now there was much grass at that place. So the men sat down, about five thousand in number.

11 And Jesus took the loaves, and gave thanks, and distributed them to the disciples, and the disciples to those who were sitting. And he did the same thing with the fishes, and they had as many as they wanted.

12 And when they were satisfied, he said to his disciples: Gather up the leftover fragments of this food, so that nothing gets wasted.

13 So they gathered it together, and filled twelve baskets with the leftover fragments from the five barley loaves. This was what was left after everyone had eaten.

14 And the people saw the miracle that Jesus had performed, and they were saying: This one is certainly that prophet who is awaited in the world.

15 And Jesus perceived that they were about to come and take him away and make him king. Therefore he went again into the hills, alone.

16 And when evening came, his disciples went down to the sea. [Now Jesus certainly ordered them to leave and cross the sea without him.]

17 And they entered a boat, and went over the sea toward Capernaum. Now it was already night, and Jesus had not yet come to them.

18 And a strong wind was blowing, and the sea was getting rough.

19 And when they had rowed about three or four miles, they saw Jesus walking on the sea and coming to the boat. And they were afraid.

20 But Jesus said to them: It is I, do not be afraid.

21 Then they wanted to take him into the boat, and immediately the boat reached the land where they were going.

22 And the crowd that stood on the other side of the sea noticed that there was only one boat there, and that Jesus had not gone with with his disciples into the boat, but that his disciples had gone away alone in that boat.

23 And on the next day, other boats from Tiberias came near the place where they had eaten the bread after the Lord had given thanks.

24 And the people saw that neither Jesus nor his disciples were there, and they got into the boats, and they went to Capernaum in order to seek Jesus.

25 And when they found him on the other side of the sea, they said to him: Rabbi, when have you come here.

26 And Jesus answered them and said: Truly, truly, I say to you, you seek me, not because you have seen miracles, but because you have been satisfied after you have eaten of the loaves.

27 Work not for the food that perishes, but for the food that endures to everlasting life and that the Son of man will give to you. For God the Father has set his seal on the Son of man.

28 Then they said to Jesus: What must we do, in order to work the works of God.

29 And Jesus answered and said to them: The work of God is that you must believe in the one whom he has sent. [That is to say, you must believe in the message that the Son of man will give you.]

30 Therefore they said to Jesus: What then is the sign that you show us so that we may believe in you. What will you do.

31 Our fathers ate manna in the wilderness, as it is written: He gave them bread from heaven to eat.

32 Then Jesus said to them: Truly, truly, I say to you, Moses did not give you the bread from heaven, but my Father gives you the true bread from heaven.

33 For the bread of God is the one who comes down from heaven and gives life to the world.

34 And they said to him: Lord, give us this bread always. [Now they are talking about the bread that Jesus distributed to them in sufficient quantity when they were on the other side of the sea.]

35 And Jesus said to them: I am the bread of life. Whoever comes to me will never hunger, whoever believes in me will never thirst. [Now it is written in the law of Moses: Remember all the way by which the Lord your God has led you these forty years in the wilderness to humble you, and to test you, and to know what was in your heart and whether or not you would keep his commandments. Therefore he has humbled you, and has made you hungry, and has fed you with manna which you did not know and which your fathers did not known, in order to teach you that man does not live only by bread but by every word that comes out of the mouth of the Lord.]

36 And I have just said it to you, and you have seen me, but you do not believe.

37 All those whom the Father gives me will come to me, and I will not put away the one who comes to me.

38 For I have come down from heaven, not to do my own will, but the will of the one who has sent me.

39 And the will of the one who has sent me is that I should lose nothing of all that he has given me, but should raise it up at the last day.

40 For the will of my Father is that every man who sees the Son and believes in him should have everlasting life. And I will raise up such a person at the last day.

41 Then the Jews murmured concerning him, because he said: I am the bread that has come down from heaven.

42 And they said: Is not this Jesus the son of Joseph. Do we not know his father and his mother. How then does he say, 'I have come down from heaven'.

43 And Jesus answered and said to them: Do not murmur among yourselves.

44 No one can come to me unless he is drawn by the Father who has sent me. And I will raise him up at the last day.

45 It is written in the prophets, 'They will all be taught by God'. So everyone who has heard and learned of the Father comes to me.

46 No one has seen the Father, except the one who is from God. For he has seen the Father.

47 Truly, truly, I say to you, whoever believes in me has everlasting life. [That is to say, whoever believes in my message.]

48 I am the bread of life.

49 Your fathers ate manna in the wilderness, and they died. [That is to say, those of your father who left a disgusting memory because of their multiple disobedience. For God had decided that all the people would remain in the wilderness for forty years because of their multiple disobedience, until the death of all those who were old enough when they left the land of Egypt, with an exception for the few ones who did not disobey him continuously.]

50 This is the bread that has come down from heaven, so that whoever eats it may not die.

51 I am the living bread which has come down from heaven. If anyone eats this bread, then he will live forever. And the bread that I will give is my flesh, which I will give for the life of the world.

52 Then the Jews were disputing among themselves by saying: How can this man give us his flesh to eat.

53 And Jesus said to them: Truly, truly, I say to you, unless you eat the flesh of the Son of man and drink his blood, you do not have life in you.

54 Whoever eats my flesh and drinks my blood has eternal life, and I will raise him up at the last day.

55 For my flesh is food indeed, and my blood is drink indeed.

56 Whoever eats my flesh and drinks my blood dwells in me, and I in him.

57 As the living Father has sent me, and as I live by the Father, so whoever eats me will live by me.

58 This is the bread that has come down from heaven, and it is not like the manna that had been eaten by your fathers who are dead. Whoever eats this bread will live forever. [Now those fathers who are dead are those who left a disgusting memory because of their multiple disobedience. For God had decided that all the people would remain in the wilderness for forty years because of their multiple disobedience, until the death of all those who were old enough when they left the land of Egypt, with an exception for the few ones who did not disobey him continuously.]

59 Jesus said these things in the synagogue, while he was teaching in the city of Capernaum.

60 And after hearing him speak in this way, many of his disciples said: This is a hard doctrine. Who can hear it [and approve of it].

61 And Jesus knew in himself that his disciples were murmuring concerning his words, and he said to them: Does that offend you.

62 How will you feel then if you see the Son of man ascending to where he was before.

63 It is the spirit that gives life, the flesh has no importance for that. The words that I have spoken to you are spirit and life. But there are some among you who do not believe.

64 For Jesus knew from the beginning who were those who did not believe, and who was the one who should betray him.

65 And he added: That is why I have said to you that no one can come to me, unless it has been given to him by the Father.

66 From that time on, many of his disciples withdrew and no longer walked with him.

67 Then Jesus said to the twelve: And you, do you not want to leave too.

68 And Simon Peter answered him: Lord, to whom will we go. You have the words of eternal life.

69 And we believe and know that you are the Christ, the Son of the living God.

70 And Jesus answered them: Have I not chosen you, you who are twelve in number. And one of you is a demon.

71 Now he was speaking of Judas Iscariot, the son of Simon. For it was the one who should betray him, one of his twelve apostles.

John 7

1 After these things, Jesus was walking in Galilee. For he did not want to walk in Judea, because the Jews wanted to kill him.

2 Now the Jewish feast of tabernacles was near.

3 Therefore his brothers said to him: Depart from here and go into Judea, so that your disciples also may see the works that you are doing.

4 For there is no one who does things in secret when he desires to make his message known. If you do these things, then show yourself to the world.

5 For even his brothers did not believe in him.

6 And Jesus said to them: My time has not yet come, but your time is always ready.

7 The world cannot hate you, but the world hates me because I testify that its works are evil.

8 Go up to this feast. As for me, I will not go up because my time has not yet come.

9 After Jesus had said those words to them, he remained in Galilee.

10 But when his brothers had gone up to the feast, then he also went up, not publicly, but as it were in secret.

11 And the Jews were seeking him at the feast, and they were saying: Where is he.

12 And there was much murmurings among the people concerning him. Some were saying, 'He is a good man', and others were saying, 'No, he is misleading the people'.

13 However, no one was speaking openly of him for fear of the Jews.

14 And when the feast reached half of its duration, Jesus went up into the temple and taught.

15 And the Jews were amazed, and they were saying: How does this man know the scriptures which he has never studied.

16 And Jesus answered and said to them: My doctrine is not from me, but from the one who has sent me.

17 If anyone wants to do his will, then he will know whether this doctrine comes from God or whether I speak on my own.

18 He who speaks by himself seeks his own glory. But he who seeks the glory of the one who has sent him is true, and there is no injustice in him.

19 Has not Moses given you the law. But none of you keeps the law. Why are you seeking to kill me.

20 And the people [who were listening to him] answered and said: You have a demon. Who is seeking to kill you.

21 And Jesus answered and said to them: I have done one work, and you are all surprised.

22 Moses gave you circumcision [in the written law, in the book of Genesis that he has written]. And it does not come from Moses, but from the patriarchs, and you circumcise a man on the sabbath.

23 If a man receives circumcision on a sabbath day, so that the law of Moses may not be broken, then why are you angry with me when I heal all the parts of the body of a man on a sabbath day.

24 Judge not according to appearances, but judge righteously.

25 And some of the inhabitants of Jerusalem said: Is not this the one whom they are seeking to kill. [That is to say, the one whom some of the religious leaders want to kill.]

26 And behold, he speaks freely, and they say nothing to him. Have the rulers acknowledged that this is the Christ.

27 But we know where this man comes from. And when the Christ comes, no one will know where he is from. [That is to say, we will know his city of origin, but we will not know exactly who his two parents are.]

28 And Jesus was teaching in the temple, and then he cried out: You say that you know me, and that you know where I come from. Know that I have not come to teach on my own initiative, and the one who has sent me is true, but you do not know him.

29 And I know him. For I have come from him, and he has sent me [to teach].

30 Then they sought to arrest him, but no one laid hands on him because his hour had not yet come.

31 But many of the crowd believed in him [that is to say, they believed that he was speaking truthfully], and they were saying: When the Christ comes, will he do more miracles than those that this man has done.

32 And the Pharisees heard the crowd murmuring these things about him. And the chief priests and the Pharisees sent officers to arrest him [to prevent him from creating a false belief among the people].

33 Then Jesus said to them: I will be with you a little while longer, and then I will go to the one who has sent me.

34 You will seek me, and you will not find me, and you will not be able to come where I will be. [That is to say, you will not be able to come there because you do not want to give up your sins and understand what the love of God means.]

35 Then the Jews said among themselves: Where will he go, so that we cannot find him. Will he go to those who are dispersed among the Greeks, and teach the Greeks.

36 What is the meaning of these words that he has said: You will seek me, and you will not find me, and you cannot come where I will be.

37 And on the last day of the feast, which was a great day, Jesus stood and cried out: If anyone is thirsty, then let him come to me and drink. [Now Jesus is saying that he is like a source of water.]

38 If someone believes in me, then rivers of the water of life will flow out of his belly as the scripture has said. [Now Jesus is saying that he is the fountain of the water of life that was mentioned by the prophets Ezekiel and Jeremiah.]

39 Now Jesus was speaking of the Spirit, which those who believed in him were to receive. For the Spirit had not yet been given, because Jesus had not yet been glorified.

40 And when the people heard those words of Jesus, some of them said, 'This is truly the prophet'. Others said, 'This is the Christ'. [Now they have spoken thus despite the fact that they did not understand the true meaning of those words of Jesus. They may have made a connection with the waters that will flow from the temple of God and give life to all things according to last vision of Ezekiel concerning the temple of God, but they could not understand its full meaning since the Spirit had not yet been given into the world, since Jesus had not yet been glorified.]

41 But some others said: Will the Christ come from Galilee.

42 Does not the scripture say that the Christ will come from the seed of David, and from Bethlehem the village where David was.

43 So there was a division among the people concerning Jesus.

44 And some of them wanted to arrest him, but no one laid hands on him.

45 Then the officers returned to the chief priests and the Pharisees. And they said to the officers: Why have you not brought him.

46 And the officers answered: Never has anyone spoken like this man [that is to say, we have never heard anyone say such amazing things].

47 And the Pharisees said to them: Have you also been deceived [by thinking that he can say interesting things].

48 Have any of the rulers or of the Pharisees believed in him. [That is to say, why do you want to believe in his message when you see that none of those who teach you the knowledge of God believe in him.]

49 But those people who do not know the law are accursed.

50 Now Nicodemus who had come to Jesus by night was one of them, and he spoke to them with the following words.

51 Does our law allow us to condemn a man before hearing him and knowing what he has done.

52 And they answered and said to him: Are you also from Galilee. Examine, and you will see that no prophet arises from Galilee.

John 8

1 And Jesus went to the mount of Olives.

2 And early in the morning he came again into the temple, and all the people came to him. And Jesus sat down, and taught them.

3 Then the scribes and the Pharisees brought a woman who was arrested after being caught in an act of adultery, and they placed her in the midst of the people who where there [in order to throw stones at her].

4 And they said to Jesus: Teacher, this woman has been caught in an act of adultery, in the very act.

5 Now Moses has commanded us in the law to stone such a woman. And you, what do you say.

6 They said this thing to test him, in order to have [an additional] reason to accuse him. And after Jesus had heard them, he stooped down and wrote on the ground with his finger.

7 And while they were continuing to question him on this subject, he lifted up his eyes and said to them: Let the one among you who is without sin be the first to throw a stone at her.

8 Then Jesus stooped down again, and wrote on the ground.

9 And when they heard that answer, they were convicted by their own consciences. And they withdrew one by one, beginning with the oldest and ending with the last. And Jesus remained alone [of all those who were involved in that matter], with the woman who was standing there.

10 And Jesus lifted up his eyes again, and said to her: Woman, where are your accusers. Has no one condemned you.

11 And she answered and said, 'None of them, Sir'. And Jesus said to her, 'I also do not condemn you. Go and sin no more'.

12 Then Jesus spoke to the people again and said: I am the light of the world. Whoever follows me will not walk in darkness, but will have the light of life.

13 Then the Pharisees said to him: You testify to the fact that you deserves to be admired, your testimony is not true.

14 And Jesus answered and said them: I recommend myself, but my testimony is true. For I know where I have come from, and where I am going. And now you do not know where I have come from and where I am going.

15 You judge according to the flesh. I judge no one.

16 And when I judge, my judgment is true. For I am not alone, but the Father who has sent me is with me.

17 It is written in your law that the testimony of two men is true. [Now the law given by Moses says that a single witness will not be enough to condemn a man to death. But in real life, Jezebel the wife of king Ahab had succeeded to convince several people to find two wicked men in order to falsely accuse Naboth the Jezreelite and have him killed.]

18 I bear witness to my message, and the Father who has sent me bears witness witness to me [through the miracles that he allows me to accomplish].

19 Then they said to him, 'Where is your Father'. And Jesus answered, 'You know neither me nor my Father. If you knew me, then you would also know my Father'.

20 Jesus spoke these words while teaching in the temple, near the room of the treasury [where precious objects are kept]. But no one laid hands on him [to arrest him], because his hour had not yet come.

21 And Jesus spoke again and said to them: I will go away, and you will seek me, and you will die in your sins. You cannot come where I am going. [That is to say, you will not be able to come there because you do not want to give up your sins and understand what the love of God means.]

22 Then the Jews said: Will he kill himself. For he says, 'You cannot come where I am going'.

23 And Jesus said to them: You are from below, and I am from above. You are of this world, and I am not of this world.

24 Therefore I have said to you that you will die in your sins. For if you do not believe that I am he, then you will die in your sins.

25 Then they said to him, 'Who are you'. And Jesus said to them, 'I am what I have told you from the beginning [through my works on the sabbath day]'.

26 I have many things that I can say to judge you. But the one who has sent me is true, and I speak to the world the things that I have heard from him.

27 They did not understand that he was talking to them about the Father.

28 Then Jesus said to them: When you will have lifted up the Son of man, then you will know what I am, and that I do nothing on my own initiative, but I speak according to what the Father has taught me.

29 For the one who sent me is with me. The Father has not left me alone, because I always do what is pleasing in his sight.

30 And while Jesus was speaking those words, many believed in him. [That is to say, many believed that what he was speaking is true.]

31 Then Jesus said to the Jews who had believed in him: If you continue in my word, then you are truly my disciples.

32 And you will know the truth, and the truth will set you free.

33 And other Jews answered him: We are Abraham's seed, and have never been slaves to anyone. How can you say, 'You will be set free'.

34 And Jesus said to them: Truly, truly, I say to you, everyone who commits sin is a slave of that sin.

35 Now the slave does not stay in the house forever, but the Son stay there forever.

36 So if the Son sets you free, then you will be free indeed.

37 I know that you are descendants of Abraham, but you seek to kill me because my word has no place in you.

38 I say what my Father has shown me, and you do what your father has told you.

39 And they answered and said to Jesus, 'Our father is Abraham'. And Jesus said to them, 'If you were children of Abraham, then you would do the works of Abraham'.

40 But now you are seeking to kill me, a man who has told you the truth which I have heard from God. Abraham did not behave in this way. You are doing the deeds of your father.

41 Then they said to Jesus: We are not disobedient children. We have one Father, and it is God.

42 And Jesus said to them: If God were your Father, then you would love me. For I have come from God and I do what pleases him. I have not come to you on my own initiative, but he has sent me. [You are offended when I do a work on a sabbath day, and your concern is not to judge the nature of the work that I do. And yet Moses taught you in the law that you must not condemn every murderer, but that you must seek to understand whether the person acted willfully with malice or unwillingly without malice.]

43 Why do you not understand my oration. It is because you cannot listen to my words. [That is to say, your heart does not accept that what I do is good because you do not have within you the true love of God which consists first of all in loving one's neighbor as oneself.]

44 You are of your father the devil, and you want to do the desires of your father. He was a murderer from the beginning, and he does not stand in the truth, because there is no truth in him. He speaks from his own depths when he tells a lie, for he is a liar and the father of it.

45 And you do not believe me because I am telling you the truth.

46 Which of you can persuade me to commit a sin. Why do you not believe me when I tell you the truth. [I know the answer, it is only because you are not of God.]

47 He who is of God hears the words of God. You do not listen [to my words] because you are not of God. [That is to say, it is because you are not of God that my words find no place in your hearts.]

48 Then the Jews answered and said to him: Are we not right if we say that you are a Samaritan and that you have a demon in you. [Now the Samaritans are a group of the children of Jacob who have slightly perverted the meaning of the law given by Moses, and who do not accept the holiness of the scriptures that the Jews received after Moses, especially the scriptures that are related to the work of David king of Israel.]

49 And Jesus answered: I do not have a demon. But I honor my Father, and you disgrace me.

50 I do not seek my own glory. There is one who is seeking it, and he is the judge.

51 Truly, truly, I say to you, if anyone keeps my word [in order to practice it] then he will never see death.

52 Then the Jews said to him: Now we know that you have a demon. For Abraham is dead, and the prophets [who have lived after him], and you say, 'If anyone keeps my word then he will never see death'.

53 Are you greater than our father Abraham. He is dead, and the prophets are dead. Who do you think that you are.

54 And Jesus answered: If I honor myself then my honor is nothing. It is my Father who honors me, the one of whom you say that he is your God.

55 And you have not known him, but I know him. And if I choose to say that I do not know him, then I will become like you, a liar. But I know him, and I obey his word.

56 Your father Abraham had rejoiced concerning the fact that a day will come when I will be truly exalted throughout the whole world. And he saw my day [in a vision], and he was glad.

57 Then the Jews said to him: You are not yet fifty years old, and you have seen Abraham.

58 And Jesus said to them: Truly, truly, I say to you, before Abraham was, I am. [That is to say, my teaching was sought by Abraham, and even by other people loved by God who lived before Abraham, since I teach the exact knowledge of the concept of righteousness. I told you previously that I will go to a place where the majority of you cannot come because they are not of God, and it is when I have left that some of you will completely understand the meaning of my words and thus possess the exact knowledge of the concept of righteousness.]

59 Then they took stones to throw at him, but Jesus hid himself and went out of the temple.

John 9

1 And Jesus was walking, and he saw a man who was blind from birth.

2 And the disciples of Jesus questioned him by saying: Rabbi, is it because of his own sin that this man was born blind or is it because of the sin of his parents.

3 And Jesus answered: It is neither because of his own sin, nor because of the sin of his parents, but in order that the works of God may be manifested through him. [Now Jesus is talking about this man in particular, because he is going to heal him.]

4 I must work the works of the one who has sent me, while it is day. The night is coming, when no man can work. [That is to say, I must continue to work to spread my message while I can still do it, before I am delivered to the will of those who want to harm me.]

5 While I am in the world, I am the light of the world.

6 And when Jesus had spoken thus, he spat on the ground and made mud of the saliva, and he anointed the eyes of the blind man with that mud. [That is to say, he did put that holy mud on the eyes of the blind man.]

7 Then Jesus said to him: Go and wash in the pool of Siloam [whose name means Sent]. So he went away, and washed, and came back seeing.

8 Then his neighbors and those who had previously known him when he was a blind man saw him, and they were saying: Is not this the one who used to sit there and beg.

9 And some were saying, 'It is he'. And others were saying, 'No, but this one looks like him'. And he himself was saying, 'It is me'.

10 Therefore they said to him: How have your eyes been opened.

11 And he answered and said: A man who is called Jesus made mud and anointed my eyes with it, and said to me, 'Go to the pool of Siloam and wash'. And I went there and washed, and I received my sight.

12 Then they said to him, 'Where is that man'. And he answered, 'I do not know'.

13 Then they brought the man who had been blind to the Pharisees.

14 Now it was on a sabbath day that Jesus had made the mud and healed the eyes of that blind man.

15 Then the Pharisees also asked him how he had received his sight. And he said to them: He did put mud on my eyes, and I washed, and I see.

16 Then some of the Pharisees said, 'That man is not of God, because he does not keep the sabbath day'. But others said, 'How can a man who is a sinner do such miracles'. So there was a division among them.

17 Then they spoke again to the man who had been blind by saying, 'What do you say about the one who has opened your eyes'. And he answered and said, 'He is a prophet'.

18 Then the Jews did not believe that he had been blind before receiving sight. And the Jews sent to call the parents of the one who claimed to have been blind, in order to ensure it.

19 And the Jews questioned them by saying: Is this your son of whom you say that he was born blind. How then does he see now.

20 And his parents answered and said: We know that this is our son, and that he was born blind.

21 But regarding the fact that he is no longer blind, and the identity of the one who has opened his eyes, we do not know. Ask him directly, since he is old enough to answer for himself.

22 His parents spoke thus because they feared the Jews. For the Jews had already agreed that anyone who declares that Jesus is the Christ should be put out of the synagogue.

23 Therefore his parents said: Ask him, since he is old enough.

24 Then the Pharisees called again the man who had been blind, and said to him: Give glory to God [that is to say, honor God by telling the truth]. We know that the man who has healed you is a sinner.

25 And he answered and said: I do not know whether he is a sinner or not. There is one thing that I know, it is that I was blind and I see now.

26 Then they said to him: What has he done to you. How has he opened your eyes.

27 And he answered them by saying: I have already given you this answer, and you have not wanted to accept it. Why do you want to hear it again. Do you also want to become his disciples. [Now the disciples of Jesus are used to hearing him say the same thing in many different ways from morning to night, every day.]

28 Then they reviled him and said: It is you who are his disciple. As for us, we are disciples of Moses.

29 We know that God had spoken to Moses. But concerning that man, we do not know where he is from.

30 Then the one who had been blind answered them and said: It is surprising that you do not know where he is from. For he has opened my eyes.

31 We know that God does not hear sinners, and that he hears anyone who honors him and does his will.

32 Since the world began, no one has ever heard that someone has opened the eyes of a man born blind.

33 If this man were not of God, then he could have done nothing.

34 Then they answered and said to him, 'You were born entirely in sin, and you teach us'. And they cast him out.

35 And Jesus heard that they had cast him out. And when Jesus found him, he and said to him: Do you believe in the Son of God.

36 And he answered Jesus by saying: And who is he, Lord, so that I may believe in him.

37 And Jesus said to him: You have seen him, and he is the one who is speaking to you.

38 Then he said to Jesus, 'Lord, I believe'. And he bowed and worshiped Jesus.

39 Then Jesus said: I have come into this world for a judgment, so that those who do not see may see, and those who see may become blind.

40 And some of the Pharisees who were near Jesus heard those words, and they said to him: Are we also blind.

41 And Jesus said to them: If you were blind, then you would have no sin. But now you say, 'We see', and therefore your sin remains.

John 10

1 Truly, truly, I say to you, if someone does not enter the sheepfold by the door, but climbs up some other way, then he is a thief and a robber.

2 And the one who enters by the door is the shepherd of the sheep.

3 The gatekeeper opens to him, and the sheep hear his voice. He calls his own sheep by name, and leads them out.

4 And when he has brought out all his own sheep, he goes ahead of them, and the sheep follow him because they know his voice.

5 They will not follow a stranger, but will flee from him. For they do not know the voice of strangers.

6 Jesus told them this parable, but they did not understand what was the meaning of what he had said to them.

7 Then Jesus spoke again and said to them: Truly, truly, I say to you, I am the door of the sheep.

8 All those who have come before me are thieves and robbers, and the sheep did not listen to them. [That is to say, none of the teachings given before mine were truly satisfactory in the hearts of those who truly loved God and to whom he had not personally manifested himself.]

9 I am the door. If anyone enters by me, then he will be saved. He will come in and go out, and will find pasture.

10 The thief comes only to steal, or to kill, or to destroy. I have come so that the sheep may have life, and so that they may have it abundantly.

11 I am the good shepherd. A good shepherd gives his life for the sheep. [Now Jesus is not only a good shepherd through the good quality of his teaching, but he is also the one to whom the sheep belong because he is the one through whom comes the perfect knowledge of the Father.]

12 But a hireling, who is not the shepherd, and to whom the sheep do not belong, abandons the sheep and flees when he sees the wolf coming, and the wolf raids them and scatters them.

13 A hireling [who is not a good shepherd] flees because he is a hireling and does not care about the sheep.

14 I am the good shepherd. I know my sheep and my sheep know me, just as the Father knows me and I know the Father. [That is to say, my sheep know me because my message penetrates into the innermost parts of their hearts.]

15 And I give my life for my sheep.

16 And I have other sheep who are not of this flock. I must also bring them, by making them hear my voice. And there will be one flock, and one shepherd.

17 The Father loves me, because I give my life in order to take it again.

18 No one takes it from me, but I give it of myself. I have the power to give it, and I have the power to take it again. This is the commandment that I received from my Father.

19 Then there arose a division among the Jews because of those words.

20 And many of them said: He has a demon, and he is mad. Why do you listen to him.

21 And others said: These are not the words of someone who is possessed by a demon. Can a demon open the eyes of the blind.

22 Now the time came for the celebration of the feast of Dedication at Jerusalem. It was winter.

23 And Jesus was walking in the temple, in Solomon's porch.

24 And the Jewish leaders surrounded him and said to him: How long will you keep us in suspense. If you are the Christ then tell us clearly.

25 And Jesus answered them: I have already told you, and you do not believe. The works that I do in the name of my Father bear witness to me.

26 And you do not believe because you are not my sheep, as I have said it to you.

27 My sheep hear my voice, and I know them, and they follow me.

28 And I give them eternal life, and they will never perish, and no one will take them out of my hand.

29 My Father is the one who has given them to me, and he is greater than all. No one is able to take my sheep out of the hand of my Father.

30 I and my Father are one. [That is to say, it is the exact understanding of the content of my message that will give the exact knowledge of the identity of the one who is your Father in your scriptures, the one who said to Pharaoh by the hand of Moses, 'Thus says the Lord, Israel is my son, my firstborn. And I say to you, Let my son go so that he may serve me. If you refuse to let him go, behold I will kill your son, your firstborn'. And I will become the content of my message, which will be something new for you since you do not yet know what happens to people after their death according to the flesh.]

31 Then the Jews took up stones again to stone him.

32 And Jesus said to them: I have shown you many good works from my Father. For which one of those deeds are you stoning me.

33 And the Jews answered him by saying: We are not stoning you for a good work, but for blasphemy. For you are only a man, but you make yourself God.

34 And Jesus answered them: Is it not written in your law, 'I said, You are gods'.

35 If he called them gods, those to whom the word of God is given, and if the scriptures cannot be broken.

36 How then can you say to the one whom the Father has sanctified and sent into the world, 'You blaspheme', when I said, 'I am the Son of God'.

37 If I do not do the works of my Father, then do not believe me.

38 But if I do his works, then even if you do not want to believe what I say, at least acknowledge that those good works [that are done at all times and even on the sabbath days] are a sign, so that you may know and understand that the Father is in me and I am in the Father.

39 Then they tried again to seize him, but he escaped out of their hand.

40 And Jesus went again across the Jordan, to the place where John had first baptized, and he remained there.

41 And many people came to him, and they were saying: John performed no miracles, but everything that John said concerning this man was true.

42 And many people there believed in him. [That is to say, they believed that they had to accept everything that he said to them, even though they were aware that they did not understand the full meaning of those words.]

John 11

1 Now there was a certain man named Lazarus who was sick. He lived in the town of Bethany, where Mary and her sister Martha lived.

2 It was that Mary who had anointed the Lord with ointment, and had wiped his feet with her hair, and it was her brother Lazarus who was sick. [Now the author of this gospel according to John is aware of the entire text of the gospel according to Luke in which there is an event concerning the same sisters Mary and Marthe. But here the author is not referring to the event where Jesus forgave the sins of an anonymous woman in the gospel according to Luke, but rather to an event that will soon be described in this same book and that has been a very significant event in his eyes.]

3 And the sisters sent to say to Jesus: Lord, behold the one whom you love is sick.

4 And when Jesus heard it, he said: This sickness is not to death, but for the glory of God, so that the Son of God may be exalted through it.

5 Now Jesus loved Martha, and her sister, and Lazarus.

6 And when he heard that Lazarus was sick, he stayed two more days in the same place where he was.

7 And after that, Jesus said to his disciples: Let us return to Judea.

8 And his disciples said to him: Master, the Jews recently sought to stone you, and you want to return there.

9 And Jesus answered: Are there not twelve hours in the day. If anyone walks during the day, then he does not stumble because he sees the light of this world.

10 But if anyone walks during the night, then he stumbles because the light is not in him.

11 After Jesus had spoken those words, he said to them: Our friend Lazarus sleeps, and I go to wake him up.

12 Then his disciples said to him: Lord, if he sleeps then he will recover.

13 Now Jesus had spoken of the death of Lazarus, and his disciples had thought that he had spoken of a natural sleep.

14 Then Jesus said to them clearly: Lazarus has died.

15 And for your sake, so that you may believe [when the time comes when you understand what will be said there], I am glad that I was not there. And now, let us go to him.

16 Then Thomas, who is called Didymus, said to the other disciples: Let us also go, so that we may die with him. [Now he was not talking about dying with Lazarus, but about dying with Jesus whom some Jewish leaders wanted to kill.]

17 And when Jesus arrived at that place, Lazarus had already spent four days in the tomb.

18 Now Bethany was near Jerusalem, at a distance of about two miles.

19 And many of the Jews had come to Martha and Mary in order to console them for the death of their brother.

20 And Martha went to meet Jesus when she heard that he was coming, but Mary remained sitting in the house.

21 And Martha said to Jesus: Lord, if you had been here then my brother would not have died.

22 But even now I know that whatever you ask of God, God will grant it to you.

23 And Jesus said to her: Your brother will rise again.

24 And Martha said to him: I know that he will rise again in the resurrection at the last day.

25 And Jesus said to her: I am the resurrection and the life. He who believes in me will live, even if he have died.

26 And whoever lives and believes in me will never die. Do you believe this.

27 And Martha said to him: Yes, Lord. I believe that you are the Christ, the Son of God, the one who was to come into the world. [That is to say, I believe that everything that you say is true, even when I do not understand the meaning of your words.]

28 And when Martha had said this, she went back and secretly called Mary her sister, and said to her: The Master has come, and he is looking for you.

29 And when Mary heard it, she got up quickly and went to Jesus.

30 Now Jesus had not yet entered the town, and he was in the place where Martha had met him.

31 And there were Jews who were with Mary in the house and who were consoling her, and they followed her when she got up quickly to go out. For they said: She is going to the tomb to weep there.

32 And when Mary came where Jesus was, and saw him, she fell down at his feet and said to him: Lord, if you had been here then my brother would not have died.

33 And Jesus saw how she was weeping, she and the Jews who had come with her. Then he groaned in the spirit, and he was troubled.

34 And he said, 'Where have you laid him'. And they said to him: Lord, come and see.

35 And Jesus wept.

36 Then the Jews said: See how he loved Lazarus. [Now Jesus was disturbed, not by the death of Lazarus, but by the distress of Mary.]

37 And some of them said: He had opened the eyes of a man [who was blind from birth]. Why has he not caused Lazarus to stay alive. [Now these Jews in particular do not know that Jesus had already resurrected a person who had died. And there is also the fact that Jesus must have loved John the Baptist who bore witness to him, but John the Baptist has nevertheless been killed.]

38 And Jesus went to the tomb, groaning in himself. It was a cave, and a stone had been placed in the entrance to close it.

39 And Jesus said, 'Take away the stone'. Then Martha, the sister of the dead man, said to Jesus: Lord, he already stinks. For he has been there for four days.

40 And Jesus said to her: Have I not told you that if you believe then you will see the glory of God.

41 Then they took away the stone from the entrance of the tomb in which was the dead body of Lazarus. And Jesus lifted up his eyes and said: Father, I thank you that you have heard me.

42 I know that you always hear me, but I speak thus because of the crowd that is here, so that they may believe that you are the one who has sent me.

43 And when Jesus had spoken thus, he cried out with a loud voice: Lazarus, come out.

44 And the man who was dead came out. His hands and feet were wrapped in linen strips, and his face was covered with a cloth. And Jesus said to them: Unwrap him, and let him go.

45 And many of the Jews who had come to Mary believed in Jesus at that time, when they saw this thing that Jesus had done. [That is to say, they thought that Jesus was the Christ awaited by the Jewish people, and that it was therefore necessary to accept that all his words are true even without understanding their meaning.]

46 But some of them went to the Pharisees to tell them what Jesus had done.

47 Then the chief priests and the Pharisees gathered a council, and said: What will we do. For this man performs many miracles.

48 If we let him continue to do these things, then everyone will believe in him. And then the Romans will come and destroy both our city and our nation. [For the Romans will think that we are going to revolt against their authority by designating this Jesus to reign over us, and we see that this Jesus does not intend to defend us and make us triumph against the armies of the Romans. This Jesus cannot be the Christ whom our nation is waiting for.]

49 Then one of them, whose name was Caiaphas and who was high priest that year, said to them: You do not understand.

50 You do not realize that it is expedient for us that one man should die for the people, and that the whole nation does not perish.

51 Now Caiaphas did not say those words by himself. For he was high priest that year, and he was prophesying that Jesus has to die for the nation [that is to say, for the Jewish people].

52 And not only for the nation [of the Jewish people], but also in order to gather into one [people] the children of God who were scattered. [That is to say, so that all the persons of all nations who love justice and fairness no longer serve God each with their own rituals, but may then serve God in the same way when they understand the exact teaching of the message that Jesus has created in the world.]

53 And from that day on, they resolved to put Jesus to death. [For they agreed that Jesus was a false prophet who must die so that the Romans would not destroy the Jewish people.]

54 Therefore Jesus no longer walked openly among the Jews, and he withdrew to a region near the wilderness, into a city called Ephraim, and he remained there with his disciples.

55 Now the feast of the Jews called Passover was near, and many people from the region went up to Jerusalem before the Passover in order to purify themselves.

56 And the people were seeking Jesus there, and they were saying to one another in the temple: What do you think. Will he not come to the feast.

57 Now the chief priests and the Pharisees had declared that anyone who knew where Jesus was must tell it to them, so that they may arrest him.

John 12

1 And six days before the Passover, Jesus came to Bethany where Lazarus was, the one whom Jesus had raised from the dead.

2 And they made him a supper there. Martha served the meal, and Lazarus was one of those who were at the table with Jesus.

3 Then Mary took a pound of very expensive ointment of spikenard, and anointed the feet of Jesus, and wiped his feet with her hair. And the house was filled with the fragrance of the ointment.

4 Then one of his disciples, Judas Iscariot who was to betray him later, spoke and said the following thing.

5 Why has not this ointment been sold for three hundred denarii and given to the poor.

6 Now he said this thing, not because he cared for the poor, but because he was a thief. He was the one who kept the moneybag for the group of followers, and he often stole money from that bag.

7 Then Jesus said: Let her keep this ointment for the day of my burial.

8 You will always have the poor with you, but you will not always have me.

9 And many people heard that Jesus was in Bethany, and they came there. They came not only in order to see Jesus, but also to see Lazarus whom he had raised from the dead.

10 Then the chief priests planned to kill Lazarus also.

11 For many of the Jews were withdrawing from them and believing in Jesus because of what had happened to Lazarus. [That is to say, they thought that Jesus was the Christ awaited by the Jewish people, and that it was therefore necessary to accept that all his words are true even without understanding their meaning.]

12 On the next day, the crowds of people who had come to the feast at Jerusalem heard that Jesus was coming there.

13 And many people took branches of palm trees, and went to meet Jesus, and cried out: Hosanna. Blessed is the king of Israel who comes in the name of the Lord.

14 And Jesus was riding a donkey.

17 Now many people had testified about Jesus to the crowds, many of those who had been with Jesus when he called Lazarus from the tomb and raised him from the dead.

18 And it is for this reason that a large crowd came to meet Jesus, because they had heard that he had performed that miracle.

19 Then the Pharisees said to one another: You see that we are not succeeding in prevailing against him. For lo, the world has gone after him.

20 Now there were also some Greeks among the crowds who had come to worship [God] at the feast.

21 And they came to Philip who was of Bethsaida of Galilee, and they urged him by saying: Sir, we desire to see Jesus.

22 And Philip went and told Andrew, and Andrew and Philip told Jesus.

23 And Jesus answered them by saying: The hour has come for the Son of man to be glorified.

24 Truly, truly, I say to you, unless a grain of wheat falls into the ground and dies, it remains alone. But if it dies, then it brings forth much fruit.

25 Whoever loves his life will lose it, and whoever hates his life in this world will keep it into eternal life.

26 If anyone serves me, then let him follow me. And where I am, there my servant will be also. For if anyone serves me, then my Father will honor him.

27 Now my soul is troubled. And what will I say. Should I say, 'Father, deliver me from this hour'. But it is for this very reason that I have come to this hour. Father, glorify your name.

28 Then a voice came there from heaven by saying: I have glorified it, and I will glorify it again.

29 And the people who were standing there heard it. And some said that it was a thunder, and others said, 'An angel has spoken to him'.

30 And Jesus said to the people: This voice has not come for me, but for you. [That is to say, so that you may have faith.]

31 Now the time has come for the judgment of this world. Now the prince of this world will be cast out. [That is to say, in a short time, he will begin to be driven out of the world in a progressive way until the end of time.]

32 For I, when I am lifted up from the earth, I will draw all men to me.

33 Now Jesus said this thing to indicate by what death he will die. [That is to say, he indicated that after his death in the flesh, he will continue to be alive through the fact that he will continue to act among the living.]

34 And the people said to Jesus: We have heard from the law that Christ will live forever. How then do you say, 'The Son of man must be lifted up'. Who is this Son of man.

35 And Jesus answered them by saying: The light will still be with you for a little while only. And if you walk while you have the light, then the darkness will not swallow you up. He who walks in darkness does not know where he is going. Believe in the light while you have the light, so that you may become children of light.

36 Jesus said these things, and then he went away and hid himself from them.

37 For from time to time they began to have doubts about him again, despite the fact that he had performed many miracles before them.

38 Now it was so that the following words of the prophet Isaiah might be fulfilled: Lord, who has believed our report. And to whom has the arm of the Lord been revealed.

39 Therefore they could not believe, because Isaiah also said the following thing.

40 He has blinded their eyes and hardened their heart, lest they should see with their eyes and understand with their hearts, and be converted, and I should heal them.

41 Isaiah said these things when he saw the glory of Jesus and spoke of him.

42 Nevertheless there were many people who believed in Jesus, even among the Jewish leaders. But because of the Pharisees, they did not admit it for fear of being put out of the synagogue.

44 And yet Jesus had cried out and said the following thing: If anyone believes in me, then it is not in me that he is believing, but rather in the one who has sent me. [That is to say, he who believes in me must seek only to believe in the message that I teach.]

45 And whoever sees me sees the one who has sent me. [That is to say, the one who has sent me is the message that I teach you, the message to which you must obey and to which I myself obey completely.]

46 I have come as a light into the world, so that whoever believes in me does not remain in darkness.

47 If anyone hears my words and does not obey them, then I do not judge him. For I have not come to judge the world, but to save the world.

48 Whoever rejects me by not accepting my words has one who judges him. The word that I have spoken will judge him on the last day.

49 For I have not spoken by myself, but the Father who sent me has given me a commandment, what I should say and what I should teach.

50 And I know that his commandment is the everlasting life. Therefore concerning the things that I speak, as the Father has taught it me, so I speak.

John 13

1 Now before the feast of the Passover, when Jesus already knew that the time had come for him to leave this world and go back to the Father, after all the love that he had had throughout his life for the people who belonged to him in the world, at that time he chose to bring that love to its highest level among his disciples.

2 Indeed, during supper, when the devil had already put the resolution to betray Jesus into the heart of Judas Iscariot the son of Simon.

3 And Jesus knew that the Father had given all things into his hands, and that he had come from God, and that he was going to God.

4 Jesus got up from the table at that moment, took off his robe and took a towel that he wrapped around his waist.

5 Then he poured water into a basin, and began to wash the feet of the disciples, and to wipe them with the towel that he had wrapped around his waist.

6 And when Jesus came to Simon Peter, he said to Jesus: Lord, should you wash my feet.

7 And Jesus answered him by saying: What I do, you do not understand it now. But you will understand it later.

8 And Peter said to him, 'You will never wash my feet'. And Jesus answered him by saying, 'If I do not wash you, then you will have no part with me'.

9 Then Simon Peter said to him: Lord, not only my feet, but also my hands and my head.

10 And Jesus said to him: He who is washed only needs to wash his feet to be entirely pure. And you are pure, but not all.

11 For Jesus knew the one who should betray him. Therefore he said: You are not all pure.

12 And after Jesus had washed their feet, he put on his clothes and sat down again. Then he said to them: Do you understand what I have done to you.

13 You call me Master, and Lord. And you say well, because that is what I am.

14 Therefore if I have washed your feet, I your Lord and Master, then you also ought to wash each other’s feet.

15 For I have given you an example, so that you may do as I have done to you.

16 Truly, truly, I say to you, the servant is not greater than his lord. The one who is sent to do something is not greater than the one who has sent him.

17 If you know these things, then you are blessed as long as you practice them.

18 I am not talking about all of you, for I know those whom I have chosen. But the scripture must be fulfilled concerning the following word: The one who eats bread with me has lifted up his heel against me.

19 And now I will tell it to you before the thing happens, so that you believe what I am when it happens.

20 Truly, truly, I say to you, whoever receives someone whom I have sent receives me, and the one who receives me receives the one who has sent me.

21 And when Jesus had spoken those words, he was troubled in his spirit, and he said clearly: Truly, truly, I say to you, one of you will betray me.

22 Then the disciples looked at each other, wondering who Jesus could be talking about.

23 And one of his disciples, the one whom Jesus loved, was leaning on the chest of Jesus.

24 And Simon Peter motioned to him to ask Jesus who it was about.

25 Then the one who was leaning on the chest of Jesus said to him: Lord, who is it.

26 And Jesus answered and said, 'He is the one to whom I will give a piece of bread, when I have dipped it'. Then Jesus dipped a piece a bread, and gave it to Judas Iscariot the son of Simon.

27 And as soon as the piece of bread was given to Judas, Satan entered into him. And Jesus said to him: What you do, do it promptly.

28 But none of those who were at the table understood why Jesus had said those words to Judas.

29 And some thought that, since it was Judas who kept the bag of money, then Jesus was saying to him, 'Buy those things we have need of for the feast', or that Jesus was saying to him to give something to the poor. [Now Jesus spoke clearly but none of the disciples understood because they were used to considering the words of Jesus as parables, since Jesus used to tell many parables.]

30 And as soon as Judas had taken the piece of bread, he hastened to go out. It was night.

31 And when Judas had gone out, Jesus said: Now the Son of man is glorified, and God is glorified in him.

32 If God has been glorified in him, then God will also glorify him in himself, and he will soon glorify him.

33 Little children, I am still with you for a short time. You will seek me, but I say to you now what I said to the Jewish leaders: You cannot come where I am going. [Now this word had a certain meaning when Jesus said it to the Jewish leaders, and the meaning is not the same when Jesus says it to his disciples. Now Jesus simply wants to tell his disciples that it is not yet time for them to die according to the flesh.]

34 I give you a new commandment: Love one another. As I have loved you, so you also must love one another.

35 By this all men will know that you are my disciples, if you have love for one another.

36 Then Simon Peter said to Jesus, 'Lord, where are you going'. And Jesus answered him, 'Now you cannot follow me where I go, but you will follow me there later'. [Now Jesus speaks of the place of which he said that certain Jewish leaders will not be able to come where he is going, those of them who will not repent.]

37 Then Peter said to Jesus: Lord, why can I not follow you now. I am ready to give my life for you.

38 And Jesus answered him and said: You say that you are ready to give your life for me. Truly, truly, I say to you, the rooster will not crow this day until you have denied three times that you know me.

John 14

1 Let not your heart be troubled. Believe in God, and believe in me. [That is to say, believe in what I teach you concerning the will of God.]

2 There are many dwelling places in the house of my Father. If it were not so, then I would have told you. I go there to prepare a place for you.

3 And after I have gone to prepare a place for you, I will come again and receive you to myself, so that you also may come where I am.

4 You know where I am going, and you know the way that leads to that place. [That is to say, you know that after the death according to the flesh of the prophet Samuel his spirit was invoked by Saul the first king of Israel, and consequently both are now somewhere, but cannot be loved by God in the same way.]

5 Then Thomas said to Jesus: Lord, we do not know where you are going. How then can we know the way.

6 And Jesus said to him: I am the way, and the truth, and the life. No one comes to the Father except through me.

7 If you had really known me, then you would have known my Father also. And now you know him, and you have seen him.

8 Then Philip said to Jesus: Lord, show us the Father. That is all we need.

9 And Jesus said to him: I have been with you for so long, and you do not know me, Philip. The one who has seen me has seen the Father. How then do you say, 'Show us the Father'.

10 Do you not believe that I am in the Father, and that the Father is in me. The words that I speak to you, I do not speak them by myself. For the Father who dwells in me does his works.

11 Believe me, I am in the Father and the Father is in me. Believe at least because of the works [that I have done and that I will do].

12 Truly, truly, I say to you, the one who believes in me will also do the works that I do, and he will do greater works than these. [Now God said in the scriptures that it is our sins that prevent him from listening to us, and he also said that the sins of the parents influence the trials suffered by their children for several generations, and therefore this statement of Jesus can be fulfilled when sin has been fought and not worshipped in the world for several generations.]

13 And everything that you will ask in my name, I will do it for you. And thus the Father will be glorified through the Son. [For the Son is the one who has made the Father known.]

14 If you ask anything in my name, then I will do it.

15 If you love me, then keep my commandments.

16 And I will pray to the Father, and he will give you another Comforter, and that one will remain forever with you.

17 It is the spirit of truth, whom the world cannot receive because it does not see him and does not know it. But as for you, you know him, and he will stays with you, and he will be inside you.

18 I will not leave you fatherless, for I will come to you.

19 There is still a little time to wait, and the world will no longer see me. But you will see me because I live, and you also will live.

20 In that day you will know that I am in my Father, and you are in me, and I am in you.

21 Whoever has my commandments and keeps them is the one who loves me. And the one who loves me will be loved by my Father, and I will love him, and will manifest myself to him.

22 Then Judas, not Judas Iscariot but another, said to Jesus: Lord, what is the reason why you will manifest yourself to us and not to the world.

23 And Jesus answered and said to him: If someone loves me, then he will keep my word and my Father will love him. And we will come to him, and we will make our home with him.

24 If someone does not keep my words, then he does not love me. And this word that you hear is not mine, but from the Father who has sent me.

25 I have told you these things while I am with you.

26 But the Comforter, the Holy Spirit whom the Father will send in my name, he will teach you all things and will remind you of everything that I have told you.

27 You will inherit peace, I give you my peace. The peace that I give you is not superficial like the one that the people of the world can offer you. Do not let your hearts be troubled, and do not let your hearts be anxious.

28 You have heard how I have said to you, 'I go away, and I will come back to you'. If you were loving me, then you would have rejoiced since I have said, 'I am going to the Father'. For the Father is greater than I am.

29 And now I have told you this thing before it happens, so that you may believe when it has happened.

30 I have little time left to speak to you. For the prince of this world is coming, and he has nothing in me.

31 And in order to let the world know that I love the Father, and that I act according to the orders that my Father has given me, get up and let us get out of here.

John 15

1 I am the true vinestock, and my Father is the gardener.

2 He will cut off every branch that does not bear fruit through me. And concerning every branch that bear fruit through me, he will prune it so that it may produce more fruit.

3 And now you are already pure, because of the word that I have announced to you.

4 Stay in me, and I will remain in you. The branch cannot bear fruit by itself if it does not remain connected to the vinestock [so as to form a single tree]. In the same way, you cannot bear sustainable fruits if you do not stay in me.

5 I am the vinestock, and you are the branches. Whoever remains in me and in whom I remain will bear much fruit. For without me you can do nothing.

6 If anyone does not remain in me, then he will be thrown outside like a branch is cut off, and he will wither. And those branches will be gather and thrown into the fire, and will burn there.

7 If you remain in me, and my words remain in you, then ask what you want and it will be granted to you.

8 If you are my disciples, then you will bear much fruit and my Father will be glorified in this way.

9 As the Father has loved me, so I have loved you. And now, continue in my love.

10 If you keep my commandments then you will remain in my love, just as I have kept the commandments of my Father and I remain in his love.

11 I have told you these things so that my joy may be in you, and thus your joy will be perfect.

12 This is my commandment: Love one another, as I have loved you.

13 There is no greater love than this, when someone gives his life for his friends.

14 You are my friends if you do what I command you.

15 From now on I no longer call you servants. For a servant does not know what his master does. But I have called you friends, because I have made known to you everything that I have heard from my Father.

16 It is not you who chose me, but I chose you. And I have appointed you so that you go and bear fruit, fruit that endures. For whatever you will ask of the Father in my name, he will give it to you.

17 These are the things that I command you: Love one another.

18 If the world hates you, then know that it has hated me before it has hated you.

19 If you were of the world, then the world would love its possessions. But because you are not of the world, since I have chosen you in the world, therefore the world hates you.

20 Remember the word that I have told you, 'A servant is not greater than his master'. If they have persecuted me, then they will also persecute you. If they have kept my word, then they will also keep yours.

21 For they will do all these things to you because of my name, because they do not know the one who has sent me.

22 If I had not come and had not spoken to them, then they would have no sin. But now they have no excuse for their sin. [Here Jesus is talking about the Jews who will continue after his death according to the flesh to reject his teaching concerning the possibility of seeking to do good even on the sabbath day, and who will strive to live according to the law of Moses after the destruction of their temple will has occurred since they will be hoping for a reconstruction of this temple which is the only place where they must offer burnt offerings to God and burn incense to honor him.]

23 Whoever hates me hates my Father also.

24 If I had not done among them the works that no other has done [regarding the great number of miracles but also the quality since I have opened the eyes of a person who was blind from birth], then they would not have sin. But now they have seen those works, and they have hated both me and my Father.

25 But it has happened so that this word that is written in their law may be fulfilled: They hated me without a cause.

26 And when the Comforter has come, the one whom I will send to you from the Father, the spirit of truth who comes from the Father, he will bear witness to me.

27 And you also will bear witness, because have been with me from the beginning.

John 16

1 I have told you these things so that you may keep faith in the times of troubles.

2 They will put you out of the synagogues. And the time is coming when whoever kills you will think that he is doing God service. [That is to say, since you are Jews, your brothers from the twelve tribes will think that they have the right to kill you because of the commandment of Moses that asks them not to spare any of their brothers who tries to incite them to worship another God. And those who believe in me without being Jewish will also be accused in their communities, because people will say that either they are atheists who do not accept the existence of any divine morality, or worshippers of a false God who does not exist because they do not offer him burnt offerings that no one eats except him alone.]

3 And they will do these things to you because they have known neither the Father nor me.

4 I have told you these things so that when the hour comes, you remember that I told you about it. I did not tell you about them from the beginning, because I was with you.

5 And now I am going to the one who has sent me.

6 But because I have told you these things, sorrow has filled your hearts.

7 Nevertheless I tell you the truth. It is expedient for you that I go away. For if I do not go away, then the Comforter will not come to you. But if I go, then I will send him to you.

8 And when he comes, he will enlighten the world concerning the notion of sin, and of justice, and of judgment.

9 Concerning the notion of sin, because they do not believe in me.

10 And concerning justice, because I go to my Father, and you will see me no more.

11 And concerning judgment, because the prince of this world is judged.

12 I still have many things to say to you, but you cannot bear them now.

13 When he is come, the spirit of truth, he will guide you into all truth. For he will not speak by himself, but he will speak whatever he hears, and he will declare to you things to come.

14 He will glorify me. For he will take of what is mine, and will declare it to you.

15 All that the Father has is mine. Therefore I have said that he will take of what is mine, and declare it to you.

16 A little while, and you will see me no more. And again a little while, and you will see me. For I go to the Father.

17 Then some of his disciples said to one another: What does he mean by saying to us, 'A little while, and you will not see me, and again a little while, and you will see me', and 'For I go to the Father'.

18 And they were saying: What does he mean by saying, 'A little while'. We do not know what he is talking about.

19 And Jesus knew that they were desirous to question him, and he said to them: You are questioning one another concerning the following thing that I have said, 'A little while, and you will not see me, and again a little while, and you will see me'.

20 Truly, truly, I say to you, you will weep and lament while the world will rejoice. You will be sorrowful, but your sorrow will be turned into joy.

21 When a woman is in labor, she has sorrow because her hour has come. But after she has given birth, she no longer remembers the anguish because of the joy that comes from the fact that a person is born in the world.

22 In this way, you also have sorrow now. But I will see you again, and your heart will rejoice, and no one will take your joy from you. In that day you will no longer ask me anything [regarding what you have to do]. [Now the disciples will not yet know everything when they see Jesus again after his death, but they will think that they already know everything regarding what they have to do.]

23 Truly, truly, I say to you, whatever you will ask of the Father in my name, he will give it to you.

24 Until now you have asked nothing in my name. Ask, and you will receive, so that your joy may be perfect.

25 I have spoken these things to you in parables. And the hour is coming when I will no longer speak to you in parables, but I will speak to you clearly about the Father.

26 In that day you will ask in my name, and I do not say to you that I will pray to the Father for you.

27 For the Father himself loves you, because you have loved me and have believed that I have come from God.

28 I have come from the Father, and I am into the world. And now I leave the world, and go to the Father.

29 Then his disciples said: Lo, now you speak clearly. You do not speak in parables.

30 Now we know that you know all things, and have no need for anyone to question you. Therefore we believe that you have come from God.

31 And Jesus said to them: You say that you believe now.

32 Behold the hour is coming, and it is already the time, when you will be scattered each to his own, and you will leave me alone. But I am not alone, because the Father is with me.

33 I have spoken these things to you so that you may have peace in me. You will have tribulations in the world, but have courage. I have overcome the world.

John 17

1 After Jesus had spoken those words, he lifted up his eyes to heaven and said: Father, the hour has come. Glorify your Son, so that your Son may glorify you.

2 According to the fact that you have given him power over all flesh, so that he may give eternal life to all those whom you have given him.

3 And now, eternal life for them is to know you, you the only true God, and to know Jesus Christ whom you have sent.

4 I have glorified you on the earth, I have finished the work which you have given me to do.

5 And now, Father, glorify me with yourself with the glory that I had with you before the creation of the world.

6 I have declared your name to the men whom you have given me from the world. They were yours, and you have given them to me, and they have kept your word.

7 Now they know that all the power that you have given me comes from you. [That is to say, they know that I act through your holy spirit and not through an evil spirit coming from you.]

8 For I have given them the words that you have given me, and they have received those words, and they have truly known that I have come from you, and they have believed that you have sent me.

9 It is for them that I pray. I do not pray for the world, but for those whom you have given me. For they are yours.

10 And what is mine is yours, and what is yours is mine, and I am glorified in them.

11 I am no longer in the world, and I am coming to you, but my disciples are in the world. Holy Father, keep in your name those whom you have given me, so that they may be one as we are.

12 While I was with them in the world, I kept them in your name. I have kept those whom you have given me, and not one of them has been lost except the son of perdition, so that the scripture might be fulfilled.

13 And now I come to you, and I speak these things in the world so that they may have my perfect joy in themselves.

14 I have given them your word, and the world has hated them. This happened because they are not of the world, just as I am not of the world.

15 I am not asking you to take them out of the world, but that you keep them from the evil one.

16 They are not of the world, just as I am not of the world.

17 Sanctify them by your truth. Your word is truth.

18 As you have sent me into the world, so I have also sent them into the world.

19 And for their sakes I sanctify myself, so that they too may be sanctified by the truth.

20 I do not pray only for these disciples who are here with me, but also for those who will believe in me through their word.

21 So that they all may be one, as you, Father, are in me, and I in you. So that they also may be one in us, so that the world may believe that you have sent me.

22 I have given them the glory that you have given me, so that they may be one as we are one. [That is to say, soon they will know you as I know you.]

23 I in them, and you in me, so that they may be brought to perfection into one, so that the world may know that you have sent me and have loved them just as you have loved me.

24 Father, I want those whom you have given me to be with me where I am [that is to say, where I am going], so that they may see my glory which you have given me. For you have loved me before the foundation of the world.

25 O righteous Father, the world has not known you, but I have known you and my disciples have known that you have sent me. [And this is how the perfect knowledge of God spreads throughout the world. The one who gains accurate knowledge of the Father is the one who believes that it was the Father who sent Jesus Christ, and this belief comes from understanding the message that was taught by Jesus. The inhabitants of the town of the Samaritan woman had believed with simplicity simply by hearing Jesus speak, by understanding what he was asking them to do to worship the one true God.]

26 I have declared your name to them, and will declare it, so that the love with which you have loved me may be in them, and I in them.

John 18

1 When Jesus had spoken those words, he went with his disciples to the other side of the valley Kidron, where there was a garden into which he entered with his disciples.

2 And Judas, the one who was to betray him, knew that place. For Jesus and his disciples had often assembled there.

3 And Judas led there a group of Roman soldiers and of some officers [of the temple] sent by the chief priests and Pharisees, and they came there with lanterns, and torches, and weapons.

4 Then Jesus, knowing all the things that should happen to him, came forward and said to them: Whom are you looking for.

5 And they answered him by saying, 'Jesus of Nazareth'. And Jesus said to them, 'I am he'. And Judas, the one who was betraying Jesus, was standing among them.

6 And when Jesus said to them, 'I am he', they stepped back and fell to the ground.

7 Then he asked them again, 'Whom are you looking for'. And they said, 'Jesus of Nazareth'.

8 And Jesus answered: I have told you that I am he. So if you are looking for me, then let these go their way.

9 Now Jesus said this thing so that the following word that he had spoken might be fulfilled: I have lost none of those whom you have given me.

10 Then Simon Peter, having a sword, drew it and smote the servant of the high priest, and cut off his right ear. The name of that servant was Malchus.

11 Then Jesus said to Peter: Put your sword back into its sheath. Will I not drink the cup that the Father has given me to drink.

12 Then the soldiers with their captain and the Jewish guards seized Jesus, and bound him.

13 And they led him first to Annas. For he was the father in law of Caiaphas who was high priest that year.

14 And Caiaphas was the one who had counseled the Jews by saying: It is expedient that one man should die for the people.

15 And Simon Peter had followed Jesus, and so had done another disciple. Now that disciple was known to the high priest, and he entered with Jesus into the courtyard of the high priest.

16 But Peter remained outside near the door. Then the other disciple, who was known to the high priest, went out and spoke to her who was the gatekeeper, and brought Peter inside.

17 Then the damsel who was the gatekeeper said to Peter, 'Are you not also one of the disciples of that man'. And Peter said, 'I am not'.

18 And the servants and the officers who were standing there had made a fire of coals, because it was cold. And they were warming themselves, and Peter stood with them and was warming himself.

19 And the high priest questioned Jesus about his disciples and his doctrine.

20 And Jesus answered him: I have spoken openly to the world. I have always taught in the synagogue, and in the temple, where all the Jews come together continually, and I have said nothing in secret.

21 Why do you question me. Ask those who have heard me what I have said to them. For behold, they know what I have said.

22 And when Jesus had said those words, one of the officers who was there smote he with the palm of his hand and said: Is that how you answer the high priest.

23 And Jesus said to him: If I have spoken evil, then show me what evil I have spoken. But if I have spoken well, then why have you smitten me.

24 So Annas had sent him bound to Caiaphas the high priest. [Now there are many chief priests, but only one high priest. The chief priests may enter the holy place of the temple in turn to burn incense before God, as the gospel according to Luke made known concerning Zechariah the father of John the Baptist, but the law of Moses commands that the high priest is the only one who must enter the most holy place of the temple once a year to meet God above the ark of the covenant of God, despite the fact that there may be among the people prophets to whom God speaks at any time. Now the ark of the covenant of God no longer exists since the time when the people returned from the Babylonian captivity and rebuilt the temple of God, but the function of high priest retains a meaning because he is also the one who must have the last word in the controversies which arise among the people, and his power is diminished by the fact that the children of Israel live within the Roman Empire.]

25 And Simon Peter was standing there and was warming himself. And they said to him, 'Are you not also one of his disciples', And he denied it and said, 'I am not'.

26 And one of the servants of the high priest, a relative of the one whose ear Peter had cut off, said: Have I not seen you with him in the garden.

27 And Peter denied it again, and immediately a rooster crowed.

28 Then they led Jesus from Caiaphas into the Praetorium [which is the residence of the Roman authority who had legal power to judge the inhabitants of that region]. It was early in the morning. And they themselves did not enter the Praetorium, so as not to defile themselves and to be able to eat the Passover [or more precisely the meal of the Feast of Unleavened Bread].

29 And Pilate went out to them and said: What accusation do you bring against this man.

30 And they answered and said to him: If this man were not a malefactor, then we would not have delivered him to you.

31 Then Pilate said to them, 'Take him, and judge him according to your law'. And the Jews said to Pilate, 'It is not lawful for us to put anyone to death'.

32 Now this was to fulfill the word that Jesus had spoken, concerning how he was going to die. [For in the gospel according to Luke, which is a story known to the author of this gospel according to John, when Jesus was making his last journey to Jerusalem, he said to his twelve disciples: He will be delivered to the Gentiles, and they will mock him, and insult him, and spit on him. And after having whipped him, they will put him to death.]

33 Then Pilate entered the Praetorium again, and called Jesus, and said to him: Are you the king of the Jews.

34 And Jesus answered him: Are you saying this thing on your own, or have others told it to you about me.

35 And Pilate said: Am I a Jew. Your own nation and the chief priests have delivered you to me. What have you done.

36 And Jesus said to him: My kingdom is not of this world. If my kingdom were of this world, then my servants would have fought for me and I would not have been delivered to the Jews. But now my kingdom is not from here.

37 Then Pilate said to him, 'Are you a king then'. And Jesus answered: You are right to say that I am a king. I was born for this reason, I have come into the world to bear witness to the truth. Whoever is of the truth listens to my voice.

38 And Pilate said to him, 'What is the definition of truth'. And when he had said this, he went out again to the Jews, and said to them, 'I find no crime in him'.

39 And now, it is a custom among you that I release someone to you at the Passover feast. Do you want me to release the king of the Jews to you.

40 Then they all cried out again by saying, 'Not this man, but Barabbas'. Now Barabbas was a murderer.

John 19

1 Then Pilate took Jesus and caused him to be whipped.

2 And the soldiers plaited a crown of thorns, and put it on his head, and clothed him with a purple coat.

3 And they said to him, 'Hail, King of the Jews'. And they smote him with their hands.

4 Then Pilate went out again and said to the Jews: Behold I bring him out to you, so that you may know that I find no crime in him.

5 So Jesus came out, wearing a crown of thorns and a purple coat. And Pilate said to them: Behold the man.

6 And when the chief priests and the officers saw him, they cried out, 'Crucify him, Crucify him'. And Pilate said to them, 'Take him yourselves and crucify him. For I find no crime in him'.

7 Then the Jews answered him: We have a law, and according to our law he ought to die, because he made himself the Son of God.

8 And when Pilate heard this, he was more afraid.

9 And he went back into the Praetorium [with Jesus] and said to Jesus, 'Where are you from'. But Jesus gave him no answer.

10 Then Pilate said to him: You refuse to talk to me. Do you not know that I have authority to crucify you and that I have authority to release you.

11 And Jesus answered him: You would have no authority over me if it had not been given you from above. Therefore he who delivers me to you has a greater sin.

12 From that moment on, Pilate sought to release him. But the Jews cried out by saying: If you release him, then you are not a friend of Caesar. Whoever makes himself a king speaks against Caesar. [Now Caesar is the king of the Roman Empire who subjugated several territories to his authority, including the land that the God of Moses promised to the Jews, and Pilate is an officer of the Roman Empire.]

13 And when Pilate heard those words, he brought Jesus out and sat down on the judgment seat at the place called the Pavement, which in Hebrew is called Gabbatha.

14 It was the time of the preparation of the Passover [or more precisely the meal of the Feast of Unleavened Bread, for the next day was a sabbath day], and it was about the sixth hour. And Pilate said to the Jews: Behold your king.

15 But they cried out, 'Away with him, away with him, crucify him'. And Pilate said to them, 'Will I crucify your king'. And the chief priests answered, 'We have no king but Caesar'.

16 Then Pilate delivered him to them, to be crucified. And they took Jesus and led him away.

17 And he bore his own cross, and came to the place called The place of a skull, which in Hebrew is called Golgotha.

18 And they crucified him there, and two others with him, one on each side and Jesus in the middle.

19 And Pilate wrote an inscription and put it on the cross, and it was written: JESUS OF NAZARETH THE KING OF THE JEWS.

20 Many of the Jews read this inscription, because the place where Jesus was crucified was near the city. And it was in Hebrew, and in Greek, and in Latin.

21 Then the chief priests of the Jews said to Pilate: Do not write, 'The King of the Jews', but write that he has said, 'I am King of the Jews'.

22 And Pilate answered: What I have written, I have written.

23 And the soldiers, after they had crucified Jesus, took his garments and divided them into four parts, one for each soldier.

24 They also took his tunic which was seamless, woven from top to bottom. And they said to one another, 'Let us not tear it, but cast lots for it, whose it will be'. This happened so that the following scripture might be fulfilled, 'They divided my garments among them, and for my tunic they cast lots'. Therefore the soldiers did these things.

25 Now near the cross of Jesus there were standing his mother and his mother's sister, and Mary the wife of Clopas, and Mary Magdalene.

26 And when Jesus saw his mother, and the disciple whom he loved standing near, he said to his mother: Woman, behold your son.

27 Then he said to that disciple, 'Behold your mother'. And the disciple took her into his home from that time on.

28 After this, Jesus knew that all things had been accomplished, and he said in order to fulfill the scripture: I thirst.

29 And there was a jar full of vinegar there. And the soldiers filled a sponge with vinegar, and put it on a hyssop branch, and brought it to his mouth.

30 And when Jesus had received the vinegar, he said, 'It is finished'. Then he bowed his head, and breathed his last breath.

31 It was a preparation day, and the Jews did not want the bodies to remain on the crosses on the sabbath. For that sabbath was a high day. So they asked Pilate to have the legs broken and the bodies be taken down from the crosses.

32 Then the soldiers came and broke the legs of the first, and then of the other who had been crucified with Jesus.

33 And when they came to Jesus, and saw that he was already dead, they did not break his legs.

34 But one of the soldiers pierced his side with a spear, and immediately blood and water came out.

35 He who saw it has borne witness, and his testimony is true. And he knows that he speaks the truth, so that you may also believe.

36 These things happened so that the following scripture might be fulfilled: None of his bones will be broken.

37 And another scripture says: They will look on him whom they pierced.

38 After those things came Joseph of Arimathea. He was a disciple of Jesus, but secretly for fear of the Jews, and he asked Pilate for permission to take the body of Jesus. And Pilate gave permission. So he came and took the body of Jesus.

39 And there came also Nicodemus, the one who had come to Jesus and talked to him at night, and he brought about a weight of one hundred pounds of a mixture of myrrh and aloes.

40 And they took the body of Jesus, and wrapped it in linen cloths with the spices, as it is the custom of Jews to bury.

41 Now there was a garden in the place where Jesus had been crucified, and in that garden there was a new tomb where no one had yet been laid.

42 And they laid Jesus there, because of the preparation day of the Jews. For the tomb was nearby.

John 20

1 On the first day of the week, Mary Magdalene came to the tomb early in the morning, while it was still dark. And she saw that the stone had been taken away from [the opening of] the tomb.

2 Then she ran and came to Simon Peter, and to the other disciple whom Jesus loved, and said to them: They have taken away the Lord out of the tomb, and we do not know where they have laid him.

3 Therefore Peter and that other disciple went forth, and they came to the tomb.

4 They were both running together, but the other disciple ran faster than Peter and reached the tomb first.

5 And he stooped at the opening of the tomb, and saw the linen clothes lying there, but did not go in.

6 Then came Simon Peter, who was following the other disciple.

7 And Peter went into the tomb, and saw the linen cloths lying there. And he saw that the towel that had been placed on the head of Jesus was not with the linen clothes, but folded in a place by itself.

8 Then the other disciple who was the first to reach the tomb also entered, and he saw, and he believed.

9 For they did not yet understand that according to the scriptures, Jesus must rise from the dead.

10 Then the disciples returned to their own home.

11 But Mary was standing outside the tomb and was weeping.

12 And while she was weeping, she stooped down to look into the tomb. And she saw two angels in white sitting where the body of Jesus had been laid, one at the head and the other at the feet.

13 And they said to her, 'Woman, why are you weeping'. And she said to them, 'Because they have taken away my Lord, and I do not know where they have laid him'.

14 And when she had spoken thus, she turned around and saw Jesus standing there, but she did not know that it was Jesus.

15 And Jesus said to her, 'Woman, why are you weeping. Whom are you looking for'. And she was supposing that it was the gardener, and she said to him, 'Sir, if you have carried him away, then tell me where you have laid him, and I will take him away'.

16 Then Jesus said to her, 'Mary'. And she turned around, and said to him, 'Rabboni', which means Master.

17 And Jesus said to her: Do not touch me, for I have not yet ascended to my Father. But go to my brothers and tell them that I am ascending to my Father and your Father, to my God and your God.

18 And Mary Magdalene went and told the disciples that she had seen the Lord, and that he had said these things to her.

19 And the disciples assembled on that same day at evening, on the first day of the week, and they shut the doors for fear of the Jews. Then Jesus came and stood among them, and said to them: Peace be with you.

20 And when he had spoken thus, he showed them his hands and his side. And the disciples were overjoyed when they saw the Lord.

21 Then Jesus said to them again: Peace be with you. As the Father has sent me, so I send you.

22 And when he had spoken thus, he breathed on them and said to them: Receive the Holy Spirit.

23 Those to whom you will forgive sins, they will be forgiven. And those to whom you will not forgive sins, those sins will not be forgiven. [Now Jesus is saying that a person who possesses the Holy Spirit has the power to forgive or not forgive the wrongdoings that others may commit against him, and this choice must be made in the search for the well-being of others in a global way through the message which is transmitted to them and not only in the search for one's personal well-being, and this is something new for his disciples who are Jewish because the law given by Moses specifies something else which did not exist during the days of Abraham and Isaac and Jacob. According to the law of Moses, a priest who is by definition a descendant of Aaron must be present so that there can be forgiveness of the sin that a person has committed by offending another, and the guilty person must offer a guilt offering in addition to the restoration of the wrong committed and the addition to this restoration of the fifth of the value of the wrong committed. And the guilt offerings which are offered in this way are eaten by the priests according to the following scripture: These will be yours from the most holy things which are not completely consumed by fire: all their offerings of all their meal offerings, and of all their sin offerings, and of all their transgress offerings, which they bring to me. These will be most holy to you and to your sons.]

24 But Thomas who was called Didymus, one of the twelve, was not with them when Jesus came.

25 Then the other disciples said to him, 'We have seen the Lord'. But he said to them: Unless I see in his hands the print of the nails, and put my finger into the print of the nails, and put my hand into his side, I will not believe.

26 And after eight days, the disciples of Jesus were again in the house, and Thomas was with them. Then Jesus came when the doors were shut, and he stood in the midst and said: Peace be with you.

27 Then he said to Thomas: Put your finger here, and see my hands, and stretch out your hand and put it into my side. And do not be incredulous, but believe.

28 Then Thomas answered and said to him: My Lord and my God.

29 And Jesus said to him: Thomas, you have believed because you have seen me. Blessed are those who have not seen, and have believed.

30 There are many other signs that Jesus did in the presence of his disciples, and that are not written in this book.

31 But these things have been written so that you may believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that by believing you may have life in his name.

John 21

1 After these things, Jesus appeared again to the disciples at the sea of Tiberias. And here is how he has appeared to them.

2 There were Simon Peter, and Thomas called Didymus, and Nathanael of Cana in Galilee, and the sons of Zebedee, and two others of the disciples of Jesus.

3 Simon Peter had said to them, 'I am going to fish'. And they had said to him, 'We will go with you'. So they went out and got into a boat, and that night they caught nothing.

4 And when morning had come, Jesus was standing on the shore. But the disciples did not know that it was Jesus.

5 And Jesus said to them, 'Children, do you have anything to eat'. And they answered him, 'No'.

6 Then he said to them, 'Throw the net on the right side of the boat, and you will find something'. So they threw it there, and then they could no longer pull it in because of the large number of the fishes that had been caught.

7 Then the disciple whom Jesus loved said to Peter, 'It is the Lord'. And when Simon Peter heard that it was the Lord, he girded on his tunic because he was naked, and he threw himself into the sea.

8 And the other disciples came by the boat, dragging the net full of fishes. For they were only about two hundred cubits from land.

9 When they reached the shore and got out of the boat, they saw a fire of coals there. And there were fish on the fire, and bread.

10 Then Jesus said to them: Bring some of the fishes which you have caught.

11 And Simon Peter got into the boat and dragged the net to land [with the help of other disciples], and there were one hundred and fifty and three fishes. And despite the fact that there were so many [of a certain size], the net was not broken.

12 And Jesus said to them, 'Come and eat'. And none of the disciples dared to ask him, 'Who are you'. For they knew that it was the Lord.

13 Then Jesus came and took the bread, and gave them some, and he also gave them fish.

14 This was now the third time that Jesus had appeared to his disciples since he had risen from the dead. [That is to say, to a group of his eleven apostles.]

15 And after they had eaten, Jesus said to Simon Peter, 'Simon, son of John, do you love me more than these'. And Peter said to him, 'Yes, Lord. You know that I love you'. And Jesus said to him, 'Feed my lambs'.

16 And Jesus said to him a second time, 'Simon, son of John, do you love me'. And Peter said to him, 'Yes, Lord. You know that I love you'. And Jesus said to him, 'Feed my sheep'.

17 And Jesus said to him the third time, 'Simon, son of John, do you love me'. And Peter was saddened because he had said to him the third time, 'Do you love me'. And Peter said to him, 'Lord, you know all things. You know that I love you. And Jesus said to him, 'Feed my sheep'.

18 Truly, truly, I say to you, when you were younger, you girded yourself and walked wherever you wanted. But when you are old, you will stretch out your hands, and another will gird you and carry you wherever you do not want to go.

19 Jesus spoke thus to indicate by what death Peter would glorify God. And when he had spoken thus, he said to Peter, 'Follow me'.

20 And Peter turned around, and saw that the disciple whom Jesus loved was following them. This was the same disciple who had leaned on the chest of Jesus during the supper and had said, 'Lord, who is the one who will betray you'.

21 And when Peter saw that disciple, he said to Jesus: Lord, what will happen to this man.

22 And Jesus said to him: If I want him to remain until I come, why should you care. And now, follow me.

23 Then it spread among the brothers that this disciple would not die. Now Jesus had not said to Peter that this disciple would not die, but Jesus had said: If I want him to remain until I come, why should you care.

24 It is that disciple who bears witness to these things, and wrote these things. And we know that his testimony is true.

25 Now there are many other things that Jesus had done. And if all those other things were written down every one, I doubt whether the world itself could contain the books that would be written.

Acts

Acts 1

1 Dear Theophilus, I have written in my first book about all that Jesus began to do and teach from the beginning.

2 Until the day that he was taken up into the heaven, after he had given orders through the Holy Spirit to the apostles whom he had chosen.

3 For he appeared to them alive after had suffered, and he gave them many proofs of his presence. For he was then seen by them a certain number of times in the space of forty days, and it was always to tell them about the things concerning the kingdom of God.

4 And when they were assembled together with him, he commanded them not to depart from Jerusalem, but to wait for the promise of the Father. And he said, I have tell you about that promise before.

5 For John has baptized with water, but you will be baptized with the Holy Spirit in a few days.

6 Therefore when they had gathered together, they asked of him by saying: Lord, will you restore the kingdom of Israel at that time.

7 And he answered them: It is not for you to know times or seasons that the Father has set by his own authority.

8 But you will receive power when the Holy Spirit has come on you, and you will be my witnesses both in Jerusalem, and in all Judea and Samaria, and to the ends of the earth.

9 And when he had said these things, while they were watching, he has been taken up, and a cloud took him out of their sight.

10 And while they were staring into the sky where he had gone, behold two men in white apparel were standing beside them and said the following thing to them.

11 Men of Galilee, why do you stand here staring into the sky. This Jesus, who has been taken up from you into the heaven, will come in the same way as you saw him go into the heaven.

12 Then they returned to Jerusalem from the mount of Olives which is near Jerusalem, at about a sabbath day's journey away. [Now the sabbath is observed from one sunset to the following sunset.]

13 And when they arrived, they went up into the upper room where they were staying. They were Peter, and John, and James, and Andrew, and Philip, and Thomas, and Bartholomew, and Matthew, and James the son of Alphaeus, and Simon the Zealot, and Judas the son of James.

14 And all of them continued with one accord in prayer, with the women, and Mary the mother of Jesus, and the brothers of Jesus.

15 And in those days, Peter stood up among the disciples, while the number of those who had gathered together was about one hundred and twenty, and he said the following thing.

16 Brothers, it was necessary that the scripture be fulfilled which the Holy Spirit spoke in ancient times through the mouth of David, concerning Judas who has been a guide to those who arrested Jesus.

17 For he was numbered among us, and had received a portion in this ministry. [That is to say, a part of the work that we have to do.]

18 This man, having bought a field with the reward of iniquity, fell down headlong and ruptured in the middle, and all his entrails gushed out.

19 And this became known to all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, insomuch that that field has been called in their language Akeldama, that is to say, The field of blood.

20 For it is written in the book of Psalms: Let his habitation be desolate, and let no one dwell in it, and let another fulfill his work [that is to say, the work that he would have done if he had not turned away from you].

21 Therefore we must choose one of those who have been with us all the time that the Lord Jesus was with us. [Now there have been others persons who followed Jesus to different places, and who might have been among the seventy whom Jesus chose to send out ahead of him to proclaim the coming of the kingdom of God and to heal the sick in different towns where he himself was about to come, and who were in the company that followed him when he walked to Jerusalem for the last time. But Jesus had chosen only twelve disciples to be constantly with him, and they were the only ones whom he sent the first time to go from town to town and heal the sick while announcing the coming of the kingdom of God, and they were the only ones to hear certain words of Jesus and experience certain events with Jesus.]

22 All this time since the baptism of John until the day that he was taken up from us. And the one who is chosen will join us in becoming a witness to the resurrection of Jesus. [Now the scripture that Peter quoted to justify what he was doing simply said that the wicked man who had acted wickedly against the righteous man will be overthrown, and another will accomplish the work that he would have accomplished if he had not turned away from good. But in the meaning of the scripture it cannot be affirmed that it will be a single other person who will replace him in his work, nor that it will be a person different from those who are already accomplishing this same task. But at this precise moment Peter does not yet know the exact identity of the Holy Spirit, and he thinks that Jesus had chosen twelve apostles to be constantly with him because this corresponds to the number of the tribes of Israel when Ephraim and Manasseh are considered as half-tribes. So Peter does what is right in his own eyes, even if he knows that Jesus cannot have chosen his twelve disciples to completely represent the tribes of Israel, since these disciples did not come from all the twelve tribes, since there were the brothers John and James the sons of Zebedee and also the brothers Andrew and Peter.]

23 And they presented two person: Joseph who was called Barsabbas and was surnamed Justus, and Matthias.

24 Then they prayed by saying: Lord, you know the hearts of all men. Show which of these two you have chosen.

25 So that he may have a portion in this ministry and apostleship, from which Judas has turned away to go to his own place.

26 Then they cast lots, and the lot fell on Matthias, and he was numbered with the eleven apostles. [Now there is a scripture that says that when lots are cast to make a decision, any answer obtained in this way always comes from God.]

Acts 2

1 On the day of Pentecost, they were all together in one place.

2 And suddenly there came from heaven a sound which was like a rushing of a mighty wind, and it filled the whole house where they had sat.

3 And there appeared to them tongues that were like tongues of fire, and that were separated one from another, and that came on every one of them.

4 And they were all filled with the Holy Spirit, and began to speak in other languages according to the utterance given to them by the Spirit.

5 Now there were sojourning in Jerusalem devout Jews from every nation under heaven.

6 And when this noise was heard, the multitude gathered together and were astonished because each one heard them speak in his own language.

7 And they were all amazed and marvelled, and they said to one another: Behold, are not all these people who are speaking Galileans.

8 How then is it that we hear them in our own language, each one in our own native tongue.

9 Parthians, and Medes, and Elamites, and the inhabitants of Mesopotamia, and of Judea, and of Cappadocia, and of Pontus, and from Asia.

10 And of Phrygia, and of Pamphylia, and of Egypt, and of the region of Libya near Cyrene, and those who came from Rome, both Jews and proselytes.

11 And Cretans, and Arabians. How is it that we hear them speaking in our own languages about the wonderful works of God.

12 And they were all amazed, and were perplexed, and said to one another: What does this mean.

13 But others mocked and said: They have been filled with a new wine.

14 Then Peter who was standing with the eleven lifted up his voice and said to them: Men of Judaea, and you all who are sojourning in Jerusalem, let this be known to you, and listen to my words.

15 These people are not drunk, as you suppose, for it is the third hour of the day.

16 But it is the fulfilment of the following thing that had been spoken by the prophet Joel.

17 And in the last days, says God, I will pour out my Spirit on all flesh. Your sons and your daughters will prophesy, and your young men will see visions, and your old men will dream dreams.

18 And I will pour out my Spirit on my servants and on my handmaidens in those days, and they will prophesy.

19 And I will show wonders in the sky above and signs on the earth beneath. Blood, and fire, and vapor of smoke.

20 The sun will be turned into darkness, and the moon into blood, before the coming of the great and glorious day of the Lord.

21 Then whoever will call on the name of the Lord will be saved.

22 Men of Israel, hear the following words. Jesus of Nazareth has been a man whom God has approved among you by great works, and wonders, and signs, those things that God has performed through him in your midst, just as you yourselves also know.

23 This man was delivered up by the determined counsel and foreknowledge of God, and you crucified and killed him by the hands of lawless men.

24 And God has raised him from the dead, having freed him from the pains of death, because it was impossible for him to be held by it.

25 For David said concerning him: I have always seen the Lord before my face. For he is at my right hand, so that I may not be shaken.

26 Therefore my heart has rejoiced, and my tongue was glad, and my flesh also will rest in hope.

27 For you will not abandon my soul in the grave, you will not allow your holy one to see corruption.

28 You have made known to me the ways of life, and you will fill me with joy with your presence.

29 Brothers, let me freely say to you about the patriarch David that he is dead and buried, and his tomb is with us to this day.

30 And now he was a prophet, and he knew that God had sworn with an oath to him that he would set the fruit of his intestines on his throne.

31 So he foresaw and spoke of the resurrection of Christ, when he said that his soul would not be left in the grave, his flesh will not see corruption.

32 And God has raised up this Jesus from the dead, we are all witnesses of this fact.

33 He has been exalted to the right hand of God, and has received of the Father the promised Holy Spirit which he has poured out on us, as you see and hear now.

34 For David has not ascended into heaven, but he himself says the following thing.

35 The Lord has said to my Lord: Sit at my right hand, until I make your enemies your footstool.

36 Therefore let all the house of Israel know assuredly that God has made both Lord and Christ this Jesus whom you have crucified, .

37 Now when they heard this, they were pricked in their hearts, and they said to Peter and to the other apostles: Brothers, what should we do. [Now this question makes us understand that the Holy Spirit came only on the apostles on that day, on the eleven apostles who have always been at the side of Jesus and on the twelfth who has just been chosen. The Holy Spirit came into the world through these twelve apostles and was transmitted in two different ways in those days: either by an intentional physical contact such as the laying on of hands, as it will be the case for a new apostle called Paul who absolutely has not known Jesus and will see him in a vision, or by a listening and getting a good understanding of the meaning of the teaching of Jesus of Nazareth which is very well summarized by this word of David that the apostle Peter has just recalled, 'The Lord has said to my Lord: Sit at my right hand, until I make your enemies your footstool'.]

38 And Peter said to them: Repent and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the forgiveness of sins, and you will receive the gift of the Holy Spirit. [Now the name of an entity is not a literal expression but the exact knowledge of its characteristics. One must repent in the name of Jesus Christ for the forgiveness of sins, and baptism in the name of Jesus Christ is simply a kind of public commitment to never offend anyone in a publicly unjustifiable way. This will be seen when Cornelius who is a Gentile will call Peter into his house, and those who will be in that house will receive the Holy Spirit after a speech of Peter, and then Peter will command the Jews who already believe in Jesus to baptize those Gentiles who have already received the Holy Spirit.]

39 For the promise is for you, and for your children, and for all those who are far off, as many as the Lord our God will call.

40 And with many other words he testified and exhorted them, saying: Save yourselves from this perverse generation.

41 And those who accepted his word were baptized, and about three thousand souls were added [to the Church] on that day.

42 And they continued steadfastly in the teaching of the apostles, in fellowship, in the sharing of bread and in prayers.

43 And fear came on every soul, for many wonders and signs were being performed by the apostles.

44 And all those who believed were together, and had everything in common.

45 And they sold their possessions and goods, and divided the proceeds among all, as each had need.

46 And they continued daily with one accord in the temple, sharing bread from house to house, and eating their food with gladness and simplicity of heart.

47 They were praising God and finding favor with all the people, and the Lord added to the church daily those who were being saved.

Acts 3

1 Now Peter and John were going up together to the temple at the hour of prayer, which was the ninth hour.

2 And there was a certain man who was lame from the womb of his mother. He was carried and placed daily at the gate of the temple that was called Beautiful Gate, so that he might ask alms of those who were entering the temple.

3 And when that man saw Peter and John who were about to enter, he asked them for alms.

4 And Peter and John stopped and looked at him earnestly, and Peter said: Look at us.

5 So he looked at them intently, expecting to receive something from them.

6 Then Peter said to him: I have neither silver nor gold, but I give to you what I have. In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, get up and walk.

7 And Peter took him by the right hand, and he lifted him up. And immediately his feet and his ankle bones received strength.

8 And he jumped up and stood up, and began to walk, and he entered the temple with them, walking and leaping, and praising God.

9 And all the people saw him walking and praising God.

10 And they recognized that it was the one who sat at the Beautiful Gate of the temple to ask for alms. And they were filled with astonishment and wonder at what had happened to him.

11 And while the man who had been lame was walking with Peter and John, all the people were greatly amazed and ran to them at the porch which is called Solomon's.

12 And when Peter saw it, he said to the people: Men of Israel, why do you marvel at this thing. Why do you stare at us, as if it was by our own power or piety that we have made this man walk.

13 The God of Abraham, and of Isaac, and of Jacob, the God of our fathers, has glorified his servant Jesus whom you have betrayed and denied before Pilate, when he had determined to release Jesus.

14 You have denied the holy one and the righteous, and have desired the release of a murderer.

15 You have killed the prince of life, and God has raised him from the dead. We are witnesses of these facts.

16 It is by faith in his name that his name has made strong this man whom you see and know. It is the faith [that we have] in him that has given a perfect soundness to this man before you all.

17 And now, brothers, I know that you and your leaders have acted out of ignorance.

18 And God has thus fulfilled what he foretold by the mouth of all his prophets, that his Christ should suffer.

19 Repent therefore and be converted, so that your sins may be wiped out, so that times of refreshing may come from the presence of the Lord.

20 And so that he may send the Christ who has been appointed for you, namely Jesus.

21 Whom the heaven must receive until the time of restoration of all things, the time of which God has spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began.

22 And Moses said: The Lord your God will raise up for you a prophet like me from among your brothers. You will listen to him in all things that he will say to you.

23 And whoever does not listen to that prophet will be destroyed from among the people.

24 All the prophets who have spoken since Samuel have also foretold those days. [Now the mother of Samuel had said: The enemies of God will be destroyed, from heaven he will thunder on them. God will judge the ends of the earth. He will give power to his king and exalt the strength of his anointed.]

25 You are the children of the prophets and of the covenant that God made with our fathers, when he said to Abraham: All the nations of the earth will be blessed in your seed.

26 God has sent his Son Jesus into the world, and has sent him to you first in order to bless you by turning away every one of you from your iniquities.

Acts 4

1 Peter and John were speaking to the people, and then the priests and the captain of [the guards of] the temple and the Sadducees came to them.

2 And they were displeased by the fact that Peter and John were teaching the people and were proclaiming the resurrection from the dead in the name of Jesus.

3 And they laid hands on them, and put them into prison until the next day. For it was already evening.

4 However, many of those who had heard the word believed, and the number of the persons who were believers increased to about five thousand.

5 And on the next day, the leaders of the people and the elders and the scribes gathered together in Jerusalem.

6 And there was Annas the high priest, and Caiaphas, and John, and Alexander, and all those who were of the lineage of the high priests.

7 And when they had placed Peter and John before them, they asked: By what authority, or in whose name, have you done this thing.

8 Then Peter was filled with the Holy Spirit and said to them: Rulers of the people and elders of Israel.

9 Today we are being examined concerning a good deed done to an impotent man, in order to know how he has been healed.

10 Let it be known to all of you, and to all the people of Israel. It is by the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, whom you have crucified and whom God has raised from the dead. It is by him that this man stands here in full health before you.

11 This Jesus is the stone that has been rejected by you the builders, and that has become the head of the corner.

12 For there is salvation in no one else. For there is no other name under the heaven that is given among men and by which we must be saved.

13 And they saw the boldness of Peter and John, and knew that they were unlearned and ignorant men, and then they were amazed. And they recognized that Peter and John were some of those who had been with Jesus.

14 And since the man who had been healed was standing with them, they had nothing to say against it.

15 Then they ordered them to go aside out of the council, and they consulted among themselves.

16 And they said: What will we do to these men. For it is clear to all the inhabitants of Jerusalem that a notable miracle has been performed by them, and we cannot deny it.

17 But in order to prevent this matter from spreading among the people, we are going to order them sternly not to speak to anyone about this name [of Jesus] from now on.

18 Then they called Peter and John, and strictly commanded them not to speak or teach in the name of Jesus.

19 But Peter and John answered them by saying: Judge by yourself whether it is right in the sight of God to obey you rather than to obey God.

20 For we cannot not speak about the [good] things that we have seen and heard.

21 Then the Jewish leaders threatened them again and released them, not knowing how to punish them because of the people. For everyone was glorifying God for what had happened [that is to say, for the miracle that had happened].

22 For the man who had been miraculously healed was over forty years old.

23 And when they had been released, they went to their company [of believers] and reported everything that the chief priests and the elders had said to them.

24 And when they heard it, they lifted up their voices to God with one accord, and [one of them] said: O Lord, you are the God who has made the heaven and the earth, and the sea, and all things that are in them.

25 And you said by the Holy Spirit, through the mouth of our father David, your servant: Why this tumult among the nations. Why do the people imagine vain things.

26 The kings of the earth rise up, and the rulers of the peoples conspire with them against the Lord and against his Christ.

27 And therefore Herod and Pontius Pilate have gathered together in this city with the Gentiles and the peoples of Israel, against your holy servant Jesus whom you have anointed.

28 And they act in this way to accomplish all that your council has foreordained.

29 And now, O Lord, consider their threats and grant your servants the ability to speak your word with all boldness.

30 By stretching forth your hand to enable us to do healings, and signs, and wonders, through the name of your holy servant Jesus.

31 And when they had prayed, the place where they had assembled shook, and they were all filled with the Holy Spirit, and they spoke the word of God with boldness.

32 And the multitude of those who had believed were of one heart and of one soul. No one claimed that any of his possessions was his own, but they had everything in common.

33 And the apostles testified with great power to the resurrection of the Lord Jesus, and a great grace was on them all. [That is to say, God granted to the twelve apostles the gift of performing miracles.]

34 For there was no one among them who was in need. All those who owned fields or houses sold them, and brought the prices of what they had sold.

35 And they laid it at the feet of the apostles, and it was distributed to each one according to his need.

36 And there was a certain Joseph who was called Barnabas by the apostles, which means Son of exhortation. He was a Levite from Cyprus.

37 And he sold a field that he owned and brought the money, and laid it at the feet of the apostles.

Acts 5

1 And a certain man named Ananias, with his wife Sapphira, sold a possession.

2 And he hid a part of the price, with the complicity of his wife. Then he brought the other part of the price and laid it at the feet of the apostles.

3 Then Peter said to him: Ananias, why has Satan filled your heart to lie to the Holy Spirit and to withhold a part of the price of the land.

4 If your possession had not been sold, then would it not have remained your possession. And after your possession had been sold, was the price not at your disposal. So you had the freedom to either keep all this money for yourself, or to let it be known that you wish to keep a part for yourself. How is it that you have conceived this deception in your heart. You have not lied to men, but to God.

5 And when Ananias heard these words, he fell down and died. Then a great fear came on all those who heard these things.

6 And the young men arose and wrapped the dead body of Ananias, and carried him out, and buried him.

7 And about three hours later, his wife came in, not knowing what had happened.

8 And Peter said to her, 'Tell me, have you sold the land for such a price'. And she replied, 'Yes, it was for such a price'.

9 Then Peter said to her: How is it that you have agreed together to test the Spirit of the Lord. Behold those who have buried your husband are standing at the door, and they will carry you out.

10 And she fall down immediately at his feet, and died. And the young men came in, and found her dead, and carried her out, and buried her next to her husband.

11 And a great fear came on the whole Church, and on all those who heard these things.

12 And many signs and wonders were being performed among the people by the hands of the apostles. They were all standing together in Solomon's porch.

13 And none of the other people dared to join himself to the apostles, but they were saying wonderful things about the apostles.

14 And the number of those who believed in the Lord, both men and women, increased more and more.

15 Insomuch that the sick were brought out into the streets and laid on beds and couches, so that when Peter passed by, some of them might be overshadowed by his a part of his shadow.

16 And many people also came together from the cities that are all around Jerusalem, bringing sick people and those tormented by unclean spirits. And all were healed.

17 Then the high priest arose, and all those who were with him and who were of the sect of the Sadducees. For they were filled with jealousy.

18 And they laid hands on the apostles, and threw them into the public prison. [That is to say, they had the apostles arrested.]

19 But an angel of the Lord opened the prison doors during the night, and brought them out, and said to them the following thing.

20 Go and stand in the temple, and speak to the people all the words of this life.

21 And when they heard this, they entered the temple early in the morning and taught. Meanwhile the high priest and those who were with him arrived [at the place of their gathering], and called the council and all the elders of the children of Israel together, and sent to the prison to have the apostles brought.

22 And when the officers arrived, they did not find the apostles in the prison.

23 And they returned and reported it by saying: We have found the prison securely locked, and the guards standing at the doors. But when we have opened the doors, we found no one inside.

24 And when the high priest and captain of the guards of the temple and the chief priests heard those words, they were very perplexed as to how this news would become clearer over time.

25 Then someone came and told them: Behold the men whom you had put in prison are standing in the temple, and are teaching the people.

26 Then the captain went with the officers, and led them out without violence. For they were afraid of being stoned by the people.

27 And when they had brought the apostles before the council, the high priest asked them the followed thing.

28 Have we not strictly commanded you not to speak or teach in that name. And behold, you have filled Jerusalem with your teaching, and thus you intend to bring the blood of that man on us.

29 Then Peter and the apostles answered and said: We must obey God rather than men.

30 The God of our fathers has raised up Jesus, whom you had killed by hanging him on a tree.

31 God has exalted him to his right hand, to be the prince and the savior, to give repentance to Israel and forgiveness of sins.

32 We are witnesses of these things, and so is the Holy Spirit whom God has given to those who obey him [that is to say, those who obey Jesus].

33 Now when the Jewish leaders heard these words, they were prickled in their hearts and they consulted together to kill the apostles.

34 But a Pharisee named Gamaliel, a doctor of the law who was respected by all the people, stood up in the council and commanded to lead the apostles out for a little while.

35 Then he said to Jewish leaders: Men of Israel, take heed to yourselves concerning what you are going to do to these men.

36 For not long ago Theudas arose, claiming to be someone, and about four hundred men joined him. And then he was killed, and all his followers were scattered and brought to nothing.

37 After him, Judas of Galilee arose in the days of the census, and drew away a great multitude after him. He also perished, and all those who had followed him have been scattered.

38 And now I say to you, do not worry about these men and let them go. If their plan and their work is from men, then it will be brought to nothing.

39 But if it is from God, then you will not be able to destroy it. Do not risk having fought against God.

40 And they agreed with him. And they called the apostles, and had them beaten, and commanded them that they should speak no more in the name of Jesus, and released them.

41 And the apostles departed from the presence of the council, rejoicing that they had been found worthy to suffer some dishonor for the name of Jesus.

42 And they continued to teach and to preach Jesus Christ every day, in the temple and in the houses of the people.

Acts 6

1 And in those days, while the number of disciples was increasing, there arose a murmuring of the Grecian Jews against the Hebrews, because their widows were being neglected in the daily distribution.

2 Then the twelve called together the multitude of the disciples and said to them: It is not fitting for us to leave the word of God to supervise those who serve at the table.

3 Therefore, brothers, choose from among you seven men full of the Holy Spirit and of wisdom, who have always had a good reputation, and whom we will appoint to this office.

4 And we will devote ourselves to prayer and to the ministry of the word. [Now this occupation of the apostles is legitimate in the context in which they find themselves. For God has not yet destroyed the unique temple that has been built to bear his name, and the members of the tribe of Levi among whom are the priests receive from the people the tithes of their income and the voluntary offerings in accordance with the commandments given by Moses, and the apostles must make it understood that Jesus is the Christ announced by the prophets to this Jewish population who need to see miracles to believe. And the only thing that Jesus has done is not to worry about the sabbath day, and to give as his sole commandment to want good for others in all that we do. So the apostles want to continue to pray for the strength to continue to perform those miracles that God allowed them to perform in the temple that bears his name, in order to make the population understand that the message of Jesus Christ comes from the God of Moses.]

5 And this proposal pleased the whole multitude. And they chose Stephen, a man full of faith and of the Holy Spirit, and Philip, and Prochorus, and Nicanor, and Timon, and Parmenas, and Nicolaus a proselyte from Antioch.

6 And they presented these chosen men before the apostles, and the apostles prayed and laid their hands on them.

7 And the word of God spread more and more, and the number of the disciples increased greatly in Jerusalem, and a large number of the priests were becoming obedient to the faith. [Now on one of the occasions when Jesus appeared to his disciples before ascending into heaven in their sight, when Thomas was absent in the account of the gospel of John, Jesus breathed on his disciples to give them a higher level of the holy spirit and said to them that they had thus received the power to forgive sins. This means that the disciples of Jesus, including these priests who convert now, know the following thing: If a person offends another person, then the one who has been offended can forgive this offense without involving a priest who is a descendant of Aaron.]

8 Then Stephen was full of grace and power, and was performing great wonders and great signs among the people.

9 But there arose some members of the synagogue which is called the synagogue of Libertines, and of the Cyrenians, and of the Alexandrians, and also some Jews from Cilicia and Asia, and they began to argue with Stephen.

10 But they were not able to withstand the wisdom and the spirit by which Stephen was speaking.

11 Then they suborned men who said: We have heard him speak blasphemous words against Moses and against God.

12 And they stirred up the people, and the elders, and the scribes. Therefore some people run to Stephen, and seized him, and brought him into the council.

13 And they brought false witnesses who said: This man ceases not to speak against this holy place and the law [given by Moses].

14 For we have heard him say that this Nazarene Jesus will destroy this place, and will change the customs that Moses gave us. [Now Stephen cannot have said that it is the disciples of Jesus who will destroy the temple which is the only place in which Moses asked to burn incense in honor of God. For the message of Jesus is that one must love one's neighbor as oneself, in other words one must do nothing in a publicly unjustifiable way and one must seek the good of others in everything that is done. And indeed, the angels previously asked the apostles to go and teach the message of Jesus in the temple of the God of Moses who is also the God of Jesus, and no one yet knows when and how will be destroyed this place where the pedagogical laws of Moses are put into practice by the majority of Jews who do not yet believe in the message of Jesus. For the teaching of Jesus is that there is eternal life that is accessible only through faith in his holy commandment, but even the apostles of Jesus do not know the exact definition of eternal life despite the fact that they know the only way to access it. That is why the disciples of Jesus do not intend to destroy the temple built to serve God through the commands given by Moses, but rather to explain this message to all the Jews and gradually convince them. And the temple will be destroyed by the Romans because of a revolt of the part of the Jews who have refused to believe in Jesus Christ and to teach his message to their children, and this is similar to the fact that the first Jewish temple built by Solomon had been destroyed by Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon after a revolt of Zedekiah the last king of Judah.]

15 And all those who had sat in the council looked at Stephen fixedly, and they saw that his face was like the face of an angel.

Acts 7

1 Then the high priest said: Are these things so.

2 And Stephen answered and said: Brothers and fathers, listen. The God of glory appeared to our father Abraham when he was in Mesopotamia, before he dwelt in Haran. [There was no concept of a house of the Lord at that time.]

3 And God said to him: Leave your country and your kindred, and go to the land that I will show you.

4 Then he went out of the land of the Chaldeans, and dwelt in Haran. And from there, after the death of his father, God brought him to this land where you now dwell.

5 And God gave him no inheritance in this land, not even enough to set foot on, but God promised to give it for a possession to him and his seed after him, even though he had no children.

6 And God spoke and said that his seed will sojourn in a foreign land, and they will be brought into bondage and mistreated for four hundred years.

7 But I will judge the nation to which they will have been enslaved, says God. And after that, they will go out and serve me in this place.

8 And God gave Abraham the covenant of circumcision. And so Abraham begat Isaac, and circumcised him on the eighth day. And Isaac begat Jacob, and Jacob begat the twelve patriarchs.

9 And the patriarchs, jealous of Joseph, sold him into Egypt.

10 But God was with him, and delivered him from all his afflictions, and gave him wisdom and favor in the sight of Pharaoh king of Egypt. And Pharaoh made him governor over Egypt and over all his house.

11 Then a famine came over all the land of Egypt and Canaan, and the distress was great, and our fathers could not find enough to eat.

12 And when Jacob heard that there was grain in Egypt, he sent our fathers there the first time.

13 And at the second time, Joseph was recognized by his brothers, and Pharaoh knew the family of Joseph.

14 Then Joseph sent for his father Jacob, and all his relatives, seventy five souls.

15 And Jacob went down to Egypt, and died there, he and our fathers.

16 And they were carried to Shechem, and laid in the sepulcher that Abraham had bought with money from the sons of Hamor the father of Shechem.

17 And the time drew near for the fulfillment of the promise which God had made to Abraham, and the people increased and multiplied in Egypt.

18 Until another king arose over Egypt, a king who did not know [the story] of Joseph.

19 This king has acted wickedly towards our kind. He has mistreated our fathers, and has caused them to expose their newborn babies whom Pharaoh want to kill.

20 Moses was born at that time. He was beautiful in the sight of God, and was nourished for three months in his father's house.

21 And when he was exposed, the daughter of Pharaoh took him and raised him as her own son.

22 And Moses was instructed in all the wisdom of the Egyptians, and he was mighty in words and in deeds.

23 And he was forty years old when the desire to visit his brothers the children of Israel came into his heart.

24 And when he saw one of them being mistreated, he defended him, and avenged the one who was being mistreated by smiting the Egyptian.

25 And he thought that his brothers would understand that God was granting them deliverance by his hand, but they did not understand.

26 And the next day, he came among them and saw that some of them were fighting. And he exhorted them to peace by saying: Sirs, you are brothers. Why do you mistreat one another.

27 But the one who was doing wrong to his neighbor pushed Moses away, and said: Who made you a ruler and a judge over us.

28 Do you intend to kill me like you have killed the Egyptian yesterday.

29 Then Moses fled because of those words, and he went to live in the land of Midian where he begat two sons.

30 And forty years later, an angel appeared to him in the wilderness of mount Sinai, in a flame of fire of a burning bush. [There was no concept of a house of the Lord at that time.]

31 And when Moses saw this, he was amazed at the sight. And as he drew near to examine it, the voice of the Lord came to him in the following words.

32 I am the God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, and of Isaac, and of Jacob. And Moses was trembling, and did not dare to look at the bush.

33 Then the Lord said to him: Take off your shoes from your feet. For the place where you stand is a holy ground.

34 I have seen the affliction of my people who are in Egypt. I have heard their groaning, and I have come down to rescue them. And now come, I will send you to Egypt.

35 It was that Moses whom they had disowned by saying, 'Who has made you a ruler and a judge'. God sent him to be both a ruler and deliverer by the hand of the angel who appeared to him in the bush.

36 And he brought them out of Egypt by performing signs and wonders in the land of Egypt, and in the red sea, and in the wilderness during forty years.

37 It is that Moses who said to the children of Israel: God will raise up for you a prophet like me from among your brothers. You will listen to him. [There was already a concept of a house of the Lord at that time, and it had been introduced by Moses.]

38 This is the Moses who led the congregation in the wilderness by the hand of the angel who spoke to him on mount Sinai. He was with our fathers, and he received living oracles to give them to us.

39 But our ancestors did not want to obey Moses. They rejected him and turned back their hearts toward Egypt.

40 For they said to Aaron: Make us gods that we will set before us. For we do not know what has become of this Moses who has brought us out of the land of Egypt.

41 And they made a calf in those days, and offered sacrifice to the idol, and rejoiced in the works of their own hands.

42 Then God turned away from them and delivered them to serve the army of heaven, as it is written in the book of the prophets: Have you offered me sacrifices and offerings during the forty years in the wilderness, O house of Israel.

43 You have carried the tent of Moloch and the star of the god Rephan, the images which you have made to worship them. Therefore I will carry you away beyond Babylon.

44 Our fathers had the tabernacle of testimony in the wilderness, as the one who was speaking to Moses had commanded him to make it according to the pattern that he had seen.

45 And our fathers, having received that tabernacle of testimony, brought it under the leadership of Joshua into promised land which was possessed by the nations whom God drove out at that time before our fathers. And it was used there until the days of David.

46 And David found favor in the sight of God, and desired to build a dwelling place for the God of Jacob.

47 And it was Solomon who built him a house.

48 But the Most High does not dwell in houses built by human hands, as the prophet has said the following thing.

49 The heaven is my throne, and the earth is my footstool. What house will you build for me, says the Lord. Or what is the place of my rest.

50 Has not my hand made all these things.

51 O stiffnecked people, uncircumcised in heart and ears, you always resist the Holy Spirit. As your fathers did, so you do. [Says Stephen]

52 Which of the prophets had not been persecuted by your fathers. They killed those who foretold the coming of the righteous one, whom you have now betrayed and murdered.

53 You who have received the law from the mouths of angels [through Moses], and have not kept it.

54 And when those who were in the council heard all these words of Stephen, they were furious in their hearts and they gnashed their teeth at him.

55 But Stephen was full of the Holy Spirit, and then he looked fixedly at the sky. And he saw the glory of God, and Jesus standing at the right hand of God.

56 And he said: Behold I see the heavens opened, and the Son of man standing at the right hand of God.

57 Then they shouted with a loud voice, and covered their ears with their hands, and hasten to run towards him to silence him, all of them at once.

58 And they dragged him out of the city, and stoned him. And those who had given false testimony against Stephen to have him arrested laid down their coats at the feet of a young man named Saul.

59 And they stoned Stephen who was praying to God and saying: Lord Jesus, receive my spirit.

60 And he fell on his knees and cried out with a loud voice: Lord, forgive them this sin [because they do not know what they are doing]. And when he had said this, he fell asleep.

Acts 8

1 So Saul had approved the murder of Stephen [but he did not know that the witnesses who had laid their clothes at his feet before stoning Stephen had given false testimonies]. On that day there arose a great persecution against the Church in Jerusalem, and all the disciples were scattered throughout the regions of Judea and Samaria, except the apostles.

2 And certain men who feared God buried Stephen, and made a great lamentation over him.

3 And Saul was ravaging the church, entering every house and dragging out men and women to put them into prison.

4 But the disciples who succeeded to escape from Jerusalem were preaching the word wherever they went.

5 Then Philip went down to the city of Samaria, and preached Christ there.

6 And the people were paying attention to what Philip was saying, because they heard his words and saw the miracles that he was performing.

7 For unclean spirits were coming out of many who were possessed with demons, crying out with a loud voice, and many who were paralyzed and lame were healed.

8 And there was a great joy in that city.

9 Now there was in that city a certain man named Simon who claimed to be a person of great importance. He used to practice sorcery and amaze the people of Samaria before the arrival of Philip.

10 And all the people, from the least to the greatest, was listening to him and was saying: God has given to this man the power that is called the great power.

11 And they listened attentively to him because he had been astonishing them for a long time with his sorceries. [Now it is not said what was the exact message that he was teaching to the people, and it is possible that he was simply trying to earn money to live. It is not said that he incited the people to disbelieve in the law given by Moses.]

12 But when they believed in the message of Philip who was preaching the good news of the kingdom of God and the name of Jesus Christ, then both men and women were baptized.

13 And Simon himself believed and was baptized. And he was staying with Philip, and was amazed at the signs and great miracles that were being performed.

14 Now when the apostles who were in Jerusalem heard that Samaria had received the word of God, then they sent Peter and John there.

15 When they arrived there, they prayed for them so that they might receive the Holy Spirit. [That is to say, so that they might receive a good level of understanding of the message of Jesus but not necessarily the highest level.]

16 For it had not yet fallen on any of them, and they had only been baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus.

17 Then Peter and John laid their hands on them, and they received the Holy Spirit.

18 And when Simon saw that the Holy Spirit was given through the laying on of the hands of the apostles, he offered them money and said the following thing to them.

19 Give me also this power, so that whoever I lay my hands on may receive the Holy Spirit.

20 Then Peter said to him: May your money perish with you, because you have thought that the gift of God can be purchased with money.

21 You have neither part nor fellowship in this matter. For your heart is not right before God.

22 Repent therefore of this wickedness, and pray to the Lord so that the thought of your heart may be forgiven you if possible.

23 For I see that you are in the gall of bitterness and in the bonds of iniquity.

24 And Simon answered and said: Pray to the Lord for me, so that nothing of what you have spoken may happen to me.

25 Now when they had testified to the word of the Lord and preached it, Peter and John returned to Jerusalem. And they were preaching the gospel in several Samaritan villages that were on their way back to Jerusalem.

26 And an angel of the Lord spoke to Philip and said: Arise and go toward the south to the deserted road that goes down from Jerusalem to Gaza.

27 And Philip arose and went. And behold, there was a certain man of Ethiopia, an eunuch who had a great authority under Candace queen of the Ethiopians and was overseer of all her treasure. He had come to Jerusalem to worship.

28 He had sat in his chariot and was returning, and was reading the book of the prophet Isaiah.

29 Then the Spirit said to Philip: Go ahead and approach this chariot.

30 And Philip ran to come there, and heard the Ethiopian reading the prophet Isaiah. And Philip said to him: Do you understand what you are reading.

31 And he answered and said, 'How can I, unless someone guides me'. And he invited Philip to come up and sit with him.

32 The passage of the Scripture that he was reading was this: He was led like a sheep to the slaughter. And as a lamb is silent before his shearer, so he did not open his mouth.

33 His judgment was taken away in his humiliation. But who can declare his generation. For his life has been cut off from the earth.

34 Then the eunuch said to Philip: I pray you, of whom does the prophet speak these things. Is it of himself, or of some other.

35 Then Philip opened his mouth, and began with this passage, and preached to him the gospel of Jesus.

36 And as they continued on the way, they came to a certain place where was some water. And the eunuch said, 'Here is water. What prevents me from being baptized'.

37 And Philip said, 'If you believe with all your heart, then it is possible'. And the eunuch answered and said, 'I believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God'.

38 Then he commanded the chariot to stop. And Philip and the eunuch both went down into the water, and Philip baptized the eunuch.

39 And when they came up out of the water, the Spirit of the Lord snatched Philip away, and the eunuch saw him no more. And the eunuch continued on his way rejoicing.

40 And Philip found himself at Azotus, and from there he preached the gospel in every town through which he passed until he came to Caesarea.

Acts 9

1 And Saul was in Jerusalem, and he was still overwhelmed by the desire to threaten the disciples of the Lord with death.

2 And he went to the high priest to ask him for letters for the synagogues in Damascus, so that if he found any disciple of the new teaching, men or women, then he might bring them bound to Jerusalem.

3 And as he was on his way and was getting closer to Damascus, suddenly a light from heaven shone around him.

4 And he fell to the ground and heard a voice saying to him: Saul, Saul, why are you persecuting me.

5 And he answered, 'Who are you, Lord'. And the Lord said, 'I am Jesus whom you are persecuting. It would be hard for you to push against the prickles'.

6 And Saul was trembling and was astonished, and he said, 'Lord, what do you want me to do'. And the Lord said to him, 'Get up and go into the city, and you will be told what you must do'.

7 And the men who were with Saul were amazed. They heard the voice, but saw no one.

8 And Saul got up from the ground. And although his eyes were opened, he could see nothing. Then they took him by the hand, and brought him to Damascus.

9 And he remained blind for three days, and he neither ate nor drank.

10 Now there was a certain disciple in Damascus whose name was Ananias. And the Lord said to him in a vision, 'Ananias'. And he replied, 'I am here, Lord'.

11 And the Lord said to him: Arise and go to the street called which is called Straight, and look in the house of Judas for one named Saul of Tarsus.

12 For behold, he was praying, and he saw in a vision a man named Ananias coming in and laying his hands on him so that he might receive his sight.

13 Then Ananias answered: Lord, I have heard from many people how much harm this man has done to your saints in Jerusalem.

14 And here he has authority from the chief priests to bind all those who call on your name.

15 And the Lord said to him: Go unto him. For this man is an instrument whom I have chosen to bear my name before the Gentiles, and the kings, and the children of Israel.

16 And I will show him how much he must suffer for the sake of my name.

17 And Ananias departed, and he came into the house, and he laid his hands on Saul and said: Brother Saul, the Lord Jesus who appeared to you on the road while you was coming has sent me so that you may regain your sight and be filled with the Holy Spirit.

18 And immediately something like fish scales fell from his eyes, and he regained his sight. And he got up, and was baptized.

19 And he took food and was strengthened. And he stayed some days with the disciples of Jesus who were in Damascus.

20 And immediately he preached in the synagogues that Jesus is the Son of God.

21 And all those who heard him were amazed, and said: Is not this the same man who persecuted those who called on this name in Jerusalem. And had he not come here to bring them bound before the chief priests.

22 But Saul grew more and more in strength, and confounded the Jews who dwelt in Damascus, demonstrating that Jesus is the Christ.

23 After many days were fulfilled, the Jews agreed to kill him.

24 But their plot became known to Saul. Then they watched the gates day and night in order to kill him.

25 But one night the disciples took him, and put him through the wall, and let him down in a basket by a rope.

26 And when Saul came to Jerusalem, he tried to join the disciples [of Jesus]. But they were all afraid of him, not believing that he was a disciple.

27 Then Barnabas took Saul and brought him to the apostles. And he told them how on the road Saul had seen the Lord who spoke to him at that time, and how in Damascus he had preached boldly in the name of Jesus.

28 Then Saul stayed with the disciples [of Jesus], and went from place to place in Jerusalem to speak boldly in the name of the Lord.

29 And he spoke and disputed with the Grecian Jews, but they were seeking to kill him.

30 And when the brothers knew it, they brought him to Caesarea and from there they sent him to the city of Tarsus.

31 Then the church enjoyed peace throughout all Judea, and Galilee, and Samaria. They were edified and walked in the fear of the Lord, and increased in number through the Holy Spirit.

32 And it happened that Peter was visiting all the saints, and he also went down to those who were living in Lydda.

33 And there he found a man named Aeneas, who had been lying on a bed for eight years because he was paralyzed.

34 And Peter said to him, 'Aeneas, Jesus Christ heals you. Get up and make your bed'. And he stood up immediately.

35 And all the people of Lydda and Sharon saw him, and turned to the Lord.

36 Now there was a woman in Joppa named Tabitha, a name which means Dorcas. She was a disciple, full of good works and giving a lot of alms.

37 She became ill at that time and died. And they washed her, and laid her in an upper room.

38 Now Lydda was near Joppa, and the disciples heard that Peter was there, and they sent two men to him, urging him to come to them immediately.

39 And Peter got up and went with the them. And when he arrived, they took him to the upper room. And all the widows surrounded him, weeping and showing the coats and garments that Dorcas had been making while she was with them.

40 And Peter put everyone out, and knelt down, and prayed. Then he turned toward the body, and said, 'Tabitha, get up'. And she opened her eyes, and saw Peter, and sat up.

41 And he gave her his hand, and lifted her up. Then he called the saints and the widows, and presented her alive to them.

42 This thing became known throughout all Joppa, and many believed in the Lord.

Acts 10

1 Now there was a man in Caesarea named Cornelius, a centurion of the a Roman army in the regiment that was called the Italian.

2 He was a religious man, and feared God with all his household. He used to give a lot of alms to the people and he prayed to God continually. [Now this man reminds us of Job and Balaam who lived in ancient times and who did not belong to the descendants of Abraham. For they each believed in the existence of a God of the concept of justice, but each had his own way of seeking a personal relationship with that God, and they acted only by faith as Noah and Abraham had done since no other people received a divine law like that which Moses transmitted to the children of Jacob. And it is Jesus Christ who has made known the exact identity of God and his unique commandment which is the same for everyone without distinction of genealogies.]

3 Now it was about the ninth hour of the day, and he clearly saw in a vision an angel of God who came to him and said to him, 'Cornelius'.

4 And Cornelius looked at him and was afraid, and said, 'What is it, Lord'. And the angel said to him, 'Your prayers and your alms have come up before God, and he has remembered them'.

5 And now, you have to send men to Joppa in order to call for Simon whose surname is Peter.

6 He is staying with a certain Simon, a tanner whose house is near the sea.

7 And when the angel who spoke to him had departed, Cornelius called two of his servants, and a devout soldier from among those who were his attendants.

8 And he told them all things, and sent them to Joppa.

9 And the next day, while they were on the way and were approaching the city, Peter went up to the roof to pray when it was about the sixth hour.

10 Then he was hungry and wanted to eat. And while they were preparing the food for Peter to eat, he fell into a trance.

11 And he saw heaven opened, and something like a large sheet tied at its four corners, descending and lowering to the earth.

12 And on it there were all the four-footed beasts and creeping things of the earth, and the birds of the air.

13 And a voice said to Peter: Rise, Peter. Kill and eat.

14 But Peter said: Not so, Lord. For I have never eaten anything that is polluted or unclean.

15 And the voice spoke to him a second time, 'What God has made clean, do not call it unclean'.

16 And this happened three times. And immediately afterward, the sheet was taken up into heaven.

17 Now while Peter was puzzled about the meaning of the vision that he had seen, the men sent by Cornelius stood at the door after having inquired for the house of Simon.

18 And they asked in a loud voice whether Simon, who is surnamed Peter, was staying there [in the house of the other Simon who is a tanner].

19 And while Peter was pondering the vision, the Spirit said to him: Behold three men seek you.

20 Get up, and go downstairs, and go with them without hesitation. For I have sent them.

21 And Peter went downstairs to the men whom Cornelius had sent to him, and said: Behold I am the one whom you seek. What is the reason why you have come.

22 And they said: Cornelius a centurion, a righteous man and one who fears God, and of whom the whole Jewish nation gives a good report, has been divinely instructed by a holy angel to invite you into his house and hear your words.

23 Then Peter brought them in and lodged them. And the next day Peter got up and went with them, and some of the brothers [the disciple of Jesus] from Joppa accompanied him.

24 And they arrived at Caesarea the next day. And Cornelius was waiting for them, and had invited his kinsmen and close friends.

25 And when Peter entered, Cornelius came to meet him, and fell at his feet, and worshipped him.

26 But Peter raised him up by saying: Get up. For I too am a man.

27 And Peter went inside while he was talking with Cornelius, and he found that many people had gathered together.

28 And he said to them: You know that it is an unlawful thing for a man who is a Jew to join himself with a foreigner in order to share intimate thoughts [with a person who has not been converted to the Jewish faith]. But God has shown me that I should not call any man polluted or unclean [according to a vision that I had recently when your messengers came to look for me].

29 Therefore I have not tried to resist when I have been asked to come here. And now, tell me why you have wanted me to come here. [Now Peter had indeed resisted when he was asked in the vision to eat things that the law of Moses described as unclean, but then he has thought about the meaning of this whole vision and he did not resist when the Spirit asked him to go without hesitation with the persons who came to seek him. And those persons have already told Peter why Cornelius has sent them to him, but the Spirit has not informed Peter in advance of what he should say and therefore Peter assumes that Cornelius must possess additional information that will enlighten him.]

30 Then Cornelius said: Four days ago I was fasting until this hour. And at the ninth hour I was praying in my house, and behold, a man in bright clothing stood before me.

31 And he said to me: Cornelius, your prayer has been heard, and your alms have been remembered by God.

32 Send now to Joppa and call for Simon who is surnamed Peter. He is staying in the house of Simon a tanner who lives by the sea. And when he comes, he will speak to you.

33 And I immediately sent for you, and you have done well to come. Now therefore, we are all standing here before God in order to hear all the things that the Lord has commanded you to tell us.

34 Then Peter opened his mouth and said: Truly I perceive that God does not have respect for the face of a person.

35 For in every nation whoever fears him by acting righteously is acceptable to him.

36 He has sent his teaching to the children of Israel, proclaiming peace by Jesus Christ who is Lord of all.

37 You know what has happened throughout all Judea, and has begun in Galilee, after the baptism that John has preached.

38 You know how God has anointed Jesus of Nazareth with the Holy Spirit and with power. For he went from place to place to do good and to heal all those who were oppressed by the devil, because God was with him.

39 And we are witnesses of all the things he has done in the land of the Jews, and in Jerusalem.

40 They have killed him by hanging him on a tree. And God has raised him up on the third day, and has allowed him to appear to some people.

41 For he has appeared, not to all the people, but to witnesses chosen in advance by God. He came to us who had been his companions, and we have eaten and drunk with him after he had risen from the dead.

42 And he has commanded us to preach to the people, and to testify that he is the one who has been appointed by God to be the judge of the living and of the dead.

43 All [the writings of] the prophets bear witness to the fact that whoever believes in him receives the forgiveness of sins through his name.

44 And while Peter was still speaking these words, the Holy Spirit fell on all those who heard the word.

45 And the circumcised believers [namely the Jews] who had come with Peter [in the house of Cornelius] were amazed, because they see that the gift of the Holy Spirit had been poured out on the Gentiles also.

46 For those Jews who had come there with Peter heard them speak in tongues and glorify God.

47 Then Peter said: Can one of us refuse the water of baptism to those who have received the Holy Spirit as well as we. [Since we see that they form a single community with us, then we can accept that they commit themselves to us to remain attached to our common faith.]

48 And Peter commanded them to be baptized in the name of the Lord [by the Jews who had come there with him]. Then they urged Peter to stay with them for a few days.

Acts 11

1 Now the apostles and the brothers [disciples] who were in Judea heard that the Gentiles had also received the word of God.

2 And when Peter came up to Jerusalem, the circumcised believers [namely the Jews] rebuked him.

3 They said: You have gone inside a house of the uncircumcised [namely the non-Jews] and have eaten with them.

4 Then Peter began to expound the thing in order to them, and said the following thing.

5 I was in the city of Joppa, and while I was praying, I fell into a trance and had a vision. Something like a large sheet tied at its four corners came down from heaven, and came to me.

6 And I looked at it fixedly, and considered it, and I saw the four-footed beasts of the earth, and the wild beasts, and creeping things, and the birds of the air.

7 And I heard a voice saying to me: Rise, Peter. Kill and eat.

8 And I said: Not so, Lord. For nothing polluted or unclean has ever entered my mouth.

9 But the voice answered me the second time out of heaven: What God has cleansed, do not call it unclean.

10 And this happened three times, and everything was taken up into heaven.

11 And behold, immediately there were three men who were standing at the door of the house where I was. They had been sent from Caesarea to me.

12 And the Spirit told me to go with them without hesitation. And these six brothers who are here went with me, and we entered the house of that man.

13 And he told us how he had seen an angel who stood in his house and said to him: Send to Joppa, and call for Simon who is surnamed Peter.

14 He will tell you things by which you and your entire household will be saved.

15 And after I began speaking, the Holy Spirit fell on them just as he had come on us at the beginning.

16 And I remembered the following word of the Lord: John has baptized with water, but you will be baptized with the Holy Spirit.

17 Since God had given them the same gift as he had given to us who have believed in the Lord Jesus Christ, could I then resist God.

18 And when they heard these things, they calmed down and glorified God by saying: So God has granted repentance to the Gentiles also, so that they may have life. [Now it appears here that the Jews are completely ignorant of the exact definition of eternal life and the exact meaning of the words of Jesus who said that the kingdom of God is among us and also that he himself is alive. The only thing that is known by these Jews who are disciples of Jesus is that they must obey the commandment of Jesus in order to have access to the eternal life where Samuel the prophet and Saul the first king of Israel are located. After the death of Samuel his spirit had been invoked by Saul who himself died shortly after that event. So the Jews already know that people are not in the same place in eternal life since Saul cannot be as loved as Samuel the prophet or Jesus the son of God, and now some of them have just understood that the place where the Jews will be in eternal life is not different from the place where the non-Jews will be.]

19 Now the disciples who had been scattered at the time of the persecution that had arisen when Stephen was killed went as far as Phoenicia, and Cyprus, and Antioch, preaching the word only to the Jews.

20 However, among those disciples there were some men of Cyprus and of Cyrene who went to Antioch and spoke to the Greeks also, in order to preach to them the good news of the Lord Jesus.

21 And the hand of the Lord was with them, and a great number of people believed and turned to the Lord.

22 And the report concerning those things came to the ears of the church which was in Jerusalem, and they sent Barnabas to Antioch.

23 And when he came there, he saw the grace of God and was glad. And he urged them all to remain steadfast in the Lord.

24 For he was a good man, full of the Holy Spirit and of faith. And a great number of people joined the Lord.

25 Then Barnabas went to Tarsus to seek Saul.

26 And when he had found him, he brought him to Antioch. And during a whole year they assembled themselves with the church, and taught much people. And it was in Antioch that the disciples were called Christians for the first time.

27 In those days prophets came down from Jerusalem to Antioch.

28 And one of them, whose name was Agabus, stood up and announced by the Spirit that there should be a great famine throughout all the world. And this occurred at the time of the reign of Claudius Caesar.

29 Then the disciples decided to send relief, each according to his ability, to the brothers who dwelt in Judea.

30 And they sent it to the elders by the hand of Barnabas and Saul.

Acts 12

1 In those days, Herod the king began to mistreat some of the church.

2 And he killed James the brother of John with the sword. [That is to say, he ordered to kill him.]

3 And when he saw that it pleased the Jews, then he also arrested Peter. It was during the days of unleavened bread.

4 And when he had seized Peter and thrown him into prison [by the hand of his servants], he put Peter under the guard of four squads, each being made of four soldiers, with the intention of bringing him before the people after the Passover [that is to say, after the days of unleavened bread].

5 So Peter was kept in prison, and the church was praying to God without ceasing for him.

6 And in the last night before the day when Herod should have brought him before the people, Peter was sleeping between two soldiers, bound with two chains, and there were soldiers who were guarding the door of the prison.

7 And behold, an angel of the Lord appeared, and a light shone in the room. And the angel awakened Peter, striking him on the side and saying, 'Get up quickly'. And his chains fell off from his hands.

8 And the angel said to him, 'Gird yourself and put your sandals'. And he did so. Then the angel said to him, 'Put on your coat and follow me'.

9 And Peter went out and followed him, not knowing that this thing which was being done by the angel was real, but thinking that he was seeing a vision.

10 And when they had passed a first and a second guard, they came to the iron gate that leads into the city and it opened to them by itself. And they went out, and went into a street, and immediately the angel departed from Peter.

11 And when Peter came to himself, he said: Now I know for sure that the Lord has sent his angel and has delivered me out of the hand of Herod, and from all the expectation of the people of the Jews [who refuse to believe that Jesus has been sent by the God of Moses].

12 And after thinking about it, Peter went to the house of Mary, the mother of John who is surnamed Mark, where many people had gathered together to pray.

13 And when Peter knocked at the outside door, a maid named Rhoda came to listen.

14 And when she recognized the voice of Peter, she was overwhelmed with such a joy that she did not open the door and ran to tell in the house that Peter was standing at the door.

15 And they said to her, 'You are mad'. But she confidently asserted that it was so. Then they said, 'It is his angel'.

16 And Peter continued to knock. And when they opened the door, they were amazed to see him.

17 And Pierre beckoned to them with his hand to be silent, and told them how the Lord had brought him out of prison. And he said, 'Tell these things to James and the brothers'. Then he departed and went to another place.

18 And when it was day, there was great agitation among the soldiers, as to what had become of Peter.

19 And when Herod sought Peter and found him not, he questioned the guards and ordered them to be put to death. Then he went down from Judea to Caesarea and stayed there.

20 And Herod was very angry with the people from the cities of Tyre and Sidon. But these cities needed food from his country, so a group of them came to ask him for peace. They were able to get Blastus, the king’s personal servant, on their side.

21 And Herod decided on a day to meet with them. On that day he was wearing a beautiful royal apparel, and he sat on his throne, and made an oration to the people.

22 And the people cried out: This is the voice of a god, and not of a man. [And this pleased Herod, and he approved it.]

23 And immediately an angel of the Lord smote him, because he had not given glory to God [and also because of all his other sins]. And he was eaten by worms inside his body, and he died.

24 And the word of God spread more and more, and the number of disciples increased.

25 And Barnabas and Saul, when they had accomplished that for which they had come to Jerusalem, took with them John who was surnamed Mark and returned.

Acts 13

1 Now there were prophets and teachers in the church at Antioch: Barnabas, and Simeon called Niger, and Lucius of Cyrene, and Manaen who had grown up with Herod the tetrarch, and Saul.

2 And while they were ministering to the Lord and fasting, the Holy Spirit said: Separate Barnabas and Saul for me, for the work to which I have called them.

3 And when they finished fasting and praying, they laid their hands on Barnabas and Saul and let them go. [It has already happened before that two apostles have laid their hands on people who had the desire to understand the faith and who had already been baptized, and it was in order to transmit to them through physical contact the Holy Spirit which is the knowledge of faith. Here Paul and Barnabas are two people who already possess the Holy Spirit, and their brothers in the faith have laid their hands on Paul and Barnabas to testify that the Holy Spirit has spoken to them and has asked them to entrust a particular mission to these two people.]

4 So Barnabas and Saul, being sent forth by the Holy Spirit, went to Seleucia. And from there they sailed to the island of Cyprus.

5 And when they arrived at Salamis, they preached the word of God in the synagogues of the Jews. And they had John [who was surnamed Mark] as their helper.

6 And when they had gone through the whole island as far as Paphos, they found a certain sorcerer, a false prophet who was Jew and whose name was Bar-Jesus.

7 He always stayed close to the proconsul Sergius Paulus, a prudent man. And the proconsul summoned Barnabas and Saul, and desired to hear the word of God.

8 But Elymas the sorcerer, this is the interpretation of his name, resisted them and sought to turn the proconsul away from the faith.

9 Then Saul, who is also called Paul, being full of the Holy Spirit, looked at him fixedly and spoke the following words.

10 O man full of all guile and all villainy, son of the devil, enemy of all righteousness. Will you not cease to pervert the straight ways of the Lord.

11 And now, behold the hand of the Lord is on you. You will be blind for a certain time, you will not be able to see the sunlight.

12 And immediately everything became dark for Elymas, and he groped for people to lead him by the hand. And when the proconsul saw what had happened, he believed and was astonished at the doctrine of the Lord.

13 Now Paul and his companions left Paphos by a ship, and they came to Perga in Pamphylia. And John [who was surnamed Mark] left them and returned to Jerusalem.

14 And from Perga they continued their journey and came to Antioch of Pisidia. And they entered the synagogue on the sabbath day, and sat down.

15 And after the reading of the law and the prophets, the rulers of the synagogue sent messages to them by saying: Brothers, if you have any word of exhortation for the people, then speak.

16 Then Paul stood up, and beckoned with his hand, and said: Men of Israel, and you who fear God, listen.

17 The God of this people Israel chose our fathers, and exalted the people when they dwelt in the land of Egypt, and brought them out with a high arm.

18 And for about forty years, he has suffered their manners in the wilderness.

19 And when he had destroyed seven nations in the land of Canaan [by the hand of our fathers], he divided their land to our fathers by lot.

20 And after those things, during a period of about four hundred and fifty years, he gave them judges until Samuel the prophet.

21 Then they asked for a king. And God gave them Saul the son of Kish, a man of the tribe of Benjamin, during twenty years.

22 And when God had removed Saul, he raised up David to be their king and gave this testimony: I have found David the son of Jesse, a man after my heart, who will do all my will.

23 And according to his promise, God has raised up from the seed of David a savior for Israel, namely Jesus.

24 And before his coming, John had preached the baptism of repentance to all the people of Israel. [Now the person who was baptized was committing to no longer willingly and publicly unjustifiably cause any harm to anyone, after having acknowledged to the victims the unjustifiable offenses committed in the past. For the law of the Lord given to Moses indicates that forgiveness for a sin committed by offending someone else is obtained by interacting with the victim to acknowledge the wicked deed that has been done, and the law adds that this must be done in the presence of a priest who is by definition a descendant of Aaron, and John absolutely does not call into question the law of Moses. For what John asks the people is not to seek to do good only according to the quantities prescribed in the law, but to take personal initiatives for well being to others.]

25 And when John was fulfilling his course, he said: I am not the one whom you think that I am. But behold, after me comes one whose shoes I am not worthy to untie.

26 Brothers, children of the generation of Abraham, and you who fear God, it is to us that this message of salvation has been sent.

27 For the inhabitants of Jerusalem and their leaders did not recognize Jesus. They did not recognize the voices of the prophets which are read every sabbath, and which they have fulfilled by condemning him.

28 Even though they found nothing worthy of death in him, they asked Pilate to put him to death.

29 And when they had fulfilled everything written about him, they took him down from the tree and laid him in a tomb.

30 But God raised him from the dead.

31 And he appeared for many days to those who had come up with him from Galilee to Jerusalem, who are now his witnesses to the people.

32 And we declare to you that, concerning the promise made to the fathers, God has fulfilled it for us their children, by raising up Jesus.

33 As it is written in the second Psalm: You are my son, I have begotten you today.

34 And concerning the fact that he had to raise Jesus up from the dead, so that Jesus will not return to corruption, he had declared it by saying: I will give you the holy graces promised to David, the sure graces.

35 Therefore he has said also in another psalm: You will not suffer your holy one to see corruption.

36 Now David served by obeying the counsel of God throughout his entire life, and then he died was gathered to his fathers, and saw corruption.

37 But the one whom God has raised up from the dead has not seen corruption.

38 Know therefore, brothers and sisters, that it is through this man that the forgiveness of sins is proclaimed to you.

39 And everyone who believes in his message is justified in all things in which you could not be justified by the law of Moses.

40 Beware therefore, lest it happens to you the following thing which is spoken of in the prophets.

41 Look at this, you who are despisers, and be amazed, and disappear. For I work a work in your days, a work of which you will not believe that it had to be done if someone explain the goal to achieve to you.

42 And when Paul and Barnabas were leaving the synagogue of the Jews, the Gentiles who were in the synagogue seeking to understand God besought the apostles of Christ to return to them on the next sabbath day in order to teach them these words.

43 And when the synagogue had closed, many of the Jews and of the devout proselytes followed Paul and Barnabas. And the apostles of Christ conversed with them and urged them to continue in the grace of God.

44 And on the next sabbath day, almost the entire city had gathered together to hear the word of God.

45 And when those of the Jews who refuses to believe that the message of the apostles comes from the God of Moses saw the crowds, they were filled with jealousy. And they opposed what Paul was saying, by shouting insults and arguing against him.

46 Then Paul and Barnabas said to them boldly: It was necessary that the word of God should have been spoken to you first. But since you reject it and judge yourselves unworthy of everlasting life, lo, we now turn to the Gentiles.

47 For thus has the Lord commanded us [when he had spoken about Christ by the mouth of the prophet Isaiah]: I have set you to be a light to the nations, to bring salvation to the ends of the earth.

48 And when the Gentiles heard it, they were glad and glorified the word of the Lord. And all those who were destined for eternal life believed.

49 And the word of the Lord did spread throughout the whole region.

50 But the Jews stirred up the devout and honorable women, and the leaders of the the city, and raised persecution against Paul and Barnabas, and expelled them from their region.

51 And Paul and Barnabas shook the dust off their feet against them, and went to Iconium.

52 While the disciples were filled with joy, and with the Holy Spirit.

Acts 14

1 And at Iconium, Paul and Barnabas entered together the synagogue of the Jews, and they spoke in such a convincing way that a large crowd of both Jews and Greeks believed [that is to say, they believed that the message taught to them was worthy of being received].

2 But those who disbelieved among the Jews stirred up the Gentiles and corrupted their minds against the brothers.

3 And Paul and Barnabas stayed in Iconium for a long time, and were speaking boldly in the Lord. And the Lord was bearing witness to the word of his grace, by causing signs and wonders to be performed by their hands.

4 And the people of the city were divided. Some were for the Jews [who refused to believe], and others were for the apostles.

5 Then a group of people, made up of both the Gentiles and the Jews, and of some leaders of the people, decided to violently oppose the teaching of the apostles and to stone them.

6 And when Paul and Barnabas became aware of it, they fled to Lystra and Derbe, cities of Lycaonia, and to the surrounding region.

7 And there they preached the gospel [that is to say, the good news which is the word of Jesus Christ].

8 And at Lystra, there was a man impotent in his feet who was a cripple from the womb of his mother. He had never walked, and it happened that he was sitting there and was listening to Paul.

9 And Paul looked at him intently, and perceived that he had faith to be healed.

10 Then Paul said with a loud voice, 'Stand up straight on your feet'. And he jumped up, and walked.

11 And when the crowd saw what Paul had done, they lifted up their voices and said in the Lycaonian language: The gods have come down to us in human form.

12 And they named Barnabas Jupiter, and they named Paul Mercury because he was the main speaker.

13 The temple [of their god] Jupiter was at the entrance to the city, and the chief priest of that temple brought oxen with garlands of flowers to the gates, in order to offer a sacrifice with the crowd. [Now it was not about being able to eat meat together and rejoice in the fact that a happy event had occurred among them, but it was about offering a sacrifice to their god, that is to say, performing a particular ritual to honor that god whom they supposed to be the author of the miracle that had occurred among them. They wanted to honor Paul and Barnabas in this way.]

14 And when the apostles Barnabas and Paul heard of it, they tore their clothes, and they rushed running to go into the crowd.

15 And they cried out and said: Men, why are you doing these things. We are men also, and we have the same passions as you. We have come here to bring you a good news, to urge you to turn away from these vain things and to serve the living God who made the heaven and the earth, and the sea, and all that is in them.

16 In the past this God suffered all peoples to walk in their own ways.

17 But he never ceased testifying to who he is, by doing good and giving us rain from heaven and fruitful seasons, filling our hearts with gladness [when we had the desire to seek the well-being of others in what we were doing]. [Now God have acted in this way towards the children of Jacob as it is written in the law of Moses and the prophets, but also towards all others communities and individuals who have not received a particular law. For what is important for God is why a person does something and not what that person does.]

18 With these words, the apostles have scarcely restrained the crowd from offering a sacrifice to them. [For the crowd was supposing that the apostles Paul and Barnabas were gods from heaven

who had taken human form to come and visit them. This is why the crowd wanted to perform a particular ritual that did not simply consist of rejoicing together.]

19 Then some Jews came from Antioch and Iconium, and persuaded the people [that Paul was working miracles by using the power of an evil spirit]. And they stoned Paul and dragged him out of the city, thinking that he was dead.

20 But when the disciples [of Jesus] gathered around him, he got up and entered the city. And the next day he went with Barnabas to Derbe.

21 And when they had preached the gospel in that city, and had made many disciples, they returned to Lystra, and to Iconium, and to Antioch.

22 And they were strengthening the hearts of the disciples, encouraging them to continue in the faith and saying that it is through many tribulations that we must enter the kingdom of God.

23 And when they had appointed elders in every church, and had prayed with fasting, they commended them to the Lord in whom they had believed. [In those days, a new disciple has a moral obligation to let his loved ones know that he no longer wants to participate in their idolatrous practices because he has found the true God. And in this situation, the disciple can be in danger since he can be accused of idolatry because of his belief that a man is God or the son of God, but the disciple can also simply feel isolated from his loved ones who continue to have other moral principles. It is because of this particular context that the apostle Paul creates assemblies in different places, so that the disciples can support each other morally and also organize themselves to make new believers and create harmony in the world.]

24 And they passed through Pisidia, and came to the country of Pamphylia.

25 And when they had preached the word in the city of Perga, they went down to Attalia.

26 And from there they sailed to Antioch, from where they had been commended to the grace of God for the work that they had now accomplished.

27 And after their arrival, they called the church together and reported all the things that God had used them to do, and how he had opened the door of faith to the Gentiles.

28 And they remained a long time with the disciples.

Acts 15

1 And some men came to Antioch from Judea, and they were teaching the brothers by saying: Unless you are circumcised according to the custom taught by Moses, you cannot be saved. [Now when Abraham was ninety nine years old, and his son was Ishmael was thirteen years old, God had made a covenant with him by asking him to circumcise at eight days old all the males under his care, from generation to generation, and Abraham had circumcised all the people of his household on that day. But the exact account of the origin of this covenant and the exact content of the commandment comes from Moses who wrote the book of Genesis at the dictation of an angel of God, and this happened hundreds of years after the death of Abraham.]

2 Then Paul and Barnabas had a great discussion and a great dissension with them. And the brothers decided that Paul and Barnabas, and some others, should go up to Jerusalem in order to discuss this matter with the apostles and elders. [Paul and Barnabas were previously called apostles, but Paul did not walk alongside Jesus in the flesh and was converted later through a vision that he had, and Barnabas is simply a person who received a good understanding of how to put into practice the teachings of Jesus Christ and is therefore filled with the holy spirit.]

3 Then the Church helped them prepare to go on their journey, and they continued their journey through Phoenicia and Samaria, reporting the conversion of the Gentiles and thus causing a great joy to all the brothers [that is to say, to all the Jews who were already disciples of Jesus].

4 And when they arrived in Jerusalem, they were received by the church, and by the apostles and the elders, and they reported all the things that God had used them to do. [Now they have also explained the reason for their coming, that is to say, they have explained that there has arisen a discussion in Antioch because certain people have declared the following: Non-Jews who believe in the message taught by Jesus must practice circumcision which is prescribed in the book of Genesis written by Moses, if they want to be saved by forming a single community with the Jews who believe in the message taught by Jesus.]

5 But among those who listened to the report given by Paul and his companions, there were some men of the sect of the Pharisees who had believed in the message of Jesus and who stood up and said: The Gentiles should be circumcised and should be required to observe the law of Moses. [Now the Pharisees are a group of people who claim to distinguish themselves by a strict observance of the law. And some of them have recognized that Jesus Christ was a prophet sent by the God of Moses, because of the events that occurred during and after his life and of which they had knowledge. But claiming to believe in Jesus does not mean having understood the exact content of the teaching of Jesus, since even the apostles who walked alongside Jesus during his life had believed in him before his crucifixion and it was only after his resurrection and departure that they received a good understanding of the meaning of his teaching. But the only thing that Jesus commanded his disciples is that everyone must love his neighbor as oneself, and the temple of God is still present in Jerusalem, and that is why these Pharisees who must be young people have said this thing. But these Pharisees in particular have not yet understood certain things that the apostles and other people have already understood, that is to say that the law of Moses which describes particular rituals to be done by the descendants and Aaron and the whole tribe of Levi cannot continue to exist without alteration, since they must no longer intervene in the forgiveness of sins that a person commits by harming another person, since Jesus said the following to the apostles after his resurrection and before his ascension to heaven: Receive the Holy Spirit. Those to whom you will forgive sins, they will be forgiven. And those to whom you will not forgive sins, those sins will not be forgiven.]

6 Then the apostles and elders gathered together to consider this matter.

7 And after much argument, Peter stood up and said to them: Brothers, you know that God had chosen me among us a long time ago, so that the Gentiles may hear the word of the gospel from my mouth and believe. [For I had explained to you how the Holy Spirit had asked me to go and explain the message of the gospel in the house of a Roman officer named Cornelius who had sent messengers to seek me.]

8 And God who knows the hearts had borne witness to them, by giving them the Holy Spirit just as he had done to us. [That is to say, we had observed the occurrence of the same sign.]

9 So God had made no distinction between us and them, having purified their hearts through faith. [That is to say, their hearts had been purified after my speech had allowed them to understand that the only thing that matters to God is the faith in Jesus Christ, the faith in the power of the commandment given by Jesus Christ.]

10 Why do you want to offend God now by putting a yoke on the neck of the disciples [in addition to the unique commandment of Christ], a yoke that neither our fathers nor we were able to bear.

11 For we believe that we will be saved by the grace of the Lord Jesus, and they can be saved in the same way as us.

12 Then the whole assembly remained silent, and they listened to Barnabas and Paul who were recounting all the signs and wonders that God had performed among the Gentiles by them.

13 And when they had finished speaking, James answered and said: Brothers, listen to me.

14 Simon Peter has reminded us today how God had showed his love for the Gentiles who had believed in the gospel, when he saw for the first time that God has caused them to become like the people who bear his name [that is to say, like the Jews who believe that Jesus is the Christ of God].

15 And this is in accordance with the words of the prophets, as the following thing is written.

16 After these things I will return, and I will rebuild the tabernacle of David that has fallen down. I will rebuild its ruins, and I will set it up.

17 So that the remnant of mankind may seek the Lord, those who are of all the nations and who are called by my name. [Now it is the end of the book of the prophet Amos which is quoted here.]

18 Says the Lord, who does these things and to whom they have been known from eternity.

19 Therefore my opinion is that we should not trouble those who turn to God from among the Gentiles.

20 But we should write to them to abstain from the pollutions of idols, and from fornication, and what is strangled, and from blood.

21 For Moses has had people who preach him in every city for generations, since he is read in the synagogues every sabbath day.

22 Then it seemed good to the apostles, and to the elders, and to the whole church, to choose men from among them in order to send them to Antioch with Paul and Barnabas. And they chose Judas called Barsabas, and Silas, men respected among the brothers.

23 And they sent those men with a letter which had the following words: The apostles, and the elders, and the brothers, to the brothers who are of the Gentiles in Antioch, and in Syria, and in Cilicia, greeting.

24 We have heard that certain men have gone out from us and have come to you, to trouble you with words and corrupt your faith, telling you that you must circumcise yourselves and even observe the law. We did not give them such instructions.

25 After discussing and agreeing on it, we have decided to choose delegates and send them to you.

26 And they will come to you with our beloved Barnabas and Paul, who have risked their lives for the name of our Lord Jesus Christ.

27 So we have sent Judas and Silas, who will declare the same things to you by mouth.

28 It has seemed good to the Holy Spirit and to us, to lay on you no greater burden than the following things which are necessary [besides the holy commandment of our Lord Jesus Christ].

29 You should abstain from things offered to idols, and from blood, and from things strangled, and from fornication. You will do well if you keep yourselves from these things. Farewell.

30 And they leave the church at Jerusalem, and went to Antioch. And they gathered the group of believers there, and gave them the letter.

31 And when they had read it, the people rejoiced for the encouragement that the letter had given them.

32 And Judas and Silas, who were themselves prophets, exhorted and strengthened them with many other words.

33 And after they had stayed there some time, the believers did let them go back in peace to the church at Jerusalem.

34 But it seemed good to Silas to stay there.

35 And Paul and Barnabas stayed in Antioch, teaching and preaching the word of the Lord. And many other believers were doing the same.

36 And after some days, Paul said to Barnabas: Let us return and visit the brothers in every city where we have preached the word of the Lord, in order to see how they are doing.

37 And Barnabas wanted to take with them John who was surnamed Mark.

38 But Paul thought it more fitting not to take with them the one who had left them from Pamphylia, and who had not accompanied them in their work.

39 And the disagreement was so important between them that they separated from each other. And Barnabas took Mark with him, and sailed to the island of Cyprus.

40 And Paul chose Silas and departed, being commended by the brothers to the grace of God.

41 And he went through Syria and Cilicia, strengthening the churches.

Acts 16

1 Then he went to Derbe and to Lystra. And behold, there was a certain disciple named Timothy. He was the son of a Jewish woman who had believed, and his father was a Greek.

2 And good things were said about him by the brothers who were at Lystra and Iconium.

3 And Paul wanted to take Timothy to travel with him. And having taken him, Paul circumcised him because of the Jews who lived in that region. For they all knew that his father was a Greek. [So Paul did this thing so that the Jews would not prevent Timothy from entering the synagogues with him to preach the gospel.]

4 And as they went on their way through the cities, they recommended to the believers to observe the decrees given by the apostles and elders who were at Jerusalem. [It is the content of the letter that the apostles and the elders wrote in Jerusalem and sent to Antioch by the hand of Judas and Silas.]

5 And the churches were growing stronger in the faith, and were increasing in number daily.

6 And they traveled through Phrygia and the region of Galatia, and they were forbidden by the Holy Spirit to preach the word in Asia.

7 And when they came to Mysia, they wanted to enter Bithynia but the Spirit of Jesus refused to let them do so.

8 And they passed through Mysia, and went down to Troas.

9 And Paul had the following vision during the night. A man of Macedonia was standing, and was beseeching him by saying: Come over to Macedonia, and help us.

10 And after Paul had seen this vision, immediately we prepared to go to Macedonia, concluding that the Lord had called us to preach the gospel to them.

11 We left Troas and sailed directly to Samothrace, and the next day we went to Neapolis.

12 And from there we went to Philippi, which is the largest city in a district of Macedonia and a Roman colony. And we spent several days there.

13 And on the sabbath day, we went outside the city gate to a river, where we supposed there was a place of prayer. And we sat down, and spoke to the women who had gathered together there.

14 One of them was named Lydia, a seller of purple cloth from the city of Thyatira. She was a worshiper of God, and was listening to us. And the Lord opened her heart to pay attention to what Paul was saying. [Now when it is said that she was a worshipper of God, it means that she had the desire not to harm others without justification, and also the desire to understand what is right to do.]

15 And when she and her household had been baptized, she besought us by saying, 'If you have judged me to be faithful to the Lord, come into my house and stay there'. And she urged us.

16 And as we were going to the place of prayer, a certain maidservant who had a spirit of divination, and who brought great profit to her masters by divining, met us.

17 And that maidservant was following Paul and us, and was crying out: These men are servants of the most high God, and they proclaim to us the way of salvation.

18 And she did this for several days. And when Paul was greatly afflicted by it, he turned around and said to the spirit, 'I command you in the name of Jesus Christ to come out of her'. And that spirit went out of her at that very hour.

19 And when the masters of that maidservant saw that their hope of gain had gone, they seized Paul and Silas, and dragged them into the marketplace before the rulers.

20 And when they had brought them before the magistrates, thay said: These men are disturbing our city.

21 They are Jews who proclaim customs that it is not lawful for us to receive or to observe, seeing that we are Romans.

22 And the crowd rose up against Paul and Silas. And the magistrates tore off the clothes of the two men, and ordered them to be beaten with rods.

23 And after having beaten them severely, they threw them into prison, ordering the jailer to watch them very carefully.

24 And the jailer, having received this order, threw them into the inner prison and bound their feet between large blocks of wood.

25 And at midnight, Paul and Silas were praying and singing hymns to God, and the prisoners were listening to them.

26 And suddenly there was a great earthquake, so that the foundations of the prison were shaken. At that moment, all the doors were opened and the bonds of all the prisoners were loosed.

27 And the jailer awoke, and saw that the prison doors were opened. Then he drew his sword and was about to kill himself, thinking that the prisoners had escaped.

28 But Paul cried out with a loud voice by saying: Do not hurt yourself. For we are all here.

29 Then the jailer told someone to bring a light, and rushed inside the prison. And he came trembling, and fell down before Paul and Silas.

30 Then he brought them out, and said: Sirs, what must I do to be saved.

31 And Paul and Silas answered: Believe in the Lord Jesus Christ, and you and your household will be saved.

32 And they spoke the word of the Lord to him, and to all those who were in his house.

33 And the jailer took them with him at that very hour of the night, and washed their wounds. And he was baptized without delay, he and all his family.

34 Then he brought them into his house and served them food. And he and all his household rejoiced for the fact that they had become believers in God.

35 And when it was day, the magistrates sent some soldiers to tell the jailer: Release those men.

36 Then the jailer reported the words to Paul by saying: The magistrates have sent word to release you. And now, go out in peace.

37 But Paul said to the soldiers: After they had publicly and without judgment beaten us, even though we are Romans, they threw us into prison. And now they want to release us secretly. No, it will not be so. Let them come and set us free [publicly].

38 And the soldiers reported these words to the magistrates, who became afraid when they heard that Paul and Silas were Romans.

39 Then they came and appeased them, and set them free, and urged them to leave the city.

40 And when Paul and Silas had gone out of the prison, they went into the house of Lydia. And when they had seen the brothers, they comforted them and departed out of the city.

Acts 17

1 Now when Paul and Silas went through Amphipolis and Apollonia, they came to Thessalonica, and there was a synagogue of Jews in that city.

2 And Paul entered it, according to his custom. And on the sabbath days, three sabbath, he discussed the scriptures with them.

3 He was explaining and establishing that Christ had to suffer, and to rise from dead. And Paul said: And the Christ is the man Jesus whom I announce to you.

4 And some of them were convinced, and joined Paul and Silas. And so did a large multitude of Greeks fearing God, and also many respectable women.

5 But those of the Jews who refused to believe were filled with jealousy. Therefore they chose some vagabonds who were wicked men, and gathered a crowd, and made a tumult in the city. Then they went to the house of Jason in order to seek Paul and Silas and to bring them out before the people.

6 And when they found them not, they dragged Jason and a few brothers before the rulers of the city, and shouted: These people have turned the world upside down, and now they have come here to do likewise. And Jason has received them.

7 They all act against the decrees of Caesar. For they say that there is another king whose name is Jesus.

8 And when the rulers of the city and the crowd heard those words, they were prickled in their hearts.

9 Nevertheless they did let go Jason and the others, after having obtained a deposit from them.

10 And the brothers immediately made Paul and Silas leave at night to go to Beroea. And when they arrived there, they went into the synagogue of the Jews.

11 The thoughts of the Jews of that city were more noble than those of the Jews of Thessalonica. And they received the word with the will to understand, examining the scriptures daily to find out if those things were so.

12 And many of them believed, as well as many honorable Greek women, and many Greek men.

13 But when the Jews of Thessalonica heard that Paul was proclaiming the word of God at Beroea, they came there to agitate the crowds.

14 Therefore the brothers [that is to say, the disciples] immediately caused Paul to go on the side of the sea. But Silas and Timothy remained at Beroea.

15 And those who accompanied Paul led him to Athens. Then they returned, responsible for transmitting to Silas and Timothy the order to join Paul as soon as possible.

16 Now while Paul was waiting for them at Athens, he was prickled in his heart at the sight of this city full of idols.

17 And he was discussing the scriptures in the synagogue with Jews and with devout persons [on the sabbath day], and in the public places every day with whoever met him.

18 Then some philosophers of the Epicureans and of the Stoics met him. And some said, 'What does this waffler say'. And others said, 'It seems that he announces strange gods. For he preaches Jesus and the resurrection'.

19 And they took him, and brought him to the Areopagus council, and said: Can we know what is this new doctrine that you teach.

20 For you make us hear strange things. Therefore we want to know the meaning of these things.

21 Now all the Athenians and foreigners who stayed in Athens spent their time only telling or listening to things.

22 Then Paul stood up before the meeting of the Areopagus council and said: Men of Athens, I have seen that in all things you are too superstitious.

23 For I have walked through your city and have seen the objects of your devotion, and I have even discovered an altar with this inscription, 'To an Unknown God'. What you worship without knowing it, it is what I am exposing to you.

24 The God who has made the world and all things that is in it, being Lord of the heaven and the earth, does not dwell in temples made with human hands.

25 He is not served by human hands, as if he lacked something, since he himself gives life, breath and all things to everyone.

26 He caused all the people of men, made out of one blood, to dwell on all the face of the earth. And he has determined the times fixed in advance, and the limits of their habitation.

27 He has wanted them to seek the Lord by groping for him, although he is not far from each one of us.

28 For in him we live, and move, and have our being. As some of your own poets have said, we are of his kind.

29 So then, being of the kind of God, we must not think that the divinity is like gold, or silver, or stone, sculpted by art and the skilfulness of man.

30 God was tolerant during the times of ignorance, but now he commands all men everywhere to repent.

31 For he has appointed a day in which he will judge the world according to righteousness by the man whom he has sanctified, and he has proved it to all men by raising him from the dead.

32 Now when they heard of the resurrection from the dead, some mocked him and others said: We will hear you concerning this another time.

33 And Paul withdrew from among them.

34 Nevertheless, some of the people joined Paul and believed. Among them were Dionysius the Areopagite, and a woman named Damaris, and others with them.

Acts 18

1 After these things, Paul departed from Athens and went to Corinth.

2 And there he found a Jew named Aquila, a native of Pontus, who had recently come from Italy with his wife Priscilla, because Claudius had commanded all the Jews to depart from Rome. And Paul became friends with them.

3 And since he had the same trade, Paul stayed with them and worked there. They were tentmakers.

4 And Paul discussed the scriptures in the synagogue every sabbath, and persuaded both Jews and Greeks.

5 And when Silas and Timothy came from Macedonia, Paul devoted all his time to the teaching of the gospel, testifying to the Jews that Jesus was the Christ.

6 And when the Jews resisted and blasphemed, Paul shook his garment and said to them: Your blood is on your own heads, and I am clean. From now on I will go to the Gentiles.

7 And Paul left the synagogue, and entered the house of a man named Titius Justus. He was a worshipper of God, and his house was next to the synagogue.

8 And Crispus, the ruler of the synagogue, believed in the Lord with all his household. And many of the Corinthians who had heard Paul also believed, and were baptized.

9 Then the Lord said to Paul in a vision during the night. Do not be afraid. Do not hold your peace, but speak.

10 For I am with you, and no one will lay a hand on you to harm you. Speak, for I have many people in this city.

11 And Paul remained there for a year and six months, teaching the word of God among the Corinthians.

12 Now when Gallio was proconsul of Achaia, the Jews united in a revolt against Paul, and brought him before the judgment seat.

13 And they said: This man is stirring up people to worship God in a way that is contrary to the law.

14 And as Paul was about to open his mouth, Gallio said to the Jews: If it were a matter of injustice or of some evil deed done to a certain person, then I would listen to you, O Jews, as I should.

15 But if it is a matter of disputing over a word or over names concerning your law, then that is your business. For I do not want to be a judge of such matters.

16 And he dismissed them from the judgment seat.

17 Then all those Jews seized Sosthenes, the ruler of the synagogue, and beat him before the judgment seat. And Gallio did not pay attention to them.

18 And Paul stayed in Corinth for some time. Then he took leave of the brothers and sailed for Syria, with Priscilla and Aquila.

19 And he came to Ephesus, and Paul left Priscilla and Aquila there. And he entered the synagogue and discussed with the Jews.

20 And those Jew begged him to stay longer, but he refused.

21 And he took leave of them by saying, 'I must by all means celebrate the coming feast in Jerusalem [that is to say, I have to meet some people there]. I will come back to you, if God wills it'. And he sailed to depart from Ephesus.

22 And when he came at Caesarea, he went up to Jerusalem and saluted the church, and then he went down to Antioch.

23 And after he had spent some time in Antioch, Paul departed and went through the region of Galatia and Phrygia, strengthening all the disciples.

24 Now there was a Jew named Apollos who was a native of Alexandria and who came to Ephesus. He was an eloquent man, and he was well-versed in the scriptures.

25 This man had been instructed in the way of the Lord. He was fervent in the spirit, and he spoke and taught diligently the things of the Lord, knowing only the baptism of John. [Now a person who accepted the message of John was committing to no longer willingly and publicly unjustifiably cause any harm to anyone, after having acknowledged to the victims the unjustifiable offenses committed in the past. For the law of the Lord given to Moses indicates that forgiveness for a sin committed by offending someone else is obtained by interacting with the victim to acknowledge the wicked deed that has been done, and the law adds that this must be done in the presence of a priest who is by definition a descendant of Aaron, and John absolutely does not call into question the law of Moses. For what John asks the people is not to seek to do good only according to the quantities prescribed in the law, but to take personal initiatives for well being to others.]

26 And he began to speak boldly in the synagogue. And when Aquila and Priscilla heard his words, they took him with them and explained to him more accurately the way of God. [Now since it was said that Apollos only knew about the baptism of John, this means that he had not yet been informed that Jesus baptized his apostles with a special Holy Spirit on the day of Pentecost. So the persons who have informed Apollos about the existence of John did not talk to him about Jesus, either because those persons did not believe that Jesus was the Christ awaited by the Jewish people, or because those persons did not know exactly what was taught by the sect of the disciples of Jesus. For at the beginning of the church, before the apostle Peter discovered when he went to the house of Cornelius that non-Jews are loved by God in the same way as Jews, the disciples of Jesus considered themselves as a Jewish sect. For they knew the exact definition of faith and intended to explain it to the other Jews day by day until the return of Jesus, but they were unaware of the exact definition of eternal life. And even until their death no apostle has known the exact definition of eternal life, and this is what is interesting for understanding all these stories of the deeds of the first Christians.]

27 And when he wanted to go to Achaia, the brothers [that is to say the disciples] encouraged him and wrote to the disciples who were at Achaia to receive him. And when he had come there, he made himself very helpful by the grace of God to those who had believed [that is to say the disciples].

28 For he confuted vehemently the Jews in public, demonstrating from the scriptures [of the Jews] that Jesus was the Christ.

Acts 19

1 And while Apollos was at Corinth, Paul came to Ephesus after having passed through the upper coasts.

2 And it happened that Paul found certain disciples at Ephesus and said to them, 'Have you received the Holy Spirit when you have believed'. And they said to him, 'We have not even heard that there is a Holy Spirit'. [Now in those days there are not yet many intermediaries between the author of the message of the gospel and the receivers, and this may explain that certain gifts are received at the moment when a disciple understands exactly what he must do. For there are superficial understanding as it appears to be the case for these disciples whom Paul have met.]

3 Then Paul said to them: What baptism have you received. And they said. 'The baptism of John'. [Now we remember that in the previous story Apollos arrived at Ephesus knowing only the baptism of John, and that he was informed of certain subtleties of the message of Jesus by Aquila and Priscilla, and it was from that moment that he began to demonstrate to other Jews that the message transmitted by Jesus made him the Christ announced by the Jewish scriptures.]

4 Then Paul said: John baptized with the baptism of repentance, telling the people that they should believe in [message of] the one who should come after him, that is to say, in Jesus Christ.

5 And when they heard it, they were baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus.

6 And when Paul had laid his hands on them, the Holy Spirit came on them, and they spoke in other languages, and prophesied.

7 The number of those persons was about twelve.

8 Then Paul entered the synagogue, and spoke freely during three months, discussing the things concerning the kingdom of God and trying to persuade those who listened to him. [Now Paul knows the definition of faith, that is to say, how a disciple should behave, but he does not know the exact definition of eternal life.]

9 But some of them hardened their hearts and refused to believe [because they considered it abnormal to worship God without performing specific rituals], and they were speaking evil of the way before the multitude [namely the way that was taught by Paul]. Then Paul withdrew from them, and separated the disciples from them, and taught the disciples every day in the school of a man named Tyrannus.

10 And it continued for two years, so that all those who dwelt in Asia heard the word of the Lord Jesus, both Jews and Greeks.

11 And God was doing extraordinary miracles by the hands of Paul.

12 To the extent that the linen or handkerchiefs that had touched his body were brought to the sick, and it healed them and made the evil spirits come out of them.

13 Then some of the wandering Jews wanted to become exorcists, and they took the initiative to invoke the name of Lord Jesus on those who had evil spirits. And they said to a man who was possessed by an evil spirit: We command you by Jesus whom Paul preaches.

14 Those who did this were seven sons of a man named Sceva, a Jew who was one of the chief priests.

15 And the evil spirit answered and said to them: I know Jesus, and I know who is Paul. But you, who are you.

16 And the man in whom was the evil spirit rushed on them, and overcame them, and did beat them, and they fled from that house naked and wounded.

17 And this thing had been known to all the Jews and all the Greeks who dwelt at Ephesus, and fear seized them all, and the name of the Lord Jesus was glorified.

18 And many of those who had believed came to confess and declare the wicked deeds that they had done.

19 And a number of those who practiced the magical arts brought their books and burned them in the sight of all. The value was estimated at fifty thousand pieces of silver.

20 So the word of the Lord was growing in power and strength.

21 After these things had happened, Paul purposed to go to Jerusalem, crossing Macedonia and Achaia. And he said: When I have been there, I must also visit Rome.

22 And he sent to Macedonia two of those who ministered to him, Timothy and Erastus, and he himself stayed in Asia for some time.

23 At that time, there arose a great trouble concerning the way of the Lord.

24 For there was a certain man named Demetrius who was a silversmith, and who made silver objects for the temple of the goddess Diana. It was an occupation that allowed artisans to have work and thus earn money.

25 And he gathered together those artisans, with the workers who had similar occupations, and said: Sirs, you know that our well-being depends on this business.

26 And you see and hear that, not only in Ephesus, but in almost all of Asia, this Paul has persuaded and turned away much people by saying that the gods made by human hands are not gods.

27 The danger from this is not only that our business will fall into disrepute, but also that the temple of the great goddess Diana will lose its worshippers, and the majesty of her who is revered throughout Asia and throughout the world will be reduced to nothingness.

28 And when they heard those words, they were filled with anger and they began to shout: Great is Diana of the Ephesians.

29 And the whole city was in confusion. And they rushed together into the stadium, having seized Gaius and Aristarchus, men of Macedonia and companions of Paul in travel.

30 And Paul wanted to go and present himself before the crowd [in order to speak to them], but the disciples prevented him.

31 Also, some leaders of the country who were friends of Paul sent him a message telling him not to go into the stadium.

32 Some people were shouting one thing, some others were shouting something else. For the assembly was in a state of confusion, and most of the people did not know why they had come together.

33 And some Jews made a man named Alexander stand before the crowd, after telling him what he had to say. Alexander beckoned with his hand, and wanted to speak to the people.

34 But when they perceived that he was a Jew, they all shouted with one voice for about two hours: Great is Diana of the Ephesians.

35 And when the town clerk had quieted the crowd, he said: Men of Ephesus, who is there who does not know that the city of Ephesus is the guardian of the temple of the great Diana and of her image that fell down from Jupiter.

36 Since it is a fact that no one can dispute, you ought to calm down and to do nothing rashly.

37 For you have brought here these men who are guilty of neither sacrilege nor blasphemy against our goddess.

38 Now therefore, if Demetrius and his craftsmen have a complaint against anyone, there are courts of law and proconsuls. Let them sue each other.

39 But if you have other matters in mind, then it will be resolved in a lawful assembly.

40 And now, we risk being accused of sedition for what has happened today. For there is no reason for us to gather together now.

41 And when he had spoken thus, he dismissed the assembly.

Acts 20

1 When the trouble had ceased, Paul called the disciples together and exhorted them. Then he took leave of them, and departed for Macedonia.

2 And when he had gone through those parts, and had given them much exhortation, he came into Greece.

3 And he stayed three months there, and he was about to sail for Syria when the Jews laid wait for him. So he decided to return through Macedonia.

4 He had with him as far as Asia: Sopater of Beroea, the son of Pyrrhus. And Aristarchus, and Secundus, who were from Thessalonica. And Gaius of Derbe, and Timothy. And two men who were from Asia, Tychicus and Trophimus.

5 These men went ahead, and waited for us at Troas.

6 As for us, we sailed from Philippi after the days of unleavened bread, and joined them at Troas after five days. And we stayed there seven days. [Now the Jewish feast of unleavened bread is mentioned here only as a time marker, and it is evident that Paul is not concerned with Jewish feasts since no particular works are described during this Passover period.]

7 And on the first day of the week, when the disciples had gathered together to break bread, Paul preached to them and continued his discourse until midnight. His departure was scheduled for the next day.

8 And there were many lamps burning in the upper room where they had assembled.

9 And a young man named Eutychus was sitting in a window, and he fell into a deep sleep while Paul was speaking. And as Paul spoke for a long time, the young man lost his balance during his sleep and fell from the third floor. And when people went down to help him, they found that he was dead.

10 But Paul went down, bent over him and took him in his arms, and said: Do not be troubled, for his life is in him.

11 Then Paul went back upstairs, and broke bread and ate, and talked for a long time until daybreak. Then he departed.

12 So the young man was brought back alive, and this was a great consolation.

13 And we went before Paul to the ship, and sailed for Assos. We had agreed to take Paul there, because he had decided so, having wanted to make this part of the journey on foot.

14 And when he met with us at Assos, we took him on board and went to Mitylene.

15 From there, continuing by sea, we arrived the next day opposite Chios. And the next day, we arrived at Samos and stayed at Trogyllion. And the next day, we arrived at Miletus.

16 For Paul had decided to pass by Ephesus without stopping there, so as not to spend time in Asia. For he was hastening in order to be at Jerusalem on the day of Pentecost, if possible.

17 But when we were at Miletus, Paul sent to Ephesus and called the elders of the church.

18 And when they had come to Paul, he said to them: You know how I have behaved among you from the first day that I set foot in Asia.

19 I have served the Lord without arrogance, and with many tears in the midst of the trials which were imposed on me through the plots of the Jews.

20 You know that I have not hidden anything that could be useful to you.

21 And I have taught you publicly and from house to house, proclaiming to both Jews and Greeks repentance toward God and faith in our Lord Jesus Christ.

22 And now, being bound by the Spirit, I am going to Jerusalem without knowing what will happen to me there.

23 However, the Holy Spirit warns me in every city that bonds and afflictions await me.

24 But I am not concerned about the quality or the duration of my life, but by the desire to have the satisfaction of having done what is right. My mission is to proclaim the gospel of the grace of God which I have received from the Lord Jesus.

25 And now behold, I know that you will no longer see my face, all of you who dwell in the places where I have gone to preach the kingdom of God.

26 Therefore I declare to you today that I am pure from the blood of all of you.

27 For I have announced to you all the counsel of God, without hiding anything.

28 Take heed therefore to yourselves, and to all the flock over which the Holy Spirit has made you overseers, in order to nourish [with the knowledge of the Lord] the church of God that he has purchased with his own blood.

29 I know that cruel wolves will come among you after my departure, and they will not spare the flock.

30 And even from among yourselves there will arise men who will teach perverse things, in order to drag away the disciples after themselves.

31 Therefore keep watch, and remember that during three years I have not ceased night and day to exhort each one of you with tears.

32 And now I commend you to God and to the word of his grace, to him who is able to build you up in order to give you an inheritance among all those who are sanctified.

33 I have not coveted anyone's possessions, whether silver, or gold, or clothing.

34 You yourselves know that these hands have supplied to my own needs and to the needs of those who were with me [while I was with you].

35 I have shown you in all things that you should work in this way and support the weak, remembering the words of the Lord Jesus who himself said: There is more happiness in giving than in receiving.

36 And when Paul had spoken thus, he knelt down and prayed with them all.

37 Then they all wept profusely, and fell on the neck of Paul and kissed him.

38 They were especially grieved by the fact that Paul had said that they will never see his face again. And they accompanied him to the ship.

Acts 21

1 And after we separated from them, we did set sail and went straight to Cos, and the next day we came to Rhodes, and from there we came to Patara.

2 And we found a ship sailing to Phoenicia, and we went aboard and set sail.

3 And when we had come in the sight of the island of Cyprus, we left it on the left hand and sailed to Syria, and landed at Tyre. For the ship was to unload its cargo there.

4 And we found disciples there, and we stayed there for seven days. And being moved by the Spirit, they said to Paul that he should not go up to Jerusalem.

5 But when the seven days had ended, we prepared to continue our journey. And they all accompanied us, with their wives and children, until we came outside the city. Then we knelt on the shore and prayed.

6 Then we hugged each other, and we boarded the ship while they returned to their homes.

7 And continued our journey from Tyre and went to Ptolemais. And we greeted the brothers there, and stayed with them one day.

8 And the next day Paul and we who were his companions departed, and arrived at Caesarea. And there we entered the house of Philip the evangelist, who was one of the seven deacons [whom the apostles had chosen to supervise certain tasks within the community of believers in Jerusalem], and stayed with him.

9 He had four virgin daughters, who prophesied.

10 After we had stayed there many days, a prophet named Agabus came down from Judea.

11 And he came to us, and took the belt of Paul, and bound his own hands and feet, and said: Thus says the Holy Spirit says, The man who owns this belt will be bound in the same way in Jerusalem by the Jews, and will be delivered into the hands of the Gentiles.

12 And when we heard these words, we and the disciples who were there besought Paul not to go up to Jerusalem.

13 Then Paul answered and said: What are you doing, weeping and breaking my heart. I am ready not only to be bound, but also to die in Jerusalem for the name of the Lord Jesus. [Now Paul says this thing because it was also the Holy Spirit who asked him to go to Jerusalem, and therefore he cannot disobey an order that he has received personally. Moreover, when he was in Miletus and was saying goodbye to the elders whom he had called from Ephesus, he said that in every city the Holy Spirit warns him that bonds and afflictions await him.]

14 And when he refused to be persuaded, we did not insist and we said: Let the will of the Lord be done.

15 After those days, we made preparations and went up to Jerusalem.

16 And some of the disciples of Caesarea came with us, and brought us to the home of a man named Mnason who was from Cyprus and was one of the first disciples of Jesus, in order to stay in his house.

17 And when we had come at Jerusalem, the brothers received us gladly.

18 And the next day, Paul went with us to the house of James, and all the elders were had assembled there.

19 And when Paul had greeted them, he described in detail what God had done among the Gentiles through his ministry.

20 And when they heard it, they glorified God. Then they said to him: You see, brother, how many thousands of Jews have believed, but all [the other Jews] are zealous for the law. [Now the apostle Peter has no more zeal for any part of the law since the time when he had the vision in which he was informed that all foods are clean, and when he observed in the house of Cornelius that God does not make a difference between Jews and non-Jews regarding the gifts of the Holy Spirit. But not all the Jews who believe in Jesus are of this opinion because the temple of God is still present in Jerusalem. And since Jesus only commanded that each person must love his neighbor as oneself in order to obtain the eternal life, therefore the Jews who really become disciples of Jesus do not feel the need to revolt against the tribe of Levi who must receive the tithes from the population according to the law given by Moses. The place of service of the tribe of Levi is the temple of God which still exists in those days.]

21 And now they have learned that you are teaching all the Jews who are among the Gentiles to forsake Moses, telling them not to circumcise their children and not to follow the customs. [Indeed, Paul teaches that it is only through faith in the power of the holy commandment given by the Lord Jesus that one can obtain the eternal life of which he does not know the exact definition. Paul knows that God will destroy the temple that has been built to bear his name and that is in Jerusalem, but while waiting for this to happen the Jew who is a disciple of Jesus can continue to honor the tribe of Levi.]

22 What then should we do. The multitude will undoubtedly gather together, for it will be known that you have come. [Now when time passes, there are new generations of Jews who emerge from everywhere and who sometimes meet in Jerusalem during the Jewish holidays. And not everyone is necessarily aware of all the discussions that there have been over time among the disciples of a certain Jesus in Jerusalem or elsewhere.]

23 Therefore do what we tell you. There are four men among us who have made a vow.

24 Take them with you, and purify yourself with them, and provide for their expenses, so that they may shave their heads. Then everyone will know that what they have heard about you is false, and that you too are walking as an observer of the law. [Now it appears here that James and Jews like him think that even if Jesus is the Christ, Jews must obtain their eternal life by observing at least some parts of the law given by Moses while Gentiles must obtain their eternal life without the law. The apostles Peter and John did not hold this view, and John wrote in the second chapter of his epistle that certain Jews came out from among them the first believers and turned away from the true faith so that it was manifest that not all those who say that they believe in Jesus are really disciples of Jesus.]

25 Regarding the Gentiles who have believed [in Jesus], we had decreed and written to them that they should abstain from things offered to idols, and from blood, and from things strangled, and from fornication. [Now Paul was present when this decree was made by the apostles, and he had come to Jerusalem at that time for this reason, so that there might be a discussion concerning what should be taught to the Gentiles.]

26 Then Paul took these men, purified himself, and entered the temple with them the next day, to signify the accomplishment of the days of purification, until an offering had to be presented for every one of them. [Now Paul knows that Jesus is not interested in what a person does but only in why that person does something, and his goal at this moment is to prevent a great disturbance from occurring. Paul knows that it is already a good thing that some of those Jews know that Jesus is the Christ, and he knows that they will understand for themselves what is useless when God decides to destroy the temple that had been built to bear his name.]

27 And when the seven days were almost completed, the Jews from Asia saw Paul in the temple and stirred up all the multitude in order to lay hands on him.

28 They cried out: Men of Israel, come to our rescue. This is the man who teaches everywhere and to everyone against the people, and against the law, and against this place. He has even brought Greeks into the temple and thus has desecrated this holy place.

29 For they had previously seen that Trophimus an Ephesian was with Paul in the city, and they were supposing that Paul had brought him into the temple.

30 Then the people were prickled in their hearts throughout the city, and they ran from all sides. And they seized Paul, and dragged him out of the temple, and the doors were immediately shut.

31 And as they were seeking to kill Paul, the news reached the commander of the Roman army that all Jerusalem was in confusion.

32 And immediately he took soldiers and centurions, and ran to the people. And when they saw the commander of the Roman army and the soldiers, they stopped beating Paul.

33 Then the commander of the Roman army came near, and seized Paul, and had him bound with two chains. hen he asked who Paul was, and what he had done.

34 And some were shouting one thing in the crowd, and some others were shouting another thing. And when he saw that he could not learn anything certain because of the tumult, he ordered Paul to be taken into the fortress.

35 And when Paul reached the stairs, he had to be carried by the soldiers because of the violence of the crowd.

36 For the people were following him, and they were shouting: Kill him.

37 And as Paul was being brought into the fortress, Paul said to the commander of the Roman army, 'Can I say something to you'. And the commander of the Roman army replied, 'Do you know Greek'.

38 Are you not the Egyptian who recently raised a sedition and led four thousand terrorists into the wilderness.

39 And Paul said: I am a Jew from Tarsus in Cilicia, a city that is not without importance. Allow me to speak to the people, I beseech you.

40 And when the commander of the Roman army gave him permission, Paul stood on the stairs and beckoned with the hand to the people. And the people became quiet, and Paul said the following thing to them in the Hebrew language.

Acts 22

1 Brothers and fathers, listen to what I have to say now in my defense.

2 And when they heard that he was speaking to them in the Hebrew language, they were even more silent.

3 Then Paul said: I am a Jew, born in Tarsus of Cilicia, but brought up in this city at the feet of Gamaliel. And I have been instructed in the exact knowledge of the law of the fathers, being full of zeal for God just as you all are today.

4 And I persecuted this new doctrine to the death, binding and imprisoning both men and women.

5 The high priest and the whole company of the elders can attest to this. And I received letters from them for the brothers in Damascus, where I was going in order to bring the disciples who were there bound to Jerusalem and have them punished.

6 And as I was on my way and approaching Damascus, suddenly, about noon, a great light from heaven shone around me.

7 And I fell to the ground, and heard a voice saying to me: Saul, Saul, why are you persecuting me.

8 And I answered, 'Who are you, Lord'. And he said to me, 'I am Jesus of Nazareth, whom you are persecuting'.

9 And those who were with me saw the light, but they did not hear the voice of the one who spoke to me. [Now this detail that Paul gives is not of the greatest importance at this precise moment when he is in a stressful situation and wants to explain how he became a disciple of the new faith. He can be mistaken about this detail, without intending to lie.]

10 Then I said, 'What should I do, Lord'. And the Lord said to me, 'Get up and go into Damascus, and there it will be told you what you must do'.

11 And when I could not see anything because of the glory of that light, those who were with me took me by the hand and led me to Damascus.

12 And there was a man named Ananias, a devout man according to the law, well-regarded by all the Jews who dwelt in Damascus.

13 And he came and stood before me, and said, 'Brother Saul, receive your sight'. And immediately I received my sight, and looked at him.

14 And he said: The God of our fathers has appointed you to know his will, and to see the righteous one, and to hear the voice of his mouth.

15 For you will be his witness before all men, concerning the things that you have seen and heard.

16 And now, why are you waiting. Get up and be baptized [to publicly commit yourself in our eyes to follow Jesus], and be washed from your sins by calling on the name of the Lord [that is to say, by continually acting only according to his one commandment].

17 And when I returned to Jerusalem, while I was praying in the temple, I fell into a trance.

18 And I saw the Lord saying to me: Make haste and get out of Jerusalem quickly, because they will not accept your testimony about me. [Now Paul does not only declare that the non-Jews do not need the practices of the law of Moses to be saved, but he also declares that it is something superfluous for the Jews even if the temple of God is always present in Jerusalem. The apostles Peter and John have already been of this opinion for some time, but James does not think that the rituals of the law are superfluous for a Jew. Nevertheless a harmony subsists between them because of the command of Jesus and the presence of the temple of God which has not yet destroyed.]

19 Then I said: Lord, they themselves know that I imprisoned and whipped the people who believed in you in every synagogue.

20 And when the blood of your witness Stephen was shed, I myself was standing there, agreeing with the others and keeping the garments of those who were killing him.

21 Then the Lord said to me: Depart. For I will send you far away to the Gentiles.

22 And the crowd listened to Paul until he said this word. Then they lifted up their voices and said: Remove such a person from the earth. For he is not worthy to live.

23 And they shouted, and took off their clothes, and threw dust into the air.

24 And the commander of the Roman army ordered Paul to be brought into the fortress and to be whipped, in order to find out why the people were shouting thus against Paul. [For the commander of the Roman army had not understood what Paul had said, since Paul had spoken in the Hebrew language.]

25 And when they had tied him up with the thongs, Paul said to the centurion who was stood there: Is it lawful for you to whip a Roman citizen who has not been condemned.

26 And when the centurion had heard it, he went to the commander of the Roman army to warn him by saying: What are you going to do. This man is a Roman.

27 Then the commander of the Roman army came and said to Paul, 'Tell me. Are you a Roman'. And Paul replied, 'Yes'.

28 And the commander of the Roman army said, 'I have bought this citizenship with a lot of money'. And Paul said, 'I got it by birth'.

29 And immediately those who were to question him withdrew. And the commander of the Roman army was afraid when he knew that Paul was a Roman, because he had caused to bind Paul.

30 But the next day, wanting to know for certain why the Jews were accusing Paul, the commander of the Roman army caused Paul to be untied, and ordered the chief priests and all their council to assemble. And he caused to bring Paul down, and to place him before them.

Acts 23

1 And Paul looked intently at the council and said: Brothers, I have behaved before God in all good conscience until this day.

2 Then the high priest Ananias ordered those standing near Paul to smite him on the mouth.

3 Then Paul said to him: God will smite you, you whitewashed wall. You sit to judge me according to the law, and you are breaking the law by ordering to hit me.

4 And those who were standing near Paul said: You are insulting the high priest of God.

5 And Paul said: I did not know, brothers, that he was the high priest. For it is written, 'You will not speak evil of the rulers of your people'.

6 And Paul perceived that there were Sadducees in a part of the assembly, and that there were Pharisees in another part. And then he cried out in the council: Brothers, I am a Pharisee and the son of a Pharisee. It is because of the hope in the resurrection of the dead that I am being judged.

7 And when he had said this, a dispute arose between the Pharisees and the Sadducees, and the assembly was divided.

8 For the Sadducees say that there is no resurrection, and that there is neither angel [who is distinct from God] nor spirit [which survives death], but the Pharisees affirm both.

9 And there was a great uproar, and some of the scribes of the Pharisees stood up and began a heated argument by saying: We find no evil in this man. Perhaps a spirit or an angel has spoken to him, let us not fight against God.

10 And when the discord increased, the commander of the Roman army feared that Paul might be torn to pieces by some of the Jews. Therefore he ordered the soldiers to come down and take Paul away from them, and bring him to the fortress.

11 And the following night, the Lord appeared to Paul and said: Take courage. For just as you have testified about me in Jerusalem, you must also bear witness in Rome.

12 And when daylight had come, the Jews formed a conspiracy and bound themselves under a curse, by saying that they would neither eat nor drink until they had killed Paul.

13 And those who formed this conspiracy were more than forty men.

14 And they went to the chief priests and elders, and said to them: We have bound ourselves under a great curse, that we will taste nothing until we have killed Paul.

15 Now therefore, you and the council must ask the commander of the Roman army to bring Paul before you tomorrow, as if you have the desire to examine his case more thoroughly. We are ready to kill him before he comes near to you.

16 But the son of the sister of Paul heard of the ambush that they had planned, and he went into the fortress and told Paul.

17 And Paul called one of the centurions and said: Bring this young man to the commander of the Roman army. For he has something to tell him.

18 So the centurion took the young man, and brought him to the commander of the Roman army, and said: Paul the prisoner has called me and has prayed me to bring this young man to you, because he has something to say to you.

19 Then the commander of the Roman army took the young man by the hand, and went aside, and asked him privately: What do you have to tell me.

20 And he answered: The Jews have agreed to ask you to bring Paul before the council tomorrow, as if they were going to make a more detailed investigation about him.

21 Do not listen to them, because more than forty of them are lying in wait for him. They have bound themselves under a curse, that they will taste nothing until they have killed Paul. And now they are ready, and are waiting only for your consent.

22 Then the commander of the Roman army sent the young man away, after warning him not to tell anyone about the conversation that they had had.

23 Then he called two of the centurions and said: Make ready two hundred soldiers, and seventy horsemen, and two hundred archers, to go to Caesarea at the third hour of the night.

24 And let there be horses for Paul, so that he may be brought safely to Felix the governor.

25 And he wrote a letter with the following words.

26 Claudius Lysias to the very excellent governor Felix, greetings.

27 This man had been seized by the Jews, and was about to be killed by them. And I came to them with soldiers and rescued him, perceiving that he was a Roman.

28 And wishing to know the reason why they accused him, I brought him before their council.

29 And I found that he was accused about the interpretations of their law, and that he had committed no crime worthy of death or imprisonment [regarding our law].

30 And when I was informed that the Jews were lying in wait for him, I immediately sent him to you, and I told his accusers to come before you to speak against him. Farewell.

31 Then the soldiers took Paul, as they had been ordered, and led him away during the night to Antipatris.

32 And the next day, they the horsemen continue with Paul to go to Caesarea, while the other soldiers returned to the fortress.

33 And when they arrived at Caesarea, the horsemen delivered the letter to the governor and presented Paul before him.

34 And when the governor had read the letter, he asked of what province Paul was.

35 And when he understood that Paul was of Cilicia, he said, 'I will hear you when your accusers come'. And he commanded to keep Paul in the palace of Herod.

Acts 24

1 And five days later, Ananias the high priest arrived with some elders, and with an orator named Tertullus. And they informed the governor of what was reproached to Paul.

2 And when the governor caused to bring Paul before the assembly, Tertullus began to accuse him with the following words.

3 Very excellent Felix, our people enjoy great peace thanks to the quality of your leadership, and beneficial reforms are being made thanks to your foresight. We acknowledge it wholly and everywhere, and we are very grateful.

4 And now we pray you to consider our concern. We will try to explain it in a few words, hoping not to seem tedious to you.

5 We have found this pestilent man who has stirred up divisions among all the Jews throughout the world, and who is a ringleader of the sect of the Nazarenes.

6 In his most provocative work, he has wanted to pollute the temple [of our God]. And it was at this time that we have arrested him, with the desire to judge him according to our law.

7 But the commander of the Roman army Lysias came against us, and took him out of our hands with a great violence, and ordered the accusers to come before you.

8 And now, by questioning this man yourself, you can learn from him all the things we blame him for.

9 Then the Jews joined in the accusation, affirming that these things were so.

10 And when the governor beckoned to Paul to speak, he answered with the following words: Knowing that you have been judging this nation for many years, I speak with confidence to defend my cause.

11 It has only been twelve days since I went to Jerusalem to worship, as you can make sure for yourself. [Now When Paul says that he was going to Jerusalem to worship, he means that he went there to convince the Jews who were to regroup there that Jesus is the Christ. Paul wants to save as much Jew as possible, before God destroys a large part of those who refused to believe when he destroys the temple that had been built to bear his name. Paul came to Jerusalem on the occasion of the celebration of the Christian Pentecost, which took place seven weeks after the Jewish Passover festival and therefore corresponds to the feast of the weeks prescribed in the law of Moses.]

12 I was not found disputing with someone or stirring up a mob in the temple, or in the synagogues, or in the city. [Now Paul knows that the Lord Jesus is not interested in what a person is doing but only by the reasons why this person does something, and therefore Paul does not intend to prevent the Jews from doing what they do but only to explain to them that this is no longer what is most important.]

13 Therefore they cannot prove that I am guilty of the things they accuse me of.

14 But I acknowledge before you that I serve the God of my fathers in the way that they call a sect. [Now this new doctrine allows us to do whatever we want, provided that we take into consideration the well-being of others. And they call it a sect because there is no more obligation to do something in particular.]

15 I believe in all that is written in the law and the prophets. And I have this hope in God, just as many of them, that there will be a resurrection of both the just and the unjust.

16 That is why in all things I strive to act in such a way as to always have a good conscience towards God and men.

17 Now after an absence of many years, I have come to do alms to my nation and to offer gifts.

18 And it is at that moment that some Jews from Asia found me purified in the temple, without a crowd or tumult. [Indeed, Paul went to the temple with the aim of acting according to the law, after James asked him to behave in this way so as not to excite the crowds.]

19 It is up to them to appear in front of you and accuse me with real evidence, if they have something against me.

20 Or let them declare of which crime they have found me guilty when I stood before the council [at Jerusalem] to plead my cause.

21 I have said only the following thing when I was standing among them: It is because of [my hope in] the resurrection of the dead that I am judged today before you.

22 Now Felix already had a certain understanding of the new doctrine of which Paul was one of the teachers. And after he had heard these words, he postponed the assembly by saying: I will examine your case when Lysias the commander of the army comes. [Now Felix knows that the new doctrine explains that some of the commandments of the book of the law of Jews are not necessary to achieve what disciples call eternal life, but the exact definition of that notion of eternal life is unknown to everyone, even to those who teach the doctrine.]

23 Then Felix ordered the centurion to keep Paul but to grant him certain freedoms, and to prevent none of his friends from serving him.

24 And a few days later, Felix came with his wife Drusilla who was a Jewess, and he sent for Paul. And they listened to Paul who was speaking of the faith in Christ.

25 And Paul was speaking of righteousness, and of self-control, and of the judgment to come, and that frightened Felix. And Felix said to Paul: Go your way for this time, and I will send for you when I have more time.

26 And Felix was hoping that Paul would give him money. Therefore he sent for Paul frequently, under the pretext of wanting to talk with him.

27 And two years passed in this way, and Felix was succeeded by Porcius Festus. And desiring to please the Jews, Felix left Paul in prison.

Acts 25

1 And when Festus arrived in the province, three days later he went up from Caesarea to Jerusalem.

2 Then the high priest and the leaders of the Jews came before him to complain about Paul.

3 And they besought Festus to order to bring Paul at Jerusalem. They intended to prepare an ambush to kill Paul on the way.

4 But Festus replied that Paul should be kept at Caesarea, and that he himself would soon leave Jerusalem.

5 And Festus said: Let the leaders among you come down with me. And if there is any wickedness in that man, then let them accuse him there.

6 And Festus stayed with them only eight or ten days, and he went down to Caesarea. And the day after his arrival, he sat on the judgment seat and commanded Paul to be brought.

7 And when Paul had come, the Jews who had come from Jerusalem surrounded him and spoke many serious accusations against him, despite the fact that they were unable to prove what they were saying.

8 And Paul defended himself by saying: I have committed nothing wrong, neither against the law of the Jews, nor against the temple, nor against Caesar.

9 And Festus had the desire to please the Jews, and therefore he answered Paul and said: Do you want to go up to Jerusalem and be judged there before me concerning these things. [Now the persecution against the disciples of Jesus was intense in Jerusalem at the time of the conversion of Paul, and shortly after there was a certain calm. But it was many years ago, and new generations of Jews have become adults and are zealous for the law of Moses. And some Jews attack Paul when he preached the exact content of his message in foreign notions where some Jews live, and the resistance should be even stronger in Jerusalem where the temple of the Jews is located.]

10 Then Paul said: I am standing before the judgment seat of [a representative of] Caesar, where I ought to be judged. I have done no wrong to the Jews, as you know very well.

11 If I have committed any wrong that is a crime worthy of death, then I do not refuse to die. But if the things they accuse me of are false, then no one has the right to give me to them. I appeal to Caesar.

12 Then Festus consulted the council, and after that he answered and said: You have appealed to Caesar, you will go before Caesar.

13 And a few days later, king Agrippa and Bernice came to Caesarea in order to salute Festus. [Now king Agrippa reigns over the territory of Judea, and this territory is under the authority of the Roman empire rule by Caesar.]

14 And when they had stayed there for several days, Festus declared the cause of Paul to the king with the following words.

15 There is a certain prisoner whom Felix left in prison before I succeeded him as governor. And while I was in Jerusalem, the chief priests and the elders of the Jews complained about that man and demanded his condemnation.

16 And I told them that it is not the custom of the Romans to condemn a man until the accused has been brought before his accusers face to face, and has had the opportunity to defend himself regarding the things that are reproached to him.

17 And when I had returned here, I did not delay. I sat down the next day on the judgment seat, and I commanded the man to be brought.

18 And when the accusers stood up, they did not accuse him of any of the things that I had supposed.

19 They were arguing with him about their own superstition, and about a certain Jesus who had died and whom Paul affirmed to be alive.

20 Not knowing what to do in this dispute, I have asked him if he wanted to go to Jerusalem and be judged there concerning these things.

21 But after Paul asked to be kept for the decision of Augustus, I commanded to keep him until I send him to Caesar.

22 Then Agrippa said to Festus, 'I also want to listen to that man'. And Festus replied, 'Tomorrow you will hear him'.

23 And on the next day, Agrippa and Bernice came with great pomp. And they entered the place of audience with the commanders of the army and the leaders of the city, and Paul was brought in at the command of Festus.

24 Then Festus said: King Agrippa, and all of you who are present with us, you see this man about whom the whole multitude of the Jews have complained to me, both in Jerusalem and here, shouting that he should not be left alive any longer.

25 As for me, I have not discovered that he has committed a crime that is worthy of being punished by the death penalty. And since he himself has appealed to Augustus, I have decided to send him there.

26 And now, I have nothing certain to write to my lord the emperor about this man. Therefore I have brought him before you all, and especially before you, king Agrippa, so that I may know what to write after he has been examined.

27 Indeed, it seems unreasonable to me to send him a prisoner without telling him the facts with which that prisoner is accused.

Acts 26

1 Then Agrippa said to Paul, 'You are allowed to speak in your defense'. And Paul stretched out his hand, and began to speak with the following words.

2 I consider myself happy, king Agrippa, for the fact that I can speak before you today concerning all the things of which I am accused by the Jews.

3 For you have a good knowledge of all their customs, and of the matters that concern the Jews. Therefore I beseech you to listen to me patiently.

4 My life has been known to all the Jews, since the early days of my youth. For I have grown up at Jerusalem, among my own people.

5 They know that I have lived for a long time as a Pharisee, according to the most rigid sect of our religion. They can declare it to you.

6 And now I stand here to be judged because of my hope for the fulfilment of the promise that God made to our fathers.

7 This promise is the reason for the existence of our twelve tribes, who continually serve God day and night with the desire to please him. It is for this hope that I am accused by the Jews, O king.

8 Why should you think that it is impossible for God to raise the dead. [Unlike some other disciples of Jesus, such as the apostle Peter whose understanding was gradual, Paul has reached a great level of understanding of the faith in Jesus from the moment of his conversion. Paul knows that there exists a unique eternal life where there is no distinction between Jews and non-Jews, and where Jesus is currently located. No one in those days knows the exact definition of this eternal life which some disciples of Jesus imagined to be a place where Jews are separated from non-Jews, but they know that the only way to access it is to love one's neighbor as oneself. One must want the good of others in all the things that are done, and nothing should be done in a publicly unjustifiable way. But the fact that the temple of God continues to exist prevents some followers of Jesus from having a better understanding of the faith.]

9 As for me, I had deemed it necessary to do many things against the name of Jesus of Nazareth.

10 This is what I did in Jerusalem where I imprisoned many of the saints, having received this authority from the chief priests. And whenever they were being put to death, I gave my approval with the others.

11 And I often punished them in all the synagogues, and compelled them to blaspheme. In my fury against them, I persecuted them even to foreign cities.

12 And I went to Damascus for this purpose, with the authority and commission of the chief priests.

13 And at midday, O king, I saw on the way a light from heaven which was shining around me and those with me. It was brighter than the sun.

14 And we all fell to the ground, and I heard a voice saying to me in the Hebrew language: Saul, Saul, why are you persecuting me. It would be hard for you to push against the prickles.

15 Then I said, 'Who are you, Lord'. And he said, 'I am Jesus whom you are persecuting'.

16 And now, get up and stand on your feet. For I have appeared to you in order to appoint you as a minister and a witness of the things that you have seen and of the things in which I will appear to you.

17 I have chosen you from among this people, and from among the Gentiles to whom I am sending you.

18 So that you may open their eyes, so that they may turn from darkness to light and from the power of Satan to God. So that they may receive, through faith in me, forgiveness of sins and inheritance among those who are sanctified.

19 Therefore, king Agrippa, I have not been disobedient to the heavenly vision.

20 First to those in Damascus, then in Jerusalem, and throughout all Judea, and among the Gentiles, I have preached repentance and conversion to God which the disciple must manifest through works worthy of repentance.

21 That is why the Jews have seized me in the temple and tried to kill me. [Indeed, James asked Paul to go to the temple of God and behave in a way that conforms to the law given by Moses to the children of Jacob, so as not to create a tumult in the crowds. And Paul obeyed because the teaching of Jesus consists of not being interested in what a person does but only in the reasons why that person does something.]

22 But I have survived to this day thanks to the help of God, bearing witness to both small and great, without departing from what the prophets and Moses foretold.

23 For it is written that Christ should suffer, and being the first to rise from the dead [and ascend into heaven after that], he should proclaim light to this people and to the Gentiles.

24 And when Paul had spoken thus in his defense, Festus said with a loud voice: You are mad, Paul. Your great learning has made you mad.

25 And Paul replied: I am not mad, very excellent Festus. On the contrary, I speak the words of truth and of common sense.

26 For the king knows of these things, and I can explain them to him clearly. For I am convinced that none of these things are hidden from him, since they did not happen in secret.

27 Do you believe in the writings of the prophets, king Agrippa. I know that you believe.

28 Then Agrippa said to Paul: You will soon want to persuade me to become a Christian.

29 And Paul said: Whether it is soon or later, I pray to God to grant that not only you, but also all those who are listening to me today, you may become such as I am, except for these bonds.

30 And when Paul had spoken thus, the king stood up, and Festus the governor, and Bernice, and all those who had sat with them.

31 And when they had left, they said to one another: This man has done nothing worthy of death or imprisonment.

32 And Agrippa said to Festus: This man might have been released, if he had not appealed to Caesar.

Acts 27

1 Now when it was decided that we should sail for Italy, Paul and some other prisoners were given to a centurion named Julius, of the Augustan band.

2 And we boarded a ship from the city of Adramyttium, which was about to sail to Asia. And we set sail, having with us Aristarchus a Macedonian from Thessalonica.

3 And the next day we arrived at Sidon. And Julius treated Paul kindly, and allowed him to go to his friends and refresh himself.

4 And from there we sailed under Cyprus, because the winds were contrary.

5 And after crossing the sea that borders Cilicia and Pamphylia, we arrived at Myra a city of Lycia.

6 And there, the centurion found a ship from Alexandria that was sailing for Italy, and he put us on board.

7 And we sailed slowly many days, and reached the city of Cnidus with difficulty because the wind was blowing against us. Then we sailed under Crete, opposite Salmone.

8 And we sailed along the coast, but the sailing was hard. Then we came to a place called Beautiful Harbors, near the city of Lasea.

9 We had lost a lot of time, and it was now dangerous to sail.

10 Therefore Paul said to them: Sirs, I see that this voyage will not be without hurt and great damage, not only to the cargo and to the ship, but also to our lives.

11 But the centurion listened to the master and the owner of the ship, rather than to the words of Paul.

12 And since that harbor was not suitable for wintering, most of the men agreed to leave it and try to reach Phoenix, a harbor of Crete facing southwest and northwest, in order to winter there.

13 And when the south wind began to blow softly, they assumed that the conditions were favorable to achieve their goals. And they raised the anchor and sailed close to the island of Crete.

14 But soon after, a stormy wind called Euraquilo arose against the island.

15 And the ship was caught, and was unable to resist the wind, and we were adrift.

16 And we passed below a small island called Clauda, and we were able to bring in the lifeboat but with difficulty.

17 After hoisting it aboard, they tied ropes around the ship to hold it together. And the men were afraid that the ship would hit the sandbanks of Syrtis. So they lowered the sail and let the wind carry the ship.

18 As we were being violently tossed by the storm, the next day they began to throw the cargo into the sea.

19 And on the third day we threw out the equipment of the ship with our own hands.

20 And when neither the sun nor the stars appeared for several days, and a rather severe storm was raging over us, all hope of salvation was then taken away from us.

21 And after they had gone a long time without food, Paul stood in the midst of them and said: Sirs, you should have listened to me and not departed from Crete, in order to avoid this misfortune and loss.

22 And now I urge you to have courage. For not one of you will perish, and there will be no loss except that of the ship.

23 For an angel of the God to whom I belong and whom I serve has appeared to me in the last night.

24 And he has said to me: Do not be afraid, Paul. For you must stand before Caesar. And lo, God has given you all those who sail with you.

25 Therefore, sirs, have a good courage. For I have confidence in God that it will be as I have been told.

26 However, we must be thrown on a certain island.

27 On the fourteenth night, as we were driven to and fro in the Adriatic sea, about midnight the sailors surmised that we were approaching land.

28 And they sounded the depth of the waters with a plumbline, and found twenty fathoms. And when they had gone a little further, they sounded again and found fifteen fathoms.

29 Then they were afraid of running into rocks. Therefore they threw four anchors from the stern, and waited impatiently for daylight.

30 But some of the sailors were trying to escape from the ship, and were lowering the lifeboat into the sea under the pretext of throwing more anchors from the foreship.

31 Then Paul said to the centurion and the soldiers: If these men do not stay in the ship, then you yourselves cannot be saved.

32 Then the soldiers cut the ropes of the lifeboat, and let it fall.

33 And at daybreak, Paul urged everyone to take food by saying: Today is the fourteenth day that you have been waiting and continuing to abstain from food. [Now this does not mean that they ate absolutely nothing, but that they ate almost nothing.]

34 Therefore I beseech you to take food. For this is necessary for your safety, and not a hair from the head of any of you will perish.

35 And when Paul had spoken thus, he took bread and gave thanks to God in front of them all, and broke it, and began to eat.

36 And they all took courage, and they ate too.

37 We were in total two hundred and seventy six souls in the ship.

38 And when they had eaten enough, they lightened the ship by throwing the grain into the sea.

39 And when the day came, they did not know what was the land that they were seeing. But when they saw a bay with a beach, they decided to sail the ship to the beach if they could.

40 And they cut the ropes of the anchors to let them go in the sea, and at the same time they loosed the rudder bonds. Then they hoisted the foresail to the wind and headed for the beach.

41 But they came to a place where two seas met, and they ran the ship aground. And the forepart struck and remained unmovable, but the hinderpart was broken by the violence of the waves.

42 And the soldiers decided to kill the prisoners, lest any of them may swim away and escape.

43 But the centurion, wanting to save Paul, prevented them from carrying out this plan. And he ordered those who could swim to jump into the water, and to swim to the land.

44 And he ordered the others to use either boards or broken pieces of the ship. And this is how they have all escaped safely to the land. [Now this includes Paul and also the narrator of the story.]

Acts 28

1 And when we had escaped, then we knew that the island was called Melita.

2 The barbarians showed us a great kindness. They gathered us all around a large fire, which they had lit because it was raining and it was very cold.

3 And when Paul gathered a pile of brushwood to put it on the fire, a viper came out because of the heat, and fastened itself on the hand of Paul.

4 And when the barbarians saw venomous beast hanging from the hand of Paul, they said to one another: Surely this man is a murderer, since Justice refused to let him live after he has escaped from the sea.

5 And Paul shook the viper into the fire, and felt no harm.

6 And those people were expecting Paul to swell up or suddenly fall dead. But after having looked at him for a long time, and having seen no harm happening to him, they changed their minds and said that he was a God.

7 Now in the neighborhood of that place were lands belonging to the chief man of the island, named Publius, who received us and lodged us for three days courteously.

8 And father of Publius was then in bed, sick of a fever and of dysentery. And Paul went to him, and prayed, and laid his hands on him, and healed him.

9 After this had been done, the other sick people of the island came to Paul and were healed.

10 And they honored us greatly. And when we boarded a ship to depart, they provided us with the things that we needed.

11 We had stayed there for three months, we boarded a ship of Alexandria which had wintered in the island and whose ensign was Castor and Pollux.

12 And when we arrived at Syracuse, we stayed there for three days.

13 And from there, we followed the coast and arrived st Rhegium. And the south wind blew on the next day, and we arrived at Puteoli on the second day.

14 And there we found some brothers [believers] who asked us to stay seven days with them. And after that we went to Rome.

15 And the brothers [believers] in Rome heard about us and came to meet us at the Market of Appius and at the Three Taverns. And when Paul saw them, he gave thanks to God and took courage.

16 And when we entered Rome, the centurion delivered the prisoners to the captain general, but Paul was allowed to dwell by himself with a soldier who was guarding him.

17 And after three days, Paul called together those who were the chief of the Jews. And when they had come together, he said to them: Brothers, although I had done nothing against the people, or the customs of our fathers, nevertheless I have been delivered prisoner from Jerusalem into the hands of the Romans.

18 And when they had examined me, they wanted to release me because there was nothing in me that deserved the death penalty.

19 But the Jews opposed this, and I was constrained to appeal to Caesar [in order to escape from their hands], having no intention of accusing my nation.

20 That is why I have called for you, to see you and to speak with you. For it is because of the hope of Israel that I am bound with this chain.

21 Then they said to him: We have not received any letters from Judea concerning you, and no brother has come to us to report or speak evil of you.

22 But we desire to hear from you what you think. For we know that this sect is fought everywhere. [That is to say, the sect of those who are disciples of a certain Jesus and who are interpreting the Jewish scriptures in a way that no one understands.]

23 And when they had appointed him a day, they came to him into his lodging in great number. And Paul preached to them the kingdom of God, bearing witness and trying to persuade them, from the law of Moses and from the prophets, that Jesus is the hope of Israel. And they talked from morning until evening.

24 And some were persuaded by the things that were spoken, but others did not believe.

25 And as they did not agree among themselves, they departed after Paul had added the following words: It is with reason that the Holy Spirit, speaking to your fathers through Isaiah the prophet, has said the following thing.

26 Go to this people and say: You will hear with your ears, but you will not understand. You will see with your eyes, but you will not perceive.

27 For the heart of this people has grown fat. They have hardened their ears, and closed their eyes, lest they see with their eyes and hear with their ears. Lest they understand with their hearts, and convert, and I should heal them.

28 Know therefore that this salvation of God is sent to the Gentiles, and they will listen to it.

29 And when Paul had spoken thus, the Jews departed, arguing fiercely among themselves.

30 And Paul dwelt two whole years in a house rented for himself.

31 And he received all those who came to him, preaching the kingdom of God and teaching the things concerning the Lord Jesus Christ with complete freedom and without hindrance.

Romans

Romans 1

1 Paul, a servant of Jesus Christ called to be an apostle, set apart to proclaim the gospel of God.

2 The good news that God had promised before through his prophets in the holy scriptures.

3 Concerning his Son Jesus Christ our Lord, born of the seed of David according to the flesh.

4 And declared to be the Son of God with power, according to the spirit of holiness, by his resurrection from the dead.

5 By whom we have received grace and apostleship, in order to lead all peoples to obedience by faith in his name.

6 And you also are called to belong to Jesus Christ.

7 To all those who are in Rome and who are called to be saints because they are beloved by God: May grace and peace be with you from God our Father and from the Lord Jesus Christ.

8 First of all, I give thanks to my God through Jesus Christ concerning you all, because your faith is renowned throughout the whole world.

9 And God, whom I serve with my spirit in the gospel of his Son, is my witness that I always make mention of you in my prayers.

10 Continually asking to finally have, by his will, the happiness to come to you.

11 For I long to see you, in order to transmit to you some spiritual gift, so that you may be strengthened.

12 Or rather, so that we may be encouraged together among you by the faith that you and I have in common.

13 Brothers, I do not want you to be unaware of the fact that I have often planned to come to you, in order to have some fruit in you also as among other nations. But until now I have been prevented.

14 For I have the duty to serve both the Greeks and the barbarians, and both the learned and the unlearned.

15 Therefore I am eager to preach the gospel to you also, you who are in Rome.

16 For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ. For it is the power of God for the salvation of everyone who believes, first to the Jew and also to the Greek [in the present time while the Jewish temple built to put into practice the law of Moses is not yet destroyed, since the Jew is the one who is supposed to know the law of Moses that we use to explain the message of the gospel of Christ].

17 For in it is revealed the righteousness of God from faith [in the law of Moses] to faith [in the law of Christ], as it is written: The righteous will live by faith. [Now in the following prophecy which had been given by the prophet Habakkuk, the Lord announced the imminent coming of a faith that is different from the faith in the law of Moses: Write the prophecy. Engrave it clearly on tablets so that it may be read easily. For it is a prophecy whose time has already been set. It is near its end and will not lie. Wait for it, although it may delay. For it will surely be fulfilled, it will not last forever. [Write the following sentence.] Behold his soul has swelled up, it is not straight in him, but the righteous will live by his faith.]

18 For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men who hinder the truth in unrighteousness. [That is to say, against those who hide a truth with the aim of causing an injustice.]

19 For what may be known about God is manifest to them, God having made it known to them.

20 For the invisible perfections of God, his eternal power and divinity, are clearly seen from the creation of the world when they are considered in his works. [That is to say, the greatness of the unique commandment given by Jesus can be perceived in all the holy scriptures from the account of the creation of the world, in all the narratives that preceded and followed the law given by Moses.]

21 Therefore they are inexcusable. For despite the fact that they have known God [whom we have declared to them by the preaching of the gospel of Christ], they have not exalted him as God and have not been grateful. And they have become futile in their reasonings, and their foolish hearts have been darkened.

22 Boasting about being wise, they have become fools.

23 And they have changed the glory of the incorruptible God into the likeness of the image of corruptible man, and of birds, and of four-footed beasts, and of creeping things.

24 Therefore God gave them up to impurity in the lusts of their own hearts, to dishonor their own bodies with each other.

25 For they have changed the truth of God into a lie, and have worshipped and served the creature rather than the Creator who is blessed forever. Amen.

26 Therefore God gave them up to vile passions. And even their women have changed the natural use into that which is against nature.

27 And likewise the men, leaving the natural use of the woman, burned in their lust one toward another, men with men committing shameful things and receiving in themselves the reward that their error deserves.

28 For as they have refused to acknowledge God, so God has delivered them to a depraved mind to do what is unworthy, being full of all unrighteousness, and of fornication, and of wickedness, and of covetousness, and of maliciousness.

29 Full of envy, and of murder, and of quarrelsomeness, and of deceit, and of malignity.

30 Whisperers, and slanderers, haters of God, arrogant, haughty, boasters, inventors of evil things, disobedient to parents.

31 Without understanding, covenant-breakers, without natural affection, implacable, unmerciful.

32 And although they know the judgment of God who declares worthy of death those who commit such things, not only do they do them, but they also approve those who do them.

Romans 2

1 Nevertheless you are inexcusable, O man, whoever you are who judge those persons. For in judging others you condemn yourself, because you who judge do the same things. [That is to say, if you declare them cursed then you are committing a transgression similar to theirs. For the message of the gospel of Jesus Christ is to do nothing in a publicly unjustifiable way, and to seek the well-being of others in everything that we do. And every disciple of Jesus must content himself with constantly reminding everyone else of this message of the gospel, and he must concern himself solely with his personal relationship with God. So every disciple of Jesus must distance himself in various ways from any person who refuses to also become a disciple of Jesus, but must not take the initiative to punish or have punished a person who has not offended another living being in a publicly unjustifiable way.]

2 For we know that the judgment of God is according to truth against those who commit such things.

3 And do you think that you will escape the judgment of God, O man, when you judge those who commit such things [that is to say, when you desire that they be punished despite the fact that they have not offended another living being in a publicly unjustifiable way]. For you will be transgressing in a similar way.

4 Or do you despise the riches of the goodness of God, namely his patience and his long-suffering, not acknowledging that this goodness of God aims to lead the transgressor to repentance.

5 But because of your hardness and impenitent heart, you accumulate against yourself a treasure of wrath for the day of wrath and of the revelation of the righteous judgment of God.

6 For God will reward each person according to his deeds.

7 Reserving eternal life for those who, by perseverance in well-doing, seek honor, and incorruption, and glory.

8 And reserving wrath and indignation to those who obey unrighteousness, those who are selfish and do not obey the truth.

9 Tribulation and anguish will be on the soul of every man who does evil, on the Jew first and also on the Greek. [In this context the Jew is simply a person to whom the gospel has already been explained, and the Greek is simply a person to whom the gospel has not yet been explained.]

10 But glory, and honor, and peace, will be for every one who does good, for the Jew first and also on the Greek. [In this context the Jew is simply a person to whom the gospel has already been explained, and the Greek is simply a person to whom the gospel has not yet been explained.]

11 For God does not have respect for the face of a person.

12 For all those who have sinned without knowing the law will also perish without being judged by the law, and all those who have sinned while knowing the law will be judged by the law. [It is about the law of Moses which existed before Christ, and it is also about the law of Christ which is taught by the apostles and the disciples of Jesus. And this means that God only considers what each person knows.]

13 For it is not those who hear the law who are righteous before God, but it is those who put into practice the law of which they have knowledge who will be justified.

14 Many of those who are not Jews do not have the law [given by Moses]. But when they naturally do many of the things that are commanded by the law [given by Moses], without even knowing the law [given by Moses], then they are their own law.

15 They show that the spirit of the law [of Moses] is written in their hearts, and the conscience of each of them bears witness to it when his own thoughts accuse him or defend him. [Now the spirit of the law of Moses is the law of Christ.]

16 This what will be revealed in the day when God will judge the secrets of men by Jesus Christ, in accordance with the gospel that I teach.

17 And now, you who call yourself a Jew and seek glory in the commandments of the law [given by Moses], and proudly claim to be close to God in this way.

18 You say that you know his will, and you appreciate the differences of things, being instructed by the law.

19 You boast of being a guide for the blind and a light for those who are in darkness [that is to say, those who do not understand the purpose of life].

20 You boast of being a revealer of the foolish and a teacher of the ignorant, because you have in the law the form of knowledge and of the truth.

21 You who teach others in this way, you do not teach yourself [now that you refuse to understand the gospel of Jesus Christ that has been proclaimed to you]. You who preach against stealing, but you steal [in a different way].

22 You say that a man should not commit adultery, but you commit adultery [in a different way]. You proclaim that you abhor idols, but you commit sacrilege [since you refuse to renounce behaviors that the revelation of Jesus Christ exposes as being forms of idolatry].

23 You glory in the law [given by Moses a servant of God], but you dishonor God by breaking the law [given by Jesus the Son of God].

24 For the name of God is blasphemed among the Gentiles because of you, as it is written. [That is to say, by your refusal to submit to the law of Christ, you will mislead non-Jews generation after generation by preventing them from understanding the teaching of the Son of God. For this teaching is deeply linked to the law given by Moses.]

25 Circumcision is beneficial if you practice all the other aspects of the law [given by Moses]. But if you transgress some other aspects of the law, then your circumcision becomes uncircumcision. [And it is in this way that God was angry with the children of Jacob in each of the generations that lived after Moses, whenever a person committed a willful transgression that was not caused by certain circumstantial constraints.]

26 Therefore if the uncircumcised person keeps the ordinances of the law, will not his uncircumcision be counted as circumcision. [Now this is to explain that it is not genealogy that interests God, as is already understandable from the fact that the law given by Moses authorizes voluntary conversions of those who are not children of Jacob.]

27 If a naturally uncircumcised person fulfills the law [that is to say, if a person who is not Jewish behaves in a way that is pleasing to God according to the commandments that you suppose God has reserved for such a person and which are different from the commandments that you suppose God has reserved for you], then will not such a person condemn you, you who have the letter of the law and circumcision and who are a transgressor of it [that is to say, you who are a descendant of Jacob and who do not observe all the aspects of the law given by Moses]. [Now this is to explain that Jews and non-Jews, who can already interact with each other while they are alive, are not in different places after death. For the scripture has made understood that the Jews are somewhere after death, since Saul the first king of Israel had been able to communicate with the spirit of Samuel who was already dead according to the flesh.]

28 For a Jew is not someone who is one outwardly, and circumcision is not that which is outward in the flesh.

29 But a Jew is someone who is one inwardly, and circumcision is that of the heart, according to the spirit and not according to the letter. The praise of such a person does not come from men, but from God.

Romans 3

1 What advantage then did the Jews have. Or what benefit has circumcision offered. [That is to say, if God only considers what each person knows and does not distinguish between communities as I have said, then what is the advantage of those who have received the law given by Moses.]

2 It is great in every way, especially in the fact that they were entrusted with the oracles of God.

3 But if some did not believe, will their unbelief nullify the faithfulness of God. [That is to say, in each generation some of the children of Jacob have disobeyed the law given by Moses, but could this fact prevent God from fulfilling the promise of that law namely the blessing that Jacob pronounced shortly before his death concerning his son Judah. And similarly, can those who refuse today to believe in the power of the holy commandment given by Jesus Christ prevent God from fulfilling his promise regarding the triumph of those who choose to persevere in obedience to that holy commandment.]

4 Never. Indeed, let God be declared true and every [ordinary] man a liar as it is written: So that you may be justified in your words, and may prevail when you are judged. [That is to say, he who does not believe in a God of justice, he who now does not blindly obey the teachings of the gospel of Jesus Christ, this one cannot be justified in all that he does. The purpose of the scriptures is to make people understand how to put into practice the holy commandments given by Jesus Christ.]

5 And if our unrighteousness establishes the righteousness of God, then what will we say. Is God unrighteous when he sends forth his anger. I speak thus in the manner of men. [That is to say, if a person acts wickedly and commits an abomination, or if a natural disaster occurs, then should we blame God for allowing such a thing to happen.]

6 Never. For how should God judge the world.

7 And if the truth of God emerges in a dazzling way from an event in which my participation has been a willful evil, then why am I still being judged as a sinner. [That is to say, if a person commits a willful evil action and this causes an event to occur that greatly instructs others about the truth of God, or if such an event occurs from an unjustifiable lie of a person, a lie that is not an answer to a real circumstantial constraint, then should such a person expect to be forgiven by God.]

8 And why should a person not choose to do evil with the aim of allowing something good to happen, as some who slander us claim that we do. The condemnation of such a person is just. [That is to say, if a person willingly does wrong or lies without being subjected to a real circumstantial constraint, and if in his heart his intention is to create an instructive event for others, then this intention cannot be sufficient to justify the fact that he has not acted righteously and without deception. And there are some people who accuse us of having this behavior when we proclaim the gospel of Jesus Christ.]

9 What then. Are we Jews more excellent than others. Not at all. For we have already proven that all, both Jews and Gentiles, are under sin.

10 As it is written: There is none righteous, not even one.

11 There is none who understands, there is none who seeks God. [That is to say, no one thinks of seeking God in the right way.]

12 They have all gone astray, they have become together unprofitable. There is none who does good, not even one.

13 Their throat is an open sepulchre, they use their tongues to deceive. The poison of asps is under their lips.

14 Their mouth is full of cursing and bitterness.

15 Their feet are swift to shed blood.

16 Destruction and misery are in their paths.

17 They do not know the way of peace.

18 The fear of God is not before their eyes.

19 Now we know that whatever the law says, it says to those who are under the law, so that every mouth may be stopped, and all the world may be brought under the judgment of God.

20 For no one will be justified in his sight by the practice of the rituals described in the law. For it is through the law that the knowledge of sin comes. [Now the instructive behaviors described in the scriptures did not consist of practicing the rituals of the law given by Moses with the same rigor that Moses practiced those same rituals when he was obeying orders directly received from the angels of God. For the instructive behaviors described in the scriptures are rather found either in the narratives that do not concern the rituals commanded by Moses, or in the reasons why those rituals were not rigorously observed (1 Rommel 3:28-29). And concerning the memory of Josiah king of Judah who wanted to conform exactly to what he knew of the rituals of law given by Moses, this cannot but be compared to the memory of Hezekiah king of Judah who wanted to conform exactly to the love of God.]

21 And now the righteousness of God has been revealed as being independent of the law [given by Moses], and the law and the prophets bear witness to it.

22 The righteousness of God which is by faith in Jesus Christ for all those who believe. There is no distinction.

23 For all have sinned, and are deprived of the glory of God.

24 And they are justified for free by his grace, through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus.

25 Whom God has established to make reconciliation through faith in his blood [or more precisely faith in his resurrection].

26 God has thus demonstrated his righteousness after having left unpunished the sins committed previously, in the time of his patience. He has demonstrated his righteousness in the present time, for he is righteous through the fact that he justifies those who have faith in Jesus.

27 Where then is the boasting. It is excluded. For righteousness is not obtained by the law [received from angels], nor by works, but by the law of faith.

28 For we proclaim that a person is justified by faith, and not by the practice of the law [given by Moses].

29 Or is God the God of the Jews only. Is he not also the God of the Gentiles. Yes, he is the God of the Gentiles also.

30 For there is one God, who will justify the circumcised by faith, and the uncircumcised by faith. [Now Paul lived when the temple of God has not yet been destroyed, and that is why he expresses himself in this way.]

31 Do we then destroy the law by faith. Far from it. On the contrary, we confirm the law given by Moses. [That is to say, it is the pedagogy of the law given by Moses that allows us to understand how to put into practice the law of faith given by Jesus Christ. The righteous persons who lived before Moses wanted to do what is good but did not know exactly what to do, and God rewards every righteous person by allowing that person to create an information that will have a historical utility in the transformation of the world. And the law of Moses was given only to certain people who were carrying the personal legacies of some of those who had been righteous before them, and it is the teaching of Jesus Christ that has made known to all the world what one must do to be a righteous person.]

Romans 4

1 What will we say then concerning the thing that Abraham our father has obtained according to the flesh.

2 If Abraham had been justified by the very nature of the works that he was doing [and not by the quality of the justifications that he possessed while he was doing what he was doing], then he would have had reason to boast before men but not before God. [That is to say, it was not because Abraham wanted to build a personal legacy that he had been justified by the God who makes all things happen, but rather the fact that Abraham wanted to be pleasing to a God of justice whose exact identity he did not know. Abraham was unaware of certain things concerning the God of justice as it is written, 'I appeared to Abraham and to Isaac and to Jacob by the name of Almighty God, but I was not known to them by my name', and it is Jesus of Nazareth who has taught the exact knowledge of the God of justice according to the following thing that he has said, 'I and my Father are one'.]

3 For what does the scripture say. It is written: Abraham has trusted God, and it is for this reason that God recognized him as a righteous person.

4 Now when a person does a work, the reward is not given to him as a grace but as a payment of a debt.

5 But if a person acts solely by the desire to please the one who justifies the ungodly [that is to say, if a person only wants to please the Almighty God of justice who is merciful to all the unrighteous who desire to turn their gaze toward him], then the faith of such a person is recognized as righteousness.

6 And David uses the following words to declare the blessing of the person whom God recognizes as being righteous without works.

7 Blessed are those whose iniquities are forgiven, those whose sins are covered.

8 Blessed is the man to whom the Lord does not impute his sin.

9 Is this blessing only for the circumcised, or is it also for the uncircumcised.

10 For we say that it was because of the faith of Abraham that he was recognized as a righteous person by God. When had his righteousness been acknowledged. Was it after or before his circumcision. He was not yet circumcised [in his flesh], he was uncircumcised.

11 And he received the sign of circumcision, as a seal of the righteousness which he had attain by his faith while he was uncircumcised, so that he might be the father of all the uncircumcised who believe [in our teaching of the gospel of Jesus], so that they may also attain the righteousness which is by faith.

12 And the father of the circumcised, those who are not only circumcised [in the flesh] but who also walk in the footsteps of the faith that our father Abraham had when he was uncircumcised [in the flesh].

13 Indeed, it was not through the law [given to Moses] that Abraham was promised that he and his seed would be the heirs of the world, but through the righteousness of faith.

14 For if the heirs are by the law [given to Moses], then faith is made void and consequently the promise is worthless. [For the promise was made to Abraham because of his faith, at a time when the law had not yet been given, and not all the children of Isaac the son of Abraham have inherited the promise since Esau the twin brother of Jacob had been excluded from it. Now it seems that certain details of the law given by Moses were practices known by certain communities since more ancient times, as the distinction between clean and unclean animals, but these cannot be all the details of this law in which it is written: You will add nothing to the word that I command you, and you will not diminish anything from it. But you will keep the commandments of the Lord your God as I command you.]

15 Moreover, the law produces anger [when there arise constraints that prevent putting it into practice], and where there is no law there is no transgression.

16 Therefore righteousness is attained by faith, so that salvation may be by grace, and so that the promise may be sure to all the seed. For the promise is not only for those who are under the law and who behaves wisely, but also for those who are not under the law and who have the faith of Abraham the father of us all. [For the seed of a person is not only formed by those who imitate his behavior among his descendants according to the flesh, but his seed is also formed by those who are not among his descendants according to the flesh and who imitate a part of his behavior.]

17 As it is written, 'I have made you a father of many nations'. He is our father before the one in whom he believed, namely God who gives life to the dead and who calls things that are not as if they were.

18 He did not turn away from his trust in God even when there was no other reason to have hope, and therefore he has become a father of many nations according to the following reward that had been announced to him: So will be your seed.

19 And without weakening in faith, he did not consider that his body was already worn out although he was almost a hundred years old, and that Sarah was no longer able to have children.

20 He did not doubt the promise of God, he never stopped believing, but he was strengthened in the faith.

21 Abraham was giving glory to God, having the full conviction that God can accomplish what he himself took the initiative to promise.

22 Therefore he was recognized as a person who walks in righteousness.

23 Now it is not because of him alone that it is written that God recognized him as a righteous person.

24 It is also for us, for we have the possibility to attain righteousness by reading it and believing in the one who raised Jesus our Lord from the dead.

25 Jesus was delivered up for our sins, and was raised from the dead for our justification.

Romans 5

1 Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ.

2 For it is by Jesus that our faith can give us access into this grace in which we stand [that is to say, it is Jesus who has allowed us to know exactly how we must serve God]. And we rejoice in the hope of the glory of God.

3 And not only so, but we also rejoice in tribulations, knowing that tribulation tests our perseverance.

4 And perseverance produces victory, and victory produces hope.

5 And this hope cannot disappoint us, because the love of God has been poured out in our hearts through the Holy Spirit who has been given to us.

6 For when we were still without strength, the appropriate time came and Christ died for the ungodly.

7 In those days it was hard to see someone die for a righteous man. Perhaps someone could die for a good man.

8 But God demonstrates his love toward us in that, while we were still sinners, Christ died for us.

9 Much more then, having been justified by his blood, we will be saved from the wrath of God if we stay in him.

10 For if we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son when we were enemies, much more, being reconciled, we will be saved by his life.

11 And not only so, but we also rejoice in God through our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom we have now received the reconciliation.

12 Sin entered into the world through one man, and death through sin, and so death spread to all men because all have sinned.

13 For sin was in the world until the law, but sin is not imputed where there is no law.

14 Nevertheless death reigned from Adam to Moses, even over those who had not sinned in the manner of Adam [that is to say, those who did not disobey an order received directly from an angel of God]. Adam was the figure of the one who was to come.

15 But the free gift of God [which is life in Jesus Christ] does not only behave like the sin of Adam. For if many died through the offense of one man, much more the grace of God and the gift by grace, which has come by one man who is Jesus Christ, has abounded to many.

16 And the gift is not like that which came through one man who sinned. For the judgment became condemnation after one offense, but the free gift becomes justification after many offenses.

17 If by one man's offense death reigned through one, much more those who receive abundance of grace and of the gift of righteousness will reign in life through one who is Jesus Christ.

18 So then, just as the judgment of condemnation came to all men by the offense of one, so the justification that leads to life came to all by the righteousness of one.

19 For just as many were made sinners by one man's disobedience, so many will be made righteous by the obedience of one.

20 Now the law was given so that the offense might abound. But where sin abounded [in this way], grace abounded more exceedingly. [Here it is about the advantage of the people who received the law, and who were a distinct people during the whole time when no one had yet explained that God does not need a temple to receive the category of offerings that the law requires to be given to him alone in precise quantities during the few holidays that have been created. All this will be finished after the destruction of the temple that existed during the life of Jesus, but some people have retained the advantage of being able to explain the knowledge of Christ to others based on the Jewish scriptures.]

21 So that just as sin reigned for death, so grace may reign by righteousness for eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Romans 6

1 What will we say then. Will we continue in sin so that grace may abound. [Now the temple of God built for the implementation of the commandments of the Jewish law has continued to exist throughout the life of Paul, and he is writing this letter to send it to the Jews and proselytes who live in Rome. So here Paul means that since one who has truly become a disciple of Jesus has truly understood the message of the gospel and has understood that the particular rituals required by the Jewish law are actually a form of sin, then such a person can no longer take the initiative to practice these rituals if there is no external constraint that is forcing him to do so. For the law revealed by Christ only requires to possess within oneself a justification that one knows to be publicly acceptable in everything that one does, whatever one is doing.]

2 By no means. We who have died to sin, how will we live any longer in it. [That is to say, those of us who have died with regard to sin, this death having occurred for each person when the message of the Lord Jesus Christ caused that person to understand the definition of the notion of righteousness, we know that we cannot hope for the coming of another definition of the notion of righteousness if we begin to sin again.]

3 Do you not know that all of us who have been baptized into Christ Jesus, have been baptized into his death. [That is to say, those of us who have received the Holy Spirit have received the testimony of his death according to the flesh and of his resurrection according to the Spirit. For John had said that he himself baptizes with water but Jesus will baptize with the Holy Spirit, and after his death and resurrection from the dead Jesus himself said to the first apostles: John has baptized with water, but you will be baptized with the Holy Spirit in a few days.]

4 So we have been buried with him by the baptism into his death [that is to say, we have killed our old selves by the reception of the Holy Spirit], so that just as Christ was raised from the dead by the glory of the Father [who thus gave him a new life], so we also should walk in newness of life.

5 For if we have become united with him in the likeness of his death, then we will be also in the likeness of his resurrection.

6 Knowing that our old selves have been crucified with him [at different times when each of us received a good understanding of his teaching], so that the sinful self of each of us should have no power over his body, so that we should no longer be slaves to sin.

7 For he who has died is freed from sin.

8 Now if we have died with Christ [at different times when each of us received a good understanding of his teaching], then we believe that we will also live with him. [That is to say, if we receive the Holy Spirit, and if our heart is predisposed to obey the Holy Spirit because we are part of those who were created to belong to Christ, then we sincerely obey the Holy Spirit and possess the conviction that this obedience will allow us to obtain a divine reward after our death according to the flesh, and we know the nature of this reward because we know the story of Jesus.]

9 Knowing that Christ, having been raised from the dead, dies no more. Death has no longer dominion over him [and he is alive forever].

10 For when he had died, he had died to sin once for all. And he was raised from the dead, and lives to God.

11 So you also, look at yourselves as being dead to sin and alive for God through Jesus Christ our Lord.

12 Therefore do not let sin reign in your mortal body, do not obey its desires. [Now Paul is building us up, so that those whose hearts are predisposed to belong to Christ may be encouraged by his words.]

13 Do not give your members to sin by making of them instruments of unrighteousness. But present yourselves to God, as people who have received a new form of life after having killed their former selves, and give your members as instruments of righteousness to God.

14 And sin will not have dominion over you, since you are not under a law but under grace. [For the Holy Spirit that you have received is a grace that submits only to its own law.]

15 What then. Can it happen that we are sinning only because we are not under a law but under the grace. Far from it.

16 Do you not know that by giving yourself up to someone as slaves in order to obey him, you are slaves of the one whom you have the desire to obey, whether of sin which leads to death or of obedience which leads to righteousness.

17 But thanks be to God that, although you had been slaves of sin, you have obeyed in your hearts to the rule of the doctrine in which you have been instructed.

18 Being then made free from sin, you have become slaves of righteousness.

19 I speak after the manner of men because of the weakness of your flesh. Just as you had given your members as slaves to impurity and to iniquity, to commit iniquity, so now give your members as slaves to righteousness to attain holiness. [Now this letter of Paul is to be send to the community of the Jews who live in the city of Rome, and this particular statement is valid not only for non-Jews but also for Jews. For the law of Christ taught by Paul has made it understood that there were in the law given by Moses certain commandments that led to impurity and idolatry, and this is true even if we consider only the ten commandments which contain the obligation to keep the sabbath day.]

20 For when you were slaves of sin, you were free from righteousness.

21 What fruit did you bear then. The fruit of which you are now ashamed. For the end of those things is death [that is to say, eternal death].

22 But now, having been set free from sin and made slaves of God, your fruit is holiness and the end is everlasting life.

23 For the wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Romans 7

1 Do you not know, brothers, that the law exercises its power over man as long as he lives. For I speak to men who know the law [which was given by Moses to the children of Jacob and which authorizes conversions of foreigners].

2 For a married woman is bound by the law to her husband as long as he is alive. But if the husband dies, then she is released from the part of the law that was binding her to her husband.

3 Therefore if she becomes the wife of another man during the lifetime of her husband, then she will be called an adulteress. But if the husband dies, then she is freed from that part of the the law and she is not adulterous by becoming the wife of another.

4 And now, my brothers, you also have been put to death through the body of Christ concerning the law [as Jesus had been put to death by the initiative of the Jewish high priest and other religious leaders], in order to be freed from the law and to be able to belong to another husband, namely Jesus who has been raised from the dead [and who has taught the understanding of the ten commandments and of all the other parts of the law given by Moses to the children of Jacob], so that we may bear fruit for God. [Now the need to try to understand the meaning of the commandments of the law given by Moses arises from the fact that the one described there as God declared that all the families of the earth will be blessed through Abraham the grandfather of Jacob, and that he gives this law to the children of Jacob among whom he will raise up prophets, and that he authorizes the conversions of certain strangers, and that he is the only God of all the earth, and he also said the following thing to Moses: I am alive, and all the earth will be filled with the glory of the Lord.]

5 For when we were in the flesh [that is to say, before the different moments when each of us has died with Christ through having understood and accepted his teaching], the passions of sin caused by the law worked in our members, to bring forth fruit to death. [Now these passions of sin were caused by certain aspects of the law such as the obligation to keep the sabbath day, or the obligation not to mix the inheritances of the different paternal tribes of Israel in the promised land, or the obligation to go to a particular place to make offerings to God, and other obligations. For where there is the obligation to perform a particular ritual, there is the excitement caused by the desire not to alter this particular ritual.]

6 But now we have been released from the law, having died to that law under which we were held, so that we should serve in the newness of the spirit and not in the oldness of the letter. [That is to say, Jesus died according to the flesh so that whoever becomes his disciple may also put to death the self that he had before understanding the message of the gospel, and live henceforth only according to the demands of the Spirit with the hope of being reunited with Jesus who had been raised from the dead. And this is true for everyone, whether it is a Jew who was under the law given by Moses or a non-Jew who was not under that law.]

7 What will we say then. Was the law a sin [for the Jew to whom a good explanation of the message of the gospel of Christ has not yet been announced]. Far from it. For it is through the law that I have known sin [that is to say, it is the law given by Moses that has allowed me to understand how to put into practice the commandment of the gospel of Christ]. For I would not have known covetousness, except the law had said: You will not covet. [Now the law given by Moses also explained to me how I must behave when I have publicly unjustifiably offended a person. For this law asks me to go to that person to obtain his forgiveness, and to repay the damage by adding a fifth of the value to it, according to my means and in the presence of a priest who is a descendant of Aaron and who must offer a sacrifice which is eaten. And the law of the gospel of Christ simply abolished the existence of priests who were intermediaries between God and men among the children of Jacob.]

8 And sin, seizing the opportunity, worked in me through the commandment all kinds of lusts [since I had to constantly think about what I can do to avoid altering the particular rituals that are commanded by law given by Moses]. For without a law [given by God], sin is dead.

9 Before I knew the law, I was alive. But when the commandment came, sin revived and I died. [That is to say, before I knew the law I had the freedom to take personal initiatives in everything that I could undertake, and I was not haunted by the obligation to have to do certain things in particular. I lived for myself, and not to carry out any particular commandments.]

10 Thus, the commandment which leads to life was found to lead to death for me.

11 For sin seized the opportunity, and deceived me by the commandment, and by it killed me. [That is to say, I was not living for myself but I was living for the law, for rituals commanded by law.]

12 Nevertheless the law is holy, and the commandment is holy, and righteous, and good. [That is to say, this is true as long as one has not understood the revelation of Christ, and this remains forever true concerning the ten commandments that God had spoken into the ears of all the people gathered at the foot of mount Sinai. As for the other commandments given by Moses, some served to explain how to put the ten commandments into practice, and some others served to introduce a house of God in response to the transgression of the people who asked Aaron to make a god that they could see with their eyes, and some others serve to highlight the fact that this law formed by a multitude of commandments can only be put into practice by a community made up of several tribes in addition to the tribe of priests and possessing a territory divided according to those tribes. Now the law of Moses was given to the children of Jacob, and that law allows the conversions of foreigners, and its sole purpose was to carry the personal inheritances of Abraham and Isaac and Jacob, since God had prophets were not subjected to that particular law like Balaam.]

13 Has what is good then been the cause of death for me. Far from it. But it is sin, so that it may manifest itself as sin by killing me through what is good, and that, through the commandment sin might become condemnable to the highest degree. [That is to say, it is the commandments of the law and the holy narratives of the behavior of the Jewish people that have allowed us to know the definition of the notion of sin with great precision. It is all this that has allowed us to know exactly how to put the holy commandment of Christ into practice.]

14 For we know that the law is spiritual, but I am not. I am carnal, sold to sin.

15 For I do not know what I do. For I do not do what I want, but I do what I hate. [Now these are several aspects of the law given by Moses, such as having to offer sacrificed animals to God alone in quantities that have been specified, offerings that no one eats and which are completely burned.]

16 But if I do what I do not want [without being in the process of hurting others], then I acknowledge that the law is good. [That is to say, I acknowledge that this law is teaching me not to think only of myself, and to be aware of the existence of God the creator who desires the good of those who love him.]

17 And now then, it is no longer me who is doing it of my own free will, but it is sin that dwells in me. [That is to say, if another living being made of flesh has not forced me in some way to do something that is not of my own initiative, then it is a form of sin that dwells within me that is causing me to do it.]

18 What is good, I know, does not dwell in me, that is to say in my flesh. For I have the will, but I do not have the right to do what is good [since I must obey the divine law that I have received].

19 For I do not do the good that I want, and I do the evil that I do not want.

20 And if I do what I do not want, then it is no longer I who do it, but it is the sin that dwells in me.

21 So I find within myself this law: When I want to do good, evil is attached to me.

22 For I delight in the law of God [given by Christ] according to the inward man.

23 But I see in my members another law, which struggles against the law of my understanding, and which makes me captive to the law of sin which is in my members. [Now that law of sin is all the rituals commanded by the law of Moses, in which the quantities and qualities of the things that must be offered to God alone are specified.]

24 Wretched man that I am. Who will deliver me from the body of this death.

25 Thanks be to God through Jesus Christ our Lord [because the universal teaching of the Lord has freed me from the good pedagogy given to me by Moses]. For before receiving and understanding the teaching of the Lord, I had the desire to serve the [true] law of God with my own understanding but there was in my flesh the law of sin. [Now this statement is true for the Jews who are the recipients of this letter from Paul. And as for the Gentiles, some may have had the desire to do what is right but could not know exactly what to do when the law of the Lord Jesus had not yet been taught to them.]

Romans 8

1 There is therefore now no condemnation for those who are in Christ Jesus, those who walk not according to the flesh but according to the Spirit. [That is to say, even their own understanding cannot condemn them if they have truly understood the teaching of Jesus.]

2 For the law of the Spirit of life taught by Christ Jesus has set me free from the law of sin and death [given by Moses].

3 For what the law could not do, in that it was weak through the flesh, God has done it by sending his own Son in the likeness of sinful flesh and for sin, to condemn sin in the flesh. [That is to say, the more just people could suspect the sufficiency of the holy commandment but could not know how to put it into practice in all life situations, and none of the other commandments included in the law could teach the exact knowledge of the notion of righteousness. That is why Christ came in a flesh similar to ours so that his behavior and words could serve as examples for us. He explained the meaning of the ten commandments by highlighting the fact that God is not interested in what we do but in why we do it, and God raised him from the dead to testify that this teaching is the ultimate purpose of the Law of Moses.]

4 This was so that the righteousness of the law might be fulfilled in us, those who do not walk according to the flesh but according to the Spirit.

5 For those who live according to the flesh set their minds on the things of the flesh, but those who live according to the Spirit set their minds on the things of the Spirit.

6 And to be carnally minded is death, but to be spiritually minded is life and peace.

7 For the carnal mind is enmity against God, because it is not subject to the [true] law of God, and cannot even do so.

8 So those who live according to the flesh cannot please God. [Now this statement of Paul and the preceding ones concern those who live when the message of Christ is already taught in the world.]

9 But you do not live according to the flesh, but according to the Spirit, if indeed the Spirit of God dwells in you. Whoever does not have the spirit of Christ does not belong to Christ.

10 And if Christ is in you, then the body is dead because of sin, but the spirit is life because of righteousness.

11 For if the Spirit of the one who raised Jesus from the dead dwells in you, then the one who raised Christ from the dead will also give life to your mortal bodies, by his Spirit who dwells in you. [That is to say, he will give you the same kind of life that he has given to Jesus who has been raised from the dead and has ascended alive into heaven.]

12 So then, brothers, we are not debtors to the flesh so much so that we must live according to the flesh.

13 For if you live according to the flesh, then you will die. But if by the Spirit you put to death the deeds of the body, then you will live.

14 For all those who are led by the Spirit of God are sons of God.

15 And you have not received a spirit of bondage, to continue to be in fear. But you have received a spirit of adoption, by which we cry: Abba, Father.

16 The Spirit himself bears witness with our spirit that we are children of God.

17 And if we are children, then we are heirs. We are heirs of God, and joint heirs with Christ, if indeed we suffer like him so that we may share his glory.

18 And I consider that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory that will be revealed to us.

19 For the creation eagerly awaits the revealing of the sons of God.

20 For the creation has been subjected to futility, not willingly, but because of him who subjected it.

21 But it has the hope that it will be set free from the bondage of corruption and will come into the glorious freedom of the sons of God.

22 For we know that the whole creation has been groaning and has been in the pains of childbirth until now.

23 And not only so, but we also who have received now the firstfruits of the Spirit, we also groan within ourselves, waiting for our adoption, for the redemption of our body.

24 For we are saved by hope. Now hope that is seen is no longer hope. For how can a man hope for what he sees. [That is to say, if we could see clearly the representation of what we are hoping for, then it would no longer be hope but lust.]

25 But if we hope for what we do not see, then we wait for it with perseverance.

26 In the same way, the Spirit helps us in our weakness. For we do not know what we ought to pray for, and the Spirit himself intercedes for us with groanings that cannot be uttered.

27 And he who searches the hearts knows what is the mind of the Spirit, because he intercedes for the saints according to the will of God.

28 And we know that all things work together for the good of those who love God, of those who are called according to his purpose.

29 For those he whom he foreknew, he also predestined to be conformed to the image of his Son, so that he might be the firstborn among many brothers.

30 And those whom he predestined, he has also called them. And those whom he has called, he has also justified them. And those whom he has justified, he has also glorified them.

31 What then will we say concerning these things. If God is for us, then who can be against us [and succeed].

32 He who has not spared his own Son, but delivered him up for all of us, how will he not also give us all things as has given them to his Son.

33 Who will bring charges against those who are chosen by God. It is God who justifies.

34 Who will condemn them. Christ has died, or rather, he was raised from the dead, and he is at the right hand of God, and he intercedes for us.

35 Who will separate us from the love of Christ. Will it be tribulation, or anguish, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or danger, or sword.

36 As it is written: For your sake we are killed all the day long. We are counted as sheep for the slaughter.

37 Nevertheless, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him who loved us.

38 For I am convinced that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor things present, nor things to come, nor powers.

39 Nor height, nor depth, nor any other created thing, will be able to separate us from the love of God that is in Christ Jesus our Lord.

Romans 9

1 I speak the truth in Christ, I do not lie, and my conscience bears me witness in the Holy Spirit.

2 I have a great heaviness and a continual sorrow in my heart.

3 For I could wish that I myself were separated from Christ for my brothers.

4 My kinsmen according to the flesh who are Israelites, to whom belong the adoption, and the glory, and the covenants, and the gift of the law, and the service of God, and the promises.

5 And the patriarchs, and from whom has come Christ according to the flesh, he who is over all, God blessed forever. Amen.

6 But it is not as if the word of God has failed. For not all those who have come from Israel are Israel.

7 And despite the fact they are of the offspring of Abraham, they are not all his children. For it is said: It is in Isaac that your seed will be called.

8 That is to say, it is not the children of the flesh who are children of God, but it is the children of the promise who are regarded as the seed.

9 For this is the word of the promise: I will come back at this same season, and Sarah will have a son.

10 And not only this, but concerning also Rebecca who conceived by one, by our father Isaac.

11 For although the children had not yet born, and had done neither good nor evil, in order that the purpose of God according to election might stand, not by works, but by the will of him who calls, the following thing was said to Rebecca.

12 The elder will serve the younger.

13 As it is written: I have loved Jacob, and I have hated Esau.

14 What will we say then. Is there unrighteousness with God. Far from it.

15 For he said to Moses: I will have mercy on whom I will have mercy, and I will have compassion on whom I will have compassion.

16 So then, it is not of the one who wills, nor of the one who runs, but of God who shows mercy.

17 For the scripture says to Pharaoh: I have raised you up for this very purpose, so that I may show my power in you, and so that my name may be proclaimed throughout all the earth.

18 So he shows mercy to whom he wills, and he hardens whom he wills.

19 And now you will say to me: Why does he still rebuke. For who is there who resists his will.

20 But who are you, O man, to argue with God. Will the thing formed say to the one who formed it: Why have you made me in this way.

21 Does the potter not have power over the clay, to make from the same lump one vessel for honor and another vessel for dishonor.

22 What if God, willing to show his wrath and to make his power known, has endured with much patience the vessels of wrath fitted for destruction.

23 So that he might make known the riches of his glory on the vessels of mercy, which he has prepared for glory.

24 So he has called us, not only from among the Jews, but also from among the Gentiles. [That is to say, in the same way that he was angry not only with some Gentiles but also with some Jews.]

25 As he says in Hosea: I will call my people those who were not my people, and I will call my beloved the one who was not beloved.

26 And it will happen that, in the place where it was said to them, 'You are not my people', there they will be called children of the living God.

27 And Isaiah cries out concerning Israel: When the number of the sons of Israel will be like the sand of the sea, only a remnant will be saved. [For Isaiah has said: The earth will be filled with the knowledge of the Lord, like the bottom of the sea is entirely covered with water.]

28 For the Lord will fully and quickly carry out on the earth what he has purposed.

29 And as Isaiah said before: Unless the Lord the God of armies had left us a seed, we would have become like Sodom, we would have been like Gomorrah.

30 What will we say then. The Gentiles, who did not pursue righteousness [in their social organization], have attained righteousness, the righteousness that comes from faith.

31 While Israel [that is to say, those who cling to the law given by Moses to the children of Jacob], who sought the law of righteousness, did not attain it.

32 Why. Because they have sought it not by faith, but as if it were by works. They have stumbled at the stumbling stone according to the following scripture.

33 Behold I lay in Zion a stumbling stone, and a rock of offense. Whoever believes in him will not be put to shame.

Romans 10

1 Brothers, the desire of my heart and prayer to God for them is that they may be saved.

2 For I bear them witness that they have a zeal for God, but not according to knowledge.

3 Not knowing the righteousness of God, and seeking to establish their own righteousness, they have not submitted themselves to the righteousness of God.

4 For Christ is the end of the law, for the justification of every one who believes.

5 For Moses describes the righteousness that comes from the law this way: Whoever does these things will live by them.

6 But the righteousness that comes from faith speaks on this way: Do not say in your heart, 'Who will ascend into heaven'. For Christ has come down from heaven to bear the sins of all those who will believe in him, whoever they may be.

7 And do not say, 'Who will descend into the abyss'. For Christ has risen from the death so that all those who belong to him know that they will not be bound by death, whoever they may be.

8 What does it say then. The word is near you, in your mouth and in your heart. It is the word of faith which we preach.

9 For if you confess with your mouth the Lord Jesus, and believe in your heart that God raised him from the dead, then you will be saved.

10 For it is by believing from the heart that one achieves justice, and it is by confessing from the mouth that one achieves salvation.

11 As the scripture says, 'Whoever believes in him will not be put to shame'.

12 For there is no distinction between Jew and Greek. For the same Lord is Lord of all, and is rich to all those who call on him.

13 For whoever calls on the name of the Lord will be saved.

14 How then will they call on him in whom they have not believed. And how will they believe in him of whom they have not heard. And how will they hear without a preacher.

15 And how will there be preachers, unless they are sent. As it is written: How beautiful are the feet of those who preach the good news of the gospel of peace.

16 But not all have obeyed the gospel. For Isaiah says: Lord, who has believed our report.

17 So faith comes by hearing, and hearing comes by the word of Christ.

18 But I say, 'Have they not heard'. On the contrary. The voice of the preachers has gone into all the earth, and their words to the ends of the world.

19 But I say, 'Has not Israel heard'. Moses first said: I will provoke you to jealousy by those who are not a people, I will anger you by a foolish nation.

20 And Isaiah is so bold as to say: I was found by those who did not seek me, I manifested myself to those who did not ask for me.

21 But concerning Israel he says: I have stretched out my hands all day long to a rebellious and contradictory people.

Romans 11

1 I say then, 'Has God rejected his people'. Far from it. For I also am an Israelite, of the offspring of Abraham, of the tribe of Benjamin.

2 God has not rejected his people, whom he foreknew. Do you not know what the scripture says of Elijah, how he complains to God against Israel by saying the following words.

3 Lord, they have killed your prophets, and have destroyed your altars, and I am left alone, and they seek to take my life.

4 But what does God answer him. I have reserved for myself seven thousand men, who have not bowed the knee to Baal.

5 So then, at this present time there is also a remnant according to the election of grace.

6 Now if it is by grace, then it is no longer by works, otherwise grace is no longer grace. And if it is by works, then it is no longer grace, otherwise work is no longer work.

7 What then. What Israel seeks, it has not obtained. But election has obtained it, while the others have been hardened.

8 As it is written: God has given them a spirit of slumber, eyes that cannot see and ears that cannot hear, until this day.

9 And David said, 'Let their table be a trap for them, a snare, a stumbling block, and a recompense.

10 Let their eyes be darkened so that they may see, and keep their backs continually bowed down.

11 I say then, 'Have they stumbled to fall'. Far from it. But through their fall, salvation has come to the Gentiles, so that they may be provoked to jealousy.

12 Now if their fall is the riches of the world, and their diminishing is riches for the Gentiles, how much more will it be like this when they all convert.

13 I say the following thing to you Gentiles, as an apostle of the Gentiles.

14 I glorify my ministry so that, if possible, I may provoke those who are of my flesh to jealousy and may save some of them.

15 For if their casting away is the reconciliation of the world, what will their receiving be if not life from the dead.

16 For if the firstfruits are holy, so is the lump. And if the root is holy, so are the branches.

17 But if some of the branches have been broken off, and you, being a wild olive tree, has been grafted in among them, and made partakers of the root and of the fatness of the olive tree.

18 Then do not boast against the branches that have been broken off. For if you boast, then know that you do not bear the root, but the root bears you.

19 You will say then: Branches have been broken off so that I may be grafted in. [Your faith in the truthfulness of the message of the gospel of Christ is strengthened by the fact that there are those who cling to the law of Moses and refuse to believe the message of the gospel.]

20 It is true. They have been broken off because of their unbelief, and you stand by your faith. Do not be arrogant, but fear.

21 For if God did not spare the natural branches, the he will not spare you.

22 Consider then the goodness and severity of God. Severity toward those who fell, and goodness toward you, if you continue in his goodness. Otherwise, you too will be cut off [because you will not be behaving according to the law of Christ].

23 And they also, if they do not continue in their unbelief, then they will be grafted in. For God is able to graft them in again.

24 For if you have been cut out of the naturally wild olive tree and grafted contrary to your nature into the good olive tree, how much more will they be grafted according to their nature into their own olive tree.

25 For I do not want you to be ignorant of this mystery, brothers, so that you may not be led astray by your own conceits. It is that blindness has occurred in part of Israel until the fullness of the Gentiles has come in.

26 And so all Israel will be saved, as it is written: The Deliverer will come out of Zion, and he will turn away ungodliness from Jacob.

27 And it will be my covenant with them, when I take away their sins. [Now the Deliverer has come, and it is Christ.]

28 As concerning the gospel, they are enemies because of you. But concerning the election, they are beloved because of their fathers.

29 For God does not repent of his gifts and calling. [Now it is obvious that God did not repent since Paul himself is one of the Jews and he has already converted. And he previously said that he writes these words in order to be able to convince some among those who have not yet converted.]

30 For just as you once disobeyed God, and now through their disobedience have obtained mercy.

31 So they have now disobeyed, so that through the mercy shown to you they also may obtain mercy.

32 For God has shut up all to disobedience, so that he might have mercy on all.

33 O depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God. How unfathomable are his judgments, and his ways are unsearchable.

34 For who has known the mind of the Lord. Or who has been his counselor.

35 Or who has first given to him, so that he must receive from him in return.

36 For of him, and through him, and for him, are all things. To him be glory forever and ever. Amen.

Romans 12

1 I urge you therefore, brothers, by the mercies of God, to present your bodies as a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable to God. For it is in this way that you can serve God in an appropriate way.

2 Do not conform to [the desire to please others by appearances as is the case for other people in] this world, but be transformed by continually probing all things through your mind, in order to discern what is good and acceptable to the perfect will of God.

3 By the grace which has been given me, I say to every one of you not to have too high an opinion of yourself, but to put on modest feelings, according to the measure of faith that God has allotted to each of you.

4 For just as we have many members in one body, and all the members do not have the same function.

5 So we [the believers] who are many, we are one body in Christ, and each of us is connected to the other parts of this same body.

6 Since we have differing gifts according to the grace given to each of us, let the one who prophesies do it according to the proportion of faith that he has received.

7 Let the one who is called to the ministry devote himself to his ministry. Let the one who teaches devote himself to his teaching.

8 Let the one who exhorts devote himself to exhortation. Let the one who gives do it with simplicity. Let the one who rules do it with diligence. Let the one who shows mercy do it with cheerfulness.

9 Let love be without hypocrisy. Abhor what is evil, and cling to what is good. [Evil is that which is intentional and unjustifiable in the eyes of any assembly of saints, and such an assembly knows that each one acts according to his particular knowledge and circumstances]

10 Be full of affection for one another. Abound in brotherly love, and show respect to one another.

11 Be zealous, not lazy. Be fervent in spirit and serve the Lord.

12 Rejoice in hope, be patient in affliction, continue in prayer.

13 Contribute to the needs of the saints, show hospitality.

14 Bless those who persecute you, bless and do not curse.

15 Rejoice with those who rejoice, weep with those who weep.

16 Have the same mind toward one another. Do not set your mind on high things, but on low things. Do not be wise in your own eyes.

17 Repay no one evil for evil. Seek what is good in the sight of all men. [That is to say, do nothing unless the necessity is imposed by the duty to desire the well-being of arbitrarily chosen strangers in society.]

18 If possible, as far as it depends on you, live at peace with all.

19 Do not avenge yourselves, dearly beloved, but leave it to God to reward the evil. For it is written: Vengeance is mine, and I will repay, says the Lord. [That is to say, do nothing unless the necessity is imposed by the duty to desire the well-being of arbitrarily chosen strangers in society.]

20 But if your enemy is hungry, then give him something to eat. If he is thirsty, then give him something to drink. For in doing so, you will heap coals of fire on his head.

Romans 13

1 Let every soul be subject to the higher authorities. For there is no authority except from God, and the authorities that exist have been placed by God. [Now being submissive does not mean obeying any kind of order. For a disciple of Christ has the obligation to seek the well-being of others in everything he does, and consequently to disobey any order that is given by any person having a certain authority if that order consists of harming others without publicly acceptable justification, as had been done by the midwives who lived in the kingdom of Egypt (Exodus 1:6-14,15-21).]

2 Therefore whoever resists the authority resists the ordinance of God, and those who resist will bring judgment on themselves.

3 For rulers are not to be feared if we are doing good, but only if we are doing evil. If you want to avoid fearing the authority, then do what is right [that is to say, what is publicly justifiable], and you will have his approval. For the ruler is a minister of God for your good.

4 But if you do what is evil, then be afraid. For he does not bear the sword in vain. For he is a minister of God, an avenger to punish the one who does evil. [Now the sword of an authority is simply the various means that are at his disposal to punish wrongdoers in a publicly justifiable manner.]

5 Therefore it is necessary to be subject to the higher authorities, not only for fear of punishment, but also for the sake of conscience [that is to say, one cannot have the fear of God if one does not have the fear of the authorities].

6 It is also for this reason that you have to pay taxes. For the rulers are the ministers of God, and they must receive a salary for the work that they do.

7 Give to all men what is due. Give taxes to whom taxes are due, have due regard for the authorities, fear the one who should be feared, and honor the one who should be honored.

8 Owe no one anything, except to love one another. For he who loves his neighbor has fulfilled the law.

9 For the commandments: You will not commit adultery, you will not kill, you will not steal, you will not bear false witness, you will not covet, and any other commandment, are summed up in the following statement: You will love your neighbor as yourself.

10 Love does not plan evil against one's neighbor, therefore love is the fulfillment of the law.

11 And understanding that thing is even more important now that you know what time we are in [that is to say, now that you know that Christ has put an end to the law given by Moses]. It is time to wake up from sleep, for now salvation is nearer to us than when we first believed [that is to say, now that we have believed in Christ, salvation is nearer to us than when we had believed in Moses].

12 The night is far spent, and the day is at hand. Let us therefore cast off the works of darkness, and let us put on the armor of light.

13 Let us walk honestly, as in the day, not in gluttony and drunkenness, not in lust and impulsiveness, not in quarreling and jealousy.

14 But put on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make no provision for the flesh to fulfill its lusts.

Romans 14

1 You must welcome those who are weak in faith, and not argue over opinions.

2 One person thinks that he can eat everything, and another person who is weak eats only vegetables.

3 Let not the one who eats despise the one who does not eat, and let not the one who does not eat judge the one who eats. For God has received them.

4 Who are you to judge the servant of another person. Whether he stands or falls should only concern his own master. And he will stand, for the Lord is able to make him stand.

5 One person considers that one day is different from another day, while another person considers that those days are alike. Let each person have a full conviction in his own mind.

6 The one who distinguishes between days does so for the Lord, and the one who does not distinguish between days does so for the Lord. And the one who eats eats for the Lord, for he gives thanks to God. And the one who does not eat does not eat for the Lord, and he gives thanks to God.

7 For none of us lives for himself, and none of us dies for himself.

8 For if we live, then we live for the Lord. And if we die, then we die for the Lord. Whether we live or die, we belong to the Lord.

9 For Christ died and lived again, so that he might be Lord of both the dead and the living.

10 But why do you judge your brother. Or why do you despise your brother. For we will all stand before the judgment seat of Christ.

11 For it is written: As I am alive, says the Lord, every knee will bow to me, and every tongue will confess to God.

12 So then each of us will give account of himself to God.

13 Let us therefore no longer judge one another [concerning the initiatives of a person who does not harm anyone else in a publicly unjustifiable manner]. But judge rather this: Let no one put a stumbling block or an occasion of falling in the way of his brother.

14 I know, and am persuaded by the Lord Jesus, that nothing is unclean of itself, and that a thing is unclean only to the one who considers it unclean.

15 But if your brother is grieved concerning food [that you give him knowing that he has chosen not to eat such things or that you eat in his presence knowing that he may misinterpret what you are doing], then you are no longer walking in love. Do not destroy with your food the one for whom Christ died. [Now Paul allows the disciples who may have doubts to know that they can eat anything edible, and also to know how to behave in the presence of those who do not yet have this knowledge.]

16 Do not let your privilege be a source of slander.

17 For the kingdom of God is not food and drink, but righteousness and peace and joy in the Holy Spirit.

18 For whoever serves Christ in this way is acceptable to God and approved by men.

19 So then, let us pursue those things which contribute to peace and mutual edification.

20 Do not destroy the work of God through your concerns about food. Truly, all things are clean, but it is evil for a person to become a stumbling block when he eats.

21 It is good not to eat meat or drink wine, or anything by which your brother or sister stumbles, or is offended, or is made weak. [Now in those days, it may happen that a disciple of Jesus who is taking care of his own business finds himself in a place where meals are organized to honor false gods. And here the apostle Paul is giving advice so that their deeds are not misinterpreted by those who may want to become disciples of Jesus and who do not yet have a good knowledge of the faith.]

22 This faith that you have [concerning the fact that all things are clean], keep it for yourself before God [that is to say, you must not talk about it if the circumstances are not appropriate]. Blessed is the one who does not condemn himself in what he approves. [That is to say, do not deliberately trouble someone else under the pretext that you know that you can eat everything that you want. For faith in Christ precisely consists of seeking the well-being of others in everything that we do.]

23 But whoever doubts what he eats is condemned [if his doubt consists in asking himself whether it is acceptable before God or not], because he does not eat with faith. Whatever is not done with faith is sin. [That is to say, if a person is not convinced that he is not hurting anyone in a publicly unjustifiable manner, then such a person is committing a sin.]

Romans 15

1 We who are strong ought to bear the weaknesses of the weak, and not to please ourselves.

2 Let each of us please his neighbor in what is good for edification.

3 For Christ was not pleased with himself, but as it is written: The reproaches of those who insult you have fallen on me.

4 Now everything that has been written in the past was written for our instruction, so that through patience and through the comfort of the scriptures we may have hope.

5 May the God of patience and comfort grant you to be like-minded toward one another, according to Christ Jesus.

6 So that all together, with one mouth, you may praise God the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ.

7 Therefore receive one another as Christ also has received us, for the glory of God.

8 Now I say that Jesus Christ has been a minister of the circumcised, to prove the truth of God by confirming the promises made to the fathers.

9 And the Gentiles praise God because of his mercy, as it is written: Therefore I will praise you among the Gentiles, and sing to your name.

10 And again he says: Gentiles, rejoice with his people.

11 And again: Praise the Lord, you all the Gentiles. Celebrate him, you all the peoples.

12 And Isaiah says: From Jesse there will come forth a root, who will rise to reign over the Gentiles. The Gentiles will hope in him.

13 May the God of hope fill you with all joy and peace in faith, so that you may abound in hope, through the power of the Holy Spirit.

14 And I myself am convinced that as far as you are concerned, my brothers, you are full of good dispositions, and full of all knowledge, and able to exhort one another.

15 However, in some measure, I have written to you with a kind of boldness as if to awaken your memories.

16 I have acted thus because of the grace that God has given me to be a minister of Jesus Christ toward the Gentiles, carrying out the service of the gospel of God, so that the Gentiles may be an acceptable offering to him, being sanctified by the Holy Spirit.

17 Therefore I have reason to boast in Christ Jesus in the things of God.

18 For I will not dare to mention anything concerning myself, except what Christ has done through me to bring the Gentiles to obedience, by word and deed.

19 With the power of signs and wonders, by the power of the Spirit of God, so that from Jerusalem and the neighboring countries even to Illyricum, I have fully preached the gospel of Christ.

20 And I did myself the honor of proclaiming the gospel where Christ had not been named, so as not to build on the foundation of another man.

21 As it is written: Those to whom it was not preached will see, and those who had not heard of it will understand.

22 That is what often stopped me from coming to you.

23 But now, having no longer anything that keeps me in these regions, and having for several years the desire to come to you.

24 I hope to come to you when I go to Spain, and to be accompanied there by some of you, after I have partly satisfied my desire to be with you.

25 Now I am going to Jerusalem, to minister to the saints.

26 For Macedonia and Achaia have been willing to make a contribution for the poor who are among the saints of Jerusalem.

27 They have wanted it, and they owed it to them. For if the Gentiles have been partakers of the spiritual things of the Jews, then they must also assist the Jews in carnal things.

28 As soon as I have finished this matter and given them these donations, I will come to you before continuing to Spain.

29 And I know that when I come to you, it will be with a full blessing of Christ.

30 I urge you, brothers, through our Lord Jesus Christ and through the love of the Spirit, to fight with me by praying to God for me.

31 So that I may be delivered from the disbelievers of Judea, and that the gifts that I bring to Jerusalem may be accepted by the saints.

32 And so that I may come to you with joy, if it is the will of God, and may enjoy some rest among you.

33 May the God of peace be with you all. Amen.

Romans 16

1 I commend to you Phoebe our sister, who is a servant of the church which is at Cenchrea.

2 So that you may receive her in the Lord, in a manner worthy of saints, and assist her in whatever she may need you. For she has been a helper of many, and of me also.

3 Greet Prisca and Aquila.

4 They have been my fellow workers in Christ Jesus, and have laid down their own necks for my life. And not only I give thanks to them, but also all the churches of the Gentiles do likewise.

5 Greet also the church that is in their house. Greet Epaenetus, my beloved, who is the firstfruits of Asia for Christ.

6 Greet Mary, who took great pains for you.

7 Greet Andronicus and Junias, my kinsmen and fellow prisoners, who are highly respected among the apostles and who have been in Christ before me.

8 Greet Amplias, my beloved in the Lord.

9 Greet Urbanus our fellow worker in Christ, and Stachys my beloved.

10 Greet Apelles who is approved in Christ. Greet those who are of the household of Aristobulus.

11 Greet Herodion my kinsman. Greet those of the household of Narcissus who are in the Lord.

12 Greet Tryphaena and Tryphosa, who labor in the Lord. Greet Persis, my beloved, who has labored greatly in the Lord.

13 Greet Rufus who is chosen in the Lord, and his mother who is also mine.

14 Greet Asyncritus, and Phlegon, and Hermes, and Patrobas, and Hermas, and the brothers who are with them.

15 Greet Philologus and Julia, and Nereus, and his sister, and Olympus, and all the saints who are with them.

16 Greet one another with a holy kiss. All the churches of Christ greet you.

17 I urge you, brothers, to beware of those who cause divisions and offenses, and who are thus acting in a manner contrary to the teaching that you have learned. Stay away from them.

18 For such people do not serve Christ our Lord, but their own belly, and they deceive the hearts of the simple with smooth and flattering words.

19 Your obedience is well known to all, therefore I rejoice over you. But I desire that you may be wise in what is good, and pure in what is evil.

20 And the God of peace will soon crush Satan under your feet. The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you.

21 Timothy my fellow worker greets you. And also Lucius, and Jason, and Sosipater my kinsmen.

22 I Tertius, the writer of this epistle, greet you in the Lord.

23 Gaius who is my host and that of the whole church greets you. Erastus the treasurer of the city greets you, as does our brother Quartus.

24 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all. Amen.

25 To him who is able to establish you according to my gospel and the preaching of Jesus Christ.

26 According to the revelation of the mystery hidden since the world began, but now made manifest through the scriptures of the prophets according to the commandment of the everlasting God, and made known to all nations for obedience to faith.

27 To God, the only wise, be glory forever and ever through Jesus Christ. Amen.

1 Corinthians

1 Corinthians 1

1 Paul, called to be an apostle of Jesus Christ by the will of God, and Sosthenes our brother.

2 To the church of God that is at Corinth, to those who have been sanctified in Christ Jesus, called to be saints, and to all those who call on the name of our Lord Jesus Christ in every place, their Lord and ours.

3 May grace and peace be given to you from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

4 I give continual thanks to my God concerning you, for the grace of God which has been given to you in Christ Jesus.

5 For in him you have been filled with all the riches of speech and knowledge.

6 As the testimony of Christ has been firmly established among you.

7 And you lack no gift, and are waiting for the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ.

8 He will also establish you to the end, so that you may be blameless in the day of our Lord Jesus Christ.

9 God is faithful, he who has called you into the fellowship of his Son Jesus Christ our Lord.

10 I exhort you, brothers, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, to speak with one voice, all of you, and to have no divisions among you. You must be perfectly united in the same spirit and in the same feeling. [That is to say, you must seek only the glorification of the truth in everything that you do. You may disagree on how to achieve a particular result, but you must agree on the result to be achieved.]

11 For it has been declared to me, by those who are of the household of Chloe, that there are discussions of a strange nature among you, O my brothers.

12 I mean that each of you speaks thus: I am of Paul, or I am of Apollos, or I am of Cephas, or I am of Christ. [Now these strange discussions come from the fact that no one knows the exact definition of eternal life in those days, but only the definition of faith.]

13 Is Christ divided. Has Paul been crucified for you. Or have you been baptized in the name of Paul.

14 I thank God that I have not baptized any of you, except Crispus and Gaius.

15 For in this way no one will say that he has been baptized in my name.

16 And I have baptized also the household of Stephanas. And besides that, I do not think that I have baptized any other person.

17 For it is not to baptize that Christ has sent me, but to proclaim the gospel. And I must do it without the wisdom of speech, so that the cross of Christ may not be made of none effect. [That is to say, I express myself in a way that can be understood even by people who are not educated, because Jesus died for everyone.]

18 For the preaching of the cross is foolishness to those who are lost, but to us who are saved it is the power of God.

19 For it is written: I will destroy the wisdom of the wise, and I will destroy the understanding of the intelligent.

20 Where is the wise. Where is the scribe. Where is the disputer of this world. Has not God made foolish the wisdom of the world.

21 For since the world in its wisdom has not known God in the wisdom of God, it has pleased God to save believers by the foolishness of preaching.

22 The Jews ask for miracles, and the Greeks seek wisdom.

23 But we preach Christ crucified, and it is a scandal to the Jews and madness to the Greeks.

24 But it is the power of God and the wisdom of God to those who are called, both from among Jews and from among Greeks.

25 For the foolishness of God is wiser than men, and the weakness of God is stronger than men.

26 Consider, brothers, that among you who have been called there are not many wise according to the flesh, nor many mighty, nor many noble.

27 But God has chosen the foolish things of the world to confound the wise. God has chosen the weak things of the world to confound the strong things.

28 And God has chosen the things that are insignificant according to the world, and the things that are despised, the things that are not, in order to bring to nought the things that are.

29 So that no flesh may boast before God.

30 He is the one who has allowed us to believe in Jesus Christ who is our wisdom from God, and our righteousness, and our sanctification, and our redemption.

31 According to the following scripture: Let the one who glorifies himself glory in the Lord.

1 Corinthians 2

1 As for me, brothers, when I came to you, it is not with superiority of speech or of wisdom that I came to announce to you the testimony of God.

2 For I did not have the thought to know among you anything other than Jesus Christ, and Jesus Christ crucified [that is to say, you have to know that Jesus Christ has been killed because it is through this knowledge that you will put to death your old selves by becoming a disciple of Jesus, and thus you will live a new life for God knowing that Jesus Christ has been raised from the dead and is now alive for God.]

3 And I myself was with you in a state of weakness, and in fear, and great trembling.

4 And my speech and my preaching were not in the persuasive words of wisdom, but in a demonstration of the Spirit and of power.

5 So that your faith may be founded, not on the wisdom of men, but on the power of God.

6 However, it is wisdom that we preach among those who are perfect. It is a wisdom that is not of this world nor of the leaders of this world, who are going to be destroyed.

7 We preach the wisdom of God, mysterious and hidden, which God had foreordained before the beginning of the world for our glory.

8 A wisdom that none of the leaders of this world has known. For if they had known it, then they would not have crucified the Lord of glory.

9 But as it is written: Things that eye had not seen, and ear had not heard, and which had not entered into the heart of man, things that God had prepared for those who love him.

10 God has revealed them to us by his Spirit. For the Spirit searches everything, even the deep things of God.

11 For what man knows the things of a man, except the spirit of man which is in him. Likewise no one knows the things of God, except the Spirit of God.

12 Now we have not received the spirit of the world, but the spirit who is from God, so that we may know the things that God has given us by his grace.

13 And we speak of those things, not with words taught by human wisdom, but with words that the Holy Spirit teaches, using spiritual language for spiritual things.

14 But the animal man does not receive the things of the Spirit of God, because they are madness to him. And he cannot know them, because it is spiritually that one discerns them.

15 The spiritual man judges all things, and he himself is not condemned with justice by anyone.

16 For who has known the mind of the Lord [Jesus] to instruct him [if not the Holy Spirit]. And we have the mind of Christ.

1 Corinthians 3

1 And I, brothers, I have not spoken to you as to spiritual people, but as to carnal people, as to babies in Christ.

2 I have fed you with milk, not with solid food. For you did not yet have the ability to bear it, and until now you still cannot.

3 For you are still carnal. For since there is jealousy and strife among you, are you not carnal, and do you not act like ordinary people of the world.

4 When one says, 'I am of Paul', and another says, 'I am of Apollos', are you not carnal. [Now these strange discussions come from the fact that no one knows the exact definition of eternal life in those days, but only the definition of faith.]

5 Who then is Apollos, and who is Paul. They are simply servants of Christ, and their only goal is to make known the unique message of the gospel of Christ, and it is through these servants that you have believed in the truth of the gospel according to the measure of faith that God has given to each of you.

6 I have planted the seed, and Apollos have watered it. But God is the one who have made the seed grow.

7 So it is not the one who plants who is anything, nor the one who waters, but the one who is important is God who makes grow.

8 He who plants and he who waters have the same purpose, and each will receive his own reward according to his own labor.

9 For we are laborers together for God. And you are like a field belonging to God, like a house that God is building.

10 According to the grace of God given to me, I have been like a wise master builder. I have laid the foundation, and another builds on it. But each person has to be careful concerning how he builds on it.

11 For no one can lay a foundation other than the one that has been laid, which is Jesus Christ.

12 Now people can build on that foundation using gold, or silver, or precious stones, or wood, or hay, or stubble.

13 But the work of each person will be made manifest. For the day will declare it, because it will be revealed by fire. For the fire will test the work of each person, to reveal what kind it is.

14 If the work that a person has built on that foundation survives, then he will receive a reward.

15 If the work of a person is burned, then he will lose his reward. He will be saved, but only as through a fire.

16 Do you not know that you are the temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwells in you.

17 If anyone destroys the temple of God, then God will destroy him. For the temple of God is holy, and you yourselves are that temple.

18 Let no one deceive himself. If anyone among you thinks that he is wise in this world, then he should become a fool so that he may become wise.

19 For the wisdom of this world is foolishness in the sight of God. For it is written: He catches the wise in their own craftiness.

20 And also: The Lord knows the thoughts of the wise [that is to say, those who are wise according to their own standards and not according to a blind faith in Christ], he knows that they are futile.

21 Therefore let no one among the believers seeks his own glory in certain particular persons [that is to say, you must flee all forms of idolatry]. For all things are yours.

22 Whether Paul, or Apollos, or Cephas, or the world, or life, or death, or things present, or things to come.

23 Everything belongs to you, and you belong to Christ, and Christ belongs to God.

1 Corinthians 4

1 Regard us then as servants of Christ, and as stewards whose job is to teach the knowledge of the mysteries of God. [That is to say, this is what we the apostles are, whether it is I Paul, or Peter, or Apollos, or others.]

2 Furthermore, what is required of stewards is that every one be found faithful.

3 As for me, it matters very little whether I am condemned by you or by a human tribunal. And I do not condemn myself either.

4 For I feel guilty about nothing. But it is not for this reason that I am justified, for the one who judges me is the Lord.

5 Therefore judge nothing before the time, until the Lord comes. For he will bring to light the hidden things of darkness, and will reveal the purposes of the hearts. Then each person will receive the praise due from God. [Now Paul is asking here not to judge the initiatives of a person if it does not offend someone else in a publicly unjustifiable manner. For even in the law given by Moses there are two kinds of sin: on the one hand there are sins that do not directly offend anyone else and concern rituals established for the service of God, and on the other hand there are sins that cause harm to other persons in a publicly unjustifiable manner.]

6 Brothers, it is because of you that I have used Apollos and myself as examples to talk about how to consider this kind of situation, so that you can thus learn through our behaviors not to go beyond what is written, and so that none of you may think that there is a division among the apostles when each of them invent his own method to teach Christ to a particular audience according to the grace that he has received.

7 For who makes distinctions between you. What do you have that you have not received. And if you have received it, then why do you boast as if you had not received it.

8 And now you have become full [of the knowledge of the truth], and you have become rich [of the knowledge of the truth], and you have begun to reign as kings [in yours nations] without needing us anymore. And my desire is that God make you reign, so that we also may reign with you. [Now Paul is saying that in eternal life, of which he has perfect spiritual knowledge but is ignorant of the exact definition, the success of his disciples will be considered by God as part of his own success.]

9 But it seems to me that concerning us who are the apostles, God has made us the last of men in this life, as men condemned to die. For we have been made a spectacle to the world, both to angels and men.

10 We are fools because of Christ, but you are wise in Christ. We are weak, but you are strong. You are honored, but we are despised.

11 Even to this very hour we suffer hunger, and thirst, and are naked, and are mistreated, and have no certain dwelling-place.

12 We toil, working with our own hands. We blessed when we are reviled, we endure when we are persecuted.

13 We speak kindly when we are slandered. We have become like the filth of the world, the outcasts of all, until now.

14 I do not write these things to shame you, but I warn you as my beloved children. [That is to say, I want to warn you of what awaits you if you want to be more than just disciples and become apostles.]

15 For you are my children. For you may have ten thousand teachers in Christ, but you do not have many fathers, since it is I who have begotten you in Christ Jesus through the gospel. [That is to say, it was my words that gave the knowledge of Christ to those who became your teachers.]

16 I implore you therefore, be my imitators.

17 For this reason I have sent Timothy to you. He is my beloved and faithful son in the Lord. He will remind you of my ways in Christ, how I teach everywhere in every church.

18 Now some of you have become arrogant, as if I was not going to come to you anymore.

19 But I will come to you soon, if the Lord wills. And then I will know the power of those who are arrogant, and not their words.

20 For the kingdom of God is not in words, but in power.

21 And now what do you prefer, you who have become arrogant among my children. Do you want me to come to you with a rod to punish you for your arrogance, or with love and gentleness to rejoice in your repentance.

1 Corinthians 5

1 It is actually reported that there is fornication among you, and such a fornication which is not even found among the Gentiles, to such an extent that one of you has the wife of his father.

2 And you are proud of yourself, instead of feeling indignation and driving out from among you the one who has done such a thing.

3 As for me, being absent in body but present in spirit, I have already judged the one who has committed such a deed as if I were present.

4 I declare the following thing in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, my spirit joining your assembly by the power of our Lord Jesus.

5 Let such a man be delivered to Satan for the destruction of the flesh, so that the spirit may be saved in the day of the Lord Jesus.

6 You are wrongly boasting [that is to say, concerning those of you who are very proud to now be able to teach the true faith to the ignorant]. Do you not know that a little leaven makes the whole dough rise.

7 Make the old leaven disappear, so that you may be a new dough, since you are without leaven. For our Passover, which is Christ [Jesus], has been sacrificed for us.

8 Let us therefore celebrate the feast, not with old leaven, not with the leaven of malice and wickedness, but with the unleavened bread of love and truth. [That is to say, let us celebrate daily the life according to the flesh and the resurrection according to the spirit of Jesus of Nazareth who is our Passover. We remember that the Passover festival was created shortly before the children of Israel left the land of Egypt, and they were asked by the God of Moses to sprinkle the blood of the sacrificed lamb on the doorposts and lintels of each house offering this lamb, so that the destroying angel would spare what was precious there. And now, let us not invent any rituals for this celebration, but let us eliminate from our hearts all kinds of wickedness and idolatry in order to carry out the celebration with the purity of love and truth. Now Paul said at the beginning of this letter: We speak of those things, not with words taught by human wisdom, but with words that the Holy Spirit teaches, using spiritual language for spiritual things.]

9 I wrote to you in my letter to have no company with fornicators.

10 Not in an absolute way with the fornicators of this world, or with the greedy and the extortioners, or with the idolaters. Otherwise, you will have to go out of the world.

11 Now what I have written to you, it is not to have company with anyone who, calling himself a brother, is a fornicator, or covetous, or an idolater, or a reviler, or a drunkard, or an extortioner, and not even to eat with such a man.

12 For what do I have to do with judging those who are outside of my community of believers. Is it not those who are inside your community of believers that you must judge.

13 Concerning those who are outside my community of believers, I must leave it to God alone to judge them. Remove the wicked person from among you.

1 Corinthians 6

1 When one of you who is a believer has a dispute with another believer, how is it that you go to plead before the unrighteous and not before the saints. [Now Paul explains the message of Jesus Christ with clarity even if he ignores the exact definition of the notion of eternal life of which he has a perfect spiritual knowledge. And Paul considers that an unrighteous person is a person who refuses to believe that Jesus Christ is alive and is the Lord of all righteous persons, or even simply a person to whom it has not yet been announced.]

2 Do you not know that the saints will judge the world. And if the world will be judged by you, then are you unworthy to judge the smallest matters now.

3 Do you not know that we will judge angels. We are therefore even more competent concerning the judgments of the things of this life.

4 When therefore disputes arise among you concerning the things of this life, why should you desire to be judged by those whom the church regards as ignorant.

5 I say it to your shame. So you are considering that there is no one among you who is wise enough to understand a dispute and give a fair judgment between his brothers.

6 For a brother is in disagreement with a brother, and they seek judgment from disbelievers.

7 The very fact that there are disagreements of this nature among you is already a fault [unless one of you has turned away from the faith in Christ and must therefore be excluded from the community]. Why do you not rather suffer some injustice. Why do you not let yourself be stripped instead.

8 But it is you who commit injustice and who rob, and it is towards your brothers [in the faith in Christ] that you act in this way.

9 Do you not know that the unrighteous will not inherit the kingdom of God.

10 Do not be deceived: neither fornicators, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor effeminate, nor the sexually immoral, nor thieves, nor covetous, nor drunkards, nor revilers, nor extortioners, will inherit the kingdom of God.

11 And such were some of you. But you have been washed, and you have been sanctified, and you have been justified in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ, by the Spirit of our God [that is to say, by the spirit of Jesus Christ].

12 Everything is permitted to me [if no one can accuse me of having intentionally harmed someone], but everything is not useful. Everything is permitted to me, but I will not allow myself to be enslaved by anything.

13 Food is for the stomach, and the stomach is for food, and God will destroy all these things. But the body is not for fornication: it is for the Lord, and the Lord for the body.

14 And God has raised the Lord from the dead, and he will also raise us by his power. [That is to say, we now know that we will be alive in the same form as the Lord Jesus who is currently alive.]

15 Do you not know that your bodies are members of Christ [since the time when you have become his disciples]. Will I then take the members of Christ, and make them the members of a whore. God forbid.

16 Do you not know that he who join himself to a whore becomes one body with the whore. For it is said: The two will become one flesh.

17 But he who join himself to the Lord becomes one spirit with him.

18 Flee fornication. If a man commits any other sin, then that sin is outside the body. But he who commits fornication sins against his own body.

19 Do you not know that your body is the temple of the Holy Spirit who is in you, and whom you have received from God [when you have become disciples of Jesus].

20 You do not belong to yourselves, since you have been bought with a price [which is the blood of Jesus]. Therefore glorify God in your body.

1 Corinthians 7

1 Concerning the things about which you have written to me, I think that it is good for a man not to touch a woman.

2 However, to avoid fornications, let each man have his own wife, and let each woman have her own husband.

3 Let the husband give to his wife due benevolence, and let the wife do the same to her husband.

4 The wife does not have authority over her own body, because it is for her husband. And likewise, the husband does not have authority over his own body because it is for his wife.

5 Do not deprive yourselves of each other. You can do it by agreement for a time so that each of you may have the opportunity to step away from the other to pray, but you have to reconnect to each other after that lest Satan tempt you by your incontinence. [That is to say, you must always have the opportunity to consult together if there is any need, except when each of you takes the time to pray to God with the aim of receiving the strength to remain attached to the Holy Spirit which is individual, since sin is individual.]

6 I have said this thing only to give you permission to be separated for a time. It is not a rule.

7 I wish that all men were as I am. But each person has a special gift from God, one person in this way, and another person in another way.

8 Therefore I say to the unmarried and to the widows that it is good for them to remain as I am.

9 But if they cannot control themselves, then let them marry. For it is better to marry than to burn.

10 I give the following command to those who are married, and it is not from me but from the Lord: Let not the wife separate from her husband.

11 And if she separates from him, then let her remain unmarried or let her reconcile with him. And let not the husband divorce his wife.

12 And I say the following thing to the others [that is to say, to those who are not married], and it is from me and not from the Lord: If a brother has a wife who does not believe [in Jesus], if such a woman has consented to live with him, then he should not forsake her [that is to say, he can marry her or remain married to her after his conversion]. [Now Paul says this thing because of how he defines a person who is a believer. To be a believer according to the definition of Paul, one must believe that Jesus died for the sins of mankind and was raised from the dead so that we know that we will be justified by imitating his behavior, and that one must seek to obey the vague holy commandment which simply says to love one's neighbor as oneself, in order to access an eternal life of which even Paul is unaware of the exact definition even if he has a good spiritual understanding of it and knows that Jesus is currently there at the right hand of the Father, and that there is no other God in the world except the God of Jesus. The disbelievers of whom Paul speaks here are those who may not accept the accuracy of all aspects of this definition of faith given by Paul, but who are not driven by a desire to harm others without possessing certain justifications in their hearts.]

13 And if a woman has a husband who does not believe [in Jesus], if such a man has consented to live with her, then she should not forsake him [that is to say, she can marry him or remain married to him after her conversion].

14 For the unbelieving husband is sanctified by the wife, and the unbelieving wife is sanctified by the husband. Otherwise your children would be unclean, but now they are holy.

15 But if the unbeliever spouse departs, then let that spouse depart. The brother or the sister is not bound in such case, for God has called us to live in peace.

16 For how do you know, O wife, whether you will save your husband or not. Or how do you know, O husband, whether you will save your wife or not.

17 Only let each person walk as the Lord has assigned him, as he has been called by God. This is what I command in all the churches.

18 If anyone has been called while being circumcised, then let him not become uncircumcised. And if anyone has been called while being uncircumcised, then let him not be circumcised.

19 Circumcision is nothing, and uncircumcision is nothing, but keeping the commandments of God is everything.

20 Let each person remain in the same vocation in which he has been called.

21 Have you been called while being a slave. Do not worry. But if you can become free, then take advantage of it.

22 For the one who is called in the Lord while being a slave is a freedman of the Lord. Likewise, the one who is called while being free is a slave of Christ.

23 You have been bought with a price [which is the blood of Jesus]. Do not be a slave of men anymore. [That is to say, if you become a servant of Christ then you are no longer serving certain people in particular or even only your own person. Your only goal is to have a certain usefulness for arbitrarily chosen strangers in society, and you know that you are free to use any means to achieve this goal, and your only constraint is not to harm anyone in a publicly unjustifiable way.]

24 Brothers, let each person remain before God with the same vocation that he had when he has been called.

25 Now concerning virgins, I have no commandment from the Lord. But I will give my advice, as someone who have received mercy from the Lord to be faithful.

26 This then is what I consider good, because of the difficult times which are approaching: It is good for a person to stay as he is.

27 If you are bound to a wife, then do not seek to break that bond. And if you are not bound to a wife, then do not seek a wife.

28 If you marry, then you do not commit sin. And if a virgin marries, then she does not commit sin. But these people will have tribulations in the flesh, and I want you to be free from it.

29 Brothers, what I say is that the time is short, and that from now on those who have wives should be as if they had none. [That is to say, if you have a spouse then you are one flesh but you are two spirits. You must love your spouse as you love yourself, but you must live for Christ and not for your spouse. Your goal in life must be to serve Christ and not to serve your spouse.]

30 And those who weep should be as if they are not weeping, and those who rejoice should be as if they are not rejoicing, and those who buy should be as if they are not possessing. [That is to say, everything that you do must be, in your own eyes, a useful means to achieve the unique goal which is to serve Christ. You must constantly have in mind the desire to serve Christ.]

31 And those who use the things of this world should be as if they are not using it [that is to say, they must consider that it is simply a means of achieving a certain goal that must please Christ]. For the appearances of this world will disappear.

32 And I do not want you to be worried. He who is not married worries about the things of the Lord, about ways to please the Lord.

33 And he who is married worries about the things of the world, about the means of pleasing his wife.

34 There is also a difference between a wife and a virgin [who are among the believers]. She who is unmarried cares about the things of the Lord, in order to be holy both in body and in spirit. But she who is married worries about the things of the world, about ways to please her husband.

35 I say this for your benefit, it is not to trap you. It is to lead you to what is suitable, so that you may cling to the Lord without distraction.

36 If anyone considers it dishonorable for his daughter to exceed marriageable age, and if he thinks that it is necessary to marry her to someone, then let him do what he wants, he does not sin. Let them marry.

37 But he who has made a firm decision in his heart, without constraint and with the power of his own will, and who has decided in his heart to keep his daughter a virgin, he does well.

38 So then, he who gives his own virgin daughter in marriage does well, and he who does not give her in marriage does better. [Now Paul says this thing to those who are disciples of Christ.]

39 The wife who is already a believer is bound [by the law of Christ] as long as her husband is alive. But if her husband dies, then she is free to marry whoever she wants. And whatever she does, she must do it with the intention of pleasing the Lord.

40 But my opinion is that she is happier if she remains as she is, and I think that I also have the Spirit of God.

1 Corinthians 8

1 Now concerning things sacrificed to idols, we know that we all have knowledge [that is to say, we know that everything is pure]. But the knowledge possessed by a person can make him proud, while love edifies.

2 If anyone thinks that he knows anything, then he has not yet known as he ought to know.

3 But if anyone loves God, then that person is known to God.

4 Therefore concerning the eating of things sacrificed to idols, we know that no idol has any real power in the world, and that there is only one God.

5 For there are things that are called gods [by the people of the world], those things being in heaven or on earth, according to the ascertainable fact that there are many gods and lords in the thoughts of the disbelievers.

6 But as for us [who have believed in the gospel], we know that there is only one God who is the Father, from whom are all things and in whom we are, and one Lord who is Jesus Christ, by whom are all things and by whom we are.

7 But not everyone has this knowledge. And many people continue to imagine that what we the disciples of Jesus call idols are in reality beings with real power in themselves, and those people make various kinds of offerings to those idols, and the consciences of those people are thus defiled by the weakness of their minds, and they eat some of those offerings while having in their thoughts purposes that we know to be sins.

8 It is not a particular food that brings us closer to God. If we eat it, then we have nothing more. And if we do not eat it, then we have nothing less.

9 But take heed, lest your freedom become a stumbling block to those who are weak. [That is to say, your freedom to eat anything may make those who have doubts about what they can eat fall into sin.]

10 For if a person who is weak thinks that you have the knowledge of the true faith, and if that person sees you eating a meal in a temple of idols [that is to say, in a place where some people worship some false gods], then will not his weak conscience lead him to eat things sacrificed to idols [with the aim of obtaining certain spiritual advantages through that kind of food].

11 And so the weak brother for whom Christ died will perish through your knowledge.

12 By sinning against the brothers in this way, by hurting their weak conscience, you sin against Christ.

13 Therefore if food causes my brother to stumble, then I will never eat that food so as not to cause my brother to stumble.

1 Corinthians 9

1 Am I not an apostle. Am I not free. Have I not seen Jesus Christ our Lord. Are you not my work in the Lord.

2 If I am not an apostle in the eyes of others, nevertheless I am an apostle in your eyes. For you are the seal of my apostleship in the Lord.

3 It is my defense against those who accuse me.

4 Do we not have the right to eat and drink.

5 Do we not have the right to marry a woman who is from among the sisters who have become believers through our own teachings, as it has been done by other apostles, and by other brothers in the Lord, and by Cephas.

6 Or is it only I and Barnabas who have no right to refrain from working. [That is to say, are we the only two who must eat the fruit of our own labor without expecting anything from our disciples.]

7 Who is the one who serves as a soldier in an army without expecting any compensation from the leaders of that army. Who plants a vineyard without eating its fruits when they become available to him. Who feeds a flock and does not eat of the milk of that flock.

8 Do I say these things only according to human custom. Does not the law also say the same.

9 For it is written in the Law of Moses, 'You will not muzzle an ox while it treads out the grain'. Is God telling us this thing because he feels sorry for the oxen.

10 Or does he speak entirely for our sake. Yes, it was written for our sake, so that the one who plows should plow with hope, and the one who threshes should thresh with the hope of having a share in it.

11 If we have sown spiritual things among you, then is it a great matter if we reap material things from you.

12 If others enjoy this right over you, then do we not have more reason to be able to enjoy it. Nevertheless we have not used this right. On the contrary, we endure everything so as to cause no hindrance to the gospel of Christ. [That is to say, we do not want you to misinterpret our deeds while we are teaching you the knowledge of Christ.]

13 Do you not know that those who perform sacred duties eat of the things of the temple, and that those who serve at the altar have a portion with the altar.

14 In the same way, the Lord has commanded that those who preach the gospel should live of the gospel.

15 But I have not used any of these rights, and I am not writing these things in order to get something for myself. For I would rather die than have this subject of glory taken away from me.

16 For I have nothing to boast about when I preach the gospel, since I have received the order to preach it, and woe is me if I do not preach the gospel.

17 If I do it willingly, then I have a personal reward through my good will. But if I do it unwillingly, then I am only obeying an order and I do not seek any personal initiative that is admirable through this obedience of an order.

18 What then is my reward. it is the fact that I ask nothing in return from those to whom I preach the gospel of Christ, so as not to use my rights as a preacher of the gospel.

19 For although I am free from all men, I have made myself the servant of all, in order to gain as many people as possible.

20 With the Jews I have acted like a Jew, in order to gain the Jews. With those who are under the law [given by Moses], I have acted like someone who is under the law [given by Moses], although I myself am not under the law [given by Moses], so that I may gain those who are under the law [given by Moses].

21 With those who are without the law [given by Moses], I have acted like someone who is without the law [given by Moses], although I myself am not without law before God since I am under the law of Christ, so that I may gain those who are without the law [given by Moses].

22 With those who are weak, I have acted like someone who is weak, so that I may gain the weak. I have become all things to all people, so that by all possible means I may save some.

23 I do all things for the sake of the gospel, so that I may have a portion in its blessings.

24 Do you not know that those who run in a race are all running, but only one receives the best prize. Run in such a way as to obtain the best prize.

25 Everyone who competes in the games goes into strict training. And they do it to obtain a corruptible crown, but we do it to obtain an incorruptible crown.

26 Therefore I do not run like someone running uncertainly. I do not fight like a boxer beating the air to train himself, but like a boxer who is hitting something.

27 And I treat my body harshly and keep it submissive, lest I myself be rejected after having preached to others. [Now Ezekiel had said, 'The righteous person will not live through his righteousness in the day that he sins', that is to say, God will construct future events to gradually give little importance to his works of justice.]

1 Corinthians 10

1 Brothers, I do not want you to be unaware of the fact that all our fathers were guided by the pillar of cloud, and they all passed through the sea.

2 And they were all [baptized in this way] into Moses in the cloud and in the sea.

3 And they all ate the same spiritual food.

4 And they all drank the same spiritual drink. For they drank from the spiritual rock that was following them, and that rock was Christ.

5 But most of them were not pleasing to God, and they have been overthrown in the wilderness.

6 Now these things that happened are examples for us, so that we should not have evil desires as they did.

7 Do not be idolaters, as some of them were, as it is written: The people sat down to eat and drink, and then they got up to entertain themselves.

8 And let us not commit fornication, as some of them did, and in one day twenty three thousand of them died.

9 And let us not test the Lord, as some of them did, and were killed by snakes.

10 And let us not grumble, as some of them did, and were killed by the destroying angel.

11 Now all these things that happened to them are examples, and they have been written for our instruction, for us on whom the ends of the ages has come.

12 Therefore, let the one who thinks that he is standing take heed, lest he fall.

13 No temptation has overtaken you, except such as a man can bear. For God who is faithful will not suffer you to be tempted beyond what you can bear. And when you are tempted, he will also provide you with a way of escape so that you may be able to endure it.

14 Therefore, my beloved, flee from idolatry.

15 I speak like to people who have understanding. Judge for yourselves what I say.

16 The cup of blessing that we bless, is it not a communion with the blood of Christ. The bread that we break, is it not a communion with the body of Christ. [Now Paul said at the beginning of this letter: We speak of those things, not with words taught by human wisdom, but with words that the Holy Spirit teaches, using spiritual language for spiritual things.]

17 We who are many are one body, as there is one bread. For we all are partakers of one bread.

18 Consider those who are Israel according to the flesh. Are not those who eat of the sacrifices in a communion with the altar.

19 What then am I saying. Am I saying that food offered to idols is something, or that an idol is something. [For any form of rituals performed without constraint is a form of idolatry in these days when we have received the knowledge of the gospel of Christ, and this includes the rituals of offerings commanded in the law given by Moses.]

20 No, but I say that all the offerings that are made without constraint and according a religious ritual are offerings made to demons and not to God. And I do not want you to have communion with demons. [Now Job and Balaam did not belong to the tribes of Israel, and they performed certain voluntary sacrifices in order to draw closer to God. But it is Jesus who made us know who the true God is, and therefore we know now that God does not want to know what a person is doing but only why that person is doing it. God only cares about the knowledge possessed by each person at every moment. Information about the exact knowledge of the true God was created in the world by Jesus of Nazareth, and is spread in the world in a multitude of ways like spoken words or written words, with some people having an imperfect understanding of it but still being influenced by it.]

21 You cannot drink the cup of the Lord, and the cup of demons. You cannot be partakers of the table of the Lord, and of the table of demons.

22 Should we provoke the Lord to jealousy. Are we stronger than he.

23 All things are lawful for me [since it is not what I do that is important but only the reasons why I do it], but not all things are helpful. All things are lawful, but not all things edify.

24 Let no one seek only his own well-being, but also the well-being of the others.

25 You can eat of any meat that is sold in the meat market, without asking yourself whether God can allow you to eat what other people are accustomed to eating.

26 For the earth and everything in it belong to the Lord.

27 If a person who has not believed [in Jesus] invites you to a meal and you are willing to go, then you can eat of whatever is set before you without asking yourself if it can offend God.

28 But if someone says to you, 'This is a part of an offering sacrificed to certain gods', then do not eat of it, because of the one who has said it to you and because of the conscience.

29 I am referring here not to your own conscience, but the consciences of all other people who have knowledge of that situation. For the freedom that you have through your knowledge of the Lord does not depend on the judgment of others, but at the same time it consists of not giving others a false understanding of our doctrine. [For those who have a poor understanding of our doctrine may not be able to distinguish between, on the one hand, eating a meal with people whom we love and whom we would like to convert to the true faith, and on the other hand, participating in some ritual to implore the favor of some gods.]

30 For if the people whom I love and whom I would like to convert to the true faith invite me to a simple meal, and I eat of that meal with gratitude, then why should I be condemned by God for something I am grateful for.

31 So whether you eat or drink, or whatever you do, do it entirely for the glory of God.

32 Do not offend the Jews, or the Greeks, or the Church of God. [Now Paul says this thing because the temple built to carry out the rituals of the Jewish law given by Moses has continued to exist throughout his life. That temple will be destroyed a few years after his death, by the Romans who will be punishing a revolt of the Jews who have refused to believe in Jesus.]

33 In the same way, I also try to please everyone in everything that I do, seeking not only my own benefit but also that of the multitude, so that they may be saved. [That is to say, I try to explain the knowledge of our Lord gently to all those who are still in ignorance, in order to convert those who can be converted. But as I have said previously, you must properly punish anyone who offends someone else without publicly acceptable justification, as I have asked you to deliver to Satan the one who is among you and who has taken the wife of his father. You must even distance yourself from any person who has known the will of the Lord and who subsequently distanced himself from the Lord by his behavior, even if he has not directly offended someone else in a publicly unjustifiable manner.]

1 Corinthians 11

1 Be imitators of me, as I myself am of Christ.

2 I praise you for the fact that you remember me in all things, and because you retain my instructions as I gave them to you.

3 But I want you to know that Christ is the head of every man, and man is the head of woman, and God is the head of Christ.

4 Every man who prays or prophesies with his head covered dishonors his head.

5 But every woman who prays or prophesies with her head uncovered dishonors her head [that is to say, she dishonors the message of God before the men to whom she prophesies because she presents to them not her humility but her beauty]. For It is as if she chose to shave before presenting herself to her husband. [Now Paul lived when the temple of the Jews, built to perform the rituals of the law given by Moses, had not yet been destroyed. And here Paul writes a letter that will be given to one of the communities that he has created in different places in those days, and he is explaining how to behave in a life situation in which the disciples of Jesus often find themselves. For the disciples of Jesus could meet in those days to talk about their personal business, but also to maintain the knowledge of the Lord in an environment where this doctrine is misunderstood and considered as being strange, and also to pray to God to hasten his work by allowing the knowledge of the Lord Jesus to fill the earth through the preaching of his disciples. And prophets who have visions concerning events close in time are among the disciples of Jesus, because the testimony of Jesus is the spirit of prophecy that inspired all the Jewish scriptures. In the same way, the Jews also pray when they go to their temple, either because they do not know exactly what is taught by the disciples of Jesus or because they refuse to believe it, and this temple will be destroyed a few years after the death of Paul. These instructions concerning how to pray in public are no longer useful nowadays, since true prayer is done alone, and in the heart, and in order to have the strength not to turn away from the holy commandment in everything we do. By way of comparison, one may recall that Moses had given certain commandments to the children of Jacob to solve problems that arose in real time, such as the fact that a woman who received an inheritance from her father was obligated to marry a man belonging to the same tribe as her father, and the teaching of the gospel has now put an end to the separation of the children of Jacob into twelve tribes.]

6 For if a woman does not cover her head [while she is praying or prophesying in an assembly], then she should also cut her hair [since her intention is to get noticed by others].

7 A man should not cover his head [while he is praying or prophesying in an assembly]. For he is the image and glory of God, while the woman is the glory of the man.

8 For the man did not come from the woman, but the woman came from the man.

9 And it is not because of the woman that the man has been created, but it is because of the man that the woman has been created.

10 This is why the woman, because of the angels, must have on her head a sign of the authority on which she depends [while she is praying or prophesying in an assembly].

11 However, in the Lord, the woman is not without the man and the man is not without the woman.

12 For the first woman came from the first man, but after that, men are born from women. And all things come from God.

13 Judge for yourselves. Is it suitable for a woman to pray to God [in an assembly] without covering her head.

14 Does not nature itself teach you that it is a shame for a man to wear long hair. [That is to say, it is something unusual that catches the eye and makes people wonder. For even in the law given by Moses to the children of Jacob, an ordinary man is not supposed to shave while he is fulfilling a nazirite vow, but he must shave his head when he has finished fulfilling that vow.]

15 But it is a glory for a woman to have long hair. For her hair has been given her as a covering [and as something that pleases men].

16 If someone desires to argue about this thing [that is to say, concerning the appearances that women and men should have while they are praying to God in a congregation in the presence of other people], then he should keep in mind that we do not have this custom [as Jews whose women often pray near the temple built to perform the rituals of the Law given by Moses], and that the churches of God do not have this custom [that is to say, the churches of God that are in Jerusalem].

17 What I have wanted to prevent by ordering you to behave in this way is that you may gather together not to become better, but to become worse.

18 For I have already learned that there are dissensions among you [concerning the rules of etiquette] when you come together in the church, and I partly believe it.

19 For there must also be sects among you, so that those who are approved may be recognized as such among you.

20 So when you gather together, it is not to eat a meal of the Lord [as you should do].

21 For when you sit down to eat, each begins by taking his own meal. And one is hungry, while the other is drunk.

22 Do you not have houses to eat and drink in. You despise the church of God, and shame those who are poor. What can I say concerning this thing. Will I praise you. I do not praise you concerning this thing.

23 For I have received from the Lord what I have taught you. It is that the Lord Jesus, in the night in which he was betrayed, took bread.

24 And when he had given thanks, he broke it and said: Take and eat. This is my body, which is broken for you. Do this in remembrance of me.

25 Likewise, after supper, he took the cup and said: This cup is the new covenant in my blood. Do this, whenever you drink it, in remembrance of me.

26 For as often as you eat this bread and drink this cup, you proclaim the death of the Lord, until he comes again.

27 Therefore whoever eats the bread or drinks the cup of the Lord unworthily is sinning against the body and the blood of the Lord.

28 Therefore let every person examine himself, and in so doing let him eat of this bread and drink of this cup. [Now Paul is talking about the meals that are eaten together as part of the meetings between the church members, when they leave their homes to meet in a same place and build personal relationships with one another in the fear of the Lord. And it is precisely in reference to this situation that Jesus uttered the words that Paul has just recalled above. Now it is not an obligation for the disciples to eat and drink together if they only meet for a very short time.]

29 For if someone eats and drinks without discerning the body of the Lord, then he is eating and drinking a condemnation against himself.

30 This is why there are many among you who are weak and sick, and many have died.

31 If we judge ourselves in everything that we do, then we will not be judged [that is to say, God will not condemn us].

32 And when we are judged, we are punished by the Lord so that we may not be condemned with the world.

33 So, my brothers, when you come together to eat, wait for one another.

34 If anyone is hungry, then let him eat at home. And thus you will not gather together in order to bring a condemnation against yourselves. When I come to you, I will explain to you how to behave regarding your other concerns [that is to say, I will explain to you how to put the holy commandment into practice in the other situations that you have mentioned].

1 Corinthians 12

1 Now concerning spiritual gifts, brothers, I do not want you to be ignorant.

2 You know that when were Gentiles [that is to say, when you had not yet believed in the Lord], you were led astray to mute idols, as you were led.

3 Therefore I tell you that no one who speaks by the Spirit of God says, 'Jesus is accursed'. And no one can sincerely say, 'Jesus is the Lord', except by the Holy Spirit.

4 Now there are different kinds of gifts [among us who believe in the gospel of Christ], but the same Spirit.

5 And there are different ways to teach the knowledge of faith in Christ, but the same Lord.

6 And there are different ways to serve after receiving the knowledge of Christ, but it is the same God who works in all of us to do everything.

7 For the Spirit manifests itself in a particular way in each person, so that this person can be useful to others.

8 The Spirit gives to one person the word of wisdom, and the same Spirit gives to another person the word of knowledge.

9 And the same Spirit gives to another person the gift of having faith, and the same Spirit gives to another person the gift of performing healings.

10 And another person receives the gift of working miracles, and another person receives the gift of prophecy, and another person receives the gift of discerning what is from the Spirit and what is not, and another person receives the gift of speaking various tongues, and another person receives the ability to interpret those tongues.

11 All these things are the work of one and the same Spirit. It gives different gifts to different people, according to its own choice.

12 Just as a body is one, and has many members, and all the members of the body are numerous but they form one body, it is thus with Christ.

13 For we have all been baptized by one Spirit into one body, whether Jews or Greeks, whether slave or free. We have all received the same Spirit which is the fountain of the water of life from which we drink.

14 So the body is not made up of one member, but of many.

15 If the foot says, 'I do not belong to the body because I am not the hand', then will this put an end to the fact that it belongs to the body.

16 And if the ear says, 'I do not belong to the body because I am not the eye', then will this put an end to the fact that it belongs to the body.

17 If the whole body were an eye, then where would be the hearing. And if the whole body were an ear, then how would one be able to smell something.

18 But now God has placed each of the members in the body in the way that he has wanted to do it.

19 If they were all one member, then where would be the body.

20 And now there are many members, but one body.

21 And the eye cannot say to the hand, 'I have no need of you'. And the head cannot say to the feet, 'I have no need of you'.

22 On the contrary, those members that seem to be the weakest parts of the body are indispensable.

23 And concerning those parts that we think are the least honorable of the body, they receive the most honor in the appearances that we present to others. It is the parts that we want to hide from others that we honor with different means of protection.

24 Our comely parts do not need it. So God has harmonized the body by giving more honor to the parts that lacked it.

25 So that there should be no division in the body, but that the members should take care of each other in the same way.

26 If one member suffers, then all the other members suffer with it. If one member is honored, then all the other members rejoice with it.

27 Now you are the body of Christ, and each of you is a member of it.

28 And God has appointed some in the church: firstly the apostles, and secondly the prophets, and thirdly the teachers, then those who work miracles, then those who have gifts of healing, and of helping, and of leading others, and of speaking in tongues.

29 Are all apostles. Are all prophets. Are all teachers. Do all work miracles.

30 Do all have gifts of healing. Do all speak in tongues. Do all interpret those tongues.

31 But earnestly desire the best gifts, and I will show you a more excellent way.

1 Corinthians 13

1 I may speak with the tongues of men or of angels. But if I do not have love, then I am a sounding brass or a clanging cymbal.

2 I may have the gift of prophecy [since it is possible to have certain gifts only by the will of God the Father who wants to accomplish his goals, without the Holy Spirit being involved], or I may be able to fathom all mysteries and all knowledge, or I may have a faith so great that I can move mountains. But if I do not have love, then I am nothing.

3 I may give all my goods to feed the poor, and I may give my body to be burned as an offering. But if I do not have love, then I gain nothing.

4 Love is patient, and is kind. Love does not envy. Love does not boast, it is not proud.

5 Love does not dishonor others, it is not selfish. Love cannot be made angry easily. Love forgives the wrong that it has received even if it does not forget [since forgiving is not forgetting but rather taking appropriate precautions].

6 Love does not rejoice in injustice, but rejoices in the truth.

7 It suffers all things. Love always trusts in its own power, always hopes in its own power, always endures.

8 Love never ends, while all the gifts will end. Where there are prophecies, they will cease. Where there are tongues, they will cease. Where there is knowledge, it will disappear.

9 For we know in part, and we prophesy in part.

10 But when that which is perfect comes, that which is partial will disappear.

11 When I was a child, I talked like a child, and I understood like a child, and I thought like a child. But when I have become a man, I have put away the ways of childhood.

12 For now we see through a glass, darkly, but then we will see face to face. Now I know in part, but then I will know fully as I myself am fully known.

13 And now these three things remain: faith, and hope, and love. But the greatest of these things is love.

1 Corinthians 14

1 Pursue love, but also aspire to spiritual gifts, especially to that of prophecy.

2 For the one who speaks in a tongue does not speak to men, but to God. For no one understands him, while he utters mysteries through the Spirit.

3 But the one who prophesies speaks to men for their edification, and to exhort them, and to comfort them.

4 The one who speaks in a tongue edifies himself [because even if he does not understand what he is saying himself, at least he is comforted by the fact that he has a special connection with the Spirit]. But the one who prophesies edifies the church.

5 Now I want you all to speak in tongues, but what I desire even more is that you may prophesy. The one who prophesies is greater than the one who speaks in tongues, unless someone interprets so that the church may be edified.

6 And now, brothers, if I come to you speaking in tongues, then how will I be of any use to you. I can only be useful to you if I speak to you by revelation or by knowledge, to give a prophecy to you or to teach you.

7 If inanimate objects that can be used to make a sound, such as a flute or a harp, do not make distinct sounds, then how will one recognize what is played on the flute or on the harp.

8 And if the trumpet gives an unclear sound, then who will prepare himself for battle.

9 So you also, unless you utter intelligible words with your tongue, how will anyone know what you are saying. For you will be speaking into the air.

10 There are doubtless many different languages in the world, but none of them consists of speaking without transmitting a message that can be interpreted.

11 And if I do not understand a particular language, then I will be a barbarian to the speaker, and the speaker will be a barbarian to me.

12 Likewise, since you are eager for spiritual gifts, seek to excel in what can edify the church.

13 Therefore let the one who speaks in a tongue pray in order to be able to interpret it.

14 For if I pray in a tongue, then my spirit prays, but my understanding is unfruitful.

15 What then will I do. I will pray with the spirit, but I will also pray with the understanding. I will sing with the spirit, but I will also sing with the understanding.

16 Otherwise, if you give thanks with the spirit, how will someone who listens to me without understanding me say, 'Amen'. Such a person cannot react to your words of praise, because that person does not understand what you are saying.

17 You will truly be thanking God, but the other person will not be edified.

18 I thank my God that I speak in tongues more than all of you.

19 But in the church I would rather speak five words with my understanding, in order to instruct others also, than ten thousand words in a tongue [that is not heard by others].

20 Brothers, do not be children in your thinking. Be babies regarding the planning of malicious acts, but in your thinking be mature.

21 In the law it is written: I will speak to this people by people of strange tongues and by the lips of foreigners, but even thus they will not listen to me, says the Lord. [Now this is not written in the law of Moses but in the teachings of the other prophets, more precisely in the book of the prophet Isaiah.]

22 Therefore tongues are for a sign, not toward believers, but toward unbelievers. And prophecy is for a sign, not toward unbelievers, but toward believers. [That is to say, the gift of being able to speak in different languages allows the believer to arouse the curiosity of those who do not yet believe and to speak with them in their own language. And the gift of prophecy allows the believer to be strengthened in his faith, and to be able to edify other believers, and to be able to effectively convince those who do not yet believe.]

23 If everyone speaks in tongues in a meeting of the whole church, and there come some persons who do not understand those tongues or who do not yet believe, then will they not say that you are mad.

24 But if everyone prophesies, and there come someone who does not understand our faith or who does not yet believe, then his sins will be revealed as sins in his eyes, and he will be judged by everything that you say.

25 The secrets of his will manifest themselves as sins in his own eyes, and he will fall on his face and worship God, and he will declare that God is really among you. [That is to say, if it is a person whom God the Father has destined to know the faith, then that person can thus be saved through you. For a person becomes a believer through the repentance of his own spirit, regarding all the unworthy behaviors that were previously acceptable in his own eyes.]

26 What then, brothers. When you come together, each of you has either a psalm, or a teaching [concerning an appropriate behavior in a precise situation], or a revelation, or a tongue, or an interpretation. Let all things be done for edification.

27 If anyone speaks in a tongue, then let there be only two or at most three, each in turn, and let someone interpret.

28 But if there is no interpreter, then let the one who speaks in a different language keep silent in the church. Let that person speak to himself and to God [that is to say, to God who is inside that person].

29 As for the prophets, let two or three speak, and let the others judge what is said.

30 And if a revelation is given to another who is sitting, then let the first be silent.

31 For you can all prophesy in turn, so that all may be instructed and all may be encouraged.

32 The spirits of the prophets are subject to the control of the prophets.

33 For God is not a God of disorder, but of peace, as in all the churches of the saints.

34 Let the women keep silent in the churches. For it is not permitted for them to speak. Let them be in submission, as the law also says. [Now there were women prophets among the children of Israel before the birth of Jesus Christ, but the law given by Moses specifies that a woman must be subject to the authority of her father with whom she lives if she is not yet married, or to the authority of her husband if she is married, as is specified in the chapter thirty of the book of Numbers. And Jesus Christ has made it understood that the law given by Moses was a form of pedagogy, and he has revealed the exact identity of the God of Israel, but Paul does not want women to be teachers of the knowledge of God in the assemblies he is creating.]

35 And if they want to inquire about anything, then let them ask their own husbands at home. For it is improper for a woman to speak in the church. [Now Paul does not want women to be teachers of the knowledge of God in the assemblies that he is creating. And he himself said previously: All things are lawful, but not all things edify.]

36 What then. Has the word of God originated in your community. Or has it reached only your community.

37 If anyone thinks that he is a prophet or that he is inspired, then let him recognize that what I am writing to you is the command of the Lord. [Now Paul has written in his epistle to the Romans that whoever loves his neighbor has fulfilled the law. That is to say, the only thing that the Lord asks is to do nothing in a publicly unjustifiable way, and to seek the well-being of others in everything that we do.]

38 But if someone wants to ignore this particular rule that I have asked to respect, then let him ignore it.

39 Therefore, brothers, earnestly desire the gift of prophecy, and do not forbid speaking in tongues [that is to say, do not forbid it to those who have that gift if someone can explain what they are saying, as I previously specified.]

40 But let all things be done decently and in order.

1 Corinthians 15

1 Moreover, brothers, I remind you of the gospel that I preached to you, which you received and in which you stand.

2 And by which you are saved, if you firmly cling to the word that I have preached to you. Otherwise, you believed in vain.

3 For I first transmitted to you what I myself received, namely that Christ died for our sins, in accordance with the scriptures.

4 And that he was buried, and that he has been raised from the dead on the third day, in accordance with the scriptures.

5 And that he has appeared to Cephas, and then to the twelve.

6 After that, he has appeared to more than five hundred of the brothers at the same time. Most of them are still alive today, but some have fallen asleep. [Now it is evident that it is not the accuracy of all these details that constitutes what a disciple must believe in order to become a righteous person, but the useful part of the information that is given: Christ lived as a man and was killed without having done anything wrong, and shortly afterwards he has been raised from the dead and has been seen by many witnesses, and he is now alive since he can no longer die, and he is in a dimension that is among us but which we do not see with our eyes.]

7 After that, he has appeared to James, and then to all the apostles.

8 And last of all, he has appeared to me also, as to one born out of due time.

9 For I am the least of the apostles, and do not even deserve to be called an apostle, because I persecuted the church of God.

10 But I have become what I am, by the grace of God. And his grace that he has given me has not been fruitless, for I have labored more abundantly than all of them. But I am not the one who has done it, for it has been done by the grace of God that was with me.

11 So whether it is I or they, this is what we preach and this is what you have believed.

12 Now if it is preached that Christ has been raised from the dead, how can some of you say that there is no resurrection of the dead.

13 If there is no resurrection of the dead, then Christ has not been raised from the dead.

14 And if Christ has not been raised from the dead, then our preaching is useless and your faith is useless.

15 And in addition to that, we would be false witnesses of God. For we would have testified against God by claiming that he has raised Christ from the dead, when in fact he would not have raised Christ from the dead since the dead do not rise again.

16 For if the dead do not rise again, then Christ has not been raised from the dead.

17 And if Christ has not been raised from the dead, then your faith is useless and you are still in your sins. [That is to say, we have caused you to commit sins toward those whom you previously considered to be your gods, since we have caused you to turn away from them.]

18 And moreover, those who have fallen asleep in Christ have perished [if the dead do not rise again.]

19 If we have hoped in Christ only for this life, without there being a life after the death of the flesh, then we are the most to be pitied among all the people in the world.

20 But now Christ has been raised from the dead, and he is the firstfruits of those who have fallen asleep.

21 For since death came through a man, the resurrection of the dead also comes through a man.

22 For as in Adam all die, so in Christ all will be made alive.

23 But each in his own order: Christ the firstfruit, and then, at his coming, those who belong to Christ.

24 Then the end will come, when he will give the kingdom to God the Father, after he has destroyed all dominion and all authority and power [which is different from his own].

25 For he must reign until he has put all his enemies under his feet.

26 The last enemy that will be destroyed is death.

27 For God has put everything under his feet. But when it is says that everything has been put under him, it is clear that this does not include the one who has put everything under him.

28 And when all things have been subjected to him, then the Son also will subjected himself to the one who subjected all things to him, so that God may be all in all.

29 Otherwise, what are those who are being baptized for the dead actually doing. If the dead do not rise at all, then why do people get baptized for them.

30 And what about us. Why do we put ourselves in danger every hour.

31 Every day I am exposed to death, I testify it, brothers, by the pride that I have in you through Christ Jesus our Lord.

32 If I have fought with wild beasts at Ephesus for merely human reasons, then what benefit does this offer me. If the dead do not rise, then let us eat and drink because tomorrow we will die. [That is to say, if I have risked being killed in my desire to teach the knowledge of our Lord, it is because I know that the dead will be risen, and I know that I must live for the Lord and not for myself.]

34 Awake and live righteously, sin no more. For some of you do not know God, and you should be ashamed of it.

35 But someone will ask: How are the dead raised. What kind of body will they have [since Christ is alive now and will never die again].

36 O fool, what you sow does not come to life unless it dies.

37 And what you sow is not the body that will be, but just a seed, perhaps of wheat or of something else.

38 Then God gives it a body as he pleases, and to each seed he gives its own body.

39 All flesh is not the same flesh. For there is one kind of flesh for men, and another for beasts, and another for birds, and another for fishes.

40 There are also celestial bodies, and terrestrial bodies. But the glory of the celestial is one, and the glory of the terrestrial is another.

41 There is one glory for the sun, and another glory for the moon, and another glory for the stars. For one star differs from another star in glory.

42 So also is the resurrection of the dead. The body is sown in corruption, and it is raised in incorruption.

43 It is sown in dishonor, and it is raised in glory. It is sown in weakness, and it is raised in power.

44 It is sown a natural body, and it is raised a spiritual body. There is a natural body, and there is also a spiritual body.

45 And so it is written, 'The first man Adam became a living soul'. The last Adam became a life-giving spirit.

46 And now, what is spiritual does not come first. What is natural comes first, and then what is spiritual.

47 The first man is of the earth, earthy. The second man of the heaven.

48 As was the earthy man, so also are those who are earthy. And as is the heavenly man, so also are those who are heavenly.

49 And as we have borne the image of the earthy, so we will also bear the image of the heavenly.

50 Now I say the following thing, brothers: Flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God. Corruption cannot inherit incorruption.

51 Behold, I tell you a mystery: We will not all sleep, but we will all be changed.

52 In a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trumpet. For the trumpet will sound, and the dead will be raised incorruptible, and we will be changed.

53 For this corruptible body must put on incorruption, and this mortal body must put on immortality.

54 When the corruptible puts on incorruption, and this mortal puts on immortality, then it will be according to the following saying that is written: Death is swallowed up in victory.

55 O death, where is your victory. O death, where is your sting.

56 The sting of death is sin, and the strength of sin is the law.

57 But let us give thanks to God, who has given us victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.

58 Therefore, my beloved brothers, be steadfast, and immovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, knowing that your labor is not in vain in the Lord [because there is an afterlife].

1 Corinthians 16

1 Now concerning the collection for the saints, you also will do according to the order that I have given to the churches of Galatia.

2 On the first day of the week, let each of you put aside in store whatever he can afford, so that there may be no collections when I come.

3 And when I arrive, I will send those whom you will approve to carry your gift to Jerusalem, and I will give them letters.

4 And if I find it appropriate that I go there too, that is to say if your gifts are impressive, then they will go with me.

5 I will come to you after I have gone through Macedonia. For I will go through Macedonia.

6 Perhaps I will stay with you for a while, or even spend the winter, so that you may help me on my way wherever I go.

7 For I do not want to see you now just in passing. For I hope to spend some time with you, if the Lord permits.

8 But I will stay at Ephesus until Pentecost.

9 For a great door has opened for me to do an effective work, but there are many adversaries.

10 Now if Timothy comes, then make sure that he is without fear among you. For he is doing the work of the Lord, as I also do.

11 Therefore let no one despise him. Send him on his way in peace, so that he may come to me. For the brothers and I are waiting for him.

12 Now concerning our brother Apollos, I strongly urged him to come to you with the brothers, but it was not at all his will to come to you now. He will come to you when he has the opportunity.

13 Be careful, stand firmly in the faith, have courage and be strong.

14 Let all that you do be done in love.

15 And now, brothers, you know that the household of Stephanas is the firstfruits of Achaia, and that they have devoted themselves to the service of the saints.

16 I urge you to seek to collaborate with such people, and with everyone who works to help us.

17 I am glad of the arrival of Stephanas and Fortunatus and Achaicus. For they have allowed us not to greatly feel your absence.

18 For they have refreshed my spirit and yours. Therefore, I ask you to have a high opinion of such men.

19 The churches of Asia send you greetings. Aquila and Priscilla, together with the church that meets in their house, send you hearty greetings in the Lord.

20 All the brothers send you greetings. Greet one another with a holy kiss.

21 I greet you, I Paul, with my own hand.

22 If anyone does not love the Lord Jesus Christ, let him be Anathema Maranatha. [Consider that such a person is an irrational person.]

23 The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ be with you.

24 My love is with you all in Christ Jesus.

2 Corinthians

2 Corinthians 1

1 Paul, an apostle of Jesus Christ by the will of God, and Timothy our brother, to the church of God which is at Corinth, and to all the saints who are in all Achaia.

2 May grace and peace be given to you from God our Father and from the Lord Jesus Christ.

3 Blessed be God, the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of mercies and the God of all comfort.

4 He comforts us in all our affliction to such an extent that, through the comfort that we ourselves receive from God, we can comfort those who are in any affliction.

5 For as the sufferings of Christ abound in us, so our consolation abounds through Christ. [That is to say, we are consoled by the fact that we know how God has done justice to Christ. We know that God has raised Christ from the dead.]

6 If we are afflicted, it is for your comfort and salvation [since we are afflicted because of the work of God that we are doing to save you]. If we are comforted, it is also for your comfort, since it can help you in your patient endurance of the same sufferings that we endure [that is to say, your knowledge of our comfort is added to your knowledge of the justice done to Christ].

7 And our hope is stedfast concerning you, because we know that as you are partakers of the sufferings, so you will also be partakers in the consolation.

8 For we do not want you to be unaware of our affliction that we have experienced in Asia. Brothers, we were so utterly burdened beyond our strength that we despaired even of life.

9 We felt inside ourselves that we had received the sentence of death. Therefore we were no longer having any confidence in ourselves, but in God who raises the dead.

10 And he has delivered us from such a deadly peril, and he will continue to deliver us. We have placed our hope in him, and he will save us.

11 And you also help us by your prayers for us. For we have done good to many people through the gifts that we have received, so that many people may give thanks for us.

12 For our boast is this: the testimony of our conscience that we have conducted ourselves in the world, and especially toward you, with holiness and sincerity before God, not with worldly wisdom, but with the grace of God.

13 For we are not writing to you anything other than what you read and understand. And I am convinced that you will acknowledge it to the very end.

14 Just as you have already acknowledge that we are partly your glory, just as you also will be ours in the day of the Lord Jesus.

15 In this confidence, I wanted to come to you first, so that you might have a double blessing.

16 I wanted to come to you on my way to Macedonia, and to return from Macedonia to you, and you would have helped me on my way to Judea.

17 Do you think that I made these plans without really thinking. Or are my plans made under the inspiration of the flesh, so that there is both yes and no in me.

18 As surely as God is faithful, our message to you has not been yes and no [that is to say, we did not have doubts about the usefulness of what we were doing].

19 For the Son of God, Jesus Christ who has been preached among you by us, namely by me, and by Silvanus, and by Timothy, was not yes and no, but in him it was always yes.

20 For all the promises of God find their yes in him. That is why it is through him that we say Amen to the glory of God.

21 Now it is God who establishes us with you in Christ, and he is the one who has anointed us.

22 He has put his seal on us, by the fact that he has given us the Spirit in our hearts as a guarantee.

23 And I call God as my witness on my soul, to declare to you that it is to spare you that I have not yet come to Corinth.

24 Not that we have dominion over your faith, but we work with you for your joy, so that you may stand firmly in the faith.

2 Corinthians 2

1 So I have resolved within myself that when I return to you, it will no longer be to sadden you.

2 For if I grieve you, who then is there to make me glad, except the one whom I have grieved.

3 Now regarding what I have just written, I say it so that you behave in such a way that when I arrive, I do not find reasons to be saddened by you who should give me joy. And I have in you all this confidence that my joy is also the joy of you all [that is to say, I know that we are delighted by the same things because I know that you also love our Lord Jesus.]

4 For I had written you a letter in great affliction and anguish of heart, and with many tears. And it was not to grieve you [without any other purpose], but so that you might know the abundant love that I have for you.

5 If anyone has caused sorrow [that is to say, the one whom I asked you to punish appropriately], he has not caused sorrow to me, but to all of you [who interact with him]. And it is appropriate to say that he has afflicted all of you in at least a certain way, because there is no need to exaggerate anything.

6 The punishment inflicted on him by the majority is sufficient for such a man.

7 And therefore you should rather forgive and comfort him [since he has repented], lest he be overwhelmed by an excessive sorrow.

8 Therefore I urge you to show him that you love him.

9 For I had also written to you concerning him in order to find out, by putting you to the test, whether you are obedient in everything.

10 And now, to whom you forgive something, I forgive too. And what I have also forgiven, if I have forgiven anything, I have forgiven it because of you and in the presence of Christ.

11 So that we may not be outwitted by Satan, for we are not unaware of his schemes.

12 Furthermore, when I came to Troas to preach the gospel of Christ, and when a door was opened to me in the Lord.

13 I had no rest in my spirit, because I did not find Titus my brother. Therefore I said goodbye to them, and I went into Macedonia.

14 But thanks be to God, who always causes us to triumph in Christ, and who uses us to manifest the knowledge of his person in every place like one spread a pleasant perfume.

15 For we are to God the pleasing aroma of Christ, both among those who are being saved and among those who are perishing.

16 To those who perishing, this perfume smells like death and it brings them death. To those who are being saved, it has the sweet smell of life and it brings them life. So who is good enough to do this work.

17 For we are not like so many other people who willingly alter the meaning of the word of God in order to achieve their own goals. But in sincerity, as from [the spirit] God, we speak in Christ in the sight of God [the creator].

2 Corinthians 3

1 Are we beginning to commend ourselves again. Or do we need, as some do, letters of recommendation to you or letters of recommendation from you.

2 You yourselves are our letter, written in our hearts, known and read by all men.

3 You are manifestly a letter of Christ written by our ministry, not with ink but with the Spirit of the living God, not on tablets of stone but on tablets of flesh which are your hearts.

4 And this confidence that we have before God comes from Christ.

5 It is not to say that we are by ourselves capable of conceiving something as coming from ourselves. Our ability, on the contrary, comes from God.

6 And he has also enabled us to be ministers of the new covenant, not of the letter but of the spirit. For the letter kills, but the spirit gives life. [Now the letter kills because there is no personal initiative when everyone does the same thing. For the letter prevents each person from seeking his own presence in eternal life.]

7 Now if the ministry that brought death, and that was engraved in letters on stone, was so glorious that the children of Israel could not look steadily at the face of Moses because of the glory of his face, although that glory was fleeting.

8 How much more glorious will the ministry of the Spirit be.

9 For if the ministry of condemnation was glorious, how much more glorious is the ministry of righteousness.

10 For what was glorious was not as glorious as that which surpasses it excessively in glory. [That is to say, the pedagogy of righteousness cannot be as glorious as righteousness itself.]

11 For if what was temporary was glorious, how much more glorious is that which is permanent.

12 Therefore, since we have such a confidence, we are being very bold in our statements.

13 And we are not like Moses, who did put a veil over his face so that the children of Israel should not look on the end of that which was fleeting.

14 But their minds have been blinded. For until this day the same veil remains when they read the old testament, and it is not taken away because it is only in Christ that it disappears.

15 To this day, whenever Moses is read, a veil covers their hearts.

16 But when their hearts turn to the Lord, the veil is taken away.

17 Now the Lord is the Spirit. And where the spirit of the Lord is, there is freedom. [Now this freedom means that a disciple of Jesus can do whatever he wants provided that no one is offended in a publicly unjustifiable way.]

18 And we all [the disciples of Jesus], with unveiled face, beholding as in a mirror the glory of the Lord, are transformed into his unique image, and we are constantly growing from one degree of glory to the next, as by the Lord who is the Spirit.

2 Corinthians 4

1 Therefore, having this ministry, as we have received mercy, we do not lose courage.

2 We reject the shameful things that are done in secret, and we do not act deceitfully, and we do not distort the word of God. But by setting forth the truth plainly, we commend ourselves to every man's conscience in the sight of God.

3 And if our gospel seems completely veiled to a person, then that person is one of those who are perishing.

4 They are those whose minds have been blinded by the god of this world, whether they are disbelievers or unbelievers, so that they cannot see the light of the gospel of the glory of Christ, he who is the image of God.

5 For we do not preach ourselves, but Christ Jesus who is the Lord, and we ourselves are your servants for the sake of Jesus.

6 For God who commanded the light to shine out of darkness [when he was creating the world], has now caused his light to shine in our hearts, by giving us the knowledge of the glory of God which is the face of Jesus Christ [since Jesus Christ is currently alive and we see his face inside his commandment].

7 And we have this treasure inside our corruptible bodies which are like earthen vessels, in order to acknowledge that this great power comes from God and not from ourselves.

8 We are afflicted on every side, but we are not defeated. We are perplexed, but we do not despair.

9 We are persecuted, but not forsaken. We are cast down, but not destroyed.

10 We are always carrying in our bodies the sufferings that the Lord Jesus has experienced on the day of his death in the flesh, so that the life of Jesus [who had been raised from the dead] may also be manifested in our bodies.

11 For we who live are always delivered to death for the sake of Jesus whom we serve, so that the life of Jesus also may be manifested in our mortal flesh.

12 So then death is at work in us, but life in you. [That is to say, when we are dead in the flesh, we will live in you through the teachings that we have given you and which you will be putting into practice, as Christ Jesus is now alive within us by the fact that it is through him that we have learned to kill our old selves.]

13 And since we have the same spirit of faith that is expressed in this scripture, 'I have believed, and therefore I have spoken', we also believe, and therefore we speak. [Now this is a rephrasing, since the words only serve to convey a meaning. It may not have been said exactly in this way in the scriptures, but rather implied.]

14 Knowing that he who raised the Lord Jesus from the dead will also raise us by Jesus, and will set us with you.

15 For all things are for your sakes, so that the grace by multiplying may cause the thanksgivings of a greater number of persons to abound to the glory of God.

16 Therefore we do not lose courage. Although we are wasting away according to our outward appearance, yet the inward man is renewed day by day.

17 For our slight afflictions which will only last a short time, produce for us, beyond all measure, an eternal weight of glory.

18 Since we do not turn our gaze toward the visible things, but toward the invisible things. For the things that are visible are temporary, but the things that are invisible are eternal.

2 Corinthians 5

1 For we know that when this tabernacle which is our earthly house is destroyed, namely our bodies, we will have in heavens a building that is not made with hands like those in which men dwell here on earth, an eternal dwelling place that is the work of God.

2 Therefore we groan, desiring to be clothed with our heavenly home.

3 Because we know that we will not be found naked [concerning our good deeds done on earth], but clothed [with our repentance and our perseverance in the faith].

4 For while we are in this tabernacle which is our earthly bodies, we who have become disciples are burdened and we groan, not because we want the destruction of our earthly bodies, but because we desire to clothe ourselves with worthy deeds so that what is mortal may be swallowed up by life.

5 And the one who has formed us for this purpose is God, who has given us his Holy Spirit that is now working within us.

6 Therefore we are always full of confidence, and we know that by remaining in this body we remain far from the Lord [who is preparing for us, through our deeds, a heavenly dwelling place with himself].

7 For we walk by faith, and not by sight.

8 We are full of confidence, and we prefer to leave this body and to dwell in the heaven with the Lord.

9 This is also why we strive to be pleasing to him, whether we remain in this body or whether we leave it.

10 For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ, so that every one may receive according to the good or evil that he has done while being in his earthly body.

11 Therefore knowing the fear of the Lord, we seek to persuade men. God knows us, and I hope that you too know us in your consciences.

12 We are not recommending ourselves to you again, but we are giving you reasons to be proud of us, so that you may be able to respond to those who glory in appearance and not in the things of the heart.

13 For if we seem to have lost our minds, it is because we want to please God. And if we seem to have some common sense, it is because we want to edify you.

14 For the love of Christ presses us, because we consider that if one has died for all, then all have died.

15 And he died for all so that those who live should no longer live for themselves, but for the one who died and rose from the dead for them.

16 So from now on we know no one according to the flesh. And although we have known Christ according to the flesh, now we no longer know him in this way.

17 If anyone is in Christ, then he has become a new creature. The old things are past, and behold, all things have become new.

18 And all this is from God, who has reconciled us to himself through Christ, and who has given us the ministry of reconciliation.

19 For God was in Christ, reconciling the world to himself, without imputing their sins to them [namely the strange things that they did for themselves or for a certain god without intending to offend others in an unjustifiable manner], and he has put within us the word of reconciliation.

20 Therefore we act as ambassadors for Christ, as if God were exhorting through us. We implore you in the name of Christ to do the following thing: Be reconciled to God.

21 The one who knew no sin, God caused him to become sin for us [while he was living in the flesh among the Jews who have a particular law inspired by God], so that we may become righteous before God through him.

2 Corinthians 6

1 Since we are working with God, we entreat you not to receive the grace of God in vain.

2 For he says: I have heard you at an acceptable time, and I have succored you in the day of [your] salvation. [Now this is a rephrasing of what God says in the scriptures concerning the children of Jacob whom he delivered from bondage in Egypt.]

3 Behold now is the favorable time, behold now is the day of salvation. We give no offense in anything, so that our ministry may not be blamed.

4 But in all things we commend ourselves as ministers of God, in much patience, in afflictions, in need, in distresses.

5 In whips, in imprisonments, in tumults, in labors.

6 By sleepless nights, by fastings, by purity, by knowledge, by longsuffering, by kindness, by the Holy Spirit, by sincere love.

7 By the word of truth, by the power of God, by the weapons of righteousness on the right hand and on the left.

8 Through glory and dishonor, through bad report and good report. As deceivers, and yet we are truthful.

9 As unknown, and yet we are well known. As dying, and behold, we are alive. As chastened, and yet we are not killed.

10 As sorrowful, and yet we are always rejoicing. As poor, and yet we are making many rich. As having nothing, and yet we are possessing all things.

11 Our mouth is open to you, O Corinthians, our heart is enlarged.

12 You are not straitened in us, but you have straitened your own bowels.

13 And now reward us by enlarging yourselves also, I speak as to my children.

14 Do not place yourself with the disbelievers under a strange yoke [that to say, it is not because you have the right to do everything that you should seek the company of those who have strange behaviors]. For what fellowship has righteousness with iniquity. Or what communion has light with darkness.

15 And what harmony is there between Christ and Belial. Or what portion has a believer with an disbeliever.

16 And what agreement is there between the temple of God and idols. For we are the temple of the living God, as God has said: I will dwell among them, and walk there. I will be their God, and they will be my people.

17 Therefore come out from among them and be separated, says the Lord. Touch no unclean thing, and I will receive you.

18 And I will be a father for you, and you will be sons and daughters for me, says the Lord Almighty. [Now this is a rephrasing of what God says in the scriptures concerning the children of Jacob whom he delivered from bondage in Egypt, concerning the peoples whom Israel was to expel from the promised land.]

2 Corinthians 7

1 Having therefore these promises, dearly beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from all defilement of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God.

2 Enlarge your hearts for us. We have wronged no one, we have corrupted no one, we have defrauded no one.

3 I do not say this to condemn you. For I have already said that you are in our hearts, and we are ready to live and die with you.

4 Great is my boldness of speech toward you, great is my joy about you. I am filled with comfort, I am overflowing with joy in all our affliction.

5 For when we came into Macedonia, our bodies had no rest because we were afflicted in every side. We were fighting outside [our bodies], and fearing inside [our bodies].

6 But God, who comforts those who are cast down, comforted us by the coming of Titus.

7 And not only by his coming, but also by the comfort that he has received from you, when he told us about your longing, your sorrow, your zeal for me. For it greatly increased my joy.

8 For although I grieved you with my letter [which I had sent to you], I do not regret it.

9 I felt embarrassed when I saw that my letter had grieved you, even though you have been grieved only for a short time. But now I rejoice, not because you have been grieved, but because your grief has led to repentance. For you have been grieved in a godly way, and therefore you have not been hurt by us.

10 For godly sorrow produces repentance leading to salvation, a repentance that one never repents of, but worldly sorrow produces death.

11 For behold, see what earnestness this godly sorrow has produced in you. What justification, what indignation, what fear, what ardent desire, what zeal, what punishment. You have shown in all things that you were pure in this matter.

12 The main reason I wrote that letter was not because of the one who did the wrong or the one who was hurt, but in order that your earnestness for us might be revealed among you in the sight of God.

13 Therefore we have been comforted. And in our comfort we were much more delighted by the joy of Titus, because his spirit has been refreshed by all of you.

14 I had bragged about you to Titus, and you have not embarrassed me. We have always spoken truthfully to you in all things, and now what we told Titus about you has been shown to be true.

15 And his affection for you is all the greater as he remembers the obedience of you all, and how you received him with fear and trembling.

16 I rejoice that in everything I can have confidence in you.

2 Corinthians 8

1 Brothers, we want you to know the grace of God that has been manifested in the churches of Macedonia.

2 In the midst of many tribulations which tested them, their overflowing joy and deep poverty have abundantly produced rich liberalities on their part.

3 They have, I attest, given voluntarily according to their resources, and even beyond their resources.

4 Asking us with great entreaties for the grace to take part in the assistance intended for the saints.

5 And they contributed not only as much as we could have hoped, but after first giving themselves to the Lord, they also gave themselves to us by the will of God.

6 Therefore we have exhorted Titus to complete this charitable work with you, as he had begun it.

7 Just as you excel in all things, in faith, and in speech, and in knowledge, and in all diligence, and in your love for us, make sure that you also excel in this charitable work.

8 I do not say this thing to give you an order, but to test the sincerity of your love toward us through the zeal of others.

9 For you know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ. Although he was rich, he became poor for your sake so that you may be enriched through his poverty.

10 I have simply given an opinion on this matter. For it is convenient for you, who not only have been the first to have the will last year, but who have been also the first to give [donations for the saints].

11 And now you can complete your action, so that the accomplishment according to your resources responds to the eagerness that you have shown in your desire.

12 When there is a good will, it is pleasant because of what it has at its disposal and not according to what it does not have.

13 It is not a question of exposing yourself to distress in order to relieve others.

14 In the present circumstance your superfluity will provide for their needs, so that their superfluity may provide for your need later, so that there may be equality.

15 As it is written: He who had gathered more had nothing too much and he who had gathered less did not lack.

16 Thanks be to God for putting in the heart of Titus the same eagerness for you.

17 For he has accepted our request, but he wanted to come to you of his own free will.

18 And we have sent with him the brother whose praise concerning his service for the gospel is spread throughout all the churches.

19 And not only that, but he was also chosen by the churches to travel with us in the matter of this grace. We are doing this service for the glory of the Lord, and as a testimony to our good will.

20 We do this so that no one may blame us in this abundant collection to which we give our care.

21 For we seek what is good, not only in the sight of the Lord, but also in the sight of men.

22 And we have sent with them our brother, whose zeal we have often experienced on many occasions, and who shows it even more this time because of the great confidence that he has in you.

23 So concerning Titus, he is my partner and my fellow worker in the work that I do for you. And concerning our brothers, they are the messengers of the churches, they are the glory of Christ.

24 Show them the proof of your love in the sight of the churches, and show them that we have reason to glory in you.

2 Corinthians 9

1 It is superfluous for me to write to you concerning the assistance for the saints.

2 For I know your willingness, of which I have boasted about you to the Macedonians, saying that Achaia has been ready since last year. And your zeal has been the cause of the eagerness of many of them.

3 And now I have sent the brothers so that our pride in you concerning this matter may not be in vain. I want you to be ready, as I had said [to the Macedonians] that you would be.

4 Otherwise, if some of the Macedonians come with me and find you unprepared, then we, not to mention you, will be put to shame concerning this confidence.

5 Therefore I thought it necessary to ask the brothers to come to you before us, in order to take care of setting aside your already promised donation, so that it may be ready as a generous gift and not as something given reluctantly.

6 Remember the following thing: whoever sows sparingly will also reap sparingly, and whoever sows bountifully will also reap bountifully.

7 Let each of you give according to what he has resolved in his heart, not reluctantly or under compulsion. For God loves a cheerful giver.

8 And God is able to bless you abundantly so that, always having all sufficiency in all things, you may abound in every good work.

9 As it is written: He has scattered abroad, he has given to the poor. His righteousness endures forever.

10 Now he who supplies seed to the sower and bread for food will also supply and increase your store of seed, and will enlarge the harvest of your righteousness.

11 You will be enriched in every way so that you can be generous on every occasion, and through us your generosity will result in thanksgiving to God.

12 For the succor of this assistance not only provides for the needs of the saints, but is also an abundant source of many thanksgiving to God.

13 In consideration of this help which they will experience, they will praise God for your obedience in professing the gospel of Christ, and for the generosity of your gifts to them and to all.

14 And you will be a source of inspiration for their prayers, because they will love you on account of the surpassing grace that God has given you.

15 Thanks be to God for his indescribable gift.

2 Corinthians 10

1 I Paul, I entreat you by the meekness and gentleness of Christ, I who am humble in appearance when I am among you and full of boldness towards you when I am far away.

2 What I ask of you is to ensure that, when I am present among you, I do not have to be bold with that confidence with which I intend to be bold toward some who consider us as if we were walking according to the flesh.

3 For although we walk in the flesh, we do not wage war according to the flesh.

4 For the weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but powerful through God to overthrow strongholds.

5 We are casting down arguments and every high thing that exalts itself against the knowledge of God, and we are bringing every thought that is into captivity to the obedience of Christ. [That is to say, every ordinary person is ignorant when he comes into the world, and is a slave to elementary desires of the flesh and to behaviors that he reproduces by imitation after having observed them in certain people, and the acquisition of the knowledge taught by Jesus Christ allows such a person to become a free person if he chooses to convert.]

6 And we are ready to punish any disobedience, after you have become fully obedient.

7 You look at things according to their appearance. If anyone is confident that he belongs to Christ, then let him acknowledge that just as he belongs to Christ, so we also belong to Christ.

8 For although I may boast a little too much about our authority which the Lord has given us for your edification and not for your destruction, I am not ashamed of it.

9 But I do not want you to think that I am merely trying to frighten you by my letters.

10 For they say: His letters are weighty and powerful, but his bodily presence is weak, and his speech contemptible.

11 Let the one who speaks in this way consider that as we are in word by our letters when we are absent, so also we are in our deed when we are present.

12 But we do not dare to classify or compare ourselves with some of those who commend themselves. For they are without understanding, measuring themselves by themselves and comparing themselves with themselves.

13 For we will not glory beyond all measure. On the contrary, we will take as measure the limits of the portion that God has assigned to us, and inside which we have been able to reach you.

14 For we are not in the process of exceeding our limits, as if it were not us who had brought the knowledge of Christ to you. For we are indeed the ones who have come to you with the gospel of Christ.

15 So we are not boasting beyond our limits, we do not boast about the labors of others. And we have the hope that, as your faith increases, we will be enlarged by you, according to the limits assigned to us.

16 So that you may preach the gospel even in the regions beyond you, without boasting about the work already done within the limits assigned to others.

17 Let the one who glories glory in the Lord.

18 For it is not the one who commends himself who is approved, but the one whom the Lord commends.

2 Corinthians 11

1 I wish you could bear me when I am a little foolish. And indeed you already bear me [since anyway I am already foolish in the sight of the men of the world because of my love for the Lord Jesus].

2 For I am jealous for you with a godly jealousy, because I have betrothed you to one husband, to present you as a pure virgin to Christ.

3 But I am afraid that, as the serpent deceived Eve by his craftiness, so your minds may somehow be led astray from the simplicity and the purity that are in Christ.

4 For if someone comes and preaches a different Jesus than the one whom we have preached, or if you receive a different spirit than the one that you have received from us, or a different gospel than the one that you have accepted from us, then you adapt to it quite easily.

5 Now I consider myself in no way inferior to these preeminent apostles. [That is to say, the quality of the teachings that I have given you is not inferior to that of the different teachings that some other persons who claim to be apostles may give you.]

6 For I am not unskilled in knowledge, although I am unskilled in speaking. We have demonstrated it to you in every possible way and in all things.

7 Have I committed an offense by humbling myself so that you might be exalted. For I have preached the gospel of God to you without asking for reward for myself.

8 I have robbed other churches by receiving a support from them, in order to be able to serve you [while I was with you].

9 For when I was with you and needed something, I was not a burden to anyone. For the brothers who came from Macedonia supplied what I needed. In everything I have kept myself from being a burden to you, and I will continue to do so.

10 As surely as the truth of Christ is in me, this boast will not be taken away from me in the regions of Achaia.

11 Why. Is it because I do not love you. God knows that it is not the case.

12 But I am acting and will continue to act in this way [among you], in order to remove this pretext from those who seek a pretext, so that they may be found to be like us in the things of which they boast.

13 For such men are false apostles. They are deceitful workers who disguise themselves as apostles of Christ.

14 And this is not surprising, since Satan himself disguises himself as an angel of light.

15 It is therefore not surprising that his ministers also masquerade as ministers of righteousness. But their end will be according to their works.

16 I repeat it, let no one regard me as a fool. Otherwise, give me still a place in your hearts even if it is by receiving me as a fool, so that I too may boast a little.

17 What I am saying, with the confidence of having reason to boast, I am not saying it according to the way of the Lord, but as if in foolishness.

18 Since there are many who boast according to the flesh, I too will boast.

19 For you gladly tolerate fools, you who should have been wise [through the teachings that I had instilled in you].

20 For if someone enslaves you, if someone devours you, if someone takes advantage of you, if someone is arrogant, if someone strikes you in the face, then you tolerate it. [That is to say, you are ready to forget the teachings of Christ that we have given you and to accept false teachings that do not honor you.]

21 I am ashamed to say it, but I realize that we have shown weakness towards you in the way with which we have instructed you. And now, whatever anyone else dares to do toward you, I also will dare to do it. I speak as if by foolishness.

22 Are they Hebrews. Me too. Are they Israelites. Me too. Are they descendants of Abraham [according to the flesh]. Me too.

23 Are they ministers of Christ. I speak as a man who is out of his mind. I am even more so. Regarding labors, I have labored more abundantly. Regarding imprisonments, I have been imprisoned much more often. Regarding the fact of having been whipped, I have been whipped beyond measure. And I have been near death many times.

24 Five times I received from the Jews forty lashes minus one [with a whip].

25 I have been beaten with rods three times. One time I have been stoned with stones. I have been shipwrecked three times, and one of those times I spent the night and the next day in the sea.

26 I have been frequently on journeys, in danger from rivers, in danger from robbers, in danger from my own countrymen [that is to say, the Jews], in danger from Gentiles, in danger in the city, in danger in the wilderness, in danger on the sea, in danger among false brothers [that is to say, deceivers who claimed to be disciples of Jesus].

27 I have been in toil and hardship, often without sleep, in hunger and thirst, often in fastings, in cold and nakedness.

28 And in addition to these things suffered by my body, I am anxious every day about the condition of all the churches.

29 Who is the disciple of Jesus who will say that he is weak, without me having myself been weak in the things that I have suffered. Who is the disciple who will say that he is stumbling in his endurance on the way of the Lord, without this making me burn because I myself have endured extreme situations without turning away from the Lord.

30 If I must boast, then I will boast about the things that show my weakness.

31 The God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ [namely the Holy Spirit], who is blessed forever, knows that I am not lying.

32 In Damascus, the governor under king Aretas had the city of the Damascenes watched by soldiers in order to seize me.

33 But I was lowered in a basket through a window in the wall, and that is how I escaped from his hands.

2 Corinthians 12

1 It is not good for me to boast. Nevertheless I will come to visions and revelations of the Lord.

2 I know a man in Christ who was snatched up to the third heaven fourteen years ago, I do not know if it was in his body, I do not know if it was outside his body, God knows.

3 And I know that such a man was snatched into Paradise, I do not know if it was in his body or without his body, God knows.

4 And he heard ineffable words which it is not lawful for a man to utter.

5 I will boast about such a man, but I will not boast about myself, except concerning my weaknesses.

6 For if I wanted to say more about myself, then I would not be a fool because I would be telling the truth. But I refrain from doing so, so that no one may have a higher opinion of me than what he sees in me or what he hears from me.

7 And in order to prevent me from being swollen with pride, because of the excellence of the revelations that I have received, a thorn has been placed in my flesh, an angel of Satan to torment me and prevent me from becoming proud.

8 I besought the Lord three times to take it away from me.

9 But he said to me, 'My grace is sufficient for you. For my power is made perfect in weakness'. Therefore I will much more gladly boast about my weaknesses, so that the power of Christ may rest on me.

10 This is why I take pleasure in weaknesses, in insults, in need, in persecutions, in distresses, for the sake of Christ. For when I am weak, it is then that I am strong.

11 I have talked like a fool, because you have compelled to do it. You are the ones who should have said good things about me. For I was in no way inferior to the apostles par excellence, although I am nothing.

12 The evidences of the fact that I am an apostle of Christ have been manifested among you by an unfailing patience, and by signs, and by wonders, and by great deeds.

13 In what way have you been treated less favorably than the other churches, except in that I have not been a burden to you. Forgive me for this wrong.

14 Behold I am ready to come to you for the third time, and I will not be a burden to you. For it is not your goods that I seek, it is you yourselves. The children ought not to save up for their parents, but the parents for their children.

15 As for me, I will spend very willingly and also spend myself for your souls, even at the risk of being loved less by you while I am loving you more.

16 Yes, I have not been a burden to you, but I have acted like a clever man and I have been cunning to catch you.

17 Have I profited from you by any of those whom I sent to you.

18 I have asked Titus to come to you, and I have sent a brother with him. Has Titus desired anything from you for ourselves [and not for the other churches]. Have we not walked in the same spirit, in the same footsteps.

19 Perhaps you have been thinking all this time that we are justifying ourselves to you. But we are speaking in Christ and in the sight of God, and all these things, dearly beloved, are for your edification.

20 For I fear that, when I come, I will not find you such as I would like, and that I myself will be found by you such as you would not like. For I fear finding quarrels, jealousy, animosities, intrigues, backbiting, whisperings, pride, tumults.

21 I fear that when I come, my God will humble me again regarding you, and that I will be grieved over many of those who have sinned previously and who have not repented of the impurity or fornication or dissoluteness in which they have indulged.

2 Corinthians 13

1 I am coming to you for the third time. Every matter will be established by the testimony of two or three witnesses.

2 When I was with you the second time, I gave a warning to those who had sinned. And now that I am absent, I am giving another warning to them and to anyone else who has sinned: When I come to you again, I will not spare you.

3 Since you are seeking a proof that Christ speaks in me, he who is not weak toward you, but is powerful in you.

4 For he was crucified in his weakness, but he is now alive by the power of God. And we also are weak in him, but we will live with him by the power of God toward you.

5 Examine yourselves, to see whether you are in the faith or not. Test your own selves. Do you not realize that Jesus Christ is in you. Otherwise, you may have been rejected [by him].

6 But I hope that you will acknowledge that we are not rejected [by him].

7 And now we pray to God that you do no evil. And it is not that we will be approved by Christ because of the behavior that you will have [since we have made other disciples elsewhere], but it is so that you may behave honorably, so that it is no longer necessary for us to constantly give you warnings to all of you, and thus we may appear as being rejected from among you.

8 For we have no power against the truth, but only for the truth.

9 For we will rejoice to become weak [among all of you] if you become strong. And that is why we pray for your perfection [that is to say, for the perfection of the church that we have created among you].

10 Therefore I write these things while being absent, so that when I am present, I may not have to resort to harsh measures, according to the authority that the Lord has given me for your edification and not for your destruction.

11 And now, brothers, receive my peace and perfect yourselves. Be encouraged, be of one mind, live in peace, and the God of love and peace will be with you.

12 Greet one another with a holy kiss.

13 All the saints greet you.

14 May the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the fellowship of the Holy Spirit, be with you all.

Galatians

Galatians 1

1 Paul, an apostle who has not been established by men and who has not become so through some men, but by Jesus Christ and God the Father who has raised Jesus Christ from the dead.

2 And all the brothers who are with me, to the churches of Galatia.

3 Grace and peace to you from God the Father, and from our Lord Jesus Christ.

4 He who has given himself for our sins, to rescue us from the present evil world, according to the will of God and [of God] our Father.

5 To whom be glory forever and ever. Amen.

6 I am astonished that you are so quickly deserting the one who called you in the grace of Christ, and are turning to a different gospel.

7 Not that there is another gospel, but there are some people who trouble you because they want to pervert the gospel of Christ.

8 But even if one of us, or an angel from heaven, preach a gospel other than the one that we have preached to you, then let him be accursed.

9 As we have already said, so now I say again: if anyone preaches to you a gospel other than the one that you have received, then let him be accursed.

10 For am I now seeking the favor of men, or of God. Or am I striving to please men. If I were seeking to please men, then I would not be a servant of Christ.

11 I want you to know, brothers, that the gospel which I have preached to you does not come from the reasonings of men.

12 For I did not receive it from any man, and I did not develop it by teaching myself, but I have received it by revelation from Jesus Christ.

13 For you have heard of my former conduct in the religion of the Jews, how I intensely persecuted and ravaged the church of God.

14 And how I was more advanced in the religion of the Jews than many of my own age in my nation, being extremely zealous for the traditions of my fathers.

15 But God had set me apart from my mother's womb, and he has called me by his grace when it has pleased him to reveal his Son in me, so that I may preach his Son among the Gentiles.

16 And immediately, I did not consult with flesh or blood.

17 And I did not go up to Jerusalem to those who had been apostles before me, but I went into Arabia. Then I returned to Damascus.

18 And three years later, I went up to Jerusalem to see Peter, and I stayed with him for fifteen days.

19 But I did not see any of the other apostles, except James the brother of the Lord.

20 Concerning the things that I am writing to you, behold I declare it before God, I am not lying.

21 Then I went into the regions of Syria and Cilicia.

22 And I was unknown by face to the churches of Judea which were in Christ.

23 They had only heard say: The one who formerly persecuted us is now preaching the faith that he once tried to destroy.

24 And they glorified God because of me.

Galatians 2

1 Fourteen years later, I went up again to Jerusalem with Barnabas, taking Titus also with me.

2 And I went up there because of a revelation. And I presented to them the gospel that I preach among the Gentiles, and I presented it privately to those who were the leaders, lest I was running or had run in vain. [That is to say, if I had not sought to speak to the leaders, then it could have remained as a secret since the gospel that I teach to the Gentiles is not approved by all the Jews. For I affirm that circumcision is not necessary. So I spoke to the leaders so that all of them would have an accurate understanding of the message that God has asked me to teach to the Gentiles. Now it is said in the book of Acts that Paul went to Jerusalem with Barnabas because there had been a discussion in Antioch with the Jews, concerning the circumcision of the Gentiles who had believed in Jesus. It is said in that book that it was the disciples of Jesus at Antioch who decided that Paul and Barnabas should go to Jerusalem with certain other people to present the discussion to the apostles who had walked near Jesus, and here Paul specifies that his will to go to Jerusalem originally came from a revelation of the Lord and therefore he went to Jerusalem solely with the intention of edifying others.]

3 But not even Titus who was with me, and who was a Greek, was compelled to be circumcised. [That is to say, no one forced me to circumcise the Greek Titus who was with me at that time. Now Paul has said that they went to Jerusalem to meet those who are disciples of Jesus among the Jews, but he has not said that they went to the area of the temple of the Jews.]

4 We went to Jerusalem at that time because of the false brothers who had secretly sneaked in among us in order to spy on the freedom that we have in Christ Jesus, with the intention of enslaving us.

5 We did not yield to them for a single moment, and we resisted their demands so that the truth of the gospel might be maintained among you.

6 And those who were considered to be leaders, whatever they may have been in the past [that is to say, even though they walked alongside our Lord while he was alive in the flesh], it makes no difference to me because God does not have respect for the face of a person. Those who were considered to be leaders added nothing to me. [That is to say, they could not add anything to the knowledge that I had received through revelation.]

7 On the contrary, when they saw that I had been entrusted with the gospel for the uncircumcised, just as Peter had been entrusted with the gospel for the circumcised. [Now Peter had thought for some time that he should preach the knowledge of Jesus only to the Jews, and it was when he had been sent into the house of Cornelius that he discovered that God does not make a difference between Jews and non-Jews.]

8 For he who had worked in Peter to make him an apostle to the circumcised, had also worked in me to make me an apostle to the Gentiles.

9 And when James and Cephas and John, who were considered to be pillars, acknowledged the grace that had been given to me, they gave to me and Barnabas the right hands of fellowship, so that we should go to the Gentiles and they to the circumcised.

10 They only asked us to remember the poor, a thing that I took great care to do.

11 And when Peter came to Antioch, I opposed him to his face because he acted in a reprehensible manner.

12 Indeed, before the arrival of some people sent by James, Peter was eating with the Gentiles. But when they had come, he withdrew and separated himself from those Gentiles, for fear of those who were circumcised [and who are not among the disciples of Jesus].

13 And other Jews who are among the disciples of Jesus also joined him in this hypocrisy, insomuch that even Barnabas participated in their hypocrisy.

14 And when I saw that they were not walking uprightly according to the truth of the gospel, I said to Peter in the presence of all: If you, being a Jew, live like the Gentiles and not like the Jews [regarding the fact of not being ready to take responsibility for the deeds that you choose to undertake], then why do you desire to see the conversion of the Gentiles to the Christian faith which we consider to be the perfection of the Jewish religion that allowed the conversions of foreigners.

15 We have been educated in the Jewish religion, and therefore we do not act like the many sinners who live among the Gentiles. [Now this does not mean that all the Gentiles are sinners, but simply that there are many sinners among the Gentiles.]

16 Nevertheless, having learned that a person is not justified by the works of the law [given to Moses] but by faith in Jesus Christ, we too have believed in Christ Jesus in order to be justified by faith in Christ and not by the works of the law [given to Moses]. For no one will be justified by the works of the law given by Moses. [That is to say, the law given by Moses required Jews not to have an emotional connection with those who have not converted to the Jewish religion, since that law authorizes the conversion of foreigners and requires Jews to constantly seek to separate themselves from all those who have strange practices, but the law revealed by Jesus Christ has abolished many of the commandments given by Moses while perfecting certain others of those commandments. We now know that God is not interested in genealogy, and that he only wants to know why a person does something and not what that person does. Now we know that we should not have an emotional connection with those who do not believe in Jesus.]

17 But while we seek to be made righteous by Christ, if we ourselves are found to be sinners, then can this imply that Christ tolerates sin. By no means. [That is to say, do the personal initiatives of those who claim to be disciples of Jesus have an influence on the reputation that must be attributed to Jesus.]

18 For if I rebuild the things that I have destroyed, then I make myself a transgressor.

19 For it is through the law [given to Moses] that I have died toward the law [given to Moses], so that I may live for God. [That is to say, it is the Jewish holy scriptures that have allowed me to understand how to put into practice the holy commandment given by Jesus Christ.]

20 For I have been crucified with Christ [at the moment when I have accepted to live according to the faith that has been clearly explained to me]. And if I live now in the flesh, then it is no longer I who live but it is Christ who lives in me. For regarding the life that I now live in the flesh, I live it through the faith that I have in the Son of God who has loved me and has given himself for me.

21 I do not reject the grace of God. For if righteousness can be attained by the practice of the law given to Moses, then Christ died in vain.

1 O foolish Galatians. Who has bewitched you to turn you away from understanding the faith. For we had clearly explained to you that faith consists solely in understanding that Jesus Christ has been crucified. [That is to say, Jesus has been crucified because of the commandments given by Moses, and he has been raised from the dead so that we may know that he did nothing wrong in the sight of God.]

2 I only want you to answer the following question: Had you received the Spirit by the works of the law, or by listening and understanding the preaching of faith. [That is to say, it is not by the practice of the commandments of the law given to Moses that many people in your community had received the gifts of the Holy Spirit when we arrived in your region to announce the gospel to you. But that was some time ago, and now there are new people among you who disturb those who want to become disciples in your community.]

3 Are you so foolish. Having begun by the Spirit, are you now trying to finish by the flesh. [Now Paul is saying this thing to the Galatians as a whole, and not to any particular disciple, since different people within their church may have different points of view.]

4 Have you suffered so many things in vain. If it really was in vain. [That is to say, will the church that started there disappear completely. Will this church not leave behind an admirable legacy.]

5 The one who gives you the Spirit and works miracles among you, does he do it by your practice of the law given to Moses or by your listening and understanding of the preaching of faith. [That is to say, observe those among you who receive certain gifts, and ask yourselves what their motivations are in everything that they do. Do you think that their primary concern is to put into practice the commandments of the law of Moses.]

6 Just as Abraham trusted God, and God recognized him as a righteous person for this reason.

7 So you should understand that it is those who walk by faith who are children of Abraham. [That is to say, they are the children of Abraham because their faith in the teaching of Jesus Christ makes them imitate the behavior of Abraham who is himself included in the genealogy of knowledge taught by Jesus Christ. Now Abraham was not under all the commandments given by Moses to the children of Jacob, since that law contains particularities such as the fact that a father can henceforth transmit an inheritance to his daughter according to the judgment given after the problem exposed by the five daughters of Zelophehad, or such as the fact that the children of Israel must separate into twelve distinct tribes according to the number of the children of Jacob who received the name Israel and who is himself one of the grandchildren of Abraham. Paul is therefore explaining to us that God can recognize that a person is righteous even if that person does not observe all the commandments given to Moses, nor the circumcision received by Abraham. For God recognized that Abraham is a righteous person when Abraham did not have children yet, and it was long after that Abraham received the covenant of circumcision which requires that all male descendants of his posterity to be circumcised at eight days old. And on the same day that Abraham received this covenant, he circumcised himself and he circumcised his son Ishmael who was thirteen years old. And the birth of Isaac, the son of the covenant, occurred more than a year later, and Abraham circumcised Isaac at eight days old in accordance with the command of the covenant that he had received. And the sons of Isaac were twin brothers, Esau and Jacob, but Jacob is the only one to have received the promises made to Abraham and to Isaac in accordance with the following word that was spoken by the prophet Malachi, a word that had been announced with other words to their mother before their birth: Is not Esau the brother of Jacob, says the Lord. And nevertheless I have loved Jacob, and I have hated Esau. I made his mountains desolate, and gave his heritage to the jackals of the wilderness.]

8 And the scripture, foreseeing that God would justify the Gentiles by faith, announced the following good news to Abraham in advance: All the nations will be blessed in you.

9 Therefore it is those who walk by faith [in Jesus Christ] who are blessed through Abraham who himself had a great faith. [Now Abraham had the faith that it was sufficient for him to always possess a publicly acceptable justification for everything that he was doing, and consequently, what he was doing each time depended solely on the knowledge that he possessed in real time. But Abraham did not know the exact definition of the concept of righteousness which has been revealed by Jesus Christ, and that is why Abraham used to build altars to honor God.]

10 For all those who seek to attain righteousness by practicing the law given to Moses are under a curse. For it is written in that law: Cursed is everyone who does not continue in all the things that are written in the book of the law, to do them. [Now Paul expresses himself thus because the temple of the Jews, built to practice the law given by Moses, is always present in Jerusalem. This temple which had been a holy place approved by God, will be destroyed a few years after the death of Paul, and those who desire to be justified by the practice of the law given by Moses after that event, of all the law given by Moses, will not simply be under a curse but will be fools and comedians.]

11 And now it is evident that no one is justified before God by the will to practice all the commandments of the law given to Moses, since it is written: The righteous will live by faith. [Now Paul wants to explain that if a person should be righteous before God by practicing the commandments of the law that Moses gave to the children of Jacob, then none of the people who do not belong to the tribes of Israel could be righteous without converting to the Jewish religion which explicitly allows the conversion of foreigners. And yet it is evident that there were people who were righteous before God and who did not practice the Jewish religion, such as Noah and Abraham and Isaac and Jacob, or such as Job who was not a descendant of Abraham, or such as Balaam who was a prophet during the days of Moses. Balaam did not belong to the tribes of Israel, and he was not perfect like every normal human being, since even Moses sinned against God in two different ways when he did not act with integrity based on the information available to him: when he failed to circumcise his son on the eighth day after birth while he was returning to the land of Egypt with his wife Zipporah, and when he failed to sanctify God at the waters of Meribah, at Kadesh in the wilderness of Zin, even though a similar event had already occurred at Rephidim in the first three months of the journey of the children of Israel from the land of Egypt.]

12 And having faith cannot consist of trying to practice all the commandments of the law given to Moses, since [there are righteous persons outside the Jewish religion and] it is written in that law: The one who does these things will live by them. [Now is it written in the law given by Moses: You will keep my statutes and my judgments. And if a man do them then he will live by them. I am the Lord.]

13 And now, Christ has redeemed us [who are Jewish] from the curse of the law by becoming a curse for us. For it is written: Cursed is everyone who is hanged on a tree. [That is to say, now we know that this law itself is cursed because it has condemned Jesus who was righteous, and we know that Jesus was righteous because he has been raised from the dead.]

14 And so the blessing of Abraham has been fulfilled for the Gentiles in Jesus Christ, so that we may receive by faith the promised Spirit.

15 Brothers, the following thing is true even in the customs of men: A legally binding agreement, once ratified, cannot be disannulled or modified by anyone.

16 And now, the promises were made to Abraham and to his seed. It does not say, 'and to his seeds', as if there were many. It says, 'and to your seed', referring to one seed who is Christ. [That is to say, not all of the children of Abraham according to the flesh inherited the promise, but only one, namely Isaac. And not all of the children of Isaac according to the flesh inherited the promise, but only one, namely Jacob who was the twin brother of Esau. And not all of the descendants of Jacob according to the flesh inherited the promise, since it was said in the wilderness that the people will wander for forty years until the death of all the men who were old enough when they left the land of Egypt, in order to punish them for their many acts of disobedience, and that only their children will reach the promised land. There are only two men who were exceptions among those who were sufficiently old at the time when the people left Egypt, among all the men who did not belong to the tribe of the Levites, since the members of this tribe only had to do the religious service and not participate in the different wars. Those two men were Caleb the son of Jephunneh the Kenizzite and Joshua the son of Nun, and they were able to reach the promised land and settle there because they had wanted to have a blind trust in Yahweh who had already done several miracles before their eyes to prove that he was God, and who had given an order that the other men of war did not want to put into practice. Thus the promise made to Abraham was not transmitted to all those who were his descendants according to the flesh, but only through those who imitated his faith, and consequently the seed of Abraham cannot be formed of twelve distinct tribes, and it is Christ who gave the correct definition of faith by making known the exact definition of the concept of righteousness based on the legacy of Abraham.]

17 I say the following thing: The law which came four hundred and thirty years later, cannot annul the covenant previously established by God and thus make the promise void. [That is to say, the transmission of the legacy of Abraham began without the law, concerning his children among whom only one was chosen, and concerning his grandchildren among whom there was a separation of two twin brothers. Therefore this legacy cannot interrupt the transmission by faith a few centuries later to begin a transmission by the law given to Moses. For the law given to Moses contains commandments that were given to solve problems that arose in real time, such as the fact that a father could transmit his inheritance to his daughters if he did not had sons, or the fact that a daughter who received an inheritance from her father was obligated to marry a man belonging to the same tribe as her father.]

18 For if the inheritance depends on the law, then it no longer depends on the promise. But God gave it to Abraham by promise.

19 Why then has the law been given. It has been added because of transgressions, until the coming of the seed to whom the promise had been made. It has been given through angels, by the hand Moses who has been a mediator.

20 Now a mediator is not a mediator of one, but God is one. [Now in the Jewish scriptures, if God is the one who causes all things to happen, then his holy spirit is the God of those who are approved, and it is required in the scriptures to call both by the same name. Consequently, here the apostle Paul informs us that Christ is not merely a mediator like Moses but is completely united with God.]

21 Is the law then against the promises of God. Certainly not. For if there had been a certain law that could have given life [namely the eternal life], then righteousness should have been attained by the law. [That is to say, if it were possible to attain righteousness by a multitude of commandments and not through faith, then such a law composed of those commandments would have been given.]

22 Therefore the behaviors of the characters described in the Jewish scriptures always contains some form of sin, and the promise is now given by faith in Jesus Christ to those who believe.

23 Before faith came, we [the Jews] were kept under the law, as in a prison, until the future faith was revealed.

24 So the law has been our tutor to bring us to Christ, so that we may be made righteous by faith.

25 And now that faith has come, we are no longer under a tutor.

26 For you are all children of God by faith in Christ Jesus. [That is to say, your faith in Jesus Christ allows you to become righteous people in the eyes of God who had said the following thing to Pharaoh by the hand of Moses: Thus says the Lord, Israel is my son, my firstborn. And I say to you, Let my son go so that he may serve me. If you refuse to let him go, behold I will kill your son, your firstborn.]

27 For all of you who have been baptized into Christ have clothed yourselves with Christ.

28 Here there is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither slave nor free man, there is neither male nor female. For you are all one in Christ Jesus.

29 And if you belong to Christ, then you are the seed of Abraham, heirs according to the promise.

Galatians 4

1 Now I say the following thing: as long as the heir is a child, he differs in no way from a slave, although he is the master of everything.

2 But he is under tutours and administrators, until the time set by the father.

3 In the same way, when we were children, we were in bondage under the rudiments of the world. [That is to say, the children of Israel were carrying the legacy of Abraham and of Isaac and of Jacob, and they received an educational law through Moses.]

4 But when the time was fulfilled, God sent his Son, born of woman and born under the law given by Moses.

5 So that he may redeem those who were under the law, and so that anyone may receive the adoption to become his children.

6 And with the aim of making us his children, God has sent the spirit of his Son into our hearts, and it cries out in us: Abba, Father.

7 So you are no longer a slave of the primitive spirits of the world, but a son or a daughter [if you have truly understood and accepted the message of Jesus Christ]. And if you are now a son or a daughter, then you are also a heir of God through Christ.

8 Formerly, when you did not know God, you were serving some spirits who are not gods by their nature. [Now Paul speaks of many people belonging to the community of Galatians to whom he is sending this letter, because in a global way this community did not live with the desire to please any God of justice who by nature does not desire that his disciples offend anyone without having in the heart a publicly acceptable justification, namely a justification that may be acceptable even in the eyes of those who do not believe in any god.]

9 And now that you have known God, or rather you have become known by God [namely by the holy spirit of God], how do you return to those weak and poor rudiments to which you again want to enslave yourself. [That is to say, after you have been taught the accurate knowledge of the true God, and some of you have accepted it, why do some others of you want to turn away from the simplicity of the message that is to be remembered. Why does the organization of your church, which aims to make new members and thus create harmony in the world, have to tolerate that some people teach another message among you.]

10 You observe days, and months, and seasons, and years.

11 I fear to have worked among you in vain.

12 Be like me, because I too am like you. Brothers, I beseech you. You had been very good toward me in in the past.

13 You know how it was through an infirmity of the flesh that I preached the gospel to you at the first time.

14 And being tested by my flesh, you showed neither contempt nor disgust towards me. On the contrary, you received me as an angel of God, as Jesus Christ.

15 What was the cause of your happiness. For I testify to you that, if it had been possible, then you would have plucked out your own eyes and given them to me.

16 Have I become your enemy by telling you the truth.

17 Their zeal for you is not pure. For they want to separate you from us, so that you may be zealous for them. [Now Paul says this thing about those who are teaching among the Galatians a message different from the simplicity of the gospel of Christ.]

18 It is beautiful to have zeal for what is good at all times, and not only when I am present among you.

19 My little children, for whom I again experience the pains of childbirth [like those felt by some women], until Christ is formed in you.

20 I would like to be with you now and change my tone of voice. For I am worried about you.

21 Tell me, you who want to be under the law [namely the law of Moses that we have used to teach you the knowledge of Christ], do you not hear the law.

22 For it is written that Abraham had two sons, one by a handmaid and one by a freewoman. [Now they are the first two sons of Abraham, since long after that he took another woman with whom he had other sons.]

23 But the son of the handmaid was born according to the flesh, and the son of the freewoman was born through a promise.

24 These things are allegorical, and these two women are like the two agreements between God and his people. One agreement is the law that God gave through Moses at mount Sinai. The woman named Hagar, who was the handmaid of Abraham, lived like those who wish to be subject to that agreement in these days. For those persons are like slaves who do not produce fruit for themselves, while the message of the gospel of Christ announces to them that they can now produce fruit for themselves.

25 So Hagar is like mount Sinai in Arabia, and it corresponds to present-day Jerusalem which is in bondage with its children. For there are many of the Jews who continue to follow the law given to Moses, because the temple of God built in Jerusalem for this law has not yet been destroyed.

26 But the heavenly Jerusalem that is above is our mother, and it bears free children. [That is to say, Jesus Christ was raised from the dead and is now in heaven, and we who are his disciples and thus his children are free like the freewoman of Abraham.]

27 For it is written: Rejoice, O barren one, you who have not borne children. Be comforted and be glad, you who have not known the pains of childbirth. For the children of the woman who is desolate [and who fears God] will be more numerous than the children of the woman who is living with her husband. [Now this was written by the prophet Isaiah to make it understood that any solitary person who fears God can have many spiritual children, and in an allegorical way it describes Sarah the first wife of Abraham. For Sarah was barren and feared God, and God did not only give her spiritual children but also a child according to the flesh who was Isaac.]

28 And now, brothers, we are like Isaac, we are children of the promise. [That is to say, it is not the law given by Moses that is the fulfillment of the promise made to Abraham, but it is us, the disciples of Jesus Christ, who are the fulfillment of that promise. We are the spiritual children of Jesus Christ and also the spiritual children of Abraham.]

29 And as then he who was born according to the flesh persecuted him who was born according to the Spirit, so it is even now. [That is to say, in the same way that Ishmael the son of Hagar persecuted Isaac the son of Sarah, so we who are disciples of Jesus are persecuted by the Jews who refuse to accept that Jesus is the Christ foretold in their scriptures. They are persecuting us because the temple that has been built in Jerusalem to practice the law of Moses has not yet been destroyed.]

30 But what does scripture say. It is written: Drive out the handmaid and her son. For the son of the handmaid will not inherit with the son of the freewoman. [Now Paul is predicting the destruction of the Jewish temple.]

31 Therefore, brothers, we are not children of a handmaid, but of a freewoman. [That is to say, we are the free children of Jesus Christ, and not the enslaved children of the law given by Moses.]

Galatians 5

1 It is for freedom that Christ has set us free. Therefore be unwavering, and do not allow yourselves to be burdened again by a yoke of slavery.

2 And behold, I Paul, I tell you that if you receive circumcision, then it will not give you any advantage in your practice of the faith in Christ.

3 And I protest again against any man who is circumcised that this obligate him in any way to practice the entire law given by Moses. [Now Paul is saying that the circumcision of a man in his flesh is not a sign that obligates him now to observe the sabbath day, this sabbath day being one of the ten commandments that God gave to all the people who left the land of Egypt, a people who were not solely composed of the children of Jacob since there was also a multitude of people of all kinds who left Egypt with them. Now the practice of circumcision is described in the book of Genesis which was written by Moses, and it is said that it was a sign of the covenant that God made with Abraham who is one of the ancestors of Moses.]

4 You are separated from Christ, you who are trying now to be justified by the practice of the law [given by Moses]. You are rejecting the grace of God. [That is to say, righteousness is not attained through the practice of the law given by Moses, but only through the practice of the law given by Christ.]

5 As for us, it is by faith and through the spirit of Christ that we hope to attain righteousness [and thus be recognized by God as righteous persons].

6 For in Jesus Christ neither circumcision nor uncircumcision has any value, but only faith which works through love.

7 You were running well. Who hindered you from obeying the truth.

8 This persuasion does not come from the one who calls you [that is to say, it does not come from the spirit of Christ].

9 A little leaven makes the whole dough rise.

10 I am confident in the Lord that you will not think otherwise [that is to say, the Lord will succeed in strengthening the knowledge of those among you who belong to him]. But the one who is troubling you, whoever he may be, will bear his condemnation.

11 Brothers, if I am still preaching circumcision, then why am I still being persecuted. If I were teaching that circumcision has any value whatsoever, then the offense of the cross would have been removed [and the Jews would not be trying to harm me].

12 May they be cut off, those who cause trouble among you.

13 Brothers, you were called to freedom. But do not use your freedom as an excuse to live according to the flesh, but rather serve one another humbly through love.

14 For the whole law [given by Moses] is fulfilled by practicing this one commandment: You will love your neighbor as yourself.

15 But if you bite and devour one another, then be careful lest you be consumed by one another.

16 So I say the following thing: walk by the Spirit, and you will not gratify the desires of the flesh.

17 For the flesh desires what is contrary to the spirit, and the spirit desires what is contrary to the flesh. They are opposed to each other, so that you do not do what you would. [Now, when we say the Spirit, it is the spirit of Christ.]

18 And if you are led by the Spirit, then you are not under any other divine law.

19 Now the works of the flesh are obvious: Adultery, fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness.

20 Idolatry, witchcraft, hatred, strife, jealousy, fits of rage, selfish ambition, factions that coexist within a same group.

21 Envy, drunkenness, intrigue, and similar things. I warn you, as I did it before, that those who live in this way will not inherit the kingdom of God.

22 But the fruit of the Spirit is love, and joy, and peace, and patience, and kindness, and goodness, and faith.

23 And gentleness, and self-control. There is no law against such things.

24 Those who belong to Christ have crucified the flesh with its passions and its desires.

25 So if we want to live by the Spirit [that is to say, if we want to attain eternal life], then let us also walk by the Spirit.

26 Let us not become conceited, let us not provoke and envy one another.

Galatians 6

1 Brothers, if a man among you is found to have done something wrong, then you who are spiritual should straighten him with a spirit of gentleness. And take heed to yourself while doing such a thing, lest you also be tempted to act unwisely.

2 Bear one another's burdens, and thus you will fulfill the law of Christ.

3 For if anyone thinks that he is something, then he deceives himself. For such a person is nothing [since the Spirit is everything that is to say, the spirit of Christ].

4 Let each person examine his own works, and then he will have reasons to glory in himself alone, and not in comparison with others.

5 For each person will bear his own burden.

6 Let him to whom the word is taught make known all his goods to the one who teaches it.

7 Do not be deceived, one cannot mock God with impunity. Everything that a man sows, he will also reap.

8 He who sows for his flesh will reap corruption from the flesh, and he who sows for the Spirit will reap everlasting life from the Spirit.

9 So let us not be weary in well-doing. For we will reap in due time, if we do not stop acting properly.

10 So then, while we have opportunity, let us do good toward all men, and especially toward those who are our brothers in the faith.

11 See how I have written you a great letter with my own hand. [That is to say, I know that this letter that I have written with my own hand is not easy to understand.]

12 All those who compel you to be circumcised simply desire to please themselves according to the flesh, so as not to be persecuted [by the Jews] for the cross of Christ.

13 For even the circumcised do not practice the law [that is to say, the Jews do not practice everything that is written in the law of Moses and everything that is written in the book of Ezekiel]. But they want you to be circumcised, so that they may glory in your flesh.

14 As far as I am concerned, far be it from me to glory in anything other than the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ. From my point of view, the world has been crucified through the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, and I have been crucified for the world through that same cross.

15 For it is nothing to be circumcised or uncircumcised [after the resurrection of Jesus Christ]. What is something is to be a new creature.

16 Peace and mercy to all those who follow this rule, and to the Israel of God.

17 Let no one trouble me anymore [in the churches that I have created]. For I bear on my body the marks of the Lord Jesus [that is to say, there are on my body the traces of the sufferings that I undergone because of my love for Jesus.]

18 Brothers, may the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirits. Amen.

Ephesians

Ephesians 1

1 Paul, an apostle of Jesus Christ by the will of God, to the saints who are at Ephesus, and to the faithful in Christ Jesus.

2 Grace and peace to you from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

3 Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who has blessed us in Christ with every spiritual blessing in heavenly places.

4 In accordance with the fact that he chose us in Christ before the foundation of the world, so that we should be holy and blameless before him concerning love.

5 Having predestined us to receive adoption through Jesus Christ in order to become his own children, according to the good pleasure of his will.

6 To the praise of the glory of his grace, which he has bestowed on us through his beloved the Christ.

7 In whom we have redemption through his blood, namely the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace.

8 Which he [God] has lavished on us in all wisdom and understanding.

9 Having made known to us the mystery of his will, according to the benevolent design that he had formed within himself.

10 In order to put it into execution at the fullness of the times, to bring together all things in Christ, both those that are in heaven and those that are on earth.

11 It is also in Christ that we have become heirs, having been predestined according to the purpose of the one who works all things in accordance with the counsel of his own will.

12 So that we may serve to the praise of his glory, we who have hoped in Christ beforehand [that is to say, we who were not born with the perfect knowledge of Christ but who have always had within ourselves a kind of love for justice].

13 In whom also you have now placed your trust, after you have heard [and understood] the word of truth, the gospel of your salvation. In whom also, when you have believed, you have been sealed with the Holy Spirit of the promise.

14 Which is a guarantee of our inheritance, for the redemption of those whom God has acquired for the praise of his glory.

15 Therefore I also, having heard of your faith in the Lord Jesus and your love for all the saints.

16 I do not cease to give thanks for you, making mention of you in my prayers.

17 To wish that the God of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of glory, will strengthen you in the spirit of wisdom and revelation for the knowledge of his person.

18 So that the eyes of your understanding may be enlightened, and so that you may know what is the hope of his calling, and what are the riches of the glory of his inheritance in the saints.

19 And so that you may know what is the immense greatness of his power towards us who believe, how it manifests itself effectively by the virtue of his strength.

20 He unfolded it in Christ, when he raised him from the dead and set him at his right hand in the heavenly places.

21 Far above all principality, and authority, and power, and dominion, and every name that can be named, not only in this world but also in that which is to come.

22 And God has put all things under the feet of Christ, and has made him head over everything in the church.

23 Which is the body of Christ, the fullness of him who fills all in all.

Ephesians 2

1 You were dead through your trespasses and sins.

2 In which you formerly walked according to the course of this world, according to the prince of the power of the air, the spirit who now works in the children of disobedience.

3 Among whom also we all once lived in the lusts of our flesh, carrying out the desires of the flesh and of the mind, and were by nature children of wrath as others.

4 But God, being rich in mercy, and because of his great love with which he loved us, has made us alive together with Christ when we were dead in our sins.

5 For it is by grace that you are saved.

6 He has raised us up with Christ Jesus, and has made us sit with him in the heavenly places.

7 So that in the ages to come he may show the immeasurable riches of his grace through his kindness toward us who belong to Christ Jesus.

8 For it is by grace that you are saved through faith, and this is not your own doing. It is the gift of God.

9 It is not because of the very nature of the works that we do [but solely because of the justifications that we possess while we are doing what we do], so that no one should boast.

10 For we are his workmanship, created in Christ Jesus for good works which God prepared beforehand so that we should walk in them.

11 Therefore you who were formerly Gentiles in the flesh, called uncircumcised by those who are called circumcised and who are circumcised in the flesh by the hand of man.

12 Remember that at that time you were without Christ, excluded from citizenship in Israel, strangers to the covenants of promise, without hope and without God in the world. [Now this is true if we consider people according to their communities, since only the children of Jacob received written laws from the holy spirit of God. But if we consider people individually, then the holy spirit of God manifested itself to people who did not belong to the tribes of Israel, such as Job and Balaam.]

13 But now in Christ Jesus, you who once were far off have been brought near by the blood of Christ.

14 For he is our peace, he who has made the two one [namely the Jews and the non-Jews]. For he has broken down the wall of separation and enmity.

15 Having abolished in his flesh the law of ordinances in its prescriptions, in order to create in himself with the two a single new man, thus establishing peace.

16 He has reconciled the two with God by making them one body through the cross, destroying enmity through it.

17 He came and preached peace to you who were far away, and to those who were near.

18 For through him we both have access to the Father by one Spirit.

19 Consequently, you are no longer foreigners and outsiders, but fellow citizens with the saints, and of the household of God. [Now this is true if we consider people according to their communities, since only the children of Jacob received written laws from the holy spirit of God. But if we consider people individually, then the holy spirit of God manifested itself to people who did not belong to the tribes of Israel, such as Job and Balaam.]

20 You have been built on the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ himself being the cornerstone.

21 In him the whole building, well coordinated, grows into a holy temple in the Lord.

22 In him you are also edified to be a dwelling place of God through your spirit.

Ephesians 3

1 Because of that, I Paul, the prisoner of Christ for you Gentiles.

2 If at least you have heard of the work of the grace of God which has been given to me for you.

3 It is by revelation that I became aware of the mystery on which I have just written in a few words.

4 By reading those words, you can imagine the understanding that I have of the mystery of Christ.

5 It had not been revealed to the sons of men in other generations, as it has now been revealed by the Spirit to the holy apostles and prophets of Christ.

6 This mystery is that the Gentiles are fellow-heirs, and fellow-members of the body, and fellow-partakers of the promise that God has now fulfilled in Christ through the gospel.

7 Of which I have been made a minister, according to the gift of the grace of God which has been given to me by the efficacy of his power.

8 To me who am the least of all saints, this grace has been given to proclaim to the Gentiles the unsearchable riches of Christ.

9 And to make all men see what is the fellowship of the mystery hidden from all time in God who created all things.

10 So that the principalities and the authorities in the heavenly places may know today through the church the infinitely varied wisdom of God.

11 According to the eternal purpose which he has carried out in Jesus Christ our Lord.

12 In whom we have, through faith in him, the liberty to approach God with confidence.

13 Therefore I ask you not to lose courage when you see my tribulations for you. For they are your glory.

14 Because of that, I bow my knees to the Father.

15 From whom every family in heaven and on earth takes its name.

16 In order to pray him to give you, according to the riches of his glory, the grace to be powerfully strengthened by his Spirit in the inner man.

17 So that Christ may dwell in your hearts by faith.

18 So that being rooted and founded in the love of Christ, you may understand with all the saints what is its width, and its length, and its depth, and its height.

19 So that you may know the love of Christ, which surpasses all knowledge, so that you may be filled with all the fullness of God.

20 Now to him who can do, through the power that works in us, infinitely beyond all that we ask or think.

21 To him be the praise in the Church through Jesus Christ, in all generations, forever and ever. Amen.

Ephesians 4

1 I therefore exhort you, I the prisoner in the Lord, to walk worthily in the calling to which you have been called.

2 With all humility and gentleness, with patience, bearing with one another in love.

3 Endeavouring to maintain the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace.

4 There is one body and one Spirit, just as you have been called to one hope by your calling.

5 There is one Lord, one faith, one baptism.

6 One God and Father of all, who is above all, and through all, and in all.

7 But to each of us the grace is given according to the measure of the gift of Christ.

8 Therefore it is said: When he ascended on high, he led away captives, and he gave gifts to men.

9 Now what does it mean that he ascended, except that he also descended into the lower parts of the earth.

10 He who descended is the same who ascended above all heavens, so that he might fill all things.

11 And he gave some to be apostles, and some to be prophets, and some to be evangelists, and some to be pastors and teachers.

12 For the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry and the edifying of the body of Christ.

13 Until we have all reached the unity of faith and of the knowledge of the Son of God, to the perfect state of man, to the measure of the full stature of Christ.

14 So that we are no longer children, floating and carried away by every wind of doctrine, by the deception of men, by their cunning in the means of seduction.

15 But so that, by speaking the truth in love, we may grow in all things into him who is the head, namely Christ.

16 It is from him, and thanks to all the links of his assistance, that the whole body, well coordinated and forming a solid structure, draws its increase according to the strength that suits each of its parts, and edifies itself in love.

17 Therefore the following thing is what I say and testify in the Lord: you must no longer live as the other Gentiles do, those who walk according to the vanity of their thoughts.

18 Their understanding is darkened and they are strangers to the life of God, because of the ignorance that is in them, because of the blindness of their heart.

19 Not possessing all the feelings of genuineness, they give themselves to lasciviousness, to commit every kind of impurity joined to greed.

20 As for you, this is not what you have learned from Christ.

21 If at least you have heard him, and have been taught by him in accordance with the truth that is in Jesus. [That is to say, someone can tell you about it, but it is Jesus himself who teaches inside you to enable you to understand by yourself.]

22 To strip yourselves, in view of your past life, of your old self who is corrupted by deceitful lusts.

23 And to be renewed in the spirit of your thoughts.

24 And to put on the new man, created according to God in a righteousness and a holiness that is produced by the truth.

25 Therefore abandon falsity [that is to say, do not mislead anyone without having a publicly acceptable justification in your heart], and let each of you speak the truth to his neighbor. For we are members of one another.

26 If you become angry, then do not sin, do not let the sun go down on your anger.

27 And do not give access to the devil.

28 Let the one who used to steal stop stealing, and instead let him work, doing with his hands what is good, so that he may have something to give to those who are in need.

29 Let no corrupt speech proceed out of your mouth, but instead, if necessary, some good words which serve for edification so that they may give grace to those who hear it.

30 Do not grieve the Holy Spirit of God, by whom you have been sealed for the day of redemption.

31 Let all bitterness, and all animosity, and all anger, and all clamor, and all slander, and all wickedness, disappear from among you.

32 Be kind to one another, compassionate, forgiving one another, just as God has forgiven you in Christ.

Ephesians 5

1 Therefore be imitators of [the spirit of] God, as beloved children.

2 And walk in love, following the example of Christ, who has loved us and has given himself to God for us as an offering and a sacrifice of a pleasant smell.

3 But fornication, and all uncleanness, or covetousness, let it not even be named among you, as is fitting for saints.

4 Let there be no dishonest words, no foolish talk, nor coarse joking, things which are contrary to decency. But rather let there be expressions of thanksgiving.

5 For you may be sure of this: neither immoral, nor unclean person, nor covetous person, has any inheritance in the kingdom of Christ and of God. Such persons are worshipers of false gods through the things that concern them.

6 Let no one deceive you with futile words. For it is because of those things that the wrath of God comes on the sons of disobedience.

7 Therefore do not seek their company.

8 For formerly you were darkness, but now you are light in the Lord. Walk as children of light.

9 For the fruit of the Spirit consists of all goodness, and righteousness, and truth.

10 Examine everything that you do, in order to seek what is pleasing to the Lord.

11 And have no fellowship with the fruitless deeds of darkness, but rather condemn them.

12 For it is shameful even to mention what the disobedient do in secret [that is to say, in the secrecy of their motivations and of the knowledge at their disposal].

13 Anything that is not ready to be exposed [in a situation that would require it and in the presence of a being who knows everything] will be revealed by the light. For everything is made manifest by the light.

14 Therefore he says: Wake up, you who sleep. Arise from the dead, and Christ will enlighten you. [Now this is not found in the scriptures. It may be a personal rephrasing of the prophecies of the scriptures, or a saying that emerged at some point in time as a result of the prophecies of the scriptures.]

15 Therefore you must live circumspectly, that is to say, not as fools but as wise.

16 Redeeming the time, because the days are evil.

17 Therefore do not be foolish, but learn what the Lord wants you to do.

18 And do not get drunk with wine, because it is a futility. Instead, be filled with the Spirit.

19 By speaking to one another in psalms, and hymns, and spiritual songs, singing and making melodies in your heart to the Lord. [Now Paul said this thing because songs are also a way to convey a message, so that the lyrics and melodies can attract the attention of those who are unfamiliar with the gospel or serve as a reminder to those who are already familiar with it, especially in communities where writing is not very widespread. But everyone receives a particular gift from God, one person in one way and another person in another way, and if a person wishes to be fully filled with the Spirit which is spirit of Christ, it is enough to become accustomed to inventing or remembering sentences that have a deep meaning for understanding the gospel of Christ. It is not essential to sing.]

20 By giving thanks always for all things to God the Father, in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ.

21 By submitting yourselves to one another in the fear of God.

22 Wives, submit yourselves to your own husbands, as to the Lord.

23 For the husband is the head of the wife, as Christ is the head of the church, being himself the savior of his body.

24 Therefore let the wives submit to their own husbands in everything, as the church is submitted to Christ.

25 Husbands, love your wives, just as Christ loved the church and gave himself for it.

26 In order to sanctify it, namely to cleanse it by the word as if it had been done with the washing of water. [Now Jesus Christ created a church that is his body, but there was a church before Jesus Christ, and it was formed by all the people of all nations who each sought in his own way a personal relationship with a God of justice, a God who is a living being separated from creation and who does not want his disciples to offend anyone without a publicly acceptable justification, that is to say, a justification acceptable even by a person who does not believe in any God. Job and Balaam belonged to this early form of the church, and it is Jesus Christ who has revealed the identity of the God of justice in order to unite all the disciples of this God and thus create a nation without a territory.]

27 In order to make it a glorious church for himself, a church without spot or wrinkle or anything similar, but holy and blameless.

28 So husbands should love their own wives as their own bodies. He who loves his wife loves himself.

29 For no one ever hated his own flesh, but nourishes and cherishes it, just as the Lord does for the church.

30 For we are members of his body.

31 That is why a man will leave his father and mother, and will join his wife, and the two will become one flesh.

32 This mystery is great. I say this in relation to Christ and the church.

33 And now, each of you must love his wife as he loves himself, and the wife must respect her husband.

Ephesians 6

1 Children, obey your parents in the Lord. For this is right.

2 Honor your father and mother, which is the first commandment with a promise.

3 So that you may live long on the earth, and so that it may go well with you.

4 And you, fathers, do not exasperate your children, but raise them in the discipline and the guidance learned from the Lord.

5 Servants, obey your earthly masters with respect and fear, and with sincerity of heart, just as you obey Christ.

6 Not only before their eyes, as if to please men, but as servants of Christ, doing with a good heart the will of God. [For no one does anything without having some justification within himself, and Christ has revealed that the will of God is that every person should always possess within himself a publicly acceptable justification concerning his behavior, whatever that person may be doing.]

7 Serve wholeheartedly, as if you were serving the Lord and not people. [And indeed, it is the Lord that you are serving if you possess within yourself a justification that you know to be publicly acceptable.]

8 Knowing that each person, whether slave or free, will receive from the Lord according to what he has done well.

9 And you, masters, treat your slaves in the same way, and refrain from threatening. Knowing that both their master and yours is in heaven, and that there no respect for the face of a person with him.

10 Finally, be strong in the Lord and in his great power.

11 Put on the whole armor of God, in order to be able to stand against the wiles of the devil.

12 For our struggle is not against flesh and blood, but against the principalities, against the authorities, against the powers of darkness of this world, against the spiritual forces of evil in the heavenly places.

13 Therefore put on the whole armor of God, so that you may be able to withstand when the day of evil comes, and to continue to stand after all the troubles.

14 Be firm therefore, having girded your waist with the truth as a belt, and having put on the breastplate of righteousness.

15 And put the zeal that the gospel of peace gives as a shoe on your feet.

16 And above all, take the shield of faith, with which you can extinguish all the flaming arrows of the evil one.

17 And take the helmet of salvation, and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God.

18 Make all kinds of prayers and supplications at all times by the Spirit. Do this with full perseverance, and pray for all the saints.

19 And pray also for me, so that words may be given to me when I open my mouth boldly to make known the mystery of the gospel.

20 For which I am an ambassador in chains, so that I may declare it boldly, as I ought to speak.

21 And now, Tychicus the beloved brother and faithful minister in the Lord will tell you everything, so that you too may know what concerns me and what I am doing.

22 I have sent him to you for this very purpose, so that you may know how we are and so that he may comfort your hearts.

23 Peace be to the brothers, and love of faith, from God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

24 Grace be with all those who love our Lord Jesus Christ with an undying love.

Philippians

Philippians 1

1 Paul and Timothy, servants of Jesus Christ, to all the saints in Christ Jesus who are in Philippi, with the bishops and deacons.

2 May grace and peace be given to you from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

3 I thank my God for all the memory that I keep of you.

4 Never ceasing to manifest my joy in all my prayers for you all.

5 Concerning the fellowship that you have in the gospel from the first day until now.

6 I am convinced of the fact that he who has begun this good work in you will perfect it until the day of Jesus Christ.

7 It is fair that I think so of you all, because I carry you in my heart, whether in my chains, or in the defense and confirmation of the gospel, you all who have been partakers of my grace.

8 For God is my witness that I cherish you all with the tenderness of Jesus Christ.

9 And what I ask in my prayers is that your love may increase more and more in knowledge and all discernment.

10 So that you may approve of things that are excellent, and so that you may be sincere and without offense until the day of Christ.

11 Being filled with the fruits of righteousness which are produced through Jesus, to the glory and praise of God.

12 I want you to know, brothers, that what happened to me actually contributed to the progress of the gospel.

13 All the Roman guards in all the praetorium and everyone else know that it is for Christ that I am in chains.

14 And most of the brothers in the Lord, being encouraged by my chains, have more confidence to proclaim the word without fear. [That is to say, they are encouraged by the fact that they observe that even the Romans become disciples by understanding the reasons why the Jews want to harm me and to make me imprisoned.]

15 It is true that some preach Christ out of jealousy and rivalry, but some others are doing it with a sincere heart.

16 These ones act out of love, knowing that I am established for the defense of the gospel.

17 While others proclaim Christ insincerely, with the hope of causing me some tribulation in my bonds. [That is to say, they hope that this will prevent the anger that some Jews have against me from being placated.]

18 What difference does it make. In any case, whether in appearance or sincerely, Christ is no less proclaimed. And I rejoice at this, and I will continue to rejoice.

19 For I know that this will turn to my salvation, through your prayers and the help of the spirit of Jesus Christ [which is in me].

20 According to my firm expectation and my hope that I will not be ashamed of anything. For I know with full confidence that now as always, Christ will be glorified in my body, whether by my life or by my death.

21 For Christ is my life, and death is a gain to me.

22 But if it is useful for my work that I continue to live in the flesh for a certain time, then I cannot say what I prefer.

23 I am pressed on both sides. I have the desire to depart and be with Christ, and it is by far the best.

24 But it is more necessary for me to remain in the flesh because of you. [That is to say, I have not yet completely finished the work that the Lord wants me to do for the spread of the gospel.]

25 And I am convinced, I know that I will remain in the flesh and continue with you all, for your progress and for your joy in the faith.

26 So that you may rejoice greatly in Christ Jesus because of me, when I come again to you.

27 Only conduct yourselves in a manner worthy of the gospel of Christ, so that whether I come to see you or remain absent, I may hear of you that you remain firm in one spirit, fighting with one soul for the faith of the gospel.

28 Without letting yourself be frightened in any way by your adversaries, which is to them a proof of perdition, but to you a work of salvation, and all this is from God.

29 For it has been given to you from Christ, not only to believe in him, but also to suffer because of him.

30 Having the same fight that you saw in me, and that you now hear that I am still fighting.

Philippians 2

1 Therefore if there is some consolation in Christ, some comfort of love, some fellowship of the Spirit, some compassion and mercy. [Now Christ is made up of all these things.]

2 Then make my joy perfect by being like-minded, having the same love, being one in the Spirit, of one mind.

3 Do nothing out of selfish ambition or vain conceit. Be humble, and honor others more than yourselves.

4 Let each of you not seek only his own benefit, but also that of others.

5 Have within you this state of mind which was also in Jesus Christ.

6 He who, existing in the form of God, did not consider the fact of being equal to God as a sufficient reason to look at others with disdain.

7 He divested himself of his glorious appearance to appear with the likeness of men, taking the form of a servant.

8 And having appeared as a man, he humbled himself by becoming obedient to death, even the death of the cross.

9 Therefore God has highly exalted him, and has given him a name that is above all the other names.

10 So that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, both in heaven and on earth, and under the earth.

11 And every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father.

12 Therefore, my beloved, as you have always obeyed, not only in my presence, but now much more in my absence, work out your own salvation with fear and trembling.

13 For it is God who works in you, both to will and to act, for his good pleasure. [That is to say, you must simply be afraid of offending the Holy Spirit of God, who is himself called God, and it is this Holy Spirit who will work within you in everything that you do.]

14 Do all things without murmurings and disputings.

15 So that you may be blameless and pure, children of God without blemish in the midst of a treacherous and perverse generation, among whom you shine like stars in the sky [by the fact that you are different], clinging to the word of life.

16 So that I may rejoice in the day of Christ, concerning the fact that I have not run in vain since I have not laboured in vain.

17 Therefore, although I am being poured out as a drink offering on the sacrifice and service of your faith, I am glad and I rejoice with you all.

18 And you too should rejoice and be glad with me.

19 I hope in the Lord Jesus to send Timothy to you soon, so that I myself may be comforted by hearing about you.

20 For I have no one else like Timothy, who genuinely cares for you.

21 Others are interested only in their own lives. They do not care about the work of Christ Jesus.

22 You know the kind of person Timothy is. He has served with me in telling the gospel, like a son with his father.

23 Therefore, I hope to send him to you as soon as I know the evolution of my situation.

24 And I have this confidence in the Lord that I myself also will come soon.

25 But I thought it necessary to send you Epaphroditus, my brother, my fellow worker, my fellow soldier, your messenger whom you sent to take care of my needs.

26 For he longed to see you all, and was greatly troubled because you had heard that he had been sick.

27 He was indeed sick, and very near to death. But God had mercy on him, and not on him only, but also on me, so that I would not have sorrow on sorrow.

28 Therefore I sent him with all the more eagerness, so that you may rejoice at seeing him again, and that I myself may be less sad.

29 Receive him therefore in the Lord with all joy, and honor such men.

30 For it is for the work of Christ that he was near to death, risking his life to supply that which was lacking in your service toward me.

Philippians 3

1 And now, my brothers, rejoice in the Lord. I do not tire of writing the same things to you, and for you it is beneficial.

2 Beware of dogs, beware of evil workers, beware of false circumcised [that is to say, false Jews].

3 For we are the true circumcised, we who worship God only by the Spirit of God. We do not put our trust in the flesh, because we glory only in Christ Jesus [that is to say, we do not place our trust in any person, but only in the holy commandment of the Lord].

4 And I behave in this way despite the fact that I have arguments that could incite me to behave differently by placing my trust in the flesh. If anyone else thinks that he has reasons to put his trust in the flesh, then I have many more reasons than such a person. [That is to say, if a person thinks that it is possible to triumph in his initiatives because of the nature of the works that he does and not because of the quality of the justifications that he possesses while he is doing what he is doing, then I have many more reasons than such a person.]

5 For I had been circumcised on the eighth day after my birth, and I am of the people of Israel, of the tribe of Benjamin, a Hebrew born of Hebrews. Concerning the law given by Moses, I belonged to the sect of the Pharisees.

6 As for zeal, I persecuted the church [because the disciples of Jesus were questioning my certainty that God cannot love everyone in the same way]. I was irreproachable regarding the notion of righteousness that is described in the law that Moses gave to the children of Israel.

7 But regarding those things that I considered to be an advantage in my relationship with God, I now consider them as a loss because I have understood the content of the teachings of Christ. [Now it was not a loss when Jesus had not yet come into the world, and those who behaved in this way received a legacy in the genealogy of the knowledge taught by Christ. But the persons who do those things after the revelation of Jesus are no longer building an admirable legacy for themselves.]

8 And even I look at all things as a loss, because of the excellence of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord, for whom I have renounced all things, and I regard them as dung, so that I may gain Christ.

9 And be found in him, not having my own righteousness, even if it is the one that I learned from the law given by Moses and which describes the quantities and qualities of the things that must be offered to God alone, but having the righteousness which is through the faith in Christ, which comes from God by faith.

10 So that I may know Christ, and the power of his resurrection, and the fellowship of his sufferings, by becoming similar to the person whom he was in his death.

11 So that I may somehow attain the resurrection from the dead.

12 It is not that I have already won the prize, or that I have already achieved perfection. But I run, with the goal of trying to seize that for which I also have been seized by Christ Jesus.

13 Brothers, I do not behave as if I had already attained it. For I do the following thing: I do not let myself be overwhelmed by the things of the past on which I can no longer act, and I strive to be pleasing to the Lord in all present situations and concerning all the things on which I can act.

14 So I run toward the goal, in order to win the prize of the heavenly calling of God in Christ Jesus.

15 Let us therefore have this same mind, all of us who are perfect. And if you are of another opinion, then God will enlighten you on this question.

16 Only, at the level that we have reached, let us walk by imitating the love of Christ.

17 Brothers, be my imitators, and turn your gaze toward those who follow the example that you have in us.

18 For there are many who walk as enemies of the cross of Christ. I have often spoken to you about it, and I speak of it now again while weeping.

19 Their end will be ruin. Their god is their belly, and they glory in what is their shame. They only think about earthly things.

20 As for us, we consider ourselves citizens of the heaven, from where also we wait for the savior, namely the Lord Jesus Christ.

21 Who will transform the body of our humiliation, to make it like the body of his glory, by the power that he has to subject all things to himself.

Philippians 4

1 Therefore, my brothers and dearly beloved, you who are my joy and crown, stand firm in the Lord, my beloved.

2 I exhort Euodia and I exhort Syntyche to be of the same mind in the Lord.

3 And I beseech you also, true yokefellow, to help those women who have labored with me in the gospel, with Clement also, and with the others of my fellow workers, whose names are in the book of life.

4 Rejoice in the Lord always. I repeat it, rejoice.

5 Let your gentleness be evident to all men. The Lord is near.

6 Do not be anxious about anything. But in every situation, by prayer and supplication, present your requests to God with thanksgiving.

7 And the peace of God, which surpasses all understanding, will guard your hearts and your thoughts in Christ Jesus.

8 Therefore, brothers, whatever is true, whatever is honorable, whatever is fair, whatever is pure, whatever comes from love, whatever is is edifying, whatever is virtuous and praiseworthy, let such things be the only contents of your thoughts.

9 What you have learned and received from me, what you have heard me explain and what you have seen in me, put it into practice and the God of peace will be with you.

10 And now, I rejoiced greatly in the Lord that you were finally able to renew the expression of your feelings for me. You had always thought about doing it, but you were lacking opportunity.

11 It is not because you have provided for some of my needs on this occasion that I am saying this. For I have learned to be content in the state in which I am.

12 I know what it is to be in need, and I know what it is to be in abundance. I have learned the secret of contentment in all circumstances, whether one is satiated or hungry, living in abundance or in poverty.

13 I can do all things through him who strengthens me.

14 However, you have done well to have fellowship with my affliction.

15 You yourselves know, Philippians, that in the early days of the gospel, when I left Macedonia, no church had fellowship with me in the matter of giving and receiving, but only you.

16 For even in Thessalonica you sent me aid more than once when I was in need.

17 It is not that I want to get gifts from you. But I want you to have the benefit that comes from giving.

18 I have received all things, and I have more than enough. I am amply supplied, having received by Epaphroditus the gifts that you have sent. They are a pleasant smell, a sacrifice that God accepts and which is pleasing to him.

19 And my God will supply every need of yours, according to the riches of his glory in Christ Jesus.

20 To our God and Father be glory forever and ever. Amen.

21 Greet all the saints in Christ Jesus. The brothers who are with me send you greetings.

22 All the saints send you greetings, especially those who belong to Caesar's household.

23 The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ be with you all. Amen.

Colossians

Colossians 1

1 Paul, an apostle of Jesus Christ by the will of God, and Timothy our brother.

2 To the saints and faithful brothers in Christ who are at Colossae: Grace and peace to you from God our Father.

3 When we pray for you, we always give thanks to God the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ.

4 Having heard of your faith in Christ Jesus, and the love that you have for all the saints.

5 Because of the hope which is laid up for you in heaven, of which you have already been aware through the word of truth, the word of the gospel.

6 Which is in your midst, and throughout the whole world. It grows by bearing fruit, just as it has been among you since the day when you heard and truly understood the grace of God.

7 As you learned it from Epaphras, our beloved fellow servant, who is a faithful minister of Christ on our behalf.

8 He has told us about the love that you have in the Spirit.

9 For this reason, since the day that we heard of it, we have not ceased to pray for you, asking God to fill you with the knowledge of his will in all spiritual wisdom and understanding.

10 So that you may live a life worthy of the Lord and please him in every way, bearing fruit in every good work and growing in the knowledge of God.

11 Being strengthened with all power through his glorious strength, for all endurance and patience with contentment.

12 Giving thanks to the Father, who has given us a portion in the inheritance of the saints who live in the light.

13 He has rescued us from the power of darkness, and has brought us into the kingdom of his beloved Son.

14 In whom we have redemption through his blood, namely the forgiveness of sins.

15 He is the image of the invisible God, the firstborn of all creation.

16 For all things have been created through him, things in heaven and on earth, visible and invisible, whether thrones or dominions, or principalities, or powers. All things have been created through him and for him.

17 He is before all things, and in him all things hold together.

18 He is the head of the body, which is the Church. He is the beginning, and the firstborn from the dead, so that in all things he may have the preeminence.

19 For God was pleased that all fullness should dwell in him.

20 God has wanted to reconcile all things to himself through his Son, whether things on earth or things in heaven, by making peace through the blood of his cross.

21 And you who were once strangers and enemies by your thoughts and by your evil deeds, he has now reconciled you by his death in the body of his flesh.

22 In order to make you holy in the sight of God, blameless and without concealing guilty feelings.

23 If at least you remain founded and steadfast in the faith, without turning away from the hope of the gospel which you have heard, and which has been preached to every creature under heaven, and of which I Paul have been made a minister.

24 The fact of thinking about the fruits that you bear gives me more reason to rejoice in my sufferings. For that which is lacking from the sufferings of Christ, I complete it in my flesh for his body which is the Church.

25 For which I have become a minister, according to the commission that God has given me to serve you, to proclaim the word of God.

26 That is to say, the mystery hidden throughout time and generations, but now revealed to his saints.

27 Through whom God has chosen to make known among the Gentiles the glorious riches of this mystery, which is: Christ in you, the hope of glory.

28 He is the one whom we proclaim, admonishing every person and teaching every person with all wisdom, in order to lead everyone to perfection in Christ Jesus.

29 This is what I work for, fighting with his strength which acts powerfully in me.

Colossians 2

1 For I want you to know how great is the battle that I sustain for you, and for those who are at Laodicea, and for all those who have not seen my face in the flesh.

2 So that their hearts may be comforted, and united in love, and enriched with the full assurance of understanding, through the knowledge of the mystery of God, namely Christ.

3 In whom are hidden all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge.

4 I have said this thing so that no one may deceive you with persuasive speech.

5 For though I am absent according to the flesh, yet I am with you by spirit, rejoicing to see your good behaviors and the steadfastness of your faith in Christ.

6 Therefore, as you have received Christ Jesus the Lord, so walk in him.

7 Being rooted and built up in him, and established in the faith, just as you have been taught, and abounding in thanksgiving.

8 Take heed lest any person makes you captive by vain deceits, or by some philosophies that come from the traditions of men, or from the rudiments of the world, and not from Christ.

9 For in him dwells corporeally all the fullness of the divinity.

10 You have everything fully in him, and he is the head of all dominion and authority.

11 In him also you have been circumcised with a circumcision not performed by human hands, the circumcision of Christ which consists in stripping the body of the flesh.

12 Having been buried with him in the baptism, you have also been raised with him through faith in the power of God who raised him from the dead. [Now the baptism mentioned here is the baptism of the Holy Spirit, that is to say, the fact of receiving the Holy Spirit in the heart through a good understanding of the message that Christ has created in the world.]

13 You who were dead through your sins and through the uncircumcision of your flesh, God has made you alive with Christ by forgiving us all your sins. [Now those who were under the law given by Moses were receiving a legacy in the genealogy of the knowledge taught by Christ, or at least those among them who strove to be good people, and now the law of Christ has revealed that there were forms of sin in the law of Moses. There might also have been some people who were striving to be righteous in their own way and who were not under the law given to Moses, but generally speaking, those who were not under the law of Moses were not building a useful legacy.]

14 And he has erased the handwriting of ordinances that condemned us, and which stood against us. He has destroyed it by nailing it to the cross. [That is to say, he has taught how to become a righteous person in the sight of God, and we are certain that his message is worthy to be received because we know that he has risen from the dead after having being crucified.]

15 He has stripped the principalities and the powers, and has made a public spectacle of them, triumphing over them by the cross. [He has triumphed because he has risen from the dead.]

16 Let no man therefore judge you concerning food or drink, or concerning a feast, or a new moon, or the sabbath days.

17 It was a shadow of things to come, and the body is in Christ.

18 Let no man, under a guise of humility and by the worship of some angels, enslave you as he pleases by describing the things that he has not seen, being swollen with a vain pride by his fleshly thoughts.

19 Instead of holding fast to the head, from whom the whole body, nourished and knit together by its joints and ligaments, grows as God makes it grow.

20 If you have died with Christ from the rudiments of the world, then why do you burden yourselves with traditions, as though you were still living according to the world.

21 Do not handle. Do not taste. Do not touch.

22 These are precepts that become pernicious through misuse, and which are only based on the ordinances and doctrines of men.

23 They have, in truth, an appearance of wisdom, in that they indicate a voluntary worship, humility, and contempt for the body, but they are without any merit [regarding the submission of the spirit to the law of God which is the law of Christ], and they only contribute to the satisfaction of the flesh.

Colossians 3

1 So if you have been raised with Christ [that is to say, if you want to obey the Holy Spirit and thus be inhabited by the Holy Spirit], then seek the things that are above, where Christ has gone to sit at the right hand of God.

2 Set your mind on the things that are above, and not on the things that are on the earth.

3 For you have died, and your life is hidden with Christ in God.

4 And when Christ, who is our life, appears, then you also will appear with him in glory. [That is to say, those who now die according to the flesh are changed into the glory of Christ, and everyone will be changed into the glory of Christ when he returns.]

5 Therefore put to death your members which are on the earth: fornication, impurity, passions, evil desires, and covetousness which is a form of idolatry.

6 It is because of these things that the wrath of God comes on the children of disobedience.

7 And you also were among them, when you lived in those sins.

8 But now renounce all those things: anger, animosity, malice, slander, and immoral words that may come out of your mouth.

9 Do not lie to one another, having stripped yourselves of the old man with his deeds.

10 And having put on the new man, who is renewed in knowledge according to the image of the one who created him.

11 There is here neither Greek nor Jew, neither circumcised nor uncircumcised, neither barbarian nor Scythian, neither slave nor free. For Christ is all, and in all.

12 Therefore, as the chosen ones of God, holy and beloved, clothe yourselves with bowels of mercy, kindness, humility, meekness, patience.

13 Support one another, and if one complains about another then forgive each other. Just as Christ has forgiven you [that is to say, just as Christ has reconciled you to God], so forgive also to others.

14 And above all these things, clothe yourselves with love which is the bond of perfection.

15 And let the peace of Christ, to which you have been called into one body, reign in your hearts. And be grateful.

16 Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly. Teach and admonish one another in all wisdom with psalms, and hymns, and spiritual songs, singing to the Lord in your hearts by the inspiration of grace. [Now Paul said this thing because songs are also a way to convey a message, so that the lyrics and melodies can attract the attention of those who are unfamiliar with the gospel or serve as a reminder to those who are already familiar with it, especially in communities where writing is not very widespread. But everyone receives a particular gift from God, one person in one way and another person in another way, and if a person wishes to be fully filled with the Spirit which is spirit of Christ, it is enough to become accustomed to inventing or remembering sentences that have a deep meaning for understanding the gospel of Christ. It is not essential to sing.]

17 And whatever you do, in word or in deed, do all things in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God the Father through him.

18 Wives, be submissive to your husbands, as is fitting in the Lord.

19 Husbands, love your wives, and do not be resentful toward them.

20 Children, obey your parents in all things. For it is well-pleasing in the Lord.

21 Fathers, do not provoke your children to anger, lest they become discouraged.

22 Servants, obey your masters according to the flesh in all things, not only in their sight, as if to please men, but with singleness of heart, in the fear of the Lord.

23 Whatever you do, do it heartily, as for the Lord and not for men.

24 Knowing that you will receive from the Lord the inheritance as your reward. Serve Christ the Lord.

25 For the one who does evil will receive according to the evil that he has done. God makes no distinction between persons when he defines the notion of righteousness.

Colossians 4

1 Masters, behave towards your servants justly and fairly, knowing that you also have a master in heaven.

2 Continue steadfastly in prayer, taking care to do so with thanksgiving. [That is to say, your mind must constantly remember the existence of God, and thank him in all things.]

3 And pray for us also, so that God may open to us the door of utterance, to proclaim the mystery of Christ for which I am also in chains.

4 And so that I may make it known as I ought to speak about it.

5 Be wise in your conduct toward those who are not believers. Use your time in the best way you can.

6 Let your conversations be always gracious, seasoned with salt, so that you may know how to answer every person.

7 Tychicus the beloved brother and faithful minister, my fellow servant in the Lord, will tell you all things about me.

8 I am sending him to you for this very purpose, so that you may know how we are, and so that he may encourage your hearts.

9 I am sending him with Onesimus, our faithful and beloved brother, who is one of you. They will tell you everything that is happening here.

10 Aristarchus my fellow prisoner sends you his greetings, as does Mark who is the cousin of Barnabas and concerning whom you have received commandments: if he comes to you, then receive him.

11 And Jesus, who is called Justus, also sends you his greetings. These are the only Jewish believers who have worked with me for the kingdom of God, and who have been a comfort to me.

12 Epaphras a servant of Christ, who is one of you, sends you greetings. He is always concerned about your situation in his prayers, wishing that you would be perfect in your submission to the will of God.

13 For I can testify that he has a great concern for you, and for those who are at Laodicea, and for those who are at Hierapolis.

14 Luke, the beloved physician, sends you greetings, as does Demas.

15 Greet the brothers who are at Laodicea, and Nymphas, and the church that is in his house.

16 And when this epistle has been read among you, cause it to be read also in the church of the Laodiceans, and that you also read the epistle that comes to you from Laodicea.

17 And say to Archippus: Take heed to fulfill the ministry that you have received in the Lord.

18 The greeting of me Paul with my own hand. Remember my chains. Grace be with you.

1 Thessalonians

1 Thessalonians 1

1 Paul, and Silvanus, and Timothy, to the church of the Thessalonians which is in God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ: Grace and peace to you.

2 We always thank God for all of you, making mention of you in our prayers.

3 Constantly recalling before our God and Father the work of your faith, the work of your love and the firmness of your hope in our Lord Jesus Christ.

4 For we know, beloved brothers, that you have been chosen by God.

5 For our gospel came to you not simply with words, but also with the power of the Holy Spirit for a deep conviction. And you know how we lived among you for your sake [that is to say, to give you an example].

6 And you yourselves became imitators of us and of the Lord, having received the word in much affliction but with the joy given by the Holy Spirit.

7 And you became an example to all the believers in Macedonia and in Achaia.

8 For the word of the Lord has spread from you in Macedonia and Achaia. In fact, your faith in God has become known everywhere, so we did not have to inform anyone about it.

9 For they themselves report concerning us the kind of reception that we had among you, and how you abandoned idols to turn to God, to serve the living and true God.

10 And to wait for his Son from heaven, whom he raised from the dead, namely Jesus who rescues us from the wrath to come.

1 Thessalonians 2

1 Brothers, you yourselves know that our coming to you was not in vain.

2 After we suffered and were shamefully treated at Philippi, as you know, we had the courage in our God to proclaim to you the gospel of God in the midst of much opposition.

3 For our preaching does not stem from error, or impure motives, or guile. [That is to say, we know the truth and usefulness of the message that we preach. We know that this should be the most important thing for everyone.]

4 But as God has approved us to be entrusted with the gospel, so we speak, not to please men, but to please God who probe our hearts.

5 For we never used flattering words, as you know. And it is not with a form of disguised greed that we have come to you, God is our witness.

6 And we did not seek glory from people, neither from you nor from anyone else, when we asserted our authority as apostles of Christ [that is to say, the apostles of the one who was foretold in the Jewish scriptures.]

7 But we were gentle among you, like a nursing mother tenderly cares for her children.

8 Because of our deep affection for you, we were eager to share with you not only the gospel of God but also our own lives, since you had become so dear to us.

9 Brothers, you remember our labor and toil. We worked night and day, so that we would not be a burden to any of you while we preached to you the gospel of God.

10 You are witnesses, and God also, that we have behaved holily and righteously and blamelessly among you the believers.

11 You also know how we have behaved toward each of you, as a father with his children, exhorting you, and comforting you, and urging you.

12 In order to lead you to live a life worthy of the children of God, who has called you into his kingdom and glory.

13 And we give thanks to God continually concerning the fact that, when you received the word of God which you heard from us, you accepted it not as the word of men, but as it truly is, the word of God who is indeed at work in you who believe.

14 Brothers, you have become imitators of the churches of God which are in Judea in Christ Jesus. For you also have suffered from your own countrymen the same things that they suffered from the Jews.

15 Those Jews behave like the Jews who have killed the Lord Jesus and their own prophets. They persecute us, and displease God, and are hostile to all mankind.

16 And they prevent us from speaking to the Gentiles when we want to save those Gentiles. They thus continually accumulate their sins, but the wrath of God has finally reached them.

17 As for we, brothers, after having been separated from you for some time, physically but not in the heart, we had all the more ardently the strong desire to see you.

18 We wanted to come to you, and I Paul, I have tried more than once to do it, but Satan hindered us.

19 For what is our hope, or our joy, or the crown of our glory. Is it not you in the presence of our Lord Jesus when he comes.

20 Yes, you are our glory and our joy.

1 Thessalonians 3

1 Therefore, as we were increasingly impatient to see you and could not come to you, we decided to stay alone in Athens and to send you Timothy.

2 He is our brother, and minister of God, and our fellow worker in the gospel of Christ, and we sent him to strengthen and comfort you in your faith.

3 So that no one may be shaken by the present afflictions. For you yourselves know that we are destined to experience such things.

4 And when we were with you, we told you beforehand that we would be persecuted, just as it has happened, as you know.

5 So, growing impatient, I sent to find out about your faith, because I was afraid that the tempter had overcome you, and that our labor had been in vain.

6 And Timothy, who has recently come from you to us, has brought us good news of your faith and love, and has told us that you always have a good memory of us, desiring to see us as we also desire to see you.

7 Therefore, brothers, in all our distress and affliction, we have been comforted about you because of your faith.

8 For now we live, if you stand firm in the Lord.

9 We have so much joy before our God because of you, and we thank God for you. But we cannot thank him enough for all the joy that we feel.

10 Night and day we pray exceedingly for the opportunity to see you again, in order to perfect your faith by filling what it may lack.

11 May our God and Father himself, and our Lord Jesus Christ, guide our journey toward you.

12 May the Lord increase more and more among you and toward everyone this love that we ourselves have for you.

13 In order to strengthen your hearts and to make it blameless in holiness before our God and Father, at the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ with all his saints.

1 Thessalonians 4

1 Brothers, since you have learned from us how you should behave and please God, and this is what you are doing, we beseech and exhort you in the Lord Jesus to walk in this way from progress to progress.

2 For you know what precepts we have given you from the Lord Jesus.

3 What God wants is your sanctification. You must abstain from fornication.

4 Each of you must know how to possess your body in holiness and honor.

5 Without giving in to a passionate lust, as it is done by the Gentiles who do not know God.

6 No man should oppress or defraud his brother in any matter. For the Lord is an avenger in all such things, as we have already told you and testified.

7 For God has not called us to impurity, but to holiness.

8 Therefore whoever rejects these precepts does not reject man, but God who has given you his Holy Spirit [through your faith in Jesus].

9 As for brotherly love, you do not need anyone to write to you about it. For you yourselves have learned from God to love one another.

10 And this is what you are doing towards all the brothers who are in all Macedonia. But we exhort you, brothers, to increase more and more in this love.

11 You must do your best to have a peaceful life, and to get involved in what concerns you, and to work with your own hands, as we have recommended to you.

12 So that you may behave honestly towards those who are not believers, and so that you are not dependent on others.

13 We do not want you, brothers, to be ignorant concerning those who are asleep, so that you do not grieve like others who have no hope.

14 For if we believe that Jesus died and rose from the dead, then let us also believe that God will bring back through Jesus and with him those who died.

15 For we declare to you the following thing by the word of the Lord: we who are alive and are waiting for the coming of the Lord, we will not precede those who have already died.

16 For the Lord himself will descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trumpet of God, and the dead in Christ will rise first.

17 Then those who will be alive at that time will be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air, and so we will always be with the Lord.

18 Therefore comfort one another with these words.

1 Thessalonians 5

1 Brothers, regarding the times and seasons, you do not need us to talk to you about it.

2 For you yourselves know perfectly that the day of the Lord will come like a thief in the night.

3 When people say, 'Peace and safety', then a sudden destruction will come on them, as labor pains come on a pregnant woman, and they will not escape.

4 But you, brothers, are not in darkness, so that that day should surprise you like a thief.

5 For you are all children of the light and children of the day. We do not belong to the night or to the darkness.

6 Therefore let us not sleep like the others do, but let us be awake and sober.

7 Those who sleep sleep in the darkness, and those who get drunk get drunk in the darkness.

8 And since we belong to the day, let us be sober, putting on the breastplate of faith and love, and the helmet of the hope of salvation.

9 For God has not appointed us to wrath, but to obtain salvation through our Lord Jesus Christ.

10 He who died for us so that, whether we are awake or asleep, we may live together with him.

11 Therefore exhort one another, and edify one another, just as in fact you are doing.

12 Now we beseech you, brothers, to have consideration for those who labor among you, those who lead you in the Lord and exhort you.

13 Have much affection for them, because of their work. Live in peace with one another.

14 We exhort you, brothers, to admonish the disorderly, to encourage the disheartened, to help the weak, to be patient with everyone.

15 We ask that no one repay evil with evil. For everyone must always strive to behave towards any other person in a manner that is appropriate for the well-being of all.

16 Rejoice always.

17 Pray without ceasing.

18 Give thanks in all circumstances. For this is how God wants you to live in Christ Jesus.

19 Do not quench the Spirit.

20 Do not despise prophecies.

21 Examine everything, and approve what is good.

22 Abstain from every form of evil.

23 May the God of peace himself sanctify you wholly. May your whole spirit and soul and body be kept blameless for the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ.

24 He who calls you is faithful, he will surely do it.

25 Brothers, pray for us.

26 Greet all the brothers with a holy kiss.

27 I adjure you by the Lord to have this epistle read to all the brothers.

28 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you.

2 Thessalonians

2 Thessalonians 1

1 Paul, and Silvanus, and Timothy, to the church of the Thessalonians which is in God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

2 Grace and peace to you from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

3 Brothers, we thank God for you always. And that is what we should do, because you give us good reason to be thankful. Your faith is growing more and more, and the love that all of you have for one another is increasing.

4 Therefore we ourselves glory in you in the churches of God, because of your patience and faith in all the persecutions and tribulations that you are enduring.

5 It is a manifest token of the righteous judgment of God, so that you may be considered worthy of the kingdom of God for which you are suffering.

6 For it is a righteous thing in the sight of God, who will repay with affliction those who afflict you.

7 And he will grant you who are afflicted rest with us, when the Lord Jesus is revealed from heaven with the angels of his power in flaming fire.

8 To inflict vengeance on those who do not know God, and on those who do not obey the gospel of our Lord Jesus.

9 They will suffer the punishment of everlasting destruction, away from the presence of the Lord and from the glory of his power.

10 When he comes in that day to be glorified in his saints, and to be made marvelous among all those who have believed, and this includes you because you have believed what we have told you.

11 For this reason, we also pray continually for you, so that our God may make you worthy of his calling and may fulfill by his power every good purpose of yours and every work of your faith.

12 So that the name of our Lord Jesus may be glorified in you, and you in him, according to the grace of our God and the Lord Jesus Christ.

2 Thessalonians 2

1 As regards the advent of our Lord Jesus Christ and our meeting with him, we ask you, brothers, not to let yourselves be easily shaken in your minds.

2 Do not let yourself be troubled, neither by some inspiration, nor by some word, nor by some letters that would be presented to you as coming from us, as if the day of Christ has already come.

3 Let no one deceive you in any way. For the apostasy must come first, and the man of sin, the son of perdition, must appear.

4 The adversary who exalts himself above all that is called God or that is worshiped, to such an extent that he will sit in the temple of God, proclaiming himself God. [That is to say, he will want to take the place of God in the hearts of men.]

5 Do you not remember that I told you these things when I was still with you.

6 And now you know what holds him back, so that he may only appear in his time.

7 For the mystery of iniquity is already at work. Only he who still holds it back must have disappeared.

8 And then the wicked will appear, whom the Lord Jesus will destroy with the breath of his mouth [that is to say, it will be destroyed by the true church which is the new body of Jesus], and whom he will destroy with the splendor of his coming.

9 The deeds of this ungodly man will be done by the power of Satan, with all kinds of miracles, and signs, and lying wonders. [Now in the same way that Christ is alive through the true church which is his body, so that ungodly man can be alive through his disciples who will form his body.]

10 And with all the seductions of iniquity which will lead astray those who perish, because they have not received the love of the truth to be saved.

11 So God sends them a power of deception, so that they may believe a lie.

12 So that all those who have not believed the truth, but who have taken pleasure in injustice, may be condemned.

13 As for us, brothers beloved by the Lord, we ought to give thanks always to God for you. For God has chosen you from the beginning, for salvation through the sanctification made by the Spirit and through faith in the truth.

14 To this end he has called you through our gospel, so that you may obtain the glory of our Lord Jesus Christ.

15 Therefore, brothers, stand firm and cling to the instructions which you have received, whether by our spoken word or by our epistle.

16 May our Lord Jesus Christ himself, and God our Father who has loved us and has given us an everlasting consolation and a good hope through his grace, comfort your hearts.

17 May they establish you in every good work and every good word.

2 Thessalonians 3

1 Finally, brothers, pray for us, to desire that the word of the Lord may spread easily and be honored, just as it has been among you.

2 And that we may be delivered from unreasonable and evil people, since not all have faith.

3 But the Lord is faithful, and he will strengthen you and protect you from the evil one.

4 And we have confidence in the Lord that you are doing and will continue to do the things that we have commanded you.

5 May the Lord direct your hearts into the love of God, and into the patience of Christ.

6 We command you, brothers, in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, to withdraw yourselves from any brother who is living disorderly and not according to the teaching that you have received from us.

7 For you yourselves know how you ought to imitate us. For we were not idle when we were with you.

8 We did not eat the bread of anyone without paying for it. For we worked night and day, toiling and laboring, so that we would not be a burden to any of you.

9 It is not that we did not have the right, but we wanted to be an example for you so that you may imitate us.

10 For when we were with you, we expressly said to you: If anyone does not want to work, then let him also not eat.

11 And now we hear that there are some among you who live disorderly, who do not work, but only take care of trivial matters.

12 We warn such persons and exhort them in the Lord Jesus Christ to work quietly and earn their own living.

13 As for you, brothers, never tire of doing good.

14 If anyone does not obey our instruction given in this letter, then take note of such a person and have no company with him, so that he may be ashamed.

15 Do not regard him as an enemy, but warn him as a brother.

16 May the Lord of peace himself give you peace at all times and by all means. The Lord be with you all.

17 I greet you, I Paul, with my own hand. This is my signature in every epistle, this is how I write. [That is to say, when I am writing myself and not when I am dictating the message to another person for him to write.]

18 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all. Amen.

1 Timothy

1 Timothy 1

1 Paul, an apostle of Jesus Christ by the commandment of God our Savior and of Jesus Christ our hope.

2 To Timothy, my true son in the faith. May grace and mercy and peace be given to you from God the Father and Jesus Christ our Lord.

3 I remind you of the exhortation that I made to you, on my departure for Macedonia, when I committed you to staying at Ephesus in order to recommend to certain people not to teach another doctrine.

4 And not to give heed to fables and endless genealogies, which produce discussions rather than advancing the work of God concerning faith.

5 The aim of the commandment is love coming from a pure heart, and from a good conscience, and from a sincere faith.

6 Some have turned away from these things, and have gone astray in vain speeches.

7 They want to be teachers of the law, but they understand neither what they say nor what they affirm.

8 As for we, we know that the law is good, provided that it is used in an appropriate manner.

9 Knowing well that the law is not made for the righteous, but for the wicked and the rebellious, for the impious and the sinners, for the irreligious and the profane, for the parricides and the murderers.

10 And for fornicators, for the vile, for the slave traders, for the liars, for the perjurers, and all that is contrary to the healthy doctrine.

11 In accordance with the gospel of the glory of the blessed God, the gospel which has been entrusted to me.

12 I give thanks to the one who has strengthened me, namely Jesus Christ our Lord, for having judged me faithful by establishing me in the ministry.

13 I who was previously a blasphemer, and a persecutor, and a violent man. But I have received mercy, because I was acting ignorantly in unbelief.

14 Then the grace of our Lord has abounded in me, through the faith and the love that is in Christ Jesus.

15 Here is a true statement that is entirely worthy to be received: Jesus Christ came into the world to save sinners, of whom I am the first.

16 And I have obtained mercy, so that Jesus Christ may show all his longsuffering in me who is the first, so that I may serve as an example to those who will believe in him for everlasting life.

17 To the everlasting king, immortal, invisible, God the only wise, to him be honor and glory, for ever and ever. Amen.

18 My command to you, my son Timothy, according to the prophecies previously made concerning you, it is that, according to them, you must fight the good fight by keeping faith and a good conscience.

19 Some have turned away from this way of behaving, and have been shipwrecked in relation to the faith.

20 Among them are Hymenaeus and Alexander, whom I have delivered to Satan, so that they may learn not to blaspheme.

1 Timothy 2

1 I exhort therefore, first of all, to make prayers, supplications, intercessions, thanksgiving, for all men.

2 Including kings and all those who have authority, so that we may live peaceful and quiet lives in all godliness and holiness.

3 This is good, and pleases God our Savior.

4 He wants all men to be saved, and to come to the knowledge of the truth.

5 For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus who gave himself as a ransom for all.

6 This is the testimony given in its proper time.

7 And for which I have been appointed a preacher and an apostle, a teacher of the Gentiles concerning faith and truth. I am telling the truth, I am not lying.

8 Therefore I want that the men pray everywhere, lifting up pure hands, without anger or evil thoughts.

9 I also want the women to dress modestly, with decency and bashfulness, not adorning themselves with elaborate hairstyles, or gold, or pearls, or expensive clothes.

10 But that they adorn themselves with good works, as befits women who choose to serve God.

11 A woman should learn in quietness and in full submission.

12 I do not permit a woman to teach or to have authority over a man [concerning the teaching of the knowledge of God], but she must remain silent.

13 For Adam was formed first, then Eve.

14 And Adam was not the one who had been outwitted, but it was the woman who had been outwitted and became a sinner.

15 She will nevertheless be saved by becoming a [spiritual] mother, if she perseveres modestly in faith, and in love, and in holiness.

1 Timothy 3

1 This saying is trustworthy: If someone aspires to the office of a bishop, then he desires an excellent work.

2 For a bishop must be blameless, the husband of one wife, self-restraint, modest, methodical, hospitable, able to teach.

3 Not given to wine, avoiding quarrels, but gentle, and peaceable, indifferent to the power of money.

4 He must manage his own household honestly, keeping his children submissive and respectful.

5 For if someone does not know how to manage his own household, then how will he take care of the church of God.

6 He must not be a recent convert, otherwise he may become conceited and fall under the judgment of the devil.

7 He must also have a good reputation even from the disbelievers, so that he may not fall into disgrace and into the snare of the devil.

8 Likewise, Deacons must be men worthy of respect, not deceitful, not given to much wine, not greedy of gain.

9 They must obey with a pure conscience to the true faith that God has now made known to us through Jesus Christ.

10 They must first be tested. And then, if they are found blameless, then let them serve.

11 Likewise, their wives must be worthy of respect, not slanderers, but self-restraint and faithful in everything.

12 A deacons must be husband of one wife, and manage his children and households well.

13 For those who fulfill their ministry well obtain an honorable standing, and a great boldness in the faith which is in Christ Jesus.

14 I am writing these things to you now, hoping to come to you soon.

15 So that you may know, if I delay, how one must behave in the house of God, which is the church of the living God, the pillar and foundation of the truth.

16 And without dispute, the mystery of piety is great: Christ has been manifested in the flesh, justified by his spirit, seen by angels, preached to the Gentiles, believed in the world, exalted in glory.

1 Timothy 4

1 Now the Spirit expressly says that in the last times some will depart from the faith, to cling to seducing spirits and doctrines of demons.

2 Through the hypocrisy of false teachers bearing the mark of withering in their own conscience.

3 Prescribing not to marry, and to abstain from foods which God created to be taken with thanksgiving by those who are faithful and have known the truth.

4 For all that God has created is good, and nothing that is edible by some communities can be harmful to others, provided it is taken with thanksgiving.

5 For everything is sanctified by the word of God and by prayer.

6 By telling these things to the brothers, you will be a good minister of Jesus Christ, nourished by the words of the faith and of the good doctrine that you have been properly following.

7 Reject profane and absurd tales. Practice piety.

8 For bodily exercise is useful for a few things, but godliness is useful for everything, having the promise of the present life and of that which is to come.

9 It is a true statement that is entirely worthy to be received.

10 Indeed, we work and we fight because we put our hope in the living God, who is the Savior of all men, especially of believers.

11 Declare these things, and teach them.

12 Let no one despise your youth, but be an example to those who have believed, in speech, in conduct, in love, in faith, in purity.

13 Until I come, devote yourself to reading, and to exhortation, and to teaching.

14 Do not neglect the gift that is in you, which was given to you by prophecy with the laying on of hands of the assembly of elders.

15 Take care of these things, give yourself entirely to them, so that your progress may be evident to everyone.

16 Watch over yourself and your teaching, persevere in these things. For by doing this you will save yourself and those who listen to you [and obey you].

1 Timothy 5

1 Do not rebuke an elder man harshly, but exhort him as a father. And admonish younger men as brothers.

2 And behave yourself with elder women as with mothers, and with younger women as with sisters, with all purity.

3 Honor widows who really need help.

4 If a widow has children or grandchildren, let them first learn to show godliness to their own family, and to repay their parents. For this is pleasing in the sight of God.

5 Now the widow who really need help, the one who has been left all alone, puts her hope in God and continues night and day in supplications and prayers.

6 But the woman who gives herself to pleasure is dead, even while she is still alive.

7 Teach them these things, so that they may be blameless.

8 If anyone does not provide for his relatives, namely for his own household, then he has denied the faith and is worse than an unbeliever.

9 A widow must be at least sixty years old to be given a position in the church, having been the wife of one husband.

10 And she must be well-known for her good works, such as bringing up children, showing hospitality to strangers, washing the feet of the saints, relieving the afflicted, devoting herself to every kind of good work.

11 But refuse the young widows. For when lust separates them from Christ, they want to marry.

12 And thus they become guilty by breaking their first covenant.

13 Besides that, they become idle and learn to go from house to house. And not only they are idle, but they are also gossips and busybodies, saying things they ought not to say.

14 Therefore I want the younger women to marry, and to have children, and to manage their households, and to give the adversary no occasion to condemn them.

15 For some have already turned away to follow Satan.

16 If a man or woman among believers has widows, then he or she should assist those widows, so that the church may not be burdened and may assist the widows who truly need help.

17 Let the elders who rule well be considered worthy of double honor, especially those who do the work of counseling and teaching.

18 For the scripture says, 'You will not muzzle the ox when it treads out the grain', and, 'The laborer deserves his wages'.

19 Do not receive an accusation against an elder, except by the testimony of two or three witnesses.

20 Concerning those who sin, rebuke them publicly so that the others may also be warned.

21 I adjure you before God, before Jesus Christ, and before the elect angels, to observe these instructions without prejudice, doing nothing out of favoritism.

22 Do not lay hands on anyone in haste, do not participate in the sins of others in this way. Keep yourself pure.

23 Stop drinking only water, and drink a little wine for the sake of your stomach and your frequent ailments.

24 The sins of some persons are obvious even before they are judged, while the sins of others persons are seen only later.

25 Likewise, some good deeds are quickly discernible, but the others good deeds will not stay hidden forever.

1 Timothy 6

1 Let all those who are under the yoke of servitude regard their masters as worthy of all honor, so that the name of God and the doctrine may not be blasphemed.

2 And let those whose masters are also believers not despise those masters under the pretext that they are brothers in faith. On the contrary, let them serve those masters even better because those who are believers are eager to do good. Teach these things and exhort them.

3 If anyone teaches false doctrines rather than to cling to the healthy words of our Lord Jesus Christ, and to the doctrine that is according to godliness.

4 Then he is conceited, and knows nothing. He has the illness of controversies and arguments about words, which produce envy, and quarrels, and slander, and evil suspicions.

5 These are the vain discussions of people whose minds are corrupt. They are deprived of the truth, and believe that piety is a source of material gain. Distance yourself from such people.

6 But piety with contentment is great [spiritual] gain.

7 For we have brought nothing into the world, and we will take nothing away from it.

8 If therefore we have food and clothing, then that will be enough for us.

9 But those who want to get rich fall into temptation and traps, into many foolish and pernicious desires that lead men into ruin and perdition.

10 For the love of money is the root of all evil. Some people, being possessed by it, have been led astray from the faith, and have thrown themselves into many torments.

11 As for you, O man of God, flee from these things and seek righteousness, and godliness, and faith, and love, and patience, and gentleness.

12 You must fight the good fight of the faith. Take hold of the eternal life to which you have been called, and for which you have made a good declaration in the presence of many witnesses.

13 I tell you the following thing in the sight of God who gives life to all things, and in the sight of Christ Jesus who made a good declaration to Pontius Pilate.

14 Keep the commandment, and to live spotlessly and blamelessly, until the appearing of our Lord Jesus Christ.

15 Which will occur in its own time by the hand of the blessed and only sovereign, the king of kings, and the Lord of lords.

16 The one who alone has immortality, and dwells in an unapproachable light that no one has seen or can see, to whom belong honor and everlasting power. Amen.

17 Command those who are rich in this world not to be arrogant, and not to put their hope in the material wealth of which they can be dispossessed, but to put their hope in the living God who gives us richly all things to enjoy.

18 Command them to do good, to be rich in good works, to be generous and ready to share.

19 And thus build a good foundation for the time to come, in order to grasp the life that is true life.

20 O Timothy, keep that which has been entrusted to you. Avoid vain and profane speeches, and the controversies of what is falsely called knowledge.

21 Which some people claim to possessed and have thus departed from the faith. Grace be with you. Amen.

2 Timothy

2 Timothy 1

1 Paul, an apostle of Jesus Christ by the will of God, according to the promise of the life that is in Christ Jesus.

2 To Timothy my beloved son: Grace, and mercy, and peace, from God the Father and Christ Jesus our Lord.

3 I thank God, whom my ancestors served and whom I serve with a pure conscience, because I always remember you in my prayers night and day.

4 Remembering your tears, and desiring to see you so that I may be filled with joy.

5 For I remember the sincere faith that is in you. That kind of faith first dwelt in your grandmother Lois and in your mother Eunice, and now I am persuaded that it dwells in you also.

6 Therefore I urge you to revive the gift of God that you have received through the laying on of my hands.

7 For God has not given us a spirit of fearfulness, but of power, and of love, and of a discipline.

8 Therefore do not be ashamed of the testimony of our Lord, nor of me his prisoner. But be partaker of the afflictions that the power of God allows us to endure for the gospel.

9 God has saved us by calling us with a holy calling, not because of our works, but because of his own purpose, and because of his grace which was given us in Christ Jesus before the world began.

10 And which has now been revealed through the coming of our Savior Jesus Christ, who has destroyed death, and has brought life and immortality to light through the gospel.

11 It is for this gospel that I have been appointed a preacher, and an apostle, and a teacher of the Gentiles.

12 That is why I am suffering now. But I am not ashamed, because I know the one in whom I have believed, and I am persuaded that he is able to protect what I have entrusted to him until that day [that is to say, he is able of protecting my soul until the day of final judgment].

13 Hold fast the pattern of healthy words which you have heard from me, in the faith and the love that are in Christ Jesus.

14 Keep the good treasure that has been entrusted to you, guard it with the help of the Holy Spirit who dwells in us.

15 You know that all those who are in Asia have abandoned me, including Phygelus and Hermogenes.

16 May the Lord show mercy to the household of Onesiphorus. For he often comforted me, and was not ashamed of my chains.

17 On the contrary, when he came to Rome, he sought me earnestly and found me.

18 May the Lord grant him to obtain mercy from the Lord on that day. You know better than anyone how much he served me in Ephesus.

2 Timothy 2

1 You therefore, my son, strengthen yourself in the grace that is in Jesus Christ.

2 And what you have heard from me in the presence of many witnesses, entrust it to faithful men who are capable of teaching it also to others.

3 Suffer with me [by enduring the afflictions that we undergo because of our faith], like a good soldier of Jesus Christ.

4 There is no soldier who bothers himself with the affairs of this life when he wants to please the one who has recruited him.

5 And the athlete is not crowned if he has not fought according to the rules.

6 The plowman must work before obtaining the fruits to be harvested.

7 Consider what I say, and the Lord will give you understanding in all things.

8 Remember Jesus Christ, who was from the seed of David and who has been raised from the dead according to my gospel.

9 For which I suffer and I am bound like an evildoer. But the word of God is not bound.

10 Therefore I endure all things because of those who are chosen, so that they also may obtain the salvation which is in Christ Jesus, that is to say, an everlasting glory.

11 The following statement is certain: If we have died with him, then we will also live with him.

12 For if we persevere, then we will also reign with him. If we deny him, then he also will deny us.

13 If we are unfaithful [toward him], then he will remain faithful. For he cannot deny himself.

14 You must always remind everyone of these things, pleading before God that we must avoid disputes over words, which only serve to ruin those who listen.

15 Strive to present yourself before God as a man steadfast in the faith in Jesus Christ, a worker who has no reason to be ashamed, who rightly proclaims the word of truth.

16 Avoid vain and profane speeches. For those who indulge in it will only advance more and more in impiety.

17 And their teaching will eat away at those who listen as if they had gangrene. Among such people are Hymenaeus and Philetus.

18 They have turned away from the truth, saying that the resurrection has already come, and they overthrow the faith of some persons in this way.

19 But the foundation of God remains unshaken, with these words serving as its seal, 'The Lord knows those who belong to him', and 'Whoever calls on the name of Christ, let him depart from iniquity'.

20 In a great house there are not only vessels of gold and of silver, but there are also some of wood and of clay. Some are vessels for honor, and others are for an unpleasant use.

21 Therefore if anyone keeps himself pure by abstaining from any kind of evil, then he will be a vessel for honor, sanctified, useful to his master, fit for every good work.

22 Flee the lusts of youth, and follow righteousness, and faith, and love, and peace, with those who call on the Lord with a pure heart.

23 Refrain from foolish and useless discussions, knowing that they produce quarrels.

24 For a servant of the Lord must not have quarrels. On the contrary, he must be gentle toward everyone, apt to teach, endowed with patience.

25 He must gently teach those who think differently, with the hope that God will give them repentance to come to the knowledge of the truth.

26 And that, having regained their common sense, they will free themselves from the traps of the devil who has seized them to submit them to his will.

2 Timothy 3

1 Know that there will be difficult times in the last days.

2 For people will be lovers of their own selves, lovers of money, boastful, haughty, abusive, disobedient to parents, ungrateful, unholy.

3 Without natural affection, implacable, slanderous, without self-control, brutal, and they will not feel love for what is good.

4 Treacherous, stubborn, conceited, they will feel love for different kinds of pleasure rather than for God.

5 Having a form of godliness, but denying its power. I ask you to turn away from such people.

6 There are some among them who enter into houses, and who captivate women of a weak and narrow mind, laden with sins and agitated by all kinds of passions.

7 Those women are always learning, but never able to come to the knowledge of the truth.

8 Just as Jannes and Jambres opposed Moses, so these men oppose the truth. They are corrupt in mind, and they are rejected concerning faith.

9 But they will not go very far. For their folly will be evident to everyone, just as it happened with those two men.

10 But you know my teaching, my conduct, my purpose, my faith, my long-suffering, my love, my patience.

11 You know my persecutions, my afflictions which befell me at Antioch, and at Iconium, and at Lystra, all the things that I have suffered in those places. And the Lord has rescued me from them all.

12 Now all those who want to live godly in Jesus Christ will be persecuted.

13 But evil men and deceivers will continue from bad to worse, deceiving others and also deceiving themselves.

14 As for you, continue to live in accordance with the things that you have learned and have acknowledged as certain, knowing from whom you have learned it. [That is to say, continue to practice the faith in Jesus Christ as you have learned it from me.]

15 From your childhood, you have known the holy scriptures which are able to make you wise for salvation through faith in Jesus Christ.

16 For the whole scripture is given by the inspiration of God and is useful for teaching, so as to be able to convince, and to rebuke, and to instruct in righteousness.

17 So that a servant of God may be complete, equipped for every good work.

2 Timothy 4

1 I beseech you before God, and before Jesus Christ who will judge the living and the dead when he appears to establish his kingdom.

2 Preach the word, reminds others of the right way to practice the true faith in any situation, regardless of whether the situation is favorable or not. Improve, rebuke, exhort, with all long-suffering and confidence in the doctrine.

3 For the time will come when people will not endure the healthy doctrine. But, having the itch to hear things that please them, they will appoint for themselves a multitude of teachers according to their own desires.

4 They will turn away their ears from the truth, in order to find pleasure in fables.

5 As for you, you must seek to please the Spirit in all things [that is to say, the spirit of Christ], endure afflictions, do the work of an evangelist, fulfill your ministry well.

6 As for me, I am like an offering that is ready to be consumed by God. The time of my departure draws near.

7 I have fought the good fight, I have finished running along my path, I have kept the faith.

8 From now on the crown of righteousness is reserved for me. The Lord, the righteous judge, will give it to me in that day, and not only to me, but also to all those who have loved his coming.

9 Come to me as soon as possible.

10 For Demas has abandoned me because of his love for this present world, and has gone to Thessalonica. Crescens has gone to Galatia, and Titus has gone to Dalmatia.

11 Luke alone is with me. Take Mark and bring him with you, because he is useful to me for the ministry.

12 I have sent Tychicus to Ephesus.

13 When you come, bring the cloak that I left at Troas with Carpus, and the books, especially the parchments.

14 Alexander the coppersmith did me a lot of harm. The Lord will reward him according to his works.

15 Beware of him also. For he has strongly opposed our words.

16 In my first defense, no one came to my aid, but everyone abandoned me. Let this not be retained against them.

17 It is the Lord who have helped me and strengthened me, so that the preaching might be accomplished by me, and so that all the Gentiles may hear it. And I was delivered from the mouth of the lion.

18 And the Lord will deliver me from every evil work, and he will preserve me into his heavenly kingdom. To him be praise forever and ever. Amen.

19 Greet Prisca and Aquila, and the household of Onesiphorus.

20 Erastus has stayed in Corinth. And I have left Trophimus in Miletus, he was sick.

21 Try to come before winter. Eubulus, and Pudens, and Linus, and Claudia, and all the brothers greet you.

22 May the Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit. May grace be with you. Amen.

Titus

Titus 1

1 Paul, a servant of God and an apostle of Jesus Christ, for the faith of the chosen of God and the knowledge of the truth which is according to godliness.

2 And which is founded on the hope of eternal life, and which has been promised before the world began by God who does not lie.

3 And who has revealed his word at the proper time, through the preaching entrusted to me by the commandment of God our Savior.

4 To Titus, my true son in our common faith. Grace and peace to you from God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ our Savior.

5 I left you in Crete so that you should set in order what was left unfinished, and appoint elders in every town, according to the instructions that you have received from me.

6 If there is found a blameless man, the husband of one wife, having faithful children who are not accused of debauchery or riot.

7 For a bishop must be blameless, as a steward of God, not arrogant, not quick-tempered, not given to drunkenness, not violent, not greedy for dishonest gain.

8 But hospitable, someone who love goodness, self-controlled, honest, righteous, gentle.

9 Someone who hold fast to the trustworthy message as it has been taught by us, so that he may be able to encourage others in the healthy doctrine and to refute those who oppose it.

10 For there are many rebellious people, vain talkers and deceivers, especially among the circumcised.

11 The mouths of such people must be silenced. They are corrupting entire houses by teaching things for shameful gain, things that they ought not to teach.

12 One of their own prophets has said: Cretans are always liars, vicious beasts, lazy gluttons.

13 This testimony is true. Therefore rebuke them sharply, so that they may become holy in the faith.

14 By rejecting Judaic fables, and the commandments of men who turn away from the truth.

15 Everything is pure for those who are pure, but nothing is pure for those who are defiled and unbelieving, because their minds and consciences are defiled.

16 They profess to know God, but they deny him by their deeds, being detestable, rebellious, and unfit for any good work.

Titus 2

1 As for you, speak the things that are in accordance with the healthy doctrine.

2 Say that the old men [who are disciples of Christ] must be self-controlled, earnest, gentle, strong in the faith, and in love, and in patience.

3 Say that old women [who are disciples of Christ] must also have an appearance suitable for holiness, neither being slanderers nor addicted to wine, and that they must give honest instructions.

4 With the aim of teaching young women to be self-controlled, and to love their husbands, and to love their children.

5 And to be discreet, and chaste, and to take care of their homes, being kind and obedient to their own husbands, so that the word of God may not be blasphemed.

6 Likewise exhort the young men to be self-controlled.

7 You must show yourself in everything as an example of good works in accordance with the doctrine, trustworthy, earnest.

8 Speaking blamelessly, so that the adversary may be put to shame, having no evil thing to say about us.

9 Exhort those who are servants to be submissive to their own masters, to please them in all things, not to contradict. [Now this is a general rule that does not specify the obvious particularities. For a disciple of Christ has the obligation to seek the well-being of others in everything he does, and consequently to disobey any order that is given by any person having a certain authority if that order consists of harming others without publicly acceptable justification, as had been done by the midwives who lived in the kingdom of Egypt (Exodus 1:6-14,15-21).]

10 They must not steal anything, but must always show a good faithfulness, in order to honor the doctrine of God our savior in all things.

11 For the grace of God, the source of salvation for all men, has been revealed.

12 It teaches us to renounce impiety and worldly passions, and to live soberly and righteously and godly in the present world.

13 While waiting for the blessed hope, the manifestation of the glory of the great God, and of our savior Jesus Christ.

14 Who gave himself for us, in order to redeem us from all iniquity, by purifying through himself a people who must become his own possession and who must be zealous for good works.

15 Say these things, and exhort, and rebuke, with a full authority. Let no one despise you.

Titus 3

1 Remind them to be submitted to rulers and authorities, to be obedient and ready to do any good work. [Indeed, a disciple of Christ has the obligation to seek the well-being of others in everything he does, and consequently to disobey any order that is given by any person having a certain authority if that order consists of harming others without publicly acceptable justification, as had been done by the midwives who lived in the kingdom of Egypt (Exodus 1:6-14,15-21).]

2 Not to slander anyone, to be peaceable, and gentle, and kind to everyone.

3 For we ourselves were once foolish, disobedient, deceivers, slaves of various passions and pleasures, living in malice and envy, hated by others and hating one another.

4 But when the one who is the goodness and the love for mankind of God our Savior has appeared.

5 God has saved us, not because of righteous things that we had done, but because of his mercy. He has saved us through the washing of regeneration which has renewed our holy spirit. [That is to say, we who had within us a certain form of love for justice were inhabited by a holy spirit of ignorance, and now he has saved us by enabling us to acquire the holy spirit of knowledge. He has enabled us to understand what needs to be done to become a righteous person.]

6 Which he has poured out on us richly, through Jesus Christ our savior.

7 In order that, being justified by his grace, we become heirs according to the hope of eternal life.

8 It is a sure teaching and I want you to affirm these things regularly, so that those who have believed in God may be encouraged to practice good works. This is what is good and useful to men.

9 But avoid foolish controversies, and genealogies, and quarrels, and the struggles about what is taught by the law given by Moses [in these days when the temple of God built to practice the Jewish rituals is not yet destroyed]. For they are useless and will not help anyone.

10 After a first and second warning, separate yourself from anyone who causes divisions.

11 Knowing that such a person has a corrupt mind, and he is sinning and condemning himself.

12 When I send Artemas or Tychicus to you, come quickly to me at Nicopolis. For I have decided to spend the winter there.

13 Help Zenas the lawyer and Apollos to prepare their journey, so that they lack nothing.

14 Those who are among us to assist us in teaching the word of God must also learn to devote themselves to doing good works to meet urgent needs, so that they may not be unfruitful.

15 All those who are with me send you greetings. Greet those who love us in the faith. Grace be with you all. Amen.

Philemon

Philemon

1 Paul a prisoner of Jesus Christ, and Timothy our brother, to Philemon our dear friend and fellow worker.

2 To our dear sister Apphia, and to Archippus our fellow soldier, and to the church that is in your house.

3 Grace and peace to you from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

4 I thank my God, always mentioning you in my prayers.

5 For I hear of your faith in the Lord Jesus, and of your love for all the saints.

6 I ask him that the fellowship of your faith may be efficacious for the cause of Christ, through all the good things that are in you.

7 For I have had much joy and comfort because of your love, brother, because the hearts of the saints have been pacified by your work.

8 Therefore, although I have in Christ all boldness to command to do what is befitting.

9 Nevertheless I will rather implore you out of love, being as I am, Paul an old man, and now also a prisoner for Jesus Christ.

10 I implore you for my son Onesimus, whom I have begotten while being in chains. [That is to say, this is someone whom I have converted to the faith in Jesus while I was in prison.]

11 He was useless to you in the past, but now he is useful both for you and me.

12 So I am sending him back to you. Receive him therefore, he who is my own bowels [that is to say, he who is as a part of myself].

13 I would have preferred to keep him with me, so that he might serve me instead of you while I am in chains for the gospel.

14 But I have not wanted to do anything without your consent, so that your good deed would not be forced but voluntary.

15 Perhaps he had been separated from you for a time, so he may come back and stay with you forever.

16 No longer as a servant, but more than a servant, as a beloved brother. That is what he is to me, and I know that he will be more esteemed in your eyes, not only as a brother in faith in the Lord, but also because of his own personality.

17 So if you consider me to be your friend, then receive him as myself.

18 And if he has wronged you in any way, or if he owes you anything, then consider that it comes from me.

19 I Paul, I am writing this thing with my own hand: I will repay it, not to tell you that you owe yourself to me.

20 Yes, brother, let me have this joy from you in the Lord. Refresh my bowels in Christ [that is to say, refresh my heart in Christ].

21 I am writing this thing to you because I have confidence in your obedience, knowing that you will do even more than I say.

22 And prepare accommodation for me, because I hope to be restored to you through your prayers.

23 Epaphras, my fellow prisoner in Jesus Christ, sends you greetings.

24 And also Mark, and Aristarchus, and Demas, and Luke, my fellow workers.

25 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit. Amen.

1 Peter

1 Peter 1

1 Peter, an apostle of Jesus Christ, to the elect who are scattered throughout Pontus, and Galatia, and Cappadocia, and Asia, and Bithynia.

2 Chosen according to the foreknowledge of God the Father through the sanctification made by the Spirit, for obedience to Jesus Christ and for the sprinkling of his blood: May grace and peace be multiplied to you.

3 Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who has caused us to be born again for a living hope according to his great mercy, through the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead.

4 To obtain an inheritance that can neither be corrupted nor defiled, and that does not fade away, reserved in heaven for you. [That is to say, none of the works that you do can be taken away from you since God has a perfect knowledge of the exact genealogy of everything that exists. It is a reality that is impossible to falsify, and this also concerns all the good works that you do through your faith in Jesus Christ.]

5 You who, by the power of God, are guarded through your faith for a salvation ready to be revealed in the last time.

6 This is what makes your joy despite the fact that, since it is necessary, you now are saddened for a short time by various trials.

7 So that the genuineness of your faith, being more precious than gold which will perish at the end of time despite the fact that it can now be refined by fire, may result in praise, and glory, and honor, at the return of Jesus Christ.

8 Whom you love without having seen him [in the flesh], in whom you are believing despite the fact that you are not seeing him with your eyes right now.

9 And you are filled with an ineffable and glorious joy, because you know that you will obtain the salvation of your souls as the reward for your faith.

10 The prophets, who prophesied concerning the grace that was reserved for you, made this salvation the object of their searches and investigations.

11 Trying to find out the time and circumstances to which the spirit of Christ within them was pointing, when it testified beforehand to the sufferings of Christ and the glory that should follow.

12 And it was revealed to them that those things were not for themselves, but that they were serving you when they spoke of the things that have now been announced to you by those who have preached the gospel to you through the Holy Spirit sent from heaven, things into which the angels desire to plunge their gaze.

13 Therefore, gird up the waist of your mind, be sober-minded, and set your hope fully on that grace that will be yours when Jesus Christ comes.

14 As obedient children, do not conform to the evil desires that you had when you lived in ignorance [that is to say, when you had not yet understood the correct definition of faith].

15 And just as he who has called you is holy, so you also must be holy in all that you do.

16 As it is written: You will be holy, for I am holy.

17 And if you invoke as your Father the one who judges impartially according to the deeds of each person, then conduct yourselves with fear during the time of your pilgrimage.

18 Knowing that it was not with things that can be defiled, like silver or gold, that you have been redeemed from your vain manner of life which you have copied from your ancestors.

19 But with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot.

20 Chosen before the creation of the world, but revealed only in these last times because of you.

21 And it is through him that you are believers in God, the one who raised him from the dead and gave him glory so that your faith and hope may be in God. [That is to say, it is through Jesus that you have become believers in the Holy Spirit of God by knowing exactly what to do. God is the one who has raised Jesus from the dead, and his Holy Spirit is also called God.]

22 So then, having purified your souls by obeying the truth to have a sincere brotherly love, love one another fervently from the heart.

23 Since you have been born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible seed, by the living and permanent word of God.

24 For all flesh is like grass, and all its glory is like the flower of the grass. The grass withers, and the flower falls.

25 But the word of the Lord endures forever, and it is that word that is preached to you.

1 Peter 2

1 Therefore you must reject all malice and all deceit, and hypocrisies, and envies, and all slander. [Now evil is that which is intentional and unjustifiable in the eyes of any assembly of saints, and such an assembly knows that each one acts according to his particular knowledge and circumstances. So concerning the notion of deceit, it is why do you what you do and not what you do.]

2 Desire ardently the pure spiritual milk which is the word of the Lord, as newborn babies desires breast milk, so that you may grow by it for salvation.

3 If you have already tasted that the Lord is good.

4 Come closer to him, living stones rejected by men but chosen and precious in the sight of God.

5 And you yourselves, being living stones, let each of you edify himself to become a spiritual house, a holy priesthood, in order to offer spiritual sacrifices through Jesus Christ, since it is such offerings that are pleasing to God now. [That is to say, take personal initiatives with the aim of pleasing Jesus Christ who is the Lord sent by God.]

6 For it is said in the scripture: Behold I lay in Zion a chief cornerstone, elect, precious. Whoever trusts in his message will not be ashamed.

7 So the honor is for you who believe. But for the disbelievers, the stone that the builders have disallowed has been made the head of the corner.

8 And a stone of stumbling, and a rock of scandal. They stumble at it for not believing in the word, and that is what they are destined for.

9 As for you, you are a chosen kind, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, a people who belong to God, so that you may proclaim the virtues of the one who has called you out of darkness into his marvelous light.

10 You who were not a people in the past, and now are the people of God. You who had not obtained mercy, and now have obtained mercy. [Now Peter is writing this letter to a community where there is a majority of non-Jews, and he points out that the Jews and the non-Jews did not form a single people in the past, more specifically those of the non-Jews who had a certain form of love for justice in themselves but who did not know the exact identity of that God.]

11 Beloved, since you are strangers and pilgrims in this world, I beseech you to abstain from fleshy lusts which wage war against the soul.

12 You must have a good behavior among the disbelievers and the unbelievers, so that when some of them slander you as if you were wrongdoers [because of your faith in Christ], they may notice your good deeds and glorify God in the day when he visits them [that is to say, the day when they also become the disciples of Christ after having being influenced by your behavior].

13 Be submissive to every authority established among men, because of the Lord. [Now being submissive does not mean obeying any kind of order. For a disciple of Christ has the obligation to seek the well-being of others in everything he does, and consequently to disobey any order that is given by any person having a certain authority if that order consists of harming others without publicly acceptable justification, as had been done by the midwives who lived in the kingdom of Egypt (Exodus 1:6-14,15-21).]

14 Whether to the king who is the sovereign, or to the governors who are sent by him to punish evildoers and to approve the people who do what is right.

15 For it is the will of God that you silence ignorant and foolish men through the good quality of your deeds.

16 Conduct yourselves like free people, without using your freedom as a veil that covers wickedness, but acting as servants of God.

17 Honor everyone, have brotherly love. Fear God. Honor the king.

18 Servants, be submitted to your masters and have the fear of offending them [without publicly acceptable justification], not only toward those who are good and gentle, but also toward those who are of a difficult character.

19 For it is a grace to endure afflictions when one suffers unjustly, if the justification for this endurance is the desire to have a good conscience toward God.

20 Indeed, what glory is there in enduring mistreatment for having acted in a reprehensible manner. But if you endure suffering when you do what is right, then it is a grace in the sight of God.

21 And it is what you have been called to do, since Christ also has suffered for you, leaving you an example so that you should follow in his steps.

22 He did not committed any sin, and no deceit was found in his mouth. [Now the purpose of this statement is not to judge the behavior of Jesus Christ in relation to any standard, but rather to state that the behavior of Jesus Christ is the standard that must be used to understand the definition of the notion of sin and of the notion of deception, and this requires a good understanding of the circumstances in which each of his words has been uttered.]

23 He did not retaliate when he was insulted, and made no threat when he was mistreated, but relied on the one who judges righteously.

24 He himself bore our sins in his body on the wooden cross, so that we may die toward sin [at the different times when each of us gain a good understanding of his message and choose to live in accordance with it], and thus live for righteousness. You have been healed through his wounds.

25 For you were like wandering sheep, and now you have returned to the Shepherd and Bishop of your souls.

1 Peter 3

1 You the wives must be submissive to your own husbands. And if some of them do not obey the word [that is to say, the fact that Christ has died for our sins and we must obey him in order to attain a certain eternal life], then they may be gained without having the gospel, through the behavior of their wives.

2 For they may be influenced when they notice your good behavior and your fear of the Lord.

3 You should not seek the outer adornments such as braided hair, or gold ornaments, or clothing designed to capture the attention.

4 For you should rather seek the inner beauty that is hidden in the heart, the incorruptible purity of a spirit that is peaceful and filled with the desire to seek the well-being of those who have nothing to reproach themselves for in your sight. This is of a great price before God.

5 The holy women of the past put their hope in God and adorned themselves in this manner, and were willing to serve their own husbands. [That is to say, they obeyed their own husbands but with the fear of a God who has the preeminence regarding authority, a God who does not want them to offend anyone without having in the heart a publicly acceptable justification, namely a justification that may be acceptable even in the eyes of those who do not believe in any god.]

6 Thus was Sarah, who obeyed Abraham and called him lord. You have become her daughter through your faith in the Lord, and consequently you must be content to do what is right without letting yourself be troubled by any fear.

7 Likewise, you the husbands should live with your wives in a considerate way. Honor them, knowing that they are a weaker fleshy vessels and co-heirs of the grace of life with you, and thus your prayers will not be hindered by this matter.

8 And regarding your relationships with other people, you the disciples of Christ must have the same way of thinking [which consists of having within oneself a justification that one knows is publicly acceptable in everything one does], full of brotherly love, and compassion, and humility.

9 Do not repay evil for evil, or insult for insult. On the contrary, bless, because you have been called to behave like this in order to inherit the blessing. [Now this simply means that one should not only seek one's personal well-being when reacting to an offense suffered. For one must only be concerned with the well-being of arbitrarily chosen strangers in society when one wants to choose the quality of the response to an offense suffered.]

10 For if anyone want to enjoy true life and see good days [in the everlasting life], then he must refrain his tongue from evil and his lips from speaking deceit. [Now evil is that which is intentional and unjustifiable in the eyes of any assembly of saints, and such an assembly knows that each person acts according to his particular knowledge and circumstances. So concerning the notion of deceit, it is why do you what you do and not what you do.]

11 He must turn away from evil and do good, and he must seek peace and pursue it.

12 For the eyes of the Lord are on those who are righteous, and his ears are attentive to their prayers, but the face of the Lord is against those who do evil.

13 And who will harm you if you are zealous for what is good. [Now this is true if you live in a community where almost everyone already knows the difference between good and evil.]

14 And even if you suffer while striving to remain a righteous person [according to the definition of righteousness that is taught by Christ], then it is a blessing. Do not be afraid of them, and do not be troubled.

15 But sanctify Christ as Lord in your hearts, by always being ready to give an answer to everyone who asks you to give the reason for the hope that is in you, and by responding with gentleness and dignity.

16 You must keep a good conscience, so that when some of them slander you as if you were wrongdoers because of your faith in Christ, they may notice your good deeds and be ashamed.

17 For it is better to suffer by doing good than by doing evil, if it is the will of God to test your perseverance.

18 For Christ also suffered once for sins, by being righteous for the unrighteous, in order to bring us to God. He has been put to death in the flesh, but made alive in the spirit.

19 In which also he went and preached to the spirits who are in prison.

20 Those who were disobedient in the past, when God waited patiently in the days of Noah, while the ark was being built, in which a few people, that is to say, eight persons, were saved through water.

21 This water was a likeness of baptism, which is not the purification from the defilements of the body, but the commitment of a good conscience towards God, and which now saves you also by the resurrection of Jesus Christ. [That is to say, this water had acted on those eight persons in the same way that baptism initiated by John the Baptist does today, a baptism that consists of making known to some others persons that one has made an inner resolution to serve God by living according to certain principles. And in our day, if a person acquires a good understanding of the message that Jesus Christ has created in the world and chooses to live according to that teaching, then that person is preserved in the spirit for eternal life just as those eight persons had been preserved in the flesh to repopulate the earth.]

22 He has gone into heaven and is at the right hand of God, who has subjected to him the angels, and the authorities, and the powers.

1 Peter 4

1 Therefore, Christ having suffered for us in the flesh, you also should arm yourselves with that same thought. For if someone accepts to suffer in the flesh [with the aim of remaining a righteous person and possibly to create a more concrete work that can have some use for strangers arbitrarily chosen in society], then he has killed his old self concerning sin.

2 And thus he no longer lives according to the lusts of men during the time that he has left to live in the flesh, but according to the will of God [through obedience to the teaching of the gospel of Jesus Christ].

3 For we know that we should no longer waste more time by continuing to walk according to the habits that we had in the past, when we did not have the knowledge of God as it has been revealed by Christ: debauchery, lusts, drunkenness, the excesses of eating and drinking, and abominable idolatries. [Now Peter has been a companion of Jesus Christ, and he knows that his message will be read by both Jews and non-Jews. All the Jews who have been instructed in the law given by Moses are not concerned with the totality of the habits that Peter describes here, but at least with the last thing mentioned. For the gospel of Jesus Christ has revealed that the part of the law of Moses which could only be put into practice by the descendants of Jacob was actually abominable idolatries.]

4 And now, they find it strange that you do not rush with them into the same excess of debauchery, and they slander you.

5 They will give account to him who is ready to judge the living and the dead.

6 For the gospel has been proclaimed to the dead also, so that, having been judged like men in the flesh, they may live according to God in the spirit. [Now Peter has said previously in this letter that Christ has been put to death in the flesh, and made alive in the spirit, in which also he went and preached to the spirits who are in prison.]

7 The end of all things is near. Therefore be sober-minded, and give great importance to prayer. [Nowadays, when the temple of the Jews is already destroyed, it is no longer a question of praying publicly to bring the twelve tribes of Jacob to the knowledge of the faith explained to non-Jews, but it is only a matter of praying frequently in one's heart to have the strength not to turn away from the holy commandment.]

8 But above all, love one another fervently. For love will cover the multitude of sins. [Now it is about always desiring the well-being of strangers arbitrarily chosen in society, and never plotting evil against anyone, and not discriminating against someone who cannot be publicly criticized for anything. And evil is that which is intentional and unjustifiable in the eyes of any assembly of saints, and such an assembly knows that each person acts according to his particular knowledge and circumstances.]

9 Be welcoming and hospitable toward one another, without murmurings.

10 As good stewards of the various graces of God, let each of you place at the service of others the gift that he has received.

11 If anyone speaks, he should do so as if he were transmitting the oracles of God. If anyone fulfills a ministry, let him fulfill it according to the strength that God is giving him [without seeking to deviate from the simplicity of the holy commandment in order to impress others], so that in all things God may be glorified through Jesus Christ, to whom belong glory and dominion for ever and ever. Amen.

12 Beloved, regarding the furnace that is in your midst to test you, do not be surprised as if it were a strange thing.

13 Rejoice, on the contrary, for the fact that you are partakers of the sufferings of Christ, so that you may also rejoice and be glad when his glory appears.

14 If you are persecuted for the name of Christ [that is to say, because of your determination not to turn away from the teachings of the gospel], then you are blessed, because the spirit of glory which is the Spirit of God rests on you. Those who do not have the true love of God in them speak evil of this state of mind which is yours, but as for you, you glorify it.

15 Indeed, let none of you suffer as a murderer, or as a thief, or as an evildoer, or as a meddler in the matters of others.

16 But if anyone suffers as a Christian, then let him not be ashamed, and he should rather glorify God in this name. [Now the name of an entity in theology is not some literal expression, but rather the exact knowledge of the characteristics of the entity that is designated. Since no apostle knew the exact definition of eternal life, in this text a Christian is simply a person who declares that Christ lived, and died, and was raised from the dead, and has ascended to heaven, all this for the sins of humanity. And in addition to this declaration, such a person tries to live according to his understanding of the message of the gospel.]

17 For this is the time when judgment will begin at the house of God [that is to say, the Jewish people to which I belong will soon be judged, those of them who do not believe that Christ is the Lord, and will no longer have the possibility to rebuild the holy place whose existence is required by the law of Moses]. And if it begins with us [who had been the chosen people of God], then what will be the end of those who do not obey the gospel of God [when the glory of Christ appears at the end of time.]

18 And if the righteous saves himself with difficulty, then what will become of the ungodly and the sinner.

19 Therefore, let those who suffer according to the will of God entrust their souls to the faithful creator, by doing what is good.

1 Peter 5

1 Here are my exhortations to the elders among you, I who am an elder like them, a witness of the sufferings of Christ and a partaker of the glory that will be revealed.

2 Feed the flock of God that is among you. Do not act as if this duty were a burden, but do it willingly. Not for a dishonorable gain, but with dedication.

3 Not as if you were lords over the heritage of God, but as examples to imitate for the flock.

4 And when the chief Shepherd appears, you will receive an incorruptible crown of glory.

5 Likewise, you who are young, submit yourselves to the elders. And all of you, in your mutual relationships, clothe yourselves with humility. For God resists the proud, and he gives grace to the humble.

6 Humble yourselves therefore under the mighty hand of God [by submitting yourself to the demands of the gospel of Christ], so that he may exalt you in due time.

7 Give all your worries to him, because he cares for you.

8 Be sober, and watchful. Your adversary, the devil, prowls like a roaring lion, seeking whom he may devour.

9 Resist him with a firm faith, knowing that the same sufferings are accomplished in your brothers who are in the world.

10 And the God of all grace, who has called you through Christ Jesus to his eternal glory, after you have suffered a little while, will perfect you, and establish you, and strengthen you, and make you steadfast.

11 To him be glory and dominion for ever and ever. Amen.

12 It is by Silvain, who is in my eyes a faithful brother, that I have written to you briefly, to exhort you and to testify to you that this faith that has been announced to you is the true grace of God.

13 The church that is in Babylon, chosen together with you, salutes you. And so does Mark my son.

14 Greet one another with a kiss of affection. Peace be with all of you who are in Christ. Amen.

2 Peter

2 Peter 1

1 Simon Peter, a servant and an apostle of Jesus Christ, to those who have obtained a faith of the same value as ours, through the righteousness of our God and of the Savior Jesus Christ.

2 Grace and peace be multiplied to you through the knowledge of God and of Jesus our Lord.

3 As his divine power has given us everything that contributes to life and piety, through the knowledge of the one who has called us by his own glory and virtue.

4 By which he has given us his greatest and most precious promises [that is to say, all the characteristics of the Holy Spirit], so that through them you become partakers of the divine nature, by fleeing the corruption that is created in the world by covetousness.

5 For this very reason, make every effort to join virtue to your faith, and to join science to virtue.

6 And to join self-restraint to science, and to join patience to self-restraint, and to join piety to patience.

7 And to join brotherly kindness to piety, and to join love to brotherly kindness.

8 For if these things are in you, and are there in abundance, then they will keep you from being idle and unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ.

9 But the one in whom these things are not is blind. He cannot see far away, and he has forgotten the cleansing from his old sins.

10 Therefore, brothers, give the most diligence to confirm your calling and election. For if you do these things, then you will never fall.

11 This is how you will be richly supplied for the entrance into the eternal kingdom of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

12 This is why I will not neglect to always remind you of these things, although you know them and are established in the present truth.

13 And I consider it my duty, as long as I am in this tabernacle [which is my earthly body], to keep you awake through warnings.

14 For I know that I will soon leave this body, as our Lord Jesus Christ has made known to me.

15 That is why I will do my best to ensure that you can always remember these things after my death.

16 For it was not by following cleverly devised fables that we have made known to you the power and the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, but by the fact that we have seen his majesty with our own eyes.

17 For he has received honor and glory from God the Father, when the excellent glory made him hear a voice saying: This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased.

18 And we ourselves have heard this voice from heaven, when we were with him on the holy mountain.

19 And we have the word of prophecy made more certain, to which you do well to pay heed, as to a lamp shining in a dark place, until the dawn comes and the day star arises in your hearts.

20 Knowing first of all yourselves that no prophecy of scripture can be an object of private interpretation.

21 For it was not by the will of man that a prophecy was ever brought, but it was while being moved by the Holy Spirit that men have spoken from God.

2 Peter 2

1 There were false prophets among the people, and there will also be false teachers among you. They will introduce pernicious sects, by denying the characteristics of the one who has redeemed them, and will thus bring a sudden ruin on themselves.

2 Many will follow them in their heresies, and the way of truth will be slandered because of them.

3 They will use feigned words designed by their covetousness in order to make you a merchandise [not only with regard to your possessions, but also with regard to your souls]. The judgment against these false teachers has been ready for a long time, and they will not escape destruction.

4 For if God did not spare the angels who sinned, and has cast them down into the depths of darkness, and is reserving them for judgment.

5 If he did not spare the ancient world, but has preserved Noah who was a preacher of righteousness, and seven others persons, when he brought the flood on a world of the ungodly.

6 If he condemned to destruction and reduced to ashes the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah, making them an example of what he will do to those who live in an ungodly way.

7 And if he saved the righteous Lot who was deeply saddened by the conduct of those wicked people.

8 For this righteous man, who dwelt among them, was tormented in his righteous soul daily because of what he saw and heard of their criminal deeds.

9 The Lord knows how to save the pious from troubles, and to reserve the unrighteous for the punishment which he will execute on the day of judgment.

10 And chiefly those who walk according to the flesh in a desire for impurity, and those who despise authority. Bold and arrogant, they are not afraid to insult the dignities.

11 While the angels, who are superior in strength and power, do not make scornful accusations against them before the Lord.

12 But they, like brutes who abandon themselves to their natural tendencies and who were born to be taken and destroyed, they speak insultingly of what they do not know, and they will perish by their own corruption, and thus receive the reward for their iniquity.

13 They find their delights in indulging in pleasure in broad daylight. Corrupt and defiled men who delight in their deceptions, and they want you to participate in this.

14 Their eyes are full of adultery, and cannot cease from sin. They entice unsteadfast souls, their hearts are trained in greed, they are the children of the curse.

15 Having forsaken the right way, they have gone astray following the way of Balaam the son of Bozor, who loved the wage of unrighteousness.

16 But he was rebuked for his transgression. A dumb donkey spoke with the voice of a man and stopped the madness of the prophet.

17 Those false teachers are like wells without water, like clouds carried away by a whirlwind. The blackness of darkness is reserved for them.

18 With speeches full of vanity, they entice by the lusts of the flesh, through recklessness, those who have scarcely escaped from persons who live in error.

19 They promise freedom to their victims, while they themselves are slaves to corruption. For every person is a slave of that which has triumphed over him.

20 For if they have escaped from the defilements of the world through the knowledge of the Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, and if they choose in their spirit to return to it [by resuming taking initiatives without having publicly acceptable justifications in the heart], then they will be defeated and their last condition will be worse than the first one.

21 For it would have been better for them not to have known the way of righteousness, rather than to turn away, after having known it, from the holy commandment which had been properly explained to them.

22 It has happened to them according to this true proverb: the dog has returned to what he had vomited, and the sow that had washed herself has wallowed in the mire.

2 Peter 3

1 Beloved, this is now the second epistle that I write to you. In one and the other, I seek to cause your healthy minds to stay awake through warnings.

2 So that you may remember the words that the holy prophets had spoken in the past, and the commandment of the Lord and Savior which has been taught to you by the apostles.

3 Knowing first of all that in the last days, scorners will come with their scoffing, following their own evil desires.

4 And they will say: Where is the promise of his coming. For since the fathers fell asleep, all things continue as they were from the beginning of the creation.

5 They want to ignore the fact that the heavens were made long ago by the word of God, as well as the earth which was formed out of the water and by means of the water.

6 By which the world of that time was flooded and destroyed.

7 And the heavens and the earth that exist now are kept in store by the same word, reserved for the fire of the day of judgment and destruction of the ungodly.

8 Beloved, do not be ignorant of the following thing: one day is with the Lord like a thousand years, and a thousand years are like one day.

9 The Lord is not slow concerning his promise, as some understand slowness. But he is patient with you, not wanting anyone to perish, but that everyone may come to repentance.

10 The day of the Lord will come like a thief. The heavens will disappear with a great noise, and the elements will melt with a fervent heat, and the earth and everything done in it will be consumed.

11 Since all these things will be destroyed, what kind of people ought you to be. You ought to live holy and godly lives.

12 Looking for the day of God, and desiring its coming, knowing that the heavens will be destroyed by fire, and the elements will melt with a fervent heat.

13 But according to his promise, we are waiting for new heavens and a new earth, where righteousness dwells.

14 Therefore, beloved, while you are waiting for these things, be diligent to be found by him in peace, spotless and blameless.

15 Keep in mind that the patience of our Lord is for your salvation, as our beloved brother Paul also written to you, according to the wisdom given to him.

16 This is what he does in all his epistles where he speaks about these things, in which there are some things hard to understand, whose meaning is distorted by the ignorant and the unstedfast, as they do also with the other scriptures, for their own ruin.

17 Therefore, beloved, since you have been forewarned, be on your guard so that you may not be carried away by the error of the wicked, and thus fall from your own stedfastness.

18 But grow in the grace of the knowledge of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. To him be glory now and forever. Amen.

1 John

1 John 1

1 That which was from the beginning, that which we have heard, that which we have seen with our eyes, that which we have gazed at and that our hands have touched, concerning the word of life.

2 For the life has been manifested, and we have seen it, and we bear witness to it. We announce to you eternal life, which was with the Father and which has been manifested to us.

3 That which we have seen and heard, we declare it you also so that you may be in communion with us. Now our communion is with the Father and with his Son Jesus Christ.

4 And we write these things so that our joy may be complete.

5 The message that we have heard from him, and that we announce to you, it is the fact that God is light, and in him there is no darkness at all.

6 If we say that we are in communion with him, and if we walk in the darkness, then we lie and do not practice the truth.

7 But if we walk in the light, as he himself is in the light, then we are in communion with one another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanses us from all sin.

8 If we say that we have no sin, then we deceive ourselves and the truth is not in us.

9 If we confess our sins, then he is faithful and righteous to forgive us our sins and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness.

10 If we say that we have no sin, then we make him a liar and his word is not in us.

1 John 2

1 My little children, I write these things to you so that you may not sin. And if anyone sin, then we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous one.

2 He is now the only way by which our sins are taken away. And this does not only concern our sins, we who are Jews, but also the sins of all the people in the world.

3 If we practice his commandments, then we know that we have known him.

4 Whoever says, 'I know him', but does not practice his commandments, the same is a liar and the truth is not in him.

5 But if someone obeys his word, then the love of God is truly perfect in that person. This is how we know that we are in him.

6 Whoever want to dwell in him must also walk as he himself has walked.

7 Beloved, what I write to you is not a new commandment, but an ancient commandment which you have had from the beginning. This ancient commandment is the word that you have heard from the beginning.

8 Nevertheless I am writing you a new commandment, and this fact is true in him and in you [that is to say, what he has asked you to do is a thing that was from the beginning, but his teaching nullifies the other commandments that you have received over time and that have influenced his behavior]. For the darkness is passing away, and the true light is already shining.

9 If a person thinks that he is in the light, and hates his brother, then such a person is still in the darkness.

10 Whoever loves his brother dwells in the light, and there is no occasion of evil in him. [Now your brother is just your neighbor.]

11 But whoever hates his brother is in the darkness. He walks in the darkness, and does not know where he is going, because the darkness has blinded his eyes.

12 I am writing to you, my little children, because your sins are forgiven through him.

13 I am writing to you, fathers, because you have known the one who is from the beginning. I am writing to you, young men, because you have overcome the evil one.

14 I have written to you, little children, because you have known the Father. I have written to you, fathers, because you have known the one who is from the beginning. I have written to you, young men, because you are strong, and the word of God dwells in you, and you have overcome the evil one.

15 Do not love the world, nor the things that are in the world. If anyone loves the world, then the love of the Father is not in him.

16 For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, comes not from the Father but from the world.

17 And the world passes away, and its lust also, but whoever does the will of God remains forever.

18 Little children, this is the last hour. And as you have heard that the antichrist is coming, even now there are already many antichrists. This is how we know that it is the last hour.

19 They went out from us, but they were not of us. For if they had been of us, then they would have continued with us. And it has happened so that it may be manifested that not all are of us.

20 As for you, you have received the anointing from the one who is holy, and you all have knowledge.

21 I have written to you, not because you do not know the truth, but because you know it and because no lie comes from the truth.

22 Who is a liar, if not the one who denies that Jesus is the Christ [who is foretold in the scriptures]. Such a person is an antichrist, who denies the Father and the Son.

23 Whoever denies the Son does not have the Father either. Whoever acknowledges the Son has the Father also.

24 Let what you have heard from the beginning dwell in you. If what you have heard from the beginning dwells in you, then you also will dwell in the Son and in the Father.

25 And what he has promised to us, it is eternal life.

26 I have written these things to you because of those who seek to lead you astray.

27 And I say that the anointing that you have received from him dwells in you, and you do not need anyone to teach you. For since that anointing teaches you about all things, and its teaching is not a lie but is according to the truth, so you must remain in him just as he teaches you.

28 And now, little children, remain in him so that when he appears, we may be confident and unashamed before him at his coming.

29 If you know that he is righteous, then acknowledge that everyone who acts righteously is born of him. [That is to say, if you know that God the creator of all things is righteous, then acknowledge that whoever practices justice is inhabited by his holy spirit and is loved by him in the same way.]

1 John 3

1 See what great love the Father has lavished on us, so that we should be called children of God. And that is what we are, and that is why the world does not know us, because the world has not known him.

2 Beloved, we are now children of God, and what we will be has not yet been revealed. But we know that when Christ appears, we will be like him, and we will see him as he is.

3 Everyone who has this hope inside himself purifies himself, just as Christ is pure.

4 Everyone who commits a sin transgresses the law. For sin is the transgression of the law. [Now this means that the notion of sin has changed over time with regard to the children of Jacob who received a divine law, because they received commandments that could not have existed before the arrival of Moses. For example, the commandment that says a daughter who receives an inheritance from her father is obligated to marry someone belonging to the same tribe as her father, among the twelve tribes of Israel who have received inheritances. Concerning the twelve sons of Jacob, Levi did not receive an inheritance and Joseph is divided into two tribes.]

5 And you know that Christ has been manifested to take away sins, and in him there is no sin.

6 So whoever dwells in him does not sin. Whoever sins has not seen him and has not known him. [That is to say, a person who lives in Christ does not continue to sin from the moment when the conscience of that person truly decided to convert. The one who continues to sin has never really understood the teaching of Jesus Christ, and thus have never known him, or has never really accepted in himself to live according to what has been clearly explained to him.]

7 Little children, do not let anyone lead you astray. Whoever acts righteously is righteous, just as he is righteous. [That is to say, if a person possesses within himself publicly acceptable justifications whenever he do something, then he is a righteous person, and this is the only divine law explained by Christ.]

8 The one who sins belongs to the devil [even if this is caused by the fact that the knowledge of the truth has not yet been explained to him]. For the devil has been sinning from the beginning. This is why the Son of God has been manifested, in order to destroy the works of the devil.

9 Whoever is born of God does not continue to sin, because the seed of God dwells in him. He cannot continue to sin, because he is born of God.

10 This is how we know who are the children of God and who are the children of the devil. Anyone who does not act righteously is not of God, nor anyone who does not love his brother. [Now your brother is just your neighbor. He who does not love his brother is he who cannot publicly justify the harm that he wants to do to his brother.]

11 For the message that you have heard from the beginning is that we must love one another.

12 And not be like Cain, who was of the evil one and murdered his brother. And why did he murder him. It was because his own deeds were evil, while those of his brother were righteous.

13 Do not be surprised, brothers, if the world hates you.

14 We know that we have passed from death to life, because we love the brothers. Anyone who does not love his brother remains in death.

15 Anyone who hates his brother is a murderer. And you know that no murderer has eternal life dwelling in him. [Evil is that which is intentional and unjustifiable in the eyes of any assembly of saints, and such an assembly knows that each one acts according to his particular knowledge and circumstances.]

16 We have perceived love in the fact that Jesus Christ has given his life for us. Therefore we too must give our lives for the brothers [that is to say, for the well-being of arbitrarily chosen strangers in society, and this in a way that takes priority over the well-being of those whom we personally love and over our own well-being].

17 If anyone has material possessions, and sees that his brother is in need, and withholds compassion from that brother, then how can the love of God be in him.

18 My little children, let us not love in words or in discourses, but in deeds and in truth.

19 It is by doing so that we will know that we are of the truth, and we will reassure our hearts before him.

20 For if our heart condemns us, then God is greater than our heart, and he knows all things.

21 Beloved, if our heart does not condemn us, then we have confidence before God.

22 And whatever we ask, we receive it from him, because we keep his commandments and do only what is pleasing in his sight.

23 And this is his commandment: we must believe in the name of his Son Jesus Christ, and love one another as he commanded us.

24 Whoever keeps his commandments dwells in God, and God in him. And we know that he dwells in us by the Spirit whom he has given us. [Now the Spirit is the spirit of Christ, and here the apostle explains that a true disciple receives through his own spirit the certainty that he is inhabited by God who is teaching him in real time how to behave. For we walk by faith, and not by sight.]

1 John 4

1 Beloved, do not believe in the sincerity of any spirit who claims to have the same faith as yours, but probe continuously the spirits to know if they are of God. For many false prophets have come into the world.

2 Recognize the Spirit of God in the following way: every spirit who confesses that Jesus Christ has come in the flesh is of God. [That is to say, every person who acknowledges that Jesus Christ is now alive after he has come in the flesh, and has suffered, and has been raised from the dead, and has ascended to heaven. Now from some of the things that have already been said in this epistle, it is evident that the apostle here implies that such a person must not only accept that the Lord Jesus is the one to whom one must obey and is now alive after he has come in the flesh, but such a person must also behave continuously in accordance with this fact.]

3 And every spirit who does not confess that Jesus Christ has come in the flesh is not of God. It is a spirit of the antichrist, whose coming you have learned, and who is now already in the world. [That is to say, every spirit who does not acknowledge that Jesus Christ is now alive after he has come in the flesh, and has suffered, and has been raised from the dead, and has ascended to heaven. Now such a person is clearly of the antichrist if that person refuses to recognize this fact after having received clear explanations concerning all that it means, regarding the way in which everyone must behave. And Jesus had said the following thing to his disciple Thomas, when Jesus presented himself to Thomas with a body that had risen from the dead and that had retained all the traces of his crucifixion: You have believed because you have seen me. Blessed are those who have not seen, and have believed.]

4 As for you, little children, you are of God and you have overcome them, because the one who is in you is greater than the one who is in the world.

5 They are of the world. Therefore they speak by drawing inspiration from the world, and the world listens to them.

6 As for us, we are of God. Whoever knows God listens to us, and whoever is not of God does not listen to us. This is how we know the spirit of truth and the spirit of error. [Now listening to the apostle means understanding his message and putting that teaching into practice.]

7 Beloved, let us love one another. For love is of God, and everyone who loves is born of God and knows God.

8 Whoever does not love does not know God. For God is love. [Now this is to define the notion of love. For it has already been specified in this letter what a person must do to dwell in God and be indwelt by God, that is to say, to know God and to be born of God. So to love one another means to love everyone in general and no one in particular.]

9 And the love of God has been manifested toward us in the fact that God has sent his only begotten Son into the world, so that we may live through him.

10 And this love consists in the fact that it is not because we have loved God, but because he has loved us and has sent his Son to serve as reconciliation for our sins.

11 Beloved, if God has thus loved us, then we must also love one another. [That is to say, we must always seek the well-being of arbitrarily chosen strangers in society.]

12 No one has ever seen God. If we love one another, then God dwells in us, and his love is perfected in us.

13 And we know that we dwell in him, and he in us, by the fact that he has given us of his Spirit. [Now in the first days of Christianity, the new converts received gifts such as speaking different languages, or prophesying about events concerning which they could act. They thus had the proof that God lives inside the believer. The Spirit of God is the spirit of Christ.]

14 And we have seen, and we bear witness to the fact that the Father has sent the Son to be the Savior of the world.

15 If anyone confesses that Jesus is the Son of God, then God dwells in him, and he in God. [Now this is to define the expression 'to confess that Jesus is the Son of God'. For it has already been specified in this letter what a person must do to dwell in God and be indwelt by God.]

16 And we have known the love that God has for us, and we have believed in it. God is love. And whoever is indwells by love dwells in God, and God in him. [Now this is to define the notion of love. For it has already been specified in this letter what a person must do to dwell in God and be indwelt by God.]

17 As he is, it is thus that we also are in this world. It is thus that love is perfected in us, so that we may have confidence when the day of judgment comes.

18 There is no fear in love, because perfect love casts out fear. For fear arises because of the expectation of an unknown punishment, and therefore the one who fears is not perfect in love. [Now as the notion of love is somewhat complicated, so too is the notion of fear. It is not about taking the initiative to enter a dangerous situation without being forced to do so in one way or another, but rather about not having one’s mind agitated in the absence of apparent dangers.]

19 As for us, we love him because he has loved us first.

20 If anyone says, 'I love God', and hates his brother, then he is a liar. For the one who does not love his brother whom he has seen, how can he love God whom he has not seen.

21 And we have this commandment from him: the one who loves God must also love his brother. [Evil is that which is intentional and unjustifiable in the eyes of any assembly of saints, and such an assembly knows that each one acts according to his particular knowledge and circumstances. And each person must give an answer to each offense that is made against him, and depending on the nature of the offense, such an answer may simply consist of distancing oneself in a certain way.]

1 John 5

1 Whoever believes that Jesus is the Christ [foretold in the Law of Moses and the other Jewish scriptures] is born of God, and whoever really loves the Father [who is described in the Law of Moses and the other Jewish scriptures] will also love the Son who is begotten of him.

2 Now we know that we love the children of God when we love God and keep his commandments.

3 For the love of God consists in keeping his commandments. And his commandments are not burdensome.

4 For whoever is born of God overcomes the world, and the victory that overcomes the world is our faith.

5 Who is the one who will overcome the world if not the one who believes that Jesus is the Son of God.

6 It is that Jesus Christ who came with water and blood. He did not come with water only, but with water and blood. And it is this Spirit who bears witness, and the Spirit is the truth.

7 For there are three who bear witness.

8 The Spirit, and the water, and the blood. And these three witnesses agree. [Now the Spirit is the spirit of Christ who dwells in every disciple. And the water is the testimony of the one who saw this thing when a soldier pierced Jesus, while he was on the cross and dead according to the flesh. And the blood is the testimony of those who were his companions when he was an ordinary man with superpowers, and who were also witnesses of his resurrection.]

9 If we receive the testimonies of men, then the testimony of God is greater. And the testimony of God is that he has borne witness to his Son.

10 Whoever believes in the Son of God has the testimony within himself. Whoever does not believe God has made him a liar, because he has not believe in the testimony that God has given concerning his Son.

11 And this is the testimony: God has given us eternal life, and this life is in his Son.

12 Whoever has the Son has that life. Whoever does not have the Son of God does not have that life.

13 I have written these things to you who believe in the name of the Son of God, so that you may know that you have eternal life, and so that you may believe in the name of the Son of God [in the right way].

14 We have this confidence in him, that if we ask something according to his will, then he listens to us.

15 And if we know that he listens to us, then whatever we ask of him, we know that we have what we have asked of him.

16 If anyone sees that his brother has committed a sin that does not lead to death, then he should ask [in prayer] and God will give him life, concerning those whose sin does not lead to death. There is a sin that leads to death. I am not saying that you should pray concerning it.

17 All unrighteousness is sin, but there is such a sin that does not lead to death.

18 We know that anyone who is born of God does not continue to sin. For the one who is born of God keeps himself, and the evil one does not overcome him.

19 And we know that we are of God, and that the whole world is under the power of the evil one.

20 And we know that the Son of God has come, and has given us understanding, so that we may know him who is true. And we are in him who is true, in his Son Jesus Christ. This is the true God, and eternal life.

21 Little children, keep yourselves from idols.

4 Rommel 1

1 Introduction.

2 Rigorously it is legitimate to designate a living being by any information that it has actually created in the world and whose evolution, over time and under the effect of various interactions, has produced such or such other describable consequence.

3 With this approach an identity does not disappear when the living being becomes inert and a notion of eternal life is scientifically possible.

4 One is present in eternal life when one has contributed physically or morally to the genealogy of something that exists, a material object or knowledge. And this contribution is exactly the form of our heavenly body.

5 However, at best one imagines a density of presence of such person in such accessible reality but this definition of eternal life does not allow the scientist to carry out a hierarchy of responsibilities so as to be able to clarify the religious notions of hell and heaven.

6 In other words, to be saved directly or to be saved only through fire (eventually by undergoing a progressive eradication of one’s presence in eternal life to leave at most a disgusting memory - Deuteronomy 29:20 - John 6:47-50,51-58 - Numbers 14:21-23,27-32 - Luke 20:34-38).

7 A different analysis helps to understand this classification.

8 The world around us seems to be changing in two ways in any place at any time. There are modifications whose origin is simply a natural phenomenon which does not involve any direct contribution of a living being.

9 And there are modifications undertaken by a living being in order to satisfy at least one of the three fundamental desires namely: (a) Solve what seems to be a problem for one's well-being. (b) Obtain from certain others physical or moral compensation. (c) Contribute to the development of those who may resemble oneself in their search for a purpose in their lives.

10 A state of mind is a superimposition of one or more fundamental desires.

11 And whatever its state of mind at an arbitrarily chosen moment in its existence, a living being modifies the world by carrying out either an innovation or an imitation of a knowledge transmitted to it by specific sources.

12 The perceptible universe is therefore transformed by a combination of natural causes, and imitations and innovations based on a set of knowledge acquired and carried out under different states of mind by living beings.

13 Here is the message of faith in Jesus Christ.

14 Each heavenly body is described by an abstract concept that characterizes its impact on those who are physically alive. Every physical being is an embodiment of an abstract concept in the sense that its actions, which depend on the information at its disposal, are always consistent with its intrinsic nature (Jeremiah 1:5 - Romans 8:29).

15 There is a state of mind called the holy spirit. It is the deep conviction of being well-intentioned in relation to arbitrarily chosen strangers in society.

16 This spirit is the friend of Abraham, and the mighty of Jacob, and the shadow of David, and the master of the great kings Nebuchadnezzar and Cyrus, and the God of Israel.

17 All ordinary human beings are born without being indwelt by the holy spirit and without having knowledge of this notion therefore they must commit sins because by definition a sin is only a wilful or involuntary offense towards God the holy spirit (Jeremiah 22:13-16 - Psalms 14:1-7 - 24:1-10 - 1 Chronicles 28:9 - Luke 21:14-15).

18 The holy spirit can be offended between conception and birth, before coming out of the womb.

19 And when one acquires knowledge of this notion, one cannot be indwelt by the holy spirit without obtaining in some way from those who are still physically alive, if we have the possibility, forgiveness of those whom we have actually offended without any publicly acceptable motivation.

[But since the holy spirit is a state of mind, a person can acquire the holy spirit by understanding what needs to be done and by making a firm inner resolution to do it.]

20 For in eternal life we are not what we are credited with but what we have actually done (2 Rommel 6 - 4 Rommel 6:21-22).

21 Or without having ourselves forgiven those who have offended us, but forgiveness does not mean forgetting and ignoring it by not taking appropriate precautions at a later stage (1 Corinthians 5:9-13). David's sin was forgiven but he still received a punishment (2 Samuel 12:10-14).

22 The acquisition of the holy spirit makes a person a new creature through the concerns that now constitute one's motivations (2 Corinthians 6:14-18 - Colossians 3:1-11 - Philippians 4:8-9).

23 Not everyone is destined for eternal life (1 John 2:19-20) since one is led to eternal shame by blasphemy against the holy spirit, when one commits any sin after acquiring a perfect knowledge of this notion.

24 Our actions always depend on the totality of the information that is at our disposal in real time and it is only works carried out under the influence of the holy spirit (3 Rommel 1:16-17) that are strengthened (2 Chronicles 20:34-37 – 25:5-10 - Psalms 101 - 133 - Proverbs 31:1-9 - Jeremiah 45 - Ecclesiastes 3:14 - Malachi 1:1-5), possibly in the form of an accumulated experience (Jeremiah 36), so as to endure eternally by their admirable consequences (1 Rommel 3:30-32 - 2 Chronicles 9:7-8 - John 17:1-3 - Ephesians 1:15-19,20-23 - Psalms 90–91).

25 In eternal life innovations shine as stars and imitations shine as the splendor of sky, God having prepared for each elect an original achievement likely to be indefinitely imitated by those who know about it (2 Kings 7:1-9 - John 14:1-2).

4 Rommel 2

1 Motivation (John 6:29 - Proverbs 1:7), first part: Searching for the God of scientists.

2 He created everything, the heavenly bodies and the earthly bodies, and he manifested himself to different people of different peoples and chose some to keep written records.

3 He freed them from slavery under the guidance of Moses who gives the people laws to practice and prophecies. Obedience assures them a peaceful life and disobedience subjects them to servitude to other communities (Deuteronomy 4:25-31,32-40).

4 So much so that the good conscience of one of them towards a great king allows them to obtain permission to defend themselves in the book of Esther.

5 And later comes someone who claims to be the door of the sheep and the light of the world. And his disciples say of the newcomer that he is the heir of everything, and that in fact he was there from the beginning.

6 Does a scientist have the right to seek the purpose of life through one's his specialty or through any source of information.

7 Jean Thill: I think that these questions are not helpful to save your Soul.

8 Answer: The words of truth are always paradoxical, Lao Tzu.

9 Science does not establish all of the phenomena that occur in nature, but allows us to reject what is not consistent with a specific set of hypotheses. One cannot affirm that science is contrary to faith without having first clarified what this faith consists of, and my faith is not based on Adam and Eve and Paradise but rather on this proposition P: Truth is the light of men.

10 This observation appeared to me while reading the gospels and the apostles, I would not have done it alone. And I interpret it in these other words: God is the notion of truth.

11 My proof of proposition P comes from an obvious paradox. Indeed, if there exists a theory, a system of hypotheses, that makes it possible to prove that P is false, then this demonstration of the falsity of P can be considered as the only lie that claims to enlighten men.

12 A pagan imagines that a few little lies can serve just causes. The one who blasphemes is the one who falsifies the results or the interpretation of the process of constructing a physics experiment for the sole purpose of promoting a certain theory. Blaspheming is lying in the name of truth and I think that truth is a relative notion.

13 Alexander Yurkin: When to me there were so many years as to you, I thought too that the truth is a relative concept, but there was it no so. There is such Ancient Greek logical paradox: ‘All Cretans lie, Cretan Brut has told’. The truth was told by Cretan Brut or he has told a lie? For 2,5 thousand years nobody could give the answer to this question. (Reference: Crete is the main Greek island on which there lived antique Greeks, and now there live modern Greeks.)

14 Answer: I esteem Jesus of Nazareth. It is because of him and his apostles that I know that I must worship and serve the truth itself, the truth that is within me, and not the people who claim to possess it or the objects that are said to shelter it.

15 a. If the Cretan citizen has not lied in relation to his relative truth, then he really thinks deeply that all Cretans lie. b. If the Cretan Brut has lied about his relative truth, then he deeply thinks inside himself that there may be Cretans who do not lie. Alexander I think that (a) leads to a contradiction while (b) is mathematically acceptable since the Cretan Brut is not God. My solution is therefore that Cretan Brut is a liar.

16 It could be argued that a paradox is logical in nature when it can be analyzed using the definition that truth is the conformity between what a person transmits and what that person actually knows. And that a paradox that is not of a logical nature is of a semantic nature.

17 This approach to truth is not a semantic theory of truth but rather a correspondence of truth with an idealist position. According to my approach, if I consider that a person is crazy then I must admit that this person can be wrong but cannot be a liar because, because of his madness, everything he transmits is consistent with his knowledge.

18 This is a common practice in society when individuals declare that others are or are not responsible for the facts they produce. Indeed, even if a person tells the truth, he can only provide satisfactory answers, including silence, if he is asked the right questions. Thus, since a madman is never considered a liar in all human societies and is not held responsible for his actions, truth is a relative notion.

19 Job spoke according to his heart (Job 6:1-10,25-30 - 7:11-16 - 9:15) and Elihu spoke according to his heart (Job 32:1-10 - 33:1-3). And despite their opposition, both were approved by the angel of God (Job 34:31-37 - 42:7). For the three friends of Job have simply made poetry without being truly imbued with the holy spirit, since they condemn him for a sin that they cannot identify (1 Rommel 1:33) while Elihu condemns him for an arrogant reaction. Nevertheless Elihu acted with the intention of comforting Job and in his way of doing so, he chose not to put himself completely in Job's place because the spirit of the Lord does not flourish in despair (Job 32:1-5 - 33:31-33 - 37:19 - 2 Chronicles 5:11-14 - 7:1-3) but rather in the search for improvement (Ecclesiastes 7:1-4). Job did not lose hope of meeting his God after his death (Job 19:25-29), but he preferred that this death take place as soon as possible because he did not want to endure the suffering any longer. And Job says that he has been righteous for as long as he can remember (Job 10:1-2 - 27:1-7), but he also recognizes that an ordinary person cannot have been completely righteous from birth (Job 13:26 - 14:4).

20 And in addition, the Bible claims to describe the God of scientists (Proverbs 1:7 - John 1:3-4).

21 If we are to trust only Christ (2 Peter 3:1-2 - Jeremiah 9:4-5) because we cannot identify with certainty those who truly love God (1 Kings 13:7-32 - Jeremiah 17:5-10).

22 And that Christ's servants are to be seen only as examples to be followed (Philippians 3:15-21 - 1 Peter 5:1-5) and never as gods (Philippians 3:1-3 - 2 Peter 2:1-2 - 1 Thessalonians 5:21).

23 Then why should anyone else be trusted.

24 And here those who receive tithes are mortal men. But there it is one of whom it is witnessed that he is alive. And to put it bluntly, Levi who receives the tithe paid the tithe through Abraham. For he was still in the waist of his father when Melchizedek went to meet Abraham (Hebrews 7:8-10). Additionally, there were many priests because death prevented them from being permanent. But this man, because he remains eternally, has a priesthood that is not transferable (Hebrews 7:23-24).

25 Obey those who have power over you [in matters of faith] and submit yourselves. For they watch over your souls as having to give account. Let it be so, so that they may do it with joy and not with grief because this is not profitable for you (Hebrews 13:17).

26 Hell must not simply mean falling into oblivion, but also a permanent memory of what is not to be done and that has not been forgiven in some way (Jeremiah 20:10-11 - 23:33-40 - Ezekiel 13:1-9 - Zechariah 1:1-5,6 - John 8:21-24). Jeroboam is the first king of the kingdom of Israel which was created after the separation of the people of Israel into two kingdoms [Saul and David and Solomon are the only ones to have reigned over all of Jacob]. And the punishment of Jeroboam was carried out by Baasha the third king of the kingdom of Israel (1 Kings 14:1-9,10-16 - 15:25-30), and nevertheless the sin of Jeroboam remained throughout the existence of the kingdom of Israel (2 Kings 13:1-13 - 14:23-27 - 17:21-23 - Amos 4:1-5,6-13) and continues to exist in our memories. And during the whole time of the patience of God (2 Peter 3:15 - Ecclesiastes 8:11-13 - 4 Rommel 6:19-20), there have been people pleasing to God in the kingdom of Israel like king Jehu who created his own legacy in the form of the knowledge that we have of his behavior, despite the fact that he did not renounce the bad social organization that had been instituted by Jeroboam (1 Kings 12:26-31 - 2 Chronicles 11:1-12,13-17 - 13:1-12 - 2 Kings 10:28-31). But Jehu had also destroyed Ahaziah king of Judah and his family without being asked (Hosea 1:1-5 - 1 Rommel 3:20). And in those days of the patience of God regarding the memory of Jeroboam in the kingdom of Israel, Yahweh used Joash king of Israel to punish Amaziah king of Judah concerning a personal transgression (2 Chronicles 25). And there were also good prophets [namely true prophets] in the kingdom of Israel like Elijah the Tishbite and Elisha, and others who have been mentioned, and all those who transmitted this knowledge to us, but Yahweh was not patient any longer because of the behavior of the people (Amos 5–8). Moreover, Manasseh has caused the destruction of the kingdom of Judah (2 Kings 21:1-16 - 24:1-4 - 2 Chronicles 33:1-9 - Jeremiah 15:1-4,5-7 - 19:1-5,6-15 - 32:29-35) but we also have the memory of his repentance (2 Chronicles 33:10-17). And it was the behavior of the people in the kingdom of Judah that did not encourage Yahweh to be patient any longer (Jeremiah 4:1-4,5-10 - 22:1-4,5-9 - 26:1-6,7-15 - 36:1-4,16-26 - 38:14-23 - 34:1-7,8-22 - 52:1-11 - Ezekiel 8:1-6,7-18 - 17:12-21 - 2 Chronicles 36:1-13,14-16 - 2 Kings 25:1-7 - The book of Jeremiah is not written in chronological order, but in thematic groupings - Jeremiah 36:32), as he was patient during the days of Josiah (2 Kings 22:11-20 - 23:25-27). Now it can be deduced from the scriptures that some of the people obey the word of Jeremiah every time that he repeats the same warnings, while there is a part of the people who choose the hardness of heart (Jeremiah 21:8-12 - 37:11-16 - 38:1-5,17-20).

27 Similarly, in Galatians 5:3 'μαρτύρομαι δὲ πάλιν' cannot mean 'I attest' or 'I declare' but rather 'I protest' as indicated by some commentators who choose to assume that the word protest is used here to reinforce an argument and not to contest it. Yet it is evident that in the same document and the other letters associated with the apostles Paul and Peter and John, the teaching is that salvation comes only from faith in Christ (Galatians 5:6-12 - Acts 10:34-43 - 15:5-11) and not from the practice of the law namely the Moses' pedagogical law.

28 But Christ does not forbid honoring the Levites while the physical temple which is their workplace is not yet destroyed (Deuteronomy 10:5-9 - 18:1-8 - Isaiah 42:3 - Luke 5:12-14 - 11:42 - Acts 6:1-7,8-15 - Luke 21:5-8 - 14:34-35 - 4 Rommel 12:50-52).

29 Furthermore, the content of the Hebrew Bible is said to be identical to that of the Old Testament of the Protestant Bible and is different from that of the Old Testament of the Roman Catholic Church and that of the Old Testament of the Eastern Orthodox Church.

30 And it is said that since the first centuries there have been discussions, in which honest and dishonest people might have participated, about the admissibility of the various books that constitute the current canon of the New Testament for their conformity to the teachings of Jesus of Nazareth. Either because of the content or because of the supposed authors.

31 For example, some documents about the teachings of Jesus of Nazareth contain structural contradictions that concern more than just circumstantial details (2 Kings 24:8 - 2 Chronicles 36:9 - Genesis 46:27 - Exodus 1:5 - Acts 7:13-15 - Acts 9:1-9 - 22:1-11) having no consequence on the useful teachings that the reader is supposed to extract from the texts (2 Kings 2:23-25 - 1 Corinthians 10:6). And there are only a few instances in the Bible in which the books were written and successively copied through the centuries by ordinary men, and some of them were simply possessed by the holy spirit.

32 This is the case of the Gospel of Thomas where we can notice the opposition between these two verses: (12) The disciples said to Jesus, We are aware that you will depart from us. Who will be our leader. And Jesus answered, No matter where you come from, it is to James the Just that you should go, for whose sake heaven and earth have come to exist. (77) Jesus said, It is I who am the light that presides over all. It is I who am the entirety. It is from me that the entirety has come, and to me that the entirety goes. Split a piece of wood, and I am inside. Lift a stone, and you will find me underneath.

33 And we can also notice that unlike the Gospel of John (John 1:17-18), the message of the epistle of James is not consistent with the Hebrew Bible (Deuteronomy 13:1-4 - 32:39-40 - Judges 2:2-3,21-23) and that is why I reject his work (Luke 11:17-18). For James has said the following thing.

34 Let no man say when he is tempted, It is God who is tempting me. For God cannot be tempted by evil, and he himself tempts no one (James 1:13).

35 Moreover, the main sacred text of Islam, the muslim religion, was revealed nearly six centuries after the story of Jesus of Nazareth according to what is said. And Jesus is mentioned there as a prophet sent to the Jewish people, and it is affirmed there that God cannot have sons and that it is a sin to worship as God a man or his mother who conceived him in virginity.

36 O People of the Book. Do not go to extremes regarding your faith, and say nothing about Allah except the truth. The messiah Jesus, the son of Miriam, was no more than a messenger of Allah and the fulfilment of his word through Miriam, and a spirit created by a command from him. So believe in Allah and his messengers and do not say, Trinity. Stop, for your own good. Allah is only one God. Glory be to him, he is far above having a son. To him belongs whatever is in the heavens and whatever is on the earth. And Allah is sufficient as administrator of affairs (Quran 4:171).

37 Those who say, Allah is the messiah, the son of Miriam. They have certainly fallen into disbelief. For the messiah himself said, O children of Israel, worship Allah my Lord and your Lord. Therefore, anyone who associates others with Allah in worship will surely be forbidden Paradise by Allah. Their home will be the fire, and the wrongdoers will have no helpers. Those who say, Allah is one in the Trinity, they have certainly fallen into disbelief because there is only one God. If they continue to say this, those among them who disbelieve will be afflicted with a painful punishment. Will they not turn to Allah to repent and ask for his forgiveness? And Allah is forgiving and merciful. The Messiah the son of Miriam was only a messenger. Many messengers had come and gone before him. And his mother was a supporter of truth, and they both used to eat food. Look how clearly we explain the signs to them, and then look how they are deluded (Quran 5:72-75).

38 And on Judgment Day Allah will say, O Jesus the son of Miriam. Did you ever ask the people to worship you and your mother as gods besides Allah. And he will answer, Glory be to You. How could I ever say what I had no right to say? If I had said such a thing, you would have certainly known it. You know what is hidden within me, but I do not know what is within you. Indeed, You alone are the knower of all unseen. I never told them anything except what you ordered me to say, Worship Allah my Lord and your Lord. And I was witness over them as long as I remained among them. But when you took me, you were the witness over them and you are a witness over all things. If you punish them, they belong to You after all. But if you forgive them, you are surely the Almighty, All-Wise (Quran 5:116-118).

39 They say, The Most Compassionate has offspring. You have certainly made an outrageous claim, by which the heavens are about to burst, and the earth to split apart, and the mountains to crumble to pieces, in protest of attributing children to the Most Compassionate. It does not befit the majesty of the Most Compassionate to have children. There is none in the heavens or the earth who will not return to the Most Compassionate in full submission. Allah has never had any offspring, nor is there any god besides him. Otherwise, each god would have taken away what he created, and they would have tried to dominate one another. Glorified is Allah above what they claim. He is the knower of the seen and unseen. Exalted is he above what they associate with him (Quran 19:88-93 - 23:91).

40 My design is distinguished by the precise answers given to the following questions concerning the role that christianity can attribute to Jesus of Nazareth within judaism.

41 If there is a creator and a divine will that we must know then what is the definition of a sin and how does someone obtain the forgiveness of his sins (Zechariah 8:16-17 - John 8:23-25).

42 If Jesus of Nazareth is the king who announces the good news to all nations, and if the temple of God is his body, then who are the authorized intermediaries between him and his people. And how does he convey his instructions to his people (Zechariah 6:12-13 - John 2:18-22).

43 Dora Simunovic: Let me tell you a (legendary, semi-mythical) story of the Spartan king Leonidas and the Persian emperor Xerxes. Persia was keen to invade Greece, including Sparta, and take over their control of the Eastern Mediterranean. Persia was a vastly larger empire, much richer and more powerful. But Spartans were famous warriors who lived in karst mountain mazes. It was going to be a difficult fight to invade Sparta, especially if the other Greek tribes joined in to help them. As it happened, the other Greek tribes did not join due to Persian political meddling.

44 So Xerxes wrote one last letter to Leonidas, saying, “If we conquer your land by force, we will kill your sons, rape your women, main your soldiers, slaughter your cattle, burn your fields and sow them with salt. Give up your arms, and you will be spared this fate!” Leonidas replied, “If”. (This is how it is often remembered. In reality, Leonidas was even cooler than that. When Xerxes told him to give up his arms, Leonidas wrote back, “Come and take them”.).

45 I say the same to you. “If”. If the temple of god is the body of Jesus, etc. Well, why would we accept this? This is just another claim you are adding to a set of your other claims. Where is the evidence? Why do you believe this? What convinced you in the first place?

46 But it goes beyond that, Rommel! How much do you know of the history of the Bible? I do not mean “Biblical history”, but the history of the actual book! Because, if you wish to claim that Mark and Matthew are fake, while Luke and John are better sources for the life of a historical Jesus, you are in disagreement with the vast majority of scholars whose job it is to know these things.

47 With a minimum of research, you will find that Mark is, to the best of our knowledge, the oldest of the canonical gospels. It is also probably the oldest document about Jesus, with the possible exception of the Gospel of Phillip - which is not even in the Bible, just like the First and Second Apocalypse of Peter, Gospel of Mary Magdalene, Gospel of Judas, and countless others are not in the Bible.

48 In the end, what is in that book, what is out of it, is almost totally arbitrary. I am glad that you agree there are clear moral absurdities in the Bible. However, I still don’t understand how they can be isolated to Judaism, Catholicism and/or Islam? Aren’t you just attacking your ideological / denominational opposition, while ignoring the contradictions in your own denomination?

49 Besides, it is useless to try and convince me that Catholicism, Judaism and Islam are senseless. I already agree - but I include Protestantism, Hinduism, Mormonism, Shinto, and the others into this group as well.

50 Answer: I am not an eyewitness to the events that would have occurred during the exodus under Moses, nor to the words and actions of Jesus of Nazareth about which there are different versions, nor to the exchanges between King Leonidas and Emperor Xerxes (I really enjoyed your presentation).

51 What is interesting is to wonder, regardless of supposed historical facts, what teaching is scientifically acceptable or not. If during our exchange you voluntarily give me false information that I cannot verify, for example about the Gospel of Philip and its anteriority or its use by the other authors of the Gospels, I can logically only accept them if I find it useful for me because I have no reason to trust anyone when I have reached a certain maturity (Micah 7:5-6 - Isaiah 2:22).

52 If I say that God exists and that righteousness is his only will in the lives of men, how have I offended knowledge or science. If my own denomination is described in this way, what contradictions do I ignore.

53 When I realized, reading the writings of the apostles, that this is the only message they want to convey each in their own way (2 Peter 3:1-4), and that this is consistent with the structure of the Hebrew Bible, then I began to seek the face of Jesus-Christ in every excerpt of the Old Testament, after rejecting the writings that disfigure him in the canon of the New Testament (which included the Gospels according to Matthew and Mark).

54 It is not a question of proving the historicity of the events presented but of observing that they are instructive for the understanding of God whose identity is defined independently of the biblical verses.

55 Even in medicine, observation (the collection of data by a human subject, which can be used to propose theories) is an integral part of the scientific method, and this implicitly presupposes the righteousness and impartiality of the humans involved. Thus the Bible is simply one of the observations available to the investigators.

56 If I cannot of course pronounce on the reality of the events described in these texts, I will not however trust the one who claims to have made research on the basis of his/her current knowledge and proved that Moses and the Exodus could not exist. I am satisfied to note that some communities have these scriptures in their traditions (Isaiah 43:9-13 - Romans 15:8-12).

57 If I say that God exists and that righteousness and fairness are His only will in the life of men (Exodus 23:1-8 - Isaiah 28:17), then how have I offended knowledge. Why should I be ashamed of such monotheism (Galatians 3:23-26).

58 Is it a matter of faith when it is stated that scientists have eternal life through their contributions to human knowledge (Luke 17:20-21 - 1 John 2:15-17).

59 (a) I argue that if a single book was to be retained among all those who make up the New Testament (including the Gospels), it would be the Epistle First John although the author chose nuances in these expressions so that subtly addressing those who already think that the Hebrew

Bible was inspired by God. This epistle contains everything there is to know, provided you know how to bring together different verses in order to grasp their true meaning. And if any notion is not there it is simply because it is a useless notion (1 John 5:20-21).

60 (b) I claim that if my goal is to reach eternal life, all I have to do is behave so that I always have a good conscience. It means having the conviction that a court of saints, which is aware of all the aspects that I know about the case, all the antecedents to my knowledge and my most intimate motivations, will not state any condemnation against me. If I think that I need to omit or falsify any aspect of the elements of which I am aware, then I must know that I am committing a sin. And this sin will not be forgiven if I have already realized from myself previously, with conviction, that it is those who do not commit such sins who obtain eternal life (1 John 3:3-7,20-21 - John 7:1-10,11-14 - Luke 11:37-41).

61 (c) I claim that a person is a christian if that person behaves always and ever so as to want to reach eternal life, and that a person who has not yet been a christian can become a christian. This implies that I cannot judge a person about a case if I do not know everything that this person know about this case. And it also implies that a person who calls himself a christian is not necessarily a christian (1 John 2:3-6 - 4:1-3).

62 More clearly, God is the abstract concept of truth, and his only begotten Son is the abstract concept of love of the general interest, and the holy spirit is the inner conviction of being well-intentioned not with respect to a particular person or community but with respect to the rest of the world.

63 Ordinary men are incarnations of abstract concepts and are born in darkness, their light being the eternal life that is found in the only begotten Son of God whose first incarnation was Jesus of Nazareth, a character filled with the holy spirit from birth. [During the rebuilding of the house of Yahweh by the people who returned from the Babylonian captivity and from elsewhere, it happened that the high priest Joshua (Ezra 3:8-9 - 5:1-2 - Haggai 1:1-2 - Zechariah 6:9-12) has appeared in a vision of the prophet Zechariah (Zechariah 1:7-10 - 3:1-2), and one of the angels of Yahweh who has appeared in that vision has informed us that Joshua is not the only man who had appeared there (Zechariah 3:3-4,5-8). And it can happen that reality is indistinguishable from the dream (Acts 12:5-11 - 2 Corinthians 12:1-4), and some people may have the gift of seeing those who are already dead according to the flesh (1 Samuel 28:7-14 - Luke 9:27-36).]

64 Our actions are consistent with our intrinsic nature and necessarily depend on the information available. We survive by the impact we have had in the lives of others, as the abstract concept of which we have been the embodiment. [This is how the behavior of a person can be known before his existence in the physical world (4 Rommel 1:14 - Genesis 25:20-23 - Romans 9:11-13 - Malachi 1:1-3), and this is how Jesus can return to a place where he was before his existence in the physical world (Luke 1:35-37 - John 6:61-63 - 16:27-28).]

65 Everything that occurs in nature is a realization of God, and any action of men that is not done by the only begotten Son of God is by definition a work of the Devil.

66 Finally, the separation between faith and science is neither in the definition of the Father and the Son and the holy spirit, nor in the definition of the notion of eternal life.

67 But on the one hand in the assertion that these are the works of God the holy spirit that are established for eternity so as to preserve indefinitely through their consequences a useful and admirable trace in the perceptible universe (Proverbs 12:19 - 2 Chronicles 9:7-8 - Habakkuk 2:9-14 - Ephesians 2:8-10).

68 And on the other hand in the consideration of the fact that, since the notion of sin is individual, our sins can influence the quality of the persecutions that will be imposed on them (Exodus 34:5-7 - Numbers 14:26-32,33-35), but the works of our offspring, whose existence involves not one person but at least a couple, are not directly attributed to us (1 Corinthians 3:15 - 7:7-9 - 1 Rommel 3:14-16,30-32).

69 Jonathan David Doolin: Another question for you is how do you see the "Advocate" role in John 16? Are all ambiguities in the Bible fully wrapped up by you, or might the "Spirit of Truth" still have more to say? If the latter, we might have a rich discussion ahead of us. If the former, I will still do my best to give the Book of Rommel a once-over, and provide some rubrics for how I agree or disagree with your claims.

70 Answer: My initial work consisted of finding a mathematical formalism that would give meaning to the notion of relative immobility in a universal way, and to the coherence that the theory of special relativity established between electrostatics and the other universal experimental laws of electromagnetism (Biot and Savart, Lorentz force, Faraday's law of induction). It was therefore a matter of describing a certain form of the principle of Mach, by highlighting properties that can theoretically be attributed to electric charges when their motions are arbitrary in relation to an arbitrary observer. I knew that I was looking for something that is different from general relativity where we use a notion of tangent space that is mathematically different from real space when we want to describe observations in the vicinity of any experimenter, and that I was looking for something deeper than quantum mechanics in which notions of probabilities of presence and experiments such as Young's interference experiment cannot question the fact that each experimenter must possess a three-dimensional space (which is a real portion of the physical universe in the immediate vicinity of the experimenter) and a temporal variable. In a way, my thought was vaguely expressed by this quote from the physicist John Stewart Bell: The concept of 'measurement' becomes so fuzzy on reflection that it is quite surprising to have it appearing in physical theory at the most fundamental level... does not any analysis of measurement require concepts more fundamental than measurement? And should not the fundamental theory be about these more fundamental concepts?

71 So I began to take a serious interest in religion because of my desire to describe a certain form of the principle of Mach, which must take into account everything that exists. I had no idea how religion should intervene in the principle of Mach, but I knew that this unification was not impossible from the moment when I looked at the Bible as stories used to explain the holy commandment of Jesus Christ. It was towards the end of 2021 that it became clear in my mind that the teaching of the Bible is that living beings do not die but change form [because I had already understood that the bible teaches that humans do not die, but I had not yet understood that they simply change form in the physical world], and it must be less than two months since I thought that this may have a connection with the fact that objects do not disappear in experimental physics but transform themselves by possibly modifying the states of other objects around them.

72 Now the fact of describing everything as an incarnation of an abstract concept gives a mathematical framework that allows one to hope to understand how Moses' staff could have become a snake and once again become a stick (Exodus 7:8-17), but I do not know how an inert object can become a living being. In John 16:7-16, Jesus explains that he must leave the world of the living so that the Comforter (which is an advanced form of holy spirit) can be accessible, that is to say that the comforter is accessible through Jesus who is always alive among us. Therefore, Jesus and the comforter are alive within believers (John 14:22-24), and they allow the believer to find the most useful concrete solutions to improve the quality of interactions between humans, with the aim of creating a harmony in the world to bring back Jesus who will change the world into something glorious.

73 So until the end of time the Holy Spirit will always have things to say, since he is the one who is supposed to guide us properly in everything that we do, whatever we are doing.

74 Now I remember that I met Jonathan Doolin in July or early August 2020, when I designed most of the content of 4 Rommel 5 in order to respond to a special document that he had sent to me. And I want to specify that I remember that I had completely finished designing the content of 4 Rommel 2:59-61 two or three days before giving it as a response on the first of April 2019 to Larry Carlson who had been kind enough to interact with me [and this understanding of the Epistle of First John already included the content of 4 Rommel 11:32-39 which I specified later]. Thank you Larry the Aesthetics.

4 Rommel 3

1 Motivation (John 6:29 - Proverbs 1:7), second part: Personal thoughts inspired by christian scriptures.

2 Do whatever you want, but never rush to do anything, no matter how urgent the situation. Always take a minimum of time to analyze the situation and gather information in order to be convinced to keep a good conscience in relation to everyone at the same time, even unknown people. And do not forget that you could become what you do.

3 Christian faith is not generosity towards anyone but rather firmness in good conscience towards everyone at the same time, absolutely everyone and not just a few people otherwise it would be idolatry.

4 The Christian Cross, the sweet sacrifice: to consider at every moment an assembly of a few people likely to be honest and randomly chosen from all over the population, and to wonder if knowing all I know and nothing but what I know, they would approve or condemn what I am doing.

5 I learned to recognize the hand of God in each of my interactions with anyone or anything, and I know that if he is not experiencing my faith in Jesus Christ then it is a mission he entrusts to me.

6 All ordinary men are born in darkness and must commit sins. But while the children of God who were elected before the foundation of the world felt shame or acted out of ignorance before the days of their conversions, the demons rather experienced pleasure when they carried out reprehensible works.

7 Never rejoice at the misfortune of your enemies but be saddened by the fact that God did not grant them repentance so that you could support them as a friend would have done.

8 The commonality between a demon and a child and a spiritually immature person is that each of them knows in his heart that some of his actions or words can only be properly justified by someone else. Indeed, even one who uses a technology that he did not conceive must at least be convinced to triumph on the day of judgment by his objective.

9 When can we think that Christ is the motive. The motive is Christ when we seek the interest of all in general and no one in particular. The motive is Christ when one can justify one's actions with confidence by taking into account all the antecedents of which one is aware. The motive is Christ when we want to explain that the inheritance of God (membership to the Israel of God) is not distributed according to genealogies but according to faith in the holy commandment.

10 Every masterpiece is noticed spontaneously. What is appreciated in more time is of a lower quality.

11 If absolutely no one can accuse me publicly by evoking the entire history of our relationship as evidence, without omitting anything, then I do not commit any sin.

12 If you think that you will be accused if what you want to do was shown to randomly selected strangers from all of humanity, explaining to them all the details of the context to your knowledge, then resist and do not do it because the fear of God is the beginning of wisdom and even sins committed in the times of ignorance, in the distant past, must have consequences.

13 When they make any archaeological discovery that they manage to situate in time with a certain precision, what motivates them to share and make public their results if it is not the exact identity of Christ and the purpose of life. Let them answer the question so that everything is clear once and for all for everyone.

14 While an abstract concept exists independently of real life situations, the precise actions of one of its incarnations necessarily depend on the multitude of subtleties which constitute the particular context in which it finds itself.

4 Rommel 4

1 The Father and the Son and the holy spirit (John 1:17 - 10:30), first part: The Trinity.

2 Our intrinsic nature and the totality of information at our disposal determine our actions. Jonah did not know the exact definition of eternal life but just a vague idea of what it is (Job 14:10-15 - 1 Rommel 1:33), and he would prefer that God send someone else to make a fool of himself by announcing a real disaster that will never happen (Jonah 1:1-3 - 4:1-11). It is possible that the angels have already used him in this way a number of times, and it is for this reason that Jonah had fled, but we can think that Jonah is not perfect (Jonah 4:5-11 - 1 Rommel 3:20).

3 And Jesus of Nazareth announces the following good news: We do not die, we simply change form (Zechariah 1:1-5,6 - Philippians 1:23-24 - Luke 20:34-38 - John 6:47-51 - 8:48-52 - 11:23-26 - 12:23-26,27-34 - 1 Corinthians 15:35-50 - 2 Timothy 1:9-10 - 1 Peter 3:18 - 1 John 3:1-2).

4 We become exactly the information that we have created in the world (John 6:51-60,61-63 - Acts 25:19 - 1 John 2:4 - 3:6 - 4:4 - 4 Rommel 1:20 - 1 Corinthians 6:13-14 - 2 Corinthians 4:10-12 - Galatians 4:19 - 1 Thessalonians 2:19-20 - 3:1-8) and whose evolution depends solely on natural phenomena and those who are physically alive, in other words on God the Father. [Even in experimental physical sciences (4 Rommel 1:8-12 - Colossians 2:1-3,4-9), any object that exists in the physical world does only one of the following two things, or both at the same time: (a) It transforms itself into another object by undergoing modifications of any kind. (b) It contributes in one way or another to the changes of states of the other objects of the physical world.]

5 God the Father is the abstract concept of truth. Everything that happens in nature is his work (Proverbs 16:1,9,33 - 19:21 - 20:24 - Amos 3:6 - Jeremiah 10:23 - Job 23:13-17 - Ephesians 2:10).

6 And it is his angels, heavenly bodies, who speak to men in visions or dreams (Genesis 22:11-16 - 31:11-13 - Exodus 3:2-6 - 24:9-12 - 33:18-20 - Hosea 12:3-5 - Daniel 9:21-22 - 10:12-13,20-21 - Luke 1:18-20,26-31 - John 1:18 - Acts 12:5-11). For there are visions (Ezekiel 1:1-28 - 3:22-24 - Acts 10:1-8), and there are dreams (Genesis 20:1-8 - Jeremiah 31:23-26), and sometimes the prophet can just hear a voice in his head (1 Samuel 9:14-19 - Acts 10:17-22).

7 When we are unjust, it always allows God to accomplish purposes but our guilt remains because of the purpose of life (Romans 3:5-8 - 1 Kings 14:1-16 - 16:1-7,8-20 - Ezekiel 3:16-21 - 33:1-9,20 - Acts 20:24-27 - Luke 22:21-22 - Jeremiah 9:23-24).

8 The prophets of God were those who had conversations with the angels of the holy spirit (2 Kings 9:7 - Ezekiel 14:1-11 - 20:7 - 33:30-33 - Acts 20:17-23 - 27:21-26 - 3 Rommel 1:20-21). It is the consistency of the good quality of the concerns of a person that makes him a potential prophet in the eyes of the angels of the holy spirit (Ecclesiastes 5:1-3,4-7 - Philippians 4:8 - Jeremiah 31:23-26 - Daniel 9:21-23 - 1 Corinthians 11:20-28,29-34), and it is only a question of why he thinks what he thinks and not what he thinks about.

9 God the holy spirit is the intimate conviction of being well-intentioned, not in relation to a particular person or community but in relation to arbitrarily chosen strangers in society.

10 God the Father only strengthens the works of God the holy spirit eventually over long periods of time (Psalms 119:152,160 - Ecclesiastes 3:14 - Jeremiah 9:1-9 - 22:1-5,13-18 - Philippians 2:8-11 - 1 Timothy 3:16 - Jeremiah 18:1-10,11-13) and it is in this sense that these two Gods are one and indifferently called by the same name in the holy scriptures.

11 Obeying the statutes and the commandments and the ordinances of God (Genesis 26:5 - Ezekiel 5:5-8,9-11) means obeying God the holy spirit by conforming to the customs going on in the surrounding society (Genesis 14:17-20 - Ezra 5 - Romans 13:1-7 - 1 Peter 2:13-17 - Luke 20:20-26) without ever submitting to any form of idolatry (1 Samuel 14:24-30,37-45).

12 Consequently, invoking the name of God (Genesis 4:26 - 12:6-9 - 13:1-4 - 21:33-34 - 26:24-25 - Exodus 6:1-3) means claiming or celebrating justice and fairness (2 Samuel 6:12-15 - 1 Kings 8:9 - Proverbs 21:3 - 30:2-9).

13 God the Son, also called Christ, is the abstract concept of love of general interest and Jesus of Nazareth was its first incarnation (Luke 1:35 - John 15:9-12).

14 God the Son is the only intermediary between God the holy spirit and the world (Acts 25:19 - John 14:15-19 - 10:7-16) and it is in this sense that these two Gods are one and indifferently called by the same name in the holy scriptures.

15 In a same sentence of a biblical text, each occurrence of a reference to God actually designates only one of these three Gods and not necessarily the same for the different occurrences (3 Rommel 1:10).

16 For example, since by definition everyone is in God the Father, the expression 'I am in the father' (John 14:10) can only have a particular meaning if this is translated by 'I remain in the love of the father' and since it is only the works of God the holy spirit that are loved by God the Father, the word father actually designates God the holy spirit who moreover is actually the real father of Jesus of Nazareth according to the flesh (Luke 1:34-35).

17 God the Father (Deuteronomy 32:39 - Psalms 139:1-16 - Isaiah 66:1-2), and God the Son (Genesis 49:10 - 1 Chronicles 17:11-14 - Zechariah 2:10-11 - 12:10), and God the holy spirit (Numbers 11:24-29 - 2 Samuel 23:1-4 - 1 Kings 19:1-13).

4 Rommel 5

1 The Father and the Son and the holy spirit (John 1:17 - 10:30), second part: Intrinsic nature of embodied heavenly bodies.

2 Human beings are incarnations of abstract concepts therefore each one always acts according to one’s nature but the complexity and subtleties of the different contexts can can highlight contrasts (2 Kings 21:1-16 - 2 Chronicles 33:10-17).

3 By definition, to be born by being indwelled by the holy spirit so as to be physically sinless (Romans 6:22-23 - 1 Timothy 3:16 - Luke 24:1-5), one must be an incarnation of Christ or a reincarnation of a spirit who has already had knowledge of the purpose of life after necessarily offending the holy spirit.

4 So if Jesus of Nazareth who teaches the exact knowledge of God paid a compliment following what is clearly an offense to the holy spirit (John 1:45-47 - Genesis 18:9-15) as Jonathan David Doolin pointed out to me, Jesus having the ability to see beyond physical appearance as he sees things happening at a distance (John 1:48-50), it is to teach that an ordinary person cannot be without sin and that one is a child of Israel by training one’s mind in holiness (1 Kings 15:5 - 1 Rommel 3:20).

5 Balaam who was not a member of the tribes of Israel had the gift of cursing and blessing (Numbers 22:5-6,10-12 - 23:8-10) but not being Jesus Christ he committed sins.

6 Ahithophel had the gift of discerning the way God the Father acted (2 Samuel 15:31 - 16:23 - 17:14) but not being Jesus Christ he committed sins.

7 This other remark which is not mine but Daniel Keeran's is that the virgin Mary who had the gift of giving birth to the Incarnation of Christ by the power of the holy spirit (Luke 1:30-35 - 2:8-19)

did not live without sin (Luke 2:41-50) and therefore it can be said that she was not a reincarnation of a spirit that had already known the truth.

8 Finally, Jesus of Nazareth by definition lived without sin and he had the gift of forgiving others for the sins they committed by offending their fellowmen (Luke 5:17-26) because he was the incarnation of Christ which is the concept by which these sins are erased, that is, to obtain the forgiveness of those who have been offended without possible public justification.

9 However, the manifestation of this particular gift is not always visible (Luke 7:36-48,49-50) and for a specialist of the Hebrew Bible, Jesus did nothing extraordinary except to persuade himself that he died while maintaining a good conscience in all circumstance even in relation to those who are not of his nation (Luke 4:25-27).

10 Indeed, Jesus was born of a virgin woman (Luke 1:34-35) and therefore his father is not a man but it was not a first in history (Genesis 6:1-4).

11 Jesus changed the water to wine (John 2:1-11) but Moses changed the sea to blood (Exodus 7:17-20).

12 Jesus multiplied the breads and the fishes (John 6:9-13) but Elijah multiplied the flour and the oil (1 Kings 17:14-16).

13 Jesus threatened the storm and walked on the water (Luke 8:22-25 - John 6:16-21) but Moses opened the sea (Exodus 14:21).

14 Jesus rose from the dead according to the flesh (John 11:38-44) and he himself rose (John 20:11-17) but Elijah did the same (1 Kings 17:20-24).

15 Jesus spoke with living spirits (Luke 9:28-36) but Saul also had an exchange with the spirit of Samuel (1 Samuel 28:11-15).

16 Jesus was taken up into heaven (Luke 24:50-51) but also Elijah (2 Kings 2:11).

17 And Elisha also did similar things (2 Kings 2:7-10).

4 Rommel 6

1 The pedagogy initiated through Moses (Isaiah 1:2-3 - 2 Corinthians 3:12-18), first part.

2 The necessarily imperfect laws enunciated through Moses were deliberately evil (Ezekiel 20:25) for some of those that occurred after revolts offending the holy spirit (Exodus 20:18-23 - Deuteronomy 5:22-29,30-33). [# Among the statutes that were not good in those days when the exact identity of God was still unknown, there was the fact that there was to be no mixing of the inheritances of the twelve tribes of the children of Israel (1 Rommel 3:26-27 - Numbers 36:6-9), membership in a tribe being determined by the fact that the paternal genealogy goes back to one of the twelve sons of Jacob whose name was changed in Israel. This separation could have existed geographically from the beginning (Numbers 26:52-56) but it has not be done thus (3 Rommel 1:35). # There was also the obligation to perform in the future all rituals at a single place that will be chosen from one of the tribes of Israel (Deuteronomy 12:5-8,9-26 - 4 Rommel 12:18 - 1 Rommel 3:40 - 1 Chronicles 17:1-2 - 21:15-27,28-30 - 22:1-2 - 2 Chronicles 36:11-16,17-19 - Haggai 1:1-

5,6-7,8-9 - John 4:45 - 11:55), despite the fact that the tribe of the Levites which contains the family of the priests has cities scattered throughout all the tribes of Israel (Numbers 35:1-8). But this obligation which was at the origin of the transgression of the kingdom of Israel (1 Kings 12:26-31 - 2 Chronicles 11:1-12,13-17 - 13:1-12 - 2 Kings 13:1-13 - 14:23-27 - 17:21-23 - Amos 4:1-5,6-13) was a good thing if we consider the fact that the introduction of a house of God with specific operating laws is the answer given to a transgression (Jeremiah 7:21-24 - Leviticus 21:16-24 - 1 Rommel 3:16-17,24-25 - What is the use of the Nazirites when there are on the one hand the priests the sons of Aaron and all the other Levites to work in the sanctuary of Yahweh, and on the other hand the prophets chosen by the spirit to speak the words of Yahweh - Jeremiah 5:30-31 - Haggai 1:12-15 - 2:1-5 - Zechariah 7:1-3 - Deuteronomy 18:15-19,20-22 - Numbers 6:1-8,9-12,13-18,19-21 - Amos 2:11-12 - But in those days one could take the nazirite vow in the hope of being chosen by the spirit of God to become a prophet - Numbers 6:22-27 - 15:37-41), and therefore it is supposed to disappear when the people will have received the perfect knowledge of the exact identity of Yahweh (2 Rommel 7 - John 1:29-34 - Acts 1:1-5,6-8 - Acts 20:24-28,29-35 - John 8:29-32). It is easy to note that the things that should be done in the temple of Yahweh had a pedagogical nature (4 Rommel 7:13-20,21-24 - 3 Rommel 2:28-29,30-32 - John 1:10-14 - 1 Rommel 1:37), and even before the disappearance of the temple there has been creation of assemblies in the various places of the dwellings of the people in order to teach the exact knowledge of Yahweh (4 Rommel 12:70 - Ephesians 4:8-13,14-24). # And among the judgments that were not good in those days was the fact of having to destroy and never rebuild any city in the territory given to the descendants of Jacob, when the inhabitants of that city willfully turned away from the will to serve the God of Israel (Deuteronomy 13:12-16,17-18 - Jeremiah 8:4-9 - John 9:26-29). Does this judgment included in the commandments given to the children of Israel not appear to be wonderful after Jesus Christ revealed the exact identity of the God of Israel (John 8:21-28 - 9:39-41). I repeat it, Yahweh is magnificent in holiness and worthy of praise (Deuteronomy 4:1-6,7-8 - 17:1-13), for I have found no theological error in the totality of the verses that I have identified as being able to be inspired by the holy spirit (Jeremiah 23:28-29). And I have absolutely not altered the five books of the Torah of Moses except by sometimes clarifying the meaning of the words, and I have almost not altered the other thirteen books of the history part (1 Rommel 3:45-46), and I have only deleted some verses and some chapters in all the other books.]

3 And they only allowed to learn the differences of things and prepare the life and death of Jesus of Nazareth who had to explain the substance of the ten commandments (Exodus 20:1-17 - Deuteronomy 4:9-13,14-19,20-24 - 5:1-21) in an environment where the various forms of idolatry were suppressed to the maximum (Exodus 31:12-18 - Numbers 15:29-36 - Ezekiel 20:12 - Luke 6:6-11 - 13:10-17 - John 9:1-5,6-16 - 10:17-21 - 5 Rommel 5:17-22 - 7:19-22 - 2 Corinthians 5:19-21). For it must be considered that among all the commandments given to Moses, those that did not only specify the nuances that must be considered when putting the ten commandments into practice (Exodus 21:28-29 - Job 32:1-3,4-10 - 5 Rommel 5:40 - 7:9 - 3 Rommel 2:24-25) were in fact a response concerning the golden calf which made Yahweh angry (3 Rommel 1:46-47), because all the people had heard the voice of Yahweh without seeing an image near the mountain (1 Rommel 3:21-23 - 1 Kings 8:9,18-21 - 2 Chronicles 5:10 - 6:10-11). [Now Jesus has not asked to seek to reproduce the actions that he has done (John 13:12-15 - 4 Rommel 8:15 - 12:38-40), but rather to seek to obey the commandment to which he has obeyed (John 13:34-35 - 14:15 - 15:12,17 - Luke

6:31 - 10:16 - John 13:16,20 - 4 Rommel 11:32-39 - 12:53-56). For the one who believes in Jesus (John 8:30-31 - 12:44-45,46-48 - 14:22-24 - 15:10-11 - 1 John 2:3-6 - Luke 6:46-49) cannot seek to reproduce each of the actions that he has done, and this fact can be understood through the following two realities. On the one hand, at each feast of the Jews, or at least during certain occurrences of some of the feasts instituted in the law of Moses (John 2:12-13 - 7:1-3 - 13:1) and during an occurrence of the feast of Dedication which is a celebration not existing in the law of Moses but related to certain events that had occurred during the improvement of the construction of the temple (John 10:22-24), Jesus has come in the place of the temple of the Jewish people where was the altar of the burnt offerings that the law of Moses asked to offer to God alone, and where was also the only altar of incense (Luke 1:5-10 - 1 Rommel 3:37), and this temple was placed in Jerusalem since the time of Solomon king of Israel (Deuteronomy 12:5-8,9-26 - 4 Rommel 12:18 - 1 Rommel 3:40 - 1 Chronicles 17:1-2 - 21:15-27,28-30 - 22:1-2 - 2 Chronicles 36:11-16,17-19 - Haggai 1:1-5,6-7,8-9 - John 4:45 - 11:55). And on the other hand, Jesus has taught that this unique temple of the rituals of the Jewish people, which is not the only place of teaching of the knowledge of God in those days (4 Rommel 12:70), will not continue to exist in future generations (John 2:14-21 - 4:19-21 - Luke 21:1-8).]

4 The following things happened before the destruction of their temple (Deuteronomy 32:1-12 - Isaiah 28:8-16).

5 If the incomparable Moses died at the age of one hundred and twenty years without entering the promised land (Deuteronomy 32:45-52 - 34:1-12), after leading the people for forty years in the wilderness (Exodus 7:1-7 - Numbers 33:1-5,36-41).

6 It is because God is not in a physically perceptible destination but rather in the quality of the journey (Numbers 20:1-13 - 35:15-34).

7 He who lives physically can hope to obtain something after the death of his body as is implied in the books of Job and Samuel and Daniel (Job 19:23-29 - 1 Samuel 28:6-15 - Daniel 3:14-18), and a beloved of God was taken away prematurely in relation to his ascendants and descendant (Genesis 5:21-24), and Elijah also was taken away (2 Kings 2:11).

8 And the love of God is obtained only by faith in Christ, which does not forbid honoring the Levites while the physical temple which is their place of service is not yet destroyed (Isaiah 42:1-8).

9 This teaching became understandable only after the resurrection of Jesus of Nazareth (Luke 22:66-71 - 24:18-27 - Acts 3:17-26 - 1 Timothy 1:12-13) which highlighted the coexistence between two realities that one could imagined distinct, namely the physical body and the heavenly body (Luke 24:30-32 - John 20:8-9,27-29 - 1 Peter 3:18 - Acts 8:26-29,38-40 - 10:1-8 - 12:5-11).

10 Each person always acts in accordance with one's intrinsic nature (Luke 6:41-45 - 1 Samuel 24:13).

11 And at any time in the history of the universe, our presence in eternal life (Daniel 12:2-3) is determined by our actual contribution in the genealogy of something that exists.

12 Whether it is a physical contribution or a moral contribution (2 Samuel 21:15-22 - 1 Chronicles 20:4-8), a knowledge ((Luke 20:41-44 - Ephesians 4:25-27) or material entity (Genesis 11:4 - Joshua 22:29 - 24:26-27 - 1 Samuel 2:31-36 - 6:13-18 - 2 Samuel 18:18 - Genesis 15:13-16 - Exodus 12:35-36 - Deuteronomy 23:13-14 - 2 Kings 5:15-17 - 10:9-11 - 2 Chronicles 8:11 - Deuteronomy 16:21-22).

13 Thus, to assert that God wrote words on tablets of stone is to assert that Moses wrote it when he was completely under the influence of the spirit of God (Exodus 34:1,27-28 - Deuteronomy 10:1-5). But because of the insistence of the expressions used in the biblical narrative, it seems necessary to think that the first two tablets of the covenant that Moses broke (Exodus 32:19) were solely the work of an angel of God (Exodus 31:18 - 32:15-16 - Deuteronomy 9:9-11 - Daniel 5:3-4,5-7), and that Moses only contributed to the realization of the other two tablets of the covenant which were not broken again in the same way that David had written the plans of the immobile house of Yahweh while being under the influence of the spirit of Yahweh (1 Chronicles 28:19). [Now the particular words that Jesus has spoken in John 10:10-11,17-18 suggest that the angel who gave the ten commandments to the people, namely the one who spoke to the assembly of the children of Israel gathered at the foot of the mountain and perhaps also the one who wrote the ten commandments on the first two stone tablets that were broken by Moses, was Christ himself (5 Rommel 5:10-12 - 4 Rommel 2:62-65 - John 14:8-9 - 1 Corinthians 10:1-4). For the commandment concerning the sabbath day was given solely so that an incarnation of Christ may come to make known that the holy spirit is the true God whose role is to give us access to an eternal life that exists among us (4 Rommel 4:3-4 - 14:1-4).]

14 If we make something disappear, we will be present wherever the absence of that thing is noticed by all those who knew about it.

15 The one who has not seen corruption (Acts 13:32-39) is the one about whom there is reason to believe that he is not physically dead.

16 Thus the great reward of those who actually retained the multiple commandments of Moses before the coming of Christ (Jeremiah 3:14-16 - 29:1-20 - 31:1-26 - Haggai 2:1-9 - Daniel 9:25-26) is the fact that they were the anonymous or famous actors of the narrative that enables us to understand God (Acts 7:44-53 - Luke 20:37-38 - Exodus 15:17-18 - 2 Samuel 7:4-11). The house of God is the body of Christ (2 Samuel 7:12-17 - Acts 20:28).

17 And before Jesus of Nazareth, different angels of the holy spirit were able to intervene in different human communities (Daniel 4:1-18 - 5:1-30) to establish the foundations of the house of God (Luke 6:46-49 - 2 Timothy 2:14-21 - John 10:16).

18 The practice of circumcision could not have existed as a ritual among Abraham's ancestors (Genesis 17) and was perceived by those who received it as the main symbol that distinguished them from other peoples (Genesis 34:14).

19 The holy spirit was able to get impatient with Moses because his living conditions did not justify his disobedience to available information (Exodus 4:24-26) and the same holy spirit was patient with the people born in the wilderness (Joshua 5:1-8), a people whose hearts he has in priority circumcised (Numbers 26:63-65 - Deuteronomy 1:34-40 - 2:14-18 - 8:1-5 - 29:1-6).

20 For the people left Egypt with flocks and the majority of the commandments of Moses were given at mount Sinai from the third month of their journey until the second month of the second year (Exodus 16:1-2 - 17:1-3 - 19:1-3 - 40:17 - Leviticus 25:1 - 26:46 - 27:34 - Numbers 1:1 - 9:1 - 10:11-13). A journey that lasted forty years (Exodus 7:7 - Numbers 20:22-29 - 26:63-65 - 33:36-39 - Deuteronomy 1:1-5 - 3:18-29 - Numbers 27:12-14 - 33:47-48 - Deuteronomy 32:48-52 - 34:1-5), and during which the people often had livestock (Numbers 20:1,8 - 28:6 - 31:1-11). In any case, even during a time when they actually have livestock available, continuous morning and evening burnt offerings (Exodus 29:38-42,43-46) cannot be made until the tabernacle is installed (Amos 5:21-25 - Acts 7:38-42). For this tabernacle is dismantled and carried whenever the congregation moves (Exodus 40:36-38 - Numbers 4:1-33,49 - 9:15-23 - Deuteronomy 1:32-33 - Numbers 33:1-49).

21 The notion of sin is individual. Although those our genealogical ascendants influence the quality of the persecutions that we must endure (Exodus 34:5-7 - Numbers 14:26-32,33-35), for all the elect must be persecuted (2 Chronicles 32:31 - John 3:3-7 - 6:53 - Acts 14:22 - Romans 8:17 - 2 Corinthians 4:10-11), the word child in the Hebrew Bible does not always refer to the bond of flesh and blood but rather to the bond of the spirit.

22 Our children are the ones who include us in the effective chain of transmission of information that they use daily to effect their own accomplishments in other words those who appreciate and imitate our achievements (Genesis 25:21-26 - Malachi 1:1-3 - Ezekiel 37:25 - Genesis 35:10-12 - Luke 1:35 - John 8:38-41,42-44).

23 Thus, Caleb was not a descendant of Abraham according to the flesh but rather the son of a Kenizzite (Genesis 15:18-19 - Exodus 12:37-38) and yet he inherited the promise (Genesis 17:5-8 - 26:1-6 - Deuteronomy 1:34-38 - Numbers 32:10-13 - 34:16-19 - Joshua 14:6-14).

24 The strange choice of the symbol that the people had to observe (Numbers 21:4-9 - John 3:14-16) to be healed after offending the holy spirit (Exodus 17:1-7 - Numbers 11:1-23,31-34 - 14:1-5,22-24 - 20:1-13 - 21:1-5) was an illustration of the fact that the optimization of our heavenly body is achieved by obtaining forgiveness of our sins only from those who have been wronged without any publicly acceptable justification. Consequently, their healings were effected by the image of what God the Father used to manifest their sin against God the holy spirit.

25 It is permissible to use cunning to solve a problem fairly, but it is forbidden to design traps to cause the fall of a person who acts out of ignorance (Leviticus 19:14-18 - 2 Kings 10:18-28 - 1 Kings 3:23-25 - 2 Samuel 14:1-20 - Deuteronomy 1:16-17).

26 It was not the foreigner who was excluded from the assembly of Israel (Ezra 10:1-3 - Nehemiah 13:23-28) but only idolatry (Ezra 9:1-2 - Nehemiah 13:29-31 - Deuteronomy 20:14-18).

27 For the pedagogy given to Moses simply recommends avoiding being drawn into idolatry (Exodus 34:11-16 - Deuteronomy 7:1-9) and the holy race is not defined by genealogical ties (Deuteronomy 21:10-17 - Ruth 1:4,16 - 4:13-17 - Judges 21:5-15,16-22 - Joshua 8:30-35 - 13:7-13 - 15:63 - 16:10 - 17:12-13 - 3 Rommel 2:29).

28 Thus, God’s Israel does not triumph because of its righteousness but because of the ignorance of the adversary (Deuteronomy 9:1-6,7-14) that is why they must attack only their enemies (Esther 9:1-2,16 - Deuteronomy 20:1,10-12) after having offered them peace (Deuteronomy 2:24-33 - Joshua 11:19-20). In the same way that the children of Jacob were attached to God only during certain periods (Judges 2), one can think that some of the nations who lived in their midst had a similar behavior in their relations with the holy spirit (Joshua 21:43-45 - 23:1-16).

29 For one who is not guilty of wrongdoing is not attacked with impunity (Exodus 17:8-16 - Deuteronomy 25:17-19).

30 There has always existed a part of God's Israel which was not geographically identifiable and which was never under the pedagogical law chosen to welcome the incarnate Christ, that is why this law authorized conversions (Numbers 15:13-16,29-31 - Exodus 12:48-49 - Leviticus 24:17-22) and indicated that it is a sin to count the people with the sole criterion of belonging to the Israel of God (Exodus 30:11-15 - 2 Samuel 24:1-10 - 1 Chronicles 21:1-8 - 27:23-24 - Romans 10:6-7). [And one can note that the people who received the covenant of the ten commandments three months after their departure from the land of Egypt were not only descendants of Jacob according to the flesh. (Exodus 12:37-38 - 19:1-7,8-17 - Numbers 11:1-4).]

31 But David had not been personally guilty of the numbering initiated because he was unaware of the exact identities of Christ and of the God of Israel so that this trial appears as a pretext for God the Father to judge the people (Judges 20 - Ezekiel 18:30 - Exodus 32:33).

32 However, it was not an offense to the holy spirit to count the personnel of the army (Numbers 1:1-3,17-19,45-49 - 26:1-4,51-53) or the members of the tribe of Levi because of their special function among the people (Numbers 1:50-54 - 3:14-16,39 - 26:57-62,63-65 - 1 Chronicles 23:1-3,25-27 - Numbers 8:22-26). [During the days of Moses, when the Levites had just received the function of transporting the sanctuary of Yahweh, the plans of which were shown to Moses because this structure did not exist before (5 Rommel 9:14-17 - Exodus 25:9,40 - 26:30 - 39:42-43), the Levites were numbered from the age of one month to know their total (Numbers 3:14-16,39 - 26:57-62,63-65) or from the age of thirty to transport the tabernacle (Numbers 4:34-49), and they could serve in the different parts of the sanctuary from the age of twenty five (Numbers 8:22-26). And David changed the age of service of the Levites because they would no longer have to carry the tarbernacle built by Moses, since his son Solomon had to build a stationary house to place the ark of the covenant of Yahweh and also to contain the altar of the burnt offerings (1 Chronicles 23:1-3,25-27).]

33 The only thing that must attract the eye when one observes a child of Israel is the holy spirit and no other fantasy (Jeremiah 9:23-26 - Leviticus 19:26-28 - Deuteronomy 14:1 - 22:11-12 - Luke 8:43-44).

34 Consequently, Paul's recommendations on dress in assemblies serve only to prevent extravagance (1 Corinthians 11:1-16) as lust of the eyes can lead to undesirable effects (1 Corinthians 11:17).

35 The apostle Paul is simply trying to create a form of school of faith (Romans 10:9 - Galatians 4:19 - 1 Corinthians 12:1-3 - Philippians 1:15-18 - Luke 5:36-39) for people who have not yet reached spiritual maturity (Luke 6:39 - Ephesians 4:7-16) since there is only one message to teach (Romans 13:8-10 - Galatians 5:13-15 - 1 Corinthians 11:34). And it provides for a form of remuneration for those who are devoted to this exercise where the need arises from lack of knowledge (Galatians 6:6 - Jeremiah 31:33-34), and the need to create such assemblies is also imposed by the beliefs of the peoples at the time of the birth and propagation of the Christian faith (John 16:1-3 - 1 Thessalonians 2:13-16 - Acts 14:21-23,24-28 - 19:23-36).

36 Prayer only serves to strengthen the believer in one's attachment to the holy commandment (Genesis 32:3-6,7-12,13-23 - 2 Kings 18:33-37 - 19:1-5 - 2 Chronicles 32:1-8 - Nehemiah 1:1-11 - 2:1-20 - 4:6-21 - Daniel 9:1-2,3-19 - 2 Samuel 7:18-27,28-29). This is why we must think that Jesus' prayer for the fulfilment of the mission of Simon Peter (Luke 22:31-32) could have occurred when designing this mission (Jeremiah 1:4-5 - John 1:1-3 - 8:56-59). And in John 17 Jesus prays a prayer whose sole purpose is to strengthen the disciples who hear it and to make them understand the purpose of a prayer, since all the things he says and asks for in this prayer are things that he has already explained beforehand that they will happen. The apostle Paul does not think otherwise about prayer (Philippians 4:6-9 - 2 Thessalonians 3:1-5,6-16 - Acts 20:28-35), but he intends to create a form of school to perpetuate the message of Jesus (4 Rommel 6:33-35 - 11:22 - 1 Corinthians 11:34 - Romans 13:8-10 - Galatians 5:13-14) so that it may not be easily forgotten in all future generations who will certainly transgress in different ways as it has been since the beginning of the history of the chosen people (Judges 2:7-11 - John 2:23-25), and that is why he chose a particular vocabulary which can be misinterpreted but whose misinterpretation does not cause much harm to others (2 Peter 3:15-16 - 5 Rommel 7:23-24 - 12:27-29). And the gospel of Luke does not say a different thing (Luke 18:1-8 - 5 Rommel 12:10-15), and the gospel of John does not say a different thing (3 Rommel 2:2 - 5 Rommel 12:16-18).

37 In the book of God the Father we are now on the sixth day of creation (Exodus 32:32-33 - Ephesians 2:10) and the pedagogical laws (Galatians 3:19) were not known before Moses in the form of a divine commandment (Genesis 17:10-14,22-27 - Numbers 27:1-11 - 36:1-10).

38 The classification of animals that might have existed for some communities (Genesis 7:1-2 - 8:20) was derived from the criteria established by human intelligence (Genesis 1:29 - 9:1-3). For the angels of the holy spirit can circumstantially confirm certain human initiatives (Exodus 18:13-27 - Deuteronomy 16:18-20 - 17:8-13). But these angels are not the holy spirit itself, the God of Israel (Acts 10:9-20 - 11:1-18 - John 1:18).

39 The angels of the holy spirit no longer announce prophecies about events that must occur in future generations but rather the things on which it is possible to act now (Acts 8:26-29 - 10:1-8 - 11:27-30 - 20:22-23 - 21:9-14).

40 The last prophet who had this gift (Luke 16:16) symbolically performed a water baptism (Luke 3:1-16 - John 1:25-28 - 3:22-26 - 4:1-2 - Acts 1:5 - 11:16 - 19:1-7) in order to allow people to publicly commit to renouncing bad deeds, that is to say, to publicly commit to cling to good deeds (Luke 3:21-22 - John 1:32-34). [Now what John asks the people is not to seek to do good only according to the quantities prescribed in the law, but to take personal initiatives for well being to others.]

41 And this increased the information that the holy spirit and all the other people who know that this baptism took place would henceforth use to judge each person who has been publicly baptized, but such a commitment can also be done alone and in private.

42 The meaning of the word baptism not being trivial (Luke 3:16 - 12:49-51 - John 1:33 - Acts 1:4-5 - 11:15-16 - 4 Rommel 7:20 - 11:16) and being absent from the conditions that are necessary to access eternal life (1 John 5:11-13 - Luke 10:25-28 - John 3:3-7 - 6:47-51 - 13:34-35 - 5 Rommel 13:14-16).

43 The water baptism of John did not call into question the existence of the tribe of Levites and the temple (John 1:6-8 - 1 Peter 3:21-22) which are suppressed only by the baptism of the holy spirit carried out by Jesus of Nazareth through the announcement of the exact identity of the God of Israel (John 1:29-33,34-36 - Acts 18:24-28 - 19:1-4 - Galatians 3:27 - Romans 6:3-4 - Ephesians 4:4-6 - 1 Corinthians 1:14-31 - 1 Rommel 1:37) which brings together all human communities, individual by individual (Genesis 18:18-19 - Ezekiel 33:23-29 - Galatians 3:22-29). [Now the only thing that the holy spirit of God does is build a useful personal legacy to each person who chooses to obey him blindly. But in those days the Jews do not suspect that their privileged place of worship, the existence of which was instituted by Moses, will disappear to make them similar to the Greeks and to the rest of humanity regarding the method of worship of the God who created all things (John 7:28-36). And John the Baptist did not reveal the exact identity of God because he himself did not know what it is (Luke 7:11-17,18-23), because the revelation of this information was reserved for Jesus of Nazareth (John 3:30-36 - Acts 1:4-5 - 4 Rommel 8:15). The Holy Spirit is obtained only once in a lifetime when one understands what must be done and does it (4 Rommel 1:19-22 - 12:12-15 - 5 Rommel 12:19-24), that is to say, when one goes to those whom one has offended in a publicly unjustifiable way in the past to acknowledge one's transgressions and obtain their forgiveness if possible, and one makes the firm inner resolution to no longer offend anyone in a publicly unjustifiable way. Now the water baptism initiated by John the Baptist later became a baptism in the name of Jesus Christ or equivalently in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, and we see that this public commitment to cling to what is right and fair according to the known information was made even before the acquisition of the Holy Spirit as it was when it was created (Acts 8:9-16,17-25 - 19:1-7), and it could also be done after the acquisition of the Holy Spirit (Acts 9:10-18 - 10:42-48 - 11:12-17). This is because a person can receive a water baptism of John or another improved form of this same public declaration (4 Rommel 12:60) every time that he arrives in a new community, and it is for the sole purpose of conveying the following message to all other members of that community: I have received knowledge of the moral code that must guide the voluntary actions of every person, and I believe that I possess the exact knowledge of this universal moral code (2 Corinthians 10:1-5 - 1 Rommel 1:36 - 4 Rommel 14:1-4), and therefore you do not need to ask yourself whether you should still teach it to me, and therefore I am ready to receive a proportional and merciless punishment (2 Corinthians 10:6 - 5 Rommel 5:46-47 - 2 Chronicles 15:12-15) if it is established that I have committed a willful transgression of this universal moral code.]

44 The ancient Jews were saved by Jesus of Nazareth because it was explained in the Greek New Testament (Luke, John, Paul, Peter) that one is freed among other things from genealogical specificities (Numbers 18 - Deuteronomy 10:5-9 - 18:1-8 - Acts 4:32-37 - 6:1-7). An explanation similar to the one that created one’s faith (Exodus 4:28-31 - Luke 24:45-47 - John 20:30-31 - Acts 3:1-26 - 5:12-20).

45 The Gentile was saved by Jesus of Nazareth because the faith was created or solidified by the Hebrew Bible and the Greek scriptures (Romans 15:8-12 - Colossians 1:26-27).

46 According to the holy scriptures, even those who doubt the possibly approximate historicity of the Hebrew Bible can also be saved by Jesus of Nazareth because the world around us, from which comes the information that determines behavior by imitation processes, is strongly impacted by the spread of the gospel (1 Timothy 4:10 - 5 Rommel 4:9).

47 Because we are a new creature as soon as we choose to live by faith (2 Corinthians 5:17-21), it is simply appropriate to state that our sins are then forgiven or that they are carried by the process that allowed us to acquire faith, that is to say, Jesus of Nazareth (Isaiah 53 - Ephesians 1).

48 Likewise, when it is stated that Jesus sits at the right hand of God in the heavenly places, it is simply an appropriate formula to summarize Luke 16:16. And I think that Luke 16:17 refers to the timeless law, the holy commandment (John 14:15 - 15:12,17), because it is easy to see that Moses' commandments were a form of pedagogy (4 Rommel 7:13-20,21-24 - 3 Rommel 2:28-29,30-32), and also because Jesus speaks with parables (4 Rommel 8:15 - 5 Rommel 7:10-15).

49 By proclaiming themselves different, they oppose the holy spirit and in addition they take away from the holy spirit those whom they manage to convince by usurping the place of Jesus Christ in their hearts.

50 There is fulfillment of Exodus 19:4-6 - Numbers 12:1-2 - 16:1-3. And this could not be achieved during the time of the pedagogy.

51 Now it is no longer possible to recognize, according to their paternal houses, the ten lost tribes (2 Kings 17:1-23 - 1 Chronicles 5:10,18-26). And the promised land will therefore be shared equally among the members of the Israel of God (Ezekiel 47:13-23 - Zechariah 2:1-5,10-13 - Joel 2:28-32 - Luke 24:45-47 - Acts 2:16-38 - Ephesians 2:13-22).

52 What is important is the commandment of Christ and not the various feasts based on the sighting of the moon [the only means available for measuring time on a large scale and demarcating months and seasons] which are instituted in the pedagogical law (1 Chronicles 23:27-32 - Ezekiel 46:1-3 - Colossians 2:16-23).

53 Thus, even the celebration of the birth of Jesus of Nazareth serves only to periodically remind future generations and those who tend to forget it of the Good News, the dispute over the precise date of the celebration having no significance and being akin to numerology which is a form of idolatry.

4 Rommel 7

1 The pedagogy initiated through Moses (Isaiah 1:2-3 - 2 Corinthians 3:12-18), second part.

2 The following things happened after the destruction of their temple (Deuteronomy 13 - John 9:28-29).

3 No (Leviticus 13:40-45 - 14:34-47 - 21:16-24 - 23:34-38,39-44 - Numbers 5:17 - 6:1-8,9-12,13-18 - 10:1-10 - 15:37-41 - Deuteronomy 16:1-3 - 24:8 - Exodus 31:12-18 - Numbers 9:1-14 - 2 Chronicles 30:1-3,13-21,22-27 - John 4:22).

4 There are specific corners of our beard that we must not shave (Leviticus 19:27) so as not to offend the creator of heaven and earth. This is encoded in the Oral Law and as a precautionary principle we sometimes prefer not even to shave.

5 We do not even speak his name because of all the respect we have for him (Exodus 3:14 - 34:14). And he promised us that he will subjugate the rest of mankind to our will when he sends the lion from the tribe of Judah (Genesis 49:9-10). Can a lion become a lamb (John 1:35-36).

6 We do not eat pork. The promised land is for us and our children, and we do not want those who refuse to give the tithe to the tribe of Levi and who refuse that we teach them the will of the supreme being that is encoded in the nuances of biblical Hebrew (Deuteronomy 4:39).

7 The throne of David must be strengthened forever (Psalms 89 - 2 Chronicles 13:1-12) by a person who will forever preserve the grace of God (1 Chronicles 17 - Psalms 132).

8 And it is not Solomon (1 Kings 11:9-13) because the temple is currently destroyed (2 Samuel 7:16 - 1 Chronicles 17:14). For this promise of God is not yet fulfilled despite the fact that Solomon actually built a house for Yahweh (1 Kings 2:1-4 - 6:11-13 - 8:25 - 9:1-9 - 11:29-39 - 15:1-5 - 2 Chronicles 7:11-22 - 2 Kings 8:16-19 - 2 Chronicles 21) because this house was destroyed and the people of the land of Judah were sent into exile. And according to the prophecy of the prophet Jeremiah there has been a return of the exiles, perhaps even from the other ten tribes of Israel who were previously scattered elsewhere at the ends of the earth. And then the temple was rebuilt in the days of Ezra and Nehemiah and Zechariah and Haggai, but there was never again a king in Israel to sit on the throne of David (Nehemiah 6:1-13). No legitimate heir is established today.

9 But it could not be this Immanuel (1 Peter 1:16-21 - Isaiah 7:1-16 - Romans 4:17) whose name means 'God is with us' (Isaiah 8:5-10), and who is also call Jesus (Luke 1:26-35) whose name means 'salvation of God'. He has been announced for the house of David (Isaiah 7:13-16), namely to all the people who carry the inheritance of David, because they were in fear of being completely eradicated by the enemy (1 Rommel 3:14-15) [therefore it is not necessary that the fulfillment of this prophecy be directly related to the outcome of the ongoing battle]. And he has been announced to a king who is not even loved by God (2 Chronicles 28), and none of the identities of his parents is revealed, and no aspect of his function in the world is revealed.

10 However, being jewish does not mean practicing a religion. It is a community united by the same universal values which are transmitted through the maternal womb (Genesis 41:38-45 - 46:20 - 48:5-6 - 49:22-26 - Numbers 34:13-15 - Ezekiel 47:13 - 1 Kings 14:21,31 - 2 Chronicles 12:13) and yet open to the conversions of strangers (Joshua 8:32-35 - Esther 8:17 - Isaiah 56).

11 But they cannot hope to incorporate the prestigious hereditary tribe of the Levites (Deuteronomy 18:1-2) which has a special connection with God through paternal blood in order to frequently offer to God his favorite food, namely the blood and fat of healthy animals. And to explain the law to the people and to judge difficult issues (Deuteronomy 15:19-23 - 17:1-13 - Nehemiah 8:6-12).

12 We did not write this book which would have been translated into Greek before the coming of Jesus of Nazareth, we also received it but these are our traditions and the tradition must remain alive like the God who is described there (Numbers 14:28) while this Jesus of Nazareth died without fulfilling the prophecies on the glorification of the jewish people. And anyway, where is the proof that he actually existed.

13 We want to build the house of God that the rest of the world will envy, we will cook meats in it (Exodus 18:11-12 - 20:24-26 - 1 Kings 19:21 - Zechariah 14:20-21 - Ezekiel 46:19-24). The burnt offerings are not eaten (Exodus 29:15-18 - Leviticus 1 - 1 Kings 3:4 - 2 Chronicles 1:1-6 - 29:25-32). But peace offerings and many categories of sin offerings, including transgress offerings when another human is directly offended by the sin, these are eaten (Exodus 29:19-22,31-34 - Leviticus 7:28-38 - 10:1-7,16-20 - 1 Kings 8:4-5,62-64 - 2 Chronicles 5:5-7 - 7:4-7 - 29:33-36).

14 The fat is burned and the blood is shed, and the people eat the remainder of the flesh after having given good portions to the members of the hereditary tribe of Levi while God will be hidden behind the veil (Deuteronomy 12:1-14,15-18 - 14:22-29 - 15:19-23) where he will be met once a year by a high priest descendant of Aaron (Exodus 30:9-10), on the occasion of a special ceremony which marks the fact that it is impossible for the people to be without sin (Leviticus 16 - 1 Rommel 3:35).

15 But it is not because the very existence of the pedagogical law is a sin (Exodus 29:1-14 - Leviticus 8:13-17 - 4 Rommel 7:16-18) which gives a privileged position to the family tree of Aaron and Levi and which separates into two parts the Israel of God (Isaiah 8:13-18 - Micah 5:1-4 - John 11:50-52).

16 No willful transgression that cannot be justified by any circumstantial constraint is forgivable (Numbers 15:22-31) but we know the difference between on the one hand the sins committed by involuntary transgressing the commandments concerning the particular rituals that are required in the law given by Moses (Leviticus 4).

17 And in this situation something is lost if the transgression was committed by the whole assembly or by the descendant of Aaron who was anointed to serve as high priest (Leviticus 4:7,18 - 6:30). And the flesh of the victim is even burned with its excrement at the place where rubbish is thrown, far from the presence of Yahweh who is supposed to be in the sanctuary of the tent of meeting (Leviticus 4:10-12,20-21).

18 And if this particular type of transgression [which concerns the particular rituals that are required in the written law] is not committed by one of these two similar categories of culprits, then the victim can be eaten (Leviticus 4:25,30,34 - 6:24-30 - 10:8-18). [Now Ezekiel has indicated that there will be another ritual in the future for this particular type of unintentional transgression (Ezekiel 45:18-20)]

19 And on the other hand the sins committed by inflicting harm on someone else with a guilty justification and in this situation we find the love of God only by obtaining the forgiveness of those whom we have offended and by performing guilt offerings [which is a transgress offering, a category of sin offerings]. There is no other way (Leviticus 5:1,4,14-16 - 6:1-7 - Numbers 5:5-10 - Hosea 6:6 - Proverbs 21:3 - Psalms 51:16-17 - Ezekiel 18:1-32 - 33:11-20 - Isaiah 1:10-20 - 57:15-21 - 4 Rommel 6:24). And this is the reason why we must recognize a benefit not only by thanking God, but also by recognizing the merit of the person whom God has to use to perform that benefit (Judges 13:15-23 - Luke 17:11-19). [At the time of the construction of the temple of Ezekiel, which is supposed to exist after the coming of the prince described in his book, there will always be a distinction between the voluntary actions that a person does on his own initiative and the voluntary actions that this person does because of an external constraint (Ezekiel 46:12). And there will also be a distinction between the two types of transgressions which are on the one hand voluntary actions designed to offend other persons without having publicly acceptable justifications in the heart (and the apostle Paul also speaks of this type of transgression which becomes the only type of transgression in the gospel of Jesus - 1 Corinthians 5:1-5,9-13 - 6:1-3), and on the other hand the involuntary transgressions that do not directly offend other persons and concern only the particular rituals that are required in the written law (and the apostle Paul also speaks of this type of transgression which can become simply a divergence between sincere personal convictions in the gospel of Jesus - 1 Corinthians 3:1-8,9-15 - 4:1-6 - Acts 13:1-4 - 15:35-41 - Romans 14:1-5,6-13 - John 3:8 - 2 Timothy 3:16-17), since this distinction is made in the names given to these two types of sins (Ezekiel 46:20). The temple of Ezekiel should be built to accommodate the one who is designated as the prince, and who will be like a king and like a priest and like God (1 Rommel 3:49). And we can notice that the guilt offering that Yahweh required of the friends of Job to be forgiven for having accused Job without justification is a burnt offering (Job 42:7-8) and therefore it is not meant to be eaten like the guilt offering required in the law given by Moses to the children of Israel. We must then understand that there is no contradiction because Job does not belong to the tribes of Israel (3 Rommel 1:27 - Micah 6:3-5,6-8), and the name Yahweh simply designates the holy spirit of Elohim (3 Rommel 1:2,8 - Malachi 1:4-5,11-14 - 2:17) and appears in this story because it is Moses who supposedly rewrote the story of Job as he also wrote the story of Balaam (Numbers 22:18) who was a prophet not coming from the tribes of Israel (Numbers 22:1-8). Elohim is the one who causes all things to happen, and Yahweh the holy spirit of Elohim has said to Moses that he is also Elohim and the only Elohim (Deuteronomy 4:39). Now the only thing that the holy spirit of Elohim does is build a useful personal legacy to each person who chooses to obey him blindly, and Jesus of Nazareth has had the best place because he never had anything to reproach himself for in the relationship between what he actually knew and why he was doing what he was doing (Philippians 2:8-11 - 1 Timothy 3:16). And Jesus is the only person to have possessed the special gift of forgiving the sins of others (4 Rommel 5:8-9) because of his own nature (John 3:31-36 - 1 Corinthians 12:4-13 - 4 Rommel 2:62-65), because he was not an ordinary man (Ezekiel 43:1-4 - 44:1-3 - 46:8-9 - 47:1-6 - 1 Rommel 3:48). Jesus has come into the world in order to teach all peoples the exact knowledge of the God of the concept of justice who is the only true God (Genesis 49:10 - John 11:45-52).]

20 The word transgression can refer only to sins that directly offend another human being or more generally any sin concerning any commandment of Yahweh. Because identical words are used to designate things having a certain connection and then the exact meaning depends on the context (1 Corinthians 2:13).

21 After Moses who knew God face to face (Exodus 33:7-11 - Deuteronomy 34:9-12), Ezekiel is said to have been the only prophet who gave new laws for the people (Ezekiel 40–48).

22 And these laws contradict the architectural teachings of Moses concerning the structure of the temple which is the place of worship (Exodus 26:1-15 - Ezekiel 44:1-2 - 48:29-35 - John 4:22).

23 And also concerning the quantities of sacrifices that must be offered to Yahweh alone (Ezekiel 45–46 - Numbers 28–29 - 4 Rommel 13), the obligatory part of burnt offerings [and burnt offerings are not eaten]. But the laws concerning the offerings that are eaten have not been changed (Leviticus 2:1-16 - 3:1-17 - 7:1-10 - 1 Samuel 2:12-17,27-29 - Ezekiel 44:15-16).

24 It is for us to be at the service of the only God who created everything and to whom everything belongs (Job 41:11 - Psalms 50:1-15 - Zechariah 7:1-10).

25 But if we have to choose between Moses and Ezekiel then we prefer to choose Moses because this God has no sense of humor (Genesis 25:21-23,28-34 - 27:1-25 - 29:15-25 - Exodus 20:22-23 - 32:1-14 - 29:42-46 - 34:27-28 - Deuteronomy 10:8-9 - 31:19-27), contrary to the God of other prophets (1 Kings 8:9,25-30 - Ezekiel 43:6-12 - 1 Kings 22:1-23) and even the God of the gospel of Jesus Christ (Luke 7:1-9 - John 11:55-57 - 12:9-13,17-19).

26 We must not add or subtract from the commandments given by Moses (Deuteronomy 4:1-2 - 12:32 - Isaiah 8:12-20), not for eternity but until the coming of someone who is immortal and who will teach us an additional message from God (Deuteronomy 18:18-20 - Jeremiah 31:31-34 - John 8:23-25).

27 God insists that there be no mixing between the heritages of the different paternal tribes of Israel (Numbers 36 - Ezekiel 46:16-18 - 48:1-29) this is why we must find the lost tribes and identify their paternal tribes (Jeremiah 23:5-8).

28 Some of God's people were scattered several centuries ago among the nations (2 Kings 17:1-23 - 1 Chronicles 5:10,18-26) but honesty and integrity is our motto, they will be found and gathered together in the promised land whose limits we know (Ezekiel 47:13-23). And we know all this because it is written in the Bible.

29 And the scattered tribes did not return from exile at the same time as the tribe of Judah when the second temple was built after the destruction of that of Solomon, we are certain of it (2 Kings 25:1-22 - Jeremiah 3:1-16 - 30:1-24 - Ezekiel 20:27-44 - 34:11-24 - 37:21-28 - 3 Rommel 2:18).

30 In the incomprehensible nature of their love for God or rather of the promises they hope to fulfill (Zechariah 14:16-21), it would not be surprising if they had a dubious interpretation of David's words (Psalms 139:21-24) and try to apply this biblical passage to those who suggest them not to seek to identify their brothers and sisters on the face of the earth (Exodus 22:31 - Deuteronomy 14:21 - 23:19-20 - Galatians 3:22 - John 9:39-41).

31 Because the final teaching is that we are all brothers and sisters, whether one is a master or a slave (Acts 10:24-43).

32 And the holy spirit who distributes different gifts to different people (Acts 19:1-20 - 1 Corinthians 12:4-13) considers each person according to the information available and actually understood (Romans 10:1-4 - John 15:22-27 - Job 35:1-8).

33 But sins committed in ignorance of the knowledge of the true God of Israel are to be compensated one way or another (Psalms 119:75 - 2 Timothy 2:13 - Lamentations 3:21-41 - Ecclesiastes 11:9-10 - 12:1-7 - 1 Peter 5:6-9).

4 Rommel 8

1 How to offend or please the holy spirit (John 5:39-40 - Jeremiah 9:23-24), first part.

2 God's love means that he will give a place, possibly anonymously (Galatians 6:7-8 - Ecclesiastes 9:13-15), to our heavenly body (Genesis 6:5-8 - 8:18-22).

3 And this does not always translate into a long life (Luke 9:7-9 - 2 Chronicles 34:1-2 - 2 Samuel 5:4-5) but it is often the case (2 Peter 3:9,15).

4 The substance of biblical narratives is to highlight different ways of being guilty or righteous towards the holy spirit and the message is the same: one does not overcome by force but by the spirit (2 Samuel 17:1-14 - 1 Samuel 2:9-10 - Isaiah 8:5-10,11-13 - Job 40:6-14). [Ben-hadad the king of Syria relied solely on his strength twice, and it was a failure (1 Kings 20:1-13,21-30). And then he had more success when he chose the way of the spirit (1 Kings 20:31-34). We can also notice that Nahash the Ammonite was a little arrogant in his behavior (1 Samuel 11:1-4,5-10,11-15).]

5 The following concerns the notion of truth (John 18:38).

6 Not all those who simulate transparency in their lives are Israel (2 Corinthians 11:14). There are remnants among Jacob and remnants among those who were never Jacob, and both form the Israel of God (Isaiah 44:1-6).

7 A semantic theory of truth holds that truth is a property of sentences and if I affirm that truth is a relative notion, it is because there are two semantics which are not necessarily independent.

8 On the one hand there is the meaning of the words in a sentence, and on the other hand there is the meaning of a sentence in the particular context of a pair (sender - receiver). [The meaning of the same statement by Jesus may depend on the people to whom he gives this information (John 8:21-22 - 13:33-36), and a same sentence does not necessarily have the same meaning when it is said by two different persons since one can think that Abraham was just surprised and was not doubting unlike Sarah (Genesis 17:15-18 - 18:9-14 - Romans 4:19-22).]

9 There may therefore be situations where the truth of a statement can only be determined by the intentions of the author so that there may be several truths and several lies, each of the words truth and lie then referring not not to unique possibilities but to sets.

10 Thus, to speak the truth only means to express oneself under the influence of the holy spirit, in other words to have in the heart good intentions in relation to arbitrarily chosen strangers in society (Genesis 22:1-5).

11 This is the context of the proposition P which states that truth is the light of human beings.

12 Light is the means by which we can achieve our goals with satisfaction, without this being followed by any unpleasant surprise through cause and effect relationships.

13 It should be noted that everything a person does at any time is to achieve a specific goal which is sometimes only known to that person.

14 I am thirsty and I want to soothe this feeling. I want to eliminate a person to take advantage of certain circumstances in such and such a way. I hope to go to a paradise which perhaps does not exist.

15 Even Jesus of Nazareth is not God the holy spirit who is the holy one of Israel (John 12:44-45). Now Jesus of Nazareth speaks with parables (Luke 6:29 - 8:5-8,9-15 - 14:34-35 - 22:35-38 - John 6:35-36 - 10:6-7 - 12:32-36 - 13:10-11 - 16:25-29) because he interacts with people who trust in the law of Moses (Luke 6:6-11) in order to make them understand the exact definition of eternal life (John 11:21-27) and the only way to make a comfortable place in it (John 14:1-4,6-10), and those people should understand it by becoming fully aware of all the implications of the fact that he has risen from the dead (Luke 9:18-22,44-45 - John 20:8-9) and that the commandment concerning the sabbath day was given to them by Moses only so that Jesus may come to demonstrate the power of the holy spirit (4 Rommel 6:3 - 3 Rommel 2:12). And Jesus also speaks in parable with the aim of giving a special place in eternal life to the eleven disciples whom he has chosen (Luke 8:9-11 - 22:24-29), and they are eleven because it is necessary to exclude Judas who separated from the others when he left to perform the betrayal that allowed the Jewish leaders to arrest Jesus without putting themselves in danger (Luke 19:47-48 - 22:1-6,45-54 - John 11:55-57 - 12:9-13,17-19 - 18:1-13), and it is only after the Holy Spirit had come into the world that these eleven disciples truly understood all the words of Jesus (Acts 1:4-8 - 2:14-40) while a twelfth disciple understood the meaning of life and also the words of Jesus to which he had been exposed (Acts 1:12-26 - 2:1-4), and the apostle Paul also understood the meaning of life without having met Jesus in the flesh (Acts 9:1-27 - 22:1-21). The apostles have understood everything with regard to the implementation of faith, and the understanding of Peter was gradual and continued even after the day of Pentecost, and it seems to me that the understanding of Paul was complete a short time after his miraculous conversion (Acts 22:12-21 - Galatians 2:6-9 - Ephesians 3:1-10), but none of them have understood everything with regard to the exact definition of eternal life and that is why they had strange discussions (Acts 15:1-32 - 17:1-7,8-14 - 28:17-24,25-29). [Now it is not normal for a person to express himself in parables if the necessity is not imposed by the context in which he finds himself (Luke 8:16 - 11:33). The apostle Paul intends to create a form of school to perpetuate the message of Jesus (4 Rommel 6:33-35 - 11:22) so that it may not be easily forgotten in all future generations who will certainly transgress in different ways as it has been since the beginning of the history of the chosen people (Judges 2:7-11 - John 2:23-25), and that is why he chooses to express himself in an indirect way (2 Corinthians 12:15-16 - 1 Timothy 2:5-8 - Colossians 4:2-4 - Ephesians 2:10). As for the apostles Peter and John in the two epistles of Peter and in the first epistle of John, they do not express themselves indirectly but they say what they know with their own words which come from the bottom of their heart according to the context in which they find themselves.]

16 And we see that David can seek a confirmation of an information that he already knows, as is the case with the angels of Yahweh (1 Samuel 17:20-30 - Zechariah 4:1-5,11-14). [Now concerning David he does not ask the same question to the same person, and concerning God he is God and he probes hearts (Genesis 4:9-10 - John 4:15-19). And we see that, because of the emotion that this provokes in him, Joseph can ask questions to which he already knows the answer (Genesis 42:6-17 - 44:17-34 - 45:1-4). And the brothers of Joseph can express themselves before an authority out of politeness, without lying but without recalling all of the facts (Genesis 45:16-21 - 47:1-6).]

17 The father of all creation (Jeremiah 10:11-16 - 1 Corinthians 8:5-6), and the light of the world (John 8:12 - 18:37), and the father of the children of Israel and of Jesus of Nazareth (Jeremiah 10:1-10 - 1 John 2:15-17). God the Father and God the Son and God the holy spirit.

4 Rommel 9

1 How to offend or please the holy spirit (John 5:39-40 - Jeremiah 9:23-24), second part: Selected pieces.

2 Joab strikes Absalom (2 Samuel 18:9-15) whom he brought back to the king (2 Samuel 14:1,18-21) and who rebelled after burning his field (2 Samuel 14:28-33).

3 Without involving the holy spirit in his motives, Naboth refuses a transaction offered to him honestly and in the light of day (1 Kings 21:1-3) by a king whom he is supposed to obey (1 Samuel 8).

4 Yet he must have known that the commandments of Yahweh (Numbers 36:6-9 - Ezekiel 47:13-14,21-23) are much more about the quality of intentions than actions, since in his time the tabernacle of Moses was already replaced by the house built by Solomon. For Solomon is the third king of Israel and the last to reign over the twelve tribes united, before the separation of the people into two kingdoms.

5 And with her husband’s permission, Jezebel decides to take justice by dark ways by inciting others to offend the holy spirit (1 Kings 21:4-23 - 2 Kings 9:30-37).

6 Simeon and Levi acted with anger (Genesis 34:13-31) and did not forgive those who wished to repent (Genesis 34:1-12).

7 For they could have simply rejected their proposal and demanded reparation (Deuteronomy 22:28-29 - Genesis 49:5-7).

8 She has not previously offended him in any way on her own initiative, and yet Judah makes a promise to his daughter in law without any sincerity when he is under no obligation to do so. Therefore he will have to suffer the consequences (Genesis 38:1-26).

9 Jeroboam abandoned the members of the tribe of Levi (Deuteronomy 10:8-9) by granting their livelihood to others and led the people away from the holy spirit by appointing new gods (1 Kings 12:26-31 - 2 Chronicles 11:1-12,13-17 - 1 Kings 14:1-16). He could have caused to build an equivalent of the tabernacle of Moses and used the Levites as priests [At the beginning of the reign of Solomon the son of David, there were at least two distinct places that deserved to be holy: the location of the ark of the covenant of Yahweh and the location of the tabernacle that Moses had built in the wilderness], or he could have done nothing and trusted Yahweh enough as Abraham did (Genesis 15:6 - 1 Kings 11:29-39).

10 Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and Sancherib king of Assyria, and Haman servant of king Ahasuerus, each wanted to give himself more importance than the holy spirit (Daniel 4:30 - 2 Kings 19:9-13 - Esther 3:1-5,6-11, 5:9-14) who is the true God of Israel (Daniel 4:31-37 - 2 Kings 19:17-28 - Esther 6).

11 Thus, Solomon did not sin against the holy spirit by the fact that he exercised freedom from the commandments of Moses (Deuteronomy 17:14-20 - 1 Kings 11:1-2 - Leviticus 10:16-20) but precisely by the acts of idolatry that he actually committed (1 Kings 11:3-10,11-13).

12 Although David will continue to live through Solomon not only through the teachings which he transmitted directly to him and which will actually be used, but also through the family tree to a lesser extent since each is responsible for his own sin.

13 Solomon who was not directly offended by Shimei (1 Kings 2:8-9 - 2 Samuel 16:5-12 - 19:15-23) made a proposal to him which he accepted (1 Kings 2:36-38) and which he could not keep (1 Kings 2:39-46).

14 Thus, we do not see a direct offense from Amalek (Deuteronomy 25:17-19) towards Saul when the angel sends him to destroy this people (1 Samuel 15:1-3) but this does not mean that such a widespread offense did not exist against Saul or Israel.

15 It must be admitted that the scriptures do not specify every detail known to each stakeholder in every context.

16 And that there has never been any difference between those who practice righteousness and integrity according to the information at their disposal, whatever be the peculiarities of the community in which they evolve (Jeremiah 27:1-22 - 43:1-13 - 2 Kings 5:1-18 - 2 Chronicles 35:20-23 - Ephesians 3).

17 On the one hand a pharaoh loved by God welcomed Jacob (Genesis 47:1-11) and others who was less loved did not pass on to future generations an admirable inheritance (Exodus 1:7-10 - 2:23-25 - 3:16-22 - 12:40-41 – 14:16-18).

18 On the other hand God loved king David (1 Chronicles 22) and he was angry with some of his descendants according to the flesh (2 Chronicles 36).

4 Rommel 10

1 David the man after the heart of the God of Israel.

2 The holy spirit considers only the information at our disposal (Deuteronomy 23:24-25) and David who seeks only to satisfy a whim cannot approve what is not to be reproduced (1 Chronicles 11:15-19 - 2 Samuel 23:13-17).

3 Valiant soldiers of Israel felt the fear and fled against Goliath without defiling their consciences because they recognized the unusual assets of the adversary (1 Samuel 17:4-7,24).

4 And David, less impressive in appearance, volunteered to fight the enemy because he remembered confronting and defeating the lion and bear in a combination of circumstances (1 Samuel 17:33-37).

5 Sin is only in what you desire through your actions based on what you know.

6 She saves his life with sincerity (1 Samuel 18:6-9,22-29 - 19:9-18) and he remembers it (2 Samuel 3:14-16).

7 He fears for his life (1 Samuel 21:10-12) and does not offend anyone (1 Samuel 21:13-15).

8 Elsewhere he fears for his life and leaves it up to God to decide on a parameter that he cannot control (1 Samuel 22:20-23).

9 He is offended to have worked without pay (1 Samuel 25:14-17,21-22) but revenge belongs to God (1 Samuel 25:25-44).

10 It was the all-powerful God of David, whose identity is still unknown, who made Saul the king of Israel (1 Samuel 24:1-10 - 26:7-12 - 27:1-4 - Exodus 9:15-16).

11 Furthermore, the Amalekite has offended the holy spirit (2 Samuel 1:1-10) and David is in a position to exercise justice against him who struck down a man for his own glory (2 Samuel 1:13-16).

12 Like any normal human being, the son of Saul was not born with the holy spirit but he agrees to make peace (2 Samuel 3:9-16).

13 This is why David, who is in a position to do so, exercises justice against those who have struck a man for their own glory (2 Samuel 4:5-12).

14 Jonathan showed kindness to David (1 Samuel 20) and he remembers it (2 Samuel 9).

15 However, like Isaac and Esau (Malachi 1:2-3) or Amon and Josiah (2 Chronicles 33:21-25 - 34:1-2), the son according to Jonathan’s flesh is not also his spiritual son since he does not imitate the behavior of Jonathan (2 Samuel 16:1-4).

16 And faced with new information whose relevance he cannot determine, David acts in real time with fairness (2 Samuel 19:24-30 - 1 Samuel 8).

17 David found himself in a complicated situation because everyone must commit sins and it is not a stranger who was offended (2 Samuel 13:11-22).

18 And he is convinced by Joab to let return Absalom (2 Samuel 14:21-24,32-33) who did not personally offend David.

19 David wants to be grateful but the recipients are mistaken, and rather than acknowledge their mistake they choose to make war on him (2 Samuel 10:1-7).

20 And they act out of pride for they know that to forgive does not mean to forget but rather to take precautions in the future (2 Samuel 16:20-23). [David and Joab and Amasa are of the same family (1 Chronicles 2:13-17), and Amasa was among David's enemies (2 Samuel 17:25) and it is unlikely that this was an appearance (2 Samuel 15:32-34). And it is not a contradiction if David wants to entrust new responsibilities to Amasa (2 Samuel 19:11-14) because David does not act as a man but as a king who wishes to reign over the entire population previously divided into two camps and who is in a context where he cannot repel all his former enemies]

21 Joab takes revenge in peacetime (2 Samuel 3:17-39) for an unfortunate event that occurred during the war (2 Samuel 2:17-28).

22 And in addition he disobeys king David who asks him to capture Absalom alive (2 Samuel 18:1-5,10-14).

23 Then David wants to take away his title of leader of the army (1 Chronicles 11:4-6 - 2 Samuel 19:11-13) and he opposes it by striking the one who did not offend him directly (2 Samuel 20:4-10), except by the fact that they were both from the same family and were the leaders of the two opposing armies during Absalom's rebellion.

24 Therefore this information known to David must be transmitted to one who serves the same God and who is supposed to lead the same people (1 Kings 2:5-6).

25 David himself was not an incarnation of Christ (1 Kings 15:5) but merely his spiritual father (Luke 20:41-44).

26 And David’s work continuously shines before God because it is designed to be the basis of the teachings of God’s only begotten son, the light of the world.

4 Rommel 11

1 Theological vocabulary (Luke 1:31-33 - John 8:51), first part: Generalities.

2 Any opinion or explanation (Proverbs 18:2) is always from someone, and we should trust no one (Isaiah 2:22 - 1 Thessalonians 5:19-22).

3 In this biblical sentence (Proverbs 18:2) it is not the fact of wanting to reveal one's thoughts that is criticized but rather the possibility of doing so without being based on any conviction resulting from a preliminary analysis of at least one aspect of the problem (Romans 14:5).

4 For it must be understood that one who is motivated by the holy spirit cannot be a fool.

5 And if someone knows absolutely nothing about a subject, is it impossible to have an intimate conviction without calmly listening to the different points of view available (Proverbs 12:15).

6 Words and phrases may have different meanings when used in different sentences (Genesis 15:13-16 - Exodus 12:35-41 - John 8:33 - Genesis 2:1-3 - Leviticus 25:8-10 - Daniel 9:21-26). The expression live somewhere (1 Kings 8:12-13 - 2 Chronicles 6:1-2) can used figuratively (1 Kings 8:27-30 - 2 Chronicles 6:18-21 - 7:11-12).

7 And the actual duration of the stay of the children of Israel in Egypt may be different (Exodus 6:16-20 - 12:40-41). Either because the count was made from the time Joseph was sold, or because after the miracles that were performed there to free the children of Jacob, the word Egypt is more generally used to designate a population or even a territory where beliefs are incompatible with the one true God. And in this latter case it is necessary to count from the moment of Isaac's birth, or from the moment when the promise was made to Abraham as indicated by the apostle Paul (Galatians 3:15-17). For Sodom and Gomorrah were destroyed in the days of Abraham (Genesis 18:20-26) but their names continued to be used to designate peoples with similar practices (Deuteronomy 32:32 - Isaiah 1:1-2,9-10).

8 Otherwise how to understand on the one hand that no misfortune happens to the just (Proverbs 12:21) when it is said that Job was just (Job 1).

9 And on the other hand that misfortune often happens to the just who will always be delivered (Psalms 34:11-22 - Proverbs 24:16) when John the Baptist is said to have had his head cut off (Luke 9:7-9).

10 Thus it must be admitted that the righteous may undergo very difficult trials but will always see in each situation an opportunity to serve the creator through the spirit according to all the complex information that is accessible while the wicked cannot reach the fullness of the heart because he continually experiences desires that offend the spirit (Proverbs 12:21).

11 Moreover, the certain deliverance of the righteous (Psalms 34 - Proverbs 24:16) does not necessarily concern physical life but will always be accomplished in eternal life, possibly anonymously (John 12:24-26).

12 So we who are disciples of Jesus Christ are wise (Proverbs 8:1-21 - 1 Corinthians 1:30-31) but our wisdom is not that of the world (Proverbs 3:7 - Isaiah 5:21).

13 A single reality can be described by several truths, in other words a single truth can have several facets (Exodus 20:11 - Deuteronomy 5:15 - Numbers 13:1-3 - Deuteronomy 1:19-24 - 1 Samuel 10:9-12 - 19:18-24).

14 In addition, the notion of responsibility allows the free use of different names to designate the author of a single achievement (Luke 10:16 - John 13:20).

15 The author of the establishment of judges assigned to this task among the children of Israel (Exodus 18:13-27 - Deuteronomy 1:1-17 - 16:18-20). Or the authors of the losses that have occurred during a conflict (2 Samuel 21:15-22 - 1 Chronicles 20:4-8). Or the author of the making of the ark of testimony (Exodus 31:1-11 - 38:22 - 39:42-43 - Deuteronomy 10:3-5). Or the author of the writings of the ten words on the tablets of stone, the other two tablets that were not broken after the first two tablets had been broken (4 Rommel 6:13), for he who acts under the influence of the spirit of God performs the acts of God (Luke 3:21-22 - 1 Chronicles 28:19 - 2 Chronicles 20:14-15 - 24:19-21 - Judges 20:27-28). And also the authors of the death of Jesus of Nazareth (Luke 18:31-34 - John 18:28-32 - 19:6-11,12-16).

16 In the holy scriptures different realities are called by the same name only because of the particular connection between their contextual nature (Job 10:4 - 1 Samuel 16:6-7). [We can speak of Manasseh to designate all the individuals whose paternal genealogies contain this child of Jacob, and it is also possible to speak thus of Machir who is the first son of Manasseh (Joshua 17:1), and there is also Sodom and Gomorrah which were destroyed in the days of Abraham (Genesis 18:20-26) but their names continued to be used to designate peoples with similar practices (Deuteronomy 32:32 - Isaiah 1:1-2,9-10).]

17 As a first example, the word God which refers to a hidden power (Exodus 7:1) can indifferently refer to the author of all creation (Genesis 1:1), or to his only begotten Son who has a different identity (John 1:1-4 - 1 Timothy 2:5), or to his holy spirit who alone can secure us a place in eternal life (1 Chronicles 28:19 - 2 Chronicles 20:14-15 - 24:19-21 - Judges 20:27-28).

18 Thus, an unchanging God announces the arrival of the messenger of a new covenant who is also called God (Malachi 3:1-6 - Isaiah 40:1-5,6-9 - John 1:1).

19 As a second example, all those who cling to the holy spirit receive a firstborn position and obtain therefore an eternal inheritance (Exodus 4:22 - Psalms 89:26-28,35-37 - Jeremiah 31:9 - John 1:9). And Jesus of Nazareth is the first born par excellence (Psalms 45:6-7).

20 As a third example, the word Israel sometimes refers to the twelve tribes who have come from Jacob and who are finally dispersed after Jesus of Nazareth (Exodus 12:47-51 - Leviticus 19:33-37 - 24:22 - Joshua 1 - Isaiah 56:1-8). And some other times it is all the Israel of God which contains more than Jacob (Genesis 17:1-5 - 32:28 - Joshua 14:14 - Micah 5:1-4 - Romans 9:6-8 - Ezekiel 47:21-23 - Romans 2:28-29).

21 As a fourth example, the Levites of the New Covenant (Malachi 3:1-6 - Jeremiah 31:31-37) are no longer determined by the family tree (Deuteronomy 10:8-9 - 18:1-8 - Acts 4:31-37) but all imitators of the apostle Paul, who is himself from the tribe of Benjamin (Philippians 3:4-11), for whom nothing is forbidden except to have in the heart evil intentions in relation to strangers arbitrarily chosen in society (Exodus 19:5-6 - 1 Corinthians 9:14-19 - 11:1 - Luke 17:10).

22 The apostle Paul uses all the information of the context in which he evolves and wants to create a form of school accordingly (1 Timothy 2:12 - Galatians 4:1-2 - 1 Corinthians 3:1-2 - Galatians 3:28) to teach people to move away from all forms of idolatry and to cling only to the holy spirit (Judges 4:1-10 - 2 Chronicles 34:18-28 - Isaiah 29:13 - John 13:34-35 - 1 Peter 1:22-25 - 2 Corinthians 10:3-6). The message that is taught is unique, it is the message of Jesus of Nazareth (3 Rommel 2:19-21).

23 As a fifth example the words life and death sometimes refer to the life and death of the physical body (Exodus 21:12-14 - Deuteronomy 32:48-52 - 2 Kings 20:1-3 - Philippians 2:27-30) and sometimes to eternal life and eternal death (Proverbs 8:32-36 - 14:32 - John 1:4 - Isaiah 57:1-2 - Ezekiel 18:25-27 - 33:11 - 1 John 5:12-13).

24 As a sixth example the word father in the scriptures does not necessarily refer to blood relationship (Genesis 45:8-9 - Exodus 4:22 - Judges 17:10 - 18:19 - 2 Kings 6:21 - 8:9 - 16:7 - Psalms 45:16-17 - Luke 20:41-44).

25 And the father of the true children of Israel (Malachi 1:1-3 - Romans 9:6-8) is the holy spirit whose best representative is Jesus of Nazareth (4 Rommel 4:16 - John 8:19-20 - 12:42-46 - 14:8-9). Everyone is born ignorant and after the new birth our new father is the holy spirit who is the God of Israel (John 3:1-8 - 8:38-41,42-44 - 16:25-30).

26 As a seventh example the word Law refers to two separate things. It may be the particular pedagogy of Moses (Galatians 3:23-26 - 1 Corinthians 9:20-21) within which the hereditary tribe of Levi and the hereditary successors of Aaron have a particular role (Numbers 18). And they are the only ones authorized to receive whatever any Jew may wish to offer to God.

27 Or it may be the timeless law of Christ (1 Corinthians 9:21) since no one needs to be a Jew or know Moses before understanding the meaning of the word steal (appropriating the possession of another).

28 As an eighth example there is a clear distinction between Passover and the Feast of Unleavened Bread (Leviticus 23:4-8) but the two are closely linked, so that over the centuries the name of one might have been used to designate the other (Ezekiel 45:21 - Luke 22:1,7-8 - John 13:1 - 19:14).

29 In the sight of God the name of an entity is not some literal expression (Exodus 33:17 - Judges 6:31-32 - 7:1-2) but the abstract concept that this entity represents (Exodus 34:14).

30 For communities have different languages that can designate the same reality by different words and sounds, since the different alphabets sometimes have nothing in common.

31 And when God speaks of destroying a people, it is not necessarily a question of removing all the celestial bodies of the individuals who constitute that people (Numbers 24:14-25 - Ephesians 6:12) but the idolatrous belief systems which are the foundations of the organization of social life in these communities (Numbers 14:21 - Isaiah 11:9-10 - Micah 5:1-4 - Habakkuk 2:13-14 - Jeremiah 16:19-21 - 30:10-11).

32 The Epistle of John (4 Rommel 2:59-61) teaches in many places that only one thing is required, and since it is not always the same thing that is explicitly designated (1 John 2:23-24,28-29 - 4:7-8 - 5:11-12,20-21), then we must consider that those different things have the same meaning. And elsewhere the same epistle teaches that it is actually two things (1 John 3:23-24), and perhaps more (1 John 2:3-5 - 5:2-3).

33 These nuances are necessary because obedience to the holy spirit implies on the one hand the confidence that this obedience will give a place to our heavenly body. And on the other hand, there is a methodology to follow (1 John 2:20 - 1 Kings 3:5-12 - Proverbs 1:1 - 10:1 - 25:1 - Ecclesiastes 1:1 - 12:10-14).

34 To reject any form of idolatry but submit to the rules established in the surrounding society (Proverbs 24:21-23).

35 To obtain forgiveness for an offense by soliciting the actors concerned since this is the path indicated by the pedagogy of Moses (4 Rommel 7:19-20 - 5 Rommel 13:11-13), and to practice justice and fairness when dealing with anyone even strangers (Proverbs 14:34 - 21:3-4).

36 To understand that we are connected to our achievements by the notion of responsibility (Proverbs 6:1-5).

37 To analyze each situation before reacting (Proverbs 12:16 - 14:29 - 15:1 - 16:32 - 20:3).

38 To educate the youth because everyone comes into the world ignorant (Proverbs 3:11-12 - 13:24 - 22:6,15 - 23:12-21).

39 To stay focused on the goal (Proverbs 4:20-27).

40 There is no possibility of retaining the discriminatory pedagogy of Moses (Romans 2:13 - Galatians 3:10 - 2 Peter 3:15-16) because it is a sin against the holy spirit who is the true God (Isaiah 54).

41 Just as the writings of the prophet Jeremiah take place before the Babylonian captivity and could therefore concern events to occur before the arrival of the messenger of the new covenant mentioned in chapter 31, these writings of the apostle Paul (Romans 2:13 - Galatians 3:10) occur while the temple of the Jews, the workplace of the tribe of Levi and of the high priest direct descendant of Aaron, is still in operation (John 11:49-52).

42 Whoever wants to be under the law of Moses must absolutely identify all members of the hereditary tribe of Levi and the lawful successors among the sons of Aaron (Leviticus 25:32-34 - Numbers 5), and additionally identify all the Jews of mankind according to their paternal tribes (Leviticus 25:23-31 - Numbers 36 - Deuteronomy 23:19-20).

43 Such a person is a real asshole and if he is not just an ignoramus who is content to do what his father or his mother or his neighbors or his brothers told him to do (2 Chronicles 21:1-5 - Judges 9:1-5 - 1 Kings 12:10 - Job 32:1-10 - 2 Chronicles 15:16-17 - 22:8-12 - 2 Kings 6:26-29,30-31 - Isaiah 2:22) then he is truly cursed (Galatians 3:10).

44 Finally we must make the connection between Romans 2:12 and Romans 3:20-22.

45 And it is legitimate to ask what are the commandments considered by the apostle James who is supposed to be a disciple of Jesus of Nazareth and also a Jew at the same time (Luke 11:52 - 1 John 2:18-21).

46 For whoever keeps the whole law but sins against one commandment becomes guilty of all (James 2:10). Is anyone among you sick. Let him call the elders of the Church and let these elders pray for him and anoint him with oil in the name of the Lord. And the prayer of faith will save the sick, and the Lord will raise him up. And if he has committed sins, they will be forgiven him. Therefore confess your sins to one another, and pray for one another, so that you may be healed. For the fervent prayer of a righteous man is very useful (James 5:14-16).

47 Some point out that Acts 3:22-23 is not identical to Deuteronomy 18:18-19 and they thus indicate that Moses does not announce the arrival of a particular prophet who will give the people new or different laws (Deuteronomy 4:1-2) but that he announces a continuous series of prophets who will only give warnings to the people on future difficulties without ever changing a law that will never change (Genesis 1:29 - 9:1-3 - Leviticus 11:1-4).

48 However Moses never asked God to build a house with doors and windows (Ezekiel 44:1-5 - 46:1-3 - John 4:22) but only explained the plans for the construction of a movable work as the workplace of the high priest successor to Aaron, with the colors of the curtains and the arrangements of the altar of incense (Exodus 30:1-10) and of the altar of burnt offerings (Exodus 27:1-8 - 40:1-8).

49 And this teaching of Moses did not however survive forever but only during the nearly four hundred years which constitute the era judges (Judges 8:22-23 - Hosea 13:11 - Acts 7:44-53).

50 Deuteronomy 30:11 could be paralleled with the fact that all the important characters in the scriptures, starting with Moses himself and king David as well, have offended God (Numbers 20:9-12 - 1 Kings 15:5).

4 Rommel 12

1 Theological vocabulary (Luke 1:31-33 - John 8:51), second part: Ultimate revelation.

2 The only will of the creator of all things (God the Father) in the life of men is obedience to the holy spirit. And to transmit this teaching to men there were many prophets but the one who had the main and essential role was Jesus of Nazareth also called Son of God or Son of man (John 8:28 - Luke 13:18-21 - Acts 17:22-34).

3 So we have God the Father, and God the Son, and God the holy spirit.

4 The first chapter of the book of Genesis summarizes the story of creation and from the second chapter onwards it is about highlighting selected events for our instructions.

5 Throughout the Hebrew Bible God blesses or curses different characters by promising them that particular events will occur sometimes during their lives in the flesh, but very often after the death of their bodies (Genesis 15:1-6 - 17:1-8 - Exodus 34:5-7 - Deuteronomy 25:17-19 - 1 Kings 21:27-29 - Jeremiah 22:24-30 - 2 Samuel 7:22-29 - Nehemiah 9:6-8). And each person receives particular promises according to his personal relationship with God, that is to say, according to his attachment to the spirit of justice which includes his obedience to the will of God of which he has knowledge (Exodus 32:33 - Deuteronomy 24:16 - Ecclesiastes 6:1-6 - 1 Kings 8:25 - 9:1-9).

6 And Jesus of Nazareth came to explain to the Jews that he announces a good news to all mankind. It is that no one dies because each person is mathematically and physically connected to the totality of his or her accomplishments in the world. The kingdom of God is in our midst (Luke 17:20-21 - 20:37-38 - 1 John 3:2-3 - Acts 25:19).

7 His resurrection, a phenomenon already noted as being strange in the Jewish scriptures (Genesis 5:21:24 - 2 Kings 2:1-18 - 13:20-21), demonstrates the existence of eternal life (Acts 1:1-11) and makes us understand the means to access it (1 Peter 1:18-22 - John 3:16).

8 Just imitate his behavior by clinging to the holy spirit in all circumstances (John 13:34-35).

9 His words were spoken and written to comfort and sustain us in the midst of different trials. And if I obey his teaching, then I become the new form of his body and he becomes my spirit (Romans 8:9) because I have included him in the effective chain of transmission of information that I use to carry out my own realizations (John 14:22-24).

10 All the creators of sects and cults (2 Peter 2:15-19 - John 8:32) want to use you to give a place to their own heavenly body and to achieve this goal they must be directly responsible for a knowledge that you proudly use regularly in your life.

11 Either there are very small things to perform such as praying in a special way at particular times in addition to other prayers that may come from your own initiative, or practicing fasts on certain days of the week that have been chosen for you. Or they insist on certain vocabularies to be used systematically when the circumstances are favorable, or on the supposed exact spelling of certain expressions. Or they impose to have a significant utility in some of the most important events in your life, such as contributing to the choice of your life partner and ensuring that this relationship in which they have a great deal of responsibility produces lasting fruits (eg children).

12 The only way to endure eternal life without going to hell (leaving others a disgusting memory as a legacy) is to consistently practice what feels right and just to you in all your interactions with others, according to the information available to you. There are no other secrets, there is no particular ritual to practice.

13 The spirit of God is the spirit of justice and equity and this spirit can dwell in anyone who wishes but be careful, not everyone wants this and some know how to hide their intentions very well.

14 At any given moment there are only two kinds of people in the world namely those who are only concerned with the flourishing of all mankind and those who do not care (Luke 9:50 - 11:23).

15 Those who act out of ignorance still have the possibility of conversion (John 6:37) because every normal human being must offend the holy spirit (Psalms 32). But whoever renounces the faith after having had an exact knowledge of it, the same one is definitely cursed (Luke 12:10).

16 False Jews, whether they are spiritual or fleshly descendants of converted peoples (Esther 8:15-17) or whether they are truly of Abraham, know that not all the prophets of scripture are of the tribe of Levi. King David of Judah spoke from God (Psalms 22), and the son of a prostitute woman was a judge in Israel (Judges 11:1-3).

17 But they refuse to understand that the spirit of God cannot remain locked within four walls in a very holy place which only a privileged few have the right to approach according to their genealogy and function within that genealogy (Exodus 29:29-30 - 30:1-10 - Numbers 8:22-26).

18 A holy place that was initially in a moving structure (Exodus 26:30-37 - 40:1-7 - Numbers 1:47-54) which actually moved from place to place (Joshua 18:1 - 24:25-27 - Judges 20:25-28 - 1 Samuel 1:1-3 - 21:1,6 - 1 Chronicles 21:29). It is not abnormal that during a part of the time when there was still no king in Israel to represent the people before God, the tent of meeting was often moved since all tribes were expected to be equal in the eyes of God. But from a certain time it was installed at Shiloh (Judges 18:31 - 21:19) in a structure called the temple of Yahweh because Samuel, whose father is not of the tribe of Levi, has his dwelling within (1 Samuel 1:1-2 - 3:1-3,15 - Jeremiah 7:9-15).

19 A holy place that king David wanted to immobilize (2 Samuel 6:15-17 - 7:1-2 - 1 Chronicles 22:17-19) and that the prophet Ezekiel proposes to immortalize (Ezekiel 43:10-12 - 48:29-35).

20 They refuse to understand that there is no particular time of day or particular days of the year to fully experience God's presence (2 Kings 4:22-23).

21 Jacob also prophesied that his own spirit would not naturally be united with that of the Levites (Genesis 49:5-7).

22 Indeed, what could be more petty than a Jew who considers himself to be the intermediary between God and men (1 Thessalonians 2:13-16).

23 What is stronger than the God of Abraham and of Isaac and of Jacob, and what is sweeter than Jesus of Nazareth (Judges 14:14 - 1 Corinthians 15:3-4).

24 It is not a man who builds a house for God (Exodus 20:22-23 - Psalms 50 - 132:1-9 - Isaiah 66:1-2 - 2 Samuel 7:4-7 - 1 Chronicles 17:3-6).

25 It is God who builds a house for those he loves [that is to say, he allows them to have a legacy that endures forever (4 Rommel 11:23 - 12:60)] in order to reward them for their devotion to the holy spirit (Genesis 6:5-13 - 2 Samuel 7:11,16 - 1 Chronicles 17:10,14 - Psalms 132:10-18) as he rewarded Abraham (Genesis 17:1-7 - 18:17-19). And Jesus of Nazareth had the best place in the hearts of living beings because he has clung to the holy spirit since his birth and has never turned away from it (John 8:45-52 - 4 Rommel 14:12). And God will always succeed in giving a place to every person who loves the holy spirit (# The legacy of John the Baptist had some influence in the transformation that the world underwent - Luke 3:15-16 - John 14:1-2 - 1 Peter 3:21-22 - 4 Rommel 6:43 # And those who chose to cling to the Jewish people in the days before the coming of Christ were binding their souls to the usefulness that Jewish people have had in clarifying the identity of God - 4 Rommel 7:10 # And what is eternal is the holy spirit - 4 Rommel 4:10 - 1 Peter 1:24-25), because nothing is impossible for God (Genesis 18:9-12,13-14 - Jeremiah 32:16-18,24-27).

26 And it is impossible to surprise God (John 3:27 - Isaiah 29:15-16) because everyone always acts according to one's own nature. What changes is the information available and understood and the accumulated experience.

27 When we come into the world, we do not know how to behave in order to archive our own goal without this being followed by any unpleasant surprise through cause and effect relationships. [For each person is free to set his own goals (John 1:35-39 - 16:23-24 - Proverbs 24:17-18 - 2 Thessalonians 3:1-5,6-16 - 2 Peter 2:9-19 - 4 Rommel 12:24-25 - Luke 6:31). Ezra returned to Jerusalem in the seventh year of king Artaxerxes (Ezra 7:1-7,8-10) several decades after the completion of the reconstruction of the house of Yahweh (Ezra 6:15-18), but the will to rebuild the wall of Jerusalem is an initiative of Nehemiah who returned to the promised land in the twentieth year of king Artaxerxes (Nehemiah 1:1-11 - 2:1-20 - 8:1-6 - 13:1-6). And even among the apostles of Christ who are filled with the Holy Spirit, each one can have his own opinion concerning the solution that is suitable in a particular context to achieve the only objective which is the glorification of the God of Israel (Acts 9:17-20 - 11:19-22,23-26 - 13:1-4 - 15:35-41 - Romans 14:1-5,6-13 - John 3:8 - 2 Timothy 3:16-17).]

28 Perhaps we must trust people who are rich, or old people, or very strong people, or our parents regardless of our age (2 Chronicles 21:1-5 - Judges 9:1-5 - 1 Kings 12:10 - Job 32:1-10 - 2 Chronicles 15:16-17 - 22:8-12 - 2 Kings 6:24-29,30-31 - Isaiah 2:22).

29 Maybe we have to lie to everyone when there is no constraint and simply to protect our privacy or for fun (Judges 1:22-26 - Zechariah 8:16-17 - 1 Samuel 25:14-38 - 2 Samuel 13:10-20 - 2 Kings 5:15-27 - John 3:20-21 - Isaiah 5:8-16).

30 Maybe we have to make human sacrifices (Jeremiah 7:31 - 32:35 - Judges 11:30-40 - Deuteronomy 23:21-23 - Leviticus 27:28-29 - Ezekiel 20:25-26,30-31), or call on the dead to ask them what our behavior should be among those who are alive (1 Samuel 28:11-15), or carefully observe the brightness of the night and the configuration of the most visible stars (2 Kings 21:6) in order to achieve our own goals with a lasting satisfaction (Jeremiah 9:23-24 - Habakkuk 2 - Isaiah 5:21-24).

31 There is only one solution which is completely revealed by Jesus of Nazareth (2 Chronicles 9:7-8 - 1 Peter 1:18-25 - John 3:16 - Colossians 1:21-23).

32 And if the witnesses of his life and his resurrection were few it is not because God is wicked but because those who were chosen had the privilege of continuing to exist eternally by the information they transmitted to us.

33 It should not be an absurdity to define a celestial body as being the extension of a physical body by the notion of responsibility. A child still in the womb of the mother can provoke at a moment given, while she is imagining the future, a particular smile that will be seen, through a television that has been offered to him, by someone who will feel inspired and who will therefore take such an initiative and so on and the world is exchange.

34 The ten commandments cannot be for all mankind, God having given possessions to other human communities without giving them the ten words (Deuteronomy 2:1-12 - 5:1-4).

35 The sabbath day was created for the explanations of Jesus of Nazareth on the true identity of God according to the apostle Paul (Colossians 2:16-23) and on this day we did not stop caring about the prosperity of others but we taught the knowledge of a God whose identity was not yet fully revealed (Luke 4:16-21 - 14:1-6 - John 7:22-29).

36 What Jesus of Nazareth says is that on the one hand it is not the sabbath day that gives eternal life and the purpose of life is to obtain eternal life (1 Corinthians 15:45 - 1 John 1:2 - John 1:4). And on the other hand, if it is not a bad thing for a community not to systematically carry out the tasks essential to its survival every day of the week, it should not be thought that there must be a particular day of the week when we must stop worrying about the development of our neighbor.

37 Moreover, if the tablets of stones teach that covetousness is an offense against the creator of all things, pride is not mentioned (Daniel 4:30-37 - Colossians 3:23-25 - Ephesians 2:20-22 - 2 Timothy 3:16-17).

38 Jesus did not say: Carry a cross, walk a path with it and be crucified once a year or once in your life.

39 Condition A and condition B and condition C, is different from condition A only (Leviticus 11:1-7). Also compare Luke 9:23 - 14:27 with Luke 8:10-11 - 14:34-35 - John 16:25,29.

40 But he said: Love one another as I have loved you (John 15:12,17).

41 If christianity consists in being a disciple of Jesus of Nazareth, the works to be accomplished by a disciple depending on the interpretations of the different movements and schools of thought, and that in addition this Jesus of Nazareth was a Jew whose teaching is based solely on the Jewish religion, then how can we deny that christianity originated from a very ancient Jewish people (Romans 10:17 - John 4:22).

42 But all of this does not mean that christianity should continue to regard Judaism as an acceptable religion because of its origins.

43 This would be to misunderstand the teachings because what is said is that everything was savagery on earth, even Judaism which was simply one of the less savage organizations but which was also a savagery among others (Ezekiel 46:1-3 - Galatians 3:22 - Job 35:5-8).

44 And then a long-foretold light came into the world (Luke 13:18-21 - John 8:12). And he who does not receive this light is an outcast (Luke 9:50 - 11:23).

45 Judaism is indeed a religion which is centered on two hereditary things transmitted only at birth, namely belonging to the tribe of Levi and being a legitimate successor of Aaron.

46 And after the message of Jesus Christ some authors, among whom were Matthew and Mark who designed their books to make christianity unbearable for anyone interested in the foundation which is the Hebrew Bible, and also James, wanted to save something (Deuteronomy 23:1-8 - Numbers 5:11-31 - 36:5-13) that must disappear (Hosea 6:6 - 14:1-2 - Isaiah 66:3).

47 For the true holy of holies (Exodus 26:33-34) is in the heart and everyone is a Jew in the eyes of God (Exodus 20:22-23 - Joel 2:28-32 - Romans 2:28-29).

48 The spirit of prophecy (Ezekiel 1:1-3), which distributes different gifts to different people (1 Corinthians 12:4-12), is the testimony of Jesus-Christ (John 3:17-21) and even the falsifications know it as in the following extract.

49 And the angel said to me, Write this, Blessed are those who are invited to the wedding supper of the Lamb. And the angel said to me, These are true words of God. And I fell at his feet to worship him, but he said to me: Be careful not to do it. I am your companion in service, and that of your brothers who have the testimony of Jesus. Worship God, for the testimony of Jesus is the spirit of prophecy (Revelation 19:9-10).

50 In the early days of Christianity, a follower of Christ who was not a Jew did not necessarily have to behave like a follower of Christ who was a Jew.

51 For the latter could continue to give the hereditary tribe of Levi their means of sustenance while Paul tells the non-Jew that the true temple God is not this man-made house that is still standing but rather the body of Christ who is still alive (Acts 5:12-29,30-42 - 25:19). [In those days it was not easy to convince the Jews that the message of Jesus came from the God of Moses, and that is why the apostles prayed for the strength to perform miracles (Acts 6:1-7 - 8:5-8 - 9:31-35,36-42 - 13:1-12). For they had to convince the Jews that if a person commits a sin by offending another person then the forgiveness of such a sin can be done without the intermediary of a priest who is a descendant of Aaron (John 20:21-23 - Acts 4:32-37). They had to convince them that the temple of God, which has not yet been destroyed, must simply become a privileged place for teaching the message of Jesus (Acts 5:12-20,21-29). And the only thing that Jesus asked is to love one's neighbor as oneself, in other words one must do nothing in a publicly unjustifiable way and one must seek the good of others in everything that is done. For the teaching of Jesus is that there is eternal life that is accessible only through faith in his holy commandment, but even the apostles of Jesus do not know the exact definition of eternal life despite the fact that they know the only way to access it. That is why the disciples of Jesus do not intend to destroy the temple built to serve God through the commands given by Moses, but rather to explain the message of Jesus to all the Jews and gradually convince them (Acts 16:1-3 - 21:17-25,26-30 - 25:1-8,9-11 - 28:16-20,21-29 - Luke 5:36-39). And the temple will be destroyed by the Romans because of a revolt of the part of the Jews who have refused to believe in Jesus Christ and to teach his message to their children, and this is similar to the fact that the first Jewish temple built by Solomon had been destroyed by Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon after a revolt of Zedekiah the last king of Judah.]

52 The apostle Paul teaches in a context that is not eternal and he indicated in twelve letters, out of the thirteen attributed to him and which bear his name in the introductions of the texts, that he is in charge of edifying non-Jews.

53 Moreover, the spirit of Jesus of Nazareth was very dense in the early days of christianity because there was not yet much intermediary between the author of the message and the receiver.

54 Today when I recite a biblical verse which is supposed to be his word, it is not only his spirit that is invoked but rather the whole chain of responsibility which allowed this knowledge to be available to me in a specific place and at a precise moment since the message of Jesus Christ is that no one dies and that the kingdom of God is among us.

55 And these responsibilities are of various natures since there are theologians but also the printing press which published this book which I hold in hand or the manufacturer of this computer on which I am reading.

56 But all this is not a problem because there has never been any difference between men (Deuteronomy 10:16-20 - 1 John 4:20-21) and the true eternal God is the holy spirit (Ecclesiastes 7:10-14).

57 The special child who must forever strengthen the throne of king David (Isaiah 9:5-7) is Jesus of Nazareth whose body is the true temple of God (John 2:18-21) because when we practice his teachings we become his body (Ephesians 1:22-23) and his spirit which is also the spirit of God (John 3:34) then dwells in us (Ephesians 2:17-22 - 1 Corinthians 6:15-20).

58 Jesus of Nazareth is the only absolutely perfect man in the eyes of God. Without this certainty one would have considered possible the theories that lend him a different bride from the church (John 3:29-34) while John the Baptist would have lived in the wilderness and then had his head cut off (Luke 1:76-80 - 3:1-6 - 9:9) or even the theories that attribute to him children according to the flesh so as to attenuate the perfect beauty of his celestial body (1 Corinthians 7:7-8 - Isaiah 54:1-5).

59 The God of Israel is triune because the creative Father is intimately united with two main angels who are the Son and the holy spirit (Zechariah 4:3,11-14). Furthermore, the creator probably has seven main angels (Zechariah 4:2,10).

60 God can use the most unexpected means to enable those He loves to have, possibly anonymous, an eternally useful inheritance that can continue to exist in an enhanced form (Isaiah 40:25-28 - Jeremiah 45 - Proverbs 16:7 - Exodus 13:17-18).

61 It is not a sin to be strong or rich. But it is a sin to consider that these trumps can scare the lord of all the earth or that these trumps are a marvelous gift from him because it is not these things that can pass with certainty to future generations an eternally wonderful inheritance (Proverbs 18:11 - Psalms 49 - Habakkuk 1:6-12 - Zechariah 4:6).

62 God is for equal opportunities everywhere and at all times, considering everyone only according to their real abilities without favoring the poor (Exodus 23:1-8) and without disfavoring the rich (Exodus 30:14-15).

63 This does not mean that within any community any foreigner making a temporary stay must have exactly the same rights as a native in all aspects of social life.

64 However if you have to evaluate different people on a particular parameter (students in a classroom may be of different nationalities and backgrounds, some not even having confirmed legal status yet and I am in charge of assessing their knowledge of history - there was a fight in the street because a person provoked another and I am responsible for identifying the culprit - a person is looking for an object that was stolen from him and I am in charge to understand and solve his problem).

65 Then only the parameter concerned must be the object of the concern of the judge who must not worry about the other aspects of the life of the people involved (2 Chronicles 19:1-11 - Deuteronomy 1:16-17).

66 Some atheist does not seek proof of the existence of any god because logic is sufficient to understand nature but in this statement no clear definition of the word 'god' is proposed: if I say that I believe in the God of logic, am I in contradiction with the atheist.

67 False christians give the wrong meaning to the phrase 'believe in Jesus of Nazareth' because christianity teaches that Jesus is the king of the Jews (Luke 23:38 - John 19:19-22) therefore a christian must ask himself: What should a Jew who loves the King of the Jews do.

68 The commandments of the Jewish Bible are not frozen in time because between the beginning of Genesis and the Levitical book of Moses there is an evolution of what is allowed to eat (Genesis 1:29 - 9:1-3 - Leviticus 11:1-4).

69 And the events described in the last five chapters of the book of Judges occurred after the death of Joshua (Judges 17:6 - 18:1 - 19:1), and the populations have their habits (Exodus 20:3-4 - Deuteronomy 5:7-8 - Exodus 28:30 - Leviticus 8:5-8 - Deuteronomy 33:8-11 - Numbers 27:18-21 - Judges 17). But it is inconceivable that the tribe of Dan did not offer peace to their enemies [designated by Moses and Joshua] before attacking them (Judges 18:27-30 - Deuteronomy 20:10-12 - Joshua 11:18-20 - 1 Chronicles 4:38-43), for it must be thought that this was simply not mentioned.

70 And also the commandments of Moses are not all kept even by those who really love God since the tabernacle, the dwelling place of Yahweh which was built by Moses, has been replaced through the initiative of king David by a stationary house (2 Samuel 7:1-3). And it is possible that it was not only the members of the tribe of Levi who taught the knowledge of the law of Moses to the people in the time of Jesus of Nazareth (Numbers 3:11-16,39-41,42-51 - Deuteronomy 10:5-9 - Nehemiah 8:6-12), since Jesus was from the tribe of Judah and he was not condemned because he taught in the synagogues of the people (Luke 4:14-16 - 7:1-5 - John 6:57-60 - 18:19-20) and in the temple of Yahweh (Luke 2:40-46 - 19:45-48 - 21:37-38 - John 8:19-20 - 10:22-24 - Deuteronomy 12:13-14) but only because of his particular message (Luke 4:20-28,29-30 - John 5:16-18 - 10:25-36). [Since the functions that had been assigned to the Levites in the past (Numbers 1:50-54 - 4:1-20,21-28,29-33) should no longer be valid even in theory after the movable tabernacle built by Moses will has been replaced by a fixed house, therefore David gave new functions to the Levites (1 Chronicles 16:1-7 - 23:27-32 - 2 Chronicles 29:25) and for this reason David asked to number the Levites who will carry out the service by designating them among those who are twenty years old and above (1 Chronicles 23:1-3,25-27). For during the days of Moses, when the Levites had just received the function of transporting the sanctuary of Yahweh, the plans of which were shown to Moses because this structure did not exist before (5 Rommel 9:14-17 - Exodus 25:9,40 - 26:30 - 39:42-43), the Levites were numbered from the age of one month to know their total (Numbers 3:14-16,39 -

26:57-62,63-65) or from the age of thirty to transport the tabernacle (Numbers 4:34-49), and they could serve in the different parts of the sanctuary from the age of twenty five (Numbers 8:22-26).]

71 Whoever calls himself a religious Jew practicing Judaism after having read the writings on Jesus is really someone strange because he has deep down himself, in everything he does, the secret mission of identifying the twelve tribes of Israel distinctly.

72 And if he is asked why he believes in the Hebrew Bible which he himself received without having witnessed its writing, and does not believe in Jesus of Nazareth who is also an available knowledge.

73 Then on the one hand he can explain that there are inconsistencies in the christian New Testament.

74 However there are also in the Hebrew Bible, and in the same way that there are also books which are not considered as being holy scriptures by the Jewish bible, in the same way he should be interested in separating the books of the new testament author by author in order to also identify possible falsifications.

75 The apostle Paul teaches that God loves everyone from same way but that it is aimed primarily at non-Jews to teach them the knowledge of the faith.

76 On the other hand he can ask us why we believe in Jesus without having witnessed these events ourselves, but we only know that there is a message worthy of being received and whoever does not accept this message is an enemy of humanity (Galatians 3:21-29 - 1 John 4:20-21).

77 A religious artistic presentation does not necessarily consist in alluding to the holy scripture because it is simply a question of exposing useful achievements for its development, likely to be imitated in an edifying way.

78 In other words it is a question of bearing witness to the power of the holy spirit (Zechariah 4:6). Thus the trick of the Devil consists in promoting behaviors that are either useless or destructive.

4 Rommel 13

1 Moses (Numbers 28–29) vs Ezekiel (Ezekiel 45–46) concerning the obligatory part of burnt offerings, and burnt offerings are not eaten (4 Rommel 7:13). And these are the only offerings for which there are fixed dates in advance. [The only other offerings that are obligatory according to the law of Moses and that Ezekiel did not mention are the offering that must be made on the day of reconciliation (1 Rommel 3:35), and on the occasion of the celebration of the harvests at the feast of Firstfruits (Leviticus 23:9-22).]

2 Regarding the perpetual holocaust, on the one hand the meal offering is a tenth of an ephah of fine flour kneaded in a quarter of a hin of crushed olive oil every morning and every evening (Numbers 28:1-8).

3 And on the other hand the meal offering is one-sixth of an ephah and one-third of a hin of oil every morning Ezekiel (46:13-15).

4 Each sabbath day, on the one hand, two yearling lambs are to be offered with a meal offering of two-tenths of an ephah (Numbers 28:9-10).

5 And on the other hand, six lambs and a ram are to be offered with a ephah for the ram and a voluntary gift for each lamb (Ezekiel 46:4-5).

6 At the beginning of each month which is the new moon, on the one hand it takes two bullocks and a ram and seven lambs (Numbers 28:11-15).

7 And on the other hand it takes a bullock and a ram and six lambs (Ezekiel 46:6-7,11).

8 During each of the seven consecutive days of the feast which follows the fourteenth day of the first month, on the one hand there must be two bullocks and a ram and seven lambs (Numbers 28:16-25).

9 And on the other hand there must be seven bullocks and seven rams (Ezekiel 45:21-24).

10 And during each of the seven consecutive days of the feast which begins on the fifteenth day of the seventh month, the sacrifices must be identical for each each day according to Ezekiel (Ezekiel 45:21-24,25).

11 While there is from day by day a constant reduction of the number of bullocks to be offered according to Moses (Numbers 29:12-40).

12 We also notice a difference on the associated meal offerings (Numbers 29:14-15 - Ezekiel 46:11).

13 On the one hand, Moses had specified the ceremony that must be performed for the consecration of Aaron, and also each time for the consecration of the one among his sons who is chosen to succeed him as high priest (Exodus 29:1-14,29-34,35-37). And when Moses had set up the sanctuary of Yahweh for the first time after its construction, twelve leaders had approached to make an offering for the dedication of the sanctuary. There was one leader from each of the twelve tribes who are not supposed to serve in the sanctuary, since Levi is not included and Joseph is divided into two tribes. And those leaders had made a common offering which was to have some use for the sons of Levi whom Yahweh had chosen to be at his service in the sanctuary and to move this sanctuary each time when the congregation had to be moved (Numbers 7:1-9), and those leaders had also presented offerings for the inauguration of the altar of sacrifices (Numbers 7:10-11,84-88), but these offerings were made voluntarily and not according to a law imposed by Yahweh since different offerings were made for the dedication of the temple built by Solomon (1 Kings 8:62-63 - 2 Chronicles 7:1-5) and for the dedication of the temple that had just been rebuilt after the return of the captives from Babylon (Ezra 6:15-18). We notice that Yahweh loves very much the deeds that are done voluntarily by the initiative of the heart and not because of an external constraint (Leviticus 7:11-16,17-18 - 19:5-6 - 22:29-30 - Ezekiel 43:4 - 44:1-2 - 46:12 - Malachi 1:14 - 1 Chronicles 29:17-18 - 2 Chronicles 30:21-27), but he who does such a deed must be careful not to transgress the law of which he is aware (2 Rommel 5 - Romans 2:28-29), and this is why he who gives glory to God must express himself with authenticity using words inspired by life situations of which he is actually aware (Judges 5) rather than inventing poems about the beauty of imaginary things.

14 On the other hand, in the temple of Ezekiel the priests will be only the sons of Zadok who is himself a descendant of Aaron (Ezekiel 44:10-14,15-16), and Ezekiel says nothing about the consecration of the sons of Zadok but he describes the ritual that must be performed only once during seven days for the inauguration of the altar of sacrifices (Ezekiel 43:18-21,22-27).

1 Conclusion.

2 When we come into the world we find different narratives on various subjects and they all have a historical character so that a classification in order of usefulness can only be made after examining and understanding the teachings offered.

3 The notion of eternal life is clearly stated (4 Rommel 1:1-12 - 8:13-14) and what belongs to the realm of belief is the methodology to follow in order to endure in this mathematical space that is inseparable from the perceptible universe (4 Rommel 1:25 - 2:26 - 4:3-4 - John 8:45-52). [The notion of eternal life is mathematically defined independently of the hypothesis according to which living beings retain after the death of their flesh the consciousness that they possessed when they were in the flesh.]

4 Perhaps some rituals should be practiced at special times (John 14:3-6 - 2 Corinthians 5:1-7,8-15). The solution given by Jesus of Nazareth is the following thing: No one does anything without having a certain motivation inside himself, and what the creator of all things demands of each person is to have at every moment a justification that is PUBLICLY acceptable in his own eyes, even if he is the only one to know a part of the information that determines his behavior (Isaiah 51:12-13). In other words, his intentions must be continuously PUBLICLY justifiable in his own eyes (5 Rommel 4:1-7 - 5:44-45,46-47 - 4 Rommel 12:27-31 - 3 Rommel 1:49 - John 4:39-44 - Exodus 22:18 - Jeremiah 16:19-21 - Ecclesiastes 7:28-29). [Now the bible explains how this information that I have clarified, which is the definition of the Holy Spirit, was created in the world by Jesus of Nazareth (2 Corinthians 4:1-5 - 1 Rommel 1:37). For every living being who comes into the world creates a particular information (2 Samuel 18:17-18). And Jesus makes us understand that the ten commandments were given for the sole purpose of explaining how not to comply with them since what is interesting is why a person does something and not what that person does, and one of these ten commandments had the sole purpose of allowing a particular person called Christ to come into the world to create his particular legacy which consists in demonstrating the power of the Holy Spirit (Luke 6:6-11 - Acts 3:17-21 - Psalms 110:1 - 2 Corinthians 5:19-21 - 6:1-13). And the ten commandments were declared to all the people who came out of Egypt (Exodus 12:37-38 - 20:18-23) for the sole purpose of perpetuating the personal legacies of Abraham and of Isaac and of Jacob (Genesis 18:18-19 - 49:10 - Malachi 1:1-3 - 4 Rommel 12:24-25), and the coming of the revelation of Christ was delayed by the great transgression of the people who had just come out of Egypt (1 Rommel 3:20 - 3 Rommel 1:47-49 - 4 Rommel 1:24).]

5 There has always been a subtle difference between obedience to God and strict observance of the commandments of Moses' pedagogical law (John 5:39-40,41-47 - 2 Kings 18:1-7 - 23:24-27 - 2 Chronicles 32:32-33 - 35:20-27). [During these days when the exact identity of God is still unknown, Hezekiah was attached to the spirit (2 Chronicles 30:1-21,22-27) and Josiah was attached to the law (2 Chronicles 35:1-19)]

6 And since at the moment of the application of any commandment each one is alone before his God (Leviticus 7:11-18 - 19:5-6 - 22:29-30 - Amos 4:1-5 - Leviticus 10:1-7,16-20 - Numbers 10:29-33 - 32:1-5,16-23 - 2 Corinthians 3:12-18 - 1 Samuel 4:1-22 - 7:1-17 - 1 Chronicles 21:28-30 - Joshua 22 - Colossians 1:24-29 - John 5:39-40 - Luke 7:23-30,31-35).

7 Therefore this document proposes blind confidence in a hypothesis recognized as timeless by an original analysis of part of the biblical texts (Acts 13:38-52).

8 Namely the Hebrew Bible, and the Gospels of John and Luke, and the Acts of the Apostles, and the letters of Paul(13), and the letters of Peter(2), and the letter of John(1).

9 According to this theory which recalls natural selection in biology, populations as a whole tend to reproduce only, among the knowledge acquired in experimental situations, those that seem useful for the collective well-being.

10 As a result of this presentation, we must ask ourselves about the meaning of agnosticism and atheism by wondering if it is for the member to impose on oneself moral principles that one refuses by ignorance to designate by the word God (Daniel 3 and Daniel 6 teach us that the necessity of obeying the will of God should constitute the criterion for disobedience to any authority established by men, and Daniel 4 teach us that the necessity of obeying the will of God should be the primary concern of the authorities established by men, and the accurate knowledge of the divine will has come into the world through Jesus Christ).

11 Or if it is a question of denying the existence of heavenly bodies, conceived as an extension of physical bodies by the notions of responsibility and intellectual property (2 Rommel 8 - 4 Rommel 12:33), by defending the freedom to flourish without ever worrying about a possible justification of our actions to the circumstantially identifiable interlocutors (1 Rommel 1:38).

12 The observable physical death of the body is theologically attributed to the notion of sin which is individual without this excluding more precise causes studied by science. [For Jesus was born with the holy spirit since he did not commit any sin in his entire life, and consequently he was resurrected (1 Corinthians 15:12-22 - 2 Corinthians 5:19-21 - 1 Peter 2:21-22 - 1 John 3:3-7). And if John the Baptist who lived with the holy spirit died according to the flesh (Luke 1:12-15 - 7:24-30 - 9:7-9), it is because he was the reincarnation of Elijah (Malachi 4:4-6 - Luke 1:16-17 - 4 Rommel 2:63-64). For Elijah had not lived without sin like any other ordinary man, and Elijah had not yet died according to the flesh (2 Kings 2:11 - John 1:6-8). And John the Baptist seems not to know it himself since he recognizes himself only as the messenger who was announced by the prophet Isaiah (John 1:19-36 - Isaiah 40:1-5).]

13 And the question of the existence of a goal in life seems to be reduced to that to know if the one who has not simply wandered off at a certain stage of one’s life like king Solomon and who never cares about the interest of the rest of humanity as a whole can also transmit to future generations a heritage continuously used with admiration.

1 Introduction, The principle of the second trinity (Jonah 2 - 2 Samuel 22:20-32).

2 In order to understand what is the meaning of life.

3 In order to understand the scriptures of the new testament, which contain stories about the life of Jesus of Nazareth and his apostles, and also the writings of his apostles.

4 In order to understand the holy writings of the religion of the Hebrews Bible that make up the old testament.

5 It is necessary to make a clear distinction between the man Jesus who has departed the world there is nearly two thousand years.

6 And Jesus the only begotten Son of God who is the Christ and the firstborn of the creation of God.

7 The one who came into the world in the form of a man, and who stayed in the world while sitting at the right of his father.

8 If we can say that the only begotten son of God is our God, it is only because he is the only way to the true God.

9 Truth cannot exist without lies, but the constructions of lies eventually collapse while truth constructs remain coherent.

10 Do not be offended by the title of my letter, because if my master has a sense of humor, am I not supposed to imitate my model.

11 If the word gospel means good news, then can whoever announces good news be sad.

12 Did not the prophet write (Isaiah 6:9-10).

5 Rommel 2

1 Overview.

2 Indeed, and it is necessary not to be wrong, it is not a man that we must believe to have eternal life.

3 But it is in the one who came down from the sky and who went back to sit down to the right of his father.

4 There are deaths who have been resurrected according to the texts of the Gospels, but no resurrected one has ascended into heaven (John 7:18).

5 This document should help to understand the gospel (John 3:13-21).

6 The principle of the trinity (God the Father, and God the Son, and God the holy spirit), which I propose to call the first trinity, can be described as follows.

7 The creator, who is God the Father, is described in the Bible by rather special events that he has organized.

8 Among others, he has announced by various authors the coming of his only begotten son in the world, the coming of God the Son (Genesis 49:10 - Psalms 2:7-12 - Isaiah 50:4-11).

9 And since Jesus the man has risen from the dead to sit at the right of his father in heavenly places, men can receive God in their hearts in the form of the holy spirit who is called God the holy spirit (John 7:38-39 - 15:26 - Ephesians 2:22 - 1 Corinthians 3:16 - 1 John 4:6).

10 I state the principle of the second trinity (Jesus the God, and Jesus the only begotten Son of God, and Jesus the man) as follows.

11 The expression Jesus the God stems from the fact that it must be admitted that even if he spoke with great mischief, Jesus the man has never lied since his birth from a virgin woman until his installation on the right of his father (John 8:44,54-55 - Ephesians 4:21-24).

12 And Jesus the only begotten Son of God is the Christ. More precisely it is the concept of love of the general interest, the explicit form of the unique command given by Jesus the man.

13 He came into the world in the form of Jesus the man, and he did not leave the world after the departure of Jesus the man (1 John 3:6 - John 14:6 - Ephesians 1:20-23).

14 The one who denies that everyone's objective must be to participate in the general interest, this one is certainly a liar (1 John 2:22-23).

15 The set of all men of all nations who have the circumcised heart is the church. It is this set that is the body of the only begotten son of God (Ephesians 4:14-16 - 1 Corinthians 12:27 - 1 Peter 2:9-10 - Romans 12:4-5).

16 With the second trinity, on the one hand faith and the possible associated persecutions do not necessarily consist in taking an interest in Jesus the man but unquestionably in Christ.

17 On the other hand, messianic prophecies become a little less obscure because we can see that some are written about Jesus the man (Isaiah 53).

18 And some others are written about Jesus the only begotten Son of God whose body is the true church (Isaiah 42:1-9).

19 And some others are written about both (Isaiah 52:13-15).

20 Faith consists only in loving God with all your heart and in loving your neighbor as yourself (Luke 10:25-28).

21 More concretely, since God is simply the notion of truth in christianity as I will expose it in the section 'The identity of God', faith consists in loving everyone in general and not trusting anyone in particular (1 Timothy 5:24).

22 I am writing this document because I would have liked someone to do it for me when I started to be interested in the content of the Bible in early March of 2014. Previously, it had already happened to me open a Bible, two or three times, to search methodically the interest of its contents.

23 But I had always started with the first pages of the book, and I had always been discouraged after the first two chapters of Genesis because I did not understand what was God's pilosity, and his exact hairstyle, at the moment when he breathed a breath of life into the nostrils of the man he had created in his image.

24 I had then convinced myself that this book could only be a collection of poems expressly conceived to comfort, under different circumstances, those who need to be comforted.

25 Thus, before the end of 2013, I did not know what the terms old testament and new testament mean, nor the words gospel and apostle which had a comic connotation in my mind.

26 I did not study the entire contents of the old testament to conceive of this work (John 6:43-46).

27 On the subject of my willingness to share what I understood from my investigations, I must say that I never received an order or a promise like the apostle Paul. I am simply the work of God, as each of between us.

5 Rommel 3

1 The identity of God.

2 Science aims to establish knowledge about the work of God and experiment is then used to purify speculations, while the holy scriptures reveal the will of the creator.

3 It is written that God knows in advance those who will have eternal life consequently his word must come where it is needed to convince those who must be through this procedure.

4 The sky, which is the throne of God, is the place of residence of abstract concepts.

5 God is the notion of truth, and Christ who is his only begotten Son is the notion of love of the general interest, and all souls have been created in the image of God and are also abstract concepts. The hand of God is the laws of nature that scientists seek (John 14:9-10 - 1:18 - 4:24 - Romans 1:20-23 - 1 Timothy 6:16 - Isaiah 48:12-13 - Jeremiah 23:23-24 - Psalms 139:6-12 - John 6:61-63 - 1 Corinthians 15:35-38,42-50 - Luke 20:34-38 - John 12:23-26).

6 God creates the spirit of man in his image, and no element of creation, being alive or being inert, is the creator.

7 The story of creation is necessarily a metaphor chosen by the holy spirit to describe a complex process that it is up to us to specify.

8 Because God loves that man seeks him, he wants all men to reason like scientists and that there be no idolater (Isaiah 45:18-20 - Acts 17:24-31 - Psalms 146:3-6 - Isaiah 2:22).

9 The body of man is not in the image of God, and the chronology which is exposed in the story of creation (three days, morning and evening successions, are elapsed before the creation of the sun) was not conceived from a human perspective (2 Peter 3:8).

10 Even the discovery of a form of extraterrestrial life cannot question the nature of God and the word of God.

5 Rommel 4

1 The purpose of life.

2 We are genetically children of our parents, but we are necessarily creations of God (Isaiah 45:9-12).

3 Life is a pilgrimage.

4 The only purpose of life is the circumcision of the heart of God's elect (Daniel 12:2-3).

5 If a human has a circumcised heart from birth, then this human is the incarnation or reincarnation of a spirit who is already a son of God, like the man Jesus or John the Baptist (4 Rommel 14:12).

6 No other human can be born with the circumcised heart (Romans 3:4 - 1 John 1:8-10 - Psalms 51:5-8 - John 3:3-8).

7 This circumcision is done by the hand of God when one confesses the only begotten son of God, in other words when one realizes that it is always necessary to think and act out of love for the general interest without ever meditating any injustice against anyone, and without ever engage in any form of idolatry (Colossians 3:5-11 - Ephesians 5:6-11 - 1 Peter 1:22-23,24-25 - 2 Peter 1:1-8).

8 All the sins of the one who accepts the only begotten son of God in all aspects of his life are automatically forgiven (2 Peter 1:9-10 - Luke 11:34-36 - John 13:10-11 - Luke 5:17-26).

9 By definition, and it must be understood that it is a definition, every person who has the circumcised heart automatically has the holy spirit and is a member of the body of Christ, even if the man Jesus is not known to this person (4 Rommel 6:46), as it is written (John 4:23 - Ephesians 1:13 - Galatians 3:26 - 2 Corinthians 3:18).

10 We understand then that, if all sins are forgiven by the confession of the only begotten son of God, then no particular ritual is necessary to have eternal life, not even the ritual of baptism (1 Peter 3:21-22).

11 Any form of idolatry is incompatible with the justice of the heart that characterizes anyone who has confessed the only begotten son of God, because idolatry inevitably inculcates hatred (Luke 16:13).

5 Rommel 5

1 Objective of the holy scriptures and the sacrifice of the man Jesus.

2 The apostle Paul says that the purpose of the scriptures is to prepare the reader for the trials of life (2 Timothy 3:16-17 - Romans 15:4 - 1 Corinthians 10:11).

3 It should be noted that the scriptures can be categorized as follows: the period of creation extends from the creation of heaven to that of the Garden of Eden. And the period of the patriarchs extends from Adam and Eve to Moses. And the period of the law and the prophets extends from Moses to Zechariah. [I said Zechariah because of the words of Jesus who spoke of a certain Zechariah in Luke 11:47-51, but I could also have said Malachi who seems to be the last prophet to have left a written revelation in the Hebrew Bible, and it may seem more appropriate to say John the Baptist who is the last major prophet to have lived before the final revelation of Jesus Christ.]

4 And the last hour, or the end of the centuries, or the coming century, is the period that extends from the coming of the Just with his messenger and his apostles (John the Baptist - Jesus - Paul - Peter - John) until the second advent.

5 From a qualitative point of view, we can distinguish the generation of prophets stretching from Adam to Jesus, and the generation of the last hour, which begins with the introduction of the holy spirit into the world, and which will end at the second advent.

6 If all the scriptures come from a particular people, and are expressed in a particular language, it is legitimate to ask why other peoples should be interested in it with confidence.

7 It must be noted that God has been able to manifest himself in different ways to other peoples of the earth, because by definition the law is addressed to those who have not naturally received the gift of discerning by themselves the way of Justice.

8 Indeed, God in whom there is no injustice did not choose the people of the Hebrews to testify that he makes a difference between the souls he created in his image.

9 But he chose them to reach those to whom he has not give the ability to find him by other means (1 Timothy 1:8-11).

10 God hid his identity and that of his only begotten Son to the writers of the old testament.

11 He was called in different ways (YHWH - God of Abraham and of Isaac and of Jacob - Lord).

12 And he scrambled the tracks by addressing the prophets through angels represented in their visions from a human perspective.

13 Thus, the descendants of Abraham according to the flesh could have imagined that their God belonged to them and was locatable in space and time (Genesis 28:10-22).

14 And they maintained the tradition of genealogies according to the will of God.

15 But in reality the promises of the scriptures concern all the righteous of all nations (1 John 2:29 - Ephesians 3:3-6 - 1 Timothy 1:3-4 - Titus 3:9).

16 In declaring himself apostle of the Gentiles several times, Paul encouraged the translations of his writings which are sufficient to understand what is to be understood, without being disturbed by falsifications which the enemies of the gospel may introduce elsewhere (2 Timothy 3:14-15).

17 The purpose of the scriptures, therefore, is to convince those who are to be convinced by this means. Because it is enough to say few things to certain people so that they understand what is essential (Romans 10:17).

18 Thus, God raised men among the Hebrews to fulfill his purpose (Romans 10:14). God has therefore chosen Abraham to bring forth through his flesh a people through which he will state the laws that lead to the righteousness of the heart, which is the righteousness of God.

19 But laws clearly stated in this way constitute a curse because they are necessarily incomplete.

20 For example, based on the ten commandments, if a Hebrew is attacked on a sabbath by someone who wants to make war on him then must he defend himself and disobey the law or must he obey the law and let oneself be slaughtered so as not to have sin.

21 Thus Hebrews who are righteous in their hearts can be guilty according to the law, and deeply dishonest Hebrews can use the letter of the law to do criminal acts without God being able to convict them as guilty, for example by letting a patient die rather than performing an operation on the sabbath.

22 Thus, all those who were under the law were sinners, either with respect to the law for those who wanted to be righteous or with respect to justice for those who wanted to obey the law (1 John 4:10 - 1 Timothy 1:15 - Galatians 3:22 - Romans 11:32-36). [When Jesus of Nazareth performed miracles on the sabbath days, those who approved him acted well according to their point of view, since Jesus was doing good to people who were suffering, and those who condemned Jesus acted well according to their own point of view, since they had the desire to sanctify the sabbath day as it was commanded to them in the law given by Moses. It can be noted that two different reasons have been stated to justify the commandment concerning the sabbath day (Exodus 20:8-11 - Deuteronomy 5:12-15).]

23 Since the law itself is a curse simply because of its existence, the necessary end of the law is marked by the fact that it is used to justify the murder of the man Jesus who has always been absolutely irreproachable according to justice of the heart, and therefore pleasing to God from his birth through a virgin girl to his crucifixion.

24 And the apostles confirm this reality (John 5:18 - 1 Peter 2:22-25).

25 It is the law given by God which is the exact justification of the death of a person whose guilt cannot be recognized in any of the actions he has practiced throughout his life. And this injustice provoked by the law is an act of jurisprudence that makes the law condemnable before God.

26 So God stops using the law to judge the Hebrews who were under this law, and he gives justice to the man Jesus by raising him from the dead (1 John 4:9).

27 Since it was God who had enunciated this cursed law, the punishment fell on his own son, who is not the son of a man (Galatians 3:13-14).

28 This whole story is about the people who received the law (Romans 3:19-20).

29 As soon as the law becomes condemnable before God, the new tool for the judgment of the world is the tool that was in the beginning, the tool that was used before the coming of the law by Moses namely the justice of the heart (Galatians 5:13-14 - Romans 13:8).

30 The scripture however said that the gospel has been also announced to the dead. Perhaps this is a way of informing us that some of the dead, since Abel, are being sent back to the world so that they can reach the circumcision of their hearts, so that all those who have been predestined will find themselves on the right side on the day of judgment.

31 I think that in the day of judgment all souls will leave their body envelopes but some will inherit eternal shame, and others will inherit eternal life by constituting what was good in Adam the first man because truth cannot exist without lies but truth can be separated from lying (1 Peter 3:18-19 - 4:6 - 1 Corinthians 15:51-53).

32 And because the gospel teaches us that the only begotten Son of truth is the love of the general interest who is Christ.

33 What has changed from the beginning, what in which the law has been useful, is that the people are now educated about the nature of God and the purpose of life.

34 They are instructed by all those who announce and distribute the word of God in all nations, to the ends of the earth (Romans 15:8-12 - Luke 16:27-31).

35 The righteousness of the heart is simply fulfilled by the ten commandments among which the four that specify concrete actions (and not thoughts) must be mixed with the notion of love.

36 All souls have the same price before God (Romans 3:21-24 - Galatians 4:4-5 - Galatians 5:1 - Ephesians 2:13-18).

37 So if everyone is justified only by the justice of his heart then in a certain sense everyone is Jewish (Romans 2:28-29 - Romans 3:1-3).

38 Personally, I think that those who received the circumcision of the flesh already have their advantage, and that the law and Moses were for the Hebrews what Paul and his epistles were for the Gentiles.

39 The goal of these two men was to inculcate the beginnings of wisdom in their audiences (2 Corinthians 3:14-17 - Galatians 3:23-25 - Colossians 2:17 - 1 Corinthians 2:6-8,14-16 - Isaiah 28:23-29).

40 It is permissible and recommended not to abide by the ten commandments in certain situations, and this fact can already be seen in the laws given by Moses as I mentioned in the section 'The humor of the holy scriptures' (John 5:39-40,41-47).

41 And we know that the just will live by faith (Habakkuk 2:4). And there is no faith in the righteousness of the heart where there is the law (Galatians 3:10-11,29).

42 The notion of posterity according to God does not come from the bonds of the flesh but links of the spirit.

43 We are the posterity of all those who lived before us and whom we regard as models (Genesis 18:18-19 - Ezekiel 33:23-29 - Galatians 3:6-9) and it is in this way that the Christ of God is destined to have children (Psalms 45:6-7,16-17). [Psalms 45 concerns Solomon but not only since a message that glorifies the spirit of justice is valid for all the holy prophets of God, and is more fully applicable to Jesus of Nazareth who is the prophet par excellence. And we can see that ordinary people are called gods in Psalms 82.]

44 The cornerstone that the builders have rejected is the man Jesus. But the stumbling block and the rock of scandal on which many stumble and break, are entwined and caught, it is Christ Jesus the only begotten Son of God (1 Peter 2:6-8 - Romans 9:6-8).

45 What is therefore asked of each one is to love and seek the truth without any idolatry in the heart, and to seek the general interest (either by giving one's life or by keeping it) without hating whoever it is otherwise one runs into the stumbling block (Leviticus 19:11-18 - Micah 6:6-8).

46 God allows and recommends that the ten commandments be ignored to one who can expose his actions in a human court, without any falsification of any aspect of the facts, with the conviction of being recognized as being just (John 20:22-23 - 1 John 1:5-7 - Genesis 9:5).

47 This is how Jesus sometimes speaks of himself as the only begotten Son of God (John 5:26-27,30), and it may be noted that Paul himself asks believers to apply righteousness among them (1 Corinthians 5:1-5 - 6:1-3).

48 Thus, all things are permitted to him who acts in the name of the only begotten Son of God.

49 It is in the name of the only begotten Son of God that Lot has proposed to the men of his city to have fun with his virgin daughters rather than to kill visitors (Genesis 19:5-8).

50 It is in the name of the only begotten Son of God that the daughters of Lot chose to give birth with their father rather than disappear with him in an isolated region (Genesis 19:31-32).

51 Because he could not have the intention of liberating the Hebrew people by doing so, it is in the name of the only begotten Son of God that Moses has attacked a cruel Egyptian (Exodus 2:11-12).

52 It is in the name of the only begotten Son of God that David chose to consume what the law of God only reserved for the priests (1 Samuel 21:3-6).

53 This freedom to be well intentioned constitutes the message of the gospel and the substance of the pedagogical law of Moses (Acts 7:51 - John 1:17 - Isaiah 28:8-16).

5 Rommel 6

1 About the Christ of God who lives forever.

2 Paul differentiates between the man Jesus and Christ the only begotten Son of God (Colossians 1:15).

3 Christ is the first creation of God, but it is only at the birth of the man Jesus that he came into the world.

4 And he remained in the world after the departure of the man Jesus.

5 He remained in the world by sitting at the right of his father, and he is by definition the holy command given by the man Jesus.

6 The house of God announced by the prophet cannot be built by the hand of man (2 Samuel 7:5 - Isaiah 66:1-2).

7 The house of God is built by Christ, and the house of God is the body of Christ.

8 The body of Christ was born when the holy spirit was brought into the world after the departure of the man Jesus.

9 And to this day the body of Christ is that of a child, as I exposed to the section 'Falsifications in the Bible' (2 Samuel 7:12-16 - Daniel 7:14,27).

5 Rommel 7

1 The humor of the holy scriptures.

2 To renounce all that I possess (to be poor) means to possess only to render service to everyone in general and to no one in particular (Luke 6:20 - 12:33-34 - 14:33 - 4 Rommel 8:15).

3 The believer who acts without love can crush the only begotten Son of God without touching him (Luke 8:43-48 - 1 Corinthians 13:3).

4 Moreover, about the exchange between Jesus and the rich man (Luke 18:18-24), it is obvious that he expresses himself with mischief because he himself does not respect the ten commandments.

5 And not only does he not respect them, but in addition he is given the mission to encourage others not to respect them.

6 Indeed, he works on the sabbath which is forbidden by the fourth commandment, by asking a clear question to his interlocutors (Luke 6:6-11).

7 Furthermore, he asks his interlocutors to remember that David stole (Luke 6:1-5) and this is forbidden by the eighth commandment.

8 And we can remember for ourselves that David also killed (1 Samuel 17:49) and this is forbidden the sixth commandment.

9 And we can also remember that Moses himself asked to kill (Exodus 21:12-14 - Deuteronomy 19:1-6,11-13 - Numbers 35:30-31 - Deuteronomy 19:15).

10 The Apostle Paul confirms Jesus' sense of humor by stating that the ten commandments, which the man Jesus did not respect, are fulfilled by the one commandment given by the man Jesus (Romans 13:9-10).

11 This complicity between Christ and his apostle also appears when the man Jesus speaks (Luke 16:14-18).

12 It is with mischief that he wants to signify to the greedy pharisees that they need Christ not to be guilty before God, in other words it is through Christ that it is possible not to respect the seventh commandment while being without sin before God.

13 The usual wording being that the Lord's cross or his precious blood cleanses us from all sin.

14 To convince oneself of this reality, it suffices to remark that Paul states that the Lord commands two believers who are married not to separate (1 Corinthians 7:10-11).

15 However, he also adds that if one of the spouses behaves like a non-believer and imposes separation then the other spouse is no longer bonded (1 Corinthians 7:12-16) and therefore can remarry without offending the Lord.

16 And after all these indirect remarks about the possibility of transgressing one of the four commandments of actions.

17 For among the ten commandments, the five that concern only the thoughts and intentions must be rigorously respected in all circumstances, so that they determine the limits of the unique ambiguous commandment which is formulated with a promise because God is also the true father of each (2 Chronicles 15:16-17).

18 The man Jesus asks his interlocutors whether it is possible that David was not aware of the fifth commandment (Luke 20:41-44).

19 This particular humor of the man Jesus can also be seen in the Gospel of John. In fact, he first remarks that he came to sacrifice himself (John 4:31-34).

20 And then he himself suggests to his interlocutors to use the law of Moses to condemn him to death (John 7:17-24).

21 It is true that this excerpt can also be interpreted by saying that Jesus informs his interlocutors that they should not condemn him when he does not respect the fourth commandment, because they may find themselves in a situation where they must also disobey to this commandment.

22 For example, when a circumcision is to be performed on the eighth day (Genesis 17:12 - 4 Rommel 6:19).

23 And the apostle Paul also does not lack humor (Galatians 3:27 - Romans 6:3-4 - 1 Corinthians 15:29 - 3:18 - 2 Corinthians 12:15-16 - 1 Corinthians 9:19-23 - 1 Timothy 2:5-8).

24 And though it is true that those who were not created in Christ by God do not have eternal life [that is to say, those who were not created to belong to Christ, for everything was created through Christ but not everyone was created to belong to Christ], he says more about the prayer (Galatians 1:15-17 - Ephesians 2:10 - 6:19-20 - Colossians 4:2-4).

25 Like Paul, the apostle John shares the same complicity with his master when he testifies to us that we will be heard if we pray to God to grant eternal life to a person who has never committed the one unforgivable sin, as I exposed it in the section 'Figures of rhetoric, Prayer' (5 Rommel 12:19-24).

26 It appears that Peter is the only apostle who has remained serious (2 Peter 3:15-16).

27 And we know, in fact, that the two epistles of Peter and the epistle of John are addressed to believers who already have the wisdom of the law (Galatians 2:7-10).

28 The apostles were not saddened by the trials that life imposed on them (Acts 5:41) as they indeed have the right to be happy and to make known it, because they saw the first risen one who ascend to heaven (John 16:19-23).

29 Thus, the man Jesus speaks mischievously because he knows that his goal is to never to commit sin and to be judged guilty by conservative Hebrews, and to be killed as a person who is cursed according to the law of Moses.

30 And as soon as it happens, the law will become condemnable in the eyes of God who himself stated it by Moses.

31 And the law will cease to be valid so that God can again judge men by their faith in God, their faith in truth, their faith in the justice of heart, as was the case before the arrival of Moses (John 10:14-18 - 5 Rommel 5:33-34).

32 Thus, all the righteous of all nations can receive the same spirit, the holy spirit, and are all equal before God as I have stated in the section 'Objective of the holy scriptures and the sacrifice of the man Jesus'.

33 If anyone does not confess the only begotten Son of God, then he is charged with sins because he refuses the righteousness of the heart taught by God and he prefers either his own righteousness or the justice of certain men.

34 And the righteousness of God is the resurrection of all those who died with Christ, because of the act of jurisprudence established by the man Jesus (John 16:7-11 - Malachi 3:6).

5 Rommel 8

1 The bible is not the only way (Islam).

2 The circumcision of the heart does not necessarily come from the knowledge of the man Jesus.

3 The man Jesus is not the way of all the chosen of God, but the Christ the only begotten Son of God is the way of all the elect of God (1 Colossians 1:17 - 1 John 5:20-21).

4 Faith is not to know the holy scriptures, but only to observe the holy commandment (1 Thessalonians 4:3-8 - 1 Timothy 1:6-7 - Galatians 6:15 - 5:6 - 1 John 2:3-6 - 3:10).

5 The man Jesus himself emphasized that he is not the way of all the elect (Luke 5:32 - Luke 19:10).

6 Thus, concerning Islam and the Prophet Muhammad, I who am not a descendant of Abraham according to the flesh, I do not absolutely think that the following scriptures have a negative connotation (Genesis 16:10-12 - 21:9-20 - Galatians 4:22-25).

7 I say then: certainly the prophet Muhammad was sent by God who is the creator of all things, and who desires that Ishmael (his posterity according to the spirit, made up of all those who choose him as a model) serve him by a particular way.

8 We know that the purpose of life is the circumcision of the heart therefore, necessarily but not with the same intensity, God uses persecution to test his elect (Genesis 15:13 - Psalms 34:17-20 - 2 Timothy 3:12 - 1 Peter 1:6-7 - 5:6-7 - 1 John 5:19).

9 And although ordinary humans are not born with the knowledge of the concept of justice, God the creator intended to lead astray those who are unjust according to their nature (2 Thessalonians 2:11-12).

5 Rommel 9

1 Falsifications in the bible, first part: The new testament.

2 If we presented a story of the future events to a scientist, he would be well inspired to check the correspondence between the events described and the reality of the facts before deciding on the plausibility of the extrasensory capacities of the author.

3 But one would have to wonder if the story could have been altered, one way or another, before its transmission.

4 We know in ourselves that a text which claims to be a word of God, the creator of all things, can contain no lie [and a lie is in the quality of the result that an author hopes to obtain by all the subtleties of the content of his message]. And this is confirmed by the apostle (1 John 2:18-21).

5 About the epistle to the Hebrews.

6 The writer of Hebrews teaches that Melchizedek is a living priest who lives forever.

7 He compares Melchizedek to God by stating that he has neither father nor mother. And neither beginning of days nor end of life.

8 And that Melchizedek is a priest continuously even today, and is a great man because Abraham gave him the tithe of the spoil and because it is unquestionably the inferior who is blessed by the superior.

9 And this author says also that those who perceive the tithe instituted by the law in the old testament are mortal men and he writes about Melchizedek: but there, it is the one of whom it is attested that he is alive.

10 No man takes this glory to himself, unless he is called by God as was Aaron. Neither did Christ take to himself the honor of becoming high priest, but he received it from the one who said to him: You are my Son, this day have I begotten you. As he says elsewhere: You are a priest forever, according to the order of Melchizedek (Hebrews 5:4-6).

11 For this Melchizedek was the king of Salem, the priest of the God Most High, who met Abraham when he returned from the defeat of the kings and blessed him. And to whom Abraham gave tithe of all things. He who is first king of justice according to the meaning of his name, and then king of Salem namely king of peace. The one who is without father, and without mother, and without genealogy. He who has neither beginning of days nor end of life, but is made like the Son of God. This Melchizedek remains a priest in perpetuity. Now consider how great was this man to whom the patriarch Abraham gave a tithe of the spoils. For those of the sons of Levi who exercise the priesthood have, according to the law, the order to collect tithes from the people, namely from their brothers, although they came from the waist of Abraham. But he who did not draw his origin from them, took the tithe of Abraham and blessed him who had the promises. Now it is without doubt the lower who is blessed by the higher (Hebrews 7:1-7).

12 And here those who receive tithes are mortal men. But there it is one of whom it is witnessed that he is alive. And to put it bluntly, Levi who receives the tithe paid the tithe through Abraham. For he was still in the waist of his father when Melchizedek went to meet Abraham (Hebrews 7:8-10).

13 If then perfection had been possible through the Levitical priesthood, for the people received the law under this priesthood, why was there still necessary for another priest to appear according to the order of Melchizedek and not according to the order of Aaron? For the priesthood being changed, there is also necessarily a change of the law. For the one about whom these things are said belongs to another tribe, of which no member has served at the altar. For it is well known that our Lord came out of Judah, a tribe of which Moses said nothing concerning the priesthood. And it becomes even more obvious when another priest appears in the likeness of Melchizedek, who is not made priest according to the law of carnal ordinance but according to the power of an imperishable life. For this testimony is given to him: You are a priest forever, according to the order of Melchizedek (Hebrews 7:11-17).

14 I believe that the author of this epistle to the Hebrews did not understand the message of the gospels (Luke 9:46-48 - 22:24-27).

15 He did not understand that Jesus is the only priest alive (John 14:6).

16 He did not understand that Jesus is comparable to God only because he never said a lie.

17 And he did not understand that it just means we have to get closer to Jesus only by faith in him (faith in the notion of love of neighbor) in the same way that Melchizedek was a priest (logically devoted to social work) only by faith at a time when the law of Moses was not enunciated (Psalms 110:1-4 - Exodus 19:5-6,24-25 - Genesis 14:18-20 - And Jacob made a promise in Genesis 28:16-

22, a promise that reminds us of the commandment that God gave long afterward to the children of Jacob through Moses in Numbers 18:21-24,25-32, and we must think that he fulfilled that promise since he had returned in peace to the house of his father according to Genesis 27:41-46 - 28:1-5 - 35:1-7,27-29).

18 I think this author is an antichrist who wants to encourage idolatry.

19 About the epistle of James.

20 The author of the epistle of James suggests that it is poverty in material things that conditions access to eternal life.

21 May the brother of humble condition rejoice in his elevation. And he who is rich, in his humiliation. For it will pass away like the flower of the grass. The sun has risen with its fiery heat and is withering the grass. And its flower falls, and the beauty of its appearance is gone. Likewise the rich withers in his way (James 1:9-11). Listen, my beloved brothers. Has not God chosen the poor in the eyes of the world, so that they may be rich in faith and heirs of the kingdom which he promised to those who love him? But you have despised the poor. Is it not the rich who oppress you and bring you to court? Are they not the ones who insult the honorable name by which you are called? (James 2:5-7).

22 And this is completely false (1 Thimothy 6:17-19 - Luke 19:1-10).

23 He also suggests that faith, and not repentance for sinful behavior, should be practiced in mourning and tears.

24 Feel your misery, and be in mourning and tears. Let your laughter turn into mourning, and your joy into sadness. Humble yourselves before the Lord, and he will exalt you (James 4:9-10).

25 Yet the characteristics of faith imply that we must rejoice in hope and be patient in affliction (Philippians 4:4 - 1 Pierre 3:15-16 - 5:10).

26 He also teaches that a sick person will obtain healing and forgiveness for his sins by calling on the elders of the church to pray and perform rituals provided that trust of the sick person is total in this action of the elders of the church.

27 Is anyone among you sick. Let him call the elders of the Church and let these elders pray for him and anoint him with oil in the name of the Lord. And the prayer of faith will save the sick, and the Lord will raise him up. And if he has committed sins, they will be forgiven him. Therefore confess your sins to one another, and pray for one another, so that you may be healed. For the fervent prayer of a righteous man is very useful (James 5:14-16). If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask God who gives to all simply and without reproach. And it will be given to him. But let him ask in faith and without doubting. For he who doubts is like the wave of the sea, tossed by the wind and driven from side to side. Let not such a man imagine that he will receive anything from the Lord (James 1:5-7).

28 This author is a true antichrist (Exodus 20:3 - Luke 16:16).

29 The first commandment simply indicates that one must beware of any kind of idolatry since in reality there is only one God who is God is by his nature. And in any case, prayer only serves to strengthen the one who prays, as I will expose it in the section 'Figures of rhetoric, Prayer'.

30 About the epistle of Jude.

31 The author asks us to hate those who are against our opinions, to hate even the tunic soiled by their flesh.

32 Have compassion for some, by making a difference. And save others by pulling them from the fire. And for others, have mercy mixed with fear, even hating the tunic soiled by the flesh (Jude 22-23).

33 He is an antichrist because he moves away from the definition of the christian faith (2 Peter 1:5-10) and the implications of this definition (Titus 3:1-3 - 2 Thessalonians 3:14-15 - Luke 6:27-29).

34 About the second and third epistles John.

35 The author asks not to greet a person who is winding toward us with a different speech, and he adds that he does not want to expose the very useful things he has to convey, and he prefers speak mouth to mouth so that his joy is perfect.

36 If anyone comes to you and does not bring this doctrine, do not receive him into your house or greet him. For whoever greets him participates in his evil works. Although I have many things to write to you, I did not want to do it with paper and ink. But I hope to come to you and speak face to face so that our joy may be complete. The children of your chosen sister salute you (2 John 10-13).

37 His goal, therefore, is not to explain the message of the gospel to everyone by testifying of what he has lived with the man Jesus.

38 He also suggests that faith consists in not sharing anything with the Gentiles.

39 For it was in the name of Jesus Christ that they went without receiving anything from the pagans. We must therefore welcome such men, in order to be workers with them for the truth (3 John 7-8).

40 And yet it is not for us to know who will be called by God and when.

41 About the book of the Revelation of John.

42 The one who said that he is coming back into the world, he is the first born of creation who came into the world in the form of the man Jesus and who dwells in the world sitting at the right hand of his father.

43 He is neither the all-powerful nor the last.

44 Behold he comes with the clouds. And every eye will see him, and those who pierced him. And all the tribes of the earth will mourn because of him. Yes. Amen. I am the Alpha and the Omega, says the Lord. The one who is, and who was, and who is to come, the Almighty (Revelation 1:7-8). Behold I come quickly, and my reward is with me, to render to every man according to his work. I am the alpha and the omega, the first and the last, the beginning and the end (Revelation 22:12-13).

45 This author is an antichrist who wants the reader not to understand the scriptures of the gospels and apostles who make a clear distinction between God the Father and his only begotten Son, and also the scriptures of the prophet who say different things about the only begotten Son of God (Isaiah 28:16) and about God the Father (Isaiah 41:4 - 44:6 - 48:12).

5 Rommel 10

1 Falsifications in the Bible, second part: The old testament.

2 As I pointed out in the section 'The identity of God', the chronology that is exposed in the revelations of the holy spirit is not conceived from a human perspective.

3 And it may be thought that until today the body of Christ is that of a child who does not know how to reject the evil and choose the good.

4 For the holy writings still contain serious falsifications which I have highlighted previously, but not only.

5 Indeed, the interpretation of the events described in the prophecies is not necessarily trivial (Isaiah 7:13-15 - 2 Peter 1:20-21).

6 Like the gospel, the old testament scriptures are not necessarily spared by the enemies of God.

7 Indeed, in some ancient translations of the Bible, the scripture Isaiah 7:14 contains the expression 'a virgin shall conceive', as is the case in the translation King James Version (KJV).

8 And in other translations more recent, this expression has become 'the young woman will become pregnant', as is the case with the translation Complete Jewish Bible (CJB).

9 Whatever the reality, any falsifications in the old testament cannot call into question the message of the gospel, as I pointed out in the section 'Objective of the holy scriptures and the sacrifice of the man Jesus'.

10 However, I want to emphasize that the authors of such a practice, if it were done on purpose, would be really foolish because by acting in this way, they would deny the kind that was distinguished by the holy writings of which they had been the guardians.

11 Because the God by whom they received this distinction told them that he is righteous and just, and that he chose them to be like him.

12 Did I not write in the 'Overview' section that faith is about trusting no one.

5 Rommel 11

1 Comments on the epistles of the apostles and the gospels, first part: Falsifications.

2 The current contents of the Gospels have not always been as we see it.

3 Over time, men's organizations have approved additions of different verses to the original version of the texts written in the language of the people that the man Jesus came to release (funny).

4 For example, we know that Matthew 17:21 which is absent from the American Standard Version (ASV) and which is similar to Mark 9:29, was not present in the first translations.

5 But this kind of demon only comes out through prayer and fasting (Matthew 17:21). He said to them: This species can only come out through prayer (Mark 9:29).

6 This is also the case of Mark 16:16-20.

7 He who believes and is baptized will be saved, but whoever does not believe will be condemned. And these are the miracles that will accompany those who believe. In my name they will cast out demons, and they will speak new languages. And they will seize serpents, and if they drink any deadly drink then it will not harm them. And they will lay hands on the sick, and the sick will be healed. So after the Lord had spoken to them, he was taken up into heaven and sat down at the right hand of God. And they went and preached everywhere, and the Lord worked with them and confirmed the word by the miracles that accompanied it (Mark 16:16-20).

8 And although the action described is confirmed by Paul in 1 Corinthians 11:23-26, we know that this is also the case of Luke 22:19-20,43-44.

9 And also John 5:4 which is absent from ASV. [But it is the only possible explanation of John 5:7]

10 And also John 7:53.

11 And also John 8:1-11. But I also think, like others, that this particular excerpt could really have happened.

12 And on my own initiative, I state that this is probably the case of Matthew 15:28 - 28:19.

13 Then Jesus answered and said to her: O woman, great is your faith. Let it be done to you as you wish. And her daughter was healed at that same hour (Matthew 15:28).

14 Go and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the holy spirit.

15 Now, we know that any self-respecting falsifier must seek to confuse the tracks.

16 And I state that in my opinion, the Gospels of Luke and John are necessary and sufficient (after removing the verses I mentioned above) for one who wants to be interested in the words of the man Jesus.

17 The New Testament canon from which I built my understanding of the christian faith consists of the following nineteen books: Gospel of Luke, and Gospel of John, and the Acts of the Apostles, and Paul(13), and Peter(2), and First John.

5 Rommel 12

1 Comments on the epistles of the apostles and the gospels, second part: Figures of rhetoric, Prayer.

2 In each book of the new testament, different verses do not have the meaning that suits them when considered in isolation. And it is essential to be interested in the harmony of all the writings of the same author, at least the same book, before extracting a true message.

3 Subdividing the scriptures into different verses is therefore a practical idea for making quotations, but can become a trap if it is not used conscientiously.

4 Because of this, the introduction of some falsified verses into one of these books may be enough to distract the reader from the path to follow, and even suggest to people who have the common sense notion inscribed in their hearts that the scriptures cannot be holy.

5 The prayer of the believer is good and necessary, but its only usefulness, and in no way a negligible cause, is to strengthen the faith of the one who prays.

6 It is to strengthen the one who prays. For the scriptures tell us that everything is written in advance (Isaiah 43:5-7).

7 And if anyone understands through his faith in the scriptures that everything is written in advance, then all he has left to do is to have faith possibly accompanied by hymns and praises for the creator (1 Timothy 1:5).

8 And Peter defines faith only by its characteristics (2 Peter 1:5-8).

9 It seems unlikely to me that a non-believer can understand that everything is written in advance (Luke 18:17).

10 About the prayer in Luke's gospel.

11 Luke informs us that the only purpose of prayer is to give the believer the strength not to transgress the only commandment that constitutes faith (Luke 22:40 - 21:34-36 - 11:1-4).

12 In addition, we know that some believers will suffer because of their faith, and some will lose the life of their carnal envelopes because of that same faith (Luke 21:16-19).

13 Now it is evident that he who has had faith by the knowledge of the scriptures cannot hope that the promises do not happen, because he expects the next life which is also a promise.

14 Therefore, with regard to what we can honestly ask in our prayers we must think that it is only about the holy spirit (Luke 11:13).

15 Moreover, since the holy spirit is in the world, the time of the prophets who approached God by prayer is past (Luke 16:16).

16 About the prayer in John's gospel.

17 We know that we should not trust a man (Jeremiah 17:5). As a result, the man Jesus speaks of himself only as the only begotten son of God when he says we will be listened to if we ask anything in his name (John 14:14-15 - 16:23-24).

18 Because we cannot wish him to become a liar, the utility of prayer becomes clear to us when we understand that we cannot ask, in the name of the only begotten Son of God, that they do not occur in our lives the events that he himself has foretold (John 16:1-4).

19 About the prayer in the first epistle of John.

20 John confirms to us that not all have eternal life (4 Rommel 4:3-4), as it has already been established by God, and he recommends us to pray for God to give life (4 Rommel 11:23) to every person (1 John 2:19 - 5:14-17).

21 We then understand that the goal is to help the believer not to hate those who have not yet understood, in other words not to compromise oneself in the faith because it is not the actions of others that must determine our state before God. Let us not forget the purpose of life.

22 One might ask, however, why the only prayer that is forbidden is to ask God to have compassion for a person who has abandoned the faith (Luke 12:10 - 2 Peter 2:20-21), assuming that this person has already truly known the faith.

23 The answer is that it could destroy our own faith if we imagined that it is possible for us to extinguish for a short time the spirit of God who is in us, with the intention of rekindling it later.

24 Adultery to God is indeed unforgivable (Acts 5:1-6,7-11 - 1 Samuel 2:25).

25 About the prayer in Peter's letters.

26 Peter states that faith has priority over prayer (1 Peter 4:7-8).

27 About prayer in Paul's letters.

28 As I explained in the section 'The Humor of the Scriptures', Paul generally speaks indirectly, having himself repeatedly stated that he is speaking primarily to the Gentiles, although God make no distinction between men since his only begotten Son is seated at his right according to the gospel which was entrusted to Paul (1 Peter 1:17 - Colossians 3:24-25 - 1 Timothy 1:11 - Galatians 2:7-8).

29 Knowing that he cannot contradict the other apostles and gospels, it can be seen that this is indeed the case (Ephesians 6:18 - Romans 8:26-27).

5 Rommel 13

1 Comments on the epistles of the apostles and the gospels, third part: Features of books.

2 About Peter's letters.

3 It seems to me that Peter speaks mainly of the man Jesus whom he also calls Christ, and this is in no way a fault because of the principle of the second trinity.

4 And he sometimes refers to Christ in two forms (to the man and the only begotten Son) in the same sentence.

5 But there are cases where he refers only to the only begotten Son of God, sometimes by designating him otherwise (Lord, shepherd, bishop) as in 1 Peter 2:25.

6 About Paul's letters.

7 As I explained in the section 'The Humor of the Scriptures', Paul expresses himself in a particular way to a particular audience.

8 Paul was for the Gentiles what Moses was for the Hebrews, a guardian to teach the beginning of wisdom, that one might understand what is meant by the righteousness of the heart which is pleasing to God (4 Rommel 6:29-30 - 7:18-19 - 12:62-65 - Deuteronomy 4:1-6,7-8 - 3 Rommel 1:54-57).

9 But since the elect of God are one people since his only begotten Son sits at his right hand, it is fitting to say that Paul gave the milk to the body of Christ, who must then grow on his own and learn to choose good and to reject evil, as I point out in the section 'Falsifications in the Bible'.

10 All is permitted to him who acts in the name of the only begotten Son of God, but it is not necessary to say it brutally to a child (1 Corinthians 3:1-2).

11 About the letter of John.

12 In his first letter John, I think the word 'Jesus' or 'Christ' refers to the man Jesus in two verses (1 John 1:7 - 1 John 3:5,16) and everywhere else in his text, 'Jesus' or 'Jesus Christ' or 'Christ' refers to the only begotten Son of God and who remained in the world after the departure of the man Jesus.

13 Regarding the confession of sins, it is to those to whom we have wronged that we must confess our sin when it is necessary for the good of all.

14 About the Gospel of John.

15 Different verses are stated in a subtle way but are necessarily non-contradictory in a correct interpretation.

16 So the conditions set out for accessing eternal life (John 3:16 - 6:47) should not be interpreted naively (John 6:53-56 - 13:34-35 - 14:15 - 4 Rommel 6:21).

17 About the Gospel of Luke.

18 It is necessary to love everyone and trust only in God (Luke 12).

5 Rommel 14

1 The gift of tongues by the holy spirit.

2 If I speak in a language that does not exist, how is it a miracle.

3 Does speaking in tongue mean to express oneself in a language that does not exist among men, or does it mean to express oneself in a language that has not been learned but that is already used by certain groups of people (Acts 2:8-11).

4 One can wonder if each spectator heard in his native tongue the words of every apostle. Or if each apostle spoke in one language which was the mother tongue of a part of the audience. Or if each apostle was speaking in different languages, and each time it was the mother tongue of a part of the audience. Or if it was only the spectators with the gift of listening who understand the meaning of the words of each apostle (1 Corinthians 14:23 - Acts 2:4-8).

5 On the other hand, one may wonder if the apostle Paul is referring to the gift of interpretation of languages that do not exist (they are not usually used by any group of men). Or if the apostle Paul is referring to the gift of interpretation of dreams. Or if the apostle Paul is referring to the gift of interpretation of languages that have not been learned but are already used by certain people (1 Corinthians 12:30 - 14:5,26).

6 On the other hand, Paul himself cannot claim that the tongues of angels will cease since his teaching is precisely that we will become like angels when we leave this world.

7 Let us not forget that figures of rhetoric are a specialty of the Gospels and apostles (1 Corinthians 12:10 - 13:1,8-10 - 14:2).

8 Finally, we understand that Paul (1 Corinthians 13:1-2) and consequently Jesus also (Luke 17:6) are using hyperboles.

9 Because to be loved by God it is necessary and sufficient to be inhabited by the notion of 'relative truth' which is the hallmark of God (1 John 4:7-8).

10 And which is only recognizable by the love of the general interest namely his only begotten Son (John 10:30).

11 And this characteristic of God is found in a small proportion in every 'child of God' and in an incomparable quantity in Jesus of Nazareth.

5 Rommel 15

1 The mysteries raised and unexplained.

2 Reincarnation.

3 If we existed before the formation of the world (Job 38:1-4) then how coexist the physical world and that of the spirits (2 Kings 2:9-11 - 6:15-17 - Ezekiel 40:1-4 - Luke 9:28-34 - 2 Corinthians 12:2-4).

4 And can a spirit be born again into the world without being aware of it (Malachi 4:4-6 - Luke 1:13-17 - John 1:19-36).

5 Can a human spirit inhabit any other animal (Luke 8:26-35 - Genesis 9:5).

6 The children of angels.

7 How can a spirit procreate with a man’s daughter (Genesis 6:1-4 - Luke 1:35).

8 The second coming.

9 On the one hand we expect a final resurrection (Daniel 12:1-2 - John 5:28-29 - 6:40-47).

10 And on the other hand those who believe in him never die (John 11:25-27 - Luke 23:43).

11 I think that from the moment when the only begotten Son of God sits at the right hand of his father, all those who die with the circumcised heart access directly to heaven by becoming sons of God, before the second coming which will concern the world as a whole, the rest of souls (1 Corinthians 15:51-53 - 1 Thessalonians 4:14-17).
